COMMISSION

TO INQUIRE INTO THE

EXISTENCE OF CORRUPT PRACTICES AT THE LAST ELECTION FOR THE BOROUGH OF REIGATE.

VICTORIA R.

Victoria, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith :

To Our trusty and well-beloved Thomas Allen, Esquire, Frederick James Smith, Esquire, and Michael William O'Brien, Esquire, Sergeant-at-Law, greeting :

Whereas the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in Parliament assembled, have by a joint Address humbly represented unto Us that a Select Committee of the House of Commons, appointed to try a Petition complaining of an undue Election and Return for the Borough of Reigate, have reported to the House that corrupt practices have extensively prevailed in the last Election for the said Borough, and have humbly prayed that We will be graciously pleased to cause Inquiry to be made pursuant to the provisions of the Act of Parliament passed in the sixteenth year of Our reign, intituled " An Act to provide for " more effectual Inquiry into the Existence of Corrupt Practices at Elections for Members " to serve in Parliament," by the appointment of you, the said Thomas Allen, Frederick James Smith, and Michael William O'Brien, as Commissioners for the purpose of making Inquiry into the existence of such corrupt practices :

Know ye, that We, in compliance with the Prayer of the said joint Address, have authorized and appointed, and do by these Presents in pursuance of the powers vested in Us by the said Act, authorize and appoint you, the said Thomas Allen, Frederick James Smith, and Michael William O'Brien, to be Commissioners for the purpose of making inquiry under the said Act into the existence of such corrupt practices in the said joint Address referred to.

Given at our Court at Saint James's, the Sixteenth day of June One thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, in the Twenty-ninth Year of Our Reign.

By Her Majesty's Command,

G. GREY.

REPORT.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

1. We the Commissioners, whose names are hereto subscribed, having been appointed under Your Majesty's Royal Sign Manual to inquire into the existence of corrupt practices at the last election for the borough of Reigate, and having completed the inquiry, humbly submit this our Report to Your Majesty.

2. The Commission was opened by us in the town-hall at Reigate on the 22nd of August, 1866, and was continued day by day (with the exception of an interval of adjournment from the 28th of September to the 29th of October) up to the 31st of October, when, as regards the examination of witnesses, it was closed.

3. The borough of Reigate is an ancient borough, and up to the passing of the Reform Bill in 1832 used to return two members to Parliament; since then it has returned but one. There were at that time not more than 152 electors in the borough, but of late years their number has considerably increased; in 1861 the electors were 697, the population being about 10,000; and in 1865 the number of electors on the register was 912, and the population estimated at 12,000.

4. The limits of the borough and parish of Reigate are the same; but the borough is divided into two parts, one called the "Old Borough," the other called "Reigate Foreign," which includes the Redhill railway station and most of the houses built in connexion with it. To the establishment of the railway the increase in the population and large extension of the number of electors are mainly owing, as many London merchants have in consequence become residents at Reigate, and many of the railway officials and workmen inhabit houses within the borough, and thereby obtain a qualification to vote. There are no freemen in the borough, the register consisting exclusively of householders.

5. From 1857, down to the last election in 1865, the electors were apparently subject to no intimidation or local influence, and so far as concerns the election of the members of Parliament the expression used by one of the witnesses of long electioneering experience was borne out by the evidence,—"Bribery is all we fear, for intimidation, that is gone from Reigate, and so is landlords' influence."[a]

6. The following list shows the dates of the several elections into which we inquired, together with the names of the candidates and number of electors on the register, and votes polled at each election:—

—	Candidates.	Votes polled.	Electors.	Returned.	Majority.
Feb. 1858 -	Rawlinson - -	212	505	Rawlinson -	94

7. With the view of ascertaining the nature and extent of the corrupt practices reported by a Committee of the House of Commons to have prevailed at the election of 1865, we felt it our duty to call before us nearly 500 witnesses, and, in prosecuting the early part of our inquiry, encountered considerable difficulty in our endeavours to draw from them the information we had reason to believe they could supply touching the bribery and treating which had taken place at that election.

8. In pursuance of "The Corrupt Practices Prevention Acts," Mr. Smith, solicitor, was appointed by Mr. Gower, and Mr. Hart, solicitor, by Mr. Monson, as their respective agents at the election, and from them we received accounts in detail of the monies that had been expended by them on either side with reference to the contest of 1865; and by means of the clue afforded us by these accounts we were enabled to trace out the intermediate or sub-agents, through whose hands disbursements had been made, the purposes for, or the pretences under which, they were made, and the names of the voters to whom the money, so disbursed, found its way.

9. With respect to the election contest of 1863, the death of Mr. Wilkinson, who then contested the borough against Mr. Gower, and of his agent, Mr. James, shut out from us the means of discovering and following out in detail the manner in which the large sum of 3,150*l.* had been expended on his side; but sufficient came out during the inquiry to satisfy us that the agencies employed on his behalf were of the same corrupt character as those found to have been brought into play in 1865.

10. As to the general election of 1859, and the elections of October and February 1858, we came in the course of our inquiry upon numerous broad and distinct marks of the existence of bribery and treating at one and all of these election contests.

11. At the election of February 1858, a few days before the nomination a ballot was proposed in order to determine which of three of the candidates, Mr. Doulton, Mr. Wilkinson, or Mr. Ralph Walters, should be selected to fight the battle against the Hon. Mr. Monson (now Lord Monson) and Sir Henry Rawlinson, and as soon as balloting tickets were issued, men were sent round to buy them up, and were detected in the act.[a] From that election we found the influence of corrupt practices becoming more and more active and powerful every succeeding contested election up to the last occasion on which the voters of Reigate had the opportunity of exercising the franchise.

[a] Truman's evidence, p. 855.

12. At the election 1865 the expenses returned by Mr. Smith, and published by the Returning Officer, on the part of Mr. Gower, amounted to 1,356*l.* 19*s.* 1*d.*; but the actual expenses incurred and paid were 600*l.* in excess of that amount, and in his return a large portion of these expenses was alleged to have been paid as fees to canvassing sub-agents taken from the tradesmen voters of the borough, but the account purporting to specify the application of these payments was framed in such a manner as to disguise their real character, and keep out of view the mode in which, in many instances, the money had been expended. We succeeded, however, in tracing, through the payments to voters and for other purposes incidental to the election, the expenditure of all the monies charged in Mr. Smith's account; but we found in the course of the inquiry that it was by no means an adequate measure of the corrupt practices adopted on behalf of Mr. Gower, as it was proved by several of his voters, who were examined, that they had been promised sums of money as inducements to vote, and that, having voted, they could afterwards obtain from his agent or sub-agents, in many cases only a portion, and sometimes no part at all, of the monies so promised, the dread in the first instance, and subsequently the pendency of that petition which unseated Mr. Gower, being alleged as the reason for postponing the day of final settlement. An instance was brought before us of a voter who, smarting under such treatment, had sued one of the sub-agents in the county court, not in the hope of being able to sustain his claim as a legal debt, but for the purpose of exposing the system of deception which had been practised upon himself and others. "I thought," said the witness, "that I would go through the form (of suing), "and expose the practices of Apted, Joyes, Buckland, and Smith. I thought it would "be a means of opening the eyes of many persons who were in the borough and "unacquainted with it."[b]

[b] Mitchell's evidence, p. 94.

13. Mr. Monson's expenses returned by his agent, Mr. Hart, and published by the Returning Officer, were 1,232*l.* 17*s.* 9*d.*; but the actual expenses were 1,367*l.* 5*s.* 4*d.*; over and above that amount Mr. Monson advanced, on account of the election, the large sum of 1,730*l.* to a Mr. James Nichols, who was not his duly appointed agent, and whose name and address were not declared in writing to the Returning Officer on or before the day of nomination,[c] in contravention of "The Corrupt Practices Prevention Acts,"[d] which prohibit any advance of money by a candidate to any person other than an agent duly appointed in pursuance of those Acts.

14. On Mr. Monson's side the system of engaging and paying voters as sub-agents and canvassers was similar, but the payments were on a higher scale, and made only in a few instances through his agent, Mr. Hart. Mr. Monson, at the earliest date at which the event of a general election became probable, put himself, or was brought into communication with Mr. James Nichols, an elector holding various offices and possessing considerable influence in the borough,[a] to whom, without the knowledge of Mr. Hart, he from time to time advanced various sums of money amounting, in the whole, to 1,730*l.*, and in a manner further referred to in a subsequent part of this our Report.

[a] Nichols's evidence, p. 716.

15. For the mode in which that sum of 1,730*l.* was expended we were dependent on the recollection of Mr. Nichols, aided by that of some of the persons who had received money from him before, during, and after the election. No account, in any shape, of the monies so received, nor of the monies he paid away, appeared to have been kept by him; neither voucher nor receipt was produced before us, and from the evidence of Mr. Nichols and Mr. Monson we find that no account of that large expenditure was ever asked for by Mr. Monson, or by any one on his behalf, and no account of it was ever rendered by Mr. Nichols.

16. When before us as a witness Mr. Nichols made[b] the following statement from a paper purporting to show the way in which nearly all of the 1,730*l.* had been applied by him:—

17. Upon referring to Mr. Hart's account of Mr. Monson's election expenses, we found that several of those persons, set down in the above statement as having received money from Mr. Nichols, had sent in election bills to Mr. Hart, and were paid by him such amounts as he, in going through those bills with Mr. Nichols, deemed it to be fair and reasonable.

and these sums were paid by Mr. Hart to the persons above mentioned in ignorance of the fact that they had received any money from Mr. Nichols on Mr. Monson's behalf.

18. Some of the items in Mr. Nichols's account represent alleged payments for canvassing; some, monies advanced to be paid away to voters, and it will be seen that in it he has taken credit (independently of the 100 guineas paid him by Mr. Hart after the election) with a payment to "self" of 210*l.*, which he stated was for remuneration for his trouble in getting up a requisition inviting Mr. Monson to become a candidate for the representation of the borough. Such an appropriation Mr. Monson repudiated; it was made without his knowledge or authority, and the first occasion on which he had heard of it was when Mr. Nichols produced his detailed statement before us.[a]

19. With regard to two other payments for which Mr. Nichols takes credit, namely, "Ireland, 45*l.*," and "Miller, 25*l.*," we found that both these men were dead before Mr. Nichols's statement was prepared; and upon our examination of their widows we had ample grounds for concluding that no such sums had ever been paid by Mr. Nichols; and that, as respects the payments made to Ireland or Miller on account of Mr. Monson, they had been made by Mr. Hart, as appeared by his account and the vouchers produced by him.[b c]

[b] Mrs. Miller's evidence, p. 842.
[c] Mrs. Ireland's evidence, p. 840.

20. Mr. Nichols charges Mr. Monson with 110*l.* for "specials." These "specials" were neither voters, nor in any way connected with the borough, but men usually known under the designation of "roughs," collected from the neighbouring towns, and hired to swell the mob, increase the show of hands at the nomination, and attend the proceedings on the polling day.[d]

[d] Nichols's evidence, p. 724.

21. One other head of the alleged expenditure appears to us deserving of notice. Mr. Nichols, in accounting for the mode in which the money was used in the business of the election, stated that he had, with Mr. Monson's knowledge and sanction, advanced monies to voters to satisfy alleged outstanding election claims, these claims having been repudiated by the agents of the respective candidates at previous elections; and it was proved that Mr. Nichols had in one instance paid a voter named Clark 10*l.* which Mr. Smith, Mr. Gower's agent in 1863, had, on his part, refused to allow; and that 30*l.* out of 50*l.* advanced to a voter named Ridge was appropriated to satisfy claims arising, as alleged, from elections as far back as 1858. Mr. Monson when examined did not deny that statement.[e]

[e] Mr. Monson's evidence, pp. 884–5.

22. These, with other facts, seem to account for the adoption of a contrivance, by means of which Mr. Monson was enabled to transfer to Mr. Nichols the sum of 1,730*l.* without leaving a trace of its passage from the one to the other in the bankers' books of either. The contrivance was this,—cheques payable to "self" were drawn by Mr. Monson on his private banker, and in every instance, except one, were handed to Mr. Nichols, who cashed them, paying the proceeds into his private bankers. The exception was in respect of one cheque for 500*l.* drawn a few days before the election to the "order" of Mr. John Humphrey, which was handed by him to Mr. Nichols, and then cashed in the same way as the others. Mr. Nichols, upon being pressed for an explanation, admitted "it was a "blind, and a bad one."[f]

[f] Nichols's evidence, p. 727.

23. These circumstances satisfy us that from the outset of the contest Mr. Monson's hopes of success were based upon the effect which a large and reckless expenditure of money would produce upon a corrupt constituency; and that he knew, or wilfully kept himself in ignorance of, the uses to which Mr. Nichols was applying the monies advanced to him.

24. A fact which throws considerable light on the proceedings of this election is this: On the eve of the nomination it was arranged between Mr. Monson, Mr. Richardson, and Mr. Nichols that Mr. Richardson should be put up as a third candidate, and he accordingly went to the poll and obtained 11 votes. Mr. Richardson explained [a] that this was done in accordance with advice which Mr. Monson had obtained from London in these words, "Under the circumstances you had better put up a third party you can trust, and then "we can work the petition after." The expenses attending Mr. Richardson's candidature were defrayed by Mr. Hart, and charged by him to Mr. Monson.

[a] Richardson's evidence, p. 743.

25. Of the voters who were proved to have received in 1865, or to have been promised money for their services and votes, or for services which were merely colourable, the number was 346. Of these so bribed 220 were householders below 15*l.*, 76 between 15*l.* and 20*l.*, and 50 above 20*l.* a year rental.

26. The following Table shows that, of the number so bribed, 104 were tradesmen, and 242 mechanics and labourers receiving daily or weekly wages.

Voters who polled (1865), 760.	Householders from £10 to £15 Rental.	Householders from £15 to £20 Rental.	Householders from £20 and upwards Rental.	Total bribed.
Voters bribed - - -	220	76	50	346
Tradesmen - - -	104 -
Persons receiving daily or weekly wages -	242 -	- - -	- - -	346

27. In 1863 the electors numbered 737; and it was stated to us by several witnesses that there had been much more treating and bribery at that election than in 1865. We did not, however, bring bribery home to more than 161 of the voters on that occasion, but length of time, changes of residence, deaths, and other causes prevented us from probing the corruption of the borough so deeply as in 1865. Very few witnesses were brought before us to give evidence as to that election exclusively; the cases of bribery proved having been principally elicited from those voters who were examined as to the election of 1865.

28. Of the voters who were proved to have been bribed in 1863, nearly all, except the sub-agents, were householders of from 10*l.* to 15*l.* a year rental; on that occasion the election cost Mr. Gower, the successful candidate, about 2,500*l.*, and Mr. Wilkinson over 3,100*l.*, though the constituency was less than in 1865. "That election," said Mr. Smith, Mr. Gower's agent, "was more expensive than this last; it cost Mr. Gower about 2,500*l.* Refreshments were very heavy indeed; then I took every committee room I could; the sub-agents paid money away, and were paid by me as much as in 1865, but more systematically; I paid the men employed weekly." [b] Although the death of Mr. Wilkinson and of his agent, Mr. James, rendered it difficult for us to arrive at his exact expenditure at that election, the character of the bribery on his part was sufficiently evident from one fact, amongst others, stated by Mr. Frederick Joyes, that Mr. James, under the disguise of "gingerbread," which, he told him, was to be found on the mantelpiece of the committee room at the "Swan" hotel, gave him on the morning of the polling day 100*l.*, which Mr. Joyes immediately disposed of in the purchasing of votes for Mr. Wilkinson. [c] After this election a petition containing allegations of bribery and other illegal practices was presented against Mr. Gower's return, and was withdrawn upon terms arranged between his and Mr. Wilkinson's agents.

[c] Joyes's evidence, p. 667.

29. At the general election of 1859 Mr. W. A. Wilkinson and the Hon. Edward Monson, now Lord Monson, were the candidates, but Mr. Wilkinson did not appear in person, and was nominated without his knowledge. Out of 421 electors who voted, 19 only (for the reasons before stated) were proved before us to have been bribed. One significant circumstance, however, was stated in connexion with that election. An elector consented to vote without being paid, provided his doing so was kept a secret, he himself stating that he should be ashamed of having done so if it were known. [d] The contest of October 1858, between the same candidates, had been a severe one. The number then polled was 435, of whom 21 were proved to have been bribed. At both these elections voters were employed as sub-agents and canvassers who paid money to other voters; and the offence of treating was proved to have been systematically and extensively committed.

[d] Job Apted's evidence, p. 621.

30. We now come to the earliest election into which we inquired, that of February 1858. This election was contested at the poll by Sir Henry Rawlinson, the Hon. Edward Monson, and Mr. Doulton. Although only 33 voters were proved to have been then bribed, yet several of the witnesses gave evidence to the effect that it was at that election bribery "took its rise" in the borough of Reigate; and the proceedings proved before us were sufficient to justify that view, as they were such as to initiate the system if it had been before unknown in the borough. It was stated by Mr. Job Apted, that when Mr. Doulton was introduced to them as a candidate he announced that he meant "to buy the borough, whether or no," adding that he "had money, and meant to use it." This statement Mr. Doulton, upon his examination, denied. Mr. Truman and Mr. Murphy, acting on Mr. Doulton's behalf, employed all the voters they could as messengers, canvassers, bill stickers, and board carriers, and paid them regularly every week from the beginning to the end of the election.

31. Of the election of 1857 it is not necessary to say more than that no evidence was placed before us sufficient to prove that corrupt practices had then prevailed, and consequently our inquiry extended no further than the earliest election in 1858.

32. There seemed but one opinion as to the gross and general venality of the borough at the two last elections. "I asked persons for their votes," said one canvasser who was employed on Mr. Monson's side in 1865, "but you might as well have asked them for their lives unless you had money to give them;"[a] and he added in reference to the previous election in 1863, "money was more plentiful in 1863 than in 1865, and there was considerably more drinking."

[a] Barker's evidence, p. 399.

33. The principal system adopted with regard to bribery was this:—The agent of each candidate employed as sub-agents some of the tradesmen voters, to each of whom a large fee was paid. These sub-agents then "put on" voters, and paid them sums varying from 2*l.* to 10*l.* for services which were admitted in almost every instance to be merely colourable, consisting, as many of them stated, in "doing nothing." Sometimes the amount was fixed beforehand, and sometimes left to be fixed by the sub-agents after the election. When the sum was fixed, a portion was paid before polling, and the residue withheld till after in order to make more sure of the vote. This arrangement led to the result proved before us in many instances, that voters who were "put on" received money from both sides, under the pretext of doing work for each.

34. The placing of voters' names on the list of committee-men was made another source of bribery. The published lists on both sides, in 1865, were exceedingly numerous, being composed of all classes of voters. Many of them we examined, and we found that a large portion were mechanics and labourers, who, with few exceptions, were paid, or promised payment, for their "services on the committee,"[b] such "services" forming a mere plausible excuse for the purchasing of votes.

35. This was further illustrated by the proceedings of the voters who were employed on the railways at Redhill. It was proved that four or five weeks before the polling day 24 out of the 30 who were voters and employed on the railways agreed to be put on Mr. Monson's committee at the rate of 30*s.* a week; and for three successive weeks an amount of money sufficient to pay them was furnished by Mr. James Nichols out of the funds which had been supplied to him by Mr. Monson. At the end of that time, and as the day of election drew near, they caused it to be communicated to Mr. Nichols that they were dissatisfied with the amount of the "wages" they were receiving, and demanded, as a condition of the continuance of their support, a promise that he would make their so-called "wages" amount altogether to 8*l.* a head, and upon his refusal to accede to their terms one of them, with the knowledge and sanction of the rest, waited upon Mr. Gower's committee, saw Mr. Job Apted, and offered to treat with him for the disposal of their votes; but, after a conference with other members of the committee, Mr. Apted declined to enter into negotiation with them, adding as a reason that it would not be prudent nor safe, in the then state of things, to treat with so large a body of voters. These men, including clerks, engine-drivers, stokers, and labourers, were at the time in constant employment upon the railway and in the receipt of high wages.

36. Another feature in reference to bribery at the Reigate elections was this, that mechanics and labourers, who were voters, and who for their ordinary day's labour were earning wages at the rate of from 3*s.* to 6*s.* a day, were accustomed to claim and be paid for their alleged "loss of time" when attending the nomination and polling remuneration at the rate of 1*l.* a day, though such payments were not specified in the agents' accounts returned and published under the provisions of the Corrupt Practices Prevention Acts. The agents and sub-agents who contrived and sanctioned the system of paying for fictitious services were, in most instances, perfectly aware of its extent and illegal character; but it was not proved that the candidates were made acquainted with the full extent to which it was being carried on. In no instance was any one employed as a canvasser who was not a voter, and the conclusion was forced upon us, as well by the evidence as the demeanour of the witnesses, that nearly all those concerned in this practice of "putting on" voters, whether agents, canvassers, or voters, well knew that the one class was engaged in buying, and the other in selling, votes.

37. The evidence given by a voter named Russell furnishes an apt illustration of the manner in which this corrupt traffic in votes was carried on between the sub-agents and voters. At the approach of the election Russell publicly announced that whichever party would buy an old cannon (which then lay buried in a ditch in Reigate Park), should have his vote; and after some bargaining as to the price between him and the district sub-agents of both candidates, he agreed to accept 6*l.* from Mr. Gower's party, and that sum being paid, he voted accordingly. Mr. Durrant, one of Mr. Gower's sub-agents, with full knowledge of the fact, paid the money through the hands of a voter named Williams, and in his account with Mr. Smith (Mr. Gower's agent), set down that sum as money paid for Williams's services as a canvasser during the election.[a]

38. As a further instance of the character of this "putting on" voters as canvassers, we have the fact that when the election contest of 1865 was at its height a deputation of Mr. Gower's sub-agents had an interview with him and some members of his committee, and stated that he was "starving the election," and that unless he advanced them 500*l.* to enable them to put on more voters, and thereby counteract the efforts then being made on the other side to secure votes by the same means, the election would be lost. Mr. Gower refused to comply with their demands, but on the following day Mr. Smith, after consulting with the committee, advanced to these sub-agents, to carry out their views, the sum of 100*l.*

39. A few days before this occurred Mr. Gower, at a numerous meeting in the town-hall, had declared "that all those who worked for him should be paid;" a statement that appeared to have had considerable influence upon several voters in creating expectations of employment and money. Mr. Gower's explanation was, that he intended, by making that statement, to discourage fictitious employment, and regretted he had been misunderstood. The fact that in 1863, when Mr. Gower successfully contested the borough against Mr. Wilkinson, the same system of "putting on" voters had prevailed and had been made the groundwork of a petition against his return, coupled with its withdrawal upon terms arranged between Mr Gower's and Mr. Wilkinson's agents, is significant in this, that before 1865 Mr. Gower had had the opportunity and the motive for making himself acquainted with the nature of the means which were being employed to secure his return at the last election. In the subsequent October, however, long after the account of Mr. Gower's election expenses had been finally closed, returned by Mr. Smith, and duly published by the Returning Officer, these sub-agents pressed Mr. Smith for more money to enable them to fufil the promises they had made before the election to pay voters for work done as canvassers or committee-men and for their own services; thereupon Mr. Smith applied to Mr. Gower, who furnished him with 500*l.*, which was distributed among the sub-agents, and by them appropriated to satisfy their own claims and in payment or part payment of some of the voters, to whom promises of money had been made for their fictitious services and claims.

40. But these were not the only forms in which corrupt practices were resorted to for the purpose of stifling freedom of election in Reigate. Hotels, public houses, and beer shops were opened and kept open for weeks previous to the different contests between February 1858 and July 1865, and a system of treating voters and their friends was carried on with the keenest rivalry on the part of the respective candidates. It was there the main battle of the election was fought; and it was almost impossible but that in the course of their canvass the candidates must have had it brought to their knowledge, in one way or another, that the "offence of treating" was generally prevalent throughout the borough.

It remains now for us humbly to submit to Your Majesty the conclusions at which we have arrived:

1. We find that bribery and treating extensively prevailed at the election in February 1858.

2. We find that bribery and treating extensively prevailed at the election in October 1858.

3. We find that bribery and treating prevailed at the election in 1859.

4. We find that bribery and treating extensively prevailed at the election in 1863.

5. We find that a sum of about 2,500*l.* was paid by Mr. Gower to his agent, Mr. Smith, for the purposes of the election in 1863, and that part of that sum was expended by him, with the knowledge of Mr. Gower, in bribery and treating.

6. We find that a sum of about 3,100*l.* was paid by Mr. A. Wilkinson to his agent, Mr. James, in 1863, and that a large portion of that sum was expended by him, with the knowledge of Mr. Wilkinson, in bribery and treating.

7. We find that bribery and treating extensively prevailed at the election in 1865; that of the 760 who voted at that election 346 were bribed; that of that number 296 were occupiers of houses not exceeding 20*l.* a year rental.

8. We find that a sum of nearly 2,000*l.* was paid by Mr. Gower to his agent, Mr. Smith, and that part of that sum was expended by him, with the knowledge of Mr. Gower, in bribery; that 500*l.*, forming part of the 2,000*l.*, was knowingly paid by Mr. Gower three months after the election to Mr. Smith, partly in discharge and partly in repayment of money expended in bribery at the election in 1865.

9. We find that a sum of 1,376*l.* 5*s.* 4*d.* was advanced by Mr. Monson to his agent, Mr. Hart, for the purposes of the election in 1865.

10. We find that a sum of 1,730*l.* was advanced on account and in respect of the election in 1865 by Mr. Monson to Mr. James Nichols, who was not his duly constituted agent, and whose name and address were not declared in writing to the Returning Officer on or before the day of nomination; that this sum was expended by Mr. Nichols, with the knowledge of Mr. Monson, in bribery and treating.[a]

[a] Monson's evidence, pp. 881–5.

11. We find that at the elections in 1863 and 1865 Job Heath Apted, James Apted, Thomas Barker, Thomas Corderoy, David Durrant, Charles Emery, Henry Green, William Holdsworth, Thomas Jordan, Frederick Joyes, Joseph Kenward, William Langridge, James Mazden, James Nichols, Ephraim Rose, and John Shepherd were the persons principally engaged in bringing the poorer classes of voters in the borough of Reigate under the influence of these corrupt practices.

12. We find that the persons named in Schedule A. to this our Report annexed were guilty of bribery at one or more of the elections by receiving money or other valuable consideration for having given, or to induce them to give, or to refrain from giving, their votes.

13. We find that the persons named in Schedule B. were guilty of bribery at one or more of the elections by giving or promising money, or other valuable consideration, to voters for the purchase of their votes, or by corruptly giving money or other valuable consideration on account of any voter having voted, or refrained from voting.

14. We find that the persons named in Schedule C. were guilty of bribery at the elections of 1863 or 1865 by paying money to other persons with intent that such money should be expended in bribery, or by knowingly paying to other persons money in discharge, or repayment, of money expended in bribery.

We subjoin a full statement of the evidence taken before us, which we beg permission to place before Your Majesty as part of this our Report.

All which we humbly submit to Your Majesty's most gracious consideration.

FREDERICK JAMES SMITH.

FREDERICK JAMES SMITH.
MICHAEL WILLIAM O'BRIEN, S. L.

Temple,
February 2nd, 1867.

I concur in the whole of the foregoing Report, except the paragraphs numbered 19, 34, 36, and the latter part of the 13th, commencing at the words "who was not his duly."

I am unable to concur in the findings numbered 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, and

I do not concur in Schedule C.

But although the result of the inquiry shows that since 1857 corrupt practices have prevailed at each of the five elections into which we inquired, one or two "other things" still require to be mentioned, whereby "in my opinion the truth may be better known "touching the premises",[a] and a full and fair consideration of the circumstances in which the borough was placed, and of the causes which may have conduced to such corruption as we found, may be ensured.

[a] 15 & 16 Vict. c. 57. s. 6.

In every instance the borough was contested by candidates of similar politics, or distinguishable only by shades of difference. Under such circumstances there would not necessarily be the same abandonment of political principle in the elector who voted for the highest bidder out of candidates otherwise equal; whichever succeeded, the voter might feel that his own political opinions would be advocated, and to increase his own private gain at the same time would be no dereliction of them. Next, the system of employing voters as sub-agents, and paying them for their services as canvassers, seemed to be considered by the sub-agents themselves, as well as by the candidates, to be legal, and it cannot be matter of surprise if this belief extended downwards through the entire constituency.

No elector was paid professedly for his vote, and each, therefore, seemed to expect that he would escape the imputation of being bribed. How far such expectation was justifiable depends mainly on the explicitness of the Corrupt Practices Prevention Acts, on which I desire, before concluding this Report, to make a few observations; such observations, however, have been purposely postponed in order that they may be the more easily rejected, if they should appear foreign to the inquiry ordered, or, on the other hand, if relevant, may be taken into consideration as applicable to all elections, whether in boroughs or counties.

The two questions which seem to require consideration are, first, the law as it is, defining corrupt practices; next, the penalties imposed by it. The law is to be found almost exclusively in "The Corrupt Practices Prevention Act, 1854," (17 & 18 Vict. c. 102.) which was passed "to consolidate and amend the laws relating to bribery, treating, "and undue influence at elections of Members of Parliament;" and the 26 & 27 Vict. c. 29. (1863), for though the 21 & 22 Vict. c. 87. is directed against corrupt practices, it does little more than prohibit the payment by candidates of the travelling expenses of voters coming to the poll.

It is material then to inquire whether these two Acts of 1854 and 1863 define with sufficient distinctness what corrupt practices are.

The former declares in effect, in section 2, that the following persons are guilty of bribery:—

1. They who shall give money or money's worth to a voter for his vote, or to induce him to refrain from voting.
2. They who shall give money or money's worth to any one to procure votes.
3. They who for money or money's worth shall endeavour to procure votes; and (by sect. 3)
4. They who shall receive money or money's worth for their votes.

At the end, however, of section 2 there is a proviso that what has gone before shall "not extend to any money paid on account of any legal expenses bonâ fide incurred at "any election," but not stating what expenses are legal; nor is a definition to be found elsewhere in the Act.

This proviso may in my opinion have let in the whole of the system of "putting on" which had prevailed throughout all the Reigate elections into which we inquired. Sitting as a Commissioner, and with the light from numerous other cases thrown on each one which was investigated, I had little difficulty in finding that in nearly all of them the employment of voters was merely colourable and not bonâ fide, but whether, if an indictment for misdemeanor had been preferred against any one of the voters employed a jury would have come to the same conclusion, or whether a jury ought to do so in the face of highly penal consequences, may be questionable.

The Act of 1863 (26 & 27 Vict. c. 29.) repeals several sections in the Act of 1854, relating principally to payments made by candidates and their agents; and, by way of substitution, enacts in effect, in sect. 2., that no election payment shall be made by a candidate "before or during or after" an election, otherwise than through an agent (or agents, not limiting their number,) whose name has been delivered in writing to the returning officer on or before the nomination day, and that any person making such payment otherwise than through such agent shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. To this section there are two objections on the score of indistinctness. First, it is not easy to understand how a payment made before an election can possibly be made through an agent not accredited in the way pointed out till the day of nomination; and next, the duty of sending in the agent's name to the returning officer is not cast in express terms on any particular person, though by the repeated section (sect. 31) in the Act of 1854 it was. It is almost needless to observe that, though the intention of the Act may be apparent, these objections would be available on the trial of an indictment for a misdemeanor.

Having thus noticed some of the defects which exist in the law against corrupt practices, I venture to suggest what improvements might be made in it, carrying out at the same time the apparent intention of Parliament when the Act of 1854 was passed.

No borough candidate should be permitted to employ more than one paid agent, whether professional or not; and all payments of money or money's worth by such a candidate should be declared illegal, except payment—

1st. To the returning officer for his election charges (which should include printing and publishing).

2nd. For conveying voters to the poll (if indeed this is to continue legal).

3rd. To his sole agent a fee not exceeding 200*l*. (Such last limitation being obviously necessary in order to prevent money passing into an agent's hands which is intended to find its way ultimately into voters' pockets.)

No qualifying proviso or qualifying epithets should be introduced by which facts may be disguised and consequences avoided, and then no giver or receiver of bribes could easily misunderstand his position.

With regard to county elections, though the same principle might be adopted, the number of paid agents might be larger than in boroughs. A candidate for a county might be permitted to employ three agents, whose fees should not exceed 300*l*. each, and the three kinds of payments authorized should in all cases be paid by the candidate himself, and not by any one on his behalf. The effect of this would be that expense agents would be done away, and all possibility of agents sending in one account of election expenses to the returning officer, another to the candidate himself.

With regard to the penalties for corrupt practices. Without discussing the question as to whether or not the franchise is a trust, and whether, when once given to a man, the Legislature has any right to impose a punishment on him if he does what he pleases with it, it seems clear that the franchise may be given to be held only so long as a man may properly make use of it, and that the proper use of it may from time to time be defined by law. If this is so, then it would seem to follow that any person who receives a bribe for his vote may have the right to vote taken away from him, and that any one who bribes may have it put out of his power to do so again; and the only question would be, whether, in cases of bribery proved, a man should be deprived of the franchise for ever or only for a time.

At present the law on this point also is uncertain. By the 6th section of the Act of 1854 "whenever it is proved before the revising barrister that any person who is or claims to "be placed on the list or register of voters for any county, city, or borough has been "convicted of bribery or undue influence at an election," &c., "then and in that case "such revising barrister shall, in case the name of such person is in the list of voters, "expunge the same therefrom, or shall, in case such person is claiming to have his name "inserted therein, disallow such claim;" but whether such disallowance is to continue for ever, or only for one year, or whether it may be made toties quoties on the voter's claim being renewed, is a matter undefined, and one about which we are left only to conjecture by referring to the 36th section of the same Act, which limits the incapacity of candidates convicted of bribing to the duration of the Parliament then in existence, which can scarcely be regarded as an incapacity at all. In theory, and generally in practice, a candidate, on the one hand, can offer himself to be elected, and a voter, on the other, can vote but once during the existence of a Parliament; and the exceptions to this are so rare that probably neither the 6th nor the 36th sections of the Act of 1854 would have any weight in deterring either a candidate or a voter from committing an act of bribery. In effect the candidate may resolve to do the same again at the next election, and so may the voter. The case, however, would be very different if the capacity of the one to be elected and of the other to vote were taken away for ever by a conviction for bribery. 5*l*. for his vote may well satisfy a man who thinks he will have the chance of getting as much more at the end of five or six years, but he might hesitate to take ten times that amount if he knew that, if found out, he was parting for ever with the right to it and all its incidental advantages.

The same argument would of course apply to a candidate.

On these considerations it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that, to put an end to the system of using money as a means for getting into Parliament, no method will be effectual, unless a permanent incapacity to vote or to be elected a member of Parliament shall attach to every one proved to have been guilty of corrupt practices, and in order to make such consequence more inevitable than it is, the following plan is humbly suggested:—

Within a specified number of days after every election in a borough or county, while facts are still fresh and party feeling still alive, some competent person might give his attendance in the county or borough in which the election was held, and, if a county, in not less than three of the principal places within it, notice having been previously given that any charges of corrupt practices may be brought before him. In case of any being brought, he should hear the evidence and adjudicate upon it. If he decided that a charge was proved, the consequence, namely, the permanent loss of vote and the like incapacity to become a member of Parliament, need not attach at once, but might be suspended until the House of Commons had had an opportunity of reviewing his decision; but if within a month after it had been laid before the House the decision were not reversed, then it should have full force and effect. By some such method as this, other and more expensive ones of investigating corrupt practices would probably be obviated.

I have now set forth not only the systematic corrupt practices which I found had prevailed at Reigate in the elections to which the inquiry extended, but I have appended such palliating remarks on them as to me seem worthy to be urged; I have also ventured to give my opinion on the present state of the law against corrupt practices, and to suggest a means for putting an end to the continuance of such corruption as was discovered.

All of which I humbly submit to Your Majesty's most gracious consideration.

Temple,
February 11, 1867.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THOMAS ALLEN, Esq., FREDERICK JAMES SMITH, Esq.,

AND

MICHAEL WILLIAM O'BRIEN, Esq.,

SERGEANT AT LAW,

COMMISSIONERS APPOINTED TO INQUIRE

INTO

THE EXISTENCE OF BRIBERY AT THE LAST AND FORMER ELECTIONS OF A MEMBER TO SERVE IN PARLIAMENT FOR THE BOROUGH OF REIGATE.

AT THE TOWN HALL, REIGATE.

ALBERT DE RUTZEN, Esq., Secretary.

FIRST DAY.

Wednesday, 22nd August 1866.

Mr. James Searle called, sworn, and examined.

1. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are the mayor?—I am.

2. Were you mayor during the time of the election?—I was.

3. The election on which this inquiry is now being made, of 1865?—Yes.

4. Who were the candidates at the election?—Mr. Leveson Gower and the Hon. Edmund Monson. There was another candidate proposed on the day of nomination, but it was generally supposed he was no candidate at all, Mr. George Richardson.

5. On what day did the election take place?—I believe on the 12th of July, but I am not quite sure.

6. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did more than two go to the poll?—All three went to the poll. I think it was the 12th of July.

7. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) There were three candidates; three went to the poll?—Yes.

8. Have you the result of the poll?—The official documents were sent up to the Crown Office. Mr. Gower polled 473, Monson 276, Richardson 11.

9. What side of politics did these several candidates represent?—All three thorough Liberals.

10. Had you known this borough long before?—Fourteen years.

11. Had either of these gentlemen been candidates before?—Yes, Mr. Gower had been the member; he was elected at a previous election.

12. When did that election take place?—January, 1863.

13. Was he opposed?—He was opposed on that occasion by Mr. William Arthur Wilkinson. It was a close contest. For Mr. Gower 466, Mr. Wilkinson 333.

14. Those were the only two candidates?—They were the only two.

15. Do you know who was mayor at that time?—There was no mayor at that time; the borough was only recently erected into a corporation. The bailiff of the borough was the returning officer.

16. Who was the bailiff of the borough then?—Thomas Martin.

17. In 1863?—Yes, in 1863.

18. Is he bailiff now?—Yes.

19. Does he live here?—Yes.

20. Where does he live?—At the bottom of Bell-street. He is a very aged man. He did not officiate as bailiff at the election; his son Peter Martin officiated for him, and he is dead.

21. Do you recollect the previous election to that; that was not a general election?—No; that was an election consequent on the death of the late Lord Monson and the advance to the peerage of the present lord.

22. That was Viscount Eastnor?—Oh dear no, it is not the same family at all; that is the Somers family. He was then the Hon. Mr. Monson.

23. That was in 1863?—Yes.

24. Which election were you speaking of, 1859 or 1863?—The one you mentioned, 1863. Mr. Gower was the member, Mr. Martin being the bailiff, Mr. Wilkinson was one of the candidates on that occasion.

25. Go on to the previous election?—That was the general election of 1859.

26. Who were the candidates then?—The candidates were Mr. Monson and Mr. William Arthur Wilkinson, but it was only the semblance of an opposition; 260 polled for Monson, and William Arthur Wilkinson was proposed against his knowledge and wish altogether I believe, and polled 161 votes.

27. Who was the returning officer then?—Martin; he had been bailiff for this borough for a great number of years.

28. (The Chief Commissioner.) How many did Monson poll?—In the general election of 1859 Monson 260, and Wilkinson 161.

FIRST DAY.

Mr. J. Searle.

22 Aug. 1866.

29. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was the previous election, 1858 or 1859? was there one in 1858?—We have had a very great crop of elections here. We had four elections in less than two years here. The one before the last I mentioned was October 1858.

30. I am going back. There was one in October 1858?—Yes.

31. Was that contested?—Yes; very sharply indeed.

32. Who contested it?—That was contested by Mr. Monson and Mr. William Arthur Wilkinson. That was a vacancy consequent upon the acceptance of Sir Henry Rawlinson of a seat at the India Board.

33. Can you give me the state of the poll on that occasion?—I am not quite sure whether I am right as to one figure, but for Mr. Monson 125, Mr. Wilkinson 210. I do not know whether it was 210 or 212, but they were about the figures.

34. Was there also an election in January?—In February I think.

35. Who were the candidates then?—Sir Henry Rawlinson, Mr. William Doulton, Mr. Monson, Mr. William Arthur Wilkinson, Mr. Ralph Walters, and, I think, Mr. Edwin James.

36. We have now got some new names. Do you recollect whether these gentlemen were all the same line of politics, or different?—They were, I believe, all of the same line of politics, but Sir Henry Rawlinson was thought by those gentlemen who brought him forward to be a Tory. He was brought here by the old Tory party, and I believe it was a matter of great surprise and amazement, and almost of disgust, to find when he got into Parliament he was a Liberal and not a Tory.

37. Mr. Rawlinson was returned?—Yes. I will give you the numbers. Sir Henry Rawlinson, 212; Doulton, 116; Monson, 95. William Arthur Wilkinson and Ralph Walters retired; they did not contest the borough.

38. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did you say were the results?—Rawlinson 212, Doulton 116, Monson 95.

39. There were two did not go to the poll?—They did not.

40. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Which Monson was that?—The Honourable William John Monson, now Lord Monson. I may say that Mr. Monson who was the candidate at the last election had never been a candidate for this or for any other place.

41. Is he the son?—No, the Honourable Edmund Monson is brother of the present Lord Monson.

42. The previous election to that was in 1857?—Yes, the general election of 1857, when there were but two candidates.

43. Was there no election in 1859?—Oh yes, the general election was in 1859.

44. Well, now, 1857?—The general election of 1857, when Mr. Hackblock, a gentleman very highly esteemed in this borough, was brought forward on that occasion. There were two candidates on that occasion, Mr. Hackblock and Sir Henry Rawlinson. Mr. Hackblock polled 233, Sir Henry Rawlinson 135.

45. Then Mr. Hackblock was returned?—Mr. Hackblock was returned. He died, unhappily, very shortly afterwards, and the election consequent upon his death took place in February 1858.

46. (The Chief Commissioner.) Give us those numbers again.—Mr. Hackblock 233, Sir Henry Rawlinson 135.

47. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The previous elections to 1857, I believe, were not contested?—Oh, yes, they were. The general election of 1852 was the first election at which we may say there was any contest in this borough. Previously to that I think you will find gentlemen who will be able to give evidence as to this fact with greater exactness than I can do, as I only came to reside here in 1852. I think you will find from them there was scarcely any contest here for the representation; it was usually divided or arranged between Earl Somers on the one hand and the Earl of Hardwicke on the other. At the general election of 1852 Mr. Thomas Somers Cocks polled 100, and Major Parrott, who contested for the Liberal party, polled 76. At that time the constituency, I should say, only numbered 228. I think those were the exact numbers on the registry. Now we have a constituency of over a thousand.

48. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Up to 1852 the representation was between Earl Somers and Earl Hardwicke?—Yes. Previous and up to 1852. I should like to be able to say, Mr. Chief Commissioner, if you will allow me with reference to a remark that fell from you in the course of your opening observations, I should like to be allowed to say that from my knowledge of the inhabitants of this borough generally that at least 49 out of 50 of every one who has spoken to me, and that is almost every one in the borough, will be most happy that this inquiry should be most searching, and I have heard of no instance of any one saying that they did not intend to give evidence here, and if there are a few who would be so guilty I should not like it to go forth that it was a considerable section of the inhabitants of this borough; on the contrary, all are most willing, nay, most desirous that every information should be given. I should like also to say that I firmly believe the system of bribery that has to some extent crept in at late elections may be said to have taken its rise from the election of February 1858.

49. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The February election of 1858?—Yes, that was on the death of Mr. Hackblock. I may say that this year and last year I accepted the position of mayor of the borough, and have therefore not taken any part whatever in the last election, except so far as my duties of returning officer called upon me to do, yet in every election previous to that I have taken a most active part, and have been either chairman or deputy chairman at every election since 1852 with the exception of the last election.

50. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Now, Mr. Searle, you have been good enough to tell us that you have taken an active part either as chairman or deputy chairman from 1852?—At all elections since 1852, not at 1852.

51. Be kind enough to begin at 1852, and tell us as nearly as you can recollect for whom you acted?—I was one of the chairmen of Mr. Hackblock at the general election of 1857, district chairman.

52. You came into the borough after the election of 1852?—At the time of the election, not after; but I took no part in it.

53. Now in 1857 you took part?—Yes, I was one of the chairmen.

54. Now the next election of February 1858?—I was on that occasion deputy chairman for Mr. Monson's committee.

55. That was February 1858?—Yes, February 1858, on the death of Mr. Hackblock.

56. On the second election; there was a second election in 1858?—October 1858. I was deputy chairman again for Mr. Monson's committee.

57. Then from that time till this, until you were mayor, have you acted for Mr. Monson?—Always. I have always stuck to my man; I never thought of leaving a friend.

58. I put the question to you generally, for I thought it would be so; at the general election in 1859 also?—Yes.

59. There was a petition in 1863?—Yes.

60. Who signed that petition?—I and Mr. North.

61. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) On behalf of Mr. Monson?—Oh dear no, Mr. Monson was then Lord Monson. The election of 1863, at which there was a petition, was between Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson. That election was consequent upon the death of Lord Monson.

62. It was on behalf of Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes, I was chairman on behalf of Mr. Wilkinson's committee.

63. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What became of the petition ?—It was sent to the Speaker of the House of Commons.

64. Was it proceeded with ?—It was not.

65. Have you a copy of the petition ?—No.

66. Who has ?—I have a copy at home ; it was very general in its terms.

67. Will you be good enough to let us see it, if we should want it ?—Yes, with much pleasure.

68. It was a general allegation of bribery, I suppose ?—Yes.

69. And intimidation ?—Yes, and treating.

70. And all the general allegations ?—Yes, and intimidation and treating.

71. Why was the petition not proceeded with ?—I can scarcely tell you why it was not proceeded with. Mr. Gower said that he would not present himself again for election here, and, as there was a fear at the time that it might excite a good deal of unpleasant feeling amongst the inhabitants of the place if the petition were proceeded with, it was withdrawn.

72. You say that was in consequence of a letter from Mr. Gower ?—I did not say so, but it was so.

73. Was that the only reason for withdrawing the petition,—in consequence of a communication from Mr. Gower ?—Well, I could scarcely say that was the only reason. One of the chief reasons for the acceptance of the letter from Mr. Gower and the withdrawal of the petition was the great difficulty we found in substantiating the charges that we were likely to bring against them.

74. Did you see the letter ?—Oh yes.

75. I think in fairness to all parties we ought to know somewhat more of the terms on which this petition was withdrawn. Perhaps you will give us your recollection of this letter ?—I have not got a copy of that letter.

76. But your recollection of it ?—It was a very short letter. As near as I can recollect it was that Mr. Gower would not again contest the borough of Reigate against Mr. Wilkinson, that on the contrary he would do all that he could to unite the different parties in the borough in support of a Liberal, such a person of course as Mr. Wilkinson was. I do not know that there were any other terms.

77. You were going on to say that there was some other reason which induced the withdrawal of the petition ?—Yes. I may say this candidly that up to Saturday night before the Monday, when the petition was withdrawn, we had not decided evidence of any bribery being committed, and it was not until the middle of the day on Saturday that we had got sufficient evidence to warrant us in going forward, but then it was only one or two cases. The parties that we wanted were very skilfully kept out of the way, and we could not find them.

78. Can you give us the names of those parties ?—I really forget who they were.

79. I mean the persons who were said to be kept out of the way ?—I really cannot tell without looking over the papers. Unfortunately Albert James, who was the agent for Mr. Wilkinson here, is dead, and I do not know where the papers are.

80. You have no record of it at all ?—I have no record of it at all. My reason for saying this is, that when we presented our case before parliamentary counsel they told us, and I suppose counsel generally say that, they told us that it was a very strong case, (I beg your pardon, I do not intend to be personal) and that if we could find four or five out of the 50 cases which were alleged, that if we could prove four or five, it was quite certain that Mr. Gower would be unseated.

81. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Forty or 50 cases were alleged ?—Yes.

82. You had to give in the names before the committee ?—They were given in.

83. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) They were given in without having any distinct proof ?—Yes.

84. Eventually you got distinct proof against four or five ?—No.

85. Or what you call strong cases ?—Mr. Clark was the parliamentary counsel who was consulted, and he said, if we could prove four or five cases we should be quite sure to succeed on the petition. Up to Saturday night previous we had not succeeded in obtaining such evidence as to justify us in going on. We did not tell Mr. Gower's friends that, and therefore were very happy to receive Mr. Gower's letter.

86. You left Mr. Gower to suppose the case against him very much stronger than in reality it was ?—I do not think there was much necessity to leave him to suppose so. I think he would know that.

87. Do you mean he would know better ?—He or his agents would have known.

88. Then eventually the petition was withdrawn ?—It was.

89. Well, first of all, can you tell us what is the extent of this borough ?—Do you mean the area ?

90. Yes.—Between 5,000 and 6,000 acres ; 6,000 acres.

91. In what parishes ?—The parliamentary borough is co-extensive with the parish of Reigate.

92. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is the name of the parish St. Mary's or Reigate ?—No, it is the parish of Reigate. It is divided into Reigate Old and Reigate Foreign, but it is all one parish.

93. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Old and Foreign ?—The Old is round about where we are sitting, and the Foreign is extending round further off ; but the qualification is the same for all practical purposes.

94. What is the present population ?—I should think about 12,000 ; it was 9,900 when the census was taken in 1851, and I should think it was now 12,000 or 13,000.

95. Can you tell me the number of names on the register at the time of the election of 1865 ?—912.

96. Since the last general election the borough has very materially increased, has it not ?—Not greatly since the last general election in 1865.

97. Not 1865 ; I am drawing your attention to the previous election ?—At the general election of 1859 the constituency was only about 548.

98. Then from that election it has been greatly increased ?—Yes ; in 1852 it was 228 ; in 1857, 442 ; in 1859, 548 ; in 1863, 760 ; and the last general election of 1865, 912 ; and it is now, I think, over 1,000, between 1,000 and 1,100.

99. Have you so far investigated this fact as to answer me this question—is the increase on the register in as great ratio as the population ?—I think it has been rather more. The population in 1852 was 4,927, and 228 voters only, which would give only about 5 per cent., but now the population being between 11,000 and 12,000, and the constituency amounting to 1,000, it is nearly 10 per cent. instead of five.

100. Of what class of society is this district composed ?—Of all classes ; some very rich, wealthy individuals residing here ; some also very eminent men in the commercial world residing here, and having their business in London ; through all the grades, down to the labouring classes.

101. Has this borough increased more in the population amongst the higher classes than amongst the smaller one ?—No, I do not think it has. It has increased very largely amongst the higher classes, perhaps more in proportion than they increased in the year 1852 ; but still, as to the numbers, it is very much greater as regards the labouring classes, which, I think, is mainly to be attributed to the junction at the Redhill station having brought a large number of working people here, so as to more than counterbalance the richer class.

102. I suppose the place has very much increased in building ?—Oh yes, no doubt.

FIRST DAY.

Mr. J. Searle.

22 Aug. 1866.

103. That would bring a large number of artisans to work?—Yes, quite so.

104. Do you find many houses in the borough which pay from 10*l.* to 15*l.*?—Yes, a great many.

105. What do you put as the largest number of that class of house as to rent?—That is a question I am really not prepared to answer; the overseers would be better able to answer that.

106. I thought you might give us a general notion?—No, I should be afraid to say; I might perhaps mislead you.

107. Are there many houses in the borough which are rated simply at 10*l.*, and not higher?—Yes, I think there are several.

108. I mean rated?—Yes, I should think a great many. The town clerk here knows the rating, and can answer that question. He would know it by the rate book.

109. Now, the poll book I suppose you do not have the custody of, but it goes into the town hall?—As returning officer I have to send it to the clerk of the Crown.

110. Do you receive officially the return of the election expenses?—From the agent? Yes.

111. Who was the expense agent for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Charles Joseph Smith.

112. Who was the expense agent for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Thomas Hart, and for Mr. Richardson Mr. John Ferney.

113. Does Mr. Ferney live here?—No, I think he is a gentleman living at Canterbury. Oh! Ashford I hear.

114. There is a Mr. John Ferney, solicitor, at Ashford?—He is the son; the agent for Mr. Richardson.

115. Have you got those returns, or have they been handed to the town clerk?—The town clerk has had them in his possession, holding them for me. I have the return of the expenses of Mr. Monson and Mr. Richardson, but those of Mr. Gower were produced before the election committee of the House of Commons, and they retained possession of them, and never returned them to my custody.

116. Can we have a copy; were they advertised by the press?—They were.

117. You may have the paper?—The town clerk has the paper. I may say that all these papers are in the custody of the town clerk.

118. I simply wish to trace them?—Quite so, I can produce them. Would you like me to put in all the papers? (The papers were handed to the Commissioners).

119. Here is the borough of Reigate election, re-election of Mr. Gower, and expenses of returning officer?—That is the returning officer's expenses.

120. Perhaps you had better formally put them in. They are the returned and advertised expenses. I see here is one signed "John Furley;" I take this first. Schedule of bills and expenses incurred by George Gibson Richardson, returned by John Furley at the borough election of 1865; the whole expenses are 47*l.* 1*s.* 7*d.*?—Yes; he was proposed on the day of nomination, I believe, quite unbeknown to the agent of Mr. Monson, Mr. Hart, and though Mr. Richardson was deputy chairman of Mr. Monson's committee, yet the chairman I think was as much surprised as anybody in the hall to hear his name proposed.

121. And being proposed it made him liable for the expenses?—Yes, and as mayor I was obliged to go through the necessary preliminaries.

122. This other paper is the return of Mr. Thomas Hart, the agent for the election expenses of Mr. Monson, and making the sum come to 1,232*l.* 17*s.* 9*d.*?—That is the correct copy of what was returned to me; but I think it right to say we have never received the vouchers for these items of expenditure in the case of Mr. Monson; but that is a correct return of what was given to me by Mr. Monson's agent, Mr. Hart,

123. You never received the vouchers?—No; I merely say that we have no means of testing whether they have been paid. I do not know whether it was part of my duty to do so.

124. Now, Reigate election 1865, statement of account of expenses incurred by W. G. Leveson Gower at the election of member of Parliament, July 1865, signed by Charles James Smith,—that account came to 1,306*l.* 19*s.* 1*d.*; is that the correct copy of the account which was returned to you on behalf of Mr. Gower?—It is, and we have the vouchers for those sums.

125. You allowed that statement?—Yes.

126. What became of the vouchers; were they returned?—I believe they were.

(The Town Clerk.) They were handed over to the clerk of the committee of the House of Commons.

127. I want to know now whether there are any other of those documents which came into your hands that it is right the Commissioners should have?—I do not know of any. I think I have produced all the documents that I have relating to it; but if there are any others I should be very happy to send them to you, or any documents relating to previous elections.

128. No other public documents suggest themselves to my mind, therefore I ask you the question generally?—Certainly.

129. Now, during this last election were you moving about the town at all so as to see what was going on?—Yes, I was in all parts of the borough.

130. And having had that experience in the town before, and taking an active part, I suppose you were enabled to observe what was going on?—Yes, I kept my eyes open pretty well as I went about; it was part of my duty to do so.

131. Did you at any time during the election take any part at all in the canvassing?—I was returning officer.

132. And therefore you took no part?—Certainly not. I should think it very improper in any returning officer to take any part at all.

133. Whatever you did see you simply saw in walking past as a quiet observer?—I saw it as mayor of the borough, and nothing more. I wish it to be distinctly understood that I did not take the slightest interest in the election; all three of the candidates were personally known to me, and were gentlemen for whom I had a high regard. I had no party or personal feeling in the matter whatever, not the slightest.

134. I put that question to you because I was quite certain I should receive that answer, and I gave you the opportunity of answering it in that way. Now, having had the experience of an electioneer, you could barely walk about with your eyes shut?—No.

135. Now, in walking about in that kind of way did you notice anything which would strike you as mayor as not being quite correct going on in regard to the mode in which canvassing was done?—I did not follow any of the canvassers about. I did not see any canvassing. I saw a great many public houses. I do not know whether I ought to say open, but I saw a great number of visitors more than ordinarily at the public houses; and at the last few elections it has been rather too common here in this borough for a great deal of treating to be going on. I think I may say I have never, during the many weeks that I have been engaged very actively in contests here,—I have attended vast numbers of meetings,—I have attended five or six meetings every week,—and sometimes the contest has lasted seven or eight weeks, from circumstances over which we have had no control,—I may say I have never seen any liquor or any treating at any of the committee meetings which I have attended. Whenever there has been any drink on the table, everybody has paid his 6*d.* for his glass of grog, or whatever it may be, as it came in, and I have never seen anything brought in by the committee. I may say I should have set my face very strenuously against anything of the kind, and nothing has disgusted me more at the elections of this place than the frightful state of debauchery which has been produced since February 1858, at the election which then took place here.

136. I take it from that answer of yours that, so far as any individual case of treating goes, you were not present?—Certainly not.

137. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You knew that houses were open?—I did not say that I knew they were open, but I suspected they were open. May I be allowed to give Mr. Commissioner the reason why I think since February 1858 there has been more bribery here?

(The Chief Commissioner.) By all means.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) We shall be much obliged to you.

(The Witness.) I give it only as my opinion, and you must take it only for what it is worth; but at the election of February 1858, consequent upon the death of Mr. Hackblock, when Sir Henry Rawlinson was again brought forward, Mr. Doulton, Mr. Monson, Mr. William Arthur Wilkinson, and Mr. Ralph Walters being the other candidates, there was a very great commotion in the borough. It was not very long after the general election had taken place when the notorious William Roupell was returned for Lambeth, and I have every reason to believe that Mr. Roupell, out of a feeling of personal hostility to Mr. William Arthur Wilkinson, sent Mr. Doulton down here to contest the borough against him.

138. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is that the gentleman who represents Lambeth now?—Yes, certainly. Throughout the whole of my experience I never saw such scenes of drunkenness and debauchery as during the time that Mr. Doulton was the candidate, and after Mr. William Arthur Wilkinson had retired, in all my life. It was the universal opinion of every respectable person in the borough that the whole of the lower class of the constituency was being utterly debauched. I believed so then, and I believe so now. But I am firmly of opinion that had it not been for the unhappy state of things that had occurred, and had it not been for the unscrupulous way in which that unhappy man, Roupell, behaved, who has since been so notorious that it is not worth the while of anybody to allude to it further, I do not believe that this borough would have obtained the character it has done; and I think the whole of the proceedings, whether of bribery, or corruption, or treating, or anything of the kind, ought to be dated entirely from the day when Mr. Doulton was here as a candidate for its representative. I beg to say that I merely give this as my opinion.

139. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That opinion is founded on your observation?—It is my belief and the belief of every other gentleman in the place so far as I know.

140. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You took a very active part in that election?—I was deputy chairman for Mr. Monson's committee, and I was a good deal engaged. Mr. Monson with all his influence at that time only polled 95 votes.

141. You say you never saw such a state of debauchery and drunkenness as since the year 1858?—No; men and women both at that time.

142. Is not a portion of the railway station in the parish of Reigate?—No, it is a part of the Foreign portion.

143. Was your attention drawn as much to that portion of the borough then as to this?—Rather more. I reside in that portion.

144. Does your observation apply to the whole of the borough without any distinction whether it was Old or Foreign?—To the whole of the borough, but more so to the Foreign round Redhill and down Nutley-lane.

145. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where the small class of voters were?—Yes, Nutley-lane.

146. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Can you give me any information at all with reference to the actual state of debauchery and so on? who were the parties who incited it? (Here the Commissioners consulted together.) I will not ask you now that question, because probably I am not at liberty to ask you as to who were the parties with reference to 1858; but having become acquainted with those circumstances, and whilst you were walking about during this recent election, did you see any of those parties taking an active part in the late election?—There were one or two.

147. Can you give me the names of one or two?—Henry Green, who was an active supporter of Mr. Doulton, and also actively engaged in this last election, and resident here.

148. For whom did he act?—For Mr. Gower.

Mr. Green was here heard to say that he had never acted for Mr. Gower.

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien informed Mr. Green that he would have an opportunity of denying anything the witness had stated.

(The Witness.) I beg to say that I should be very sorry to say that Mr. Green was one, if it was not so, but I have a very strong recollection that Mr. Henry Green was amongst the list of names returned as Mr. Gower's agents, as having received money of Mr. Gower.

Mr. Henry Green here again objected.

(The Witness.) Amongst the names down at the election in February 1858 on behalf of Mr. Doulton was a man of the name of Truman who was very active here.

149. Is he now a resident?—No, a stranger.

150. Do you recollect any of those persons taking an active part in the previous election that you saw in the late election of 1865 also act?—I think that that question may be more certainly answered by some of the witnesses who may be called.

151. Can you give us the names of any person who will give us that information?—I cannot without thinking it over. I will refer to some of my papers at home.

152. Will you be kind enough to treat that question as postponed, and give us an answer at a future opportunity?—I am not quite sure; but I think Mr. Featherstone was a very active supporter.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) We will not take that at present.

Mr. Commissioner Smith intimated he had nothing more to ask.

153. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you reside in the town?—Yes.

154. Then I presume in case we wanted you we shall have no difficulty in communicating with you?—Not at all. I am residing here, but I should like to have a day's notice, because I am generally engaged in London.

The witness withdrew.

Mr. John Tollhurst called, sworn, and examined.

155. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are overseer of the parish of Reigate?—I am one of the overseers of the Old borough of Reigate. The parish, as has been observed, has been divided into two parts, the Foreign and the Old. I am overseer of the Old borough.

FIRST DAY.

Mr. J. Tollhurst.

22 Aug. 1866.

156. What is the number of voters in that part of which you are overseer?—I have not the books with me. I have an assistant overseer in the person of Mr. James Nicholls, and without the book I can scarcely tell you.

157. Mr. James Nicholls is here?—Yes. (The rate book was produced and handed to the witness.) This is the rate-book.

158. Are you at all acquainted with the book yourself?—No, I am not.

159. Nor with the rating?—Yes; once or twice a year we go round to re-rate fresh property, but having an assistant overseer—I will not say the office is a sinecure, but still we do not take the interest in it that we should if we were doing the work ourselves.

160. Taking the 10*l.* house rental, what would the proportion of that be for rating?—I should suppose about 7*l.* or 6*l.* 10*s.*

161. In that part of the borough?—Yes.

162. 6*l.* 10*s.* rate would represent 10*l.* householder?—Yes; but many of the houses in the Old borough of Reigate being the property of Earl Somers, the rents are rather low, being taken upon a lease, and hence the rating is greater than the rental. That refers only to the old houses in the town.

163. (The Chief Commissioner.) The rentals were fixed so long ago?—Quite so.

164. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are not able to tell me the number of borough electors belonging to that part of which you are overseer?—I am not, but I should be pleased to supply you with the book. The book is sent for.

165. Have you taken part at all in the election?—Yes, I was a voter at the last election. I have not voted at two or three elections.

166. I mean, have you taken an active part?—Not at the last, but at previous elections I have.

167. I am speaking of the last election?—Not at the last. Although I voted I took no active part. I supported Mr. Leveson Gower.

(A book was here handed to the witness by the assistant overseer.)

168. Is that the list of voters?—This is the list of the voters of the Old borough, the borough in which we are now situated.

169. What is the number of voters? Have you a copy?—Yes, that is a correct copy, subject to a few additions; but it is pretty much the same.

170. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Leveson Gower.

171. Have you voted for him before?—No, I opposed him before. I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

172. You have heard what the mayor has stated with regard to the opening of public houses; do you concur with him in that, that there has been a great increase in the amount of debauchery since the election of 1858?—I would not willingly go so far as the mayor has gone, with all respect for him.

173. I am not speaking about willingly; none of us would do it willingly?—Then perhaps I might say, as freely as he has gone; but the remark is almost synonymous.

174. But have you not observed that public houses have been opened, and that treating has been going on?—I do not know but what public houses are generally open during the day-time.

175. Do you mean you observe no difference between public houses being open during the election and at any other period of the year?—They seem to be more busy, consequent upon public meetings. I have attended very many in this parish for the last 10 years. I have been upon three or four different occasions a check-clerk at the election. In fact, I may say that for a period of 10 years there has scarcely been a public political meeting that I have not attended.

176. Do I understand you to say that, having attended public houses, there was no such thing as a house open for treating?—I never saw it in my life.

177. And you have attended them all?—Yes, every one of any importance at Redhill and Reigate. The principal meetings or the largest meetings I certainly have attended.

178. Do you apply that remark to the election of 1858?—I do. I was check-clerk for Mr. Doulton. My father voted for him.

179. What connection had Mr. Doulton with the parish?—He came down here under circumstances I should think——

180. I mean, was he in any way connected with the borough by business, by property, or by family?—Not at all. I have known him since I was a boy. I have come from Lambeth.

181. Then I suppose you supported Mr. Doulton?—I was not a voter upon that occasion. My father, I believe, voted for Mr. Doulton.

182. You had not a vote?—I was not a voter at that time; but I believe my father supported Mr. Doulton.

183. When did you become a voter?—About four or five years ago. I voted for Mr. Wilkinson on two occasions. I have voted three times; twice for Mr. Wilkinson, and, at the last election, for Mr. Gower.

184. Mr. Wilkinson not being then a candidate?—No. Mr. Monson opposed Mr. Gower at the last election.

185. Do I understand you to say that you saw nothing in the election at all that would indicate the public houses being open for corruption?—Nothing, only just such as might be expected to arise, I will not say from a meeting of this kind; but when a circus comes into the town the public houses are necessarily more busy,—anything that draws together a crowd. I never saw any treating, such as has been spoken of. I would not say that it has not taken place, but I have never seen it.

186. Of course, of your own knowledge you know nothing about bribery?—Certainly not.

Mr. T. Page.

Mr. Thomas Page called, sworn, and examined.

187. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you assistant overseer?—I am overseer, not the assistant; one of the overseers of the Foreign borough, as separate from the Old borough.

188. You have an assistant overseer, but do you do any of the duties yourself?—Yes.

189. Do you do them jointly with the assistant overseer?—With the assistant overseer, and with the assistance of the vestry clerk.

190. Who is your assistant overseer?—He is not assistant overseer, he is the collector; I beg to correct that. He is not the assistant overseer, except that he is the collector; and we have a vestry clerk besides.

191. Who is the collector?—Mr. George Holding; he is here.

192. And the vestry clerk, is he here? Who is he?—George Carter Morrison; he is here.

193. There are three of you, in fact?—There are four; I have a colleague.

194. What is his name?—Henry Summers.

195. Have you got your rate books here?—Yes.

196. Are you able to inform me, by looking at the rate book, or do you know without looking at it, whether in what is called the Foreign Reigate there are any 10*l.* houses, and no houses of a higher value than 10*l.*?—I cannot tell you the exact number.

197. But can you tell me at all, probably you cannot, what proportion they bear to the other houses?—Do you mean those under 10*l.*?

198. No. Say at 10*l.*—There are very few at 10*l.*

199. That is what I wanted to know. You know 10*l.* is the lowest value for election purposes?—Yes, it is so.

200. I want to know whether there are many houses of the lowest value?—No, very few.

201. You are not able to tell me how many?—I could not tell you.

202. I suppose I must get that out of the book itself?—I will furnish you with it to-morrow.

203. I should be very much obliged to you if you would do it.—I will give it you to-morrow morning.

204. You understand me perfectly; I am now speaking of the houses of the lowest value?—Are you speaking of the gross estimated rental, or the rateable value?

205. The gross estimated rental. Would you be able to furnish me with the number of houses between 20*l.* and 30*l.* value?—Yes.

206. Above 30*l.* I suppose the houses are inhabited by what are called the upper classes?—Yes, generally; but not always so.

207. If you would give me, as well as you are able, those lists I should be very much obliged to you: the houses worth 10*l.*, say between 10*l.* and 12*l.*, the houses between 10*l.* and 20*l.*, and the houses between 20*l.* and 30?—Very well, I will. I understand, as a rule, those houses below 10*l.* are compounded for by the landlord. We get no rates from the tenants.

208. I do not want them at all. I do not want anything below 10*l.*; I only want to have those above 10*l.*, because they become inhabited, so to speak, by public characters; and I want to find what proportion they bear to houses of other value?—I will give it to-morrow morning.

209. Now then, will you tell me, were you here at the last election in 1865?—Yes.

210. Did you take part in it?—Yes.

211. Were you on anybody's committee?—Yes.

212. Whom did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

213. Were you chairman or deputy chairman of Mr. Monson's committee?—Neither.

214. Only a member of the committee?—Yes.

215. Where did Mr. Monson's committee sit?—At the "White Hart."

216. Where did Mr. Gower's committee sit?—I do not know of my own knowledge where they sat.

217. At all events Mr. Monson's committee sat at the "White Hart"?—Undoubtedly.

218. Did they meet every night?—No, not every night.

219. Did they meet three or four times a week?—I think about twice a week as near as I remember.

220. When the election drew nearer did they sit oftener, nearly every night?—Yes, nearly every night.

221. About how many sat in Mr. Monson's committee room as members of the committee? I do not want to know the number exactly.—A score, I suppose, at times.

222. You sat round a table, perhaps a score of you?—Yes, perhaps a score; sometimes more than that, sometimes double the number.

223. At what time in the evening did you meet?—I think about seven, or from seven to eight.

224. Did Mr. Monson ever attend himself?—Oh, almost always.

225. And about how long would you sit in the evening?—About a couple of hours sometimes, sometimes not so long; on an average an hour and a half.

226. Perhaps from eight to ten, or eleven?—Yes.

227. I do not want to bind you at all to the exact time?—I do not remember exactly.

228. I suppose most of you had, during the time you were sitting, some little refreshment?—No, I think not.

229. But did not you notice there were glasses on the table?—No, not in the committee room.

230. Not at all?—No.

231. How far is your house from the "White Hart"?—I should think about a mile and a half.

232. I suppose you usually had something when you went to the "White Hart"?—I did, for which I paid.

233. Out of your own pocket?—Out of my own pocket.

234. When you had anything was it with other people or by yourself?—Sometimes.

235. Where did you generally get "refreshed," in a room below or in the bar, or how?—In the bar sometimes, sometimes in the room opposite; sometimes I did not have refreshment there at all, and I went over to the "Grapes" or to the "Swan."

236. When you say "the room opposite" which do you mean?—That is a room opposite the door of the committee room.

237. In the room opposite the door of the committee room were there refreshments generally every evening?—That I do not know; I was not there always.

238. But you went in there occasionally?—When I was there there were refreshments brought.

239. Would you see as many as from 10 to 20 persons there?—I do not think the room would hold 20. There would perhaps be four or five.

240. Are you able to tell me this,—whether the persons who were taking refreshment in that room were exclusively committee men, or were there other men besides committee men?—I think, generally, they were committee men.

241. I suppose the servant brought up whatever they took; each man ordered his glass or whatever it might be, and the servant brought it up?—I believe so. He always did for me.

242. I am asking about the others as well as yourself?—I do not know.

243. I am only asking you what you saw. We shall find out what you know. I do not want you to tell me more than you know. Did you ever see the servant receive money for the refreshments he brought up?—Yes.

244. Did you never see any refreshment brought up that was not paid for in the room?—Yes.

245. Frequently?—No, I did not frequently. On one or two occasions I may have seen it. In fact, I am sure of it.

246. Try and recollect whether you did not see it in a great number of cases,—refreshment brought up and not paid for at the time. By refreshment I mean anything to drink?—In several cases I believe it was not paid for at the time, that is, I did not see any money pass.

247. That is exactly what I mean. When you had refreshment in that room did you pay for it?—Yes.

248. At the time?—At the time, or if I did not pay to him I went to the bar and paid it.

249. That is what I wanted to know. Did you go occasionally to take refreshment in the room, and not pay for it at the time?—Yes, I did.

250. Did you ever go out of that room accompanied by any of the persons who had been taking refreshment there; do you recollect?—Oh, yes! several times.

251. Did you see them, when they went out of the room with you, stop at the bar and pay for their refreshment?—Never; I did not look. Directly when I went out of the room I went away.

252. Do you remember in particular the night previous to the election?—I remember the night very well.

253. Do you remember being at the "White Hart" that night?—To the best of my recollection I do not think I was there.

254. Do you remember meeting one or two members of Mr. Monson's committee that night?—No.

255. Perhaps I shall be able to remind you of it by and by. I am not impugning your word the least in the world; I only want to lead you up to a circumstance which, perhaps, requires leading to?—I will tell you all I know.

256. Do you recollect hearing in the committee room any talk—not on this last night previous to the election, but before that—about money; I do not say what it was, but any talk about money?—No.

257. Did you see any money put on the table of the committee room?—No.

258. Not on any occasion?—No.

FIRST DAY.

Mr. T. Page.

22 Aug. 1866.

259. Was the committee usually attended by Mr. Monson's agent?—Mr. Hart?

260. Yes?—Yes.

261. I suppose nearly always?—I think always.

262. What did he sit in,—a chair or something of that kind?—No, the chairman sat in the chair; he sat on the right of the chairman as far as I know.

263. Did Mr. Monson usually stay the whole time the committee sat, or did he retire, and then did the committee sit after he retired?—He stayed the whole time.

264. Do you recollect when Mr. Monson was present seeing any money put on the table?—Never.

265. Do you recollect any orders being given in the room—try and recollect that—about refreshments?—I do not.

266. I do not mean about refreshments in the committee room, but about refreshments in the other room, or anywhere?—Never to my knowledge.

267. Do you think you would recollect?—I am sure I should if I heard it, and I would say so.

268. I wanted you rather to recall any of those things that passed at the committee room if you can; but you do not recollect any orders being given by Mr. Monson or Mr. Hart about refreshments?—There never were any in my hearing.

269. Was any other agent of Mr. Monson's present besides Mr. Hart?—I do not know that he had another.

270. Did you know Mr. Hart before the election?—A very long time.

271. Where does he live?—He lives here. I have known him these 20 years.

272. What is Mr. Hart?—A solicitor.

273. Do you recollect on the morning of the election being at the "White Hart" very early, between 7 and 8 o'clock?—I was not there.

274. Were you early at the poll?—I was, at Redhill.

275. Where did the election take place?—The polling places were at Redhill and here.

276. Did you remain at Redhill at the polling place?—I did; not at the polling place, but in the committee room.

277. And previous to the election had there been a committee sitting at Redhill?—Alternately with here.

278. Where did the committee sit at Redhill;—At the "South-eastern" hotel.

279. And did you see refreshments being taken at the "South-eastern" hotel?—Only in the same way as I saw here.

280. Exactly. Did you see refreshments in the committee room there?—Yes, I did.

281. Did Mr. Monson and Mr. Hart attend there?—Frequently; not always.

282. Can you tell me from what you saw or from what you know whether some of the committee men were paid, and what they were paid?—I cannot tell you.

283. Were you paid anything for acting on the committee?—Yes, I was.

284. Were you paid by the day?—I was paid so much money.

285. So much in the lump?—Yes.

286. Was that at the rate of so much a day?—No; I was paid so much money.

287. For acting as committee man?—For acting as committee man and for my services in the election.

288. You were paid in a lump?—Yes.

289. Previous to that had you come to any terms as to how much you were to be paid for attendance per day as a committee man?—Not per day. Oh no! I was to have so much money for my services, which I was paid.

290. You are sure that you do not remember having any agreement about how much you were to be paid per day as a committee man?—Such an agreement never was made.

291. Then you cannot remember it. How much money were you paid altogether?—Fifty guineas.

292. And I dare say you did a good deal of work?—I did all I could.

293. Are you a professional man at all?—I am a surveyor and auctioneer.

294. Did you see any money,—mark this question!—did you see any money paid to any other committee men for their services as committee men?—Never.

295. Did you see any other committee men paid at all for whatever it might be?—No.

296. I suppose Mr. Hart paid you?—Mr. Hart paid me.

297. And you considered what you did was fairly worth, of course, the fifty guineas?—I believe it was worth a good deal more.

298. You tell me then at the committee room of the "South-eastern" hotel there was refreshment going on; just let me ask the same question I asked with reference to the committee here,—did you ever see money here paid by any one except yourself for refreshments?—Yes.

299. I suppose there as here you have gone out of the committee room with people who have not paid?—The committee room and the smoking room were one and the same place. Some of us are fond of a pipe and cigar, and after the business was over we did it in that room. But here we could not smoke nor could we drink, so went to the room on the opposite side. The committee room and the smoking room at the "South-eastern" hotel were one and the same room.

300. But you know you would see refreshment ordered for the man sitting next to you?—I saw lots of people having refreshment.

301. Did you ever see them pay to the waiter the money for the refreshment?—Yes.

302. Did you never see persons take refreshment who did not pay?—Yes, I have.

303. It is the same question I have asked you before?—I never saw the money pass.

304. That is all I am asking; you did not see the money pass. Well now, when you have seen persons take refreshment without paying the money over the table for it, so to speak, have not you seen them leave the house without seeing them pay for that refreshment?—I never looked after them. My business was to get away as soon as I could, because we had a consultation, and we had to go and do what we could to influence a voter or two.

305. You understand my question; it does not follow that all committee men were like you?—I am only answering for myself.

306. I want to ask you this in reference to the money which you received from Mr. Hart for the services you performed,—Was that a sum agreed upon beforehand, or did he value your services after they had been performed?—I believe they were valued after they had been performed.

307. You had no agreement as to the amount?—No, I was to be paid what they considered my services worth; that was the understanding; it was not a set agreement.

308. Who asked you originally to give your assistance?—Mr. Monson himself.

309. He of course knew that you had a vote as well as that you had an ability to help him?—I suppose so.

310. Did Mr. Monson say anything to you about acting on his committee?—He asked me to act on his committee.

311. And you did it at his request?—Yes, and also because I wished to do so.

312. No doubt. I suppose of course he asked for your vote?—He asked me for my vote.

313. Was anything said by him about remuneration for your services?—Not a word, not a syllable.

314. That you are sure of?—I am sure of.

315. Did he refer you on that subject to Mr. Hart?—He did.

316. Can you tell me on what occasion that was? Was that the first time you talked to him?—No, I think not.

317. Are you able to recollect who first mentioned that subject about your remuneration, Mr. Monson or you?—Neither of us mentioned it.

318. Then it was mentioned in your presence?—Mr. Hart mentioned it. I had some conversation with him about it, and the conversation was that I was to be paid something for my services. I could not afford to work for nothing.

319. Certainly not; I understand?—At the same time I did it quite con amore.

320. What I wanted to know was when you had a conversation with Mr. Monson himself, and Mr. Monson referred you to Mr. Hart on the subject of compensation?—He did not refer me on the subject of compensation.

321. I understood you to say so.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I have taken down "He referred me on the subject of remuneration to "Mr. Hart."—That is true.

322. (The Chief Commissioner.) That is all I wanted. Can you tell me on that occasion when he referred you on the subject of remuneration to Mr. Hart whether it was you or he that first mentioned the subject? Perhaps you do not recollect?—No, I do not.

323. Do you remember where it was you had the conversation with him?—I think here at Reigate.

324. You do not remember whether it was at the inn or where it was?—No, I do not.

325. About how long before the election came on, the election itself?—Several months, I should think.

326. Did the committee meet some months before the election?—Oh no, I think not.

327. How long?—I forget how long they did meet before; I suppose a couple of months, perhaps.

328. I do not want to bind you?—I do not know.

329. At any rate you worked all the time the committee was sitting?—I worked as hard as I could.

330. All the time the committee was sitting?—And before the committee did sit.

331. Can you tell me whether your conversation with Mr. Monson was before the committee began to sit or not? Perhaps you cannot recollect?—No, I do not.

Adjourned for a short time.

332. We were talking to you about what you witnessed at the last election. Did you know a man named Relf?—Yes.

333. Is that Samuel Relf?—Yes.

334. Did you know him previous to the last election?—Oh, yes.

335. Is he a Reigate man?—Yes.

336. What is Mr. Relf?—An independent gentleman, I think.

337. Do you remember seeing him the night before the polling commenced?—No.

338. How recently before the day of the election did you see Mr. Relf, do you recollect?—I should think it might be a fortnight.

339. You think you did not see him later than that?—I do not think I did.

340. Did you canvass him?—No.

341. Did he canvass you?—No.

342. Did you meet him in a committee room in the first instance?—No.

343. How did you meet him, casually in the street, or how was it?—Casually in the street.

344. Then you saw him most days?—No, I did not see him most days; I told you I did not see him for a fortnight before the election.

345. You know a man named Nicholls; you have mentioned him?—I have not mentioned him.

346. I thought you mentioned him as an assistant overseer?—He was not mentioned by me.

347. You know him?—I know him very well.

348. Do you remember having been in company, previous to the election, with Nicholls and Relf together?—Oh, I remember being in their company many times.

349. With these two together?—Shooting.

350. I said before the election?—Just before the election, sir, shooting.

351. You mean target shooting?—No, sir, shooting in the fields, game shooting.

352. Which way was Relf in politics?—I cannot tell you.

353. Do you know which way he voted?—I believe I do.

354. Which way did he vote?—I believe he voted for Mr. Gower.

355. Do you know which way Nicholls voted?—He voted for Mr. Monson, I believe.

356. Was he on a committee?—I believe so.

357. Was he on Mr. Gower's committee?—Certainly not.

358. At the last election?—On Mr. Monson's.

359. But you think Relf voted for Mr. Gower?—I am as nearly sure as any one can be that he did vote for Mr. Gower.

360. Was he on Mr. Monson's committee?—No.

361. Did he take any part for Mr. Monson?—Not that I know of. He signed the requisition for him to come forward.

362. Do you recollect the date of that?—I should think it would be September a year ago.

363. September 1865?—1864 I mean. I think that was the time the requisition was drawn up.

364. But subsequently to that you say he did not canvass for him?—I do not believe he did; I never saw him. By report I think he did not.

365. I want to know this,—do you remember being at a public house a few nights previous to the election, at the "White Hart" in company with Relf?—I think it is very likely I might have been.

366. Recently, before the election?—I think it is very likely.

367. The night before do you mean?—I am sure it was not the night before.

368. Two nights before?—I am sure it was not two nights before.

369. Three?—I cannot tax my memory.

370. Is it possible it may have been three nights before?—It might have been five or six.

371. But it may possibly have been as little as three?—It may have been.

372. Did you hear at that time in Relf's presence some talk about money?—No.

373. Did you hear Relf saying anything about money?—Never.

374. Did you see Relf hand over any money on that occasion?—Never. If he did he did not communicate it to me, because I thought he behaved badly in having signed the requisition to Mr. Monson and having voted the other way.

375. I distinctly understood you to say that you did not hear anything said by Relf at the "White Hart" about money?—Never.

376. Did you see Relf produce any money?—Never.

377. Did you see any produced to him?—Never.

378. I will ask you this,—did you see a sum of 400*l.* produced?—Never; I never saw a shilling produced.

379. Very likely, but did you see a sum of 400*l.* produced?—No, nor any part of 400*l.*

380. Pray do not fence with me?—I answered the question; I said never; I never saw it.

381. Did you hear anything at the "White Hart" about a sum of 400*l.*?—Never.

382. You would remember it, I suppose, if you had?—I should have done if I had heard it.

383. Previous to the election did you hear anywhere of a sum of 400*l.*?—I did not.

384. Not confining my question to the "White Hart," did you see anywhere else a sum of 400*l.* produced?—I never did.

385. Did you see any payment made by Relf to any person previous to the election?—I never saw any payment made by Relf.

386. Not in any shape, either coin or paper?—I never saw anything.

387. Do you remember anything of a sum of 400*l.*

FIRST DAY.

Mr. T. Page.

in connexion with Nicholl?—No. I may state from a paper I have in my hand that the number of houses under a 10*l.* gross estimated rental are 193, and those over 10*l.* are 1,404.

388. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That is in Reigate Foreign, making a total for Reigate Foreign of 1,597?—I will give you to-morrow morning what I have promised.

389. (The Chief Commissioner.) Let me ask you one question. Did you yourself pay over any money to any person previous to the election?—No.

390. Did you subsequent to the election?—No.

391. Were you desired to do so by any one?—Never.

Mr. T. Dann.

Mr. Thomas Dann (having been previously affirmed) examined.

392. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you been mayor of this place?—Yes.

393. In what year?—The first year, 1843.

394. Was that the time of one of the elections?—No.

395. Were you mayor during the time of any election?—No.

396. I was under the impression you had been mayor during one of the elections?—No.

397. You have long been an inhabitant of the borough?—Upwards of 60 years. I have lived here all my life.

398. Have you taken any part in election matters? Yes.

399. Have you taken any active part?—Yes.

400. I do not ask you on which side, for they are both on the same side; but for which of the candidates did you generally act?—On the last occasion I voted for Mr. Leveson Gower.

401. And on the previous election did you vote for Mr. Leveson Gower?—No.

402. Or for Mr. Wilkinson?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

403. Did you take a part as committee man?—Yes.

404. And in canvassing?—And in canvassing.

405. At the last election were you on the committee of Mr. Gower?—Yes.

406. What part did you take on the committee? Were you chairman or deputy chairman?—There were two committees; one at Redhill and one here. I was vice-chairman of the western ward.

407. Did you canvass any other part of the district?—No, the other men did.

408. This last election?—Yes.

409. How many wards are there?—Two, the east and west.

410. Is this called the west ward?—Yes; but the town embraces the west ward and a portion of the Foreign.

411. You are speaking of the corporate division in speaking of the wards; of the election of the corporate body?—Yes.

412. You were on this part as committee man?—Yes.

413. But acted in the other portion also?—Yes, I occasionally went there.

414. Were you much with Mr. Gower when he canvassed?—Not a great deal.

415. You were with him at times?—Yes, he was with me at times.

416. Who formed the body of canvassers?—A small portion of the committee; very few.

417. Was Mr. Smith much with you in canvassing?—Not a great deal; he was with us when I went with Mr. Gower.

418. How many times will you say you went with Mr. Gower canvassing?—Six or eight times, all about the neighbourhood.

419. Are there many outlying voters beyond the town, or are they concentrated within the town?—No, they are all over the neighbourhood.

420. Does the parish extend as far as Earlswood Common?—Yes.

421. Are there many houses about there?—Not the lower part of the common, the upper part.

422. What class of houses?—Small tenements.

423. Ranging from what rent?—I should think from 10*l.* to 15*l.*

424. Was there a committee at Earlswood?—I really hardly know.

425. Did you attend any meetings there?—I did one evening.

426. Do you know of any committee meeting there?—I do not really know of any committee meeting specially for that part; the only part in which I acted was occasionally when a committee was sitting here, and I did once or twice go over to Redhill.

427. You reside at Earlswood?—Yes.

428. What time of day was it?—It was rather towards the afternoon or middle of the day.

429. You were not there in the evening?—No.

430. Was there any public house you went to there?—No.

431. You did not go into one?—At Earlswood there was a meeting once which I attended; that was at the British school, that is in the boundary of Earlswood. That I do state I wish to state correctly; that could not be called Earlswood though in its neighbourhood.

432. Do you know of any houses of entertainment open at that time?—No.

433. Or persons taking refreshments there?—No, nothing that I had anything to do with.

434. You do not know of it?—No.

435. Who else went with you in the district of Earlswood, if any?—I think Mr. Smith and Mr. A.

436. Which, Apted?—James Apted, whom you are going to call to-morrow.

437. And how many voters did you canvass on that occasion?—On that occasion we did not canvass any; it was merely a meeting.

438. A general meeting?—Yes.

439. Were there any refreshments at that meeting?—No.

440. You say it was in the school?—At the British school.

441. Did you attend any meetings in this portion of the town?—Yes, in the "White Hart."

442. I presume there would be no refreshment in the "White Hart"?—No.

443. Did you attend any committee meetings in the houses of the town?—No, where there were no refreshments. I attended one or two committee meetings at the "White Hart."

444. Was that the only house where the committee had meetings?—Yes, Mr. Gower expressly engaged this hall so that he might not be accused of having public houses for his committee rooms.

445. Were there any meetings at the houses?—I believe there were, there were reports of such; but I never attended any myself.

446. Where did Mr. Gower's committee sit?—At the "White Hart."

447. Why should he not have a public house if he had the "White Hart"?—At the "White Hart" he had a private room.

448. And a committee room as well?—It might be called a committee room, a private room where his friends met, where they would meet and consult.

449. How many of his friends would meet in his private room?—I think there might be 20.

450. Did you meet there yourself?—Yes.

451. Were there any refreshments going on in this private room?—No; I might have seen some of them have some soda water or something of that kind.

452. Did it not strike you as rather extraordinary to find soda water brought into Mr. Gower's private room?—Not when his friends were there. I merely said I might have seen such a thing occur as soda water being brought into the room.

453. And nothing further than the soda water ?—No.

454. Was the soda water paid for ?—It believe it was.

455. Who brought it in, the waiter ?—Yes.

456. Did you see it ordered ?—I believe it was ordered by private individuals, but I am not sure. I did not pay any attention to it.

457. How was this done in this private room of Mr. Gower's ? Did the gentleman who wanted the soda water get up and ring the bell ?—I believe he did, to the best of my knowledge. I do not know whether it was brought in at all on Mr. Gower's account, but I could not say. I did not see soda water brought in in the course of the morning.

458. Did they ever meet in the evening ?—I never did.

459. Did you ever go to any meeting of an evening ?—No.

460. You are not able to inform us what took place of an evening ?—No ; the meetings I attended to were held here.

461. You never attended any of those meetings which took place elsewhere than here ?—No.

462. When you went down the town you told me you went to Redhill ; what time of the day was it you were at Redhill ?—To go canvassing ?

463. Well, to go canvassing first of all ?—In the middle of the day.

464. Did you stop there any afternoon ?—No, I went there one evening when there was a meeting there.

465. Where was the meeting held ?—At the public hall, the market hall. I never attended any public house of any kind, or any hotel at Redhill in connexion with these meetings.

466. Do you know there was a meeting at Redhill ?—Yes, at the public hall.

467. Was the public hall hired for the whole time ?—I suppose it was.

468. So far as you know was it ?—I really cannot say, because, I tell you candidly, I had nothing whatever to do with the monetary transactions at any time whatever.

469. When you say that the hall was hired you believe as a committee room, you merely say that was so by guess, and not of your own knowledge ?—Only from having heard that it was so rather than hire a public house.

470. Do you know of any committee room being at Redhill at any public house there ; at the "Railway" hotel or any other house ?—Not on behalf of Mr. Gower.

471. You say this room, so I understand you, was hired by Mr. Gower ?—I do not say it was hired ; it might have been hired.

472. To whom does this room belong ?—To Lord Somers. I say that the only part I have ever taken has been simply in canvassing occasionally with the candidates, and attending at the town hall when the election has taken place ; that is the only part I have taken.

473. In canvassing round here. Where is Mr. Apted ? Does he live here ?—Close by.

474. Can you give me the names of any persons that you canvassed ?—With Mr. Gower ?

475. With Mr. Gower, or with Mr. Smith, or Mr. A., with whom you went round ?—Mr. Richardson in Reigate Park.

476. He is a gentleman of some position ?—Yes. And Mr. Austin.

477. He is a gentleman of some position in life ?—A linendraper.

478. Of some position ?—Yes, decidedly. And some of the working people, mechanics, and so on. I cannot really recollect their names at the present time ; if I had the book where their names were mentioned I could perhaps recollect.

479. Did you canvass with Mr. Joyes at all ?—No, I did not.

480. Or with Mr. Green ?—No ; I believe I never canvassed but when I was with Mr. Leveson Gower himself. I do not recollect canvassing at all with Mr. Green.

481. You never canvassed without Mr. Gower ?—Not without Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith. I think those were the only parties who have ever been with me when I have canvassed.

482. You have given us the names of parties you canvassed in some position in life ?—Yes.

483. Do you know Joseph Apps ?—Well, I cannot say, I hardly do.

484. You never canvassed him ?—Not that I am aware of.

485. In what position in life is he ?—I believe a carpenter ; I really do not know, but I believe he is a carpenter.

486. A journeyman carpenter ?—I think he is, but I do not know.

487. Was Apps sitting on any committee ?—I am not aware whether he was or not ; I would tell you directly if I was, but I do not really hardly know the man.

488. Do you know of any arrangement as to the men like Apps who did sit on the committees, those men who were working men ?—No.

489. Do you know whether they were to be paid anything for sitting on committees ?—No.

490. Did you never hear of any arrangement ?—No ; I only understood, and that by general report, they would expect to be paid something.

491. Do you mean all those who sat on committees ?—No.

492. Of course you were not to be paid ?—No.

493. And of course you were not paid ?—No.

494. But you heard, from general report, that some parties would be paid ?—Yes ; I heard from general report some parties would be paid for canvassing, not for sitting on committees.

495. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you mean voters ?—Yes.

496. In the double capacity of voters and canvassers ?—Yes, as canvassers ; I was speaking on report. I know nothing of the transaction myself.

497. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you know a person of the name of Thomas Chitty ?—No.

498. David Durrant do you know ?—Yes.

499. What is he ?—A brewer.

500. What class of brewer ?—He is a very respectable man.

501. Is he a large brewer ?—Not very large.

502. Did you canvass with him at all ?—No.

503. Did you see him on the committee ?—Most likely I did. I will not say I did not. The committee was very large.

504. Was it in this ward or in the other ?—It would be in my own ward ; I have seen him most likely there. I only say so because I believe it most likely he would come here.

505. Do you know George Collins ?—No.

506. Alexander Rose ; do you know him ?—Yes.

507. What is he ?—A gardener.

508. A working gardener ?—Yes.

509. Was he on the committee ?—Yes.

510. This committee ?—Yes.

511. The committee of this ward ?—Yes.

512. Was he to be paid ?—I suppose he was as one of the agents and canvassers.

513. Now, Frederick Joyes, what is he ?—A grocer.

514. In this ward ?—Yes.

515. Was he on the committee ?—Yes.

516. Was he to be paid ?—I suppose he was as one of the canvassers. I merely go by report, because I tell you that I have no positive knowledge by seeing them paid.

517. Was it a matter of general conversation in the committee room that those persons were to be paid ?—No, certainly not.

FIRST DAY.

Mr. T. Dann.

22 Aug. 1866.

518. Where did you get your report from ?—Out of doors in general conversation.

519. Not in the committee room, but by general conversation out of doors ?—Not in the committee room. Mr. Gower expressed himself particularly desirous that no more agents should be employed than were allowed by law, and he expressly stated in the committee room, which I attended at the "White Hart," that he would have no money spent at all in bribery; that he would prefer throwing up his position as a candidate rather than any steps of that kind should be taken. I have not seen from beginning to end a single shilling passed to any one in a matter of that kind; the only thing was, some years ago a man asked me for something, and I declined to give it to him.

520. That was some years ago ?—Yes, for one shilling; that is the only thing. So little knowledge have I of anything passing, or any money being paid; that is the only instance in which I recollect a voter applying, and in which instance I declined to give him anything. I expressly made a point of not having anything to do with money transactions.

The Commissioners adjourned further proceedings until 11 o'clock the following morning.

SECOND DAY.

SECOND DAY.

Thursday, 23rd August 1866.

Mr. T. Gilbert, jun.

23 Aug. 1866.

Mr. Thomas Gilbert, Jun., sworn and examined.

521. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you a Parliamentary agent in London ?—I am, sir.

522. Do you remember some time subsequent to the last election some steps being taken respecting a petition to Parliament ?—Yes.

523. Against the return of the then sitting member for the borough of Reigate ?—Yes, sir.

524. Did you come down here for the purpose of getting up evidence ?—I did.

525. Did you make application to certain persons who were on the list of voters ?—I did.

526. Are you able to tell me from your recollection or from any list that you have who the parties were ?—There was James Hall, James Peters, James Bonny, James Apps, Thomas Cotton, William Johnson, William Monk, John Bailey, Allen Edwards.

527. They signed ?—Yes.

528. Richard Batchelor, John Farrington, Thomas Chitty ?—Yes, all of these.

529. Thomas Wilkins, George Charles Beales, John Evans, Richard Goldsmith, Barron, William Beale, James Apted, John Palmer, George Rance, George Collett, George Mitchell, Edward Langton, and William Wesley and William Bobbins ?—Yes.

530. Will you tell me first with reference to James Hall ? Did you see him sign that statement (handing a paper writing to witness) ?—I did.

531. Is that his handwriting ?—It is.

532. And is that yours witnessing it ?—Yes.

533. Was he aware of the contents of the document when he signed it ?—Yes.

534. How was he aware of the contents of the document ?—I read it over to him before he signed it.

535. And then he signed it ?—Yes.

536. Look at that,—James Peters; that, I see, is marked ?—Yes.

537. Did you see him make his mark ?—I did.

538. And is that it ?—Yes.

539. And is that your signature ?—Yes, it was read over to him before he put his mark.

540. So that he could understand it ?—Yes.

541. And did he ?—He did understand it. I think, sir, I can save you some labour if I were to look through the list and make one answer do for the lot.

(The Commissioner.) No, I do not think it will.

542. Look at James Bonny ?—Yes.

542*. Is that his signature ?—Yes.

543. Did you make all those men whose names you have mentioned all aware of the contents of the document before they signed it ?—I did. I read it distinctly over to every one of them.

544. James Apps, is that his signature ?—Yes.

545. Thomas Cotton, is that his signature ?—Yes, it is.

546. Are you able to tell me whether those different persons knew what you were engaged about at the time those statements were made ?—Oh, yes, they certainly did; there is no doubt about it that they did know.

547. They did know ?—Yes.

548. Did you say anything to them at all about whether their evidence would be required afterwards, do you recollect ?—I do not know; I cannot recollect that, but it was very evident. I may have said they would be required in case the petition was proceeded with. I have no doubt they understood that if the petition was proceeded with their evidence would be required before the committee.

549. You did not refer to or say anything likely to do away with that impression ?—No.

550. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had the petition been spoken of before ?—The impression seemed to be in consequence of the petition in 1863 being compromised that this petition would be compromised in the same way, and when I heard such remarks I assured them that nothing of the kind would take place, and that there would be no compromise whatever.

551. (The Chief Commissioner.) William Joyes, is that his signature ?—It is.

552. I do not put the question, but you distinctly understand I put the general question that they were aware of the contents of the documents they signed ?—I am quite aware of that; all the contents of the documents were read distinctly over to them.

553. William Monk ?—The same remark applies to each.

554. Then I will not repeat it, but I will go through them. Now, look at this one; here is one, John Bailey. Did John Bailey have that read over to him ?—He read his statement.

555. Here is Cotton ?—Yes, it was read distinctly over to him, but he refused to sign it, for he told me he would sign it some other time; he said he would sign it at some future time; he told me every word of it was true.

556. I see there is a signature of Cotton's ?—That is as a witness; he was there as a witness.

557. Is that the Cotton whom we have had mentioned ?—Yes, it is.

558. Now, tell me about this Allen Edwards ?—That is his signature; it was read distinctly over to him, and, in order that there might be no mistake about it, I obtained the signature of a party there as a witness.

559. It was read over ?—Yes.

560. Is this Apted's name ?—Yes.

561. James Apted ?—Yes, he was present when it was read.

562. Did you see Apted sign that?—Yes.

563. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Allen Edwards treat the statement as a matter of business; did he make the statement seriously?—Yes, he made the statement willingly; I took it down and it was read to him.

564. Did he say it in such a way as to lead you to believe what he said was true?—I believe every word of it, and I would not have entertained it unless I believed it.

565. (The Chief Commissioner.) Richard Batchelor?—Yes.

566. That is his signature?—Yes.

567. There is no witness there?—No; but it was read in my presence.

568. By him?—By him.

569. Farrington, John?—Yes.

570. Look at that?—The same there, sir.

571. Thomas Chitty, (I will call the names out), did he sign that statement?—He did, sir.

572. In your presence?—In my presence.

573. Did Thomas Mitchell sign that?—Yes.

574. In your presence?—Yes, sir.

575. Did John Evans sign that?—He did, sir.

576. In your presence?—In my presence.

577. Did Thomas Cowdell sign that?—He did, sir.

578. In your presence?—He did.

579. George Charles Beales, did he make that signature in your presence?—He did.

580. And read over before?—Oh, yes, every one.

581. Richard Goldsmith, is that his signature?—Yes.

582. In your presence?—Yes.

583. Charles Barron, is that so?—It is.

584. James Apted, did he sign that in your presence?—Yes.

585. John Palmer did he sign that in your presence?—Yes.

586. George Rance, did he sign that in your presence?—Yes.

587. Did George Collip sign that in your presence?—He did.

588. Did George Mitchell sign that in your presence?—He did.

589. I see at the end of the statement of George Mitchell there is a statement made with the word "further;" when was that made?—At the same time. Mitchell made it out himself at the same time as the signature was given there.

590. Did you take it down?—I did, sir.

591. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When he made that statement to you did he make any other observation to you that would lead you to suppose anything he stated there was doubtful as a fact?—No; I had every confidence in it.

592. Before the committee he denied the statement here that he had received 5*l.* from Gower and Smith?—I do not recollect that.

593. He made no observation?—No.

(Commissioner Smith.) We understand there was a denial of what he said, and of course both statements cannot be correct.

594. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is that his signature to a statement?—It is.

595. Look if that is another?—It is his signature.

596. Did he make it at the same time or at a different time?—Different, because you will see it is the 1st of February and the 2nd.

597. Were they both made to you?—They were both made to me.

598. How did he come to make a second statement, do you recollect at all? have you any recollection of the circumstance of his making a second statement?—Oh, yes, I know he did make a second statement.

599. Do you recollect whether he came to you the second time to make it or whether you went to him and said, "I think you have more to say"?—No, he came to me.

600. Look at Edward Langton?—The same remark applies to that.

601. It is his signature?—It is his signature.

602. And in your presence?—And in my presence.

603. Tell me as to William Bobbins, did he make that signature?—Yes, he did.

604. And in your presence?—Yes, in my presence.

605. Now, I think this is the last, William Westley?—Yes, that is his statement and his signature made in my presence, and this he told me after he signed it.

606. That is what I am coming to; is that your handwriting?—It is my handwriting.

607. Where did you get the statement from?—The very same day, the same evening from Westley himself. Allow me to look at the list (he did so). That note is a note of my own.

608. Now, I am coming to that, you say this statement was made by Westley?—Yes.

609. Williams or William?—William.

610. I do not know that it is here?—It is William; I saw the man sign it.

611. Subsequently to his signing that statement did he come to you?—The same evening, if I recollect rightly.

612. After he had signed that statement did he make a further statement?—In the course of conversation he told me that, and I added it.

613. Confine yourself to answering the question, if you please. Did he make a further statement to you after he had signed that?—He did.

614. Did you take a note of what he said?—I did.

615. Can you, by looking at that, tell me what it was he did say to you; just read it. (The document was handed to the witness)?—"I know Mr. J. Stevens, "and had repeated conversations with him before the "day of polling; he said to me he wished he could "poll according to his inclinations; if he had not a wife "and family he would vote for Monson, but he was "obliged to vote for Gower."

616. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was a statement affecting Stevens.

(The Chief Commissioner.) Yes, implicating him; however, whatever it was he made it?—Yes.

(The Chief Commissioner.) Those are all the questions I have to ask.

617. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You took all this as an outline of evidence which they might be called upon to prove on oath?—Just so; that was the foundation of my case before the committee.

618. You had no connection here except in your private capacity as conducting this petition?—Just so. I never was in Reigate before.

619. We may possibly want you again; you can come here?—I am at your service, but I should be glad if you would not require me until after Saturday.

(The Chief Commissioner.) We will endeavour to consult your convenience.

JOHN HAMBLIN sworn and examined.

J. Hamblin.

620. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where do you reside, Mr. Hamblin?—At No. 99, Shoreditch.

621. What is your business?—I am a licensed victualler.

622. Are you at all acquainted with Reigate?—Very little.

623. Just take that book in your hand (handing book to witness). Is that your book?—It was a book I had to write in.

624. Are the entries there in your handwriting?—No.

625. In whose handwriting are they?—I never

SECOND DAY.

J. Hamblin.

23 Aug. 1866.

made any entries with a pen whatever. I never did any writing.

626. Who did the writing ?—My clerk.

627. In your presence ?—In my presence.

628. What is your clerk's name ? — Frederick Hinde.

629. Where is he now ?—I cannot say ; the last I heard of him was that he was in London ; a few days ago he was in London.

630. Did you bring Hinde down with you for the purpose of writing ?—I did.

631. And it was all done in your presence ?—Yes, it was all done in my presence.

632. Did you meet a voter named Thomas Dale when you came down ?—Yes.

633. You came down for the purpose of making inquiries with reference to the election, did you not ? —I did.

634. Did you announce that you came down to clear off old scores ?—Precisely so ; that was the ruse that I thought the easiest way of getting information.

635. That was the ruse you adopted in order to get the information you required ; had you a large levy as you had come down to clear off old scores ?—I found several claims that had been neglected.

636. Amongst those did you see a man named Thomas Dale ?—I did.

637. We will see whether Mr. Thos. Dale is in the list of voters, and for whom he voted. I see here that he is the first of the D's ; 65 is his number ; house London-road ; do you know for whom he voted ? —I should imagine for Mr. Gower.

638. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Why should you imagine that ?—Because calling upon him of course it was with reference to the claim ; he had performed some labour, and had been unpaid for it by Mr. Gower.

639. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You called upon him with reference to a claim that he had against Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

640. Was that in reference to the election that had taken place in the previous autumn ?—Yes.

641. Where did you see him ?—At his house. I should think it must have been at his house.

642. How did you know him ? what was your reason for calling upon him ?—I was furnished with the address of him and others.

643. By whom ?—By my employer.

644. Who was that ?—Mr. Gilbert.

645. When you called upon Mr. Dale your clerk was with you ?—Yes.

646. Did you see him the first time you called ?— I really cannot remember, I think I did. I took no further notice of the thing ; in fact, I had to take a deal of trouble in getting the names.

647. Did you inquire of him what money was due to him ?—Yes, I made inquiry of him.

648. In reference to the election ?—In reference to the election.

649. And what money he had received ?—Yes.

650. What money did he say he had received in reference to the election ?—That is right what you will find in the book.

651. Just refresh your memory and answer the question ; look at the item ?—The item is correct.

652. Well, how much did he say he had received with reference to the election ?—He had received 1*l.* 10*s.*

653. What did he say was due to him ?—It was 3*l.*, and 1*l.* 10*s.* received ; possibly it would be 1*l.* 10*s.*

654. That was due to him ? Did he tell you who promised the 3*l.* ?—It is under that heading.

655. Look at the book and refresh your memory ? —William Joyes.

656. Did he tell you who Joyes was ?—I understood him to be an agent for Mr. Gower.

657. That you understood from Mr. Dale ?—Yes.

658. Did he tell you when he had received the 1*l.* 10*s.* ?—No.

659. Did he tell you whether he had made application for the 1*l.* 10*s.* that was due to him ?—He told me he had.

660. Did he tell you why it was not paid to him ? —He thought it was through the dishonesty of Joyes.

661. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he say so ? (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Yes, did he tell you that ?—He did.

662. What did he tell you he was to receive the 3*l.* for ?—For labour or work done in Gower's behalf at the election.

663. What labour did he say he had done ?—He was canvassing. He had been I suppose soliciting people to vote for Mr. Gower.

664. Did he tell you how long he had been canvassing ?—No, he did not.

665. Did he tell you when the promise was made to him to give him the 3*l.*, how long before the election ?—No, I did not ascertain that. I should not think a very great time by the amount he earned. I should think it would be a very short time, there only being 3*l.*

666. Do you recollect anything else passing between you with reference to the election, between you and Dale ?—No, I do not, any more than that I promised to pay him, which I unfortunately failed to do.

667. Did you ask him then for any account of what work he had done, or how many days he had been employed ?—No, I did not go into that, I made him sign for the amount claimed, for which you see his signature in the book.

668. You promised to pay him the 1*l.* 10*s.* that would be the balance of the account ?— Yes, the balance of the account.

669. Was he aware then that a petition was pending ?—He told me that he had been told that such a thing might occur.

670. He informed you he was told a petition might be presented ?—Yes.

671. And did you promise to pay him after the petition was disposed of ?—I asked him to be very careful about what he was doing.

672. You told him to be very careful ; what did he tell you then ?—He told me he had been employed by Joyes, and that he had been paid 1*l.* 10*s.*

673. Did he give you any other information ?—No.

674. Now just look at the book again. Look at Elliott's name ; did you see a man sign of the name of Amos Elliott ?—Yes.

675. Nutley-lane, house ?—Yes.

676. You saw him ?—Yes.

677. Did you see him at his house ?—Yes.

678. Upon the subject of his claim for payment ? —Yes.

679. Did he tell you he was employed and was promised anything ?—Yes.

680. How much was he promised ?—3*l.*

681. For what purpose ?—For the same.

682. For working at the election ?—For working at the election.

683. By whom ?—Alexander Rose.

684. Who was Alexander Rose ? did he say he was an agent ?—He was an agent for Mr. Gower.

685. And did you promise to pay him the balance that was due to him ? I beg your pardon, I find it stated here that he was employed as a messenger. Did he give you any account of the days he was employed ?—No.

686. He only received 1*l.* 10*s.* ?—The same.

687. Did he tell you how much he was promised ? —3*l.*

688. You promised to pay the remainder ?—Yes.

689. Was anything said about the petition then ?— Not in his case.

690. What is the next name you have there ?— Mr. Culverhouse.

691. Culverhouse, Thomas, Nutley-lane ?—Yes.

692. I see he has put his mark here ; he could not sign his name, I suppose ?—No.

693. You saw him put his mark ?—Yes.

694. Who wrote the word "canvasser" here ?—My clerk.

695. Was that from what Mr. Culverhouse had said ?—Yes.

696. That he had been employed as canvasser, and promised 3*l.* ?—Yes.

697. Did he express any dissatisfaction at not being paid ?—Oh, yes, and great annoyance ; in fact, it was pretty well understood by the whole of these men that Mr. Joyes was retaining the money for his own use. In some instances I was informed that complaints had been sent to Mr. Gower that the money had not been paid, and Mr. Gower would refer them to the separate agents, whoever they might be, Mr. Joyes and others.

698. Did you hear that from Culverhouse, Elliott, or Dale ?—No, from Turner.

699. We will come to that presently. He is put down as canvasser. Did you tell him if he had canvassed you would examine the accounts to have it right ?—I had no accounts.

700. Did he tell you how many days he was employed ?—No, I did not go into those questions ; it was quite enough for me to know that he was employed and had received money.

701. You knew he was a voter ?—I should expect he was by this being sent to him.

702. Look at Henry Baines ?—Yes.

703. He is a general shopkeeper, house Nutley-lane ?—Yes.

704. Did you see him at his house ?—I did.

705. What money was he to receive ?—5*l.*

706. Had he received it, by his statement ?—No ; he had received 3*l.*

707. From whom ?—Oh, he had received 2*l.*

708. From whom ?—By Mr. Apted.

709. By whom was he promised the 5*l.* ?—By Mr. Apted, agent for Mr. Gower.

710. What did he say he was to do for the 5*l.* ?—He had been canvassing.

711. I do not see any mark down here. Did he tell you he had been canvassing, or was it for his vote ?—It was not for his vote ; it was either for canvassing or labour of that description, but I did not inquire particularly for what.

712. There is no mention how he was employed there ?—No.

713. Did you promise him the 3*l.* ?—I did.

714. Did you fix any date when you were to pay him the 3*l.* ?—Yes, I said the following day.

715. You asked for no particulars of payment ?—I did not.

716. I suppose in reality you thought the whole of the employment a sham ?—Well, I had no right to doubt his word.

717. But you did not ask for any particulars ?—No.

718. Is that name Scarth in your book ?—No, Charles Smith.

719. Charles Smith, Nutley-lane ? they are all in a cluster there together, I see ?—Oh, yes.

720. What was he to receive ?—3*l.*

721. From whom ?—Alexander Rose.

722. He had received how much ?—1*l.* 10*s.*

723. Did he tell you how he had been employed ?—In the usual way.

724. What as ?—As canvasser.

725. About how much was due to him, 1*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes.

726. What is the next name in your list ?—William Turner.

727. Mead-vale,' house and garden ?—West-square I should imagine, by the note here.

728. William Turner is in the Mead-vale list of voters ; he qualifies out of Warwick-road ?—Yes, No. 221.

729. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It is William Turner, West-street, here.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Oh, he is quite right, it is the Old borough.—Yes.

730. House, West-street, in the Old borough ; what was he to receive ?—4*l.*

731. By whom was he promised the 4*l.* ?—Frederick Joyes.

732. How much of it had he received ?—1*l.* 10*s.*, and 2*l.* 10*s.* was due.

733. What did he say he had been employed in doing ?—Turner was a messenger.

734. Is it marked down there ?—No, it was not, but I understood it perfectly well, because I thought it was rather a peculiar thing that he was employed as a messenger, because he was not well on his legs.

735. But a messenger ; he was an active strong young fellow, I suppose ?—He may have been strong, but he was not at all lithesome.

736. You do not think it was a happy choice to appoint him as a messenger ?—No.

737. He received 30*s.* ?—Yes.

738. And 2*l.* 10*s.* was due ?—Yes.

739. Did any of these men give you any details at all of what they had done for the money received, or that was to be received ?—The most of the details I had were their complaining of the accounts having stood so long and the trouble they had to get them.

740. Did they tell you they had applied often ?—Oh, yes ! In some cases they had taken tea and sugar for it, and stationery.

741. But that might have brought them under the Truck Act. Where did they get the tea ? Do you mean that they got their tea from Dakin's ?—No, they were separate agents.

742. I should like you to fix upon the names ?—I cannot.

743. You have no doubt that that had been stated to you ?—No, I heard it.

744. By more than one ?—Yes.

745. That for this money they had taken it in grocery ?—Yes ; they were supplied with tea by the agents who employed them.

746. What is the next name ?—Thomas Wood ; he is of the same street, West-street.

747. No. 233 ?—That is right.

748. Who employed him ?—William Joyes.

749. On behalf of Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

750. What was he to receive ?—5*l.*

751. In what capacity was he engaged ?—The same.

752. As what ?—As messenger.

753. Have you any mark ?—No.

754. But you recollect that ?—Yes.

755. How much was he paid ?—30*s.* ; 3*l.* 10*s.* due.

756. Did he tell you he had taken any means to get the balance ?—I do not recollect that he did.

757. You told me that some of them had said they had applied to Mr. Gower. You do not recollect the names, do you ?—No, I do not in particular.

758. Did more than one tell you ?—Yes.

759. Mr. Gower referred them to the sub-agents ?—No. Mr. Smith, I think, was the person referred to.

760. Mr. Smith is general agent ?—Yes.

761. What is the next name on your list ?—Mr. Farrington.

762. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) John ?—John.

763. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is it not Benjamin ?—No, John.

764. Nutley-lane, house and garden ?—Yes.

765. What was he employed as ; just let me see the book ; what was his employment ?—A canvasser.

766. You have an independent recollection of that ; there is nothing down here ?—No, I have a recollection of it.

767. What sum was he to have been paid ?—5*l.*

768. By whom was he employed ?—By Frederick Joyes.

769. How much had he received ?—3*l.*

770. Did you ask them whether they had given any receipt for the money ?—No. I never asked them, and I never heard that they had.

771. They did not tell you that they had ?—No.

SECOND DAY.

J. Hamblin.

23 Aug. 1866.

772. What is the next name in your list?—John Palmer, 180, Netley-lane.

773. By whom was he employed?—Frederick Joyes.

774. How much was he to receive?—5*l.*

775. Was he employed as canvasser?—Yes.

776. How much had he received?—2*l.*

777. 3*l.* is due to him?—Yes.

778. What is the next name in your list?—John Whright, of Reigate-heath.

779. What number is it?—I have not the register number here.

780. How is it spelt there?—Whright. I think it is Thrift, yes, it is Thrift, instead of Whright.

781. Thrift, John, Reigate-heath, is written here? That is it.

782. Number 817 on the list?—Yes.

783. By whom had he been employed?—William Joyes.

784. In what capacity?—As messenger.

785. Have you the mark down there?—No.

786. But you recollect it?—Yes.

787. What was he to receive?—3*l.*

788. What kind of man was he? was he very active?—No, he was just the reverse of active.

789. Was he an old man?—An elderly man.

790. Was he, in your opinion, very fit for the duty of messenger?—It depends upon what he did.

791. Was he fit to carry about messages?—I think he might do that.

792. Do you mean he was active?—That is to say, he could have walked.

793. Oh! he could walk?—Yes.

794. How much had he received?—30*s.*

795. He was to have received 3*l.*?—Yes.

796. Did he tell you that he had carried any message, or that he had done anything?—No, he did not, either that he had done or had not done anything. He told me nothing more than that he was employed.

797. Do you know for whom Thrift voted?—Mr. Gower.

798. You went to him as one of Mr. Gower's voters, that is all?—Yes.

799. Who employed him? What agent had he been employed by?—Mr. William Joyes.

800. What is the next name on your list?—Thomas Stone, Reigate Heath, No. 797.

801. By whom was he employed?—Mr. Alexander Rose.

802. In what capacity?—As messenger or canvasser; I cannot say which.

803. What was the amount of remuneration he was to have received?—3*l.*

804. What had he actually received?—1*l.* 10*s.*

805. Who is the next on your list?—Thomas Best.

806. I see "Best, William" on the first list?—No. 282, near Redhill Church.

807. I have "Best, Thomas," but he is struck out here. What is the meaning of that?—282 is the number.

808. Well, I suppose there is an objection to that. This is near Redhill Church, house and garden. By whom was he employed?—Mr. Thomas Penfold.

809. On behalf of whom?—Mr. Gower.

810. In what capacity?—As messenger.

811. What was he to receive?—3*l.* promised; 1*l.* 10*s.* received.

812. What is the next?—Robert Rose Francis.

813. No. 456. By whom was he employed?—Mr. Buckland.

814. On behalf of whom?—Mr. Gower.

815. In what capacity?—As canvasser.

816. What was he to receive?—To receive 6*l.*

817. Now, that being a different sum, did he tell you how it came to this, or how many days he had been employed, or whether 6*l.* had been fixed on originally?—No. I should have thought at the time he was calculated to have more interest in the borough.

818. Do you mean more influence?—Yes.

819. His support is worth more, then?—Just so. Perhaps he is better known.

820. Was he a man in a better position? Do you know what position in life he occupied?—I do not remember what he was. He was a working man.

821. A labourer?—He was.

822. As far as you could judge, were all these men that you had seen labourers?—In some instances they were carpenters.

823. (The Chief Commissioner.) What was this man that you are speaking about?—A carpenter.

824. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had he a yard for himself?—Yes, if it is the same I am alluding to, he is a master man. I hear some gentleman suggest that he is a tailor. I may be mistaken. It occurs to my memory now that he is employed at the Union.

825. As a matter of course you may have been mistaken as to that. He is a tailor at the Union?—Yes.

826. How much had he actually received?—He had received 2*l.* 10*s.*

827. Who is the next on your list?—James Nice, Earlswood-common.

828. Do you know what class of man he is; is he a labourer or what?—He is employed at the Asylum.

829. Do you know in what capacity?—A carpenter, I believe.

830. (The Chief Commissioner.) At the Union?—At the Earlswood-common Asylum.

831. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) By whom was he engaged?—He was engaged by Mr. Smith and Mr. Gower.

832. He was employed on their behalf, but by whom?—And by them.

833. Now just recollect, if you please, the particulars about this man?—He was employed to act for Mr. Gower by Mr. Smith, and by Mr. Gower himself, and Mr. Apted and Mr. Buckland and several others waited upon him to try and solicit his influence.

834. I am referring to when he was employed?—I am speaking of that time.

835. What was he employed as?—As a canvasser.

836. What was he to receive?—He was promised that he should receive for his labour 5*l.* It appears he received 2*l.* from Mr. Smith, and was satisfied. He had no further claim.

837. He said he was satisfied?—Yes.

838. Had you called upon him?—I called upon him on this occasion to get this information.

839. Was he one of the latest you called upon?—It was the second day.

840. You called upon him on the second day?—Yes.

841. Was it known you were down in the town?—It was known when I was at his place, because it was dinner time.

842. Had you called upon him before?—The evening before.

843. And left word you would call again?—Yes.

844. Was he the only one you called upon the second day?—Oh dear no!

845. You called upon several others?—Yes.

846. But you found him perfectly satisfied?—Yes.

847. Did he tell you when Mr. Smith had paid him?—No.

848. Did he tell you when he had seen Mr. Smith?—No.

849. Did you learn from him that he had seen Mr. Smith since you came down?—No.

850. You came down ostensibly on the part of Mr. Gower, to clear off all these old scores?—Yes.

851. I suppose it very soon got known that you were employed for that purpose?—It did very soon get known.

852. When you came down the second day you found that it had been known in some cases, did you not?—No, it was only doubted.

853. Oh, only doubted. Doubt was the prelude to knowledge. Doubt took place first. What time of the day did you call upon this man?—Between 12 and 1.

854. Did you learn from him whether he doubted. Do you know whether he began to doubt or not; by his manner I mean?—He had no occasion to doubt, because he had no expectation.

855. He told you so?—Yes.

856. Do not be so sure of that. Now, you were to pay them on the second day?—No; on the third day I was to pay them.

857. You put off the evil day. Then they did not expect anything the second day?—No.

858. I thought you said there were some you called on on the first day that you were to pay on the second day?—It was late in the evening when I first called.

859. You were to ascertain all?—Yes.

860. To get a list of all?—Yes.

861. Then to come down and settle with them?—Just so.

862. You were to bring down the sovereigns and distribute them after you had made the list?—Yes.

863. What is the next on your list?—Mr. William Church.

864. William Church, Hollis-row; house and shop. Is he a shopkeeper then?—Yes.

865. In what line?—The general line; a grocer and that.

866. It is No. 359. By whom was he employed?—By Mr. Smith.

867. As what?—He was employed with his horse and cart, for the purpose of fetching voters from the different parts of the town up to the poll.

868. What was he to have received?—He was to receive 10*l.*

869. For the day?—Day or days, as it might have been, I do not know which.

870. Well, there was only one; but you say it was to bring voters to the poll. Where is Hollis-row? is it in Reigate?—Yes, close by Church's house.

871. How far is the place from this?—Well, I should think Hollis-row is more than two miles.

872. He was to receive 10*l.*?—Yes.

873. Well, that was a contract. How much did he receive?—7*l.* 10*s.*

874. He told you he had contracted with Mr. Smith for the use of his horse and cart?—Yes.

875. Did he tell you whether he had been employed that day or not?—Oh, yes; represented that his horse got very tired, and was then labouring under some severe cold in consequence.

876. What time was it when you came down?—When I went to him?

877. Yes.—About half-past 11.

878. I mean what time of the year?—In March.

879. And the election took place in the July previous?—Yes; the horse had never been well since.

880. From July to March?—He was obliged to treat the horse with mustard poultices.

881-2. Did he tell you whether he expected the 2*l.* 10*s.* more, or was he satisfied?—He told me he always felt confident that Mr. Gower was a gentleman, and would pay him. He knew that it was only a delay, and a matter of time; he felt certain he would pay him.

883. Did he say anything about the petition?—No, I heard nothing of the petition.

884. Mr. Church is a man tolerably well-to-do in the world?—Yes, as people generally are about that quarter. They all appear very respectable.

885. One other question. Did he take you to see the horse?—Oh, yes. I saw him administer the mustard to him.

886. That was preparatory to your administering a dose to him himself, you know?—Mine was not supposed to be mustard; it was sugar.

887. What is the next name?—James Smith.

888. Is that 4, Rees-cottages, near Brighton-road, No. 768?—Yes. Rees-cottages, Reigate-town.

889. What was he employed as?—As messenger, with two sons-in-law, I find.

890. What are they?—This is merely a note showing the amount of interest he used.

891. Were they voters?—I do not know whether the sons-in-law were voters.

892. Who employed him?—Mr. Mulley.

893. On behalf of Mr. Gower, I suppose?—Yes.

894. What was he to receive?—4*l.* 10*s.*

895. As messenger?—Yes.

896. How much had he received?—I find that his claim had been settled for his sons-in-law and all. He was paid the whole amount of 7*l.* for the services of himself and sons.

897. He received a first payment of 4*l.* 10*s.*?—No; he was promised 4*l.* 10*s.* in the first instance for himself. Then he obtained the assistance of his two sons-in-law, for which he was paid 7*l.* in all.

898. 7*l.* included all?—Yes.

899. Did he tell you by whom he was paid? Was it by Mr. Smith himself?—Yes.

900. Mr. Smith the agent?—Yes.

901. I see there is Mr. Gower mentioned here?—That implies that he was solicited by Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith personally.

902. He was waited upon by Gower and Smith?—Yes.

903. Now look at the name of William Roberts, Linkfield-row, cottage, and garden?—I have nothing against it.

904. Yes, you have. Look at the book. Look at the other side and you will see a signature. Do you recollect seeing him?—Yes.

905. His signature is in that book?—It is.

906. As attesting the truth of the statement?—Yes.

907. By whom was he engaged?—By Mr. Frederick Joyes.

908. What was he to receive?—He was to have an account of 5*l.* that was due to Mr. Joyes settled. Mr. Joyes would be satisfied.

909. He owed Mr. Joyes 5*l.*, and Mr. Joyes was to cancel that debt?—Yes, and to be satisfied.

910. Did he tell you whether Mr. Joyes had advanced him the 5*l.*, or on what account he owed it to him?—No.

911. What is Mr. Joyes?—A stationer, I think.

912. How was Roberts employed?—As canvasser.

913. Was he satisfied with that arrangement?—Yes.

914. Then you have another name on the list?—Mr. Scowgall.

915. Linkfield-lane, house and garden?—Yes.

916. Do you recollect having seen him?—No, I do not.

917. A memorandum there tells you that you have? Yes.

918. What was he employed as?—Messenger.

919. Did he explain to you what messages they were to be carrying?—I do not know the nature of the labour.

920. Do you know where they were to go to?—No, I do not know where they were sent to.

921. By whom was he employed?—Green.

922. On behalf of Mr. ——?—Mr. Gower.

923. What was he to receive?—1*l.* 10*s.*

924. What was it that he did receive?—That is what he was to and did receive.

925. He was not among the dissatisfied persons?—No.

926. Are there no other names on your list that you called upon?—No, that is all.

927. You did not come down again?—No.

928. It was not intended?—I had no desire, till you sent for me.

929. We had great difficulty in finding you out?—Indeed. There are a great number of inhabitants of Reigate who know my address.

930. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You only made inquiries on one side. You did not make inquiries about persons on the side of Mr. Monson?—Oh, no, I was not employed for that.

SECOND DAY.

J. Hall.

23 Aug. 1866.

JAMES HALL called and sworn.

931. (The Chief Commissioner.) Where do you reside? Is it Lesbourne-road?—Lesbourne-lane.

932. Is that in the Old borough?—Yes.

933. You were here at the last election?—Yes.

934. And you voted, did you not, for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

935. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Apted.

936. Did anybody else?—Mr. Buckland.

937. Did you know them before?—Yes.

938. Is Mr. Apted a leather seller?—Yes.

939. Mr. Buckland is an agent?—Yes.

940. An estate agent?—Yes.

941. Where was it that they came to you, do you recollect?—I saw Mr. Apted in his own house first.

942. Did he send for you?—No.

943. How did you happen to go there?—I happened to go for an article out of his shop, and he asked me who I was going to vote for.

944. Have you any dealings with him in leather or anything else?—Oh, yes. I frequently used to go in there for things, or anything like that.

945. You mean to purchase anything he could provide you with?—Yes.

946. Was there an account between you at this time, do you recollect?—No, I think not.

947. Are you sure?—Not when he asked me for my vote.

948. You went in there you know?—I went in there for the purpose of purchasing an article, and he asked me who I was going to vote for.

949. Only let me know distinctly,—at that time had he any account against you?—No, not to my knowledge; I do not believe there was.

950. He asked you to vote?—Yes.

951. Did he say for whom?—He asked me to vote for Mr. Gower.

952. And where did you see Mr. Buckland?—I think I saw Mr. Buckland in his own house the first time he spoke to me about it.

953. Did he send for you?—No.

954. Do you recollect how you came to go there?—I cannot say that I do.

955. Were you in the habit of going to Mr. Buckland? Who took you there?—I often used to go to Mr. Buckland to pay my rent. He used to collect my rent; and I think that is when he spoke to me first, when I went there.

956. He collects the rent of the house you live in?—Yes.

957. Whose house is it?—It belongs to Mr. Upton of Cuckfield; Mr. Buckland receives the rent of it.

958. How far is Mr. Upton's from here?—I cannot say.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Cuckfield is 18 miles.

959. (The Chief Commissioner.) When they asked you did you promise, or what did you do?—I promised Mr. Apted that I would vote for Mr. Gower.

960. Did you promise readily, or was there any hesitation about it?—No, he put my name down there and then.

961. Did he tell you you would receive something for it?—He told me every man would be paid after the election.

962. Did he tell you what you would be paid?—No amount was told me at all.

963. Did he tell you on what scale you would be paid?—No.

964. When did he tell you that you would be paid?—I do not recollect that he told me any time.

965. Did he tell you what you would be paid; the same as the others, or anything of that sort? Yes, he told me I should be paid the same as the other men.

966. If you voted?—Yes, if I voted for Mr. Gower.

967. Did your name appear on the list of Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes.

968. Did you see it yourself?—Yes, I saw my own name on the list.

969. Did you attend the meetings?—Yes, I attended all the committee meetings, and the public meetings as well.

970. No doubt. Did you do any work at all for Mr. Gower?—Well, as to that, I cannot say that I did.

971. And so then the election came on?—Yes.

972. Well, since the election have you been to get your money?—Yes, I spoke to Mr. Apted about it several times.

973. Is that Mr. Job Heath Apted?—Yes.

974. You have spoken to him several times, and has he paid you?—No, when I spoke to him first he did not. He told me that he had not received any himself and he could not pay me.

975. Well then you were not satisfied, and you called on him after that?—Yes.

976. And did he pay you any money?—I went to Mr. Smith after that and asked him.

977. And did Mr. Smith pay you money?—No, he did not; he sent me to Apted or Buckland.

978. He sent you back to Apted?—Yes.

979. Did Smith tell you that they would settle with you?—Yes.

980. And did you go to Apted again upon that for your money?—Yes; at least I did not go that night.

981. Never mind the night; did you go after that?—Yes.

982. For your money?—Yes.

983. And did you get any from Mr. Apted?—Yes.

984. How much?—30*s.*

985. Do you happen to know when that was; how long after the election?—No, I cannot say how long, but I should say about a month after the election; or it might have been a little longer.

986. Was that 30*s.* given to you to satisfy you in full?—Well, he told me when that 30*s.* was given me he would give me that in advance, and most likely there would be more for me afterwards.

987. Did he tell you how long you must wait for the rest?—No, he did not.

988. Did he mention any time?—No.

989. Do you recollect whether he said that you must wait for the rest until after February?—No; I do not recollect that at all.

990. He may have said it?—He may have said it, but I do not recollect.

991. Now just tell me, Mr. Hall, what are you?—A gardener.

992. A working gardener?—Yes.

993. You mean you go out to garden for other people, or do you keep a nursery garden of your own?—No, I go out.

994. At so much a day?—Yes.

995. And do you live in a house in the borough?—Yes.

996. And vote for it?—That was the first time that ever I did vote though.

997. You were on the register?—Yes.

998. What rent do you pay for your house?—6*s.* a week.

999. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That is 15*l.* 12*s.* a year?—Yes.

1000. (The Chief Commissioner.) Just tell me whether you are in the Old borough?—I believe it is called the Old borough.

1001. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you living in the place at the time of the previous election?—Yes.

1002. Did you take any part in it?—No.

1003. Did you hear anything of the proceedings at the election of 1863?—No, I do not know anything at all about the previous election.

1004. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you expect to get?—To be paid the same as the others.

1005. How much? Did you know what the others were going to receive?—Some said they required 5*l.* I expected the same as they did.

JAMES NICE called, sworn, and examined.

1006. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A weaver.

1007. In what portion of the weaving trade?—Matting and hearthrugs.

1008. Are you a journeyman weaver or a master?—A journeyman.

1009. What are your wages?—27*s.* a week.

1010. Were you on the register at the last election?—Yes.

1011. Had you been on the register at previous elections?—At one.

1012. Were you canvassed by any persons to vote at this last election?—Yes.

1013. By whom were you canvassed?—Mr. Smith and Mr. Gower.

1014. Were you canvassed by the other party as well?—Yes.

1015. Who canvassed you on the other side?—Mr. Richardson.

1016. He was a canvasser?—Yes.

1017. Whom did he canvass for?—Mr. Monson.

1018. How long before the election did he canvass you for Mr. Monson?—It might be two months, I do not remember the date.

1019. First of all we will take what took place between you and Mr. Gower's party; what took place in that interview?—Nothing, only they asked me for my vote, and I promised it them.

1020. Was anything said about money at that time?—Nothing.

1021. Was there any time afterwards; anything said about money by Mr. Smith to you?—No.

1022. By Mr. Gower to you?—No.

1023. Did you see Mr. Smith and Mr. Gower at any other time than that?—I saw them a great many times; I was backwards and forwards continually.

1024. Was there anything said by them about your being paid?—Not a word.

1025. Did you see Apted or Buckland?—I saw them frequently going to the committee room.

1026. Did anything take place between you and Apted about money?—I will tell you in what form it took place.

1027. Tell me, in the first place, in your own way, in what form it occurred?—I came here, and, in fact, I canvassed a great many, and I was asked by the people I canvassed whether there would be any pay for going backward and forward. I live about two miles and a half from here; and some others live as far off as I do, and Messrs. Buckland, Apted, and Joyes said if the men were taken away from their work there would be a pay, but not otherwise.

1028. Now, did anything of that sort take place between you and Mr. Smith and Mr. Gower?—Not a word.

1029. Well, did you do anything?—I did.

1030. What did you do?—I canvassed. I went to different people that I thought were likely to vote for Mr. Gower, and then if there was any turning I came and told Messrs. Smith and Gower, and Buckland and Apted.

1031. How many people did you see?—It might have been a dozen.

1032. And I suppose it might have been less?—It might have been less; I have not got the numbers. I saw a great many every evening.

1033. What class of people did you canvass?—Working people.

1034. About in your own neighbourhood?—Yes.

1035. Not very far I suppose from your own house?—Not very close to me. There were not many very close to me.

1036. What time of the day did you canvass?—In the evening.

1037. After you had done your work?—Sometimes I would lose a day if I thought it necessary. I was very much interested in Mr. Gower.

1038. Did you lose a day?—Yes, sometimes.

1039. But do you say you lost several days in canvassing twelve people?—Yes, and in attending meetings in the evening.

1040. Did you expect to be paid for attending meetings?—Yes, for canvassing and loss of time.

1041. Did you consider it loss of time to attend the meetings?—Yes, it hindered me from my work.

1042. Was it a sort of understood thing in the borough that persons were to be paid for attending public meetings?—No; but if they lost any time in canvassing.

1043. Now, if you expected to be paid for attending meetings and canvassing 12 people, did you make any promises to those that you canvassed?—I did not.

1044. Did they ask you?—They did; I made no promises; I was in no condition to do so.

1045. Did you hold out any expectation to them?—I did not.

1046. Did you refer them to anybody?—No; I was not authorized to do so.

1047. But you might have referred them to persons who were authorized to do so?—I could not do that.

1048. You were too conscientious, I suppose?—Yes.

1049. Tell me in what way any one voter in particular put the question to you about being paid?—I was not authorized.

1050. You say that some of the voters did say something to you about being paid. I want some specific observations by any one of the voters in reference to being paid?—I cannot remember anything definitely, only that they could not afford to lose the time.

1051. Was that a general observation?—Yes.

1052. They could not afford to lose time, and therefore they expected to be paid for voting?—For loss of time; it always took two days, the nomination day and the election day.

1053. From your knowledge of that class did that appear to be a general feeling?—Yes.

1054. They all expected to be paid for attending the poll and attending the nomination?—Yes.

1055. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How much? The sum is not given?—They did not state the sum.

1056. (The Chief Commissioner.) But surely you have heard it spoken of among your own people. Did you go to any public house for the purpose of smoking your pipe?—No; I do not smoke.

1057. Did you go and have anything to drink?—No.

1058. Have you joined the society of teetotalers?—No.

1059. You are one, only on principle?—Yes.

1060. Did you never fall into any society where they were speaking about the sum to be paid for loss of time in the election?—No; I believe it is generally left to the agents. I never heard a sum specified.

1061. Have you heard previous to this occasion that money has been paid?—I never saw such a thing.

1062. Have you received some before?—No; I beg pardon, I did receive some from Mr. Wilkinson. I voted at Mr. Wilkinson's election.

1063. How much did you receive then?—Two pounds.

1064. From whom?—Mr. Wilkinson's agent.

1065. Does he live in the town now?—He is dead.

1066. What did you do in that election?—Much the same as this; but I did not know as many people then.

1067. But do you say you did not know 12 people then; because, at present, you have only got to the extent of canvassing 12 people, attending a meeting or two, and going to the nomination and polling?—I attended a great many meetings.

1068. What did you eventually receive?—For what?

SECOND DAY.

J. Nice.

23 Aug. 1866.

1069. Now that is a very great question, "for what?" You have told us it was for your loss of time and attending the election; but what did you eventually receive in reference to this election?—Are you referring to the last election?

1070. Yes.—I received 5*l.* from Mr. Gower.

1071. At this present election?—Yes.

1072. Who paid that?—Buckland.

1073. When was it paid?—I have not the date; some considerable time after.

1074. After the election?—Yes.

1075. Tell me whether it was a month, or two months, or what?—About six months after.

1076. Was it before or after the petition?—Before.

1077. Do you recollect when Parliament met?—Yes, February, was it not?

1078. If you attend these public meetings you take a special interest in knowing when Parliament meets?—Yes; but we have had no election meetings since.

1079. You were paid 5*l.* by Buckland?—Yes.

1080. Did you give a receipt for it?—I did not.

1081. What took place between you and Buckland when that was paid?—I only asked for it. I put in my claim for it.

1082. What claim?—For the loss of time and the meetings I had attended, and the messages I attended to.

1083. Did you put it in in writing?—No.

1084. I suppose you saw Mr. Buckland?—Yes.

1085. Did you tell him on what business you had called upon him?—Yes.

1086. How did you set about stating your business? I suppose you commenced by saying, "Mr. "Buckland, I have called about so-and-so"?—Yes.

1087. How did you put the question?—I cannot tell you that now.

1088. Did you tell him the claim was for money he had promised?—No; he never promised anything definitely.

1089. Did you mention it was for money Mr. Gower or Smith or Apted had promised you?—No.

1090. Did you mention anybody's name?—No; I only mentioned that those three said I should be remunerated.

1091. What three?—Buckland, Apted, and Joyes.

1092. That is the first time you have mentioned Joyes, I believe. How long before the election was it understood between those three that you were to be remunerated?—About six weeks before the election.

1093. Were they all three present when you were engaged?—No.

1094. Or did you see them at separate times?—Yes, I saw them at separate times.

1095. Well, had you any sons at work at the election?—No, I had not.

1096. Did you receive any money at all from Mr. Smith?—I did not.

1097. Did you ever apply to him for any?—No.

1098. You know the Mr. Smith I mean, Mr. Smith the agent?—Yes.

1099. Whom did you vote for?—Mr. Gower; I promised him in the first instance.

1100. Before the election were you much in this part of the town of Reigate?—No; I live at a considerable distance, and I seldom came.

1101. Were you at any time before the election at the "Grapes"?—That was not Mr. Gower's place.

1102. I do not know whether it was Mr. Gower's place or not?—I attended the "Grapes" once.

1103. Whose house was the "Grapes"?—Mr. Monson's.

1104. When you were at the "Grapes" did you see any persons belonging to Mr. Monson's party?—Yes.

1105. Well, who was there? Did you know any of them?—Yes; my brother-in-law worked for Mr. Nichols, who was of the same family.

1106. Is Mr. Nichols your brother-in-law?—No; I had a brother-in-law at work for him, and it was him who asked me to come in.

1107. Who is Mr. Nichols?—I think he is Mr. Monson's agent, I am not sure.

1108. Who took you to the "Grapes"? How came you to go there?—I went by invitation of my brother. When I was in the town, after attending one of those committee meetings, he asked me if I would go in.

1109. Was your brother a voter?—No.

1110. Was he employed in the election at all?—I did not see him during the election, except that time.

1111. How came he at the "Grapes"?—He was working for Mr. Nichols's brother.

1112. Does Mr. Nichols keep the "Grapes"?—Yes.

1113. The brother of Mr. Nichols that you are speaking of, the agent for Mr. Monson?—The brother of Mr. Nichols the agent keeps the "Grapes," and it was for the brother who is the agent that my brother-in-law was working; I met him in the street, and he asked me to go in.

1114. Did you see Mr. Nichols there?—Yes, I saw him there.

1115. I mean Mr. Nichols, the agent for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

1116. What is Mr. Nichols besides being agent for Mr. Monson?—I do not know; he holds some office in the parish, I do not know exactly what, sheriff's officer I think, I am not certain.

1117. Is he connected with the county court?—I believe he is; but I know very little about him.

1118. Are you speaking of James Nichols?—Yes.

1119. What room were you taken into there when you first went?—I am not sure that I should know it again.

1120. Was it in a committee room where Nichols was?—No; I think it is one of the public rooms.

1121. Was it in the public room that you saw Nichols, or did you see him walking about the place?—I saw him in one of the front rooms.

1122. You say that you have not for a very long time taken any spirituous liquors, did you have anything to drink at that house?—Yes, I did. I have not for a very long time taken any beer.

1123. Then you had not wholly given up spirituous drinks?—I am not pledged.

1124. But I understand you that you do not object to a glass of brandy and water?—Not much; but I do not take it habitually.

1125. Then you did have something there?—I did.

1126. Was that paid for by yourself?—My brother paid for it.

1127. How long were you in the house?—I do not know; I did not take any note of the time; it may be half an hour.

1128. Well, did this which you drank have any effect upon you?—It did.

1129. What time of the day were you there?—It was late in the evening, after I had attended a committee meeting; it might be half-past eight.

1130. You say this drink had an effect upon you; did you before that notice anything that was taking place there?—No, I did not.

1131. Because, you see, you were something like an enemy in the camp?—Yes, I was.

1132. Were the lights put out? Were you in the dark?—I do not remember that I was; I think not.

1133. Did you hear anything said about money between the parties?—No, I did not.

1134. I do not suppose that brandy and water had such an effect upon you but that you recollect what took place?—Do you mean had I heard anything about money irrespective of myself?

1135. Irrespective of yourself?—No.

1136. Did you hear anything about money in respect to yourself?—Yes.

1137. From whom?—Mr. Nichols.

1138. What took place between you and Mr. Nichols?—He told me if I would vote for Mr. Monson I should be paid; I told him that I had promised Mr. Gower and could not do so. That was all.

1139. Did you tell him that you were under terms to Mr. Gower to vote for him?—Oh, no; only that I had promised him.

1140. Or that you were under terms with his agent?—No.

1141. Did Mr. Nichols offer you any specific sum?—I do not remember that he did.

1142. Then in what way did he offer his money? Were you to do anything for him?—I was to canvass.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What you told us just now was, "If I voted for Mr. Monson I "was to be paid." You said nothing about canvassing.

1143. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you to canvass as well as to vote?—I suppose that rested with me.

1144. Did Nichols simply say that you were to canvass, or did he say you were to vote?—I think he called it "employment," if I would "be employed" by them. I do not remember the exact words. I tell you as nearly as I can remember.

1145. You are sufficiently acquainted with the management of elections, I suppose, to answer me this question,—When a person in your position promises to vote, and is to canvass, is it a generally understood thing that he is paid for his work?—Yes, I think it is.

1146. On both sides?—I cannot tell you exactly, but I believe that is the impression.

1147. Did you take an active part in the previous election?—In Mr. Wilkinson's I did.

1148. Were you at any time in that room at the "Grapes" when you became insensible?—That is the only time that I ever was in the "Grapes" that I tell you of now.

1149. That is not an answer to the question?—Are you referring to any other time?

1150. Well, were you in the "Grapes" at any other time? Why do you suppose I refer to some other time?—You say, was I insensible?

1151. I mean on that evening?—I was very insensible before I got home. I had some one to go home with me.

1152. How much did you drink?—I do not remember having more than an ordinary glass.

1153. Does an ordinary glass have that serious effect upon you?—It did, whatever it might have contained.

1154. Did it have a speedy effect?—It had so much effect that I could not go home at the time.

1155. But I mean while you were in the house?—I did not feel it till I got out.

1156. Is it a fact that you never received 5*l.* or any sum of money at all from Mr. Nichols, or any party belonging to Mr. Monson's side?—Yes, I received 50*s.* from a party belonging to Mr. Monson's side.

1157. When?—Some time before the election.

1158. This last election?—Yes.

1159. From whom did you receive that 50*s.*?—From a man of the name of Rose—Ephraim Rose.

1160. Is Ephraim Rose any relation to the Alexander Rose who canvassed for Mr. Gower?—I think not.

1161. Who is Ephraim Rose? Do you know him?—Yes, he works at the same institution as I do.

1162. What institution is that?—A large asylum; the Idiot Asylum.

1163. At Earlswood?—Yes.

1164. Now you say that you received that money from him on the part of Mr. Monson?—Yes.

1165. Was it in reference to the election; what was it paid to you for?—I cannot tell you, sir, except that it was an inducement.

1166. What was said to you when the 50*s.* was given to you?—Nothing at all.

1167. How came it to be given?—I can only tell you that it might be an inducement; there was no agreement of any kind.

1168. Do you mean to say that Ephraim Rose took those 50*s.* out of his pocket and said nothing?—He laid it on the table where I was at work.

1169. Where is Ephraim Rose? is he at Earlswood at work now?—Yes, he is a carpenter.

1170. What did you do with the 50*s.*? did you take it up from the table?—And put it in my pocket.

1171. Did you see Ephraim Rose put it on the table?—I did.

1172. What time in the day was it that this was done?—Some time in the forenoon. I do not remember the hour.

1173. Was it at dinner time?—During the morning, some time before dinner; I do not remember the exact hour.

1174. When you put this 50*s.* into your pocket did you say anything to Ephraim Rose about it?—I did not.

1175. You did not ask him anything?—No, I did not.

1176. How long was this before the election?—I cannot tell you exactly; it might have been a week.

1177. Whilst you were canvassing for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

1178. Now, you were a supporter of Mr. Gower, and you say in reference to this 50*s.*, which you thought was an inducement, nothing was said at the time you received it. Then how is it that you have come to the conclusion that this money was given to induce you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Rose was a supporter of Mr. Monson, and I simply arrived at that conclusion myself.

1179. You argued in your own mind that it must be for the election?—Yes.

1180. Was Ephraim Rose indebted to you at all?—No.

1181. You had no claim upon him in any possible way?—No.

1182. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Has he ever asked for the money back?—No, I have never repaid it; no one has ever asked me for it.

1183. Although you voted for Mr. Gower?—No.

1184. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say Rose works at the Asylum. Is there any person in the neighbourhood who is likely to have any influence over Mr. Ephraim Rose?—I do not think that there is.

1185. Who is his master?—The same as mine, Dr. Down. We have a committee over us, of course.

1186. Had you done any canvassing at the Asylum for votes?—Mr. Gower had been, and so had Mr. Monson.

1187. But the heads of the Asylum, had they canvassed?—Oh no, they do not take any part in it at all.

1188. Had Dr. Down taken any part in it?—Not at all.

1189. Did you ever have any notion at all where Ephraim Rose got the 50*s.* from?—No.

1190. I may ask you this question,—can you form any possible notion where the 50*s.* came from?—It must have come from Mr. Monson's party, I should think somewhere.

1191. Had Dr. Down a vote?—No, he has not a vote.

1192. Did any person belonging to that establishment vote at the election?—There were several.

1193. You mean the men working there?—Yes.

SECOND DAY.

J. Nice.

23 Aug. 1866.

1194. I do not mean them?—Oh; none of the leading officers have any votes.

1195. Is there any person in the neighbourhood of that establishment who was voting for Mr. Monson; any of Mr. Monson's party who has any influence there?—No, I should think not; it is principally working people round that neighbourhood.

1196. You can give us no information whatever, as to your belief at least, respecting where the 50*s.* came from; I dare say you know?—I know that I do not know.

1197. I will give you two or three seconds to think now, to recollect?—I can not possibly. I will tell you what has been said. I believe Mr. Nichols said that I made some agreement with him the night I was there, and I wish to tell you candidly that I have not the least recollection whatever of making the least agreement with Mr. Nichols. I remember nothing whatever about it; but if Mr. Nichols wishes to assert that, of course I cannot help it.

1198. What connection has that with Ephraim Rose?—I think it is possible Mr. Nichols might have given Rose the money on the strength of that.

1199. That is the only solution you can give?—Yes; I can give no other.

1200. And that may be fallacious?—Yes.

1201. Was Ephrain Rose a man who would be likely to have 50*s.* of his own to throw away on the table?—Quite the contrary.

1202. It must have come from some other source?—I think so. I should like also to say that if I did make such an allusion I should be very sorry indeed for it. I did not wish to lead Mr. Nichols astray at all under that impression; I do not remember making him any agreement whatever.

1203. At this time you say you were under the influence of this drink, whatever it might have been?—I will call it brandy. I do not know what it was.

1204. For the sake of the house you will call it brandy?—Yes.

1205. Do you recollect Mr. Hamblin calling upon you?—I do not remember Mr. Hamblin.

1206. Or any person calling upon you, and your giving information? Do you recollect any person calling upon you under the name of Naylor?—I do. I have got his card.

1207. You have got his card in your pocket?—Yes.

1208. You saw this gentleman to-day?—Yes. I have never seen him since till now.

1209. I believe he had some conversation with you, "Mr. Naylor, Parliament-street, London"?—Yes.

1210. Well, did he show you that card?—Yes, he presented me with that card.

1211. You have heard what he said this morning?—Yes, some of it. I was here some little time.

1212. Did you tell him that you had been promised for voting 5*l.*, and that you had been promised that 5*l.* by Mr. Smith and by Mr. Gower?—I did not.

1213. Is that your handwriting (showing witness a book)?—Yes, it is my handwriting; I signed that.

1214. Was this entry read to you before you put your name to this book:—"Nice, James. Residence: "Earlswood-common. How voted: Gower. Amount "promised for voting: 5*l.* By whom promised: "Smith and Gower, Apted, Buckland. P. more"—"paid more"?—No, it was not.

1215. That was not read to you?—No, it was not. I will tell you the exact words as near as possible.

1216. Let me have your exact version of your conversation with Mr. Hamblin. We will not call him "Naylor" now. Hamblin is his real name. Naylor was a fictitious name for the purpose of getting information?—A few days before I was paid he called upon me as if he had been sent by Mr. Gower, and asked me if I had been paid, and what. I said, "Nothing." He said, "We have come round from "Mr. Gower to all who have not been paid, and we "are in a position to pay you at Mr. Laker's hotel "to-morrow evening if you will only sign this book." That is what he told me.

1217. Did you tell him how much was owing to you?—I made a claim.

1218. What did you claim?—I claimed 5*l.*

1219. Did he ask you who promised you the 5*l.*?—Yes, I believe he asked that.

1220. And you told him?—I told him Messrs. Joyes, Buckland, and Apted. I said probably; I did not give it definitely; but probably it would amount to that, considering the times I had been engaged.

1221. You mentioned those three names—Apted, Joyes, and Buckland. Will you be upon your solemn oath that you never mentioned the name of Mr. Smith?—I did not. He asked me whether Mr. Smith or Mr. Gower ever promised me, and I said, "No."

1222. You say upon your solemn oath that you never mentioned the names of Smith and Gower?—Only negatively; that they did not promise. I would like to say also that I saw him writing in the book after I had signed it.

1223. Was anybody else there with him? Had he got his clerk there with him?—He had got some young man with him. I do not know who it might be.

1224. Who was it wrote in the book?—This young man that was with him.

1225. Did Hamblin tell the young man what to write?—I do not know. They did not speak up. They sort of turned their backs to me.

1226. Did you hear Hamblin tell the young man what to write in the book?—No.

1227. How far were you from them?—About two or three yards. I did not pry into what they were saying.

1228. Were you not sufficiently interested in what the entry was that you put your name to?—No. I thought I did all that was necessary. They asked me for this information. I would like to give you the reason why I did not expect anything from Mr. Gower or Smith. I saw Mr. Gower privately before the election, and he told me that it was not his intention this time to buy any vote whatever; if he got in it would be by purity; and he hoped no one was under the impression that they were to be paid as voters.

1229. Is there anything else that is material that you can inform the Commissioners of in reference to this election?—Nothing that I know of. I would tell them most readily.

1230. Have you stated all that you know of in reference to the conduct of the election? Let me ask you this question: When you were taken into the "Grapes," there was a committee meeting going on there?—There was, late in the evening.

1231. Were you there at the time?—Part of the time.

1232. Was Mr. Monson in the chair?—I really do not know. He might have been in the room. I am not certain.

1233. You are not certain he was in the chair?—No, I am not.

1234. Did you not see him in the room?—I might or I might not. I really am not able to tell you.

1235. I want to know whether you are sure he was not in the chair, or whether you do not know where he was; whether he was in the chair or not?—I think not. I really am not positive whether he was in the room or not. I did not see him in the chair. He might possibly have been in the room, but I did not see him in the chair.

1236. Who was in the chair?—I do not know. There are many gentlemen in Reigate that I do not know the names of.

1237. You live a good way from Reigate?—I do, and very seldom come.

1238. Tell me this. I notice you answer that you live a good way from Reigate, and very seldom come; how far do you live?—Something over two miles.

1239. Your business does not take you to Reigate?—Not at all.

1240. A good many of the Reigate people you do not know ?—I do not.

1241. I suppose there are not many that you do know much about ?—Comparatively few.

1242. I suppose it did not occur to you that you would not be a very good canvasser in Reigate ?—No, sir.

1243. I mean that when you made any agreement about 5*l.* it was in spite of knowing that you were not likely to be a very good canvasser ?—I did not think it would be necessary in Reigate; I went more round the outskirts, such as down to the freehold.

1244. Are there voters there ?—No; I attended the meetings down there.

1245. Did you canvass any other place ?—I did not.

1246. I want to go back to the "Grapes," when you were in the "Grapes." I want to know whether you saw Mr. Monson there ?—I do not remember seeing him there.

1247. Where did you see him ?—I had seen him at the Asylum.

1248. What was he doing at the Asylum ? Was that before you went into the "Grapes" ?—Oh yes, I had seen him there weeks previous.

1249. Then you knew Mr. Monson well enough when you went into the "Grapes" ?—Oh yes, I had seen him. I should have known him.

1250. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When you saw Mr. Monson at Earlswood was he accompanied by anybody ?—Yes; he generally came round with Mr. Richardson.

1251. Was that before or after you received the 50*s.* ?—Before.

1252. How long before ?—I do not know the date; it was a considerable time.

1253. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you see Mr. Richardson at the "Grapes" ? Try and recollect ?—I think not. I do not think he was there; I do not remember seeing him there. I cannot say positively.

1254. You are not prepared to say that Mr. Monson was not there ?—No, I am not.

1255. When you went in you were all right ?—Yes.

1256. Now I want you to tell me what your recollection is about Mr. Monson being there ?—He was not there when I went in; there were very few there.

1257. After you had been there some time did the room become fuller ?—Yes; it was not the same room that I went in.

1258. Did you go into one room, and after you had been there some time then go into the committee room ?—Yes, I believe that was it.

1259. When you went into the committee room were there a good many people there ?—Yes.

1260. Tell me, if you please, anybody who was there. Was Nicholls there ?—I think not; I only remember meeting Langridge there.

1261. Were you ever at Mr. Monson's committee room at the "White Hart" ?—I believe I went over that evening.

1262. Did you see Mr. Monson there then ?—Yes, I saw Mr. Monson there.

1263. Who took you over there ? Was that Nicholls or who ?—I cannot tell you.

1264. But somebody, I suppose ?—Somebody did; I went with somebody.

1265–6. Somebody introduced you, I suppose ? I mean you would not have gone into the committee room without being introduced ?—No, sir.

1267. You know this is the same evening ?—Yes.

1268. Can you tell me whether Nicholls was in the committee room at the "White Hart" ?—I cannot.

1269. But Mr. Monson was ?—Yes.

1270. While you were in the committee room at the "White Hart" was there any talk about money ? —I do not remember hearing anything whatever.

1271. What was the talk about ?—I do not remember.

1272. Was this after you had had a glass ?—Yes.

1273. You recollect going there ?—I have a dim recollection of going there, but nothing else, only that I saw Mr. Monson; I recognized his face again; that was all.

1274. "Again" ? Since when ?—Since I had seen him at Earlswood.

1275. As long as you were in the "Grapes," was your head good before you went over ?—I should not like to say.

1276. You think it is doubtful ?—I think it is doubtful.

1277. And if there was any agreement with you, you cannot think whether it was at the "Grapes" or at the "White Hart" that it was made ?—No, I cannot.

1278. You understand my question, that if there was an agreement you cannot tell at which it was made. You do not recollect that it was either ?—I do not.

1279. Had you any conversation at any time with Mr. Monson ?—Yes, I sent for him after I had received this money and told him.

1280. Previous to that had you any conversation with Mr. Monson himself ?—Not a word.

1281. Had you ever spoken to him in your life ?—I do not remember to have done so.

1282. You had no conversation with him at the "White Hart" ?—No, not a word, not to my knowledge; of course I make the allowance for the brandy.

1283. Are you able to say whether you accosted Mr. Monson himself when you went into the room, or whether he accosted you ?—I think not.

1284. Now tell me, when was it that you spoke to Mr. Monson about the 50*s.* ?—After I had received it.

1285. After you had received it from Ephraim Rose ?—Yes.

1286. Did you send to Mr. Monson ?—I did.

1287. What, to your house ?—I sent a note.

1288. Did you have any conversation with him ?—I only told him at the time I sent word I would like to see him.

1289. And then you did see him ?—Yes.

1290. At your house ?—At the Asylum where I work. He came purposely when he received the note.

1291. What did you tell him about the 50*s.* ?—I only told him I had received it, and from whom.

1292. What did he say to that ?—He hardly seemed to credit it. He said he did not believe anything of the kind was going on, but he would go home and make inquiries.

1293. Was that all he said at that time ?—Yes.

1294. Now subsequently did he tell you, or did you go to him, and did you hear that he had made inquiries ?—He came to me after he had made inquiries and tried to bounce me out of it. I do not know any other word.

1295. Just tell us as well as you can what he said. He came to you and said, "Well, about that 50*s.*, "I have made inquiries" ?—And he said, "It is all "humbug and lies. They tell me it is nothing of "the kind." He also went to Dr. Down.

1296. Were you there ?—No, sir.

1297. Who told you what he said to Dr. Down ? —Dr. Down told me in substance what he said.

1298. I want to know what he said to you besides. Tell me if you can recollect the words he used. "I have been about that 50*s.* and made inquiries about "it, and I find—" what ?—"That it is all humbug "and lies." Those are the true words.

1299. What did he seem to mean by that; you had never received 50*s.* ?—I suppose so; he did not define it.

1300. Did he say nothing more than "It is all "humbug and lies" ?—That is all I remember; he might have used another word or two, but that is the substance.

SECOND DAY.

J. Nice.

23 Aug. 1866.

1301. You certainly had received 50*s.* from Rose ?—Oh, yes, I showed it to Mr. Monson.

1302. Had you kept it in a piece of silver paper ?—I had kept it in my pocket ; the time was very short between the time of receiving it and seeing him.

1303. Did Mr. Monson when you showed him the money seem to be affected by that piece of evidence ?—No sir, he seemed very angry, that is all.

1304. What at ?—Well, I do not know.

1305. Was anything said about which side you were on ?—Not at that time.

1306. At what time ?—Not at his coming ; of course he knew before I was to vote for Mr. Gower, because I had promised it, and it was generally known.

1307. What seemed to you to make him angry ?—He was afraid it would affect his interests, I suppose.

1308. What would affect his interests ?—Money having been given to me.

1309. Not because you were on the wrong side ?—He thought I should talk about it, of course.

1310. Now did he send for Ephraim Rose in your presence ?—No.

1311. Did you see Ephraim Rose and him talking together at this time about it ?—No, I did not.

1312. Was Ephraim Rose at the Asylum at the time ?—Yes, he was there that week generally. I do not know that he was there that day ; he was a great many days away.

1313. You told my friend Mr. Smith that nothing was said by Rose ; he simply said, "Here is the 50*s.*," and put it on the table, and you took it up ?—That is all that passed.

1314. Did Ephraim Rose mention any name in connection with the 50*s.* ?—I do not remember that he did.

1315. You were all right then ?—Oh, yes.

1316. Do you think if he had mentioned any name you would recollect it ?—I should certainly remember it.

1317. But your impression is he mentioned no name ?—No.

1318. Did he say "here is the 50*s.*," or "here is 50*s.*" ? do you recollect at all ?—I do not.

1319. Did he say even that ; or did he simply put 50*s.* on the table, and you without having any right to it whatever took it up ?—That is all.

1320. Have you seen Mr. Monson since about it ?—No, sir, I have not seen him since.

1321. After you had been at the "White Hart" did you return to the "Grapes" ?—No, sir, not to the best of my knowledge.

1322. Where were you when you came to yourself, when your senses returned ?—I was at home.

1323. That is what I wanted to know. You were not at the "Grapes" nor at the "White Hart" ?—No, sir, I was at home.

1324. When you got into the "Grapes" did you notice what persons were doing there ?—I did not, sir. There were very few people in to the best of my recollection.

1325. Not when you went into the other room ?—No.

1326. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You received 50*s.* you say on behalf of Mr. Monson ; did you communicate that to Mr. Gower's party ?—Yes, I did.

1327. When ?—At the time.

1328. To whom did you communicate the fact that you had received the 50*s.* ?—I do not remember the party, but I believe I told it generally.

1329. You are a worker on behalf of the Gower party, you were employed canvassing ; to whom did you communicate the fact that you had received 50*s.* on behalf of Mr. Monson ?—I do not remember ; I think I spoke of it generally.

1330. You were in the habit of seeing Mr. Smith, were you not ?—Yes.

1331. Did you tell Mr. Smith ?—No, I think not.

1332. Did you tell Mr. Gower himself ?—No, I do not remember doing so.

1333. Why did not you tell Mr. Smith you received 50*s.* for the purpose of voting ? Why did not you tell Mr. Smith that you received 50*s.* on behalf of Mr. Monson ?—I did not know it was necessary.

1334. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Just let me ask you,—have you since having received this 50*s.* of Ephraim Rose had any conversation at all with respect to any moneys which he might have paid in reference to the election ?—No, sir, he has been very shy of me since then.

1335. Have not you heard from Ephraim Rose himself that he has paid other moneys to other electors besides yourself ?—I may have done, sir.

1336. But have you not ?—I will tell you if I have.

1337. Just recollect ; you know it is a circumstance which you cannot forget ?—I remember one instance, to a man of the name of Turner.

1339. What does he work as ?—Shoemaker.

1340. Is that man Turner's name Richard ?—It may be ; I really do not know his Christian name.

1341. But he lives at Mead-vale and works at the Asylum ?—Yes, as shoemaker.

1342. Did he tell you how much he had given to this man Turner ?—Yes.

1343. How much ?—Fifty shillings.

1344. That was after you had received your 50*s.* ?—Yes.

1345. How long after ?—I cannot tell you that ; somewhere within a week.

1346. Do you mean to say that is the only other case which you have heard from Ephraim Rose that he had paid ?—That is the only other case.

1347. Have you heard from anybody else about there that Ephraim Rose had been paying moneys to any other persons ?—Yes ; there were all sorts of rumours, but I do not remember any other case definitely ; not by name.

1348. Now give me one of the rumours, and we will inquire into it. What had you heard by way of rumour ? had you heard any name mentioned besides Turner as having received money ?—I have heard some man ; I really forget his name, but he lives at Guildford ; he is on the register still.

1349. What is he ?—A wheelwright I believe. Mind, it is only rumour ; I cannot attach any importance to this.

1350. Would you know his name if you heard it ?—Yes.

1351. Is it anybody like Chitty ?—No, sir, it was not.

1352. You do not recollect the name ?—I really do not recollect the name.

1353. Who was it told you ?—Well, I do not remember that ; it is only rumour ; I really do not remember names connected with that.

1354. But you heard somebody speaking about it ; was it mentioned at the establishment of the Asylum amongst your fellow workmen ?—I believe it was, but I am really not certain as to when I heard that, or how.

1355. How many belonging to that Asylum are on the register ?—Four, I believe.

1356. Not more than four or five ?—No.

1357. Was it one of the four or five that spoke to you about it ?—No, sir, it was not, not to the best of my knowledge.

1358. You say there were four or five persons on the register working at the Asylum, give me the names of those men ?—Turner.

1359. You do not know his Christian name ?—I believe it is Richard.

1360. Give me the name of another ?—James Payne.

1361. Another ?—It would be Rose.

1362. What is Payne ?—A shoemaker.

1363. Where does he live ?—Close by Warwick town on the Brighton-road.

1364. Now give me the name of another ?—Rose and myself.

1365. Then there would be Turner, Payne, Rose, and yourself ?—Yes.

1366. Well, if this money was given to anybody there it must have been to Payne ?—Yes. I do not think it was ; I do not remember any money being given there by Rose. I never heard of any being given.

1367. Have you heard, either by report or from Rose himself, that any money has been paid to Payne? —No, I have not heard definitely.

1368. Have you ever heard Payne say anything about voting, whether he received any money ?—No sir, not a word ; I should fancy he did not perhaps.

1369. Who did he vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

1370. Who did Turner vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

1371. And you voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

1372. And Rose voted for ?—Mr. Monson.

(Adjournment.)

JAMES PETERS, sworn and examined.

J. Peters.

1373. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.)—You live at Nutley-lane ?—Yes.

1374. And you have a house and garden ?—Yes.

1375. What occupation do you follow ?—Gardener.

1376. A working gardener ?—Yes.

1377. What rent do you pay ?—About 16*l.* a year; a little over that.

1378. How long have you been an elector of Reigate ?—Well, this is the first time I have been voter for the borough of Reigate of late years.

1379. You have not been on the register ?—Not till within this last two years.

1380. Had you ever voted before for Reigate ?—Yes, several years ago.

1381. You got struck off ?—I left the neighbourhood.

1382. Was this the first contested election that your name reappeared upon the register ?—Yes.

1383. For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Gower.

1384. Are there a considerable number of gardeners about Reigate ?—A great many.

1385. Did they all vote for Mr. Gower, or most of them ?—I do not know ; I cannot say.

1386. They all voted, did they not, or a great part of them, for Mr. Gower ?—I do not know anything about that.

1387. Do you mean you do not know ?—I do not ; I know a few of them.

1388. A few of them who are on the register ?—Yes.

1389. For whom did they vote ?—That I cannot say.

1390. Do you mean to tell me that you do not know for whom the persons you are acquainted with voted at the election ?—I might know perhaps one or two or so.

1391. For whom did they vote ?—For Mr. Gower.

1392. Did you know Mr. Gower long ?—No.

1393. Did you know him at all ?—Yes, I just knowed the gentleman, and that is all.

1394. Who canvassed you ?—Mr. Apted.

1395. Is that the gentleman we have heard mentioned ?—Yes.

1396. What is he ?—Mr. Job Heath Apted, a currier.

1397. Who else canvassed you ?—I do not know that any one else did particular, sir.

1398. Were you employed as a gardener, or what ? —Yes, as a gardener.

1399. Not for the election. Were you employed upon the election matters ?—Yes.

1400. As what ?—As a messenger.

1401. Now I would like to know when you were employed as a messenger ?—Why, at the beginning of the election.

1402. By whom ?—By Mr. Apted.

1403. How long before the election ?—I do not know how long it might be, perhaps a month or five weeks.

1404. A month or five weeks before the election as messenger ?—Yes.

1405. Did you do any work at your gardening business during that month or five weeks ?—Oh yes.

1406. For yourself, or were you employed by others by the day ?—By the day.

1407. And what were you to receive as messenger ? —I was to receive 4*l.*

1408. A lump sum ?—Yes, of 4*l.*

1409. Did that include your vote ?—That included everything.

1410. Did it include everything ? Were you to vote as well as to act as messenger for the 4*l.* ?—I do not know about that.

1411. Were you not to vote for Mr. Gower as well as to act as messenger in order to get the 4*l.* ?—I was to vote for Mr. Gower.

1412. In order to get the 4*l.* ?—Yes.

1413. And was that conditional, if Mr. Gower won the election ? Was it not only in the case of his winning the election that you were to get the 4*l.* ?—He did not say particular about that.

1414. Was it not in case Mr. Gower won the election that you were to have the 4*l.* ? Be cautious, because I have your signature before me. Is that your mark ? Just look at it, and answer deliberately (handing a document to witness) ?—I believe that is my mark.

1415. You made a mark ?—Yes.

1416. And the statement was read over to you, and you made a mark ?—Yes.

1417. Now I ask you, was not it in case Mr. Gower won the election that you were to receive the 4*l.* ?—Yes, I believe so.

1418. Was it not so, in case he won the election that you were to receive the 4*l.* ?—Yes, I suppose so.

1419. He did win the election, did not he ?—I believe he did.

1421. You were to act as messenger ?—Yes.

1422. How many messages did you take ?—Well, I do not know, sir.

1423. Oh, yes, you do ?—No, I do not, sir.

1424. I ask you—I have your signature—I ask you, did you take one message during the whole time from the five weeks that Mr. Apted spoke to you up to the time of the election ?—Yes, I did.

1425. Where to ?—Two or three different ones.

1426. To whom ?—To a man of the name of Elliott.

1427. What message did you take to Elliott ?—Why, to attend a meeting.

1428. You told him to attend a meeting ?—Yes.

1429. Where does Elliott live ?—At Nutley-lane.

1430. How far from you ?—Not five minutes' walk.

1431. And you told Elliott to come to attend a meeting ?—Yes.

1432. Did you go to attend the meeting ?—Yes.

1433. Who else did you go with a message to ?—I went and told John Fernicorn.

1434. Is this true, "I never canvassed a single "elector, neither did I act in any capacity as a mes- "senger, or do any work during the election time" ? Is that true ? I have your mark ?—Yes, that is the mark.

1435. Is that true ? I will read it for you again. "I never canvassed a single elector, neither did I act "in any capacity as a messenger, or do any work "during the election time." Is that true ?—Well, that is true, I suppose.

1436. Now I ask you, apart from acting as messenger or canvassing or doing any other work, was not the arrangement with Mr. Apted that you were to have the money if you voted for Mr. Gower, and if Mr. Gower won the election ?—Yes.

SECOND DAY.

J. Peters.

23 Aug. 1866.

1437. Did you know that was bribery, I want to know ?—No.

1438. What do you think it was ?—Well, I expected I was to have that for my work.

1439. You had the money to give your vote if Mr. Gower succeeded. When did you receive the 2*l.* ?—I think it was in December ; I am not quite certain.

1440. To whom did you apply for it ?—To Mr. Apted.

1441. When did you first apply to Mr. Apted for it ?—It might be the latter end of November, but I do not exactly remember.

1442. Why did not you apply before ?—Why, sir, I did not trouble the man ; I thought very likely he would bring some when he had got some to spare.

1443. You knew it was not his money. Did you expect Apted paid it out of his own pocket ?—I did not expect he would.

1444. Where did you expect Apted would get the money ?—I do not know.

1445. Did not you know it would come from Mr. Gower ?—I did not know who it was to come from.

1446. From whom did you expect it was to come ? —I do not know.

1447. Did not you expect it was to come from the candidate for whom you voted ?—I must expect so, sir, but I did not know who it was coming from.

1448. Why did not you apply to him before ? you knew Mr. Gower was a man of wealth, and a man of influence ; why did not you apply to Mr. Apted before ?—Well ; I had no particular reason to call upon him ; not before.

1449. He gave you 2*l.* What did he say when he gave you the 2*l.* ? How much did you ask for ?—I never asked for no sum at all.

1450. But I thought you told me the agreement with Apted was that you were to receive 4*l.* ?—Yes.

1451. Did not you ask him for the 4*l.* ?—No.

1452. What did you say to him ?—I asked him if he would let me have a little money on account of the election.

1453. Did he give you 2*l.* then ?—No, sir, not then he did not.

1454. What did he give you ?—He did not give me none at all ; he had not got any.

1455. When did you first call upon him ?—Sometime in November.

1456. He had no money then ; did he tell you when he would have money ?—No, he did not.

1457. You called on him in December ?—I did not call upon him.

1458. What then ?—I met him out in the street and he gave me the money.

1459. He gave you what ?—He gave me one sovereign, and about a week, or it might be a little more than a week afterwards, he gave me the other.

1460. Where did you meet him when he gave you the other ?—At his own house.

1461. You called for it ?—Yes.

1462. Did you give him a receipt at all ?—No, sir.

1463. Was any arrangement made between you and Mr. Apted when you were to receive the other 2*l.* ? —No.

1464. Did he tell you you were to receive no more ? —No, sir, he did not.

1465. Did you apply to him again for the other 2*l.* ?—No, sir, I did not.

1466. Why, you had to receive 4*l.* upon the condition of voting for Mr. Gower, and upon the condition of Mr. Gower winning ; and Mr. Gower won, and you voted for him ; why did not you call upon him for the additional 2*l.* ?—No, sir, I have not called for it.

1467. Why ?—I do not know that I have any reason why.

1468. No reason ?—No.

1469. Did you ever expect to get the other 2*l.* ?— Well, I did expect it, but I do not expect I shall ever get any more now.

1470. You thought yourself entitled to it ?—Well, I do not know about that.

1471. Did you think yourself entitled to it. Was it an understood thing that those who voted for Mr. Gower were to receive money ?—Well, I understood it as such.

1472. Was that a general understanding amongst people ? Where do you live ?—At Nutley-lane.

1473. Did a good many of the Nutley-lane people receive money ?—Well, some have, I believe.

1474. Was there a general understanding among the Nutley-lane people that they were to receive money ?—Not more than in other places.

1475. I am asking about Nutley-lane ?—There may be four or five, perhaps.

1476. Did you know any who voted for Mr. Monson ?—Ne'er a gardener, as I know of.

1477. Was it understood that they were to be paid what you call for their time ?—I do not know whether it is to be paid for their time or not.

1478. Were they to be paid ?—They were to be paid ; satisfied for their trouble.

1479. You talked of paying for their time ; paying for their labour. Let there be no misunderstanding about it. Did you do any work at all except voting ? —No further than I have mentioned.

1480. I have the paper read over to you ?—You may deem that as no work at all.

1481. I am speaking of what you say : "I did no "work at all ; this is a true statement." Is that so, "I did no work at all"?—I did no more than what I told you, sir.

1482. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was to ask that one person to go to the meeting ?—Yes.

J. Apps.

JAMES APPS sworn and examined.

1483. (The Chief Commissioner.) You live at Mead-vale ?—Yes.

1484. What are you ?—A labourer.

1485. What sort of labourer ?—A carman. I was at the election.

1486. Do you mean you kept at the election a horse and spring cart ?—No ; I was carman for Mr. Holdsworth.

1487. You are a voter ?—Yes.

1488. In respect of a house ?—Yes.

1489. What rent do you pay for your house ?—12*l.* a year.

1490. At the last election you voted for Mr. Monson, did you not ?—Yes.

1491. Did you have an interview with Mr. Monson about voting for him ?—No, sir.

1492. Who did you promise your vote to for him ? —Mr. Holdsworth.

1493. Had Mr. Holdsworth anything to do with the election ?—No, he had not anything to do with it no further than I suppose he mentioned it to me about it. I do not know that he was agent or anything of the kind.

1494. And you told Mr. Holdsworth that you would vote for Mr. Monson ?—I did.

1495. Mr. Holdsworth being your master at that time ?—He was my master.

1496. After that, some time before the election, you were coming into the town ; were not you seen there? —I was watering the town.

1497. And did you see the parties on the other side ?—I saw Mr. Gower, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Joyes. That was before ever I promised Mr. Holdsworth ; a good bit.

1498. Then when you met these gentlemen you were not promised to anybody ?—I was not.

1499. They came up to you and spoke to you, did not they ?—Mr. Smith introduced me to Mr. Gower. Mr. Gower came and asked me for my vote, and if I had promised it to any one. I said, "No, I had not."

SECOND DAY.

J. Apps.

23 Aug. 1866.

Mr. Smith then said, "You had better promise Mr. "Gower;" and I said, "No." Mr. Joyes then said, "You had better promise Mr. Gower, Apps, and then "it will be done with." I then said, "No, not at "present."

1500. Was anything said about your master?—Mr. Joyes said I was not to mind what my master said. I was not to take any notice of him, for if he turned me off they could find me plenty of work.

1501. And they did not speak very respectfully of the water cart, did they?—No; Mr. Joyes said, "Never mind the water cart."

1502. Did you see them after that?—Yes, I see them several times.

1503. Can you tell me about how long before the election it was that you had this talk with them?—I should say it was something like a week or fourteen days; I cannot say exactly.

1504. You have seen them several times since?—I have seen them several times since.

1505. Have you seen Mr. Gower since?—Yes, I have seen him several times since.

1506. And before the election?—And before the election.

1507. Did you have any talk with him?—Not after that time.

1508. Do you know a man named Mazden?—Yes, I do.

1509. Whose side is he on?—Mr. Gower's.

1510. An active man?—Yes.

1511. A kind of agent for Mr. Gower?—I suppose so.

1512. You had some talk with him too?—Yes, I did.

1513. This was afterwards?—That was before I saw Mr. Gower.

1514. What, before you saw Mr. Gower, with the water-cart?—Yes.

1515. Did Mr. Mazden say anything to you about your vote?—Yes, he asked me for my vote.

1516. And what did he say to you about it?—He said I never got anything the other time, and if I would come this way he would get me 5l., the same as the rest were going to have. All that voted for Mr. Gower would have 5l.

1517. Who said that?—Mr. Mazden.

1518. And you did vote at last for Mr. Monson?—I did.

1519. Did you ever get any money at all from Mr. Gower or his side?—No, not any.

1520. When was it you promised to vote for Mr. Monson?—Not till a very few days before the polling day.

1521. Who came to you to ask you for your vote for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Apted came to Mr. Holdsworth one day after I promised. Mr. Holdsworth asked on whose side I was going, and I said I should go for Mr. Monson, as I was working for Mr. Holdsworth, and he said, "Very well."

1522. Who said "Very well"?—Mr. Apted did.

1523. Did anybody ask you afterwards?—Only Mr. Job Apted.

1524. Mr. Job Apted did not ask you for your vote for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

1525. Was it at Mr. Holdsworth's that Mr. Job Apted, he asked you for your vote?—Yes.

1526. Had you had any conversation with Mr. Holdsworth about it before that?—Yes, he often asked for the vote before, and I told him that I should vote for Mr. Monson.

1527. When Mr. Job Apted came to you at Mr. Holdsworth's did you know who Mr. Job Apted was?—I did very well.

1528. Did you know he was an agent for Mr. Monson?—I understood he was.

1529. What did he say to you about it?—He only asked me if I had thoroughly promised which way I was going, and I said yes, I had given my promise to Mr. Holdsworth to vote for Mr. Monson.

1530. Did he say anything more?—No.

1531. Did he ask you to do any work for him?—No, not at all.

1532. Was anything said about any?—No, not at all.

The witness withdrew.

J Bonny.

James Bonny sworn and examined.

1533. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you live in Holmsdale-road or park?—Yes.

1534. You voted for Gower at the last election?—Yes.

1535. Who canvassed you for your vote?—Mr. Gower himself and Mr. Smith.

1536. What did they say to you?—Who?

1537. Mr. Gower?—He told me—he called on me—

1538. To ask you for your vote, I suppose?—Yes.

1539. At that time you saw Mr. Gower was anything said about money?—Certainly not.

1540. Subsequently to that did Mr. Joyes and Mr. Rose come to you?—Yes.

1541. They were Mr. Gower's agents?—I cannot say that.

1542. You do not know that?—No.

1543. However, they came to you?—Yes.

1544. Did they ask you to vote?—They did.

1545. For whom?—For Mr. Gower. I did not give them any satisfactory answer. Mr. Joyes and Mr. Rose came to me.

1546. Whom did you vote for? for Mr. Gower?—I gave Mr. Gower my preference.

1547. When Mr. Joyes and Mr. Rose came to you they came about your vote; and whom did they ask you to vote for?—Mr. Gower.

1548. They offered you some money, did they not?—To work for them.

1549. I say first that they offered you some money?—Yes.

1550. Was that to work for them for a time?—Quite right.

1551. Was that so much per week for a month?—As long as it lasted.

1552. Not for a month only?—No.

1553. What was the amount you were to get?—28*s.* a week.

1554. Was it not 30*s.* a week?—I cannot say that, it might have been.

1555. Well, I rather think it was. Did they tell you that they wanted you to work for them because you were a good worker?—Yes, Mr. Rose did.

1556. To work for them; what did they mean?—Canvassing.

1557. How was it that you came to tell them upon that that you could not work very well, for you had a bad arm?—I had a bad arm.

1558. That would seem as if it was not canvassing they meant?—I cannot say what they might mean.

1559. Did your arm prevent your canvassing?—Certainly.

1560. Oh, it was so bad as that?—Quite so.

1561. Oh, I beg your pardon, your arm was very bad, and you told them you had a bad arm and you could not canvass?—No, I could have done it if I thought proper; but as I had got a bad arm, I thought I would not injure myself. My arm was too dangerous, and I thought I had better be laying still.

1562. Subsequently to that you saw them again?—Oh, three or four or five times, six times.

1563. On one occasion they talked about the election?—Oh, every time.

1564. Do you remember Mr. Rose saying to you that if you voted for Mr. Gower he would guarantee you 5l.?—I do.

1565. What did you say to that?—I said you send, and I will make up my mind by that time. He knew all about what I meant.

SECOND DAY.

J. Bonny.

23 Aug. 1866.

1566. Suppose you tell me what you did mean. Tell me what you did mean, if you please?—What I did mean?

1567. Yes?—Of course I meant if he would send for me he could send 5*l.* and a trap.

1568. A trap to bring you over?—Yes, I was not going to walk.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) We have heard of other traps this morning.

1569. (The Chief Commissioner.) He knew what you meant to say?—I suppose so.

1570. You did vote for Mr. Gower?—Certainly, as I had promised him.

1571. Did you get 5*l.*?—Certainly not.

1572. Did you get anything?—No.

1573. You have not got anything yet?—No.

1574. You ought to have had it, ought you not?—I have not got it.

1575. Have you asked for it?—No, it is useless.

1576. Did you ever ask for it?—No, I should not trouble myself for it.

1577. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Before the petition was presented did you ask for it?—No.

1578. Did you ever think of asking?—Certainly not. I thought that if a man promises a thing he ought to perform it without being asked.

1579. You thought it ought to have been brought to you?—Certainly.

1580. As a debt of honour?—Yes.

1581. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You expected the 5*l.* before you voted?—Oh, when the carriage came up I expected it then.

1582. The carriage came, did it?—Yes; and I walked down after that.

1583. (The Chief Commissioner.) The carriage came?—Oh, yes, it came several times, but I did not go with it.

1584. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You waited till the last?—No, I did not.

1585. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What time of the day did you vote?—About a quarter past three.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Then you did wait till the last hour.

1586. (The Chief Commissioner.) I want to ask you, did you attend at all at the "Grapes"?—No.

1587. You know the "Grapes"?—Very well.

1588. You have been there?—A good many times.

1589. Were you not there previous to the election?—No; I might have called in going down to town. It is my business to call at every public house; I am in that line.

1590. You are in that line?—Yes; the soda water line, of course.

1591. What are you?—I am a soda water manufacturer and confectioner.

1592. But you did not call at the "Grapes" more than to ask if they would have any soda water?—I merely asked if they had any orders. If nothing was wanted I did not take it, if anything was wanted I took it in.

(The Chief Commissioner.) I need not trouble you any further.—(The witness.) I am much obliged to you.

W. Johnson.

WILLIAM JOHNSON sworn and examined.

1593. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Your name is William Johnson?—Yes.

1594. And you are one of the voters of this borough?—Yes.

1595. How long have you been on the register as a voter?—About three years.

1596. About three years?—I will not be sure how long it is, but somewhere about that time.

1597. Were you on the register on the last election?—Yes.

1598. I do not mean 1865, but the one before?—No, not on the one before.

1599. I believe you voted at the last election?—Yes, I did.

1600. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Gower.

1601. When were you first canvassed to vote?—Well, several weeks before the election came on.

1602. By whom?—Both Mr. Gower and Mr. Monson called, but I was not in at the time.

1603. I mean when you saw somebody?—I saw Joyes.

1604. Was he the first person you saw with reference to your vote?—He was the first person.

1605. Of course he asked you for your vote?—Yes.

1606. Was anything said to you about money?—He asked me if I would take an active part in it, in canvassing, &c.

1607. If you took an active part in it, what was to happen?—Of course I was to be paid for the loss of time and canvassing.

1608. You say of course; why do you say of course?—If I lost the time and neglected my business, I expected I was to be paid for it.

1609. Did you tell those gentlemen so who were canvassing you?—Yes.

1610. What is your business?—That of an upholsterer.

1611. A master upholsterer?—Yes.

1612. Where do you carry on the business?—In Reigate.

1613. In this town?—In this town.

1614. Did you mention that to Mr. Joyes?—I mentioned that to him.

1615. What did he say?—He said that it would be all right, and that he would speak to the others.

1616. Who did he mean by the others?—Mr. Smith and Mr. Buckland, as I understood from him.

1617. How long was this before the election?—A great many weeks.

1618. Several weeks?—Yes.

1619. Before the arrangement had ripened?—Yes.

1620. Did you afterwards see as a matter of canvass either of the candidates?—I saw Mr. Gower.

1621. Did you see Mr. Monson?—No; I have seen him, but not to speak to him.

1622. Not to speak to him as a matter of canvass; but you have seen Mr. Gower?—Yes.

1623. When you saw him have you seen him alone or with others?—Both alone and with others.

1624. When you were canvassed by him?—He did not canvass me himself, because I was going to vote for him.

1625. You had promised your vote before?—Yes.

1626. Where was it you saw Mr. Gower, at a meeting?—The first place was at a meeting down below.

1627. At this building?—Yes.

1628. That was an ordinary meeting of the electors?—Yes.

1629. Where speeches were made, and so on?—Yes; at least a committee meeting.

1630. It was a committee meeting, was it?—Yes.

1631. Now, at that committee meeting was anything said with reference to the conduct of the election with regard to paying the people for their work?—Not at that.

1632. At any of the committee meetings you attended has it been stated at all as a matter of business?—Yes, Mr. Gower at one meeting said all who worked for him should be paid, and well.

1633. Did you hear that said by Mr. Gower?—I heard that said, and a good many men besides.

1634. Was that on more than one occasion?—Only on one occasion.

1635. Tell me upon what occasion that was said as near as you can?—I will not say to a few days, but I think it would be a week or a fortnight before the election.

1636. Were there many present when that was said?—Yes, a room full.

1637. Was it a committee meeting or a general meeting?—A committee meeting.

1638. One of the meetings in this building?—In this building.

1639. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Mr. Gower said all who worked for him should be paid, and well paid?—Yes.

1640. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was before the election?—That was before the election.

1641. A few days before the election?—Yes.

1642. Was there any other occasion that you heard the general body of the committee talking about this payment?—Oh, I heard it spoken of several times.

1643. By the committee?—By the committee.

1644. On those occasions, when you have heard it spoken of in the committee as a general matter of conversation, was Mr. Gower present?—I cannot say that he was.

1645. Was Mr. Gower a constant attendant at committees?—Yes; perhaps sometimes he has been here an hour or so; before he did come there was a deal of conversation.

1646. That might be before he came?—Yes.

1647. Did Mr. Gower remain until the committee broke up?—No; he generally went away before the committee broke up.

1648. Did you canvass?—Yes.

1649. Did you canvass much?—Yes, a very great deal.

1650. Now do you recollect on one occasion going to Bickley?—Yes, I do.

1651. Was that to canvass a voter of the name of Knight?—Yes; and to canvass a voter of the name of Turner.

1652. What Mr. Turner was that?—A butcher.

1653. At Bickley?—Yes.

1654. Was he living there?—Yes; he had left Reigate, and had gone to life at Bickley.

1655. What was his name? William?—No, I think it was Henry; he had got the vote for the Old borough.

1656. His name was William?—No; Henry, I think, but I am not sure.

1657. Before you went to Bickley did you see Mr. Smith the agent?—Yes, I did.

1658. Did you receive any instructions from him as to the mode you were to canvass Mr. Knight and Turner?—Well, as for Turner it was no use saying anything about, but Mr. Knight should have the same as the others if he liked to come.

1659. Were those the instructions you received?—Those were the instructions I received.

1660. You were a committee man; did you understand what was meant by Mr. Smith saying that Mr. Knight was to have what the others had?—I understood it was offering them 3*l.* to 5*l.*, and more if you could get it.

1661. Was that whether they did work or no work?—Well it was; all could work.

1662. Do you mean to say then that the term work was merely a fiction?—In some cases; with men who could not get away from their employment in the day-time, of course, it was put down as work.

1663. If they could not get away from their work in the day-time it was put down as work?—Yes.

1664. Though they were to do nothing in fact?—Only attending meetings, and so forth.

1665. We will see about the meetings presently that you speak of that they did attend. Did you see Knight?—Yes.

1666. Did you make the offer to Knight?—Yes; told me that he had promised faithfully to go the other way.

1667. But before that had you known Mr. Knight?—Yes.

1668. I presume you told him that. I presume you told him the allowance what you were ready to offer before you said that. What did you say?—I said "Very well, I will not press you to break your "word."

1669. Before that had you told him that you had had an interview with Mr. Smith?—No; I never told him about it when I found he had promised his vote. I did not offer him anything.

1670. He told you he had promised his vote before you had had an opportunity of offering it to him?—Yes.

1671. So you did not make the offer?—No, I did not make the offer.

1672. When you came back to Mr. Smith did you report what happened? Were you given anything to go there?—I had half a sovereign given to me to pay my expenses.

1673. To pay the railway fare and so on. Did it cost you 10*s.*?—Yes.

1674. Were you to be paid for your work?—I was to be paid for my work.

1675. What were you to be paid for your work?—There was no certain sum agreed upon; I was to be well remunerated for what I did.

1676. Having heard that declaration by Mr. Gower, you believed that you would be well remunerated?—Of course I trusted in it.

1677. Did you receive any money to expend on the election?—No, I never received any, not before the election.

1678. Have you received any since?—I have received some money on account.

1679. How much have you received?—3*l.*

1680. Is that all that you have received?—That is all I have received.

1681. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was for yourself?—Yes.

1682. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you expend anything before the election for election purposes?—Yes.

1683. Of course I mean besides the 10*s.*?—Oh yes, a great deal.

1684. How much?—Several pounds.

1685. Can you state how much?—I cannot say, because I never took notice of how much it was.

1686. Was it as much as 15*l.*?—It would be very nearly it.

1687. In what way was the money expended?—In going about from one place to another. When I wanted to canvass we very often had a glass or two together.

1688. Was the money expended partly in travelling and expenses, such as paying for railway fare and carriage hire?—A good deal of it was paid for carriage hire.

1689. Then you say in canvassing you sometimes had a glass together?—Yes.

1690. Did you pay for the glass when you had it?—Yes, I did.

1691. The glass means two I suppose, one for yourself, and one for your friend you were canvassing?—We generally asked a friend to have a glass.

1692. And with that glass I suppose you could get better over him and succeed in obtaining his vote?—We could talk better over it.

1693. How many occasions have you canvassed over a glass?—I cannot say.

1694. Most of the times?—Oh yes.

1695. How many persons did you canvass?—Very many.

1696. Give us a rough guess?—I cannot tell you; I canvassed a great many, every one whom I knew who had not promised their vote, or if they were of the other side I tried to get them.

1697. Did you canvass both the districts, the Old district and the Foreign?—Yes, I used to go from one to the other.

SECOND DAY.

W. Johnson.

22 Aug. 1866.

1698. Did you know persons in both districts ?—Oh yes, I knew most of them.

1699. Is there any sort of jealousy existing between the two districts ?—I think there is a little between Redhill and Reigate.

1700. Has that at all exhibited itself in a party feeling ?—Of course I only know from report, from hearing what they have spoken about Reigate ; they wanted their own way at Redhill, instead of our having it in Reigate.

1701. Is there anything about the neighbourhood in this way, calling the Reigate people Reigaters ?—Yes.

1702. By whom were they called Reigaters ?—By the Redhill people.

1703. Does that arise from the jealousy between the two parties ?—Yes.

1704. A sort of nickname ?—Yes.

1705. Do you know enough of the election to tell us whether one party, either Mr. Gower's or Mr. Monson's, had the larger majority in the one district or the other ; we will take this district amongst the Reigaters first ?—I think he got the majority here.

1706. Who ?—Mr. Gower.

1707. Now in the other district, the Redhill district, what is your opinion ?—I think Mr. Monson would have the majority there.

1708. To a certain extent we may call Mr. Gower a candidate for the Reigaters, and Mr. Monson the candidate for Redhill ?—Yes.

1709. That is your notion ?—That is my notion.

1710. I asked you because you seemed to have taken a considerable part in the election. Now there is another question : did you apply to Mr. Gower ?—Yes, I wrote a letter to him.

1711. Was that an application for monies ?—Yes.

1712. Not only for the monies which you thought yourself entitled to as a matter of pay for your work, but also for monies that you had expended ?—Yes.

1713. Did you tell him how much you had expended ?—No, I did not.

1714. Did you tell him any sum at all which you had expended for expenses ?—No ; I said after neglecting business several weeks, and the money I had expended, I thought it was time I was paid.

1715. Did you receive a reply to that letter ?—Yes, I did.

1716. (The Chief Commissioner.) Have you got it?—No, it was left at the House of Commons.

1717. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I believe that was a letter referring you to Mr. Smith ?—Yes ; he said he was perfectly well aware of the interest I took, and the information I had given, but he could not enter into these matters himself, but that I was to apply to Mr. Smith.

1718. Did you apply to Mr. Smith ?—I did.

1719. And did you get any redress from Mr. Smith ?—I got 3*l.* on account.

1720. Did you get any promise from Mr. Smith of future payment ?—He said he did not know what would be done, but that I must apply to Mr. Gower.

1721. He said you must apply to Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

1722. Was anything said about any time you were likely to expect payment ?—He thought it would not be paid me till after February.

1723. When February came there was the petition, and you got no money ?—I got none.

1724. And you have never received anything since ?—I have not.

1725. Did you send in any specific account ?—I sent in a note.

1726. Did you ever claim any specific sum of money ?—I sent in a note for the work, but not for the other.

1727. What did you claim for the work ?—I think it was somewhere about 5*l.* I forget exactly what it was.

1728. How came you to ask for the magic sum of 5*l.* ?—For the work.

1729. Surely your work was worth a great deal more ?—It was worth more. I sent in a note to claim something. It was told me I should be well paid, but as for the amount they did not know.

1730. Why did you send in a claim for 5*l.* if you were to be well paid ?—Just to remind them of it.

1731. Surely your best remedy would have been to have sent in a claim for the whole amount ?—That I sent in.

1732. Why did you not send in a specific claim ? I do not know why you valued your work only at 5*l.* Did anybody tell you to put it at 5*l.* ?—Yes.

1733. Who did ?—Mr. Buckland.

1734. Did he tell you why you should put it at 5*l.* ?—It would not do to put the money expended, what I spent ; I forget the grounds.

1735. We can perhaps make a guess at the answer. Did he tell you in fact to claim only 5*l.*, and whatever you wanted afterwards would be paid as a difference ?—He stated it should be paid as a difference.

1736. Did you tell Mr. Buckland the whole amount you expended ?—I think I told him what I laid out.

1737. Did you tell him the full amount you expended for your work beyond the 5*l.* ?—I told him I thought about 20*l.* with the money I had laid out.

1738. Then that would have been 20*l.* : 5*l.* laid out and 15*l.* expended. That would be the claim for 20*l.* ; but did not you expend something beyond ?—If they had offered it me I should have taken it, but I did not expend anything only for labour and what I had laid out.

1739. The 5*l.* was for your labour ?—Yes.

1740. Do you mean to say when you discussed this matter with Mr. Buckland in this serious way you only expected 5*l.* during those several weeks you were engaged ?—During those several weeks I did not neglect my business altogether—only for part of the day.

1741. As I understand you, you did. Do I understand you to say you would have been satisfied with 5*l.* for your labour ?—I should have been perfectly satisfied if I had got the money I laid out and the 5*l.*

1742. And that you never expected to have got more ?—No.

1743. Still you were not to return to Mr. Buckland or Mr. Smith the 15*l.* ?—No.

1744. So that the 15*l.* would have been paid afterwards, and would not go into the election expenses ?—It would not go into the election expenses.

1745. I suppose you understood the amount of 15*l.* was not to be made public ?—Not to be made public ?

1746. Was not that portion of the account what you would call in electioneering matters illegal expenses ?—Yes.

1747. And the 5*l.* you would call legal expenses ?—Yes.

1748. Did you see ribbon given away ?—Yes.

1749. Who gave that away ?—Job Apted.

1750. Is he a draper ?—No, a leather currier.

1751. He had the ribbon ?—Yes.

1752. On what day was that given away ?—On the day of the nomination.

1753. Do you know a man of the name of Charles Lucock ?—Yes, I do.

1754. Where does he live ?—In West-street.

1755. And what is he ?—He is a collar-maker, I think, or a harness-maker.

1756. For whom did he vote ?—For Mr. Gower.

1757. Do you know of his receiving anything from Mr. Joyes ?—I heard him say he had received 3*l.*

1758. Is it Mr. Locock or Mr. Lucock ?—Mr. Lucock.

1759. Did you ever see him with a cheque ?—I never saw him with a cheque.

1760. Did you ever hear him say he had got a cheque ?—I heard him say he had got a cheque, or something to let me know he had got a cheque.

1761. Did you canvass Lucock ?—Several times.

1762. Were you able to get him your way ?—He would not give his promise till a very short time before the election.

1763. Did you ever hold out any inducement to get him your way ?—No, not to him.

1764. Or his wife ?—No.

1765. Or his family ?—No.

1766. Or in any way that it should come to his ears ?—No, not at all.

1767. In what way did you try to get him round ? —I only spoke to him about coming our way, and he said he wanted to know what he was going to have ; but I felt rather doubtful about him, and I did not like to say anything.

1768. You felt doubtful about him. Did you represent that to the committee ?—I represented that to the committee.

1769. To whom did you report that fact—to the committee ?—To Mr. Joyes.

1770. And the others who were on the committee—to Mr. Apted ?—Yes.

1771. You canvassed a good deal ?—Yes.

1772. In any one single instance of your own canvassing, did you ever discuss where you were matters of political interest ?—Very little indeed. It was said there was no difference at all between them.

1773. And when you did discuss the question of whether they would come on your side or not, was it a question of the value of the vote and not of political principle ?—It was quite so ; they always spoke of what they were going to have.

1774. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) All you canvassed ?—Most of them.

1775. How many could you say said that ?—About 18 or 20.

1776. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You told us you could not tell us how many you canvassed, but did you canvass many men ?—Yes.

1777. I suppose from some you got the votes ?—I referred them to the others about the money matters, if they wanted it. I said they had better see either Mr. Joyes, or Mr. Apted, or Mr. Buckland, or some of the committee.

1778. You were generally greatly about the borough, and must have noticed things going on. Did you notice whether it was as much on Mr. Monson's side as on your own side a question of value ?—Only from the reports which I have heard.

1779. You did hear it reported ?—Yes, I heard some reports.

1780. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you hear it said by any of the electors ?—Yes, from some of the electors.

1781. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Can you give me any information at all, any names of persons from whom you had heard that on the other side ?—I cannot think of the names ; if I do happen to think of them I will tell you, but I cannot think of them to-night.

1782. At present you cannot call to your mind the names of any persons who had spoken about money being a consideration in voting on the other side ?—I cannot.

1783. Before you leave the box it may cross your mind. I do not know whether you ever did such a thing as what is very often done in electioneering, but did you ever try to see what was going on in the enemy's camp by going into their committee rooms or public meetings ?—I went to some of their meetings.

1784. I thought it would be so. A great electioneerer like you must have been into your enemy's camp. Where did you ever attend meetings in the enemy's camp ?—At Redhill.

1785. Where ; tell me the spot ?—At the Town Hall.

1786. Also here ?—Yes, at the hall here, the New Hall.

1787. You have only mentioned the two public halls ?—Only the two public halls.

1788. Have you ever been into any of these houses where meetings were going on where they were likely to have liquor ?—Do you mean Mr. Monson's ?

1789. Yes ?—No, I have not.

1790. I am going to yours presently. I want to know whether you were aware of any on the other side ?—No.

1791. Those were perfectly legitimate meetings, without any refreshment at all ?—Yes.

1792. Was anything said at those meetings in the nature of a promise as to the payment for labour ?—I never heard it said at all.

1793. You never were in the private committee rooms, or in any of the houses where there was refreshment ?—I never was.

1794. Were you ever at the "Grapes" ?—I do not think I was in the "Grapes" but twice or three times all the time of the election.

1795. At what time of the day were you at the "Grapes" ?—I was in the "Grapes" one evening and two mornings, and that was about some work that I was at in the morning.

1796. I suppose in the morning would be at a time when very few people would be there ?—There were not such a great many.

1797. Was there anything that you saw going on at the "Grapes" in reference to the election that would attract your attention ?—No, there was not anything ; there were rather more visitors than usual.

1798. Nothing more than that ?—No.

1799. Were you ever in any of the other houses engaged by the Monson party ?—I have been in several.

1800. Give me one or two ?—I went to Mr. Smith's, up in Holmsdale-road.

1801. What was the name of the house ?—I do not know the name of the house ; I believe it is the "Prince of Wales," but I am not sure.

1802. Is that in Nutley-lane ?—No, not in Nutley-lane.

1803. At any of these other houses that you have been to was there anything to attract your attention with regard to drink going on ?—No.

1804. Have you had an opportunity of seeing whether treating was going on ?—I have been where there has been several of their committee men, and each man has paid for what he had himself.

1805. Did you see them pay ?—Yes.

1806. Where did you see them pay ?—Some of them up at Smith's ; they paid for what they had.

1807. Was that when they came and had what they wanted at the bar that they then put their money down and paid ?—Yes.

1808. Was that all the insight you had into the house that was occupied by Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

1809. I presume you never went further than the bar ?—Either the bar or the sitting room several times.

1810. The sitting room, were there many people ?—Yes, a good many people.

1811. And when in the sitting room did you see them pay ?—I saw them pay.

1812. Do you remember walking with Mr. Apted when he dropped a book ?—Yes ; he dropped it one night.

1813. Had you ever seen the book before ?—It was his canvassing book. I had seen him with it several times.

1814. Had you ever seen the inside of it ?—No, I had never seen the inside of it.

1815. You only knew it as his canvassing book ?—That was all.

1816. Was this a dark night ?—No, not very.

1817. Where was it he dropped his book ?—In the High-street.

1818. Did he make any observation about it ?—He said something about it being worth so much money if the other side could get hold of it.

1819. Did he say how much ; about 500*l.* ?—No, I believe it was 50*l.*

1820. Have you seen the book since the election ? —No, I have not.

1821. Have you seen that book in the committee room at the election ?—I have seen him have it in the committee room.

SECOND DAY.

W. Johnson.

23 Aug. 1866.

1822. He always kept it in his own possession ?—Yes.

1823. You have attended the house belonging to your own party ?—Yes, I have.

1824. I do not know whether you will be able to recollect when was the first instance you attended those houses ?—No.

1825. Do you remember being at the "Hoads" beer house ?—Yes, I do.

1826. Mr. Alexander Rose was in the chair ?—Yes.

1827. How many people were present on that occasion ?—I should say 40 or 50.

1828. Who was in the vice-chair at the time ?—I think I was in one room; there were two rooms there.

1829. Did you take the head of one room ?—No; I was in the vice-chair of one room.

1830. Who was the chairman in your room ?—I think Mr. De Gance.

1831. And was Mr. Rose an active agent and partizan of Mr. Gower's ?—Yes.

1832. On that occasion did you hear Mr. Rose say anything about the orders ?—He said it was all right, he had arranged for it.

1833. Were there two Roses there ?—No; only one.

1834. Did Mr Hoads make any application to Mr. Rose about how he was to supply ?—I forget whether he spoke about it.

1835. I forget whether I spoke. There was something said, but I forget what it was.

1836. Was there anything of this sort, that what was to be had that night was to be put down for electioneering expenses ?—I think it was said that it would be paid for when it was finished; when we had finished the evening.

1837. Did you see refreshments brought in ?—Yes, I did.

1838. What sort of refreshment was it ?—Biscuits and cheese, and I think there was cider and beer and ginger beer.

1839. Was there any brandy and water brought in ? No; it was not a licensed house.

1840. Or else perhaps they might have had it ?—Yes, very likely.

1841. How long did you stop there ?—It was somewhere between 9 and 10 when I left. I left early.

1842. Did you go in early ?—It was something after 7.

1843.—Did you see any of those people paying for the refreshment ?—No, I saw no one.

1844. Did you pay ?—I did not pay at all.

1845. You had your share of it ?—I had some of it.

1846. A fair share, I suppose ?—Yes.

1847. You paid nothing ?—No.

1848. Did you ever offer to pay ?—No, I did not.

1849. And you have never been asked to pay ?—I have never been asked to pay.

1850. Did the landlord tell you who was to pay ?—I think he said something about Mr. Rose arranging for it.

1851. Do you recollect going to "Thatchers" beer house with Mr. Rose ?—Yes.

1852. Was that after you had been to "Hoads" ?—I believe it was the day before, I believe there was not so much as a day's difference between them.

1853. I suppose you would find it rather difficult to put all the attendances in consecutive order ?—Yes, I should.

1854. But generally I may ask you, how long before the election it was you had been at "Hoads" and "Thatchers" ?—A very few days before.

1855. Had you been to other houses before those ? Yes, I had been at one that I think was called the "Railway Inn." I think that was the first house I was at.

1856. Let us take the "Railway Inn." Is that a licensed house ?—Yes, it is.

1857. Who was in the chair ?—Mr. Apted.

1858. Is that Job Apted ?—Yes.

1859. Who was vice-chairman; were you ?—I think I was, in one room there.

1860. There was a scond room there also ?—Yes.

1861. Did you call the chairman in the second room vice-chair ?—No; there were two for each room.

1862. How many people were there in the house ?—As near as I can tell, quite 50.

1863. Did you hear anything said by Mr. Apted, or any person in authority, about the payment for the liquor and the refreshment ?—I heard Mr. Apted say he hoped every one would have what they liked, and enjoy themselves.

1864. That was not the only occasion on which Mr. Apted made that observation ?—No; I think it was not.

1865. That was Mr. Apted's favorite speech, was it not ?—Something like that.

1866. Was that just before the writ was coming down ?—No, it was not.

1867. What kind of refreshment was had in licensed house, spirits ?—Oh, plenty of spirits; anything anybody liked to call for; and cider and ginger beer with gin in it.

1868.—Anything they liked to call for this licensed house would supply ?—Yes.

1869. In what way was this brought in ?—In quarts at a time.

1870. They would not bring in the brandy in quarts ?—No; in glasses, what you may call six-penn'orths.

1871. Were the glasses brought in on a tray ?—Yes.

1872. As many as a tray would hold, and then handed round ?—Yes.

1873. Was smoking going on ?—Yes, cigars, &c.

1874. Were speeches made ?—Yes, and there was singing.

1875. How long did that meeting last; till a very late time ?—I think until one or two in the morning.

1876. At what time did you generally meet at these places ?—About 7 or 8 o'clock.

1877. After the day's work had been finished ?—After the day's work had been finished.

1878. Did you attend at these meetings as part of the labour ?—No, I did not.

1879. Some of the gentlemen who have been here this morning considered attending at these meetings was part of the labour for which they were to be paid. Did you pay for anything at that meeting ?—I paid for a biscuit, I think.

1880. How came you to pay for a biscuit ? you had more than a biscuit ?—Yes.

1881. How came you to pay for a biscuit ?—It was when first I went in.

1882. Before you knew the custom of the house ?—Yes.

1883. Upon future occasions I suppose you did not even pay for a biscuit ?—No.

1884. You had learnt better then. Now, we will go to this house "Thatchers," you have spoken of, which was a beer house; by-the-by were you more than one night at the "Railway Inn ?—No, I was only at one of the meetings there.

1885. Was that a house that was engaged by Mr. Gower's committee and his party ?—No, they did not engage any houses; they did not give out by report that they engaged them.

1886. Do you know as a fact that "Thatchers," "Hoads," the "Railway Inn," and other houses you have spoken of were used by the Gower party ?—They were used by the Gower party, and Mr. Gower's bills were in the windows.

1887. You were on the committee, and can probably give me this information: did you know as a fact that those houses were open pretty nearly every night, or every night ?—Certainly not, only at meetings.

1888. How were these meetings called together ?—Generally some of the agents gave it out at the committee at which public house the meetings were to be held on the following evening.

1889. Was there more than one meeting during the course of the same evening; did the committee distribute themselves in several houses, and take the chair, and have several meetings?—No, I do not think that there was more than one meeting held the same night, not in this district; there may have been meetings held in the others.

1890. Oh, then there would be a meeting at Redhill on one evening, and on the same evening a meeting at Reigate?—Yes.

1891. But you think only one meeting of that class in each district?—Only one.

1892. That would make two in fact, but in different districts?—Yes, and there might be another in the freehold.

1893. And there is another district, Earlswood; that is some distance away?—Yes.

1894. There might be a meeting there of the same sort?—Only a small meeting.

1895. There have been meetings there?—Yes.

1896. Have you ever attended meetings there?—Yes.

1897. Let us have an account of your meeting at Earlswood?—It was on the Earlswood-common.

1898. Where did you go to at Earlswood?—On to the Earlswood-common.

1899. Did you retire indoors at the house?—Yes; at least we could scarcely get indoors, and were glad to get out, it was so hot.

1900. If you were glad to get out, I suppose the house was full?—Yes.

1901. Could you see what was going on at the house with regard to refreshment?—There was drinking.

1902. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What was the name of the house?—I know it was kept by a man of the name of Tyrell.

1903. Is he a voter?—Yes.

1904. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is it a beer house or a licensed house?—Beer house.

1905. I suppose the people were only drinking beer?—Beer, ale, and everything they could draw.

1906. Were there many persons in the house at that meeting?—A great many, both inside and out.

1907. Did you yourself see any drinking going on inside?—Yes.

1908. Was there any drinking going on outside?—Yes.

1909. Did you have yours outside?—Yes, I think a glass of ale.

1910. Did you pay for it?—No, I did not.

1911. Did you see anybody pay for any?—No.

1912. Who was taking charge of the meeting on the part of the committee?—There were several down there, but I could not say who took charge; there was Mr. Penfold and Mr. Marsden.

1913. Any influential committee men, like Mr. Rose or Mr. Apted?—There were several there.

1914. Name me one or two?—There was Mr. Apted, and Mr. Joyes, and Mr. Rose, I think he was there too.

1915. Were they taking an active part in the management of the proceedings of the company?—In the meeting on the common.

1916. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were they in the house?—They were outside the house and some of them were inside.

1917. What took place inside I suppose you could not see, but they were there?—Yes.

1918. You saw no one pay for the liquor?—No, I did not.

1919. How many people do you think were at the meeting outside?—A great many, some hundreds.

1920. Did any of them go away from the meeting without going to the beer house?—Some of them did.

1921. Which should you say was the largest number, those who went away or those who stayed?—I could not say whether the largest number went away or stayed, not to be sure of it.

1922. Well, it was about even then?—Yes.

1923. You say some hundreds were there; were there two or three hundred?—Quite that, more than that.

1924. Then there would be from 150 to 200 who would stop at the beer house to drink?—Yes, but some of them could not get in.

1925. You said that some were served outside. Were you present at any meeting that took place in the chapel?—No.

1926. You were not there?—No.

1927. Do you know the house called the "Black Horse," on Reigate-heath?—Yes, I do.

1928. Were you at any meeting there?—Yes, I was; that was the night before the writ came down.

1929. How many had you there, some 50?—Quite that.

1930. Is that a licensed house?—Yes, it is.

1931. Who took the active part there in the chair, Mr. Apted, or Mr. Joyes, or Mr. Rose, or whom?—I think Mr. Rose was in the chair, and Mr. Robert Legg was at the other part of the table.

1932. Mr. Rose was proposed to the chair by Mr. Apted, and was seconded by Mr. Joyes?—Yes.

1933. What time did the meeting commence?—I think it was 8 o'clock.

1934. What time did you go?—At 8 o'clock.

1935. Were you the first or did you find a good many people there?—I found a good number there.

1936. Had they their refreshments when you got there?—Yes, I think there was some on the table then.

1937. How many were there when you got there?—About 12 or 14.

1938. They had begun?—They were having something to drink.

1939. Well, that is what at many of these meetings you would call beginning; they were not assembled there by advertisements for the purpose of hearing speeches and meeting the candidate, and enunciating various political sentiments which should have an influence over the votes of the borough?—No.

1940. I suppose at all these meetings when the candidates spoke they spoke upon the general topics of the country?—Yes.

1941. The voting went on other considerations?—Yes.

1942. How long did this meeting which took place at the "Black Horse" last? when did it break up?—Sometimes it was early in the morning when they broke up.

1943. But on this particular occasion, two or three days before the writ came up?—It was the night before.

1944. Well, the night before?—Not till early in the morning.

1945. What do you call early in the morning?—One o'clock, betwixt one and two.

1946. On what day of the week was it held? I hope it was not on a Saturday?—No, it was not a Saturday; I think it was on a Friday.

1947. Now was the brandy pretty freely sent round?—Yes.

1948. I suppose you did not see anybody pay for it?—No.

1949. You did not pay?—No, I did not pay.

1950. Was it Mr. Apted who made a speech from the chair, and spoke about the writ coming down?—He was not in the chair; he sat at the side of the chair.

1951. Did he speak about the writ coming down?—Yes; he said it was the last meeting at which they could have anything publicly to drink.

1952. Did he use those words, "It was the last "day they could have anything publicly to drink"?—Yes.

1953. Did he say the reason why?—He said because the writ was coming down, and they must be more careful.

1954. Did you attend any of these meetings afterwards; any of these entertainments of company?—After the writ?

SECOND DAY.

W. Johnson.

23 Aug. 1866.

1955. Yes, after the writ came down.—No, I did not.

1956. Did you know of any of them happening?—No, I did not.

1957. If they did happen they were kept very private?—I think I should have known about them.

1958. As you told me, these other meetings were called together by some of the committee giving notice?—Yes, some of the committee.

1959. How were those notices given?—By word of mouth.

1960. Not by a public bill like this; "So-and-so's "committee will meet at such and such a house"?—No, only by word of mouth from one to the other.

1961. At these meetings did anybody stand at the door to see that nobody but friends came in?—It was generally intended to see who did come in, to see that there were not any of the others of the opposite side.

1962. Did you ever admit any person who had not promised his vote?—They were admitted if we thought that there was a chance of getting them.

1963. Did you ever canvass any of them at these meetings?—Sometimes, if I knew they had not promised.

1964. I want to know as a fact, did you?—I did some of them.

1965. Can you name any one that you have canvassed at these meetings?—I spoke to several there; there is one name I can mention. I spoke to a man of the name of Upton.

1966. Had he not promised before?—He had not decided.

1967. Now, perhaps you will be good enough to give me a little history of the canvass of this man Upton?—I only told him he had better decide, and I dare say it would be made all right.

1968. What is his name?—Thomas Upton.

1969. Is he of the Foreign part or Old?—Foreign.

1970. Did you say anything to Upton why it would be better? did you tell him what was meant by its being all right?—I said he had better come; he would be all right.

1971. Thomas Upton, of Reigate-heath, is that the man?—Yes, it is.

1972. Did you explain to him what you meant by being all right?—He knew what it meant.

1973. I have heard that answer given before, that he knew what it meant by being all right; do you mean to say that it was such a common thing in the borough for men to be paid, that when you said it was all right they knew what it was?—They all expected money.

1974. Was that done at times by a simple nod of the head, or a quiet look in the face, which, without your actually saying it was all right, gave him to understand it was all right?—I dare say it was.

1975. Did you ever see any of that kind of freemasonry going on between the parties?—I could not mention any cases, but I am sure of it.

1976. Have you ever seen it done?—I have noticed it done.

1977. I thought you had; just give me a notion of where you have noticed it being done?—At several places.

1798. Would it be a sort of nod of assent?—Yes, something of that sort; of course I cannot mention exactly where it was; I know several parties whom we have nodded to. It was something of that kind. (The witness nodded his head.)

1979. I see you nod. Supposing a person were to say to you, I should like to be paid for my work, and you were to give that kind of significant nod you gave to me just now, would that nod of the head to the voter mean anything?—It would mean that he would be paid.

1980. That would mean he would be paid?—Yes.

1981. I suppose in this kind of bribery the thing should be done as secretly as possible?—Yes.

1982. So as not to get the strongest amount of evidence against you?—Of course.

1983. You have seen that done on more than of occasion?—Yes.

1084. On any occasion where you have seen that done have you ever seen money paid?—I have not, not to my knowledge.

1085. Can you name to me any person to whom you have given that significant nod when you were soliciting for his vote; perhaps you can this last election?—I think I did to a man of the name of Apps.

1986. Who is Apps?—He was the last witness but one.

1987. Did you canvass him this last election?—Yes, I did.

1988. Were you the only person who canvassed him; I suppose not?—No.

1989. Were you the first to canvass him?—I do not know whether I was the first or not.

1990. When you canvassed him had he promised his vote?—He had not.

1991. In what way did you canvass him?—I told him he had better come to work for Mr. Gower.

1992. Did he say that he wanted to be paid for it, or did he lead you to suppose that he wanted to be paid for it?—There was something said that led me to suppose he wanted to be paid for the work.

1993. What was it that was said that led you to suppose he wanted to be paid for his work?—Some words were said, but I cannot say exactly what words; but some words were used that led me to suppose he wanted to be paid.

1994. Can you give me at all a very vague definition of what was said, and come rather closer to the fact what it was that led you to suppose he wanted to be paid?—I cannot exactly say the words, it was something to the effect that if he did come to do anything he must be paid.

1995. Now he having told you if he did come he would want to be paid, in what way did you answer him?—(The witness gave a nod).

1996. I suppose you consider that as fixing as the shake of a hand in the binding of a bargain?—Yes.

1997. Did you report that to the committee?—I told them I thought they might have him.

1998. Did you tell the committee the way in which you had canvassed him?—I think I did.

1999. Was that in this house you told the committee?—Down below.

2000. Is that the only instance in which you have seen that particular kind of canvassing, and that peculiar assenting?—That is the only case I can remember, to mention the name.

2001. Have you heard any other persons besides yourself in the borough mention or talk of that?—No, I have never heard it talked of.

2002. I do not mean that individual canvassing, but generally have you heard it mentioned?—No.

2003. That quiet mode of canvassing?—I cannot remember hearing it spoken of.

2004. So far as Mr. Apps was concerned, you considered that was a sort of binding contract between you and him?—I nodded my head to him, and of course he never spoke to me.

2005. You nodded, and that assent you considered as closing the bargain?—I did not consider it closed.

2006. You thought that you could rely upon his vote, and so reported to the committee?—I thought we might have him.

2007. When you reported to the committee did you say for what sum?—No, I did not mention the sum.

2008. But that he might be had for payment?—Yes.

2009. Now, at any of these houses were you ever requested to stand at the bar to watch, and see who had refreshment?—I was down at the "Black Horse,"

2010. Tell me on what day that was?—That was the night before the writ came down.

SECOND DAY.

W. Johnson.

23 Aug. 1866.

2011. Never after the writ came down?—Never after.

2012. What were you to do when you stood at the bar, were you to watch the voters?—I was to see who had the refreshments; to see that none but voters had it.

2013. I do not think I have asked you about a person of the name of David Pitt?—You have not.

2014. Did you see Frederick Joyes, and did he give you any directions with reference to David Pitt?—He did not give me any directions; he went to see him himself.

2015. Had you ever spoken to him about him?—Yes.

2016. Did Mr. Joyes go for the purpose of seeing Pitt?—Yes, at the "Black Horse."

2017. He saw him at the "Black Horse"?—Yes.

2018. You were not with him when he saw him?—I was close to him, within a few yards; he was outside.

2019. You know as a fact he did go to see David Pitt?—Yes.

2020. When he returned to you did he tell you what had taken place between him and Pitt?—Yes.

2021. What was that?—He said he was astonished at Mr. Pitt, that he had to be bought the same as the others; he did not think that he was a man like that before; he had promised him a fiver, and more if he could get it.

2022. Now, if Pitt was supposed to be a different sort of person to the others who were bribed, tell me, what is Pitt?—A carman.

2023. Did he go with a car on his own account?—Yes.

2024. As a carrier?—Yes. At that time he had got a van, and used to cart goods from London two or three times a week; to London and back.

2025. Did you canvass any people between the time of the writ coming and the election, excepting Apps; you saw him up to the last?—No, that was a week before.

2026. Did you canvass any people between the writ coming down and the holding of this last meeting, which you attended at the "Black Horse," and the holding of the election?—I cannot say exactly whether I did or not.

2027. I presume that you were about?—Oh, I was about.

2028. Then eventually you voted for Mr. Gower? Yes.

2029. You have told us all that took place afterwards with reference to your application for the money and the payment of the 15*l.*?—Yes.

2030. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You have mentioned that Mr. Gower in a speech he made said that all those who had worked for him would be paid, and well paid,—was that a public meeting?—At a committee meeting that was held down below.

2031. Was it early in the election proceedings?—It would be a week or two before the election.

2032. How many persons were there who were present at that time?—I should say that there were quite 100.

2033. Were there any reporters there or anything of that kind?—No, there were not any present.

2034. You know there is a peculiar mode of saying that. Did you understand that Mr. Gower meant by that, that if they worked for him honestly and fairly and properly, that they should be paid, and well paid; was that your understanding?—Yes, that was my understanding.

2035. You did not understand that what he meant by that was that they were to be paid for fictitious work?—Oh no, not for fictitious work. Of course I expected that they must work, those that were to be paid.

2036. (Mr. Commissioner Smith). That observation was made generally; when Mr. Gower made that observation, he did not make it with any qualification; that is so, is it not?—Yes, it was not made with any qualification.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN BAILEY sworn and examined.

J. Bailey.

2037. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien). Is your name John Bailey, of the London-road?—Yes.

2038. In the Old part of the borough?—Yes.

2039. How long have you been a voter?—Eight or nine years.

2040. And at how many elections previous to the last had you voted?—I do not know, I cannot tell.

2041. Had you voted at three or four?—Three or four.

2042. You voted for Mr. Gower at the last election?—Yes, sir.

2043. For whom had you voted at the election of 1863?—For Mr. Gower.

2044. How often did you vote for Mr. Gower?—I voted twice for Mr. Gower.

2045. Did you vote in 1858?—I do not know whether I did or not.

2046. Did you vote for Mr. Doulton?—No, I did not.

2047. Where do you live now?—In London-road.

2048. At Cranley?—Yes.

2049. But in '56?—At Cranley.

2050. When you voted?—Yes.

2051. How far is that from Reigate?—About 18 miles.

2052. Then you came up to vote?—Yes.

2053. On the morning that you came up to vote you received some money, did you not?—No, sir.

2054. Do you know Henry Baines of Nutley-lane?—Yes, sir.

2055. Is he connected with you in any way?—No.

2056. Have you seen Mr. Gilbert in reference to this matter?—Mr. Gilbert came to Norwood to see me.

2057. And was Mr. Cotton with him?—He was always with him.

2058. You know Mr. Baines?—Yes.

2059. What is his christian name?—Henry.

2060. He is in no way connected with you?—No.

2061. Had you seen him the morning before you voted?—Yes, I had seen him the morning before I voted.

2062. You saw him in reference to your vote; about your voting?—No, nothing at all, it had nothing to do with the voting.

2063. Did you talk to him about it?—No.

2064. Did he know for whom you were going to vote?—I am sure I cannot tell whether he did or not; I do not know.

2065. Is he a voter?—I believe he is, but I am not quite sure whether he is or not.

2066. Did he not tell you he had received 5*l.* from Job Apted, if you would vote for Gower?—No, sir.

2067. Nothing of that kind?—No, not a word was mentioned about money at all.

2068. Is it now for the first time you hear that story?—It is no story at all.

2069. Did you tell Mr. Gilbert anything about it?—No.

2070. You never spoke to him about it?—Nothing at all about money.

2071. Did you ever speak to Mr. Gilbert about the money you were supposed to receive for voting?—No, I never received any money.

2072. What conversation had you with Mr. Gilbert?—I am sure I cannot tell you what conversation I had with him now.

2073. You do not know what conversation you had with him?—No.

SECOND DAY.

J. Bailey.

23 Aug. 1866.

2074. Did you not tell Mr. Gilbert, be cautious, for Mr. Cotton is here?—I knew Mr. Cotton.

2075. Did you say this: "I voted for Mr. Gower "at the last Reigate election in '65. I was living at "Cranley, 20 miles from Reigate. I knew of the "election, and came up to vote"?—Not that I am aware of.

2076. Did you not tell him that in the presence of Mr. Cotton?—No, I did not.

2077. Will you swear you did not mention that to him in the presence of Mr. Cotton?—No, I did not.

2078. Will you swear you did not mention that to him in the presence of Mr. Cotton?—Yes.

2079. Did he read over any statement to you?—Mr. Gilbert?

2080. Yes.—No, sir.

2081. He never read any statement to you?—Not at all; no statement at all.

2082. Did you not tell him that Henry Baines, of Nutley-lane, had told you he had received 5l. to give you if you would vote for Mr. Gower?—I never heard a word of it at all.

2083. You never heard that stated before?—No; this is the first I have heard of it.

2084. Did you not tell him you would receive 5l. from Baines before voting?—No.

2085. Not a word of the kind?—Not a word of the kind at all.

2086. Did you tell him this: "I paid my expenses "to and from Cranley, but that it only amounted to "about 10*s.*"?—No.

2087. Did you pay your expenses?—Yes.

2088. What did they amount to?—I cannot tell.

2089. Did you tell him what the expenses amounted to?—No, I never mentioned the subject at all.

2090. To Mr. Gilbert?—No.

2091. When did you see Mr. Gilbert? did you see him more than once?—Yes, I saw him twice.

2092. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then you know who Mr. Gilbert is?—Yes.

2093. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you see him on the 25th of January 1866?—I cannot say the time.

2094. You saw him twice?—Yes, once at Norwood. I never saw him at Reigate.

2095. Did you make any statement to him?—No, not at all.

2096. Did he ask you any questions about the petition?—I think not; but I do not know what it was now exactly.

2097. You do not know what it was?—I have no recollection at all.

2098. You have not the slightest recollection?—No.

2099. Have you no recollection at all what took place between you and Mr. Gilbert?—No, I have no recollection at all about it, not the slightest.

2100. How is it if you have no recollection at all, if you do not remember anything, that you remember you did not make a statement to him?—I never made any statement at all to Mr. Gilbert.

2101. You never answered a question?—If he asked me questions I might answer.

2102. What questions did you answer?—I cannot say; I was only in conversation with him a little while, and do not know what it was. As to any statement, I did not make any statement at all to him, not a word.

2103. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you asked to sign any paper by Mr. Gilbert?—Yes; but no statement was made to me at all. I was at Mrs. Baines's the morning of the election.

2104. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Baines's wife?—Yes, I went over to breakfast.

2105. How came you to go over to breakfast if you were not connected in any way? I suppose you only met by accident?—His wife and my wife are sisters.

2106. I asked you whether you were connected with him in any way, and you said not; you are his brother-in-law?—Yes, I did not understand you.

2107. You were not connected in business, I suppose?—No, I did not understand you.

2108. You do not mean to tell me he did not know for whom you were going to vote?—Yes, I do, for I never told him anything at all about that.

2109. Did you receive any money that morning from Mrs. Baines?—No; I never received any money at all this last election.

2110. When did you receive money previous to the last election for your vote?—I never did receive any money at all for my vote.

2111. Why then did you say you did not receive money the last election?—I never received any money at any election, not for my vote.

2112. Have you been engaged as a canvasser at any election?—No.

2113. Or as a messenger?—No.

2114. Or in any way?—I never received any money for any vote at all.

2115. Were you in business?—Not here at the last election, but the election before I kept a public-house in Nutley-lane.

2116. In 1863?—Yes.

2117. You had been engaged, I believe, on behalf of Mr. Gower; the house was considered a house qualified?—No, they had a meeting or two there.

2118. Was it Mr. Gower's house?—They had a meeting or two there, and I suppose it was Mr. Gower's house.

2119. You mean you were paid for the refreshments?—I was paid for the room; there were no refreshments at all, they never had any.

2120. In the election of 1863?—Yes.

2121. Is that what you meant by saying you never received any money for your vote?—Yes, that is what I mean.

2122. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you a voter in 1863?—Yes, I was a voter in 1863.

2123. Who did you vote for at the election in 1863?—For Mr. Gower.

2124. Had you been canvassing on the other side for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863?—No, I never canvassed at all for any of them.

2125. Who canvassed you?—No one.

2126. Why did you vote for Mr. Gower?—I voted for him for the same reason as other people.

2127. For the same reason as other people did; did Mr. Gower canvass you?—Mr. Gower came to me first, and asked me if I would vote for him, and I told him yes.

2128. At that time you were occupying the beer house in Nutley-lane?—The public house.

2129. The public house I mean. Was your house open during all the time of the election of 1863?—It was not open at all; there were two meetings there.

2130. Did Mr. Gower attend the meetings there himself?—No.

2131. Are you certain of it?—I am not quite certain.

2132. Now be cautious; who did you receive orders from about providing beer?—No one at all.

2133. Was no beer provided for people in your house?—No one at all.

2134. Did you receive any money at all in 1863?—Yes, I had 2l. for the room two nights, a pound each night.

2135. Did you receive no other money at all?—No, no other money at all.

2136. Did you hear Mr. Gilbert's evidence to-day?—Yes.

2137. Did you hear him say you made that statement to him when it was put into your hand?—Yes, I heard him say so.

2138. Was what he stated a mistake or something worse?—A mistake altogether.

2139. Pray do not answer in a hurry; my friend has told you already to be cautious about it: it is a mistake however, it is a mistake altogether I suppose, of Mr. Gilbert's that you made this statement to him?—Yes.

2140. Did you hear it read ?—No.

2141. Listen to this. "I voted for Mr. Gower at "the last Reigate election in 1865. I was living at "Cranley, 20 miles from Reigate. I knew of the "election, and came up to vote. Henry Baines, of "Nutley-lane, told me he had received 5l. from Job "Apted to give me if I would vote for Mr. Gower. "I received the 5l. from Baines before voting. I "paid my expenses to and from Cranley, but it only "amounted to about 10*s.* I was not engaged in any "capacity during the election. This is a true state-"ment" ?—I know nothing at all about it. Nothing of that was read to me.

2142. Is this the first time you have heard of it? —This is the first time I have heard of it.

2143. You cannot make a mistake about it?—Not at all.

2144. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was there not another person of the name of Hinde who was clerk to Gilbert ?—There was no one that I knew but Cotton and Gilbert. This is the first time I ever heard of it at all.

2145. If you did not say what Gilbert and Cotton now aver you did say, what is your version of it ?— Cotton and Gilbert came to my house. I kept a beer house at Norwood. Cotton came and dined, but he never said anything about that.

2146. Do you mean to say that he simply came down, dined, and paid you ?—Yes.

2147. And never said anything about the Reigate election ?—No.

William Monk sworn and examined.

W. Monk.

2148. (The Chief Commissioner.) You live in High-street, Reigate town ?—Yes.

2149. Is that so ?—Yes.

2150. I believe you voted for Mr. Gower at the last election ?—Yes, sir.

2151. Who was it canvassed you about voting for him ?—Job Apted came and asked me which way I was going.

2152. What did you say ?—I told him I had not made my mind up.

2153. And upon that he said what ?—He said he could give me the same he had given me before, and perhaps a little more.

2154. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who said that? —Job Apted.

2155. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you say ?—I said I should not promise, not at present; I did not know who I should vote for.

2156. What would the amount be, the same he gave you before ?—I had 4l.; I was on the committee then.

2157. That was the election of 1863 ?—Yes.

2158. We are now on the last election, 1865; you had some conversation after what you have told us, you had some conversation after that ?—Yes.

2159. And you asked him whether Mr. Gower was going to withdraw ?—He asked me if he was to take me as a promiser, and I said no; he said he believed there would be no election. I asked if Mr. Gower was going to withdraw, and he said no, Mr. Monson; I said you may scratch me off your list altogether, for I saw my name was on the committee.

2160. He told you Mr. Monson was going to withdraw ?—Yes.

2161. He did not withdraw ?—No.

2162. The morning of the election you came intending to vote—you went from home ?—Yes, I came down town.

2163. Who were you going to vote for when you left home ?—I did not know that I should vote at all.

2164. I know that, but, if you did vote, who did you intend to vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

2165. You were rather thinking I believe of voting for Mr. Monson ?—No.

2166. Not at all ?—No.

2167. Did you never intimate at all your intention of voting for Mr. Monson ?—No.

2168. Were you taken to the tap of some house ?— Yes, the "White Hart."

2169. Who took you in?—A person of the name of Edward Nye.

2170. Who did you see when you got into the tap ? —He called for a pot of beer; he sent for that, and we were going to the tap, and then Edward Stevens came in or was in.

2171. Did you know Stevens?—Yes.

2172. What was he?—A painter or glazier.

2173. Before that?—I do not know; I had seen his name on the list.

2174. You were drinking this pint of beer and up came Edwin Stevens; what did he say?—He asked me if I would vote for Mr. Gower; I said I did not know that I should vote at all, as I was going to Redhill. He said I had better go and vote for Mr. Gower. I said I did not think I should, but I should go to Redhill first, at all events.

2175. What were you going to Redhill for?—On business. I was going to have a ride. There were two or three of us going there.

2176. You thought you would ride to Redhill, but if you voted at all you would have to vote here ?— Yes.

2177. But you were minded to go a ride first ?— Yes.

2178. And what after that did Stevens say to you ? —He asked me what I wanted, and I put up my hand so (holding up his hand and showing four fingers and a thumb), and said, "Five."

2179. What did Stevens say upon that?—He said, "Very well, I will give it you out of my own pocket."

2180. What did you say upon that, did you say, "All right, I'll vote"?—No, I said I would give it, but I would go to Redhill first, but he said, "No, you shall "vote first," and I did.

2181. Were you paid ?—No, sir.

2182. Why did you not receive the money first ?— I never thought of having the money; I never asked about it.

2183. Why not? — Because I did not expect I should get it.

2184. You knew Stevens very well ?—Yes.

2185. Did you not think when Stevens made the promise he would perform it ?—He ought to have done so.

2186. Did you vote on the faith of his promise ?— No, because I did not think he had any power to do so.

2187. He said he would pay it out of his own pocket?—Yes, he did.

2188. Did you not vote on the faith of Stevens' promise?—I did give my vote on the faith of Mr. Stevens, but I knew that if I did give my voto it would be that way.

2189. You had not made up your mind to vote at all?—No.

2190. Why did you vote at all? If you do not like to answer my question; I must make my own inference?—I was persuaded at last, and I thought it would not make much difference.

2191. That would be a very good reason for not voting; why did you vote?—I should suppose it was because Mr. Stevens said he would give me the 5l.

2192. Do you recollect going to a meeting at the "Rose and Crown" ?—Yes.

2193. When was that, can you tell me ?—No, I cannot.

2194. How long before the election; I do not wish to know exactly ?—I should think between two and three weeks.

2195. I believe Job Apted asked you to go there to attend it ?—Yes.

2196. Were many people there ?—Yes.

2197. Did you see Apted there ?—Yes.

2198. Did you see Buckland there ?—Yes.

SECOND DAY.

W. Monk.

23 Aug. 1866.

2199. Do you recollect going to the "Bell"?—Yes.

2200. Was that about the same time?—I think it was the next night, but I do not know.

2201. I am quite satisfied. I do not wish to tie you to any particular night, I assure you. Did you notice who was the chairman at the "Bell"?—I think Mr. Rose.

2202. Is that Mr. Alexander Rose?—Yes.

2203. Were many people there?—Yes, a goodish many.

2204. Do you remember going to Peter Legg's at another meeting?—Yes.

2205. Was that the night after?—No, I think not.

2206. Was it two nights?—I think it was more than that.

2207. I believe the meetings were pretty thick about that time?—Yes.

2208. Who was chairman there?—I do not know, but I think a man of the name of Smith.

2209. Did you see Rose there?—Yes.

2210. Alexander Rose?—Yes.

2211. What I want to know is, at these different meetings, at the "Rose and Crown," and the "Bell," and at Peter Legg's beer house, was there plenty to drink?—Yes.

2212. And nothing to pay for it?—I never paid anything for it.

2213. Were you told at the "Rose and Crown" to call for what you wanted?—Yes.

2214. Who told you?—I believe Mr. Apted.

2215. That is Job Apted?—Yes; he took me to the "Rose and Crown," and told me to ask for what I liked.

2216. Mark this: you recollect what passed between you and Stevens about this fiver?—Yes.

2217. Did you at any time serve on Mr. Gower's committee?—No, sir.

2218. Did you at any time serve on Mr. Gower's committee?—No, sir.

2219. Did you canvass anybody for him?—No, sir.

2220. Did you do anything?—No, sir.

2221. Were you a voter in 1863?—Yes.

2222. Who did you vote for in 1863?—For Mr. Gower.

2223. Were you canvassed by the other side?—For Mr. Wilkinson?

2224. Who by? I wish to know who canvassed you?—Mr. Norman Wilkinson.

2225. Mr. Norman Wilkinson canvassed you?—Yes.

2226. Was any one with him?—I think his sister came into my house with him.

2227. Never mind that, was there any gentleman with him?—Not that I know of.

2228. What was your work then?—A gardener.

2229. Did you act at that time on Mr. Wilkinson's committee after you were canvassed?—No, I do not think I ever attended one of them.

2230. Before you voted for Mr. Gower do you not remember attending a committee or two of Mr. Monson's?—Yes.

2230*a*. Of course I mean Wilkinson?—No.

2231. Did you attend a meeting of Mr. Monson's at any election at all?—Yes, at the "White Hart."

2232. In 1863, before you voted, who was it you promised your vote to, the vote which you gave afterwards to Mr. Gower?—Mr. Apted.

2233. Did you do anything like that again (holding up his five fingers)?—No.

2234. Was there no arrangement at all?—I had 4*l.* after the election for what I had done.

2235. What had you done?—I went once or twice with Mr. Apted to Redhill about several jobs and about the committee.

2236. I should like to know what you had done; tell me any job you had done?—I went the night before the election over to the "Wheatsheaf."

2237. That was to attend a meeting?—Yes; Mr. Apted asked me to go with him.

2238. Did you have any drink?—I think I had one drink out of some one's glass who asked me to drink.

2239. Never mind that, I am not so particular as that?—We were not in the house five minutes.

2240. You sometimes went over with Mr. Apted?—Yes.

2241. And came back with him?—Yes.

2242. How did you go?—In a fly.

2243. Tell me any other job you did in 1863?—I do not know that I can. I was on the committee, and I did what they required me to do.

2244. That was all very well, I dare say, but I do not know what they did require you to do. You attended a committee, and went over with Mr. Apted in a fly. I ask what they required you to do; what did you do?—I cannot remember anything particularly more than that. I remember the time, the night before the election, that I went over with Mr. Apted.

2245. In the fly?—Yes.

2246. You do not remember anything else that you did?—No.

2247. When you attended the committee meetings I suppose you had some refreshment?—Yes, to drink, at the committee meetings.

2248. Who paid for it?—I do not know.

2249. Do you recollect in 1863 who was chairman of the committees you attended?—No, sir, I cannot.

2250. Did Mr. Apted ever attend them?—I do not recollect, but I believe he attended.

2251. But you are not sure?—I am not sure.

2252. I suppose there was then as at the last election, a chairman and a deputy chairman too?—Very likely there was, but I do not recollect who they might be.

2253. Did you ever sit as deputy chairman?—No.

2254. Do you remember Stevens ever sitting?—No.

2255. Stevens knew pretty well what you got the time you had the 4*l.*, did he not?—I do not know.

2256. Was it you that said to Stevens, or Stevens to you, "Not less than you had before"?—It was not with Stevens, it was Apted.

2257. Had Apted known what you had before?—Yes.

2258. He paid it?—Yes.

2259. After the election?—Some time after the election.

2260. Did you see anybody else paid in 1863 besides you?—No, sir.

2261. Not anybody?—No.

2262. Did you pay anybody for Apted?—No.

2263. Nor for anybody else?—No.

2264. Was Stevens active in 1863?—I do not recollect what Stevens was.

2265. Can you tell me any person who was active at the committee meetings in 1863?—No, I cannot.

2266. I dare say you can if I remind you?—I might, but I am not certain then that I should.

2267. William Spence was an agent for Mr. Gower in 1863?—Yes, I know him.

2268. Do you not recollect his being an active man in 1863?—No, not on the committee which I was on.

2269. I suppose you recollect Corderoy?—Yes.

2270. In 1863?—Yes.

2271. He did a good bit of business?—I have seen him at meetings.

2272. Have you seen him order things in the house for people?—No, I have not.

2273. What have you seen him doing? Have you seen him take the chair at meetings?—I do not think I have ever seen him take the chair. I have seen him at meetings.

2274. Have you heard him speak?—Not at the elections, that I know of.

2275. Do you remember Buckland being pretty active in 1863?—Well, I never had anything to do with him.

2276. I did not even hint it. Do you remember him active?—I might have seen him.

SECOND DAY.

W. Monk.

23 Aug. 1866.

2277. Do you remember Buckland taking an active part in 1863 ?—I cannot say that I do.

2278. Tell me another thing. At the committee meetings in 1863, were they usually attended by Mr. Gower ?—In 1863 ?

2279. Yes.—No, not usually ; I might have seen him once or twice.

2280. Where at ?—That I cannot say.

2281. You know where the committee meetings were held ?—Yes, sometimes at the " White Hart." I did see Mr. Gower there once ; I might twice.

2282. I do not expect your memory to be quite so good for 1863 as for 1865, but I dare say you remember a good deal. What was Mr. Gower doing there ?—He was attending the meeting, and made some observations on the election and what his prospects might be with regard to it.

2283. And they were favourable of course ?—Yes.

2284. Do you remember anything being said about refreshments ?—No, not while Mr. Gower was there.

2285. Did you ever attend a committee meeting when there were not refreshments to all those present ? —I cannot say that I can to a certainty.

2286. But as far as your recollection goes it was the custom to have refreshments at every committee meeting, mostly something to drink ?—I cannot say with certainty whether we had it at every meeting.

2287. Were the refreshments had while sitting round the table below the chairman and the business was being talked about ?—Yes.

2288. When Mr. Gower was there did he sit at the table ?—There never were any refreshments when Mr. Gower was there.

2289. How was that, was he not in a committee room ?—They never were had in the committee room when Mr. Gower was there, not in 1863.

2290. Where were the refreshments ?—In another room, after the committee was over.

2291. Was that in a room opposite ?—At the " White Hart," in a lower room.

2292. Did you ever see Mr. Gower in that room ? —No, sir.

2293. You say you were canvassed on the election for 1863 by Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

2294. At the election of 1863 did you attend a committee meeting or two for Mr. Wilkinson ?—I do not recollect that I did one.

2295. I wish you would try to recollect ?—I cannot, I have no recollection ; but I do not think I did.

2296. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What is your qualification in the borough ?—I am a working gardener.

2297. That does not give you a vote ?—I have a house.

2298. What is the rent of it ?—10*l.*

2299. Are you only a 10*l.* householder ?—That is all.

2300. (The Chief Commissioner.) What is the rent of your house, is it exactly 10*l.* ?—10*l.*

Adjourned to to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

THIRD DAY.

THIRD DAY.

J. Cheal.

24 Aug. 1866.

Friday, 24th August 1866.

Mr. John Evans was called, but did not appear.

John Cheal affirmed and examined.

2301. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know John Evans, of Reigate-heath ?—Yes, I know John Evans, of Station-road ; I served a summons upon him.

2302. He is on the register as on Reigate-heath ; he is 436 on the register. Did you serve him with a summons to attend here ?—I did.

2303. When did you serve him ? — Last night, about 9 o'clock.

2304. Where was he, at his own house ?—At his own house.

2305. Did you serve him personally ?—Yes.

2306. What did he say to you ? — He could not attend.

2307. (The Chief Commissioner.) Has anybody been sent here by Mr. Evans ?

(Mr. De Rutzen.) James Geare is here.

2308. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you, Geare ?—A cabinet-maker by trade.

2309. What have you to do with Evans ? —He sent me over with a note.

2310. What have you to do with Evans, anything at all ?—No, sir.

2311. Shall you see him ? — Not before to-night.

(The Chief Commissioner.) You had better tell Mr. Evans, if you see him, we will take other means of informing him ourselves, but you had better tell Mr. Evans from me that he had better attend here to-morrow morning exactly at 11 o'clock, or else he will get into difficulty. We will take no excuse that we do not think satisfactory. We have no satisfactory excuse at all for Mr. Evans's absence, and we shall immediately proceed to put in force such powers as we possess, and he will find they are pretty stringent ones, to enforce his attendance here unless he appears punctually by 11 o'clock to-morrow morning. It will be a kindness to him if you will tell him that, and we shall take some means of informing him ourselves.

Mr. Thomas Cotton called, sworn, and examined.

Mr. T. Cotton.

2312. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are on the list of voters ?—Yes.

2313. For Nutley-lane ?—Yes.

2314. How long have you been a voter in this borough ?—Only once ; only last year.

2315. How long have you resided here ?—Seven, eight, or nine years.

2316. But you have only been a voter at this last election ?—Only once.

2317. For whom did you vote at the last election ? —Mr. Monson.

2318. Had you been canvassed before the election? —I had, by both candidates.

2319. Had you been canvassed by any one on behalf of Mr. Gower ?—Not by any one besides the candidates ; Mr. Gower and Mr. Monson both called on me. I promised neither of them.

2320. Do you know a man called Job Apted ?— Yes.

2321. Have you seen him in reference to the election with Mr. Smith ?—Oh ! I have seen him about, sir. I think Mr. Apted was with Mr. Gower that day; I won't be sure.

THIRD DAY.

Mr. T. Cotton.

24 Aug. 1866.

2322. Had Mr. Apted been speaking to you upon the subject of the election?—No.

2323. Has he never spoken to you upon the subject of the election?—Not to my recollection; I never remember anything, only in a jocular sort of way; not to ask me for my vote.

2324. In a jocular sort of way he said you would do them no harm?—I do not know that ever I said it.

2325. Did not Job Apted say it when you told Mr. Gower you had not made up your mind?—I was in the garden; I was very ill; I do not know that Apted said anything; Mr. Gower was very pleasant.

2326. Did he say he would see you again?—Not that I know of. I do not remember his saying so, but he might have done so.

2327. You made a statement with reference to this, and we have your signature?—Not Mr. Apted, sir, I think. I made no statement with reference to Mr. Apted.

2328. Is that your writing?—I might have said something, but I do not know. That is my writing.

2329. I do not wish to press you, as you are ill?—I shall tell you the truth if I can recollect.

2330. Just let me call your attention; did not you see Mr. Joyes also in reference to the election?—Not then.

2331. I did not ask you "then"?—I met Joyes one day in the street.

2332. Did not you see Buckland?—No, sir, not about the election.

2333. Did Mr. Joyes call upon you?—No, I met him in the street; Mr. Joyes never called on me.

2334. Is it true that F. Joyes,—who is F.?—Joyes the grocer.

2335. "Called upon me and said, 'You have not " 'promised your vote'?"—He met me in the street and called to me; that must be a mistake.

2336. And he said, "You have not promised your " vote, Mr. Cotton"?—He did.

2337. And he said, "If you will vote for Mr. " Gower I will do—" what?—He asked me if I had promised my vote. I said no, I had not, I had not been asked by any one; more I had then before; and he said, "Do you want to get any little employment"? And then he said, "If you want to get employment " I can give you a little employment in canvassing " Nutley-lane and other parts, as you are not very " well." I thought at the time I might canvass a few, knowing some of the people, and then I went across to Mr. Smith.

2338. Is not this what he said, "Now if you will " vote for Gower I will give you 5*l.* for five weeks " work"?—Well, he might put it in that way; I do not remember.

2339. Did not he put it in that way?—I really cannot remember, it is so long ago; I did not think anything about it.

2340. Did you go with him to Mr. Smith's?—I did.

2341. Who was Mr. Smith?—The agent.

2342. Was your name put down?—It was, I believe; by the committee, I think.

2343. Did you go into Mr. Smith's?—I did.

2344. Or did you remain out?—I went in and I saw Mr. Smith; he took my name.

2345. Did you remain in the house along with Mr. Smith?—Not five minutes.

2346. You left Joyes behind you?—I did.

2347. And when he came out what did he say?—I did not wait for Mr. Joyes, not then. When I saw Mr. Joyes again he said, "You must do the best you " can," or something like that.

2348. When he came out did he tell you it was all right?—He might have done; I do not recollect the words. I do not know that I saw him just then, for he was some time in Smith's.

2349. When did you make this statement?—This year.

2350. Your memory was better then than it is now?—I dare say it is there. If you ask me the questions I will tell you; I wish to tell you the truth. I wrote to Mr. Smith afterwards.

2351. (The Chief Commissioner.) You had better answer the questions?—I will answer the questions.

2352. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did he say it was all right?—Yes.

2353. What was all right; that you should have the 5*l.*?—No, I do not know what it was. He said my name was down; I suppose he meant that.

2354. Do not you know what you understood him to mean was that you were to have 5*l.* for the work; you went there for the purpose of having your name put down in order to be entitled to get 5*l.* for five weeks' work?—If I canvassed.

2355. Is not that what you went there for?—Yes, if I canvassed.

2356. That was your object in coming there?—Yes, if I canvassed.

2357. When he said it was all right, did not yon understand him to mean you were to have the job?—That I was to be a canvasser?

2358. That you were to have the job?—Yes.

2359. You were then in poor health?—Yes, I was; 18 months I have been in poor health.

2360. And you were to be employed as a canvasser?—As I understood him, canvassing and looking about; anything I saw.

2361. I suppose it was then understood between you that you were to vote for Gower?—Yes.

2362. Who canvassed you afterwards on behalf of Mr. Monson?—Mr. Monson called on me; no one else.

2363. After you had seen Mr. Smith?—After I had seen Mr. Smith, shortly. I do not know as I could tell you exactly whether I had seen Mr. Smith; I do not think I had seen Mr. Smith.

2364. Did you tell Mr. Monson that you had seen Smith, and that your name was put down as canvasser?—No, sir.

2365. Did you tell him nothing at all about your interview with Mr. Smith?—No.

2366. Did you tell him you were to have had 5*l.* for your work?—No.

2367. You told him nothing of the kind?—He was not with me half a minute.

2368. Did you promise him in that half minute?—I did not promise him my vote; not Mr. Monson.

2369. To whom did you promise your vote?—No one at all. I never intended to vote until the last minute, when I came down to the town. I sent a note to that effect to Mr. Smith.

2370. You did not intend to vote at all?—No.

2371. What part of the day did you vote?—Very nearly 1 o'clock.

2372. How came you to vote for Mr. Monson?—I came down with a person named Heather, a voter. He said, "There are three or four of us going in." I said, "I shall not." He said, "Come in with us," and I went in and voted; else I never intended to vote.

2373. Who was the man that took you in?—I went in with Mr. Heather, the carpenter.

2374. Was he agent?—No, he was no agent. He was going in to vote; I believe he was only a voter. He said, "There are three or four of us going in," and he said, "Come in," and I went in with them and voted, or else I should not have gone if I had not seen him.

2375. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Whom did Heather vote for?—He voted for Monson.

2376. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) So you went in, having met three or four persons, not intending to vote, and meeting those men accidentally, they said, "Let us go in and vote for Mr. Monson"?—Yes, they did. I said, "It will help Mr. Monson a " little."

2377. What object had you in helping Mr. Monson?—None at all.

2378. You did not expect anything on the part of Mr. Monson?—I never did, and I never had anything.

2379. You were offered 5*l.* for your work on the part of Mr. Gower?—Yes, if I did anything. I do not know how it is on that paper, but I sent in a note to Mr. Smith to say I was not able to do it, and I should give it up, and I would not promise anybody. I withdrew my name when I found I was not able to do anything.

2380. Do you know a man named Bailey, of Cranley?—Yes, a very old acquaintance of mine. I am better acquainted with him than with any person in Reigate.

2381. An old friend of yours?—Yes.

2382. I am sorry you were not here yesterday; he was examined yesterday?—I was here two or three hours, but I was obliged to go home.

2383. But you were not here when he was examined?—No.

2384. Did you go over to Mr. Bailey, of Cranley, about a month before the election?—Yes.

2385. What did you go over there for?—Only for a holiday; he sent for me to go down and see him, and I went and stopped two or three days.

2386. On his invitation?—Yes.

2387. Was that after Mr. Joyes spoke to you?—Oh! yes, a long time.

2388. Long after Mr. Joyes had offered you the post of canvasser?—I think so.

2389. Did Mr. Joyes know you were acquainted with Bailey?—Yes.

2390. You told him?—No, I did not.

2391. How did he know you were acquainted with Bailey?—From being neighbours; we have been together hundreds of times.

2392. Then he knew that you knew Bailey?—He knew that we lived in the neighbourhood.

2393. Then you went over to Bailey and stayed two or three days with him?—Yes.

2394. You went over and asked him to vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

2395. Do not be so sure?—No, I did not.

2396. I will read what you stated yourself: "About "a month before the election I called upon John "Bailey, of Cranley." Is that the man?—Yes.

2397. "And asked him to vote for Monson. He "said he would not." Did you not ask him to vote for Mr. Monson?—No, I do not think I ever said that to him. If I did it was in common conversation. I was not authorized to ask him.

2398. I did not ask if you were authorized?—If I did, I forget it.

2399. But you did not forget it when you made this statement. I remind you of it?—I am on my oath, and wish to speak the truth.

2400. Did you ask him to vote for Mr. Monson?—If I did, I forget it. I might have asked him such a question.

2401. And did he say he could not, he had promised to vote for Gower?—Well, he might, but I do not know.

2402. Did he say so?—I do not know that he did. I cannot remember. I have gone through so much illness since. I cannot remember.

2403. (The Chief Commissioner.) You had better answer the question?—I no not wish to evade any question.

2404. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did he say he had promised to vote for Gower?—I do not know if I said so, I really might have said it, it might be true, but I really forget at this moment our conversation.

2405. And did he tell you that his brother-in-law, Henry Baines, of Nutley-lane: do you know him?—Yes.

2406. Is he his brother-in-law?—Yes.

2407. Did he tell you that his brother-in-law, Henry Baines, of Nutley-lane, held 5*l.* for him?—For his expenses.

2408. Yes, for his expenses?—Yes, I believe he did say it.

2409. And did he tell you that he had that 5*l.* for Thomas Buckland?—No; I do not know where he got it from. I do not know whether Mr. Bailey told me that, but I think he did too.

2410. You think he did, too?—I really forget.

2411. And did he not tell you that he had received the cash on the morning of the election?—Yes.

2412. From Baines?—He said he had received it; he did not say whether he had received it from Mrs. Baines or Baines.

2413. That is, on the morning of the election?—Yes.

2414. When did he tell you that?—That morning.

2415. On the morning of the election?—Yes.

2416. Then you met him on the morning of the election?—Yes.

2417. Did you meet him before you voted?—Oh, he came to my house and had his breakfast.

2418. He must have had two breakfasts then?—Lunch, he called it, perhaps. He came round about ten.

2419. Did you breakfast with Baines?—No.

2420. You live near him?—Yes. I had got a beefsteak, and Bailey came round about 10 o'clock.

2421. And then it was he told you he had received 5*l.*?—He told me going along towards my house; he told me of it when we were in the lane conversing together.

2422. Did he show you the 5*l.*?—No.

2423. Just recollect?—I do not recollect.

2424. Did he not show you the money?—He might have done.

2425. He knew you had not voted then?—No.

2426. But did he not show you the money he had received at Baines's house?—No, I really do not know, I forget.

2427. What time did he leave you?—He went down the town when he had his breakfast.

2428. He had not voted at that time?—I do not know.

2429. Look at this (passing a paper to witness). Is that your handwriting?—Yes.

2430. I will read this statement for you, and be cautious. You called with Mr. Gilbert upon Mr. Bailey?—Yes.

2431. In January last?—I think it was January.

2432. Now attend. Did you hear Mr. Bailey say: "I voted for Mr. Gower at the late Reigate elec- "tion"?—Yes.

2433. "I was living at Cranley, 20 miles from "Reigate. I knew of the election, and came up to "vote"?—Yes.

2434. "When Baines of Nutley-lane told me he "had received 5*l.* from Job Apted to give me if "I would vote for Gower"?—Yes.

2435. He told you that?—Yes.

2436. "I received 5*l.* from Baines before voting"?—Yes.

2437. He stated that in your presence and Mr. Gilbert's?—I believe those are the same words, I signed my name to them.

2438. "I paid my expenses to and from Cranley, "but it only amounted to about 10*s.*"?—Yes.

2439. "I was not engaged in any capacity during "the election. This is a true statement."?—If my name is there, that is what he said.

2440. Yes, your name is to it?—Then, that is what he said.

2441. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say you wrote to Mr. Smith?—I wrote a little note to Mr. Smith.

2442. Can you recollect what was in that note?—Not exactly, but I can tell you the purport of it.

2443. What was the purport of it?—To Mr. Smith, who took my name down as to vote for Mr. Gower, to erase my name from his book, as I did not think I should vote at all.

2444. Had you before that been promised the 5*l.*?—Yes, I told him I was not able to do anything; that was the reason.

2445. Was not able to work?—Was not able to do anything.

THIRD DAY.

Mr. T. Cotton.

24 Aug. 1866.

2446. Did you want more than 5*l.* ?—No, I never asked for that. I think Mr. Joyes did it out of kindness to me, knowing I was ill, that if I could canvass I might earn a sovereign as well as anybody else. I believe Mr. Joyes did it more out of kindness than anything else.

2447. You think Mr. Joyes did it out of kindness to you because you were ill, and he had known you a long time?—Yes; and as he knew that I knew a great many electors, and was acquainted with them, he thought I might get amongst them. I really think he did it out of pure kindness to me; and when I found I could not do it I sent a note to Mr. Smith to erase my name.

Mr. E. Rose.

Mr. EPHRAIM ROSE affirmed.

2448. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A carpenter and joiner.

2449. Are you concerned a great deal with the Asylum?—I have been for these last 11 years.

2450. During the election; you were connected with the Asylum during that time, and were canvassing in the election of 1865?—Yes, I was.

2451. I believe you promised yourself for Mr. Monson?—In 1865?

2452. Yes, I am speaking of 1865 at present?—Yes.

2453. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

2454. I suppose you voted for him eventually?—Yes, I did.

2455. Did you pay different sums of money to persons for him?—Yes, I did.

2456. Who did you receive the money from that you paid?—From Mr. Nicholls.

2457. What Mr. Nicholls?—James Nicholls.

2458. Are you able to tell us whether you received it in small sums at different times or all at once in one lump?—In small sums at different times.

2459. Are you able to tell us what you received altogether?—I should think about 16*l.* to 18*l.* or 20*l.*; I could not say exactly.

2460. I do not want to trouble you to tell us exactly?—Well, it might be from 16*l.* to 20*l.*

2461. Did you send him in an account of the payments you made out of the money?—I believe I gave Mr. Nicholls an account at the close of it. It was in this way,—as I wanted it, and what I wanted it for at the time I drew it.

2462. Did you subsequently send in any account of it, as a whole statement?—No, I did not.

2463. But when you wanted it you went to Mr. Nicholls and said I should like to have, how much, 5*l.*?—That was the outside that I drew at any time.

2464. Did you tell him what for?—Yes.

2465. Did you say to pay particular persons?—Not to pay to particular persons, I never paid 5*l.*

2466. No, you may not have paid 5*l.* to one person, but you may have divided 5*l.* between two persons. When you went to Mr. Nicholls what did you say to get the money?—Well, for two persons?

2467. No. What did you say to Mr. Nicholls when you went to get any money?—I went and asked for money for certain parties.

2468. Mentioning the parties' names?—Nice and Turner.

2469. Did you go on any occasion and say, "I want "money for Nice and Turner"?—Yes, if you will allow me.

2470. Answer the question first, and then you may state anything that you like in explanation, and we shall be much obliged to you. Do you recollect asking for money for any persons?—I asked for money to go and see any persons that were at a distance, to pay my expenses in going to see them and to pay their expenses.

2471. Just tell me the names of persons you gave money to for expenses?—I paid money to three different persons; to Turner, Nice, and Mewett. I had a long journey to find Mewett.

2472. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Any to Payne?—No.

2473. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me the names of other persons to whom you paid money?—None at all.

2477. You did not pay the whole sum, between 16*l.* and 20*l.*, to those three persons?—There was myself, besides various expenses.

2475. The expenses were your expenses?—The expenses were my expenses.

2476. Are you able to tell me how much was paid to Nice?—50*s.*

2477. How much to Turner?—50*s.*

2478. How much did you pay Mewett?—I will not be sure whether it was 50*s.* or 2*l.*

2479. We will take it at 50*s.* That is 7*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

2480. The residue. 8*l.* 10*s.*, taking it at the lowest amount 16*l.*, would be what you kept for yourself and expenses?—Yes, during the whole of the election possibly I did.

2481. How did you begin your work? who applied to you to do it?—I came down, and I was canvassed by both parties.

2482. By whom?—By Mr. Monson and Mr. Gower too. I did not candidly promise either of them.

2483. After you had been canvassed by them were you sent for, or did you volunteer to come down to the town yourself?—I volunteered to come down to the town.

2484. Who did you see when you came down?—Nicholls. I went to the "White Hart."

2485. You went to him. Tell us what passed between you and him; try and remember as accurately as you can about this part of it?—I came here to-day to give you the truth, and I will give it as nearly as I can tell you it. I went and saw Mr. Nicholls, and asked him if he would place me on Mr. Monson's committee; he said, certainly he would.

2486. In what way?—As a canvasser; I wished to come on to go to work, as I had been on the former election.

2487. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You had been on the former election?—Yes. I wanted to go to work; I said, I supposed I should be paid in a reasonable way, provided I canvassed and did all that I could for the return of Mr. Monson. He said, "Yes, "anything reasonable in the shape of canvassing and "loss of time." I said, "Of course I cannot lose my "time for nothing, and my business."

2488. He said yes?—Yes; he would pay me reasonably for my time.

2489. Was any sum mentioned?—None at all.

2490. Do you remember his saying you should be paid like the others?—No, there was nothing mentioned.

2491. Then you wanted to work?—I wanted to work.

2492. I suppose soon after that in the course of your work, after that it was, that you paid Turner and Nice, and also Mewett?—Yes.

2493. Try and recollect and see whether you are quite sure that after you began to work you did not pay any more?—I did not pay any more.

2494. Did you promise any more?—No.

2495. Do you know a man named James Payne?—Perfectly well.

2496. He is a stone-mason living in Brighton-road, Warwick-road?—Yes.

2497. Did you go to him?—I do not know that I talked to him about his vote.

2498. Did you see him in the street afterwards?—I do not know that I had any conversation with him respecting his vote.

2499. Do you not recollect?—No.

2500. Did you pay him 50*s.*?—No.

2501. Not pay him?—No.

2502. You are quite sure of that?—Quite sure.

2503. I suppose you would recollect it if you had done so?—Yes.

2504. You are quite sure you did not?—I paid no other men.

2505. I want to draw your memory to it generally; it may have escaped your memory, and I am now going into particulars in order to help your memory. I ask you, Are you quite sure you did not pay Payne anything?—I am quite positive I did not pay Payne 50*s*., or anybody else but Turner and Nice.

2506. It is only fair to you to ask the question, so don't be angry?—Not in the least.

2507. Do you remember saying either to Nice or to Turner, or to Mewett, supposing you paid them 50*s*.—supposing 50*s*. was the sum you paid to Mewett; never mind whether it was 50*s*. or 2*l*.—do you remember saying that if they promised, or if anybody had promised Mr. Gower already, that they should have 50*s*. more than they had if they voted for Mr. Monson?—I never said any such thing.

2508. You understand me?—Perfectly well.

2509. My question is something to this effect: "Now if you will vote for Mr. Monson you shall have "50*s*., and if you are Mr. Gower's man, and promise "Mr. Monson, you shall have 50*s*. more"?—I never made any such allusion, not to any one of them.

2510. Not to any one of them; but did you make it to any one at all?—Not to any one.

2511. I distinctly understand you to say that, after paying 7*l*. 10*s*. among these three men, the residue you retained for yourself?—I believe I did.

2512. If you did, you paid it to nobody else?—I had expenses.

2513. I am not grumbling as to the amount at all, but I want to get at what you kept for yourself?—I kept it all.

2514. I wish to ask you whether you paid any portion of the residue to some other person, or whether you retained it yourself?—I kept it myself.

2515. I only want a distinct answer?—Yes.

2516. Now I must ask you this if you please; you know Nice very well; he works at the Asylum?—I know him perfectly well.

2517. He came up to the Asylum one day, when you paid him the 50*s*.?—That was at the Asylum.

2518. He was at the Asylum when you paid him the 50*s*.?—Yes.

2519. Just tell me what passed?—I will tell you exactly. I have a great interest in telling you that.

2520. Then please to tell us?—It has been a great deal of bore to the people of this place.

2521. Tell us correctly and shortly, and we will judge what the effect of that was. Did you go to the Asylum?—Yes.

2522. Did you go to him at the Asylum, or did he come to you?—He did not come to me.

2523. Did you go to him?—No.

2524. Well, tell us your story?—I will. If you will allow me, I will make a statement, and after that you may ask me questions in any way you like. The first I ever knew of Nice receiving this was the fore part of the week, about Monday or Tuesday. There was a committee at the "White Hart." I had not, previous to that, asked Nice or Turner, either of them, for their votes, neither of them.

2525. (The Chief Commissioner.) Very well, go on.

(The Witness.) During the committee meeting that was held at the "White Hart" some one came in and said that Nice wanted Mr. Nicholls. Nicholls came across to me and said, "Nice from the Asylum has "come over to see me, what shall I do with him?" I said, "I do not know, I am sure, but put him on "work canvassing." "He has canvassed before very "well," he said, and I left him to do that, but what arrangement there was between the two I do not know. In a short time Mr. Nicholls returned, and after the committee broke up Mr. Nicholls came to me and said, "Nice has come to the committee room." I said, "Is he going to be on the committee?" and he said, "I have nothing to do with his coming on "the committee, not the least." He said nothing to me, and we left the committee room. I proceeded across to the "Grapes," and Nice came over and followed me to it. On going home we went together, he and his brother-in-law, who took him home at the same time that I went home. That was on the Monday or Tuesday in the fore part of the week. He said, during our walk, he thought he would go on to Mr. Monson's committee. Mr. Nicholls said he would satisfy him for what he did if he went to work for him, and he had till the following Friday to make up his mind. On the following Friday it was a wet day, and he asked me whether I was going to Reigate that night, and as I said I was, he said, "I wish you to ask Mr. Nicholls for 50*s*. for me; he "will know what it means." He said, "I feel in-"clined to work for Mr. Monson's party,"—I said, "Very well,"—"and I will speak to Mr. Nicholls "about Turner going to work for Mr. Monson's party "if you wish it." I went down to Reigate and said to Mr. Nicholls, "There is some agreement between "you and Nice, for him to come to work." He said "Yes." I said, "Did you say you would advance "the 50*s*. if he worked upon the election"? and he said, "I did say so;" and I said, "He has converted "Turner to his mind, who would work in the same "way as I do," and he said, "You will advance him "that sum," and I went on the Saturday morning to go to his shop, and put down the 50*s*. on the table and said, "There is the 50*s*. that you asked Mr. "Nicholls for."

2526. (The Chief Commissioner.) That you asked Mr. Nicholls for?

(The Witness.) He said, "Turner will work in "the same way as you do," and he said it was all right, and I gave him the 50*s*. I know nothing more of any agreement between Nicholls and Nice than you do. I knew nothing till I had a note from Mr. Nicholls to say that Nice had written to Mr. Monson to say he wanted to see him, but what his object was I cannot say.

2527. (The Chief Commissioner.) I think I can.

(The Witness.) I do not know, at any rate. Mr. Nicholls put it upon me, and of course the thing was put on my back at once, that I had been bribing those two, and I believe it has gone to the inhabitants that I bribed them, and I have had no opportunity of clearing myself until the present moment.

2528. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You consider you have cleared yourself now?—Yes; I have spoken the truth.

2529. (The Chief Commissioner.) Well, that is the very best way to clear yourself, by telling the truth.

(The Witness.) I have always been desirous to state that and clear myself of this, for I have borne the scandal long enough.

2530. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me this?

(The Witness.) Yes, anything that is true.

2531. You paid Turner the same day?—Yes, the same day and the same hour.

2532. Now money was pretty plentiful this last election?—No, not over plentiful; not very I believe.

2533. I am speaking of 1865?—Yes, work was very plentiful.

2534. But money was not so plentiful?—No, there was no great abundance.

2535. Was it more light than it was in the 1863 election?—I did not receive great pay in 1863; I worked very hard in 1863.

2536. And you did not receive great pay in 1863?—No.

2537. Were you on the committee in 1863?—Yes, for Mr. Wilkinson.

2538. What I want to know is, did you canvass more men, do you think, in 1863?—I do not know that I canvassed anybody in 1863. I did not canvass anybody. I was elected chairman on the Mead-vale committee, but I do not know that I canvassed a single individual.

2539. Was the money received in 1863 more or less than in 1865?—I did not receive anything until after the election; there was no agreement about anything.

2540. Well, was it about the same?—About the same.

2541. So that you had about 20*l.*?—Oh no, I did not receive 20*l.* for that election.

2542. Not for your vote; I do not mean that?—Neither do I.

2543. You had been working hard?—Yes, for less money.

2544. This last election you received for party purposes so much for yourself, and you paid so much money; we have had 7*l.* 10*s.*, and the residue you say you think you kept for yourself; I am not grumbling at that now?—Oh no.

2545. What did you receive for your own services in 1863? was it about the same or more?—I think about 10*l.* for seven weeks' election.

2546. Was it part of your duty to pay persons in 1863?—None whatever.

2547. Did you receive any money to hand over to other agents in 1863?—Not a single shilling.

2548. Who paid away the money in 1863?—I believe there was as little spent as possible.

2549. Very likely; but somebody must have paid it?—I paid none; there was much too little.

2550. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That observation would apply also to 1865; each party would probably pay as little as he could.

(The Witness.) After the election was over in 1863, which was Mr. Wilkinson's election, Mr. James sent for me.

2551. (The Chief Commissioner.) What Mr. James?—Albert James. He sent for me to the "Swan" and gave me a list of men, and he wished I would hand over to them 10*s.* for two days' work; it was 10*s.* a man, and some were under 10*s.*

2552. Do you know the services that these men had performed?—I do not know more than that they were about sticking up bills and such like things in a general way.

2553. Are you able to inform me whether they were voters all of them?—Some of them were, and some were not.

2554. 10*s.* apiece to about 20 men?—To about 30 or 40 men.

2555. Then perhaps you received 20*l.* for them?—Yes.

2556. Of course you must not suppose I want to tie you to a pound or two?—Oh no.

2557. But 20*l.*, there will be no mistake about that at all?—Oh no.

2558. You did hand it over I suppose?—I handed it over and got the signatures of each man, and returned the list back to Mr. James again.

2559. Was Mr. James the agent for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

2560. Where was your committee room in 1863 to which you were chairman?—Mazden's was the chief place where I used to resort to a room, but there was no particular room; I do not know whether it was the principal room or not.

2561. You went into the house?—Yes.

2562. Was that where your committee generally met?—Yes.

2563. Is it a refreshment house?—Yes.

2564. A beer house?—A licensed house, a public house.

2565. I suppose usually the committee sat every night?—Well, perhaps four nights a week.

2566. Did it meet there and here also?—I do not know.

2567. You were only chairman there?—I was only chairman there; but I used to attend meetings at Reigate.

2568. Of course you would. I suppose at Mazden's public house there were refreshments?—At their own expense.

2569. I have not come to that yet. There were refreshments provided for the committee men?—No.

2570. Did the committee men take refreshments at the committee meetings?—At their own expense.

2571. Did they take refreshments?—Yes, they did.

2572. Who paid for the refreshments?—They each paid for themselves.

2573. Where did they pay for them?—They paid for them as they were brought in.

2574. Did they pay 1*s.* a head, and call for a glass of anything they liked, or how was it done?—Each man paid for himself, and called for what he pleased.

2575. Paid for it as it was brought to him?—Yes.

2576. Were the meetings some nights larger than others?—Yes.

2577. You usually had a glass of something?—Very frequently.

2578. For the good of the house?—For the good of myself.

2579. Who paid for that?—I did.

2580. Always?—Yes, some of our committee men had spoken about having refreshments, and I mentioned it to Mr. James, and Mr. James said, "Not 1*s.* will I "pay,not 1*s.* for refreshments will I give."

2581. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was when you were at work?—Yes, he said not 1*s.* will I give; Mr. Wilkinson is determined, he will not give anything, he would not pay 1*s.*

2582. (The Chief Commissioner.) You must have as a committee man a very good recollection of this. I understand you to say, so far as you were present and able to notice, all refreshments had to be paid for by the persons who called for them; you pledge yourself to that?—I pledge myself to that.

2583. Was Mr. Wilkinson in the habit of attending these committee meetings at Mazden's?—No.

2584. Did he ever attend?—I only saw him once, when he came to address the constituency at Mazden's.

2585. Only once?—Only once.

2586. Now, on that occasion in 1863 had you anything to do with Nice?—Not in the least.

2587. Did you know him at that time?—Perfectly well.

2588. Which way did he vote at the election?—He voted for Wilkinson, I believe.

2589. So he was on your side?—He was, but he was not on our committee.

2590. Did you know Turner at that time?—I knew him, but he had no vote at that time.

2591. Did you know Page at that time?—Perfectly well.

2592. Which way did he vote at the election of 1863?—I am not sure, but I think he voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

2593. If you do not remember for whom he gave his vote at that time, you perhaps can remember on which side he appeared to be?—I do not know that I can; I know there was as little communication between me and Nice and Payne as there was with any one of the constituency—there was no communication at all.

2594. How was that?—Of course I thought they were on Mr. Wilkinson's side, and I did not take any trouble.

2595. You did not take any trouble in canvassing them?—Not in the least.

2596. In 1863 did you give any receipt for the money you received, the 10*l.*?—The 10*l.* for myself?

2597. Yes?—I believe that I did.

2598. That would be given to Mr. James?—Yes, he sent for me some days after the election was over and said, "I wish to make you a remuneration for your "services." I will not be sure whether it was 10*l.* or 12*l.*, but I believe it was 10*l.*

2599. I have not the least objection to take it as you prefer it. You think in the course of business you handed him over a receipt for it?—I am positive I did.

2600. You are positive you did?—Yes.

2601. For what you received?—I believe I did.

2602. Mr. Wilkinson had stood before, you know, in 1859?—Yes.

2603. The Honourable Mr. Monson, afterwards Lord Monson, was opposed to him?—Yes.

2604. You were here then?—Yes.

2605. Which side were you on then?—I do not think I voted at all; I took no interest at all, only in the last two elections.

2606. I suppose you will recollect whether you voted or not?—I do not think I had a vote at that time.

2607. Then you cannot give us much information about the election of 1859?—None at all; I would give it with great pleasure if I could.

2608. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I did not want to anticipate Mr. Allen, but tell me, were you at the "Grapes"?—At the "Grapes"?

2609. After Nice had gone to the "White Hart" you went back with him to the "Grapes"?—Yes.

2610. Were you at the "Grapes" in the evening before you went to the "White Hart"?—No, at least when I say that I believe I called in to ask what time the meeting commenced at the "White Hart."

2611. What time did you call in at the "Grapes"?—About a quarter or ten minutes to 8, the committee sat at 8.

2612. When you were at the "Grapes" did you see Nice there?—No, I did not.

2613. In what room were you when you were there?—I was not in any room at the "Grapes."

2614. You were in neither room?—I was in neither room at the "Grapes."

2615. You were in neither room?—I was in neither room; I simply went to the bar.

2616. Did you go to the "White Hart" and see Nice, and was that the first time you saw him?—No.

2617. You told us you saw him at the "White Hart"?—I saw him come into the committee room; that was the first time I ever met him.

2618. At what time was it you saw him come into the committee room at the "White Hart"?—I should think it was ten minutes or a quarter of an hour before the committee broke up.

2619. That would be about 9 o'clock?—Yes.

2620. Did he appear sober?—I did not particularly notice, but he might have been a little bit on the reel you might call it.

2621. Did you go then from the "White Hart" to the "Grapes"?—I went to the "Grapes" to have some refreshment for myself.

2622. Did Nice go into the "Grapes" again?—He did.

2623. Was it when you were going from the "White Hart" to the "Grapes" that you found that Nice was rather in liquor?—Yes.

2624. Did you go into any room at the "Grapes"?—I believe we did.

2625. Did Nice go with you?—He did not go with me; he walked with his brother-in-law.

2626. You know what I mean, did he go into the room?—He did go in.

2627. How long did he remain in the room before you came out and took him home?—I cannot say positively, but possibly half an hour.

2628. Was there any light in the room?—Yes, of course, we were not in the dark at that time of night.

2629. How many people were there in the room, half a dozen or a dozen?—I could not say, there might be more.

2630. Whilst Nice was there, and whilst you were there on that occasion, was there not conversation going on with regard to money matters and bribery?—Not in the least.

2631. Will you swear that?—Yes, now if you like.

2632. I understand you to do it now?—I do.

2633. I do not want you to swear it 12 months hence. I understand you no money was paid or spoken of?—No money was spoken of; I simply went into the room to get a glass.

2634. And no money was paid?—No.

2635. No money paid or spoken of?—No.

2636. Did you attend the committee meetings of Mr. Monson's party?—Very little.

2637. Did you ever see Mr. Monson there?—I believe I did on this occasion, on this occasion, the very night I think.

2638. Did you ever report in Mr. Monson's presence these communications with regard to the 50*s.* as to Turner and Nice?—No.

2639. Did you only report them to Mr. Nicholls?—I only reported them to Mr. Nicholls.

2640. Are those the only two cases of money being paid on the part of Mr. Monson's party that you know of?—And to Mr. Mewett.

2641. That makes three, so far as you were concerned?—So far I was concerned.

2642. But there were other monies paid to other parties besides those three, I do not care by whom; I mean on the part of Mr. Monson?—No.

2643. Will you swear that you have not heard of other monies paid to other parties but those three?—Yes.

2644. Do you believe now that you are the only person on the side of Mr. Monson's party who ever paid any money for any vote on this last election?—I could not swear to that.

2645. Now I am dropping you aside and asking you about your knowledge of your own party?—You ask me what I think of it. I should not think other persons would work for nothing.

2646. Were there other persons working for Mr. Monson besides yourself?—Yes, but I have no knowledge of any being paid.

2647. You might have heard it?—I have not heard of it.

2648. We have heard a great deal from the other side that persons were to be paid as they were paid before?—Yes.

2649. Now in your canvassing did you never promise parties that they were to be paid as they were paid before?—No.

2650. Did you ever canvass more than these three?—Yes, but I never offered any money.

2651. Tell us any other men whom you canvassed, any one single man whom you canvassed in the class of life as yourself, Nice and Turner, and so on?—I might speak to two or three; well, I will speak to Church as a man I believe I spoke to about that time.

2652. What is he?—A grocer. I understood he was engaged for Gower, and so I did not trouble him any more, but I believe I did speak to him.

2653. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You believe you did?—Yes.

2654. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you ever offer him any money?—No.

2655. How came you to offer the money only to those three?—The others had gone the other way, and I did not wish to tempt them.

2656. Cannot you give me the name of any other person that you canvassed?—No, I do know that I can.

2657. Were those the only persons that you canvassed?—Well, I do not know of anybody else; if I did I would tell you with great pleasure.

2658. You were engaged to work; were these the only people you canvassed for the sum of money you received from Mr. Nicholls?—I might have canvassed more, but I do not recollect.

2659. You know very well whether you do or not?—I do not recollect any individual, or I would give his name with the greatest pleasure; that is the candid truth.

2660. Do not consider my pleasure?—I am come here to speak the truth.

2661. But, tell me, had you not heard of it?—I heard nothing. Every word I have spoken to you is the truth to-day; and if I knew of anything else I should be most happy to give it you.

2662. Do you mean to say that Church and these other three men are the only ones you canvassed?—I cannot call to mind any others; I would hold nothing from you in any way.

THIRD DAY.

Mr. E. Rose.

24 Aug. 1866.

2663. You did something else for your money?—I attended various meetings during the elections.

2664. What class of meetings?—Public meetings in the hall, where the candidates would have the pleasure of meeting each other.

2665. Did you make any charge for attending those meetings?—I attended those meetings and I must have thought I deserved something for losing my business, and did not suppose any one else would not have done the same.

2666. What is your business?—Carpenter and joiner.

2667. Were these meetings held in the evening?—Yes.

2668. After your work was done?—Yes, but I may go home in the evening and do something.

2669. Smoke your pipe I suppose?—Do my work or smoke my pipe, whichever I like.

2670. Were these meetings numerously attended?—Yes.

2671. Would there be 200 or 300 or 400 people?—Yes.

2672. Did you think all the rest of the 400 people who attended those meetings expected to be paid?—I do not know what they expected, but I expected to be paid.

2673. Then you voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

2674. I suppose you consider that giving a conscientious vote?—Certainly.

2675. Voting on principle?—Yes. I worked hard during the whole of the election.

2676. Yes, you have described your work, and it is very hard?—I do not expect you would have worked so many nights for that.

2677. You had better be a little quiet. How many of these public meetings did you attend?—Perhaps half a dozen.

2678. All in the evening?—No, at this hall at various times.

2679. Did you attend any private meetings?—I do not know that I did besides committee meetings.

2680. Where was it you attended principally?—At the "White Hart." I do not know that Mr. Monson had any other place.

2681. Did you pay for what you had there?—I had but very little refreshment.

2682. That is no answer to my question. Did you pay for that very little?—I did not.

2683. Supposing you had a biscuit, did you pay for that?—I did not have a biscuit, I had refreshment as regards drink.

2684. What was your drink there?—A glass of brandy and water.

2685. Did you pay for it?—No.

2686. Who did?—I do not know.

2687. To whose account did you put it?—I did not put it to anybody's account.

2688. Where did you get it?—In a small room opposite the committee room. I had a glass of brandy and water several times.

2689. Who did you speak to?—The waiter came in.

2690. Was this a general committee meeting?—Yes.

2691. Did the others have brandy?—The others had drink.

2692. Did you see any pay for it?—I have seen some of them pay for it, but I could not answer for that.

2693. As far as regards yourself, you never paid?—No.

2694. Was that part of your work, attending at the committee and drinking brandy and water?—Yes, I was not particular about that; I can drink a glass of brandy and water as well as anybody else.

2695. At other persons' expense?—Yes.

2696. Did you attend at other houses?—I may have.

2697. I see by the return of the election expenses at the "White Hart" there is a very large sum charged for brandy charged on the part of Mr. Monson?—I had not a considerable deal of brandy and water, though I am not a teetotaller; but I can drink a glass of brandy and water.

2698. Did you have a glass when you were there?—I might.

2699. Did you?—Yes.

2700. Did you smoke?—No.

2701. You only had the brandy and water?—Yes.

2702. Did you attend other committee meetings besides those at the "White Hart"?—No.

2703. Only at the "White Hart"?—Only at the "White Hart."

2704. How many did you attend at the "White Hart"?—Perhaps half a dozen.

2705. Not more?—Not more.

2706. Now we have got the extent of your work; six committee meetings, three or four public meetings, and canvassing four persons?—Yes; and travelling expenses to Cranley.

2707. How much did you pay for your expenses at Cranley?—I had to go to Guildford to find the individual.

2708. You went there by train?—Yes.

2709. Second class, I suppose?—Yes; but afterwards I had to hire.

2710. How far was it to hire?—I had to hire from Guildford to Cranley, little more than 20 miles. I called at every station on the line to find the man I went in search of.

2711. How far on the journey did you go by the train?—From Guildford to Reigate.

2712. Then from Guildford did you post?—Yes.

2713. In what way?—A horse and cart.

2714. What did you pay for the horse and cart?—18*s.*

2715. Was that the most substantial charge you had against Mr. Monson?—Yes. I was gone the better part of two days. I could not come home the same night.

2716. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I have one question to ask you: you say you received 10*l.* or 12*l.* on the former election?—Yes.

2717. You did not canvass on that election at all? No; I was merely a chairman.

2718. Chairman of the committee?—Yes, for seven weeks.

2719. How many chairmen on that election?—There was a chairman and ex-chairman for the meeting. Mr. Penfold acted as the chairman for the meeting.

2720. There were several chairmen for different districts I suppose?—Yes.

2721. Were they all paid?—I do not know.

2722. I thought you charged; do not you think that they would charge?—Of course I did not suppose that they would work for nothing, more than myself.

(The witness.) Is that all?

(The Chief Commissioner.) At present.

The witness withdrew.

J. Payne.

JAMES PAYNE sworn and examined.

2723. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you a shoemaker?—Yes.

2724. And you live at the Brighton-road, Warwick-town?—Yes.

2725. Previous to the last election, I mean the election of 1865, were you canvassed to vote?—Yes.

2726. By whom?—By Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith.

2727. Together?—Yes, together.

2728. Were you canvassed on the other side?—Yes, sir.

2729. By whom?—By Mr. Richardson and Mr. Monson.

2730. Who canvassed you first, do you recollect ?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith.

2731. Did you promise them then ?—Not the first time.

2782. Did you promise Mr. Monson and Mr. Richardson ?—No, not the first time ; I had made my promise to Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith the second time they called.

2733. In the meantime had you promised Mr. Monson ?—No.

2734. After you had made your promise Mr. Monson called a second time on you ?—No.

2735. Who called for him ?—Not any one that I recollect.

2736. Were you only canvassed once for Mr. Monson ?—Only once. I told Mr. Smith and Mr. Richardson I had promised myself for Mr. Gower, and they said "Very well, we do not wish to persuade "you to alter your mind."

2737. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who told you ? Mr. Monson and Mr. Richardson.

2738. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you anything to do with the Asylum ?—

2739. When Mr. Monson called on you to canvass you who was with him ?—Mr. Gibson Richardson.

2740. Was Mr. Nicholls with him ?—No.

2741. Did you see Mr. Nicholls about your vote ?—Not at all.

2742. Did you not do work at the Asylum ?—Yes.

2743. I suppose you know Mr. Rose very well ?—Yes.

2744. Did you have some conversation with him about the election ?—I think I had some conversation, but nothing of any importance at all.

2745. That was previous to the election ?—That was previous to the election.

2746. Do you recollect whether you told Rose you had promised Mr. Gower ?—I might have done so, but I do not recollect that I did.

2747. And you did eventually vote ?—For Mr. Gower.

2748. Had you been looked upon as a person expected to vote for Mr. Monson ?—Not that I know of ; I had given no reason at all to anyone, not to my knowledge.

2749. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) But, as you said on the canvass, you told Mr. Monson you had promised ?—I said I had promised my vote to Mr. Gower, and they said at once, as gentlemen would do on such occasions, they did not wish me to alter my mind.

2750. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you go on Mr. Gower's committee ?—When Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith came to me they said they had come to canvass my vote, and I think Mr. Gower said he should like me to go on his committee ; I said I would consider the matter and let him know.

2751. That is not very much ; did you go on the committee ?—No.

2752. Did you give your name ?—I gave my name in.

2753. That is the shorter cut to the answer. Was it put down on the committee ?—I saw Mr. Rose writing, and I believe it was put down on the committee. I went with the intention, believing—

2754. That your name would be put down as a committee man ?—Yes.

2755. Were you to be paid for what duties you were to perform ?—I had no agreement at all.

2756. Were you to be paid for whatever services you performed, whatever they might be ?—I had no agreement with Mr. Gower or Mr. Smith, or any one else. I had understood that those who gave up their time were to be properly paid, liberally paid, and with that understanding, and that Mr. Gower intended to carry on his election in a proper way, leaving public houses altogether, I considered I was justified in giving up my time for his interest.

2757. I am coming to your services afterwards. Were you to be paid ? that is my question, and a very plain one ?—I say in reply, I had no promise.

2758. I did not say you had. Did you understand you were to be paid, or did you expect to be paid for that ?—I did not know.

2759. I did not ask you that ; do attend to my question. I shall be sure to get it out at last, and therefore it is much better to have it at first ; did you understand your services were to be paid for, you say you did not know, because you had no agreement, but did you expect they would be paid for ?—I expected in this way, as I understood it was legal to pay those on the committee, on this ground I expected, with others, that I should receive a fair remuneration.

2760. That is a long answer to a very plain question, and it means you did ?—Yes.

2761. The fairness of it is that with which we have nothing to do, pray do not let us have any more speeches ; why did you expect you would be paid for it, who told you ?—I had heard it from rumour.

2762. Had the agents of Mr. Gower told you that you would be paid for your services ?—No, sir.

2763. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Or might expect to be paid ?—Not one of them.

2764. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do pray help us; you are not at all making a clean breast of it. We shall be sure to extract it at last, and it is so much better you should tell us at first ; had you heard it from any person ?—I had heard it from one person.

2765. Tell us who that person was ?—Mr. Turner had said they would be properly paid.

2766. Who is Mr. Turner ?—The name you have had before.

2767. He is an engineer ?—He is working at the Asylum.

2768. Who did Mr. Turner vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

2769. You heard Mr. Rose examined just now ?—Yes.

2770. He spoke of a person named Turner ?—Yes.

2771. Is he the same person you mean ?—He is.

2772. Well, you heard from Mr. Turner those persons who went for Mr. Gower would be paid for their services ?—Yes.

2773. Who else did you hear it from ?—Mr. Francis.

2774. And who else ?—I do not recollect any one else.

2775. Did you know Mr. Mewett ?—No.

2776. You do not know him ?—No.

2777. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) M, e, w, e, tt, that is the spelling ?—I do not know him.

2778. Or any one like that spelling ?—No.

2779. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you, previously to going on Mr. Gower's committee, sent in your name as on Mr. Monson's committee ?—No, sir.

2780. Nothing of that kind ?—Nothing of that kind.

2781. Did you expect to see your name on Mr. Monson's committee ?—No.

2782. And it did not appear as far as you know ?—Not that I am aware of.

2783. You had been canvassed for him ?—Yes.

2784. Did you hear the services performed for Mr. Monson would be paid for ?—I had merely understood the same way as the others.

2785. As you have remembered the names of Turner and Francis as the persons from whom you understood it as to Mr. Gower, who did you hear that from ?—I do not recollect.

2786. But you had heard it ?—I had heard so.

2787. Were you willing to have performed services for Mr. Monson if you could have got fair remuneration for them ?—No.

2788. I believe his politics were much the same as those of Mr. Gower ?—I believe Mr. Gower was the most proper person.

2789. I wish you would do me the favour to answer my question; as far as you knew their politics were all the same ?—I believe there was not much difference.

THIRD DAY.
J. Payne.
24 Aug. 1866.

2790. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you understand their politics ?—Yes.

2791. (The Chief Commissioner.) As you believe their politics were much the same, were you not prepared to perform services for Mr. Monson provided they were properly paid for ?—No.

2792. You did receive some money ?—Yes.

2793. Who paid it you ?—Mr. Smith.

2794. Did you receive anything from the other side, that of Mr. Monson ?—Not a farthing.

2795. Did you not receive 50*s.* ?—No.

2796. Not 50*s.* ?—No.

2797. Were you offered 50*s.* ?—No.

2798. I will ask you this question, Did you ever hear that you were offered 50*s.* ?—No.

2799. You never heard it ?—No.

2800. This is the first time ?—The first time.

2801. Perhaps you are right. Do you know Nice ?—Yes.

2802. Did you not tell Nice you had been paid 50*s.* ?—No, sir, not to my recollection.

2803. You did talk to Nice about Mr. Monson's committee ?—Not that I know of.

2804. Nice and you both work at the Asylum ?—Yes.

2805. You have had conversations with him about the elections, I suppose ?—Yes, we had some conversation.

2806. Do you not recollect telling Nice you had been given 50*s.*, no matter by whom ?—No, I had no reason whatever to tell him so.

2807. I do not say you had. I wish first of all to know the fact, and you can give the reason afterwards ?—No.

2808. You said you had no recollection ; do you think you could forget it ?—I could not tell him.

2809. You told me you did not tell him so to your recollection. Now I wish a more explicit answer than that ; did you, aye or no, tell him you had been given 50*s.* or had been offered 50*s.* ?—I did not.

2810. Had you any conversation with him about 50*s.* ?—I had not any.

2811. Any what ?—That I had received 50*s.*

2812. (The Chief Commissioner.) I did not say you had.

(The Witness.) No, what I mean is, I have no knowledge at all that I ever did say so ; I never had any reason to do so.

2813. I did not say you had received 50*s.* ; you may have had some reason for deceiving Nice ; but did you in conversation tell him you had received 50*s.* ?—No.

2814. You are sure of that ?—I am sure of that.

2815. Then if he says so he makes a mistake ?—A mistake.

2816. What part did you take in the election of 1863, if any ?—Not any.

2817. Were you a voter ?—Yes.

2818. Who did you vote for in 1863 ?—Mr. Wilkinson.

2819. You were on the other side then ?—Yes, I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

2820. You are quite right. But, referring back again to the other matter, you did not tell me the amount of money you received from Mr. Smith ?—2*l.*

2821. That is, you say, for the services you rendered to Mr. Gower ?—For giving up my whole time.

2822. I was going to ask you, my friend has reminded me of it, but you told me you did not know your name was on the committee, but that you saw Rose writing, and presumed from that and other reasons your name was put on the committee ?—Yes.

2823. You did not see it on the table ?—No.

2824. And you did not attend the committee ?—I attended all the meetings I knew of in our district.

2825. What district is that ?—Redhill.

2826. Did you do anything else besides that ?—I canvassed three voters.

2827. Who did you canvass ?—One Mr. Bignell of Warwick-town.

2828. And who else ?—Mr. Beare.

2829. Not Mr. Beare here ?—No, Brighton-road.

2830. And who else did you canvass ?—I have no particular recollection of any one else.

2831. May I say you have no recollection of any one else ?—Yes.

2832. I suppose you did not get paid quite so much as you expected ?—I understood it was more.

2833. You understood it was 5*l.* ?—Yes.

2834. Did you grumble ?—No, sir, I did not.

2835. You are a married man ?—Yes.

2836. Did you not go home and say, "They were "not up to the mark with me at all," or something like that ?—Not that I am aware of.

2837. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose there was a sort of 5*l.* epidemic about ?—That was the understood thing.

2838. Was it simply that or more ?—Yes.

2839. A 5*l.* epidemic ?—Yes.

2840. (The Chief Commissioner.) I was going on. At the election for 1863 you voted, I think, for Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

2841. As far as politics were concerned, Mr. Wilkinson's were much like Mr. Monson's that election, as far as you know ?—Yes.

2842. How came you to change sides ? Mr. Gower opposed Mr. Wilkinson ?—I preferred Mr. Gower.

2843. You did not vote for him in 1863 ?—No, sir.

2844. Perhaps you can give us a reason why you changed politics ?—A man who has been in Parliament before is more qualified to take that position than a scholar.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien) observed the witness meant an apprentice.

(Witness here repeated his answer.)

2845. You considered Mr. Gower had got some experience ?—Yes.

2846. And Mr. Monson was the maiden ?—I considered he was not so much qualified.

2847. Do I understand you to say you did not take an active part in '63 ?—Only attending public meetings, hearing the addresses of candidates.

2848. What did you receive in '63 ?—Not anything.

2849. You were not on the committee ?—No.

2850. Who canvassed you ?—Mr. Wilkinson.

2851. Did none of the agents talk to you about it ?—Not that I recollect.

2852. I wish you would recollect ?—I do not know that they did.

2853. You did not know they did not ?—I should not like to tell you an untruth, and that is the reason I say so.

2854. Say what ?—I do not know that they did.

2855. I suppose the first intimation from Mr. Wilkinson that he would be willing to have your vote carried it ?—No, he came once or twice.

2856. Mr. Wilkinson in person came to you ?—Yes.

2857. Did you perform any services for him ?—No.

2858. Were you not employed in the way of your business at all for Mr. Wilkinson ?—No.

2859. You were not ?—No.

2860. You are sure of that ?—Quite sure.

2861. Are you in the regular employ of the Asylum ?—Yes.

2862. Who appointed you to that ?—The committee.

2863. The committee of the Asylum ?—Yes.

2864. Were you recommended by anybody ?—Yes.

2865. Did you solicit a recommendation ?—Yes.

2866. Who recommended you ?—The Rev. Benjamin Slight and three or four more gentlemen.

2867. Did you apply to Mr. Wilkinson about it ?—No, sir.

2868. And do I distinctly understand you to say that in 1863 you received nothing whatever for the services required of you ?—No, sir.

2869. That is Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

2870. Not a farthing ?—No, sir, not a farthing.

2871. Not for anything ?—No, I did not seek for anything; I did not expect anything.

2872. I wish you would give me a distinct answer; I do not care about expectations at present; did any money pass ?—No.

2873. Do you recollect any previous elections to '63 ?—No, sir.

2874. Were you here in '58 ?—Yes.

2875. Had you not a vote ?—I think not.

2876. At any rate, if you had one, did you vote ?—No, sir.

2877. You are quite clear about that ?—Quite clear.

2878. There is no difficulty about that; we can all find that out ?—I do not recollect how many years ago.

2879. I will tell you in a moment; it was in '59 that I am speaking of, and between Mr. Wilkinson and the Hon. Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

2880. Did you take any part in that election ? The Hon. Mr. Monson was returned, if you recollect ?—No.

2881. You took no part ?—No.

2882. Do you recollect whether you voted ?—I believe not.

2883. I should like to know, for I am going to ask you about this ?—I voted for no one.

2884. Cannot you tell me more accurately about this ?—I could not at present.

2885. From whom could you get the information so as to make it positive ?—I should look, I think, to the person of whom I took my house.

2886. Who has got it ?—Mr. Hewitt was not my first landlord; the first I had was Mr. Francis.

2887. We know which side Mr. Francis was on; you let to Mr. Francis; whose side was Mr. Francis on at the last election ?—Mr. Gower.

2888. You think at the first election you lived at Mr. Francis's house ?—Yes, the first election.

2889. The first election in '59 ?—And Mr. Wilkinson's last election. Before that I had apartments; so I had no vote.

2890. Not in '59 ?—I think not.

2891. Very well, I do not press you any more upon it; in whose house do you live now ?—Mr. Hewitt's.

2892. What is your rent ?—6*s.* a week.

2893. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you pay the taxes ?—Yes.

2894. All the taxes ?—All except the property tax.

2895. Do you pay it by the week ?—By the month.

The witness then withdrew.

Mr. Rose recalled and examined.

2896. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) After you had paid the 2*l.* 10*s.* put down on the counter to Nice, did Mr. Nichols or Mr. Monson speak to you on the subject ?—No.

2897. Or Mr. Nichols? — No, I remember Mr. Nichols wrote to me to come over and see him, to know what Nice had been saying.

2898. You told him you had paid 2*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes, except that I did not know anything about it.

2899. Did you ever hear Mr. Monson complained of the 2*l.* 10*s.* being paid, or that he repudiated it ?—I do not know what he said to Mr. Nichols.

2900. He never spoke to you about it ?—No.

2901. Did Nichols tell you to be more cautious ?—Not in the least.

The witness then withdrew.

William Turner sworn and examined.

2902. (The Chief Commissioner.) You live at Mead-vale ?—Yes.

2903. Does your work take you to the Asylum ?—Yes.

2904. Who did you vote for at the last election ?—Mr. Gower.

2905. Are you able to tell me how long before the election took place it was you were canvassed for Mr. Gower ?—Six weeks.

2906. Previous to that had you been canvassed for Mr. Monson ?—No.

2907. After you had been canvassed by Mr. Gower, or for him, were you canvassed for Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

2908. Were you canvassed by Rose ?—No.

2909. By whom were you canvassed ?—By Mr. Nichols.

2910. Did you come to any agreement with Nichols ?—I told him I had promised Mr. Gower.

2911. You told him so ?—I told him so.

2912. You saw Rose about this election, did you not ?—I saw him but once to speak to him.

2913. I mean to speak to him about the election ?—No, sir, only once.

2914. When was the one occasion when you did see him about the election ?—When he brought me 50*s.*; that was three or four days before the election.

2915. Had you been to him about it ?—No.

2916. Had you received any message to go to him about it ?—No, not a word.

2917. You knew something about the 50*s.* ?—Yes; Nice passed the basement of my door, and he said, "Rose, I think, is going to bring you some money "presently," and very soon after the money walked in; I had the money after Rose came in.

2918. Did he put 50*s.* down for you ?—Yes.

2919. You knew at the time Mr. Rose was of Mr. Monson's party ?—I believe he was, but we had no conversation.

2920. Did you tell him you were one of Mr. Gower's voters ?—No.

2921. Did you tell him you were expecting to receive something ?—I never spoke to him.

2922. You were in expectation you were to be paid something from Mr. Gower for services performed ?—I had that expectation.

2923. Who gave you that expectation ? — From general rumour.

2924. Was it said by one of Mr. Gower's people at a committee ?—No, I think I heard it in this hall, that we were to be paid who did work.

2925. Where was that said ?—In this hall.

2926. I thought so. Who said it ?—I cannot say who said it; it was a general thing.

2927. It was said ?—Yes.

2928. Was Mr. Gower in the chair ?—No.

2929. Who was ?—It was a general meeting; we used to come every night nearly.

2930. Was Mr. Gower present ?—No, not then.

2931. Not when ?—Not when I heard this report.

2932. Cannot I get you to fix from whom you heard this; if you won't I cannot help it ?—No, it was a general thing.

2933. Who did you hear say this ?—I cannot tell who it was. I have it from no agent, but there were a lot of us who used to stand at the door and talk about it, and I said "If that is the case, very well."

2934. After you said, "If that is the case, very "well," did you perform services for Mr. Gower ?—No, after I had agreed to do so Apted said, "You may as well sort some letters.

2935. Did you sort some letters ?—Yes.

2936. Did Apted know you at that time ?—Yes.

2937. Well ?—Oh yes.

2938. I mean Apted and you were acquainted before ?—Oh yes, we often saw one another.

2939. When you came up to Apted and he said

THIRD DAY.

W. Turner.

24 Aug. 1866.

you may as well sort some letters, he knew who he was talking to?—Yes.

2940. He knew you were a substantial man down here?—Yes.

2941. He would know all about you?—Yes.

2942. What are you?—A shoemaker.

2943. You work a good deal for the Asylum?—Yes.

2944. You sorted some letters?—Yes.

2945. Did you carry some?—When I was requested.

2946. A good many times?—Several times.

2947. Three or four?—More than that, a many.

2948. How many?—Perhaps I had only one to go one or two miles.

2949. But you can tell how many times you went?—No.

2950. Did you do anything else but sorting or carrying letters?—Any little matters that were going about wherever I was sent.

2951. When was it about the money; how long was it before the election; was it two days?—Three days I said.

2952. Did you lose three days on committee meetings?—Not committee meetings.

2953. Can you mention any day that you lost in consequence of doing anything for Mr. Gower, where you went to, or what?—Perhaps I might go to Warwick-town with a letter.

2954. Not perhaps, I should like it mere fact. Can you say to whom you were sent to Warwick-town?—No.

2955. What distance is it from your own house?—Two miles.

2956. Where do you live?—At Mead-vale.

2957. And it is two miles from where you live to Warwick-town?—Yes.

2958. Who did you take that letter to?—I took several.

2959. Then you will have less difficulty in telling one?—I took one to Mr. Green, if I remember it; I cannot tell who they were for.

2960. Perhaps you know the house?—I believe I took a letter for Mr. Green.

2961. Who else did you take a letter to?—I cannot recollect any other.

2962. Not one?—No.

2963. Did you do anything else besides carrying letters?—No, principally sorting.

2964. Were other letters sent by Mr. Apted? Was he the immediate person who employed you?—And Mr. Buckland was in the room.

2965. I am taking your answer that you do not recollect any other person to whom you took a letter in particular, except Mr. Green?—No.

2966. Can you tell me any other work you did?—No, only on the polling day I went round the town with my van.

2967. Was that the second day?—The third day.

2968. Did you bring up voters in the van?—I asked Mr. Smith for some money, as I was short, and he gave me 30*s.*

2969. Was that for the use of the van?—No.

2970. Generally on account?—Yes, for myself.

2971. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that the day of election?—The day or the day before, when I received the 30*s.* during the election when I was short.

2972. Did you receive 50*s.* before the polling day?—From whom?

2973. Mr. Smith or anybody else?—No.

2974. You received 30*s.* before the polling day?—Or on the polling day.

2975. I should like to know which?—I believe it was the day before.

2976. Then came the polling day, and then it was you set your man and horse to work?—I was engaged behind, while the man drove.

2977. You have never been paid for that?—Yes, on the 5th of November.

2978. On the 5th of November you received some money?—Yes.

2980. How much do you consider due to you?—None at all.

2981. You received 5*l.* 10*s.*?—I received 6*l.* 10*s.* I received 4*l.* on the 5th of November, and after Christmas I received another 1*l.*

2982. Who paid you the other 1*l.*?—Mr. Smith.

2983. Now I am coming to this: what I want to know is—oh, I see, I have got it already, this 50*s.* was paid you by Rose four or five days before the election; you told me so, you know; I do not wish to bind you to a day or two?—Yes.

2984. According to you by this time you had been beginning your services to Mr. Gower?—Yes.

2985. Did Mr. Rose say anything after the 50*s.*?—Yes.

2986. What did he say?—I want you to poll early.

2987. What else did he say?—He said "I think "I shall poll early too, and go to the Crystal Palace."

2988. Who said that?—Mr. Rose.

2989. Was any one with you?—No.

2990. What did you say?—I never made him an answer.

2991. But you were not perfectly silent all the time he was in the room?—I said, "Oh!" We were not allowed to go into the room; I stayed there about a minute.

2992. You only said, "Oh!" You put the 50*s.* in your pocket?—Yes.

2993. And there it is now?—I wish it was.

2994. Were you aware at the time who Rose got the money from?—No.

2995. Have you since found out it came from Nichols?—No, I never knew that.

2996. When you did go to the poll did you see Rose?—No, I do not recollect that I did.

2997. Did you see Nichols?—No, sir; if I saw him I did not speak to him.

2998. Nothing passed?—Nothing passed nowhere.

2999. Did you see none of the Monson party yourself?—Not to speak to them.

3000. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I just wish to ask you a question. You say this 50*s.* was paid to you by Rose two or three days before the election?—Yes.

3001. (The Chief Commissioner.) Three or four? (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Three or four was it?—Yes.

3002. And you had been working for Mr. Gower before that time?—All the time.

3003. Was Rose aware you had been working for Mr. Gower?—He must have been.

3004. Are you the Richard Turner of High-street?—No.

3005. Did you belong to the committee?—That I do not know.

3006. Were you advertised on the committee?—That I do not know.

3007. Do you mean to tell us that Mr. Rose; being acquainted with the fact you were working for Mr. Gower, paid you this 50*s.* without conversation?—I had no conversation, I never spoke to him.

3008. You wish us to believe you received this 50*s.* for no purpose whatever?—I did not know he brought it to me.

3009. You did not know what it was for?—There was nothing mentioned.

3010. What did you understand it was for?—What could I understand it was for.

3011. Why did you receive it?—Because he gave it me.

3012. Simply because he gave it you?—Simply because he gave it me.

3013. Had he ever given you 50*s.* before?—No.

3014. Had he ever given you any monies before?—No.

3015. That was the only occasion?—That was the only occasion.

3016. Did you think it was simple generosity?—I thought it was great foolishness, because I had no agreement.

3017. Did you hear Nice had received it?—He came and told me he expected to receive it; that morning he came and told me as he went by.

3018. Did Rose at that time, or at any other time, tell you if you voted early for Monson you should get more than 50*s.*?—Yes, the other half; when he gave me this 50*s.* he said I should have the other half when polled.

3019. What did you say?—He gave me 50*s.*

3020. You have had ample opportunity for clearing your breast and telling the truth. Do you understand the oath you have taken in this court?—Yes.

3021. It is to tell the truth, and the whole truth?—Yes.

3022. Do you mean to say the keeping the evidence back is telling the truth? You say now you were to have the other half if you polled early?—That was all that passed between us; he never asked me who I was to vote for, and he never mentioned Mr. Gower.

3023. You knew he was acting for Mr. Monson?—Yes; but not long before he was acting for Mr. Gower.

3024. At the same election?—At the same election; when Mr. Gower came round he promised his vote.

3025. Who did you hear say so?—Mr. Gower himself said so.

3026. Did you ever hear from Rose he had promised his vote?—No.

3027. You were to be paid both sides, Monson and Gower?—I cannot tell that.

3028. You did get paid?—I received 50*s.*

3029. What is your qualification?—10*l.* a year; 16*s.* a month.

3030. What did you pay for your house?—16*s.* a month.

3031. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) 4*s.* a week?—Yes; but I pay monthly at the rate of 16*s.* a month.

3032. Not 16*s.* the 1st of March and then the 1st of April?—No, every four weeks.

3033. Who is your landlord?—Mr. Burrand.

3034. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) A monthly take or yearly?—By the month.

The witness then withdrew.

JOHN FARRINGTON called, sworn, and examined. J. Farrington.

3035. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you, Farrington?—I work at the lime works; a lime burner.

3036. Where do you live; Nutley-lane?—Nutley-lane.

3037. What rent do you pay? what is your qualification?—6*s.* a week I pay.

3038. Do you pay it weekly?—Yes.

3039. Who is your landlord?—My father.

3040. Do you pay the rates, or he?—I have to pay the rates.

3041. Are you married, and live alone in the house?—Yes.

3042. Not with your father I mean?—No; I do not live with my father.

3043. Whom did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

3044. Were you canvassed by both sides?—No.

3045. Were you not canvassed by the Monson party?—No.

3046. Had you voted at previous elections?—No.

3047. Had your father?—Yes, I believe my father voted before.

3048. Do you know for whom he voted at the 1863 election? Was it for Gower?—I cannot say.

3049. Who canvassed you for the Gower party? Did you see Mr. Gower?—No; Mr. Rose.

3050. Was Mr. Rose the first person you saw?—Yes.

3051. Did you not see Frederick Joyes?—Afterwards.

3052. Do you mean the Joyes who has just gone out of the box to-day?—No.

3053. Some other Rose?—Alec. Rose.

3054. Did you see Alec. Rose?—Yes.

3055. And what took place with regard to your vote, as far as Alec. Rose was concerned?—He said he would give me 3*l.* if I would vote for Mr. Gower.

3056. Did you agree to that?—No.

3057. Why not?—I gave him no decided answer.

3058. Why did you not give him a decided answer when 3*l.* was offered to you?—I did not know anything about election affairs.

3059. Did you expect you might get more?—No.

3060. Eh?—No.

3061. You did not promise your vote?—No.

3062. Were you promised more than 3*l.*?—Yes.

3063. By whom?—Frederick Joyes.

3064. How long after you had refused the 3*l.*?—Not long, about a week.

3065. And how long before the election?—I cannot say exactly how long.

3066. You do not know?—No I do not.

3067. Was it more than three or four weeks?—Three or four weeks I should think.

3068. Now, when either of these men, Rose and Joyes, offered you, the first 3*l.* and the other 5*l.*, did they ask you to do any work for it?—Did they ask me?

3069. What were you to do for this 3*l.* or 5*l.*?—Mr. Joyes asked me if I could get away to work for them. I told him, no, I could not work for them.

3070. But did you agree to vote for them?—Yes, I told him I should vote for Mr. Gower.

3071. Told whom?—Told Mr. Joyes.

3072. Was that after you had been offered 5*l.*?—He told he would let me have 5*l.*

3073. For voting?—Yes.

3074. And no work?—No work.

3075. And you did no work?—I did not do any work.

3076. Did you attend any public meetings?—No, sir, I went to no meetings. I went to one public house one night.

3077. Have you received any of that money?—I received 3*l.*

3078. Who paid you the 3*l.*?—Mr. Joyes.

3079. When?—I cannot tell you when.

3080. After or before the election?—After the election.

3081. How long after?—I should think about a week after I had 2*l.*, and a week after that he gave me another 1*l.*

3082. Both sums from Frederick Joyes?—Yes.

3083. Have you ever received the whole 5*l.*?—No.

3084. Have you asked for it?—He said he would settle it as soon as he could with me. That is what he said.

3085. Joyes said that?—Yes.

3086. Did he say about the petition against Mr. Gower?—Yes, he said he believed there was a petition against him.

3087. Did he give that as a reason why he could not pay the other two?—Yes. I think that was the reason why he did not.

3088. You think that was the reason; but did he tell you so?—Yes, that was it exactly.

3089. You say you were present at one house; was that the "Bell"?—No, Mr. Muddle's.

3090. Does he keep the "Bell"?—No.

3091. What does he keep?—A house in Nutley-lane.

3092. That is where you live?—Yes.

3093. Did you often go to this house?—No, I was only there that evening.

THIRD DAY.

J. Farrington.

24 Aug. 1866.

3094. Were there any other persons there, any person in the chair ?—Mr. Rose was there.

3095. Alec. Rose ?—Yes.

3096. Was there drinking ?—Yes, Mr. Rose was answerable for what was had.

3097. And was there a great deal of drinking going on ?—I did not stop hardly an hour.

3098. Did you have what you wanted ?—Yes.

3099. Did you pay for it ?—No.

3100. Now, had you been at Hoads' house ?—No.

3101. Just recollect ?—No, sir, I was at no other meeting.

3102. No other meeting but that one ?—No.

3103. No other meeting of voters when Rose was in the chair ?—No.

3104. Not at the "Bell" ?—No.

3105. Never ?—No, I never attended any other meeting.

3106. You signed a paper, did you not, in the presence of Mr. Gilbert, and made a statement to him ?—Yes.

3107. And did you not tell Mr. Gilbert that you had been at a meeting of voters at Hoads' beer house ?—No, Muddle's.

3108. And did you not say Hoads' as well ?—No.

3109. And the "Bell" public house ?—No ; Muddle's.

3110. Did you ever see Mr. Smith with regard to this money ?—No.

3111. Never ?—No.

3112. Only Mr. Frederick Joyes ?—Only Mr. Frederick Joyes.

Mr. Richard Batchelor called, sworn, and examined.

Mr. R. Batchelor.

3113. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Your name is Richard Batchelor ?—Yes.

3114. That is your name ?—Represented on the list.

3115. What is your name ?—Henry Bachelor Cranston is my proper name.

3116. How came you to be called Richard Batchelor ?—I cannot help what my mother did.

3117. There is not the slightest reflection intended, not the slightest in the world. Your name is Richard Batchelor ?—It is represented on the list.

3118. (Mr. Commissioner Smith). You are known by that name ?—Yes.

3119. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a voter of this borough, your qualification being in Nutley-lane ?—Yes.

3120. You occupy a house, of course ?—Yes.

3121. How long have you occupied it ?—Somewhere about four years.

3122. You have been a voter of the borough four years ?—No, I have not had a vote till last election.

3123. When were you put on the register ?—I think it was somewhere about 18 months ago ; it might be a little over that.

3124. What rent do you pay ?—5s. 6d. a week.

3125. What are you, Mr. Batchelor ?—A bricklayer.

3126. What do you generally earn per week ?—About 30*s.*, sometimes more.

3127. For whom did you vote at the last election ?—Mr. Gower.

3128. Who canvassed you, Mr. Batchelor ?—Well, ever so many of them.

3129. Mr. Smith ?—Mr. Smith.

3130. Mr. Joyes ?—Mr. Joyes. They were all together ; there were five or six of them. Mr. Gower was amongst them.

3131. When you were canvassed did Apted or Alec. Rose say anything to you as to employing you ?—No, not just then ; he didn't, nor Rose didn't at all. Rose did not mention about employ at all.

3132. But some time after you had been canvassed did Apted speak to you about giving you employment ?—Yes.

3133. Were you out of employment then ?—No, not particular.

3134. You had your usual employment ?—No particular full employ ; but I was not very busy.

3135. But your usual employment. And he spoke about employing you ?—Yes.

3136. I suppose for odd hours ; for overtime ?—No ; no overtime.

3137. What was he to pay you ?—He did not mention anything particular what he was to pay me, but he said I should be paid for my labour.

3138. Not so much a day, or anything of that sort ?—He did not say, particular, so much a day.

3139. When was he to pay you ?—Weekly.

3140. When the election was over ?—No ; I was to be paid weekly for my labour.

3141. Were you to be paid weekly ?—Yes.

3142. And you did not know how much you were to have ?—Well, it was guaranteed 10*s.* a day first ; then it came down to 5*s.*

3143. Who guaranteed you 10*s.* a day first ?—Mr. Apted.

3144. You were first to get 10*s.* a day, and then it came down to 5*s.* ?—Yes ; I was to receive the remainder after, and I never had it.

3145. After what ?—After the election was over.

3146. You did not engage for that ; you did not agree to accept the 10*s.* a day ?—No, not just then ; it come to 5*s.*

3147. Were you to do anything besides work on behalf of Mr. Gower ; were you to vote for him ?—Of course I had promised my vote when they were all together.

3148. You were to be paid for your work ; that does not include a vote. Were you to vote for him ?—Of course ; I promised to vote for him.

3149. Was that before you were engaged for the work ?—Yes, it was.

3150. You promised to vote before you were engaged for the work ?—Yes.

3151. Now, did he not tell you, that if you voted for him he would give you so much a day, and 3*l.* in addition ?—No, he did not at the time.

3152. But afterwards ?—Afterwards ; I was to have 3*l.* after it was over.

3153. He told you this ?—He did.

3154. That is, if you voted for Mr. Gower ?—Of course ; I should not run from my bargain.

3155. I mean it was a bargain ?—It was a bargain.

3156. Let us understand what the bargain was. You were to receive 5*s.* a day, and 3*l.* after the election was over ?—Yes, of course.

3157. You were to work for Mr. Gower, and you were to vote for him ?—Yes, of course ; I was to vote for him if I worked for him.

3158. I suppose it was not written down ?—Oh, no ; I did not want that.

3159. Nor, I suppose, did Mr. Apted want that ?—I suppose not ; we have known one another too well.

3160. Have you known Mr. Apted long ?—Seven or eight years.

3161. You knew he was very active for Mr. Gower ?—I thought so.

3162. He is well known in Reigate, is he not ?—I suppose he is.

3163. You knew he was a very busy man in election matters ?—I suppose he was.

3164. Is there any election during the eight or nine years you have known him in which he has not been engaged ?—Not that I am aware of.

3165. He has been engaged in every election ?—I believe so ; I am not aware to the contrary.

3166. Did you work for him ?—Yes.

3167. How long had you been at work for him ?—Thirteen days and four nights.

3168. Thirteen days at 5*s.* a day. What were you to be paid for the night work ?—No difference.

3169. Did you send in any bill to Mr. Apted ?—No, I do not recollect that I did.

3170. Thirteen days at 5*s.* would amount to 4*l.* 5*s.* ?—4*l.* 5*s.* 6*d.* I received altogether.

3171. Who paid you that?—Well, I did not have it all at once ; I had it weekly.

3172. Were they different sums paid to you ?—Yes.

3173. Paid by whom?—Mr. Apted paid me 1*l.* first.

3174. Before you had done any work?—No, oh no ; I worked. I earned my money before I had it. Recollect I am telling the truth. I earned my money before I had it. Mr. Apted paid me 1*l.* for the first four days ; then he paid me 30*s.* for the next six days ; then Mr. Smith paid me 30*s.* for the next.

3175. That would be 4*l.* ?—Then Bob Lagg paid me 5*s.* 6*d.*

3176. Might I inquire, what were you engaged in the first four days ?—As messenger, delivering circulars, and the next six days delivering circulars ; and during the time that was my occupation.

3177. And the nights ?—The nights ? I will tell you what I was out for; I was out watching to see that nobody else ran away with our voters.

3178. Out all night ?—I was. Sunday night, above all things, I was called on about 11 o'clock to go out.

3179. You were to receive the 3*l.* in addition to your work as a kind of gratuity ?—Yes, I was.

3180. Did you receive the 3*l.* ?—No.

3181. Did you apply for it ?—I did.

3182. To whom ?—To Mr. Apted.

3183. Has he paid you ?—No.

3184. Why did he not pay you the 3*l.* ?—I do not know I am sure ; he said he had no money, or something of that.

3185. Did you apply to him more than once ?—Yes.

3186. Several times ?—Well, I do not know how many times ; two or three times, something like that.

3187. You were not likely to be put off with that excuse, that he had no money, you did not think it was Mr. Apted's money ?—I did not know whose money it was.

3188. You are an intelligent man, and you must know it was not Mr. Apted's money ?—I did not know where it come from, nor did I want to know as long as he paid me.

3189. Did you think it was Mr. Apted's money ?—No, I did not.

3190. You knew it was not Mr. Apted's money ?—I did not think it was.

3191. Did Mr. Apted tell you that you should have the remainder of the money as soon as the petition matter was settled ?—No, he did not ; he never said no such word to me.

3192. Now be careful. Did he not tell you, or had you not been told, you should have it as soon as the petition matter was settled ?—No.

3193. You were never told that ?—No.

3194. You never heard anything about the petition matter ?—I heard about it, but Mr. Apted did not tell me anything about it.

3195. I did not ask you that ; I asked you who told you first about the petition matter ?—I forget who it was.

3196. But you had heard about the petition matter ?—I had heard.

3197. And you had heard that if the petition matter was settled you would have the 3*l.* ?—No, not exactly that; that was not it exactly.

3198. Was it not tantamount to that, that as soon as the petition matter was over you would get the 3*l.* ?—It might be something to that effect.

3199. Was it not that when the petition matter was over you would get the 3*l.*, something to that effect ?—Something to that effect, but I forget what the words were.

3200. Who said that to you ?—I forget who it was particularly; it was all the town talk.

3201. How did they know you were to get the 3*l.* ?—That I do not know.

3202. How did the people in the town know that Job Apted had promised to give you 3*l.* when the election was over ?—That I do not know.

3203. How did they come to tell you that you were to get the 3*l.* ?—They must have known something about it, of course.

3204. And you cannot tell me who told you that ?—I really cannot. It was in everybody's mouth about the petition.

3205. Did you apply to Apted for the 3*l.* ?—I did.

3206. Did you apply to any one else ?—To Buckland and Apted together, and to Mr. Smith upon one occasion.

3207. You applied to Buckland and Apted, and once to Mr. Smith ?—Buckland and Apted were together.

3208. What did you say when you asked Mr. Apted or Mr. Buckland ?—Well, I asked him when I was going to have the rest.

3209. Which of them spoke ?—Both of them I believe.

3210. What did Mr. Apted say ?—I think he said, " Wait until something like February."

3211. What did Mr. Smith say ?—Both alike.

3212. You were to wait till February ?—Yes.

3213. What time was this ?—Well, I do not know, exactly ; it might be a month before that.

3214. When February came round did you apply again ?—No, sir, because I heard it was a bad case in trying for it.

3215. That is to say, you had heard that you would get no more money ?—I did so.

3216. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You heard of others applying and failing ?—Yes.

3217. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You never applied after February ?—No.

3218. I suppose you were considerably disappointed in not getting the 3*l.* ?—Well, they won't have me again on that racket.

3219. Might I inquire, only for my own information and for the information of the Commissioners, what were you to get the 3*l.* for ? you were paid 5*s.* a day for your work ?—That was to make up the rest.

3220. To make up for what ?—For the remainder of my work, because I was not satisfied with the 5*s.* a day.

3221. What do you generally get a day in your usual employment ?—Sometimes I get 5*s.* a day ; when I am at day work I get 5*s.* 6*d.* a day ; when I am at piece work I reckon to get 7*s.* 6*d.*

3222. You are an intelligent man, and I am sure will give me an intelligent answer ; do you mean to tell me that this additional 3*l.* was for your labour ?—Yes.

3223. Why do you not summon them for your labour ?—I thought it was throwing away good money after bad.

3224. If you were to have 3*l.*, why do you not summon them ?—Because I had not money to take out a summons against them.

3225. That is the reason ?—Yes.

3226. And you made them a present of 3*l.* ?—Yes, I gave it up as a bad job.

3227. You say they won't have you again ; that is, you mean you won't vote on that side again ?—I do not mean to say that I shall vote on either side any more ; I will not promise that.

3228. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That will depend on circumstances ?—That it will.

3229. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Now be cautious, because we are here to inquire, and you may rely upon it you will not impose upon us. Do you mean to say the 3*l.* was not a consideration for your vote ?—Sir!

3230. Do you mean to say the 3*l.* was not a consideration for your vote ?—No.

3231. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Why did you vote ?—Why did I vote ? Because I took a little interest in it.

3232. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) If you are employed at 5*s.* or 6*s.* a day, and you are not paid by your employer, do you forgive him the amount of wages that is owing to you ?—No.

3233. You can find money then to take out a sum-

Mr. R. Batchelor.

24 Aug. 1866.

mons against him ?—I should try at it somehow or other.

3234. But you did not try in this case ?—No, because I thought it would be a failure if I did.

3235. Do you know a person named Walker ? George Walker ?—Yes.

3236. I mean the man who is a gardener ?—Yes.

3237. In whose service was he, do you know ?—Mr. Conway's.

3238. Of Wray-park ?—Yes.

3239. Do you recollect meeting him after the election ?—Yes, perfectly well.

3240. He asked you if you had had your money ?—Yes, he did.

3241. You had got your money at that time ; you had got your pay ?—I had got what I have received.

3242. That is what I mean ; what you had been promised for your work ?—Yes, of course.

3243. You told him you had not got your money ?—Not the remainder.

3244. I mean he asked you about your money, and you said you had not got your money ?—Yes.

3245. And I believe you asked him whether he had got his ?—I did.

3246. He was in Mr. Conway's employ ?—I believe so.

3247. Did you ask him whether he had got his money or not ?—I did.

3248. What money was he to get ?—I am not positive I am sure.

3249. What money, did you learn from him ?—I think he got 4*l.* 15*s.* altogether ; I will not be positive.

3250. How much money was he to get ? 5*l.* altogether ; do you know ?—I think it was.

3251. Did you learn from him how he had been employed ?—No, not exactly his employment. I did not.

3252. Had he been employed as messenger ?—I do not know, I do not think he was.

3253. You know he was not ?—I do not think he was.

3254. You sent in a bill, I think you said ?—Me ! No, not me.

3255. Did Walker send in a bill ?—I believe he did.

3256. He told you he did ?—He told me he did.

3257. Who paid him, according to his account ?—He told me it was Mr. Smith.

3258. Mr. Smith, the agent of Mr. Gower ?—Mr. Charles Smith.

3259. Now, did you ever apply to anybody except Mr. Charles Smith about your money ? Did you ever apply to Mr. Gower ?—No.

3260. Do you know whether Walker, according to his own statement, applied to Mr. Gower ?—I do not know whether he applied to Mr. Gower or not.

3261. Did he tell you so ?—No.

3262. Do you recollect about a week before the election being at the " Railway " inn ?—Yes.

3263. Do you know a man named Thomas Fuller ?—Yes.

3264. Was Apted there ?—Yes.

3265. Fuller was a voter ?—Yes, I believe so.

3266. Did you hear Apted ask Fuller for his vote on behalf of Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

3267. Who were there besides you and Fuller and Apted ?—There were several about there ; I do not know exactly who they all were.

3268. There was a large number ?—Not a very large number, five or six perhaps, six or seven.

3269. What did Fuller say ?—I was not exactly close enough to hear candidly what he did say.

3270. Apted asked if he would vote for Mr. Gower. Fuller said, " What will you give ? " Something to that effect ?—Something to that effect.

3271. And Apted said,—what ?—He did not exactly say, he pointed. (Here the witness held up his five fingers.)

3272. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Now, just put your hand down and describe what took place ?—He put up his hand, meaning " a fiver " I suppose ; I took it for " a fiver."

3273. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And everybody there took it for " a fiver " ?—I suppose they did.

3274. It was well known in the borough that " a fiver " was the price ?—I suppose it was.

3275. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) If a voter put up his hand it was understood that he wanted 5*l.* ?—I should think so ; it was understood so by me.

3276. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) If a voter put up his hand, that meant he wanted 5*l.* ; and if Mr. Apted put up his hand, that would mean a promise of 5*l.* ?—I took it as such.

3277. And did not Fuller say, " You mean by that " 5*l.*, Mr. Apted " ?—Something to that effect.

3278. And Apted nodded his head ?—Yes, sir. Fuller said, " You mean by that 5*l.*," and Apted nodded.

3279. Do you recollect being at the " Railway " inn some time after that when there were 40 or 50 persons there ?—Yes, I was there.

3280. Were there refreshments ordered ?—Yes.

3281. Who ordered them ?—Apted, I believe.

3282. Did you partake of the refreshments ?—I did.

3283. How long was the house open for refreshments that evening ?—Two or three hours, perhaps more.

3284. Did you pay for what you had ?—No.

3285. Who paid ?—I do not know who paid ; I know who ordered.

3286. Who ordered ?—Apted.

3287. Do you recollect attending a meeting at the " Bell " public house where there was a still larger number, when Mr. Rose was in the chair ?—Yes.

3288. How long do you think you were there at that time ?—I might be there a couple or three hours.

3289. Had you refreshments ?—Yes.

3290. Did you pay for what you had ?—No.

3291. Did you see anybody else pay for what they had ?—No.

3292. Who paid for what they had ?—I do not know.

3293. Just let me call your attention now : Did not the chairman, Mr. Rose, say that there had been 5*l.* worth of drink had in an hour and a half ?—Yes.

3294. And did he not say he would pay for that ?—No, he did not say he would pay for it ; I never heard such a word mentioned.

3295. Who was to pay for that according to your understanding ?—I do not know.

3296. How did he know there was 5*l.* worth ? was a bill brought in ?—I do not know.

3297. He merely announced there had been 5*l.* worth of drink had ?—Yes.

3298. In that hour and a half ?—I do not say how long exactly.

3299. Were they all electors there at that time ?—I believe they were all electors.

3300. Did you then adjourn to the " Little Crown " ?—Yes.

3301. Had you more to drink there ?—I did.

3302. Did the electors all have more ?—Oh, yes.

3303. Did you see any one pay for what they had ?—Not to my knowledge.

3304. Do you recollect being afterwards at the " Bell " when Mr. Job Apted took the chair ?—Yes.

3305. I believe he treated you all that day ?—I believe so ; he always was there.

3306. Are those all the public houses you have been at during the time, I mean where there have been meetings of electors. Have you been at others ?—I think I was at a little meeting once somewhere else ; I forget where it was now.

3307. At any of these places did you see who paid for the refreshments ?—I never saw any.

3308. You knew, did you not, and everybody knew, that they were paid for by some person on behalf of the candidate ?—That I am not aware of.

3309. You knew it; I do not say you had knowledge of it?—No, I had no knowledge.

3310. Who did you think was to pay?—I do not know. I was a teetotaller at the time, and now drink nothing but ginger-beer, and a little brandy sometimes.

3311. That was the reason why you attended so many meetings at public houses?—I did not attend but very few.

3312. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was the reason why you attended two in one night?—I was a teetotaller, but I do not know that I attended two in one night.

3313. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you employed by Apted and Joyes to go round to the public houses?—Yes.

3314. Did you see some of the landlords?—I did.

3315. What did you say to the landlord?—I told him he was not to let them have any more beer.

3316. When was that?—I think it was the Tuesday before the polling day; I will not be certain.

3317. Did you tell them they were not to let Monson's party know what beer they had?—I did.

3318. What beer was had for Gower's voters?—Yes, I suppose that was it.

3319. Nor what money was paid?—Yes.

3320. You told me you did not know who was to pay?—I did not know.

3321. Now, do you recollect Muddle's beer house?—I do.

3322. Were you at a meeting there?—I was once.

3323. Who was chairman?—Mr. Alec. Rose.

3324. Who paid for what beer was taken on that occasion?—Rose paid for it as it came in.

3325. Now, do you know any other voters who were to have money for work?—No, nothing particular.

3326. I did not ask you about "particular." Do you know many voters?—No.

3327. Do you know any?—I know one man that was employed the same as me.

3328. Is that your signature (passing a document to witness)?—Yes.

3329. Just attend (reads): "I know many voters "who were promised money for working who never "were expected to do anything but to go to beer-"house meetings, and to vote for Gower"?—Yes.

3330. Is that true?—Yes.

3331. Now, who were they?—I do not know who they were, not now.

3332. Not now?—No; I do not know who they were.

3333. "I know many voters who were promised "money for working who were never expected to do "anything but to go to beerhouse meetings, and to "vote for Gower." That is true?—Yes.

3334. It was well understood among the voters that that was so? It was known to all?—I expect it was.

3335. It was known to every man of that class?—I expect so.

3336. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You told me a little while ago that it was not the 3*l.* that induced you to vote, because you took an interest in the party?—Yes.

3337. Will you be good enough to tell me what your interest was beyond the 3*l.*?—Beyond the 3*l.*? Why, my interest was to send a good man into the House of Parliament.

3338. And you considered Mr. Gower to be the best man?—I did.

3339. Supposing the other side had offered you 5*l.*, and had given you 5*l.*, would that have altered your opinion?—No; because when I pledge my word I stick to it.

3340. Supposing they had come to you first and offered you 5*l.*?—Well, they did not.

3341. Suppose they had?—Ah! I don't know if they had come first.

3342. Might it have influenced your opinion?—It might have perhaps made a little difference if they had come first.

3343. If they had come first and offered you more money than you might have expected from the other party?—Well, they never came to me.

3344. Supposing they had come to you and offered you more money than you might have expected from the other party, might not that have influenced your vote?—It might have made a little difference.

3345. Would not the little difference have altered your vote?—I do not know.

3346. Or induced you to go away and not vote?—I do not know which way it might be.

3347. You did not like to pledge yourself, to leave yourself open to a further offer for the next election?—I shall not pledge myself to any one no more for the future.

3348. You say you were called up in the night?—No, at 11 o'clock, I said.

3349. You had gone to bed?—Yes, I was.

3350. What were you called up for?—To go and look out and see that no one ran away with Mr. Gower's voters.

3351. How long was that before the day of polling?—It was on a Sunday night; but I will not say whether it was the Sunday before the polling day or the Sunday before that.

3352. Had you known the Monson party were interfering with Gower's voters?—It was thought so.

3353. Had you heard it spoken of?—Yes, I had heard it spoken of.

3354. In what way had you heard it spoken of?—Why, by their going round and canvassing, and trying to get our voters.

3355. Did you hear it spoken of that they were offering money to Gower's voters?—No.

3356. Did you not hear that?—No, I did not.

3357. Not in any one instance?—No.

3358. It was merely getting hold of those voters, putting them into carriages, and taking them away?—I do not know whether it was that or not; I cannot say.

3359. But if you interfered to protect them, there must have been some strength or violence used?—They did not want much protecting; not our voters.

3360. Why not?—They stood their own ground too well.

3361. I suppose they felt sure of their money?—I suppose they did, the same as I did.

3362. Do you know of any voters being taken away?—No, I am not aware of any.

3363. Do you know of any one that was taken away by the Monson party?—No.

3364. You know of no man who had been enticed away by the Monson party?—Not to my knowledge.

3365. When you got up on that Sunday night did you see any voter that was being taken away?—No.

3366. How long did you remain up?—All night.

3367. You remained up all night, and did nothing?—I walked about.

3368. Simply walked about, and saw nobody?—I say nobody; did not look after anybody in particular.

3369. It was quite a false alarm, your getting up?—It was.

3370. (The Chief Commissioner.) When you were out guarding voters did you see any attack upon them?—No.

WILLIAM BOBBINS called, sworn, and examined.

W. Bobbins.

3371. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are on the register of voters for the borough?—Yes.

3372. What is your qualification?—A plasterer.

3373. That does not give you a vote?—Oh, qualification! I rent a house at 6*s.* a week.

3374. Do you pay the rates?—Yes.

3375. Who is your landlord?—Mr. Green.

3376. What Green?—Henry Green.

3377. He was one of the agents for Mr. Gower, was he not?—Yes.

THIRD DAY

W. Bobbins.

24 Aug. 1866.

3378. First of all I will ask you, were you canvassed at all by the Monson party ?—Yes.

3379. Before you were canvassed by the Gower party ?—Yes.

3380. Who did you see of the Monson party ?—Mr. Richardson and Mr. Monson.

3381. Did you see Nicholls ?—No.

3382. Did Nicholls ever see you and canvass you ?—No, he never canvassed me, but I saw him.

3383. Never asked you for your vote ?—No.

3384. Did you see Nicholls after you had seen the Gower party ?—Yes, I see Nicholls several times after I saw the Gower party.

3385. You did promise the Gower party ?—I did not promise Mr. Gower.

3386. The Gower party ?—Yes.

3387. Were you advertised on their committee ?—I never saw my name advertised.

3388. Were you voting in the election before, in 1863 ?—Yes.

3389. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Wilkinson.

3390. That was against Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

3391. Were you living in one of Mr. Green's houses then ?—Yes.

3392. Did Mr. Green take an active part in the election of 1863 ?—Yes.

3393. Who for ?—Mr. Gower.

3394. But you on that occasion voted for Wilkinson against Gower ?—Yes.

3395. And against your landlord ?—And against my landlord.

3396. Were you canvassed for the Gower party then ?—Yes, Mr. Gower canvassed me.

3397. Was it Mr. Gower only or Mr. Green ?—Mr. Gower; Mr. Green never canvassed me at all.

3398. Did you receive any money for voting for Wilkinson ?—Not a farthing.

3399. Or for any work done for him ?—Not anything.

3400. Did you have any money offered to you upon that occasion ?—Not a farthing.

3401. By the Gower party or the other side ?—By neither side.

3402. Now on this election did Green canvass you ?—Yes.

3403. Did he ask you for your vote ?—Yes.

3404. Did he offer you any money ?—Yes.

3405. What did he offer you ?—Well, he did not say to the sum ; he offered me money in this hall.

3406. He did not mention the sum ?—He did not mention the sum.

3407. When he offered you the money, how did he offer it ?—Like this. There was a committee meeting in this room underneath. He met me at the door; he called me on one side and said, "I want to speak "to you now;" he says, "You are coming on our side." "Yes, I expect so," I says. "Well," he says, "look "here ! this is the stuff I have got to do it with."

3408. Did he show you the stuff ?—Yes, he pulled out a roll of bank notes nearly as thick as my wrist.

3409. Did he tell you what those notes were ?—No, he did not say what they were.

3410. "This is the stuff I have got to do it "with" ?—"This is the stuff."

3411. Go on, and tell me what further took place between you and Green upon that occasion ?—Why, he says, "Look here ! this is what I have got for the "election, to carry it on with." "Well," I says, "that will do very well ;" and he said, "You can "have something if you like." I says, "No, let us "do something for it first." "Oh, all right !" he says, "you leave it all to me ; I will make it all "right," and we passed on.

3412. Was that all ?—That was all that transpired that evening.

3413. What did you say in answer to it when he said he would make it all right ?—I took the man at his word ; I thought he would perform as he promised.

3414. Did you promise your vote then ?—I promised my vote then. I told him I should come on his side, and I did so.

3415. After he had shown you the bank notes ?—After he had shown me the notes.

3416. What did you expect to get out of the roll of notes ?—I did not make any expectation what I should get. It was to be above 5*l.* though.

3417. You thought ?—I thought so.

3418. You thought he could afford to pay well out of that large roll of notes ?—I thought I was silly I had not some of it.

3419. At the time ?—At the time.

3420. Did he say anything about he would see that you would not be deceived?—Yes.

3421. What was that ?—He said, "You look after "the election. I shall not want to trouble myself any-"thing about you ; you look after the election matters "as far as you can, and I will see that you are paid "when the member is elected."

3422. I think you said you were a plasterer ?—Yes.

3423. What wages do you get ?—I am master for myself, I take work.

3424. Do you employ men ?—Yes.

3425. Did you employ men then ?—Yes, several.

3426. How many men do you generally employ ?—Sometimes four or five, sometimes six, plasterers, besides labourers and boys.

3427. Then, although you paid your rent weekly, you are a man pretty well to do in the world ?—Not so very well; I work for what I get. I do work for labour only ; I have no material.

3428. You work yourself ?—I work myself.

3429. What do you charge a day for yourself ?—For myself I charge the same as if I paid the men, 5*s.* 6*d.* a day.

3430. You did vote for Mr. Gower, I suppose ?—I did vote for Mr. Gower.

3431. Did you do any work for what you were to expect ?—I attended a committee meeting and walked about, the same as other people did. That is all I did.

3432. You did not call that work ?—I did not call it work.

3433. Did you attend any of the meetings at the houses ?—No ; I attended a public meeting on the common once.

3434. Did you apply after the election for your money ?—No, sir.

3435. You never applied for the money ?—I never applied for the money.

3436. Why not ?—Because Green knew where I lived when he wanted me to vote, and sure enough he could know where I lived when he wanted to pay.

3437. You left it to him ?—I left it to his honesty, as we were not strangers to one another.

3438. Did you hear of the petition after the election ?—Not till Mr. Naylor came down.

3439. Mr. Naylor came down ?—Not to me, he did not.

3440. Who was it came to you ?—No one came to me ; Mr. Gilbert I went to.

3441. But before Mr. Gilbert came you had heard of Mr. Naylor being about ?—Yes.

3442. That is the person who turned out to be Mr. Hamblin ?—Yes.

3443. He came down in the name of Naylor ?—Yes ; I said he was a nailer at the time.

3444. You might have thought he came down to plaster up affairs ?—Perhaps he did ; he did not try to plaster mine up.

3445. Were you ever at the "Warwick Arms" ?—Yes.

3446. When was that ?—Several times.

3447. Before the election ?—I have been there before the election ; oh, yes.

3448. Were you at the "Warwick Arms;" do you recollect the writ coming down, the advertisement that the election would take place ?—I do not recollect being at the "Warwick Arms" then.

3449. Just draw your attention to my question,

Do you recollect the writ coming down and the advertisement being put out, that the election would take place?—Yes, I recollect it.

3450. Were you at the "Warwick Arms" after that time?—Oh, yes; the polling day I was there.

3451. Well, now, what was going on at the "Warwick Arms" on that polling day with regard to refreshments and drink? Did you get your refreshment?—Yes.

3452. Did you pay for it?—My father.

3453. What did you have?—We had cold beef and pickles, and bread and beer; a cold ordinary.

3454. Had you any brandy?—Well, we had some brandy occasionally.

3455. On that day?—On that day.

3456. But you did not pay for it?—I did not pay for it.

3457. Did you see any of the agents there?—I saw Mr. Green and Mr. Rose.

3458. Mr. Green was taking an active part in the election?—A very active part.

3459. Did you see many persons there on that polling day?—Oh yes, a great many.

3460. Did you see any of them paying for what they had?—I did not see any of them pay.

3461. How late were you there?—1 or 2 o'clock in the morning.

3462. Were you there during the day as well?—Some parts of the day; I was about the neighbourhood, out and in.

3463. Now, up to 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning was drinking generally going on?—Not to any excess.

3464. Oh, no, I do not mean to say you got tipsy or anything of that sort, but did people have what they wanted?—Some of the men had not. They had to pay for what they had, some of them; but I suppose I was a bit of a favourite.

3465. Did anybody tell you to go in there and take what you wanted?—Yes.

3466. Who?—Mr. Green.

3467. Was that on the polling day?—On the polling day.

3468. Did you hear Mr. Green tell anybody else to go in?—I did not.

3469. Did you know of his telling anybody else to go in and get what they wanted?—I did not.

3470. Was that the only house you had been to to have refreshment, I mean without paying for it, between the time of the writ coming down and the election?—That was the only house.

3471. Did you attend any committee meetings?—The committee meetings at the public hall at Redhill, the market hall, or whatever they call it; there was a committee room.

3472. Any refreshment there?—No.

3473. That was not attached to any public house?—Not at all

3474. Were you at any meeting which happened at a place called the Chapel, Redhill?—No.

3475. Do you know of any meeting being held at any chapel?—I do not recollect any meeting being held at any chapel.

3476. You said you did not ask anybody for money; did not you ask Mr. Green after the election?—No.

3477. Quite certain?—Quite certain. When the petition affair was on I said, this would not have happened if he had settled up. I never asked him for mine.

3478. Did you ask Mr. Green?—No, sir; never.

3479. You have said so before?—I do not think I ever said I asked Mr. Green for my money.

3480. Have not you said this before: "I have since "the election asked Mr. Green to keep his promise, "and he has replied, 'Oh, leave it to me; it is all "right'"?—Oh, yes; I never asked him for the sum of money.

3481. You see you fence with the question; that did take place?—Oh yes, I saw Mr. Green.

3482. What promise did you mean?—The promise after we had voted that he would pay us for our time and trouble. I do not call it trouble; promising he would pay us for attending the committee.

George Charles Beale sworn and examined. G. C. Beale.

3483. (Chief Commissioner.) Is your Christian name George Charles Beale?—Yes.

3484. What rent do you pay?—3*s.* a week.

3485. Are you on the register?—Yes; they put me on, I suppose, sir.

3486. How long have you been on the register?—Well, I never was on an election before this.

3487. This is the first election that you have taken any part in?—Yes.

3488. What are you?—Well, when I was called in the House of Commons I drove a brewer's cart; now I am a labourer.

3489. At this election I believe you voted for Mr. Gower?—I did.

3490. How did you come to vote for him?—Because he come and asked me for it.

3491. Was any one with him?—Yes, Mr. Frederick Joyes.

3492. Did you promise him at once?—No, I never promised nothing, sir.

3493. What did you tell them when they came to ask you?—Well, I tell you, sir, the same as I told them. I told them that I had been laid up seven weeks when Mr. Gower asked me for it, and he told me I was independent of it, and I told him not. I told him I was not independent, but I was not in duty to any master, because I had not got ne'er a master.

3494. Was it in the street you met Mr. Gower when he spoke to you first?—Yes.

3495. Was Mr. Joyes with him?—Yes.

3496. And he introduced you to Mr. Gower, who did not know you before that?—I do not know that.

3497. When he asked you for your vote, what did you say to him?—I told him, sir, I had not parted from it, and if he would do the same duty by me as he was going to do by the others, he might as well have it as the other. That was it; I never said anything more.

3498. What did Mr. Gower say to that?—He never said anything.

3499. Did you see what he did?—Yes.

3500. What?—Mr. Joyes and he looked at each other, and that was all I know of.

3501. What kind of a look did Mr. Gower give at Mr. Joyes?—I do not know, sir, I never looked at that.

3502. When you saw him did not you look at him?—Certainly.

3503. Did you notice it was any particular kind of a look?—No, sir.

3504. Did you notice that Mr. Joyes gave any look back again; a particular look?—No, sir, they only looked at each other, and that was all I saw.

3505. Did not you see either of their heads move forward?—No.

3506. Nothing like a nod?—No; a nod is as good as a wink, sir, sometimes.

3507. Did you get from either of them one of those nods, then?—No sir, I did not; not either of them. I never gave them a nod.

3508. You told me a nod was as good as a wink; did you get a nod from either of these gentlemen?—No.

3509. Did either of them give you a look?—No.

3510. Did not Joyes look at you?—No.

3511. What did you say, then?—I never said no more, sir.

3512. Did you say you would vote for Gower?—No.

3513. Try and recollect if you can, or else I shall have to call you again. Are you sure about this?

THIRD DAY.

G. C. Beale.

24 Aug. 1866.

Have you not said, that when you said that you wanted to know first if Mr. Gower would behave to you the same as they behaved to the others, did not you then see Mr. Gower and Mr. Joyes look at each other?—Yes.

3514. Did not you then see Mr. Joyes look at you?—I do not know.

3515. Was not it upon that that you said, "Well, "then, Mr. Gower, I will vote for you"?—I have no recollection at all about that.

3516. I do not think your recollection is perfectly clear just at this moment; I am sorry for it. Now look here, can you attend to me?—Sir, I will.

3517. Now look here. You go down stairs; I will not go on with your examination now, I will give you a chance, but you may get into a serious difficulty. I do not think your recollection is very accurate at this moment. You had better sit down quietly in the hall, and in an hour's time or more I will examine you again. You had better take that hint. Do you understand me?—Yes.

A. Edwards.

ALLEN EDWARDS sworn and examined.

3518. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A tallow chandler.

3519. And where do you live?—At West-street.

3520. In the Old part of the borough?—Yes.

3521. What rent do you pay?—10*l.* a year.

3522. For whom did you vote at this last election?—Mr. Richardson.

3523. Now were you canvassed on the part of Mr. Gower?—Yes.

3524. Were you canvassed on the part of Mr. Monson?—Yes.

3525. First of all, who canvassed you for Mr. Richardson?—No one canvassed me for Mr. Richardson.

3526. How came you to vote for him?—Mr. Gower had got so far ahead, and Mr. Monson was no use, so I thought I would vote for Mr. Richardson.

3527. Now tell me, what time in the day did you vote for Mr. Richardson?—I think 12 or 1 o'clock; somewhere thereabouts.

3528. In your mind was the election decided before 1 o'clock?—I believe it was.

3529. How many votes did you believe Mr. Richardson had polled up till 1 o'clock?—I cannot say.

3530. Did you think he had polled less than 10?—I cannot say.

3531. You do not know how many?—I do not know how many.

3532. You knew he was at the bottom of the poll?—I knew that.

3533. Did you see any placards as to the state of the poll?—No, I did not, sir, for I took but very little interest in it.

3534. Were there many people outside the polling place?—Yes, a great many.

3535. Now outside these polling places, when you voted, did you see announced the numbers that the different candidates had polled?—I believe I did.

3536. Was that before you voted?—Yes.

3537. And you had an opportunity of seeing that Mr. Richardson had no chance whatever, and so you voted for him?—I voted for him.

3538. You gave him an independent vote?—I did.

3539. Did you receive anything for it?—Not one halfpenny.

3540. Nor a glass of beer?—No.

3540*a*. Did anybody ask you to vote for him?—Yes.

3540*b*. Who?—Mr. Henry Francis.

3540*c*. Did he give you any reason why you should vote for him?—No, no more than he asked me if I would vote for him. He said there was no chance for Mr. Monson, and I said, "Yes," I would vote for him; it did not matter to me who I voted for.

3540*d*. Was Mr. Francis taking part for Mr. Monson as well?—He was agent.

3540*e*. Had he asked you to vote for Mr. Monson? Yes.

3540*f*. Had he offered you anything to vote for Mr. Monson?—No more than labour.

3540*g*. What was the labour?—I was out of employ at the time, and he told me he would give me work at 1*l.* a week if I liked to go to work, which I accepted.

3540*h*. What were you to work at?—In his garden, and as labourer for a stonemason, which he is.

3540*i*. Why did not you take the offer?—I did.

3540*j*. How long was that before you voted?—Well, not quite five weeks.

3541. How long did you remain in Mr. Francis's service?—Five weeks, within a day or so.

3542. Did you remain with him until the election?—Yes.

3543. Did you remain with him after the election?—Only one week.

3544. And then left him?—Then I left him.

3545. Did he pay you?—Yes.

3546. How much did he pay you?—At the rate of 1*l.* a week.

3547. Why did not you keep on longer than a week after the election?—Because I wore my fingers out.

3548. You really did work?—I did, sir. I worked hard.

3549. What have you worked at since?—I have been carman since, and I have worked in Mr. Ivory's garden.

3550. What were you before you worked for Mr. Francis?—A tallow chandler. I have given up that trade.

3551. But you are not at work at that now?—No.

3552. When were you working at that trade? At the time of the election?—No, sir.

3553. When did you cease to work as tallow chandler?—Twelve months last June.

3554. Now from twelve months last June, when you ceased to be a tallow chandler, up to the time of working for Mr. Francis what did you work as?—In gardens; anything I could get.

3555. You were a tallow chandler a year and a half ago, but you are nothing now?—No.

3556. Why did you say you were a tallow chandler?—I was a tallow chandler at that time, I am a tallow chandler now by trade.

3557. That is what you mean?—Yes, but I have no work at it.

3558. When was it Mr. Francis asked you first to vote for Mr. Richardson?—Well, I do not know. Three or four days before the polling.

3559. Had not he asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Oh, yes.

3560. That was the time he gave you the work?—Yes.

3561. Why did not you vote for Mr. Monson?—Because I did not think proper.

3562. Or was it because Mr. Francis asked you to vote for Mr. Richardson?—No, not at all. I had not told any one who I was going to vote for, not till two or three days before the polling.

3563. I thought I understood you you had promised to vote for Mr. Monson?—No, I beg your pardon, I did not.

3564. You left that open?—I did.

3565. Was any money besides that work offered to you for voting at all?—Not one halfpenny. Not on Mr. Monson's side.

3566. Now, did anybody canvass you on the part of Mr. Gower?—Yes.

3567. Who?—Mr. Frederick Joyes.

3568. Did he offer you money?—Yes, he did.

3569. What did he offer you?—He told me he would give me 5*l.*

3570. For what?—For voting for Mr. Gower.

3571. Did he tell you about getting money from the other side?—Yes, he did.

3572. What did he tell you?—He told me to get all I could.

3573. From the other side?—Yes.

3574. But still to vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

3575. You got work from the other side, and voted for Richardson?—I did.

3576. Perhaps that might have had some operation on your mind, that you received money from both sides, and so you voted for the independent man?—I did not receive it from both sides.

3577. You got the work?—I got work. I never received any money from Joyes, 3578. When Mr. Francis asked you to come and work for him, did he canvass you before he asked you to work?—No, he did not.

3579. He asked you to work first, and then canvassed you afterwards?—Yes.

3580. It was all the same interview, was not it?—Yes.

3581. Did you see Mr. Smith at all about this money?—No sir, that it is a false statement.

3582. What is?—About Mr. Smith. Mr. Gilbert's statement, is not it?

3583. Never mind about that?—It is a false statement.

3584. Was any money put down upon your counter? No, sir.

3585. By anybody?—No.

3586. By Mr. Smith?—No.

3587. By nobody?—No.

3588. You have said so before?—I have said so.

3589. What was it you said before?—I said, no, sir.

3590. You have said no before?—Yes.

3591. Upon one occasion you have said no; but did you never say upon any occasion that Mr. Smith had put money on your counter?—I did, merely for a frolic, nothing more.

3592. You said it for a frolic, nothing more?—I denied it at the House of Commons.

3593. Do you consider it merely a frolic to charge a man with bribing at an election?—We are supposed to say anything at elections.

3594. But after the election?—No, it was before the election those words were spoke.

3595. Did Mr. Smith ever come and canvass you at all?—No.

3596. Did you never see Mr. Smith?—I have seen him lots of times.

3597. Did he never say anything to you about voting for Mr. Gower?—Not this time.

3598. Has he on previous occasions?—He has on former occasions.

3599. Did you have any money for voting in 1863?—Not one penny.

3600. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

3601. How long had you been a voter?—Ever since Mr. Hackblock; he was the first man I voted for.

3602. Have you ever received monies before?—Not one farthing.

3603. Have you voted before?—I have.

3604. On each election?—On each election.

3605. Who is your landlord?—Lord Somers.

3606. Who is Lord Somers' agent? — Mr. Morrison.

3607. Did he take any part in the election?—I never see him. I do not know that he did.

3608. If he did you must have known it?—He never canvassed me, never asked me for my vote, or nothing of the sort.

3609. Is it George Carter Morrison, of Wray-park?—Yes.

3610. I see he was on Mr. Gower's committee?—He never canvassed me.

3611. Did you see him?—I have seen him; but I have never seen him canvassing. THIRD DAY

A. Edwards.

24 Aug. 1866.

3612. Has Mr. Smith any connexion with the Wray-park estate?—Not that I am aware of.

3613. Who did you pay your rent to? — Mr. Morrison.

3614. When do you pay your rent? — At Lady day.

3615. For what length of time? — It was due Christmas without a quarter's law.

3616. Do you always take that law?—It is always given to us.

3617. Do you take more?—Sometimes we do when we cannot meet it.

3618. Have not you taken more law before the election?—Yes.

3619. Now at the time of the election how many quarters' rent did you owe?—We pay once a year.

3620. But you only paid 5*l.*, is that your whole rent?—I had not got any more money.

3621. Is that your whole rent?—No, 10*l.*

3622. When you paid the 5*l.* did you owe 5*l.* more?—Yes.

3623. For the whole year?—Yes.

3624. Then at the time of the election you were owing a twelve-month's rent?—Not this election.

3625. In 1865?—In 1865.

3626. How much rent did you owe at the time of the election in 1865?—I think 4*l.*

3627. Your rental is 10*l.* a year?—Yes.

3628. Is it quarterly rental or weekly rental?—Yearly.

3629. Did you owe a twelve-month's rent at the time of the election?—I cannot say.

3630. Do not you pay more than once a year?—Only once a year.

3631. Then you are allowed three months?—My rent is due at Christmas, and we pay it at Lady day.

3632. You mean to say at the time of the election no rent was due?—I forget when the election was.

3633. When is your rent payable; at Lady day or Christmas?—Due at Christmas, payable at Lady day.

3634. Had you paid your previous Christmas rent?—I had not paid it all up.

3635. How much did you owe upon it?—4*l.* I paid it afterwards.

3636. At the time of the election had anybody spoken to you about this back rent?—I spoke to other people about it.

3637. I suppose you rather wished to make it known that you did owe rent?—I did not like to be in debt.

3638. And you rather wished at the time of the election to make it known that you did owe rent?—Yes.

3639. Why?—Because sometimes there is money flying about at the elections.

3640. You wanted to get some money to pay your back rent?—Of course I did.

3641. Just answer this upon your oath. Did not you say to Mr. Gilbert that you did not wish anything to be said about Mr. Smith for private reasons?—Yes, I did. I told him, and he said he could erase it.

3642. For private reasons?—Yes.

3643. What were your private reasons? — My reason was because it was not true.

3644. Did not that owing the money to the agent of Lord Somers have any influence upon you in your voting?—I do not know about that. I was willing to pay as soon as I could get the money.

JAMES APTED sworn and examined.

J. Apted.

3645. (The Chief Commissioner.) Where you present when the last witness, Allen Edwards, made a statement to Mr. Gilbert?—Yes.

3646. Just look at that (a paper was handed to the witness.) That is your signature, is it not, at the bottom?—Yes.

3647. The signature is to this part: "The above "statement was distinctly read to Allen Edwards in "my presence, and signed by him." Then there is your signature "James Apted"?—Yes.

3648. Of course that is true that you heard that statement read to Allen Edwards?—Yes.

THIRD DAY.
J. Apted.
24 Aug. 1866.

3649. And that it was signed by him?—Yes; and at the time that signature was put to it I was present.

3650. What I want to know is, whether that was the statement read to Edwards when he signed it?—Yes, he volunteered it.

3651. Mr. Edwards volunteered it to Mr. Gilbert?—Yes.

3652. When he made it it was put down in writing, Mr. Gilbert wrote it down and read it over to him?—Yes.

3653. Did he read over to him after it was taken down?—Yes.

3654. And then Mr. Allen Edwards signed it?—Yes.

3655. Was all this done seriously and so as to lead you to believe that it was honest?—I believed that it was honest, because Mr. Allen Edwards had told me the morning before the election came off.

3656. Then am I right in saying that Allen Edwards told you the substance of the statement before the election came off?—Yes.

3657. Do you remember pretty well the statement that he did make?—Yes, every word that he said.

3658. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He made a statement to you before he voted?—Yes.

3659. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you hear him say this, or anything to this effect, to Mr. Gilbert; tell me if you can recollect it, and if you cannot say so. Did you hear him say anything to this effect: "I voted for Mr. Richardson at the Reigate election "'65. Some time before the election Mr. Joyes "came and offered me 30*s.* per week to work for Mr. "Gower, if I would vote for him; I told him that I "would think of it. After that Frederick Joyes "came to me and asked me to vote for Mr. Gower. I "said no; he then said, I will give you 5*l.* if you will "'vote for Mr. Gower; you can go and see if you can "'get any from the other side, get it and come and "'vote for Gower, and you shall have the 5*l.*'"?—Yes, he told me that Mr. Smith counted the five sovereigns out on the counter.

3660. "Smith came and asked me to vote for Mr. "Gower, and counted five sovereigns on the counter "at my shop, and asked me if I would take it"?—Yes, he told me that, but I do not know whether it was true or not.

3661. That was before this statement was made?—Yes.

3662. Before he voted?—Yes.

3663. "With regard to these transactions I must "request that no notice be taken, as I do not wish "for private reasons to say anything about Mr. Smith; "it will be quite sufficient to rely on Mr. Frederick "Joyes"?—He said that he wanted to lay all the blame on Mr. Joyes.

3664. I have repeatedly seen Mr. Gower, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Frederick Joyes calling from house to house on polling day. I never received any money for my vote; I was only promised by the persons I have named: was that the substance of what he said?—Yes.

3665. Did he tell you that in substance before the election?—Yes.

3666. Whom did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

3667. Were you canvassed for Mr. Monson by himself or by somebody else?—I was canvassed both by Mr. Gower and by Mr. Monson.

3668. You promised Mr. Monson I suppose?—No, I did not.

3669. Mr. Monson canvassed you himself?—Yes.

3670. Did you promise him at that time?—No, no one.

3671. Did you tell him you were going to vote for Mr. Gower?—No.

3672. Did Mr. Gower himself come afterwards and canvass you?—I think Mr. Gower canvassed me first.

3673. Did you promise him?—No, I told them neither of them were good enough for me.

3674. Were you canvassed by Mr. Monson afterwards, or were you canvassed by Mr. Monson's agents, or any one who appeared in his interests?—Mr. Monson came himself after to see me, and I told him I would not promise him, and I told the same to Mr. Gower.

3675. Were you canvassed after?—The first time, if I may be allowed to state it, was when Mr. Frederick Joyes came and said he wanted me to canvass for Mr. Gower, and asked me what I wanted, I said 50*l.* if I went the whole hog; if I was to work for him I should think it was not too much for my remuneration; and he went and told some one else, and they laughed at it.

3676. He came back and told you that your claim was laughed at?—Yes.

3677. He said that they thought that that was ridiculous; they laughed at it?—When I came to examine the books I found that all those who worked for him had 50*l.*

3678. Who did you find had 50*l.*?—I found it out in the auditor's accounts, I examined them myself; there was Job Apted, Frederick Joyes, Green, &c. I cannot tell you every one now, I have not got a copy with me, but I copied them at the time.

3679. They all had 50*l.*?—Yes.

3680. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) They were down for 50*l.*?—Yes.

3681. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you stick to the 50*l.* when Mr. Joyes came and told you that it was out of all reason?—He came and told my wife he had heard that I was going on the other side, and that he was very sorry for it.

3682. You were open to either side?—I was, because I was always open for Mr. Wilkinson. I have been connected with elections all throughout, and I have always stuck to my man. I was not like Mr. Searle, like a weathercock going from one side to the other.

3683. But at this time you had not fixed upon your man?—I beg your pardon.

3684. You had not decided between Mr. Monson and Mr. Gower?—Mr. Nicholls came first to me about going to Mr. Monson.

3685. Before Mr. Joyes came?—Yes. Before Mr. Wilkinson was dead I told Mr. Nicholls I could not possibly go from my man. You know I had always stuck to my man, but he was dead, and therefore I was free.

3686. Then you felt free?—Yes.

3687. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Free to any offer?—I had no offer.

3688. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were free. After that came Mr. Joyes, and then when Mr. Joyes came, that occurred about the 50*l.*?—Yes.

3689. Did you make an arrangement about the 50*l.* or any other arrangement with Mr. Joyes?—No, certainly not, they laughed at it.

3690. Then Mr. Joyes went away and gave you up as hopeless, I suppose?—I suppose that was so.

3691. Did you afterwards see anybody on behalf of Mr. Monson?—I went to Mr. Nicholls and told him.

3692. Let us have it all straight?—You shall have it.

3693. You went to Mr. Nicholls, and what did you say?—Mr. Nicholls did not make any offer at all.

3694. Did you tell him you had been offered 50*l.*?—Yes.

3695. What did he say to that?—I do not recollect what he did say; and I told him that they laughed at me.

3696. Something more passed when you saw Mr. Nicholls, did there not?—He said, "Will you go and "work for us now you are free."

3697. What was your answer to that?—I said, "Yes."

3698. And did you?—Yes.

3699. What were you to have from him?—Nothing.

3700. I mean from the party?—Not a single shilling; I am 50*l.* out of pocket now.

3701. I did not ask you that?—Yes, I believe you did.

3702. I did not ask you what you got; but what were you to have?—I did not make any arrangement with Mr. Nicholls at all, because Mr. Nicholls was a friend of mine, and I wanted to work for Mr. Monson; I always respected Mr. Monson.

3703. What I want to know from you is who it was you were to look to to reimburse you for your services; you know they were worth 50*l.*, more or less?—I considered it was remuneration to me to work for my friend without being paid any money at all.

3704. What do you mean? I do not think I quite understand that?—I did not expect any remuneration at all for working for Mr. Monson.

3705. I did not say you did; I have not asked you anything of the kind. You were to work for Mr. Monson at Mr. Nicholls' request?—Mr. Nicholls and Mr. Holdsworth asked me if I would work for him, and I said that I would.

3706. Now do come to the point; how were you to be remunerated for your services to Mr. Monson?—By doing a kindness to my friends.

3707. How was that to remunerate you? it would remunerate you in feeling, but not in pocket?—I consider my feelings are my pocket.

3708. You did not think so when you offered yourself to Mr. Joyes for 50*l.*?—I said if I did go to Mr. Gower I should want it, because I should go against my friends.

3709. Then you would go with your enemies for 50*l.* and with your friends gratis; you give that as an explanation, without anything else to qualify it?—I named the amount of 50*l.* because I was sure that they would not give it to me.

3710. You said, "I should take 50*l.* to go against my friends"?—Excuse me, I named 50*l.* because I thought they would not give it me.

3711. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Why did not you give that reason before?—It did not come into my mind.

3712. It did not come into your mind?—No.

3713. Is this the first time you have thought of it?—No.

3714–5. Then why did you look over the list of election expenses to see what the others were paid?

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) To see who had 50*l.*?—Because I signed the petition.

3716. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) But that is long after?—That was my reason.

3717. (The Chief Commissioner.) Be so good as to attend to this; in looking over the list of payments for services you found Job Heath Apted put down for 50*l.*?—Yes, I think I did.

3718. Did not you find Buckland put down for 50*l.*?—I believe I did; Mr. Gilbert has got a copy of it.

3719. Did you not also find Frederick Joyes put down for 50*l.*?—Yes.

3720. And did you not also find Mr. Henry Green put down for 50*l.*?—Yes.

3721. I suppose you considered yourself quite as good as they were?—To tell you the truth, I did not want to go on that side at all.

3722. I did not say you did; did you look at the accounts?—I did.

3723. And did you take care to furnish yourself with that information as to their price before you went to Mr. Joyes?—I never went to Mr. Joyes at all.

3724. Before you offered your services to Mr. Joyes at all?—How could that be?

3725. You say how could that be?—Those accounts were audited after the election.

3726. Did not you ascertain what they were down for?—No I did not, not till after the election.

3727. I thought you told us you found out that they were down for 50*l.*?—After the election.

3728. You told me you offered yourself for 50*l.*?—I offered myself to Mr. Joyes.

3729. What you told me was, that when you went to Mr. Joyes you had ascertained that the other agents were down for 50*l.*?—No, I did not.

3730. You said so?—I did not.

3731. If you said so, that was under a mistake?—I said that afterwards I went and saw the accounts with Mr. Gilbert after the election; I paid a shilling for it, to go over the accounts.

3732. You certainly told me before that before you went to Mr. Joyes you went over the accounts?—Oh no. If I did, I made a mistake.

3733. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why did you offer your services at 50*l.* if you had not at that time known that others were getting 50*l.*?—Merely because I thought it was too much, and that they would not bother me any more.

3734. (The Chief Commissioner.) You see now that that was about the amount?—I see it now, and that is why they have no reason to laugh at me.

The Chief Commissioner remarked that he had not laughed at the witness.

The Witness said that he was referring to those who had laughed at him.

3735. That being so, I believe you were canvassed not only by Joyes but by Apted, Durrant, Buckland, and Mazden too?—Not to my recollection.

3736. Surely you were canvassed by them; you might have been canvassed by all of them at once?—Yes, I might be informed by all of them, one and all; yes, I think it was.

3737. And Mr. Apted and Mr. Buckland came to you rather specially, did they not?—They came with Mr. Gower.

3738. Do you recollect being at a meeting of Mr. Gower's supporters, when Mr. Gower was present, at a chapel in what is called Holmesdale Freehold?—That was one of Mr. Gower's pure meetings; he had churches and chapels.

3739. I do not want you to give a complexion to Mr. Gower's meetings; never mind where he thought it right to hold them, it is nothing to you or me either; you were at the meeting?—Yes.

3740. The meeting took place in the chapel?—Yes.

3741. Whose chapel is it. I dare say you can tell me?—No, it is for the freehold.

3742. Can you tell me who is the minister of the chapel?—No.

3743. After the meeting at the chapel was over did you go with several other persons to the "Barley Mow" public house?—No; I only went with one.

3744. When you got there there were several there?—Yes.

3745. You went with only one person?—Yes.

3746. Did you have refreshments there?—I believe I had a glass of ale with Rose.

3747. With Rose?—Yes, Ephraim Rose.

3748. Can you tell me, if you please, when the meeting was?—I cannot tell you now. I could tell you at home.

3749. But about?—I think it was about a fortnight before the election.

3750. Did you hear Mr. Joyes give any order about supplying refreshments?—Yes.

3751. Did he desire that refreshments might be supplied to those who wanted them?—He said, let them have everything in reason, or something of that kind.

3752. Who was to pay?—I did not hear that. I saw Mrs. Nicholls writing it down. I stood at the back of her, and saw her write.

3753. And you had some?—I paid for what I had.

3754. Why did you pay for what you had?—I had no connexion with them. I wanted to see what they were doing.

3755. You thought it was but right, as you belonged to the other party, that you should pay for yours?—Yes.

3756. Do you remember a meeting at the "Castle" of Mr. Gower's supporters?—At the "Castle"?

3757. Yes.—Yes.

3758. Can you tell me whether that was about the same time?—I think it was before.

3759. Not much?—Not more than a day's difference.

3760. That was a meeting of Mr. Gower's supporters?—Yes.

3761. You were there, were you not?—I was there

THIRD DAY.
J. Apted.
24 Aug. 1866.

when they were there; they were upstairs, and I was down, I believe.

3762. Did you hear orders given on that occasion about refreshments ?—Yes.

3763. Were any orders given to the landlord ?—To the landlord and landlady too.

3764. Were orders given to supply refreshments ?—Joyes said he would pay for it, and he had to go up town, and get the money, because Mrs. Green would not trust him, and said that there was a shilling or two shillings for the previous election to Mr. Joyes' account.

3765. Did you have any refreshment ?—I always paid for what I had.

3766. We will come to that. You recollect you had something ?—Yes, I do.

3767. Did you pay for it ?—Yes, I did.

3768. Why ? because you belonged to the other side ?—Yes.

3769. Was that the reason that you paid, because your conscience told you you were belonging to the other side ?—Not quite so.

3770. What was it ?—I always paid for what I had wherever I went. I did not have anything paid for during the whole election.

3771. Do you remember very well the election of '63 happening ?—I have been in all the elections.

3772. You remember '63 ?—Yes.

3773. You voted I assume, from what you have said, for Mr. Wilkinson ?—I had not got a vote.

3774. Were you active about that election ?—Yes.

3775. For Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

3776. Where were his committees held ?—I generally went to the "Swan."

3777. Who kept the "Swan" ?—Blackiston.

3778. Was there refreshment there ?—Yes ; I had refreshment wherever I went.

3779. And who paid for it ?—I did.

3780. Did you do things for Mr. Wilkinson ?—I canvassed for him.

3781. Who desired you to do so ?—Mr. James.

3782. He was Mr. Wilkinson's agent ?—Yes.

3783. I dare say you did a good deal for him ?—I do not know whether I did or did not. I worked.

3784. What were your services worth on that occasion ?—I do not know what they were worth.

3785. What did you get for them ?—10*l.* from Mr. James.

3786. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) 10*l.* for your work. You worked for your friend Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

3787. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know Ephraim Rose; you went to the meeting in the chapel with him ?—Yes.

3788. After the meeting was held at the chapel ?—Yes.

The Witness here objected to any notes being passed to the Commissioners by a gentleman of the name of Smith, and said that that gentleman had better cross-examine him.

The Chief Commissioner remarked that so long as the witness stated the truth he had no occasion to fear anything in the world.

3789. Tell me what your duties consisted in ; in canvassing ?—Yes.

3790. Did you canvass many people ?—Every one I knew who had a vote ; I mean of my own class, I never went higher than that.

3791. Your class is a very good one; was your class then the same as it is now ?—About the same.

3792. Well, it is a very respectable class. What I want to know is how many persons you did canvass ?—I cannot tell you ; perhaps 300 or 400.

3793. I will ask you this question plainly. Was there anything of what is called treating for Mr. Wilkinson at that election ?—I cannot tell you myself.

3794. Why not ?—I do not know.

3795. You attended committee meetings ?—Yes.

3796. Did you see refreshments ?—I generally paid for myself and one or two friends besides.

3797. Generally. Did you always ?—I cannot say that.

3798. You cannot say that you did always ; you mean by that that sometimes you did not ?—Sometimes I did not.

3799. Am I right in saying frequently you were at meetings when refreshments were ordered by some friends of Mr. Wilkinson's, and nobody paid who partook of them ?—I could not recollect any case.

3800. You cannot ?—No, it is so long ago now ; I should not like to say without I knew; it is three or four years ago.

3801. On some occasions you say you and your friends did not pay for what there was ?—I say we might not have done.

3802. Was there any treating at that election for Mr. Gower ?—Oh yes, you have got the brief I suppose. I have given my evidence in getting up the evidence for the last election.

3803. Was there any treating of Mr. Gower's friends on that occasion ?—You have got the list.

3804. You refuse to answer ?—I cannot recollect. If you will read the brief over to me I will tell you; that will bring it to my recollection ; if you will read over to me anything that I have stated, of course I will tell you.

3805. When did you make this statement about the election of 1863 ?—I made that statement to Mr. James.

3806. You have not made a statement to anybody else ?—Not to my recollection ; but if you can recollect anybody's name, then I might recollect the circumstance.

3807. Then I must still ask you whether you knew if on the election of 1863 there was treating by Mr. Gower's friends ; I mean by that, people who go into houses and get refreshments and come out without paying for them ?—I believe they did.

3808. Do you mean to say that it was done more for Mr. Gower's party than Mr. Wilkinson's ?—Certainly I thought so, and I knew it, or else I should not have troubled myself about the petition.

3809. I am now upon the election of 1863. You say you were quite sure of it. You have already proved that there was some treating on behalf of Mr. Wilkinson in 1863 ?—No ; at my own hands.

3810. I do not know what you mean by saying at your own hands ; you said that you and your friends took refreshments without paying ?—I said that I paid for it, but I might have had it without paying for it.

3811. You say you might ?—Yes, I might.

3812. You seem now to have less doubt about Mr. Gower's treating ?—Decidedly so.

3813. I will take it so; I am quite willing to take your answer in that way ; had you been previously to that a voter at all ?—No.

3814. You never voted at any of the previous elections, did you ?—No.

3815. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You took an active part then for Mr. Monson at this election ?

3816. Did you attend at the committees ? did you attend committee meetings ?—I believe I did.

3817. You believe you did ?—I believe I did.

3818. You believe you did ; is that the only answer you can give to a plain question ; you attended committee meetings, you believe you did ?—Yes.

3819. That is the only answer ?—Well, I did.

3820. (The Chief Commissioner.) That is not quite the same thing ?—I do not know any one particular meeting of Mr. Monson's that I attended.

3821. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) We should be very much more likely to believe you if you would give a straightforward answer.

(The Witness.) I give you what information I can.

3822. Did you canvass much ?—Yes.

3823. Did you canvass a man of the name of Balchin ?—No, I did not.

3824. Alfred Balchin ?—No.

3825. Are you James Apted the pork butcher ?—Yes.

3826. There is only yourself ?—I am the person whom I think you mean.

3827. What do you think I mean ?—I know that he gave his evidence in the House of Commons.

3828. He said that you offered him 5l. ?—No.

3829. You gave him 5l. ?—I gave him 5l.

3830. You gave 5l. to James Balchin ?—Yes, I gave it him for five weeks' work.

3831. What was that for ?—I told Mr. Brown, the gentleman I engaged for the election, I wanted four or five working men to canvass among the working men, and he said he would find them ; he said, "You "can give me the money, and I will pay for them."

3832. Who is James Brown ?—A plasterer.

3833. Who did he vote for ?—I do not think he had a vote.

3834. Did he take any interest in the election ?—Yes.

3835. Did he work for Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

3836. And you employed him ?—Yes.

3837. Did you give the 5l. or Mr. Brown ?—I could not swear who it was.

3838. Were you together ?—Yes, Mr. Brown came and told me he wanted the money, and I gave it him.

3839. I did not mean Mr. Brown having the money, but Balchin ?—Yes, he had the money.

3840. Mr. Brown was with you ?—Yes.

3841. Who gave it him ?—I cannot say ; that came out of my pocket.

3842. Whether you had it from Brown first, at all events Balchin got it ?—Yes.

3843. What was he to do ?—Mr. Brown told me he was working in the night, looking after the voters.

3844. The voters ?—Yes, our voters ; Mr. Monson's voters.

3845. Did you know what Mr. Balchin had in fact done ?—I know no more than what Mr. Brown told me.

3846. Was that told you in the presence of Balchin ?—Yes.

3847. What did he say ; did he say he had done anything ?—Yes, that he was working at nights.

3848. Did he say how many nights ?—Working for Mr. Brown.

3849. Mr. Brown was employed by you, and was your servant ?—Yes, I asked him whether it was right, and he said "yes."

3850. Was that the only thing that made you give him 5l. ?—I asked whether it was all right, and he said it was all right, he has been working at nights looking after the freehold.

3851. Balchin was a voter ?—Yes.

3852. Was this 5l. paid before the election ?—I believe it was.

3853. How long ?—It might be one day or two days.

3854. Whom did you get the 5l. from for Balchin ?—Mr. Nicholls.

3855. Did you tell him what you wanted the 5l. for ?—I had 5l. or 10l. from Mr. Nicholls when I wanted it.

3856. How much money from first to last did you require from Mr. Nicholls for the purpose of the election, 50l., 60l., or 100l. ?—I should think 50l. or 60l.

3857. Did you not receive more ?—No, I do not think I did.

3858. Where did you generally receive this money ?—I went and asked Mr. Nicholls for it.

3859. Where ?—At the "Grapes."

3860. Was that the head establishment of the Monson party ?—The "White Hart" was.

3861. I suppose the "Grapes" was the next ?—Yes.

3862. Just opposite the "White Hart" ?—Yes.

3863. Was that where the committee met ?—I never knew a committee meet there.

3864. When Mr. Nicholls gave you this money were there any other persons present ?—I think not. I went to him and said I had got some men to work, and they wanted a pound or two, and that I wanted so much to pay the men.

3865. And he gave it you ?—Yes.

3866. What were your men working at ?—Carrying messages and circulars and bills, &c.

3867. How many men had you got working in that way for you ?—I should think perhaps eight or nine, and then Brown had five or six, and I paid all his men.

3868. You paid Mr. Brown, and Mr. Brown paid his men ?—Yes.

3869. What district did you take ?—The whole of the borough.

3870. And you paid Mr. Brown's men ?—When he came to me I went to Mr. Nicholls.

3871. Did you know of other persons who were acting for Mr. Monson in the same way as you were, and had servants under them ?—Yes, I think I can guess.

3872. I think you can guess, and if you will guess I shall be quite satisfied with that ?—Well, Rose, Mr. Page ; I only suppose so, I am not saying that I know it for a fact.

3873. We know about them ; cannot you tell us of somebody we do not know about ?—There was Thomas Jordan.

3874. Who is he ?—He is a bricklayer, a builder.

3875. What, a working bricklayer ?—He is now working on Fotherhill Estate.

3876. In what way ?—I believe he does work on his own account.

3877. Do you know where he lives ?—Mead-vale.

3878. Is he a voter ?—Yes.

3879. And about what rent is his house ?—15l. or 16l. a year I should think, according to my estimate.

3880. Was he a person having workmen under him, I mean election workmen ?—I only say I suppose so; I have seen him call Mr. Nicholls on one side the same way that I did myself.

3881. He went to him on the same errand, as you suppose, as yourself ?—Yes.

3882. Did you ever see money pass from Mr. Nicholls to Mr. Jordan ?—Not to any one but myself.

3883. Did you ever see Ephraim Rose there ?—I have seen him there.

3884. And talking to Mr. Nicholls in the same way as you talked when you wanted money ?—Yes.

3885. Have you seen him there often ?—Yes.

3886. Calling Mr. Nicholls aside ?—Yes.

3887. Give me the name of somebody else besides Jordan whom you have noticed ?—A man of the name of Miller.

3888. What is his Christian name ?—I do not know ; he lives at Redhill.

3889. That is the Foreign part ?—Yes.

3890. Is he a voter ?—I believe so ; I saw him very frequently.

3991. Near Redhill Church, is that the man ?—He used to stick bills.

3892. He is one of the Foreign voters ?—Yes.

3893. His name is Thomas Miller, near Redhill Church ?—I believe that is the man. I have seen him there very often, more often than any one else.

3894. More often than you ?—Yes.

3895. Calling Mr. Nicholls aside ?—Yes.

3896. In the same way as you when you got your money from Mr. Nicholls ?—Yes.

3897. Where did Mr. Nicholls get this money from ?—His pocket.

3898. Did he always have it ready when you wanted 5l. ?—Yes, he always had it ready.

3899. He always put his hand in his pocket, and pulled it out ?—Yes, he always had it ready.

3900. What used you to say to him ?—I used to say "I want some money, I have got some men to pay "to night."

3901. It was not always on a Saturday night, you know ?—Oh no.

3902. Just whenever you wanted it ?—Yes.

3903. Did you never spend any money at all that you received from Mr. Nicholls in any other way but to pay these men that went out with these bills ?—I do not know that I did.

3904. Were these persons you employed in carrying out bills generally voters ?—There were some of them not voters.

3905. Can you name me one that was not a voter ?—I employed one of my own men in the night to go and watch, because they were watching us ; we could not go into a house without they knew it.

3906. Did you employ any man, excepting your own man, who was not a voter ?—James Brown was not a voter.

3907. He employed others ?—Yes, he employed some that were not voters.

3908. Do you know of any one that James Brown employed who was not a voter ?—I could not say the name.

3909. James Brown, you say, was not a voter ?—Yes.

3910. Can you tell me where he lived ?—He lived on the freehold.

3911. Where does he live now ?—In London.

3912. London is a large place ; where did you see him last ?—Oh, last Monday, and I asked him for his address, and he said he could not give it me.

3913. What is his Christian name ?—James.

3914. You think you saw him in London on Monday ?—On Monday or Tuesday.

3915. Have you ever written to him ?—I did not know his address.

3916. Have you ever written to him before Monday ?—No.

3917. How came he to come down here ?—He came down because he wanted to borrow money from the society.

3918. What society ?—The investment society.

3919. Did he borrow any money of the investment society ?—I believe he did.

3920. Is the money paid by instalments ?—I believe it is.

3921. What investment society is it ?—Mr. Smith knows.

3922. Tell us what investment society it is, not anything else ?—The National.

3923. Tell me where they carry on business ?—In the High-street.

3924. In this town ?—Yes.

3925. I presume he would give them his address ?—I believe so.

3926. Do you know anything about this investment society ; at what period of time they pay the instalments, whether it is weekly ?—No, I do not know ; I never had money of the society.

3927. You say you have not seen him since Monday ?—Not since Monday or Tuesday.

3928. Has he any relations here ?—Not to my knowledge. He has a house here at Lisbon-lane.

3929. Has the house got a tenant ?—Yes.

3930. Where is the house ?—In Lisbon-lane.

3931. What is the name of the tenant ?—I think Caffin.

3932. Caffin lives there ?—I think he lives in the house.

3933. Do you know the number of the house ?—No, there is no number to it, but anybody knows it.

3934. Everybody knows it ?—Yes.

3935. I presume the tenant would know his address ?—I suppose so.

3936. He would know where to pay his rent ?—I expect he knows it.

3937. Did he refuse to give it to you ?—Yes.

3938. Did he state any reason why he would notgive it you ?—He said, "I do not want to have anything to "do with it," and I said, "You can let me know your "address, I want you to assist me."

3939. Did you suggest to him at all to keep out of the way ?—No.

3940. You did not suggest his keeping out of the way ?—No, I wanted him to be with me to help me.

3941. Then perhaps you will try and help us in finding him ?—I will.

3942. You say you saw this man Balchin have money. Did you canvass a person of the name of Goddard ?—Goddard.

3943. Yes ?—No.

3944. Up in the Foreign ?—No.

3945. Did you see him about the election ?—No.

3946. Before the election ?—No, James Brown negotiated with him.

3947. Did Mr. Brown tell you so ?—Yes.

3948. What was Mr. Brown paid ?—The same as the others.

3949. Was that 5*l.* ?—Yes.

3950. What was he to do for his 5*l.* ?—The same as Balchin, canvassing amongst the working men, taking messages, or anything that was required.

3951. Do you know whether he canvassed ?—I do not know; Mr. Brown can tell you.

3952. This man Goddard, what was he working at ?—I do not know.

3953. What was he ?—I think he was a labouring man.

3954. Do you know where he lives ?—Yes.

3955. What sort of a house had he, about what rent ?—I should think about 10*l.* a year.

3956. Then he was a voter ?—Yes.

3957. And canvassed ?—Yes, amongst the working men. I told Mr. Brown I wanted four or five men to canvass amongst the working men while they were at work along with the men, and at night to see whether the other party went to the other voters.

3958. Do you know a man of the name of Warren ?—Yes.

3959. Was he in the Foreign ?—Yes.

3960. Did you see Brown employ him ?—Yes.

3961. Those are two of Mr. Brown's men, voters ?—Three.

3962. Was Balchin a voter ?—Yes.

3963. Any more of Mr. Brown's men ?—Yes.

3964. Who is he ?—Filer.

3965. Was he on the register ?—He was.

3966. Is he living here now ?—On the freehold.

3967. Is he a working man too ?—Yes, a gardener. He worked for Mr. Wicks, and he told me that Mr. Wicks had told him to take all he could get, and I called him a liar.

3968. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why should not he if he was employed as a working man, and wanted to work for a time ; why should not he be paid when he had done that ?—He said the master told him to take the money, Mr. Wicks did, and I said you are a liar, Mr. Wicks is not a gentleman of that sort.

3969. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You wanted to get all the money you could ?—I could not get any ; I was out of pocket.

3970. You would have gone to the other side for 50*l.* if you could have got it ?—No, I would not.

3971. You told us so ; you did not go over because they would not give it you ?—I told you I asked that sum because I was quite sure they would not give it me.

3972. Suppose they had taken you at your bargain ?—I should have said 20*l.* more.

3973. Would you have gone for 20*l.* more ?—No, nor yet for 100*l.*

3974. Just before the election were you at the "Red Cross ;" do you know the "Red Cross" ?—Yes.

3975. What house is that ?—The "Red Cross" ?

3976. Whose ?—Mr. Holdsworth's.

3977. You say that gentleman is the landlord ?—Yes.

3978. When I say whose, and you say Holdsworth's, you would be surprised if I asked you again whether it was Mr. Monson's house ?—No, it was Holdsworth's.

3979. Did Mr. Monson have any committee there ?—Mr. Holdsworth voted for Mr. Monson.

3980. Was there any committee there ?—They were frequently in and out, but no committee meeting.

3981. Were you frequently in and out ?—Yes.

3982. Did you have any refreshments there ?—Yes.

3983. And did you pay for them ?—Yes.

3984. You swear that ?—Yes.

3985. Were there persons there at all who were not paying ?—Not to my knowledge.

3986. Were there persons there meeting in any side room or parlour, or any room alone ?—I never saw any very private room ; it was generally public.

3987. Did you ever see any private room without the "very" ?—Only with Mr. Holdsworth and myself.

3988. You, Holdsworth, and who ?—No one else.

3989. Did you ever meet anybody there the night before the election ?—I was in the place ; if there is anything you can bring to my memory I will explain it to you.

3990. I want you to assist us ; you being an honest man, you must tell us honestly and openly what did take place, and not leave it to be pumped out. You are coming to this box to tell us the truth and the whole truth, and to tell us the whole truth without it being pumped out in this way ; it is not to be dragged out of you ?—You might refresh my memory.

3991. I will refresh your memory. Did you, at the "Red Cross," offer to give or give any men 5*l.* apiece ?—No.

3992. Did you give them any sum of money ?—No.

3993. Did you give any money there or elsewhere on that night ?—No.

3994. Or any other night ?—Now you have refreshed my memory perhaps I can tell you. You were alluding to those men we have heard of before.

3995. No, I am not ?—Then I do not know anything about it.

3996. I am alluding to some men who voted for Mr. Richardson. Did you give any money to men to vote for Mr. Richardson ?—No.

3997. At any time ?—Yes.

3998. Do you know of any men at all receiving a sum of money to vote for Mr. Monson, to the extent of about 60*s.* ?—No ; only what I did myself.

3999. Only what you did yourself ?—Yes, with Mr. Brown.

4000. Was there any person who voted for Mr. Richardson that you know of ?—Edwards ; I know him.

4001. Was he the only one out of the few that voted for Mr. Richardson ?—I believe Francis nominated him, and Holdsworth seconded Mr. Richardson.

4002. Do you swear that at the "Red Cross" you never paid any money to anybody to vote for Mr. Richardson ?—No.

4003. Or for Mr. Monson ?—No ; only the men that I employed.

4004. Were you at the "Red Cross" at the night before the election ?—I cannot say.

4005. You can ?—Yes ; I was all over the houses.

4006. Did you pay any money at all for what you had that night at the houses ?—Not to my knowledge.

4007. Not any money at all ?—I do not recollect it.

4008. You do not recollect ; try and remember ?—I have tried ; if anything comes out during the inquiry and you find it out, I will give you every information I possibly can. I do not wish to keep it from you.

4009. If we find it out, then, you will give us every information ?—Yes.

Mr. Commissioner Smith remarked that the witness, after his last satisfactory answer, might go. Mr. Commissioner O'Brien said he would first ask him a few questions.

4010. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I am sorry to trouble you ; you have been a very good witness ; but just tell me this, Mr. Wilkinson was your great friend, was he not ?—Yes.

4011. Politically ?—Yes.

4012. You worked for him ?—Yes.

4013. You were a voter then ?—No.

4014. Then how was it you were a particular friend of his, if you did not vote for him ?—I had no vote ; I could not vote.

4015. I understood you to say you were free at the last election, because Mr. Wilkinson was dead ?—I should have voted for Mr. Wilkinson as long as he lived ; he was a gentleman I respected.

4016. He was a great friend of yours ?—Yes ; not personally.

4017. You received 10*l.* for working for him ?—Yes.

4018. But you got more from Mr. Monson ?—I do not think I did.

4019. I understood you to say in the early part of the examination, that 50*l.* would not recoup you for the work you did for Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

4020. You said that ?—Yes.

4021. Did you keep any account of the monies you received—you know you are a man of business ; now did you keep any account of the monies you received from time to time from Mr. Nicholls ?—No.

4022. You are a man accustomed to accounts ?—Yes.

4023. Did you not keep an account from time to time of the monies you paid away ?—No.

4024. Did you keep any account of the monies you paid to Mr. Brown, that Brown paid away ?—Yes.

4025. How much did Brown pay away ?—17*l.* 10*s.*

4026. Will you tell me how it was that you did not keep an account of what you paid away, as well as of what Mr. Brown paid away ?—He was the sub-agent.

4027. I like to go by steps. You paid Mr. Brown 17*l.* 10*s.*, did you ?—Yes.

4028. Then that is what you mean, that he was the sub-agent ?—Yes, to pay to other men.

4029. Did you get vouchers from Mr. Brown for the monies he paid ?—No.

4030. Have you no account of that, no memorandum book ?—No ; none whatever.

4031. Why did you not keep the account ?—They voted against us after working for us.

4032. I do not care how they voted. How is it you did not keep the account between you and Mr. Brown ; did not you keep it in a memorandum book ; have you not your memorandum book at home ?—No.

4033. What became of it ?—I never had it.

4034. Did you put it down in writing ?—No.

4035. I thought you kept an account of it ?—The only account I kept was in my head.

4036. You have not got an account in your head of what you paid yourself ?—I told you 50*l.* or 60*l.*

4037. That is not the way generally for a man to account for monies he receives, is it ; do you not know how much Mr. Nicholls gave you ?—Mr. Nicholls perhaps can tell you ; no doubt he kept an account of it.

4038. Now, when you went to Mr. Nicholls you told him you had asked for 50*l.* from Mr. Joyes, and that he would not give it you ; and that then Mr. Nicholls said, "Well, you go and work for us" ?—Yes.

4039. He did say that ?—Yes.

4040. Did you understand then that you were to work as a friend ?—Yes.

4041. "To work for us" ? Does not work generally mean payment ?—I think I answered that before. I answered that if I did it for a friend I consider that it is payment.

4042. Will you be good enough to inform us whether they were keeping publics open on behalf of Mr. Gower in 1863. Do you know what we mean by being open ; where people walk in and get refreshment and do not pay for it ?—I told this gentleman that I could not recollect any particular case.

4043. You said the houses for Mr. Gower were open ?—I do not think I did, and if I did I made a mistake.

THIRD DAY.

T. Barham.

24 Aug. 1866.

TILDEN BARHAM sworn and examined.

4044. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are an engine-driver living at Ladbrook-place ?—Yes.

4045. You are a voter for the borough of Reigate ?—Yes.

4046. For whom did you vote ?—I did not vote at all.

4047. You did not vote at all at the last election ?—No.

4048. Do you recollect being canvassed at the last election, before the election ?—No.

4049. Were you not canvassed ?—No.

4050. Do you know Mr. Goss ?—Yes.

4051. Did not Mr. Goss call upon you ?—Yes, he did.

4052. And asked you to vote for Mr. Gower ?—I do not know hardly whether he did or not, I believe he did, but I cannot say for certain.

4053. He called upon you ?—He did.

4054. I believe you had not made up your mind at that time for whom to vote ?—No, I had not.

4055. You told him you had not made up your mind ?—Yes.

4056. And I believe he took a fancy, did he not, to a row of peas that were growing in your garden ?—Yes.

4057. He took a fancy to them ; he looked at them ?—Yes.

4058. They were very flourishing, were they not ?—They were.

4059, Who is this gentleman, Mr. William Henry Goss ? Does he live in the neighbourhood ?—In Mead's-vale, I believe.

4060. He did not grow peas so well, did he ?—No.

4061. He offered you 10*l.*, did he not ?—He never offered it.

4062. He said he would give you 10*l.* for them ?—Yes.

4063. Of course you did not want to sell them ?—No.

4064. And you did not know what he meant ?—I gave a good guess.

4065. You thought the vote was to go with the peas ?—I did.

4066. And you told him I believe, not meaning the vote, I think you told him the row of peas was more than 10*l.* ?—I did.

4067. You thought they would be worth more money, and upon that he said, Well, he thought that would be a good price for them ?—Yes.

4068. They must have been early peas I think to have been worth that money ?—They must have been a good sort.

4069. They were a very good sort. Now, tell me, did you cultivate them yourself ?—I did, and they were very high.

4070. Well stitcked up, were they not ?—Yes.

4071. Did you expect an offer for them ?—I did not.

4072. What quantity was there, do you think ?—I should say there were about five yards of them.

4073. And that would be 2*l.* a yard ?—Yes.

4074. And this was some time in July ?—Yes.

4075. Are there many voters there about the railway; there are others besides yourself ?—Yes.

4076. I forgot to ask you what rent you pay ?—6*s.* a-week.

4077. And your garden, the garden is included ?—Yes.

4078. A very valuable piece of land. He asked you, did he not, if you could get him some votes there, amongst the railway people, for Mr. Gower?—He asked me if I could.

4079. And that if you got him 10, if you could secure him 10, what money were you to have ?—100*l.*

4080. Without the peas ?—Without the peas.

4081. You did not make any agreement with him ?—I did not.

4082. But you found he had called again ?—Yes.

4083. You were not at home ?—I was not.

4084. And you did not vote at all ?—I did not.

4085. Were you at all canvassed on the other side ?—No.

4086. By no one else ?—By no one else.

4087. When Mr. Goss came was Mr. Apted with him ?—I never saw him.

4088. Mr. Job Apted ?—I only saw Mr. Goss the first time.

4089. Did you hear Mr. Apted had called with him ?—I do not know which it was.

4090. Who told you they had called at your house ?—My missus told me, my wife.

E. Langton.

EDWARD LANGTON sworn and examined.

4091. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you a voter for this borough ?—Yes.

4092. How long have you been a voter ? Have you voted at previous elections ?—At two elections.

4093. '63 and '65 ?—Yes.

4094. What is your qualification ?—A bricklayer.

4095. I do not mean what you work at, but what is your qualification for voting ; what rented house have you got ?—5*s.* 6*d.*

4096. 5*s.* 6*d.* per week ?—Yes.

4097. Who did you vote for this last election ?—Mr. Gower.

4098. Who did you vote for on the previous election ?—Mr. Wilkinson.

4099. Were you canvassed by the Monson party ?—No.

4100. For '65 ?—No.

4101. They never canvassed you ?—No.

4102. Were you canvassed for by Mr. Gower's party ?—Yes.

4103. Who canvassed you first ?—Mr. Green.

4104. Mr. Henry Green ?—Yes.

4105. When did he canvass you ?—I cannot say exactly ; I cannot say when it was, I know it was dinner time.

4106. You dine every day. How long was it before the election ?—I cannot say ; three or four weeks or a fortnight, I cannot say.

4107. A fortnight before the election ?—Yes.

4108. You were not in that time ?—Not that I am aware of.

4109. When Mr. Green canvassed you did you say anything to him about the payment of the working men ?—When he asked me first whether I was going along with them I said, "I do not know," and I said "how will it run," and he said, "I do not know." I said, "I must know." He said, "I do not dare to "say, or else I should throw myself open to a fine."

4110. Did you know what he meant by that ?—I could give a guess.

4111. Was anything said about payment ?—Yes.

4112. What did Mr. Green say about payment ?—I asked him what he thought it would run to, and he kept hesitating ; at last he said, "I do not know ;" and I said, "Will it run a sevener." "I do not "know Ned," he said. I wanted about the usual thing. He said, "Well, Ned, I do not know, I might "manage a fiver." I said, "Well, that won't do, "some of my mates are getting more on the other "side." Whether they were or not I did not know.

4113. You threw that out as a feeler ?—Yes. He said, "Well, we will manage it. I dare say it will be

"all right." He said, "Let's bona fides it." I said, "Yes, sir." I was in a hurry to go, it was near 2 o'clock, and I made a bolt for work, and he hollaed out, "Now do not forget." I said, "No."

4114. For this money were you to do anything?—Whether I was or not I do not know, but I did not do anything; he did not say anything to me, and I was in a hurry to get to work.

4115. You were in a hurry to go away and went away?—Yes, I had got my work to go to.

4116. You went to your work?—Yes.

4117. Whether what you said was a fact or not, did you in fact then, or have you since known, of any person on the other side having had money?—No.

4118. Of the Monson party?—No.

4119. Amongst your mates?—No.

4120. Did you know of any of your mates having been promised any monies excepting yourself?—No.

4121. Not of your own knowledge?—No.

4122. Have you heard them say anything about it?—No.

4123. Did you tell them you were going to get a fiver?—No.

4124. You kept that to yourself?—Of course.

4125. Did you attend the meetings?—No.

4126. You did not attend any meetings?—No.

4127. Did you vote?—Yes.

4128. Who for?—Mr. Gower.

4129. Having voted, did you ask Mr. Green for your money?—Yes.

4130. Did you ask Mr. Green for your money before you voted?—No.

4131. You asked him afterwards. Now what did he say when you asked him?—He said he had never promised anything, and would never give me anything.

4132. He would never give you anything?—He never intended to do so.

4133. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that after the election?—After I had voted.

4134. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you seen Mr. Green after he had promised you this money, and before the election; had you met with him between that time?—Oh, several times.

4135. Then you did not mention it?—Not to him.

4136. You did not mention it again?—Not till after the election.

4137. And then he said that he would not pay you?—Yes.

4138. Did Mr. Green give you any reason why he would not pay you the 5*l.*?—Because I had gone round about with the other party.

4139. With Mr. Monson's party?—Yes.

4140. Did you go about with the other party?—No more than going and chaffing and joking with them of a night, the same as with any other persons.

4141. Did you go to the houses used by the other party, Monson's party, and joke with them there?—No.

4142. You had been with the Monson party?—Just as I was coming home. I was at work at that time in the night at overtime, and I did not trouble myself about the election at all; it was not worth my while.

4143. Had Mr. Green any reason to say you were going about with the other party?—I dare say he had seen me joking with the other party, chaff with them, nothing more.

4144. That was the reason he gave why he would not pay you?—Yes.

4145. Then did he say to you, "Oh, well, you shall "have your money"?—Yes, something to that effect. I think what it was was: "I will see that you shall "have some."

4146. Was that after he had refused to give you the whole of the 5*l.*?—Yes.

4147. Was there more than one occasion that you asked him for the money?—Yes, twice.

4148. On which occasion was it that he said he would not give you any at all?—Both times he said he would not give me any; then he said afterwards he would see that I should have some.

4149. Was Mr. Green the only person that you had anything to do with with regard to the election?—Yes.

4150. Now in '63 you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

4151. Were you on his committee?—No.

4152. Did you have any money for voting then?—Yes.

4153. What did you receive for voting then?—7*l.*

4154. I suppose that is what induced you to ask Mr. Green for 7*l.* this time?—I worked four days for that.

4155. What do you generally get at work?—As much as ever I can earn, I work at the job; sometimes I get twice as much as that if I get hold of piecework.

4156. I suppose you would put an election with your best jobs?—Yes.

4157. Who paid you that money in '63?—Mr. Barker. He did not come to me for my vote; Mr. Wesley came to me for my vote.

4158. Do you mean William Wesley?—Henry. I would not vote without the money was given to a person I could trust with it.

4159. You would not trust Mr. Wesley?—No.

4160. It is a very good name to trust?—He said, "Whom do you choose," and I said, "I choose Mr. "Barker."

4161. What is Mr. Barker?—A tailor at Redhill, Warwick-town.

4162. Who did he vote for in '63?—I do not know. I used to lodge there. I knew him to be a tidy chap, I could trust him.

4163. Why did you not do the same this election?—Because I was wrong.

4164. Is Mr. Wesley now on the register?—I should say he was.

4165. Have you seen Mr. Wesley about here lately?—Yes.

4166. Was he living in the Foreign district?—Yes.

4167. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) In '63, when you had this from Mr. Wesley, had you been working for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

4168. Working for him at the election?—Yes.

4169. Up to the very day of the election?—Yes.

4170. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is it Henry Wesley, of Linkfield-road, is that the man?—Linkfield-lane.

4171. Do you know for whom he voted at the last election?—No.

4172. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is he living there now?—Yes.

4173. Is he working in the neighbourhood there now?—Yes.

4174. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I understood you to say that you had been working for the Gower party up to the day of the election in '63?—No, up to within four days.

4175. You had been working for him within three or four days of the election?—Yes.

4176. How long had you been at work for him?—Three or four weeks.

4177. What did you get a week?—1*l.*

4178. For the three or four weeks you were working?—Yes.

4179. And were you paid?—Yes. I had a pound on each Saturday night.

4180. Paid into your own hands?—Yes.

4181. Not into any friend's hands?—No.

4182. And then Mr. Wesley came to you?—Yes.

4183. And then for four days he gave you 7*l.*?—Yes.

THIRD DAY.

E. Langton.

24 Aug. 1866.

4184. Of course your vote was included in the 7*l.*?—He did not ask me that.

4185. Now, as an honest man, did you not know it was to be included in the 7*l.*?—I guessed at that.

4186. You knew it as well then as now?—I gave it.

4187. You knew the 7*l.* was for yourself and labour, and for your vote?—As I said before, I guessed at that.

4188. That was the reason that you ordered the 7*l.* to be deposited with your friend Mr. Barker, was it not?—Yes.

H. C. Beales.

HENRY CHARLES BEALES recalled and examined.

4189. (The Chief Commissioner.) You told me you voted at Mr. Gower's last election?—Yes.

4190. I wish you to recall the occasion when you met Mr. Gower and Mr. Joyes in the street before the election. You remember that?—Yes.

4191. Do you remember Mr. Joyes introducing you to Mr. Gower?—Yes.

4192. I believe Mr. Gower canvassed you for your vote?—Yes.

4193. He asked you to give it him?—Yes.

4194. Did you then say you might as well give it to him as anybody else, but you wanted to know whether it was to be the same as the others?—I told him if he did his duty to me the same as the others I would as lief vote for him as any one.

4195. Did they do anything when you said that?—No, they looked at each other.

4196. They looked at each other. Did either of them look at you?—Not as I know of.

4197. Did you notice Joyes look at you?—No, they looked at each other.

4198. When you saw them look at each other, what did you say upon that, did you say, "Oh, then I shall "vote for you, Mr. Gower"?—No; Mr. Gower asked me afterwards if I would.

4199. And after that, again you saw them look at each other, and did you then say, "Well, then, I will "vote for you, Mr. Gower"?—Yes, I did.

4200. Answer me this question if you please; did you say this, "Because they had not refused either of "them to give you what you hoped to have, exactly "the same as the others"?—I suppose I did.

4201. Then the polling day came, and before you came to the poll had you had any money?—No.

4202. Did you ask for your money before you went to the poll?—I wanted to know how I could get it.

4203. Did you ask any one for it?—No, not particular, and I did not know where to go to get it.

4204. Did you ask any one where you were to get it?—Not that I know of.

4205. Did you see any one, or make inquiries as to the best means of getting it?—No, I never see anyone in particular about it.

4206. Do you know Mr. Rolf?—Yes, but I never went to him.

4207. Had you any talk with him about it?—Yes, in the market place; the consequence was he was fetched to me, not I to him.

4208. When he came to you, what passed between him and you about the money?—He wanted to know what was the matter with me, because I would not vote for Mr. Gower. I wanted to know how I was to be paid, and who was to pay me.

4209. That is right enough I dare say, what did he say to you?—He told me he was Mr. Gower's head agent.

4210. What else?—He asked me if I would take his word, and I told him I did not know why I should not. He told me if I would go and vote for Mr. Gower, he would see me righted.

4211. Did he say anything more; do you recollect whether he added anything to that?—No, I do not.

4212. In what state of health are you?—I have been laid up seven weeks. I had been laid up ten weeks at the time.

4213. Did he make any allusion to that?—I do not recollect it.

4214. You were not able to do any work while you were so bad?—No, I was laid up seven weeks; ten weeks.

4215. Were you able to do any work for him during the election?—No, I was laid up seven weeks.

4216. Are you able to recollect whether Mr. Relf in consequence of your having been ill saying you ought to have a little more money than the rest?—No, I do not recollect that.

4217. So then you went in to poll for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

4218. Were you able to get any money after the election was over?—Yes, 1*l.* afterwards.

4219. Can you tell me when that was?—On the 21st of December.

4220. Who paid it you?—Mr. Charles Smith.

4221. Did you say you wanted any more?—No, sir, I asked him if there would be any more, and he said there would be a settling day some day.

4222. Has that day come, so far as you know?—No, sir.

4223. Some time after that you met Mr. Joyes?—Yes.

4224. You remember telling him you understood there was to be a settling day?—Yes.

4225. What did he tell you?—He told me the money had been paid.

4226. What else did he tell you, do you recollect?—Yes, I do. I recollect well.

4227. I dare say you have a very good reason?—He said there had been some money paid.

4228. What else did he say?—He told me that he had 10*l.*, and kept it.

4229. Did he tell you why?—He told me his expenses were 17*l.* He kept 10*l.*

4230. Did he tell you what else he received?—Yes, he did, 20*l.*, and that he had the 17*l.* out of that.

4231. What did he have then?—Then he had 13*l.* to divide among 80 men, and he did not know, he said, how to divide it.

4232. It came to so small a sum?—Yes.

4233. Divided into fractions?—Yes, and that is as true as ever I came into this box.

4234. Had you voted before this election?—No.

4235. This was the first?—Yes.

4236. Were you here in '63?—No.

4237. Then you do not know anything more about it?—No.

(The Chief Commissioner.) Then I will not trouble you any more.

(The Witness.) Thank you.

4238. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say you applied to Mr. Smith for 1*l.*, that is, you applied and he gave you 1*l.*?—On the 21st of December.

4239. Which did you state to Smith when you asked him for the money, on what ground did you want the money?—On Mr. Gower's election.

4240. For services rendered?—No, I never did any, for I was laid up.

4241. For the election?—Yes.

4242. I want to know exactly what you said. Your intellect is clearer than it was this morning when you were here before?—I went to Mr. Smith on the 19th.

4243. What did you tell him you had done at the election?—I had never done anything.

4244. Did you tell Smith you had done anything?—No.

4245. Did you tell him you had taken an active part?—No, not anything.

4246. Did you tell Mr. Smith there had been a death in your family?—Yes, I did.

4247. Who did you tell him had died?—My wife's sister, down in the country.

4248. Did you tell him you wanted money for the funeral?—Yes, because my wife had no time to get her things.

4249. Did you tell him her sister was dead ?—Yes.

4250. And did the funeral take place ?—Yes, next day, at Staining.

4251. You told Mr. Smith that ?—Yes.

4252. Did you not ask him to let you have some money on that account ?—He would not let me have any money on that account, but it must be for Mr. Gower's election.

4253. It was true your wife's sister had died ?—It was true, and if you want any more evidence my wife can come and prove it.

4254. If you tell me your wife's sister died, that is sufficient evidence. She was buried shortly after, I suppose ?—The next day.

4255. Did your wife go ?—No, she did not get her things in time. Mr. Smith gave it me, and I gave it to my wife.

4256. You are quite sure you gave it to your wife ?—Yes.

4257. And did not spend it in drink ?—No.

4258. Nor any portion of it ?—No.

4259. You stated on the committee of the House of Commons Mr. Smith had given you the sovereign ?—I did.

4260. After that did you see a letter in the Reigate paper signed by Mr. Smith on the 16th April, after you came from the committee ?—I heard of it, but I am no scollard myself.

4261. Was it read to you ?—I never heard it.

4262. You knew what the letter was about ?—Yes.

4263. It is stated you applied to Mr. Smith (I have got the letter), and you asked it on account of your wife's sister being dead ?—Yes.

4264. Was that the only reason upon which you applied to Mr. Smith ?—Yes.

4265. About your wife's funeral ?—Yes, she could not get her clothes ready, and could not go.

4266. Still you asked for money for the election ?—I did, on Mr. Gower's election.

4267. Did you tell Mr. Smith that Joyes had referred you to him as having worked for several weeks in support of Mr. Gower ?—No ; no such thing was ever mentioned.

THIRD DAY

H. C. Beales.

24 Aug. 1866.

4268. And that you had not received any money for your services ?—I never had or did any services.

4269. Did Mr. Smith question you as to the work you had done ?—No, not a word.

4270. Then of course you did not tell him you had been an active man on the election ?—I was no active man at all.

4271. Did you tell him so ; be careful, for Mr. Smith will come by and by and tell his own story ?—I never told Mr. Smith that ; I told him I had come on Mr. Gower's election account.

4272. Had you seen Mr. Joyes ?—Yes I had, many times.

4273. And had Mr. Joyes referred you to Mr. Smith ?—Yes, sir.

4274. That is a fact ?—Yes.

4275. I asked you whether you told Smith Joyes had referred you to him ?—I did not understand that Mr. Joyes had referred me to Smith.

4276. You say the other part of the story is not true that Mr. Smith has written ?—No, sir.

4277. That you had done work ?—No I had not, and I never told Mr. Smith so ; I never told Mr. Smith a word like that.

4278. I understand you to negative that ?—Yes.

4279. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) If you were a very poor man and in distress, why did you not go to Mr. Smith before December ?—I did not know there had been any money paid.

4280. You went on the occasion of your sister's death ; why did you not go before if you had a claim, or thought you had ; why did you not go before December to Mr. Smith, you being a poor man, in great distress, if you thought you had a claim of 5*l*. ?—I did not know they would pay me 5*l*.

4281. Why did you go then ?—I thought a little money would be useful.

4282. You told him a tale of distress ?—I told him just the same as I have told you.

Adjourned to to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

FOURTH DAY.

Friday, 25th August 1866.

FOURTH DAY.

H. W. Goss.

25 Aug. 1866.

HENRY WILLIAM GOSS affirmed and examined.

4283. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a voter of this borough ?—Yes.

4284. Living at Chapel-street, Mead-vale ?—Yes.

4285. What house did you occupy ? What is the rent of your house ?—10*l*.

4286. How long have you been a voter ?—About four years, I think.

4287. Did you vote at the last election ?—Yes.

4288. For whom ?—At the last election for Mr. Gower.

4289. Did you vote on the election of 1863 ?—Yes.

4290. For whom ?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

4291. At the last election you took rather a friendly part, an active part, for Mr. Gower ?—Rather so, I believing him to be a good man.

4292. You, believing him to be a good man, took an active part for him ?—Yes.

4293. Were you on his committee ?—Yes, and seconded him when he came the first time.

4294. You were his seconder on the first occasion ?—On the 8th of May 1865.

4295. That is, when he first came before the electors, and was proposed as a proper and fit candidate, you were the person who seconded him ?—Yes.

4296. Not at the election, but when he came forward and was nominated as a fit and proper person ?—Yes.

4297. A resolution was proposed ; who proposed the resolution ?—Mr. Clutton, of Earlswood.

4298. And you were the person who seconded him ?—Yes.

4299. From that time till the time when the election took place you took an active part in promoting the return of Mr. Gower ?—Yes ; but not so much at the last part of it, for reasons that I will give you soon.

4300. You were on the committee ; did you canvass much ?—Well, I went my rounds, and in my rounds I did canvass every day.

4301. You canvassed every day ?—It was my duty. I went my rounds, and canvassed as I went round.

4302. Were you engaged as a canvasser in his behalf ?—No, it was my work. I am a licensed hawker, and that required me to go round every day, and I asked for their votes; I asked their opinion.

4303. I am not asking you for your opinions. Did you canvass for Mr. Gower?—Yes, in these rounds.

4304. Did you canvass every day pending the election?—Yes, nearly so.

4305. Did you attend every committee meeting in the evening?—About six in the evening.

4306. Were you chairman or deputy chairman?—No.

4307. Vice-chairman?—No.

4308. There were refreshments at the meetings you attended, I suppose, in the usual way?—I never saw any.

4309. You never saw any at the meetings you attended?—No, except one that we had at Tyrrell's, at Earlswood-common.

4310. At that place refreshments were to be had?—Yes.

4311. Was it a committee meeting you attended?—Yes, I attended one at this room, and in the Meadvale.

4312. At a public house?—No, at the British school-room. I attended one at Warwick-town.

4313. Was that at a public house?—No, the market hall.

4314. Then the only meetings you attended were at the public halls, with the exception of Tyrrell's?—Yes.

4315. And at Tyrrell's there were refreshments?—Yes.

4316. Had you refreshment there?—I had a glass of ginger beer.

4317. Which, of course, you were not called upon to pay for?—No.

4318. Amongst others, do you recollect calling for the votes of the railway people?—The Ladbrook cottages; I was there on the 9th of May.

4319. You went to canvass there?—Yes, I went there in May; it was in my regular rounds.

4320. Did you see any of the railway people there?—I saw several of them.

4321. Amongst others, did you see Mr. Barham?—Yes.

4322. About 1 o'clock in the day, it would be a little after 1 or 2; you canvassed him for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

4323. You know Mr. Apted?—Quite well.

4324. And Mr. Joyes?—Yes.

4325. And Mr. Buckland?—Yes.

4326. And also Mr. Smith?—Yes, all of them.

4327. Now, was Mr. Smith aware that you were canvassing?—Not then.

4328. I did not say any time; but was Mr. Smith aware that you were canvassing for Mr. Gower?—He was aware that I should do all I could for him.

4329. Was he aware that you were canvassing for Mr. Gower?—No, not that I was a canvasser.

4330. What do you mean?—I mean I was not employed by him or any one.

4331. Attend, if you please. Was Mr. Smith aware that you were canvassing for Mr. Gower?—No.

4332. That you were asking for votes for Mr. Gower?—Oh, yes, he was.

4333. Well, that is canvassing. And was Mr. Gower aware of it himself?—Yes.

4334. Now, you saw that man, you say, as early as May?—Yes.

4335. Are you sure it was May?—Yes, May 1865.

4336. You saw him after that?—Yes, I saw him frequently; I saw him once every fortnight.

4337. You remember the time when you spoke about his peas?—That was the 9th of May.

4338. The peas were not very high in May?—They were high enough.

4339. You asked him to vote for Mr. Gower?—I asked him who he was going to vote for, and he said for his pocket. I asked him then what he meant by his pocket. Did he mean for his children's pockets in future, or did he mean taxation, or what did he mean.

4340. Do you mean to say that you did not know when a voter said he meant to vote for his pocket what he in reality meant?—I made that answer; I knew what he meant; I knew that he meant money.

4341. You knew that he was a voter who was ready to vote for money; you knew that?—Yes.

4342. Then what did you say to him?—I said I hoped he would think upon his children's future as well as upon his own present pocket.

4343. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Well, there is nothing like providence; go on?—I said if he voted for such men as Cobden and Bright.

4344. For who?—For Mr. Bright and Mr. Cobden.

4345. Well, we do not want speeches; you introduced those great names?—I believe Mr. Gower was a supporter of them; and I said if he supported such men as Mr. Gower it would be a good thing for the country.

Mr. Commissioner Smith remarked that that was the first instance they had had of voting on principle.

4346. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) In answer to his saying he would vote for his pocket, you threw Mr. Cobden and Mr. Bright at him?—Yes.

4347. Were you admiring the peas at that time?—At that time we had come to the end of the house.

4348. Where the peas were?—Yes; I said, "I suppose according to your conversation that you will "make a good bargain for your peas at this election." He said he intended to.

4349. Why did you think he was going to sell his pigs?—He told me at the last election some persons had sold pigs.

4350. Peas or pigs? He told you he sold pigs; they had brought their pigs to the best market. You think he had some peas to sell?—And some cabbages also as well.

4351. We will stick to the peas. You told him you admired his peas, and that he would expect a good price for his peas?—Yes.

4352. What did he say to that?—That he did.

4353. Now, did you ask him what he would take for them?—I said "Will your conscience allow you to "take 10*l.* a row." He said, "Yes." I said that 10*l.* or 15*l.* a row would be a good price for them; it would make 100*l.*

4354. The row was about 5 yards?—About 12 feet or 14 feet.

4355. That is exactly corresponding to what he said. What sort of peas were they, Daniel O'Rourke and British Queen's, or what? Did you not offer him 10*l.*, or did you not ask him to take 10*l.*?—I never asked him to take anything.

4356. You valued them?—I asked him what he could conscientiously take for them.

4357. That is, you mean to say what bribe would he take?—Yes.

4358. And he said 10*l.*?—Yes.

4359. You asked him whether there were not 9 or 10 more voters there?—Yes.

4360. Whether there were not 9 or 10 more?—Yes.

4361. And you told him that you would give him 100*l.* for 10; 10*l.* a vote?—No; I never said that.

4362. What did you say?—"Now," I said, "leaving "all jokes on one side," (something to this effect) I said "I have not any authority to promise or give to "any voter." Those were my instructions I had from Mr. Apted.

4363. I am asking you about what you said about the 10*l.* per voter; you know there were other voters there?—Yes.

4364. Of course it was all in a joke, but did you say the 100*l.* might be divided amongst the 10?—No. He said there were 9 or 10 other voters, and they ought to have the same as himself.

4365. And you promised to call again?—Yes, I did

4366. And you did call again?—Yes. There was something else I said before that.

4367. You did call again?—I called every week at his house.

4368. Did you call again with Mr. Job Apted?—Yes, I did.

4369. How long before the election?—The same night, on the 9th of May.

4370. But afterwards?—It was the same night.

4371. That was with Apted?—Yes.

4372. He was out at his business?—He was somewhere, I do not know where.

4373. Have you seen him after that?—Oh, often; I have seen him at the station, and at his own house I called regularly.

4374. From what you know of the election did you think 10*l.* was too high?—I did not think anything; I thought any money whatever too high.

4375. You were aware, were you, that money was going at the election?—No, I was not.

4376. You were in company with Mr. Apted all along?—Yes; but not very often.

4377. And you did not know about it. Now attend?—I will attend. I will give you the reason why I did not know that money was going about, and it was for this very reason: after the election Mr. Apted wished to pay me some money for going to see a man named S. I said, "No, I want 10*s.* to "go to London and back." They paid me that.

4378. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who paid you?—Mr. Apted. I understood Mr. Gower had a number of children to support, a very large family; I believed Mr. Gower had quite enough children to support; would not take money.

4379. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) After you had seen Mr. Barham, and talked about giving this 10*l.* for his peas, did you report this interview with Mr. Barham to the committee?—That night I told Mr. Apted, and he said he thought there was no money to be had.

4380. You were at the committee of Mr. Gower?—Which committee?

4381. After that time did you see any voters in canvassing, and offer them any money?—No. I can tell you the voters' names whom I did see if you want the list.

4382. No, I do not think we need go through the list.

4383. (The Chief Commissioner.) Answer me this question. On the 9th of May you saw Barham, and had this interview with him?—Yes.

4384. Previous to having an interview with Barham had you had an interview with Mr. Smith?—No, only with Apted.

4385. Well, you had had an interview with Mr. Apted?—Yes, I saw Barham on the 9th of May.

4386. What passed between you and Apted?—On the 8th of May, the day previous, Mr. Apted asked me who I was going to vote for, and I told him I should not tell any one till I heard Mr. Gower that evening at the public hall. Then the next morning Apted came to me, and he said, "You have heard the "representations of Mr. Gower, will you assist us in "canvassing." I said, "No money whatever; all the "good I can do for Mr. Gower I will do in canvassing, "but for nothing."

4387. I want to know, not with reference to yourself so much, but with reference to this; did Mr. Apted ask you to work and canvass people?—He asked me, and I told him I would not take any money.

4388. Did he ask you to look up some voters and canvass?—Yes.

4389. Did he ask you that before you went to Barham's?—No, that morning.

4390. Did Mr. Apted give you any particular directions how to canvass?—Yes.

4391. What did he say?—He said everybody that I thought would vote for Mr. Gower I was to give their names and bring them to him.

4392. Did he give you any directions about canvassing them yourself?—No, not further than that.

4393. He told you to go round and canvass after?—No.

4394. Did he tell you to offer any money?—No.

4395. Did he tell you what money you were to offer?—He said I was to offer no money.

4396. But that you were to bring their names to him?—Yes.

4397. Did he tell you to bring to him what they wanted?—No, I was only to give their names.

The witness withdrew.

Mr. John Evans sworn and examined.

Mr. J. Evans.

4398. (Chief Commissioner.) You were not here yesterday when we sent for you, but we got a letter from you, to which I will not refer any further?—Yes.

4399. You ought to have been in attendance yesterday. I am not going to refer to that any more, but we cannot take that letter as anything. Now, if you please, will you answer this question: You are a voter on the register?—I believe I am.

4400. You were in 1865?—Yes.

4401. You voted at the last election?—I did not.

4402. What was your qualification?—A house I occupy; a house, but I do not pay rates and taxes.

4403. But you were on the register?—They put me on the register.

4404. Somebody did?—Somebody did.

4405. What rent do you pay?—35*l.* a year.

4406. And you do not pay rates and taxes?—I do not.

4407. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What is the amount of the rates and taxes on the 35*l.*?—I cannot tell you, I do not know.

4408. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is not there some mistake, Mr. Evans; I suppose you were not on the register?—No, I do not know anything about it, but it appears I am summoned.

4409. You were canvassed, were you not, for your vote?—Not that I am aware of; I did not see anybody; but I am in town every day, and therefore it is a chance whether I should see them.

4410. Will you look at that please, and see if it is your signature (a document was handed to the witness)?—No, my name is Walter John Evans.

4411. There is some mistake about you, Mr. Evans?—I thought it might be so.

4412. I wish you had hinted at that before, and you might have set it right; I suppose you could not tell?—I could not tell.

4413. Could you give me any information as to the real John Evans?—I am aware that there is some other John Evans, because I have had letters brought to me.

4414–20. There has been some mistake. I can only say that I am very sorry you were put to any trouble about it, but it was really unavoidable, we could not help it. (The witness.) I thought there was some mistake.

FOURTH DAY.

J. Farrington.

25 Aug. 1866.

JOHN FARRINGTON recalled and examined.

4421. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were examined yesterday, or the day before ?—Yesterday.

4422. When you were examined you stated you received 3*l.* from Mr. Gower's party ?—From Mr. Joyes.

4423. I want to know from you whether you had ever received any monies on behalf of Mr. Monson's party ?—Not a farthing.

4424. Were you ever offered any ?—No, not by anybody.

4425. Were you canvassed by them ?—No, not by one.

4426. Are you quite certain about that ?—Yes.

4427. That you were not offered 5*l.*, or any other monies ?—No.

4428. By no person on behalf of Mr. Monson ?—No.

The witness withdrew.

R. Goldsmith.

RICHARD GOLDSMITH sworn and examined.

4429. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you a voter at the last election ?—Yes.

4430. What are you ?—A gardener.

4431. What rent do you pay for your house ?—16*l.*

4432. Do you pay by the year, or the week, or the month ?—By the quarter.

4433. Who is your landlord ?—Mr. Allingham.

4434. Did you vote at the last election ?—I did.

4435. For whom ?—For Mr. Gower.

4436. Who canvassed you ?—William Joyes.

4437. How long before the election were you canvassed ?—I think about five weeks.

4438. Was anybody with Mr. Joyes when you were canvassed by him ?—No.

4439. Were you canvassed at all by Mr. Gower ?—Mr. Gower came to my house.

4440. Did you see Mr. Gower ?—I think I was at home when he came, but I would not be positive.

4441. You do not know whether you saw him ?—I am positive I saw him.

4442. Who was with him when you saw him ?—I think Mr. Smith, but I am not positive of that.

4443. Anybody else ?—I think not.

4444. When Mr. Joyes canvassed you did he offer you any money ?—He said would I allow my name to be on the committee, and I should be paid according to how things went.

4445. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Mr. Joyes said that ?—Yes.

4446. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then no sum was mentioned ?—No.

4447. Did you go on the committee ?—Yes.

4448. Were you to do anything, excepting going on the committee, for your money ?—I was to go on the committee and attend committee meetings.

4449. Was that all that you were to do ?—I did several other things as well; I was night-watch one night.

4450. What night was that ?—I think the night before the election.

4451. Was that the only night you were night-watch ?—That was the only night; it was only part of the night.

4452. Did you receive any money ?—Yes.

4453. When ?—I could not say.

4454. After the election ?—Yes, I believe it was.

4455. From whom did you receive money ?—I received 5*s.* 6*d.* that night I was one of the night-watch.

4456. From whom did you receive 5*s.* 6*d.* ?—I think it came from Mr. Pullen, but I was not at home when it came to my house.

4457. You received 5*s.* 6*d.*, but you do not know from whom it came; it was left at your house ?—Yes.

4458. Did you receive any money from Joyes or Joyce ?—No.

4459. You received 1*l.*, did you not, as a loan; 2*l.* ?—I did not receive any money.

4460. Did any money come to you from Joyes ?—I borrowed 1*l.*

4461. Of Mr. Joyes ? Was it after the election you borrowed 1*l.* ?—Yes.

4462. After ?—I think it was.

4463. Have you borrowed any more money from Joyes ?—No.

4464. Did you not borrow 2*l.* ?—No.

4465. Have you paid him back the 1*l.* ?—No.

4466. Has he ever asked you for the 1*l.* ?—I do not remember that he has.

4467. Do you mean to pledge your oath that you have not borrowed or received another 2*l.* on account of the 3*l.* ?—I am on my oath ; I think not.

4468. Or any 2*l.* for anything ?—I did not.

4469. Did you not receive 10*s.* for work done on the following day ?—I did.

4470. Who paid you that 10*s.* ?—I was paid by Mr. Worsell, by the direction of Mr. Charles Smith.

4471. Who is Mr. Worsell ?—Clerk to Mr. Charles Smith.

4472. Now, do you recollect anything about Mr. Buckland telling Mr. Johnson that he had better lend you money ?—No.

4473. Or that Mr. Smith had said that Mr. Joyes had better let you have money ?—I do not remember anything of the kind.

4474. Just think ?—I do not want to think ; I do not remember anything at all of it. I do not know that I spoke to Mr. Buckland during the whole of the election.

4475. Have you seen William Johnson ? — The upholsterer ?

4476. William Johnson ?—I do not know whether his name is William Johnson or not.

4477. Never mind his Christian name ; have you seen a person of the name of Johnson ?—Yes.

4478. Have you seen him in company with Mr. Joyes ?—I think I have.

4479. When was that ?—Several times before and after the election.

4480. When you saw Mr. Johnson and Mr. Joyes together, was nothing said about the 2*l.* ?—I cannot remember that there was.

4481. Did you ever apply to Mr. Joyes for the whole of the 3*l.* ?—I think not; I think perhaps I might have asked him for the 3*l.*, as he had lent me the 1*l.* on the Sunday ; I might have asked him.

4482. You asked him for the balance ?—Yes.

4483. What, the balance of the loan ?—No, not the balance of the loan.

4484. You told me that the 1*l.* was for a loan ; what did you say about receiving the balance ?—I asked him whether there was anything more to come.

4485. As a loan ?—Yes.

4486. Now, Mr. Goldsmith, just see whether you can give me an honest answer. When you say you received the 1*l.* as a loan, was it not in part payment of the money you considered owing to you for attending the committee ?—I do not know whether it was so considered or not.

4487. Did not you so consider it ?—I thought it might be as Joyes said when he gave me the 1*l.*, that it had nothing to do with the election, that he could not give me money on the part of the election.

4488. But he gave you the 1*l.* ?—Yes.

4489. And he has not asked you for it since ?—No.

4490. Now, when you asked him for the balance of this loan what did Joyes say ? Was Johnson there ? You asked him for the balance of the loan ?—I do not remember.

4491. Was Mr. Buckland there ?—No.

4492. Do you not remember something being said about Smith in reference to the 2*l.* ?—I do not remember ; my recollection has been rather bad for the last few years.

4493. See if I can remind you. Did not you hear it said by either of those persons that Smith had said to Buckland that Joyes had better lend you the money ?—No.

4494. Or let you have the money ?—Not in my presence.

4495. And that Joyes then paid you over the 2*l.* ?—No.

4496. Now let us know a little more of the transaction. You have spoken now of William Joyes ?—Yes.

4497. Did you ever see Frederick Joyes with reference to your voting ?—I think not. I am not sure whether he did ask me for my vote, whether he did canvass me ; but I think not.

4498. If Frederick Joyes did ask you for your vote do you mean to represent that you said you had settled with William Joyes ?—I might have done so.

4499. Would that have been a very likely circumstance to have happened ?—Most likely it would have been so.

4500. Did Mr. Buckland canvass you ?—I do not recollect that I spoke to Mr. Buckland during the election.

4501. Were you at a particular meeting at the town hall, which has been spoken to before, when Mr. Gower was there, and made a speech, a short time before the election ?—I was at one meeting at the Town Hall before the election, and only one.

4502. When Mr. Gower made this speech, that all those who worked for him should be paid well ?—I was there.

4503. You recollect that ?—Yes.

4504. Do you remember this being said by Mr. Gower at that meeting ? I merely remind you to see whether you remember that Mr. Gower said he had decided not to take any public houses, as it encouraged a lot of idle fellows who had nothing to do with the election to be standing at the doors ; that he did not want the loiterers ; but that he said all who worked for him should be paid, and well paid ?—It was something to that effect, but I do not quite remember the words.

4505. That the idle fellows should not have anything, but that he did not intend the voters to go without ?—I will not say whether he did say that ; possibly he might.

4506. Do you remember anything to that effect ?—Something about that.

4507. About the voters having drink ?—I will not be certain. I could not on my oath say that he did say so. I told you that my memory has been very bad this last few years.

4508. Perhaps you will tell me what time in the evening this meeting took place ?—I think it was 8 o'clock in the evening, but I will not be sure.

4509. Had you been working that day ?—I had.

4510. Had you attended any of the private meetings before ?—After the day I have.

4511. Were you accustomed to attend private meetings in the day ?—No, I never attended meetings in the day at all.

4512. Or of an evening before 8 o'clock ?—I do not know that I did.

4513. Did you attend a meeting at the "Black Horse," Reigate-heath ?—I did.

4514. How long before the election do you think that was ?—I think it was in the same week ; it was only a day before the writ came down.

4515. Was Mr. Rose in the chair ?—I was not there at the commencement of the meeting ; I was there late. Mr. Rose was there.

4516. Did you see Mr. Apted and Mr. Joyes there ?—I saw Mr. Frederick Joyes.

4517. Was that the occasion when Apted said he proposed they should have a merry meeting, as it was the last before the writ came down ?—I think I remember something of the sort.

4518. Was Legg there ?—I do not know him.

4519. Did you see the spirits come in, the brandy ?—I saw gingerbeer and brandy and various things came in.

4520. How were they brought in, a tray full ? Did the waiter being in a tray with a quantity of glasses ?—I do not remember whether he brought them in on a tray ; they came in two or three glasses at a time.

4521. Did you have any ?—I think probably I might have had, but it is very seldom I have anything but beer.

4522. And you went in late ?—Yes.

4523. Did you take anything with your beer ?—I think I had a biscuit ; I am not sure.

4524. Not a little spirit to put into the beer ?—I do not remember ; perhaps I might have had some, but I am not sure.

4525. You seldom do have it ?—Very seldom indeed.

4526. Whatever you had did you pay for ?—No.

4527. Did you see any of the persons there paying ?—I did not.

4528. Did the meeting order what they liked ?—No ; I think not.

4529. Who did they ask ?—Mr. Johnson.

4530. What, William Johnson ?—William Johnson.

4531. I thought you told me just now you did not know anybody of the name of Johnson ?—I beg your pardon, I said I did know a man of the name of Johnson ; but I did not know whether it was William or not.

4532. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is that Johnson the upholsterer ?—Yes.

4533. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you ever see him in company with Joyes and Buckland when you asked him about money ?—I do not remember at all that I ever saw them together at one time.

4534. You went late to the meeting ; when you left was it as late as 2 o'clock in the morning ?—No.

4535. Was it 1, or half-past ?—I cannot say what time.

4536. It was late, was it ?—Yes.

4537. Was it past midnight ?—I cannot say ; I do not think it was, but I will not be sure.

4538. When you came away did you leave others there ?—There were some there.

4539. How many, a dozen ?—A dozen.

4040. How many were in the room when you went in, 40 or 50 ?—Something like that, from 35 to 50.

4541. Have you been at a meeting at Woodhatch ?—Yes.

4542. When was that ?—I do not know the date.

4543. Was it before the writ ?—Oh, yes, some time.

4544. Was Apted there ?—Yes, Job Apted ; there are two Apteds.

4545. When we speak of Apted we always mean Job ?—Yes, but there is James Apted.

4546. Now, then, Job Apted was there ?—Yes.

FOURTH DAY.

R. Goldsmith.

25 Aug. 1866.

4547. Did Job Apted order any refreshment?—I believe he ordered some.

4548. Was there any person there paid at the meeting?—Yes, there were a great many there for the size of the house.

4549. Was the house full?—There were two rooms full; the rooms were not very large.

4550. Were you in Apted's room?—I was not.

4551. Did you go into Apted's room?—I should look in the room he was in; all the rooms were full.

4552. Were they all pretty well supplied with glasses?—They seemed to be enjoying themselves.

4553. I take the answer to be yes. Now, in your room did the people seem to be enjoying themselves?—Yes.

4554. And had what they wanted?—Yes.

4555. Did you order what you wanted?—Yes.

4556. What was your particular drink on that night, beer or brandy and water?—I do not recollect that I had any brandy; I might have had a glass of brandy; but I very seldom take spirits if I am well.

4557. If you are well you do not take spirits, but if the beer disagrees with you you take brandy?—Yes.

4558. Did you pay for what you had that night?—No.

4559. Do you know who did pay?—I do not.

4560. Did you hear Apted say anything about paying?—No.

4561. Did you not hear him say something of this sort, that he would see it paid for?—I might have done so, I would not be positive.

4562. Did you see any of the persons paying in the room in which you were?—I think there were one or two non-electors in the room.

4563. Did non-electors pay?—Yes; there were some men I know who had not votes.

4564. Some paid who had not votes?—Yes.

4565. Did you see any man pay who had a vote?—If I did, it was late in the evening.

4566. When they did not know what they were doing; when it got very late, then they began to pay?—Yes.

4567. When you saw them pay, did they pay for one glass, or for a dozen?—I do not know.

4568. How late did you keep up the evening at that house?—Till 1 o'clock.

4569. Who is the landlord of the house?—Hodge, I think is the man's name.

4570. Were you at a house called "Burwarry's" beer house?—No; I do not know it.

4571. Or Brinker's?—I do not know the name; Burbury I know.

4572. Well, were you at that place?—Yes.

4573. Where is that?—Over the green.

4574. Now those three houses you have been speaking of, are they all close together, or in different parts of the borough?—In different parts of the borough, as much as three miles distant.

4575. You took the round of the borough?—I live in the centre; to divide the two furthest houses, I live in about the centre.

4576. Then you were about the centre of these houses?—Yes.

4577. How many people were at this last house, many?—Many.

4578. Was the house full?—Yes, some 30 were there.

4579. Who was taking the active part in the house?—I could not swear; I was late in.

4580. Was Job Apted, or Joyes, or Buckland there, or any of these men there?—I am not certain whether they were or not.

4581. Were you on the committee?—Yes.

4582. Were you on the committee when you went to these houses?—I was.

4583. At these houses did the people have the refreshment without payment?—I did not pay for any; I never knew any one pay.

4584. Who asked you to go to these houses? How did you know the fact that there were to be meetings at these houses so wide apart, when you were living at some distance from them?—I used to live nearer.

4585. You told me you lived in the centre of all three?—I previously lived towards that way, and of course I knew the persons.

4586. That would not give you the information; at the time of the election you had moved away from those persons?—I cannot say who I heard it from.

4587. You did hear of it?—Yes.

4588. In the committee room?—I do not remember whether it was in the committee room; I think not.

4589. Did you get a formal notice that there was to be a meeting at these places?—No.

4590. How came you to hit off the very night that there were meetings like these?—I heard there was to be a meeting for the voters in the neighbourhood, and that the voters in the neighbourhood were to be free of them.

4591. Having heard of a meeting you went over?—I went over because there were plenty of persons I knew who were going over.

4592. At these meetings, where this treating was going on, was it to talk about the election mattters, or were any political speeches made?—I do not think there were any political speeches.

4593. Did you ever hear any political speeches made?—I do not remember that I did at these meetings.

4594. Excepting from Mr. Gower?—Excepting from Mr. Gower. I have heard such things said as "Success to Mr. Gower!"

4595. That was the closest approach to politics that you ever heard I suppose?—Yes.

4596. What were the other topics of conversation? Used you to go over the list of voters?—Not down there.

4597. Not at these meetings?—I think not.

4598. What were those meetings, were they simply for the purpose of drinking and not for the purpose of the election?—To keep the voters together.

4599. After the writ came down did you go to any house at all to have refreshment?—I do not remember that I did.

4600. Try and remember. Do you mean to say that you never had subsequently to that time a glass of beer without paying for it, between the writ and the election?—Well, I do not know.

4601. You remember Mr. Apted at the committee meetings saying the night the writ would come down, and you told the people they were not to go without their refreshment, only it was to be done quietly and not so publicly?—Yes.

4602. He said that, did he not?—I think so.

4603. Did you take advantage of it and have it quietly?—No, I did not; I never had anything at all. If I did have anything at that time, it was with some of those, when we had gone in and had a glass.

4604. When you have gone in with some of those and had your glass of beer, did you pay for your beer?—No.

4605. Would those that were with you pay for your beer?—Yes.

4606. Tell me any one person that you went in with after the writ came down and had refreshment with?—I cannot recollect that; I believe I have frequently met Mr. Apted. We have often gone into Green's and had a glass of beer.

4607. Henry Green?—No, Mr. John Green.

4608. Is he any relation to Henry Green?—I do not know.

4609. You have gone with Apted and had a glass of beer, and Apted has paid?—Apted has paid.

4610. Did that happen often?—Yes.

4611. Did you generally keep together?—

4612. And you offered your vote?—I had made up my mind for Mr. Gower before.

4613. Now on the day of the polling was there any breakfast going on?—Not that I am aware of. I did not have any but what I had at home.

4614. You did not get any; but was there any entertainment; were the voters to have a breakfast?—No.

4615. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Have you been at any public houses on behalf of Mr. Monson at all?—No.

4616. None at all?—None at all.

4617. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You have never been at the "Grapes"?—No, I do not know that I have been at the "Grapes."

4618. Were you canvassed at all by Mr. Monson's party?—Not at all; only one person has, who said, "I want to talk to you;" and I said, "It is no use." That is all the talk I had with any of the Monson party.

4619. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I understood you, Mr. Goldsmith, to say that you would not pledge yourself as to the language Mr. Gower made use of in his speech at the hall?—No.

THOMAS SCOUGALL sworn and examined.

T. Scougall.

4620. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A carpenter and joiner. I keep a small grocer's shop.

4621. What rent do you pay?—19*l.* a year.

4622. How long have you been a voter for the borough?—I am sure I cannot say.

4623. Have you voted at more than one election?—One election before the last.

4624. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower both times.

4625. Were you employed at all on behalf of Mr. Gower at the election of 1863?—Yes.

4626. Was it a close contest?—I believe it was, rather.

4627. Employed as what?—Canvasser.

4628. What did you receive?—7*s.* 6*d.* a day, and 15*s.* a day for nomination day and polling day.

4629. How much altogether?—I do not know; I have not reckoned it up.

4630. About how much?—That is very easy calculated. We received 30*s.* a week during the time, and the remainder was paid when the election was over.

4631. How many weeks were you at work?—I do not know whether it was three or four.

4632. Then when it was over you received the additional 15*s.* a week?—Yes.

4633. And the 30*s.* for the polling and nomination days?—Yes.

4634. How soon after the election was over was you paid the balance?—The Saturday night, as the election was over on Friday night.

4635. You were cleared off?—We were paid up the Saturday night.

4636. Did you give a receipt for it?—I believe so.

4637. Who paid you the balance?—Henry Green.

4638. Did you give a receipt, just recollect?—I am sure I cannot say.

4639. Did you sign any book, or anything of that kind?—I put my name to a book.

4640. In 1865 you also voted for Mr. Gower?—I did so.

4641. Were you employed at all?—Not in any way whatever; I had other business to attend to, and I could not trouble myself about electioneering. I voted for Mr. Gower, but I was not employed.

4642. Were you offered employment?—Nothing at all; no employment whatever.

4643. Were you offered it?—No.

4644. Were not you asked to work for Gower?—No, not by anybody.

4645. Were you told that if you would vote for Gower you should be paid for your time?—Yes.

4646. By whom were you told that?—Oh! amongst my mates as I met with.

4647. Do you know a man named Featherstone?—Yes, he was the same trade as myself.

4648. What was he, a voter?—Yes, I believe so.

4649. Did he canvass you?—No, he never canvassed me at all, no more than stopped me and asked me which way I intended to go.

4650. Did he vote for Gower?—I believe he did; I do not know. I did not trouble myself at all about the election.

4651. Do you mean you were not told by any one that you were to be paid for your time?—I was told if I lost any time I should be paid for it.

4652. Told by whom?—William Featherstone told me that.

4653. How did he tell you he knew that?—I do not know about told.

4654. Did you apply for any payment?—No; never expected any.

4655. Did you attend any meetings at all?—One on Earlswood-common.

4656. Was that at a public house?—No, in a booth. I say one: I attended two. I attended Mr. Monson's first starting, and this one of Mr. Gower's in the booth.

4657. When did you attend Monson's?—At a meeting in the Town Hall in 1865.

4658. Then you received no money of any kind?—No.

4659. In 1865 you received no money from anybody?—Not as I am aware of on electioneering.

4660. What do you mean, not as you are aware of? Did you receive any money from any person in respect to the election of 1865?—Not in respect of the election.

4661. What did you receive the money for?—Well.

4662. You might as well come out with it at once. What did you receive the money for?—Well.

4663. It must come, Mr. Scougall, it must come. How much did you receive?—Well, 1*l.*

4664. From whom?—From Mr. Henry Green.

4665. After the election?—Yes.

4666. When?—The latter end of November.

4667. Did you go to Green?—No.

4668. Did he come to you?—Yes.

4669. Where did he see you?—When I was shutting up my shop.

4670. He handed you 1*l.*?—He put it into my hands, but did not say what it was. He said, "I will "make you a present of that."

4671. And of course, Mr. Scougall, you did not know what it meant?—No, sir, I did not know what it meant.

4672. Did not you know it was for your vote at the election?—No, sir, because I never spoke to Mr. Green but once during the election.

4673. You knew that Mr. Green was active for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

4674. Did you expect any more?—No, sir, never expected that.

4675. But after that did you expect any more?—No, I did not. As I say, I did not expect anything at all.

4676. Did you expect any sum after you received that?—No.

4677. Had you heard that others had been paid, that money was going?—No.

4678. Living in Reigate, did not you hear in November that money was going?—Redhill.

4679. Did not hear in Redhill that money was going on account of the election?—No.

4680. Never heard it?—No.

4681. Do you mean that?—I was otherwise engaged. I had a great many hours to work, and it was late before I got home at night.

4682. Do you mean to tell me, and to expect me to believe for a moment, that you did not hear that money was going?—Well, I heard this, that there was nothing going on Mr. Gower's side.

FOURTH DAY.

T. Scougall.

25 Aug. 1866.

4683. You did hear, you see, something about it?—Yes.

4684. Did you make inquiry?—No, sir, no more than when I fell in with one and the other, and they told me.

4685. Who did you fall in with?—I cannot say who it was now. I never kept that in my head. Of course we fall in with a good many in the course of the evening—mates working together.

4686. In the statement that you signed you did not say a word about having received 1*l.* from Green?—Not a word. I said I had not seen Mr. Green at all.

4687. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And you had seen him?—Yes; of course I was not obliged to tell Mr. Naylor so.

4688. (The Chief Commissioner.) You said you knew William Featherstone, who was the same trade as yourself?—Yes.

4689. There is Thomas Featherstone also?—Yes.

4690. Is that his brother?—No, sir, I think it is his uncle.

4691. A different man anyhow?—Yes, he is an older man.

4692. Just tell me if you know whether Thomas Featherstone was an agent for Mr. Gower?—I cannot tell anything about that.

4693. Can you tell me whether he was active for him?—Not this last time I cannot; he was before.

4694. You did not take so much notice?—I did not trouble myself nothing at all this last election.

4695. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You knew Henry Green was taking an active part for Mr. Gower?—I only spoke to him once during the election.

4696. But you knew it as a fact?—I knew he was.

4697. You say you had heard no money was going on Mr. Gower's side; did you hear that from Mr. Gower's supporters?—Some might be and some might not be; of course I do not know all the voters.

4698. Did you hear whether any money was going on Mr. Monson's side?—No, sir, not the least.

4699. Has Green ever asked you for this 1*l.* back again?—No.

T. Wood.

THOMAS WOOD sworn and examined.

4700. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were on the register previous to the election of 1865, were you not?—Yes.

4701. What are you?—A ladies' boot and shoe maker.

4702. And did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

4703. Who for?—Mr. Gower.

4704. Did you vote at the election of 1863?—Yes, for Mr. Gower.

4705. Did you vote at any previous election to that?—No.

4706. Where do you live?—In West-street.

4707. What rent do you pay for your house?—6*l.* 10*s.*

4708. How do you make that out?—That is my rent.

4709. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How come you on the register?—I have been an old inhabitant, I suppose, and have been in the house. House property has very much increased in value, and my rent still remains the same. My house is rated at 7*l.*

4710. Value over 10*l.*?—Yes.

4711. What would it rent for now, supposing you wanted to let it?—Some years ago I applied to Mr. Morrison to have some repairs done.

4712. Have you a lease of the house?—No, sir, I am a yearly tenant. I have to keep the house in repair.

4713. Did you go before the revising barrister to support your vote?—It has been supported.

4714. Did you go?—I did not go.

4715. Did you make a claim to have your name put upon the register?—I did.

4716. Who brought the paper to you to sign?—Mr. Apted.

4717. And you did not appear before the revising barrister to support your vote?—I did not.

4718. Do you know who gave evidence before the revising barrister that your house was worth more than 6*l.* 10*s.*?—I do not know who did.

4719. You were not there?—I was not there.

4720. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you receive an objection to your vote?—No, sir, I never have.

4721. How do you know it was ever supported at all?—I have only understood that it was supported before the revising barrister.

4722. Do you mean to say you have understood that there was ever any question about it?—Yes, I have.

4723. Now, as to the election of 1865; who canvassed you for your vote for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower himself.

4724. Was any one with him?—Yes, Mr. Dann and Mr. Job Apted.

4725. Did you at that time, when they came, promise them your vote?—Yes, I did.

4726. Who spoke to you first? Did Mr. Gower ask you to vote for him?—Yes, he did. I promised him I would vote for him.

4727. Nothing previous?—Nothing at all.

4728. Did you afterwards see Mr. Frederick Joyes about it?—No.

4729. Not about your vote?—No.

4730. Did you after the election see Frederick Joyes about your vote?—No.

4731. Did not you see him at any time about your vote?—No.

4732. Did you have any conversation with Frederick Joyes?—Not at all.

4733. What were you promised for your vote by anybody?—Nothing at all.

4734. Is that your signature? Just look at nothing but the signature (handing same to witness.)—Yes, that is my signature.

4735. Were you called upon after the election by Mr. Naylor and his clerk?—Yes.

4736. Did you make a statement to him?—No, I made no statement.

4737. Something passed?—Yes, something passed.

4738. Then there was some conversation, call it what you will?—Yes.

4739. Was it after a conversation between you and Naylor that you signed your name in a book of his?—Yes.

4740. I presume you knew what was written down in the book against your name?—No, sir, I was not aware of it.

4741. You were at that time?—I did not take any note, but I should like to tell you what Naylor said.

4742. At the time you signed your name you were aware of what he had down in the book?—No, I could not say exactly what he put down.

4743. Did you sign your name as witnessing the truth of what you had been saying to him?—No.

4744. Why did you sign your name?—Because he brought me an account for me to sign, as he pretended to come from Mr. Gower.

4745. Never mind what the pretence was. Will you tell me why you signed your name?—Because he was going to pay me some money on Mr. Gower's account.

4746. That is to say, he said he was?—Yes.

4747. What had your signature to do with that?—It was an acknowledgment that he was going to pay me the money.

4748. What money?—He told me he was going to pay me 3*l.* 10*s.*

4749. Who suggested 3*l.* 10*s.*?—He did himself.

4750. Where did he get that sum from?—He told me he got it from Mr. Gower.

4751. How did he know of the sum you mention?—I cannot tell you how he knew that.

4752. Did he say that Gower owed you 3*l.* 10*s.*?—He told me he was going to pay me that account for Mr. Gower.

4753. What for, for your vote?—No.

4754. What for?—For acting for him at the election.

4755. What did you say to that? If a man comes to you and says, "I am going to pay you 3*l.* 10*s.* for "another man"?—I told him I had no claim on Mr. Gower for the amount.

4756. He told you it was for doing work for Mr. Gower?—For the election.

4757. Had you been on the committee?—Yes.

4758. Had you done any work for Mr. Gower?—I had canvassed for him.

4759. Who had you canvassed?—Several of my neighbours round about.

4760. Name one?—Mr. Dale was one.

4761. What, Thomas Dale?—Yes.

4762. Tell me anybody else?—Mr. Thrift, of Reigate-heath.

4763. Anybody else?—There might be several others, but I cannot call them to mind just now.

4764. I want you to tell me, if there were any others, who they were?—I cannot give you the names.

4765. You cannot give me the names except of Dale and Thrift?—No.

4766. Was anything said to you by any of Mr. Gower's agents about whom you had better canvass?—No.

4767. Did you receive no instructions about canvassing Dale and Thrift?—No.

4768. Who suggested those names to you?—No one.

4769. When you attended the committee, did you give in word to anybody that you had canvassed Dale and Thrift?—No.

4770. Said nothing about it?—Said nothing about it.

4771. You never said on any occasion, "Dale and "Thrift are my two men"?—No, I did not.

4772. Did you mention any name of any person you had canvassed to the committee?—No.

4773. Who did you first tell that you wished to be on the committee?—I never told any one; I was asked by Mr. William Joyes, he applied to me to be on the committee.

4774. Where were you when he applied to you?—At home.

4775. Be accurate, if you will be kind enough. He came to you at your house?—Yes.

4776. What did he say to you?—He asked me if I would have my name put on the committee, and go and canvass for Gower. I made an objection to it at first.

4777. Did you get over your objection and say you would?—My objection was, I could not afford to lose any time without being paid for it. He told me he had no authority to make any engagement about paying, except if I would come on and work there was no doubt I should be satisfied for my loss of time.

4778. Now, did you then agree to go on the committee?—Yes.

4779. Was anything more said to you at that time by William Joyes about any express sum?—No.

4780. What money did you afterwards receive?—1*l.* 10*s.*

4781. When did you receive 1*l.* 10*s.*?—In the early part of January.

4782. Who from?—William Joyes.

4783. That was before Mr. Naylor came round to you with this book, which you signed?—Yes.

4784. Did you tell him you had received 30*s.*?—I did.

4785. Now you see it is all clear enough?—Well, sir, I thought you would have begun with that at first.

4786. And so 30*s.* you had received, and he put your name down for 3*l.* 10*s.*?—There was a balance due to me, he said; but I must tell you first of all that he came in and told me he was commissioned from Mr. Gower, and stated that Mr. Gower was very dissatisfied with his agents in Reigate, and said that he was authorized from Mr. Gower to call on some of the electors. He had a list of the names he was to call upon, and he referred to a book that he had got, and stated that there was 5*l.* put down to my name, and I had received 30*s.*, consequently there was the balance of 3*l.* 10*s.* due to me.

4787. It appeared that he really did know what you had received?—He stated so.

4788. It looked very much as if he had got the information?—He had 5*l.* down to my name, from which I had had 30*s.*, and there was a balance of 3*l.* 10*s.* due to me. I told him I had no claim on Mr. Gower for 3*l.* 10*s.* He said, "Mr. Gower is a "perfect gentleman, and wishes to act as such, and "wishes for you to be paid, and every one else that "has been a party to the election," and he says, "I "am come here to pay you." I told him then if he had got 3*l.* 10*s.* for me I should be glad to receive it. He then made out this account in this book which you are speaking of, and asked me to put my name to it; and instead of giving me the money he gave me his card, and told me to go to the "White Hart."

4789. I won't trouble you with the question whether you went to the "White Hart"?—I knew then that I was imposed upon.

4790. I dare say he had ascertained in less time than it has taken me to do so that you had received 30*s.*?—Very likely he had.

4791. Does it occur to you, bearing in mind that 30*s.* and 3*l.* 10*s.* make the sum of 5*l.*, I am going to ask you this question: Did William Joyes when he came to you mention any sum of money?—He did not.

4792. Nothing of the sort?—Nothing of the kind.

4793. Did he say you would be paid as others?—No, he said I should be paid for loss of time.

4794. What did you expect?—I did not expect any particular sum.

4795. Will you swear you had not 5*l.* in your mind?—No, sir, I had not.

4796. Can you tell me this, whether you were put down in any book for 5*l.*?—I am not aware of it.

4797. Bear this in mind: Mr. Naylor had already obtained the information that you were. Are you aware that your name was down in fact in any book for 5*l.*?—I am not.

4798. You are sure of that?—I am quite sure.

4799. Do you know whether your name was down in any book at all?—I do not know that it was.

4800. Had you never seen it?—I had not.

4801. Had you never seen any book in which any names were down of those persons who had done work for Mr. Gower?—No, I do not; I am quite sure of it.

4802. Had William Joyes ever told you anything about a book?—No.

4803. Had Apted?—No.

4804. Had anybody?—No one else.

4805. I think you told me you had voted for Mr. Gower in the election of 1863?—Yes.

4806. Who canvassed you then? Mr. Gower himself?—Mr. Gower himself.

4807. Were you on his committee then?—Yes.

4808. What money did you receive then?—3*l.*

4809. Had you a promise of anything more?—No.

4810. Who did you receive the 3*l.* from?—Mr. Job Apted.

4811. After the election?—Yes, about six months afterwards.

4812. Can you recollect the circumstances? where it was paid? Was it at your house, or at his?—At my own house.

4813. Do you remember his bringing a book there with your name in it?—No, sir, he did not; he did not pay me himself.

FOURTH DAY.

T. Wood.

25 Aug. 1866.

4814. I understood you he did?—I was to receive it from him; it was sent to me by his daughter.

4815. Did you at that election see any book in which your name was entered as having performed services, or as canvassing?—No, I did not.

4816. Was any sum mentioned to you before that election?—No, sir, nothing at all.

4817. Were you told before that election you would be paid for your services?—No, I was not.

4818. What were you told?—I was not told I was to be paid anything at all.

4819. Did you make an application for the 3*l.*?—No, I did not.

4820. He volunteered it?—Yes.

4821. What had you done on that election for Mr. Gower?—I attended his committees, and canvassed for him.

4822. Will you be kind enough to tell me who you canvassed?—I cannot recollect.

4823. Do you recollect one?—I cannot.

4824. You remember two that you canvassed this time. Can you remember one that you canvassed the time before?—No, sir, I cannot now.

4825. But you had attended the committee meetings; they were invariably of an evening?—Sometimes they were of an afternoon. I was on a sub-committee.

4826. What do you mean by the "afternoon"?—About 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

4827. Where they at the houses?—At the "White Hart."

4828. If there were some at 4 o'clock I suppose there were generally meetings later?—Sometimes there were meetings after that committee meeting, in the evening; very frequently.

4829. At these committee meetings did Mr. Gower himself attend?—Sometimes.

4830. Then you worked under the principal committee?—It was a sub-committee.

4831. As a member of the sub-committee did you attend the evening meetings at the principal committee?—Sometimes I did.

4832. Were there generally refreshments at these meetings?—No, sir, nothing of the kind.

4833. Were there refreshments in the same house?—I never saw any.

4834. Did you never get refreshed yourself?—No, sir, I did not.

4835. How was it managed at the sub-committee? was that held at the "White Hart"?—Yes.

4836. Was it quite an abstemious meeting?—Others belonging to the committee attended if they thought proper.

4837. I mean was there no refreshment?—Nothing at all.

4838. You took no refreshment?—I did not.

4839. And if you did you paid for it?—I did not have any.

4840. And what you received after the election was 3*l.*?—Yes.

4841. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did Joyes pay you?—About the 2nd or 3rd of January.

4842. So late as that?—Yes.

4843. Did you apply to him at all?—No, I did not. I am acquainted with him, and I often see him; and he gave me the money.

4844. He told you when you would have the rest?—No, sir, nothing about that.

4845. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he say what he paid the money for?—For my services at the election.

J. Palmer.

JOHN PALMER sworn and examined.

4846. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You live at Nutley-lane?—Yes.

4847. You are a voter for the borough?—Yes.

4848. What rent do you pay?—12*l.* 10*s.* a year.

4849. What are you by profession?—A smith.

4850. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

4851. Had you voted at a previous election?—Yes.

4852. For whom?—The election before the last I voted for Mr. Gower.

4853. And the election before that for whom did you vote?—Mr. Wilkinson.

4854. Who canvassed you upon the last occasion? Do you recollect whether Mr. Gower himself canvassed you?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Frederick Joyes together.

4855. Did you see Mr. Joyes afterwards?—I did, sir.

4856. Soon after you had seen Mr. Gower?—Very shortly afterwards indeed.

4857. Had you promised to vote for Mr. Gower?—I promised him I would.

4858. You promised Joyes?—Yes.

4859. Was that when he came to you a second time?—Yes.

4860. You did not promise the first time?—Not when Mr. Gower was with him I did not.

4861. You told him, I suppose, you would think of it?—That is just the very thing I did tell him.

4862. How many days after did Joyes call?—Something like five days.

4863. Mr. Joyes had more influence with you than Mr. Gower?—Rather more. Oh yes.

4864. He knew your soft side, I think; did not he?—He told me I was not to be in too big a hurry to make my mind up, but I was to think of it these electioneering times.

4865. He liked you to be a little coy; when he called again I believe he was able to offer you some work?—Yes, he offered me five weeks' work.

4866. 1*l.* a week?—That is just it, sir.

4867. Well but you are a smith, you know; what could you do for the election?—I could not do anything; I did not want to do anything.

4868. And Joyes knew you did not want to do anything?—He told me I was not to do anything. He told me also that.

4869. It is a happy state of things at Reigate to be employed to work and to have nothing to do?—Oh, yes.

4870. Then you agreed to that?—I did.

4871. And agreed to vote for Mr. Gower on those terms?—Yes.

4872. Now let us understand the terms. You were engaged to do work for five weeks, but you were to do no work?—I was not to do any work. I was to walk about with my hands in my pockets. There were plenty to do the work. Joyes said that.

4873. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Joyes said that you might walk about with your hands in your pockets?—Yes.

4874. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He told you, I think, you might go to Mr. Hearne's beer shop?—Yes.

4875. And have some refreshments whenever you liked?—When I pleased.

4876. That was when you were fatigued from work?—I suppose so.

4877. Well now, and I suppose you did favour Mr. Hearne?—Of course I did.

4878. And on more than one occasion?—Oh, bless you yes! lots of times.

4879. During the whole five weeks?—Well, it was not five weeks, it was three weeks I had a run there; a free house.

4880. Were there many other men engaged for work?—Never but one voter that ever entered the house with me.

4881. Who was he?—Thomas Lamport.

4882. Was he engaged for work?—Not that I am aware of.

4883. He took some refreshment with you?—Yes.

4884. Did he pay for them?—No.

4885. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Which way did he vote?—He voted for Mr. Gower.

4886. Well, I believe you did not trouble the committee much?—Not at all; not even once.

4887. What did you get for your labour?—I received 2*l.*

4888. And you thought that was little, did not you?—Well, considering what he promised me it was very little.

4889. Who paid you the 2*l.*?—Joyes.

4890. When?—I believe it was in October last.

4891. What did he say when he paid you the 2*l.*?—I asked him when there would be a chance for the remainder, and he told me, "Well, there will be "a settling day sometime. I suppose we might say "next February."

4892. And then you were to have the 3*l.*?—Yes.

4893. Did you know anything about the former election in 1863?—Who were the candidates?

4894. Did you vote?—Yes, I voted.

4895. You voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes; I voted twice for Mr. Gower. I do not know the dates, I have a short memory rather.

4896. Were you engaged upon that occasion?—At Mr. Wilkinson's election?

4897. Yes?—Yes, I was.

4898. By whom, by Joyes or Apted?—Oh, Mr. Joyes.

4899. On behalf of Mr. Gower?—On behalf of Mr. Wilkinson at that election.

4900. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you vote for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

4901. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What were you paid on that election?—2*l.*

4902. For voting for Wilkinson?—Yes.

4903. Joyes canvassed you for Wilkinson, did not he?—Yes.

4904. Then you voted for him and received 2*l.*?—I did.

4905. Was it the same Mr. Joyes; there are two?—Mr. Frederick Joyes.

4906. Had you voted before at all?—Yes, at the election before that I voted for what we call now Lord Monson.

4907. You voted for the brother of Monson?—Yes.

4908. Were you canvassed by Joyes?—Not that time.

4909. Who canvassed you then?—Mr. Nicholls, I believe.

4910. He is a man of influence; were you engaged?—I do not believe I was, sir.

4911. But you received?—Oh yes, I received. I received at all the elections. I do not deny it.

4912. You are giving your evidence, I think, very creditably.—I like to be honest, sir.

4913. There is nothing like an honest and independent voter. How much did you receive on behalf of Lord Monson?—One sovereign.

4914. Only a sovereign?—Only a sovereign.

4915. From Mr. Nicholls?—From Mr. James Nicholls.

4916. Is that the only time you voted?—Yes, that was the only time.

4917. The scale is 1*l.*, 2*l.*, and 3*l.* What did you receive from Joyes last?—2*l.*

4918. At the last time, you are an honest and independent elector, did not any one apply to you on behalf of Mr. Monson?—Mr. Monson himself came to me and one man with him.

4919. To canvass you?—Yes.

4920. Was that before you saw Mr. Joyes, when he was to employ you, or afterwards?—Afterwards.

4921. What did Monson say?—Well, he of course pressed me hard for my vote, and I told him he was too late, I had already promised it for Mr. Gower. He seemed perfectly satisfied with that, he would not wish to press me any further, and of course he walked away.

4922. Nothing was said upon that occasion about money?—Not a word.

4923. Who was with Monson?—John Carden; I believe he is a voter.

4924. And you did not see Mr. Nicholls?—No, sir, I did not.

4925. Did you attend any of their public houses?—Not one, not the whole time.

4926. You had no drink at the expense of Monson?—None whatever.

4927. Having promised you kept your word?—I did.

4928. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say you had a free run of the beer houses?—Of the one beer house, only one.

4929. Do you recollect the writ coming down?—I recollect hearing talk about it.

4930. Did you go to the house afterwards?—Mr. Hearne's?

4931. Yes?—No, I was told not to go any more.

4932. Who told you not to go any more?—The landlord himself.

4933. Did you change your patronage anywhere else?—No, sir, I never went into one house for to have anything to drink, only there.

4934. Not after the writ?—I did not go in at all.

4935. On the day of polling did you go anywhere?—Yes.

4936. Where did you go to get refreshment then?—The "Little Crown."

4937. Did you pay for what you had?—No, I did not.

4938. Did you see many others there?—Well, the house was filled to excess.

4939. Did you see any of them paying?—No, no money about at all.

4940. Were they voters chiefly?—Most of them, I believe.

4941. Did you ever meet Apted after the writ came down?—Which Apted?

4942. Either?—No, sir, I did not.

4943. Well, did you meet any of these influential men like Apted, and go to any house with them?—Never went to no house at all, nor no one ever asked me any questions concerning the election.

4944. Did anybody ever give you any drink between just before the election and after the writ?—No, sir.

4945. None of the houses?—None of the houses.

4946. When you were first canvassed by Mr. Gower you said you would think of it?—Yes, those were the words.

4947. Were your politics doubtful?—Had you any scruples about politics?—No, sir, I believed him to be the best man; he was always the favourite in my eye.

4948. Now, what were you going to think about if you thought he was the best man?—Well, I thought he was the man that ought to be returned, being the best man.

4949. Why did not you promise him?—Mr. Joyes told me I was to think it over.

4950. You had said you were rather doubtful, and that is the reason why Joyes told you to think of it?—Yes.

4951. Now I want to know what it was that made you doubtful?—Well, I do not know as I am in a position to say, but I have no doubt it was the money matters. There is no doubt about that, I think. You know it always wants thinking about, these little things do, don't it?

4952. Now, I suppose if the Monson party had come first and offered you 5*l.* you would have gone with them?—I think it is quite likely I should.

4953. You did not care which side you voted?—Not at all; I did not indeed.

4954. You are a very fine specimen of a free and independent elector?—I come here to speak the truth.

4955. Now you have cleared your conscience, now you may go?—Thank you, sir.

CHARLES SMITH called, sworn, and examined.

C. Smith.

4956. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How long have you been a voter of this borough?—Five or six years, I believe. At least about five years.

4957. What was the first election that you voted at?—1863, I believe it was. Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Gower were candidates.

FOURTH DAY.

C. Smith.

25 Aug. 1866.

4958. Have you retained the same qualification all through?—Yes.

4959. Tell me what your qualification is?—I am a joiner by trade.

4960. It is a singular thing that you all answer like that, stating your trade as a qualification. Being a joiner by trade gives you no vote. Some day, perhaps, being a joiner by trade will be a qualification; but it is not now. What house do you rent?—13*l.*

4961. You pay 13*l.*?—Yes.

4962. For whom did you vote at this election?—This last one?

4963. Yes?—For Mr. Gower.

4964. Were you canvassed by the Monson party?—Yes, Mr. Monson himself.

4965. Were you canvassed by the Gower party?—Yes, Mr. Gower himself and two or three agents with him.

4966. Which party canvassed you first? — Mr. Gower's.

4967. Then we will deal with Mr. Gower first. When Mr. Gower canvassed you who was with him?—Mr. Apted and Mr. Buckland.

4968. You mean, I suppose, Job Apted?—Yes. I fancy that Mr. Joyes was there too. Those three were there, anyhow, and Mr. Smith.

4969. Did you see Mr. Gower canvassing frequently?—That was the first part, when he first came up.

4970. I mean, on other occasions did you see Mr. Gower canvassing?—At other elections.

4971. At this election after he came to you?—I met him several times. I saw him a great deal.

4972. Were those persons whose names you have mentioned the chief persons who attended him on his canvass?—I believe so, as far as I know.

4973. They were his principal supporters?—I believe so.

4974. When did you promise your vote to Gower?—When he came to me in our shop.

4975. On the first occasion?—Yes.

4976. Was it Mr. Gower himself who asked you for your vote?—Yes, and also a gentleman that was with him.

4977. Who was the gentleman that asked you besides Mr. Gower?—Mr. Smith was there. I believe Mr. Gower was one that asked me.

4978. Was Alexander Rose with them on that occasion?—No.

4979. Not on that occasion?—No, he was not.

4980. Did you afterwards see Alexander Rose?—Oh yes, I saw him every day.

4981. Did he canvass you?—No, he might have spoken to me about the election and that like. I suppose you would call it canvassing; he might have asked me which way I was going. Of course that is canvassing.

4982. Did he say anything to you about your being on the committee?—Rose did not.

4983. Did either of them?—Mr. Buckland did.

4984. Did Mr. Buckland ask you to work?—Yes.

4985. Did he tell you what work you were to do?—He told me I was to advocate Mr. Gower's cause as much as I could, and do as much as I could in our shop and also in my locality.

4986. What is your locality?—Nutley-lane.

4987. You live in Nutley-lane?—Yes, I am one of those "roughs."

4988. There was a letter in one of the public papers to-day protesting against the mayor's evidence?—Yes, I saw it.

4989. You say Alexander Rose canvassed you?—No; he spoke to me about being on the committee.

4990. Is he the Alexander Rose that signed that letter?—I believe he is. There are some of them working on the same firm as I do.

4991. They work on the same firm?—Yes.

4992. What are they, carpenters and joiners?—Yes, those that work there.

4993. Are they all voters that signed the letter?—I believe they are. I could tell you if you were to call them over.

4994. There is William Taylor?—Yes. He is a joiner. He does not work on our firm.

4995. He lives in Nutley-lane?—Yes.

4996. Did he vote?—He did.

4997. Whom did he vote for?—Mr. Gower.

4998. Henry Palmer?—Well, I do not know much of him. He is a shoemaker.

4999. There are about 10 names; you know them all?—Yes, I know them all.

5000. At all events, Alexander Rose, who signed that letter, spoke to you about joining the committee?—No, he did not. Buckland did.

5001. Did not Alexander Rose?—He never mentioned such a thing. He may have asked me to vote for Gower, or anything of that sort; but being on the committee he never said anything to me about whatever.

5002. Did you attend the committees?—I did.

5003. And canvassed?—I did. At least I did all that I could do.

5004. Have you received any money?—Yes, I have.

5005. Who paid you the money?—Mr. Buckland.

5006. Did Buckland promise you the money?—No.

5007. Who did?—Mr. Buckland promised me that I should be paid for my labour, the time that I lost. I could not afford to lose the time I did. I lost a great deal of time, which I did not get paid for. I get 6*d.* per hour, which when I am not at work I do not receive.

5008. You got 1*l.* 10*s.* from Buckland?—I got more than that.

5009. What, for your services at the election?—Yes.

5010. How much did you get?—3*l.*

5011. Did you receive 1*l.* 10*s.* of it at one time?—Never.

5012. How much did you receive at one time?—3*l.*

5013. 3*l.* at one time?—Yes.

3014. Then how much do you consider is due to you?—Well, I don't hardly know what is due if I charged for my time.

5015. Have you not stated that a particular sum is due to you?—No; I was to be paid my expenses and my time.

5016. Was it 3*l.* or 3*l.* 10*s.* that you received?—3*l.*

5017. Are you quite sure that you did not receive a 10*s.*? Put your hands down from your mouth, and answer the question.—I will try and think.

5018. Have you not received 3*l.* 10*s.*?—I never received any 10*s.*

5019. Have you not told any person that 1*l.* 10*s.* was due to you?—I had a party come and tell me so.

5020. Who told you so?—Mr. Naylor.

5021. How came Mr. Naylor to know that you were to have anything?—I do not know that he did know. He only jumped at it.

5022. But you had received 3*l.*?—No, I had not received a farthing.

5023. You received the 3*l.* after Naylor had been?—Long since then.

5024. Then Naylor did not jump very wrong?—I told him I was to have something, and I told everybody else. I do not deny it. I was not going to lose my time at the election if I did not get paid for it. I have got a wife and two or three children to keep.

5025. What did you do for this 3*l.*?—I canvassed.

5026. Did you canvass the people in your own shop?—Yes, and in my own street, and other places too.

5027. That is when you met them?—Sometimes I might have gone on purpose.

5028. But did you?—Yes, in my own street.

5029. But you did not go out of your own street?—Yes, I went to Redhill.

5030. What did you go for?—To meet a few mates. I went to advocate Mr. Gower's cause.

5031. Did you speak on those occasions?—I spoke to those I saw.

5032. Did you make speeches?—Only individually.

5033. Did you canvass the people at public houses? No, I might have spoken to them in a public house. I do not dispute that.

5034. Was it in the evening when you went away? Sometimes in the evening, and sometimes in the day-time. The last week I lost very nearly all the week.

5035. Do you mean to say that you left your work in the day-time to go canvassing?—Yes, the last week. My employer could prove that. He knows what wages I got in the last week.

5036. How many days did you leave your employment in the day-time?—Five days was the time I lost the last week. I was making seven days a week then.

5037.—But how do you count your time for five days? You count your time at sixpence an hour?—Yes.

5038. In the day-time was it you were away canvassing?—All day long.

5039. What time did you start?—I do not suppose I started much before 8 o'clock.

5040. Do you mean to say that any one day you were away from 8 o'clock without going to your work at all?—Yes, I do.

5041. On those occasions whom did you canvass?—Mr. Walters, Mr. Reddin, Mr. Greenfield; in fact, I cannot say who I did canvass. I canvassed scores.

5042. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who is Mr. Walters?—He is a carpenter. He lives down our lane.

5043. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) A carpenter, who lives down your lane?—Yes.

5044. I am asking you where you went when you lost your time?—Well, I did not lose any time the last week at canvassing. At nights I was going about a good deal.

5045. At nights, after the usual time of work?—Well, I could not work in the day if I was out in the night.

5046. I do not know that?—But I do, sir.

5047. You have told me that you were four days in the last week off your own proper work, and that you were canvassing?—I did not say I was canvassing four days that week.

5048.—What were you doing?—I was out of a night. We were told to be on the look-out to see that the other party did not come and decoy the supporters of Mr. Gower away, and persuade them to go for the other party.

5049. Is that what you call going for four days?—Well, I was sent in the night, and of course I could not do any work in the day-time. I was in bed in the day-time.

5050. Had you anything to do during these nights?—I went and looked round the houses where we thought they were "shaky," as we call them, to see there were no parties to persuade them away.

5051. Then you simply walked about, and there was nobody to disturb you?—Yes.

5052. You say you went to look after the shaky voters?—Yes.

5053. The last week before the election?—Yes.

5054. Can you give me the name of one shaky voter?—Well, I do not wish to expose them.

5055. Will you be good enough to tell me, whether you wish or not. You are obliged. Give me one?—One that we considered shaky?

5056. Yes?—Medhurst.

5057. Where does he live?—Nutley-lane.

5058. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He wanted something to make him steady?—I do not know what he wanted. I cannot answer for that.

5059. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was he one of the gentlemen signing the letter?—I do not know. Gates was another that they considered very shaky.

5060. Do you know a man of the name of Holdsworth?—Yes, I do know a man of that name. He keeps a public house at the top of the town. I know him. I do not know as I know any other that was shaky.

5061. What sort of a man is Medhurst? Is he a person who is addicted to going to public houses at all?—I am sure I do not know much of the man.

5062. What does he work at?—He is a milkman I believe.

5063. Does he carry about milk?—Yes.

5064. As a servant?—It is his own milk I suppose; he has a milk walk.

5065. This man Holdsworth, does he live in Nutley-lane?—He lives in the town, if it is the same one you mean. I only know that one.

5066. What house does he keep?—The "Red Cross" I believe it is.

5067. That was used by Mr. Monson, wasn't it?—I believe it was.

5068. Give me the name of another shaky voter? Gates is one. At least, those I have named are the ones that I was told were shaky; I do not know anything about them.

5069. Who told you they were shaky?—Those who knew them.

5070. Did Mr. Joyes?—A great many who worked at our shop told me.

5071. When you were watching Medhurst's house did you see anybody come there?—I do not know.

5072. Your appearance kept them away?—I was not alone.

5073. How many had you at this night work?—Several. They were not with me particularly, but I was not by myself.

5074. Were they all walking in Nutley-lane?—They were walking all round the parish.

5075. Did you keep to Nutley-lane?—No.

5076. Was there not somebody who kept a special guard over Medhurst's house?—I think when I was away there was somebody else there.

5077. If he was a shaky voter he wanted constant guarding?—Yes.

5078. You might just as well have got a policeman to walk round?—They would have had to pay him I suppose.

5079. You say Gates is another?—Yes.

5080. What is his Christian name?—William Gates.

5081. Where does he live?—Nutley-lane.

5082. He was considered shaky?—He was considered so.

5083. He was thinking which way he would vote for?—Well, a man that has promised to two parties, they do not think much of him.

5084. Did you know that Medhurst had promised both parties?—No.

5085. Did you hear Gates did?—Yes; the men in our shop heard him promise to both parties.

5086. Did you hear whether he received any consideration from both parties for his promise?—I never heard anything at all about that.

5087. Give me the name of another shaky voter?—I do not know that I know any more shaky ones.

5088. How many were in company with you at night? were there six, or eight, or a dozen?—I dare say there were as many as that about.

5089. Do you mean to say that it took the whole twelve of you to watch these shaky voters in Nutley-lane?—I cannot tell how many there were; I cannot answer for that.

5090. Well, when you were going round in different parts of the parish did not some of your friends say, "We must go to such a place after "so-and-so, he is a shaky voter"?—They might have said so.

5091. But did they?—I cannot say.

FOURTH DAY.

C. Smith.

25Aug. 1866.

5092. Why did you leave Nutley-lane if you had to leave some one else there?—I live in Nutley-lane.

5093. Then why did you not go to bed?—Mr. Buckland told me to look out.

5094. If you were told to look out, and you went to another part of the parish where you did not know there was a shaky voter, why did you do so?—I went with some person, I suppose, who did know.

5095. I suppose that person told you he was going to another part of the parish to look after them?—He said he was going to look round. I do not know that he was going particularly to look after shaky ones, but to look round.

5096. Did you go into any public house that night? I might have done; but I don't frequent public houses very often.

5097. I did not say you did; but did you go on that particular occasion, that night when you were walking round?—Most likely I went into a public house; but it is so long ago I cannot recollect.

5098. Oh, yes, you can?—No, sir, I cannot.

5099. But did you do anything at all but walk round?—Most likely I went into some public houses before they were closed; but I could not go into public houses much at that time of night.

5100. But there are golden keys in this town?—I never saw any.

5101. What houses did you go into in Nutley-lane?—Mr. Muddle's house. That closed at 11.

5102. Do you go into Muddle's house when you go to a public house?—I mostly go into there when I go anywhere.

5103. Did you go during this election?—Yes, several times.

5104. And had meetings there?—I do not know that we had any meetings there.

5105. Where did you have your meetings?—We might have met there; but they were not regular meetings.

5106. When you met there who paid?—Sometimes I paid there, and sometimes others.

5107. What you saw drunk you believe was paid for?—Yes.

5108. When this person, Mr. Naylor, called upon you, did you tell him who it was had promised to give you money, or to remunerate you for your services?—I did not. In fact, I did not know who was to remunerate me then.

5109. Is this your signature (showing witness an entry in a book)?—Yes, it is my signature.

5110. Was this entry read to you before you signed it?—No, nothing read to me whatever.

5111. Were the columns filled in before you signed it?—Well, I do not know. There were so many names there when I signed it.

5112. Not so many names, because you are in the middle of the column?—I did not take up the book to examine it; nor did he read any statement to me.

5113. Was this book put before you on the table?—That is the book by the look of it.

5114. "By the look of it"? But here is your signature?—Yes, that must have been the book.

5115. In this entry is, "By whom promised: "Alexander Rose. Amount due: 1*l.* 10*s.*" And then it is signed "C. Smith"?—You must understand that I did not put the rest of that there besides the signature; neither should I think it was there when I signed. I should think it was not there.

5116. You know Mr. Naylor, or rather Mr. Hamblin, has sworn it?—If that gentleman has sworn it I will take it as so.

5117. Didn't you think it important to read the book before you signed it?—No, I did not, but merely to put my name down; neither do I consider it important now.

5118. Do you mean to swear that you did not tell him you were promised 30*s.* by Alexander Rose?—Yes.

5119. Did Alexander Rose promise you?—No.

5120. Or speak to you about work or being on the committee?—I believe not.

5121. Will you swear positively he did not?—Not to my recollection anyhow. I would not say positively that he did not.

Short adjournment.

W. Wesley.

William Wesley called, sworn, and examined.

5122. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you vote at the last election for Mr. Gower?—I did.

5123. What were you on the register for?—House and garden, Linkfield-lane, 20*l.* a year.

5124. Who canvassed you to vote?—Mr. Gower.

5125. Any one with him?—Yes, Mr. Smith. Mr. Gower asked me if I would give him my vote, and I said, "Well, God knows I worked hard enough against "you last time; but I don't see any just cause why I "should vote against you this time; but I will not "promise you my vote at present, but you may "expect it."

5126. Green also was there at that time, or a subsequent one?—No.

5127. What?—Not any one else. It was in this market-place when he canvassed me first.

5128. Did Green afterwards canvass you?—He did speak to me. He asked me which way I was going. He met me one day; he says, "Uncle, which way "are you going?"

5129. "Uncle"?—Yes, I am called "Uncle Wesley" to make a distinction.

5130. Did he ask you if you would do some work on Gower's committee, or something of that sort?—He did.

5131. What did you say in answer to that?—I said, "Well, I should have no objection after a time."

5132. "After a time"?—Yes.

5133. Did you mean after a certain time in the day?—No, after a time—after the lapse of a few days or so. I said, "I dare say I shall be with you, Mr. "Green. I dare say I shall be in the boat with Mr. "Gower, for I promised him, and I don't think I "shall break my promise."

5134. Did he intimate to you that if you lost your time that would be taken into consideration?—Not at that time.

5135. When was it?—It was after I was on the committee with Mr. Gower.

5136. You were put on the committee?—He asked if I would go on the committee. I said, "Oh, yes, "I should have no objection to go on the committee.' I went to a committee meeting.

5137. Tell us in your own way.—I went to the committee meeting at the town hall at Redhill, and then I made up my mind, and I said to Mr. Green, "I shall go with you, and of course I shall work and "do all that I can for you now, because when I put "my hand to the plough I don't turn back for "nothing."

5138. And I suppose also you meant that you do not go on for nothing?—I did not say anything at all about that. Not a word was said.

5139. I said, "You meant"?—I said to Mr. Green that night, "I object to taking a paltry bribe; I don't "like taking a paltry bribe; but if I can be paid for "my work, what I do, that is all I require. I have "made myself a poor man over former elections, and "I wish now to be paid if I run about and work, and "if not I don't wish to have anything to do with it; "but I should vote for Mr. Gower."

5140. Let us have all the conversation. What did Mr. Green say?—I said, "Well, I have no need to "look after you; I will be on your side, and if I

"know any information which I can give you I shall "give it."

5141. Did you consider yourself then engaged the same as other people?—Yes, I considered I was to canvass and do all I could.

5142. And on the same terms?—There were no terms mentioned.

5143. Did you consider yourself put on on the same terms as the rest?—I do not know what you mean by "the rest." If you mean money matters, I did not make them a point.

5144. You said nothing about them?—No.

5145. What I want to know is, when you said, "I "will go on your side," did you consider yourself on the same terms as other voters?—I meant to vote for Mr. Gower, and nobody else.

5146. But did you consider yourself then entitled to be paid the same as other people?—I did not know about being paid. I considered that if I ran about, and went to meetings, and was called out in the usual way, I should be paid. I did not wish to lose any time about it.

5147. Then you considered that you would be remunerated?—Yes.

5148. What is the rate at which you expected to be remunerated?—I do not know. There was nothing said about it. There was no specified sum stated in any shape or way.

5149. Wasn't it stated that you were to receive the same as others?—No; all that I got from Mr. Green was that of course as I worked so I should be paid.

5150. Try and remember this, if you please; you can tell me exactly right, I have no doubt. Didn't he say, or one of them say, "You will be paid the same "as the rest"?—Nobody said that to me individually; it was said by Mr. Gower in that committee that everybody should be paid that worked for him, and I only expected the same. That is it. I did not know what it was they meant.

5151. Do you recollect whether Mr. Gower said anything more?—I do not think he did.

5152. He said every one who worked for him would be paid?—Would be paid—yes.

5153. Then you considered yourself as one who worked for him, and that therefore you would be paid?—I expected that I should have something, according to what I did.

5154. Did you canvass people?—I might have canvassed people.

5155. I want to know whether you did?—Well, I did, if you call it canvassing. I went to a party, and I said, "Shall you go for Mr. Gower, or anybody "else? I solicit your vote this way. I solicit you "to vote for Mr. Gower, because I think he is the "best man."

5156. Well, that is canvassing, and the best canvassing. Will you tell me any person whom you canvassed?—Well, I do not know any person particularly. There were several persons whom I spoke to over it. I never went to anybody directly, to run right out and say, "I will go and see what that man "says;" not a bit of it.

5157. You did not go in that way expressly to any person?—No.

5158. Whenever you were in a committee meeting or in the street you, of course, saw plenty of people to have conversation with?—Yes, but I did not go direct to any person.

5159. What did you do for Mr. Gower except attend the committee meetings?—Well, on the day of the poll I was sent out to several places to fetch parties up to the poll.

5160. How did you fetch them up?—When there was a vehicle I was asked, "Will you go and fetch "so-and-so"?

5161. A vehicle was provided?—A vehicle was provided, and so I went, of course, to the place where they were.

5162. Did you bring anybody up?—Yes.

5163. Whom did you bring up?—Mr. Lambert, the baker, was one; old Mr. Lambert; he was infirm.

5164. Wanted a carriage?—He had a carriage. Of course I helped him into the carriage.

5165. Well, I do not see any "of course;" it was a common act of humanity. Who told you about Mr. Lambert, and to go down and fetch him? Whom did you receive directions from?—I can hardly say now; it was in the hall. I should think it was Mr. Webb.

5166. Who is Mr. Webb? I don't think I know Mr. Webb?—Of Redstone-hill; he is a solicitor I believe.

5167. Whose interest was he employed on?—Mr. Gower's.

5168. You think he asked you to go?—I believe it was him who asked me to go.

5169. Well, I will not tie you to it at all, but how far did you go to fetch Mr. Lambert?—Well, I should say not more than 400 yards from the place, but he was infirm.

5170. You went in the carriage?—No, I walked.

5171. Did you ride back?—No, I helped him out when he got back.

5172. Whom else did you fetch up to the poll?—A man of the name of Latham.

5173. Oh, yes, I know him. Had you far to go to fetch Latham?—I went to Reigate-hill.

5174. He did not want a carriage, did he?—Well, I do not know that he did. He had one. He was to be fetched at a certain time, that was at 1 o'clock.

5175. You did not drive the carriage?—No, I did not.

5176. Did you ride there in the carriage?—I rode outside with the driver.

5177. And back again?—Yes, back again.

5178. Latham was a man very willing to vote, wasn't he?—Well, I do not know anything about that.

5179. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it Alfred Latham?—I think it was Alfred Latham; I do not know.

5180. (The Chief Commissioner.) You think his name was Alfred?—I think so; I am not sure.

5181. Tell me this: You knew him pretty well?—No.

5182. Well, it is odd you should be sent for him?—Well, it was, but there was another party went with me.

5183. Who was the other man that went with you?—I can hardly tell you.

5184–5. I dare say you can. It is not long ago. I am sure you will tell me if you can.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was the man you fetched Alfred Latham, Hollies-row?—Yes. It was Titchener who went with me.

5186. (The Chief Commissioner.) You knew Latham?—Only by sight. I never knew him until that time.

5187. Was the name of Latham given to you as a very shaky man?—No.

5188. He was a very willing man?—Well, I do not know that.

5189. Who gave you directions to go to Latham?—I really do not know who it was. They said, "You "had better go and fetch him."

5190. Was not that direction given out publicly in the hall; at least publicly by Mr. Gower's side?—Yes, his side.

5191. I think that direction was not addressed to you?—No.

5192. Precisely. Then you jumped upon the box?—Yes; a party asked me to go with him.

5193. You did not know Latham?—I did not.

5194. Will you tell me anybody else, if you please, that you fetched up?—I cannot tell you exactly who I fetched up. I went for several parties.

5195. I do not wish to hurry you. Be kind enough to give me the names of any persons you fetched up?—I cannot tell you exactly. I went for several, to see if they were coming.

5196. You do not mention any other names?—No.

5197. Did you receive any money?—For what?

FOURTH DAY.

W. Wesley.

25 Aug. 1866.

5198. Never mind for what. It is a plain question. You know what the question means. Did you receive any money?—I did.

5199. Why didn't you say so at first? How much?—2*l.*; I received it from Mr. Green. At three different times I received that sum. That is all I had.

5200. How much is due to you?—I do not know.

5201. But what do you estimate?—I do not estimate anything.

5202. You have told us you did not like any paltry pay; but I want to know what you think in fairness is due to you?—Well, that all depends upon themselves; what they think proper to give me; what they think my services are worth.

5203. Well, how much would you take in fairness to them? If they offered you the money now how much would you take? Would you take 3*l.*?—Well, I do not know but what I would.

5204. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) If you could get it?—If I could get it.

5205. You would take 5*l.* if you could get it?—Well, it would not be worse than those that have fifty, if I took 5*l.*; I only want to be paid for my time.

5206. (The Chief Commissioner.) 3*l.* is just about the sum that you have been thinking of as the residue, is not it?—I have not been thinking of anything, not as regards the money; I never thought of any particular sum.

5207. Well, but you thought of the money when you received it, and thought of it very pleasantly?—I only wanted it when I had done the work.

5208. I did not say you did want it; I dare say you are quite above want?—No, I am not.

5209. But when you have been turning it over in your mind, hasn't there been a little dream about 3*l.* as the residue?—No.

5210. Can you tell me when you received the 3*l.*? It was at three different times; when was the last?—The last was just about the time that this Mr. Naylor was here.

5211. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You did not get it from Naylor?—No.

5212. Who paid it?—Mr. Green.

5213. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you recollect the polling day?—Yes.

5214. Do you recollect there was a breakfast provided for all Mr. Gower's voters?—Where?

5215. Well, I ask you the question?—No, I do not.

5216. I will assist you. Do you know the "Warwick Arms"?—Yes.

5217. Were you often at the "Warwick Arms"?—Very seldom.

5218. Well, but you attended meetings?—Yes, I attended meetings.

5219. There was plenty of refreshment at the "Warwick Arms" when you attended, wasn't there?—I went very seldom, but I paid.

5220. Whenever you attended at the "Warwick Arms" was there not plenty of refreshment? I did not say anything about paying for it. Was there not plenty of refreshment at the "Warwick Arms" when you attended meetings there?—I have seen refreshment when I attended meetings there.

5221. Did you ever pay for any?—I have for some.

5222. Have you ever had refreshments there without paying for them?—Yes.

5223. Several times, I think?—Two or three times.

5224. Where is the "Warwick Arms"?—It is situated in the Station-road, Redhill.

5225. Do you recollect on the morning of the polling there was a breakfast at the "Warwick Arms"?—I do not know that there was; I never had any; I dare say there was a breakfast there.

5226. Try and recollect. Don't you know that there was a breakfast at the "Warwick Arms" laid out for any voter of Mr. Gower's who chose to come in and partake of it?—No, I do not recollect that at all.

5227. I will go further; not only a breakfast, but a breakfast that lasted all day?—No, I do not know that there was.

5228. Well, we will see in a short time. Do you know Tullet's?—Do you mean Tulet's.

5229. I call it Tullet's from not knowing better?—George Tulet's.

5230. What house is that?—It is called the "Bell."

5231. Were you there?—No.

5232. Never?—I do not know "never."

5233. Or previous to the election?—Not during the election.

5234. Can you tell me whether there was drink there for everybody who chose to have it?—I cannot.

5235. Were you at the meeting at Earlswood-common?—Do you mean when they had the booth?

5236. Yes. Was there plenty of drinking going on there?—I do not know.

5237. Were you there?—Yes.

5238. But you do not know whether there was any refreshment going on there?—I saw people drinking round a house, but I do not know what it is called.

5239. Did you see any payment made?—No.

5240. Did you go to a meeting of the electors at the "Bell" inn, Reigate?—No.

5241. I beg your pardon; just think; we have heard of this before, you know?—No; I was never at a meeting at the "Bell" inn.

5242. Were you never at a meeting of the electors at the "Bell" inn, Reigate?—No.

5243. Was there not plenty of refreshment going on there?—I never was there; I cannot say.

5244. As we are talking about refreshment, when you brought these electors up to the poll, assuming that you did bring any up to the poll, did you give them refreshment?—One.

5245. Which?—Latham.

5246. Where did you get it?—At the "Warwick Arms."

5247. Then you went into the "Warwick Arms" on the polling day. Now, this is a serious question, upon your oath——?—I know that I am upon my oath.

5248. I am only reminding you of it. I have got you into the "Warwick Arms;" when you were there on the polling day didn't you see breakfast laid out?—No.

5249. Didn't you see refreshments on the table?—There were refreshments on the table.

5250. You rather beat me. I called it breakfast; you won't agree to the denomination. My friend suggests to me that it was breakfast without any tea?—I do not know whether it was breakfast; it was in the middle of the day; I do not call it breakfast.

5251. Well, you beat me. I give up the word "breakfast." I will call it breakfast without any tea. Will you answer me that, without giving me the trouble to give another name for it?—There was refreshment there, and Latham had a little and I had a little. That will save you some trouble. You need not go farther.

5252. I should like to go a little farther. While we are both in a good humour there is no reason why we should not. You did not pay for it?—No.

5253. Did Layton?—No.

5254. Do you know one James Stevens?—I do.

5255. You had a good many times talked with him about the election?—I have talked with him.

5256. Before the polling day, I mean?—No.

5257. You had talked with him several times before the polling day?—Very trifling. I might have said, "How do you do, Stevens? How are you getting "on?" but I never talked with him beyond that.

5258. But I suppose he would answer you?—Perhaps he would.

5259. You may have got on in conversation a little farther?—Well, yes.

5260. Now, don't you recollect telling him that you should like very much to have his vote for Mr. Gower ?—No, I never told him so.

5261. Do you recollect his telling you that he should like to vote, that he had a strong inclination to vote for Mr. Gower ?—I believe he said something to that effect.

5262. Perhaps I can assist your memory a little more. Didn't he go on and say, "Only, you know, if "it were not that I have got a wife and large family, "I should vote for Mr. Monson" ?—No, I do not recollect that.

5263. Don't you ?—No.

5264. Something like it ?—Well, we had some conversation to that effect, but I cannot say what the man said. They were little matters that men talk together.

5265. But didn't he add that he was obliged to vote for Gower ?—I don't recollect.

5266. Something to that effect ?—Something to that effect.

5267. That is quite enough. Just tell me this: you know you brought up old Mr. Lambert to the poll, as you say ?—I was sent after him.

5268. Quite right. There is a young Mr. Lambert, his son, isn't there ?—Yes.

5269. Did he vote ?—I believe he did.

5270. Was he an active man about the election ?—Not particularly so, as I know of.

5271. Did Stevens tell you that he owed young Mr. Lambert some money ?—Well, he said something to me about it, I know, once.

5272. I dare say he mentioned to you the sum, 7*l.* 10*s.*, didn't he ?—Well, I forget now what it was.

5273. He may have done so ?—He may have done so.

5274. You think he did mention the sum, but you do not recollect what it was ?—We had some conversation about it.

5275. And didn't he give you to understand that it was on that account that he did not vote for Mr. Monson ?—He said something to that effect.

5276. Well, I do not want it nearer than "to that "effect" ?—It is a long time ago now, I cannot recollect exactly.

5277. Were you engaged in the election of 1863 ?—Yes.

5278. Whom did you vote for ?—Wilkinson.

5279. Were you on the committee for Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

5280. What money did you receive from Mr. Wilkinson for work which you did as you were on the committee ?—I received no money.

5281. What did you receive money for ?—I received money at different times from Mr. James.

5282. That was Mr. Wilkinson's agent ?—Yes.

5283. How much ?—For all and everything I received 9*l.*

5284. I dare say you will do it very well: be kind enough to tell us what you received the 9*l.* for ?—I cannot.

5285. Then that won't be doing it very well. You received 9*l.* That is not a paltry sum. What was it for ?—Well, sometimes when a man came to hear Mr. Wilkinson they would say to me, "Well, uncle, can't "we have a glass of something to drink ? It is very "hard for us to come here and have nothing. We "wish to know what the view of our man is whom "we are to support." Then I was obliged to go to Mr. James, and say, "Such and such is the case," and he would give me 2*l.*, and he would say, "You must "make that run out as far as you can, because we "are very short of money." But I never received anything for my services, but altogether what I had amounted to 9*l.*

5286. What did you do with the money when you got it ?—Paid it away. I can show that I am money out of pocket by that election.

5287. Did you send in any accounts on paper to Mr. James ?—Yes.

5288. He is not alive, I believe ?—No; he is dead.

5289. But you did send them in ?—I sent in certain accounts to him.

5290. When ?—At the time of the election.

5291. Did you send in all your accounts at once, at one time, on one piece of paper ?—No.

5292. When he gave you the 2*l.* did you give a written account each time ?—No, he gave me that verbally.

5293. I want to know how it was about the accounts ?—Well, when I used to come up to Mr. Laker's, or perhaps at the "Swan," he would say, "How are "you getting on ? How are things going on ?" I would say, "I think we are not getting on very well; "we are getting aground;" and I would tell him how I got rid of the money, and he was satisfied.

5294. And he handed you over then it might be 2*l.* ?—No, I never had it till I went for it at a time of emergency.

5295. What account did you send him in on paper ?—Only to say that I received it. I gave it him as a receipt, just to say I received so and so from his brother last night. His brother was here as an assistant with him. I said, "I had so and so from your brother "last night;" and he would say, "All right, Wesley."

5296. And you put it down on paper ?—No, he put it down. He had it in a book. Of course I put my signature to what I had.

5297. Did you give him by word of mouth, or on paper, any account of how you had expended the money ?—No, I did not.

5298. In the election of 1863, that we are on now, was money altogether, as far as you could judge, as plenty then as it was in 1865, or was it tighter ?—I do not know. It has always been tight enough when I have been in the elections, for I never could get enough. What I knew really was required I could not get.

5299. Which should you say was the best election for the money ?—I should say Doulton's was the best election for the money.

5300. I have not got back to that. Tell me about 1863. We want to have it clearly in our heads. It is very difficult when there are no written accounts sent in of the way in which money is expended. Which should you say was the easiest election about money, this or 1863 ?—I really do not know.

5301. Then I won't press you on anything that you don't know at all, or I will endeavour not to do so. Was there much refreshment going on in 1863 ?—Well, yes, there was a little going on.

5302. Much the same as in 1865 ?—Well, I think there was a little more in 1863 than there was in 1865, according to what I saw.

5303. And as far as you can tell, was it much the same on both sides in 1863, Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson ?—I rather think Mr. Gower was rather the top man in 1863.

5304. More liberal ?—Yes.

5305. In 1863 he was a little more liberal than Mr. Wilkinson, you think ?—Yes, I think so. I think Mr. Wilkinson kept his money very tight indeed, while the other lavished it away.

5306. You think what was paid to you was certainly not lavished, in 1863 ?—I am sure it was not.

5307. Can you tell any definite service you performed in 1863 ?—I do not know that I can.

5308. You were on the committee ?—Yes.

5309. Did you canvass any person ?—I do not recollect.

5310. We must try and stir up your recollection a little bit. Can you mention any persons you canvassed in the election of 1863 ? You have told me all the persons you recollect canvassing in 1865, but how many did you canvass in 1863 ?—I cannot say.

5311. Can you mention any one single person that you canvassed in 1863 ?—I do not recollect.

5312. Did you bring them up to the poll in 1863 ?—I do not recollect. I believe I did.

5313. You cannot recollect any person ?—I cannot recollect who they were individually. I know I was very hard at work all the day, and I went after so-and-so and so-and-so; but who they were individually I cannot say.

5314. Can't you give a better name than "So-and-so" to any one man?—No.

5315. Try. I will give you every opportunity. If you can mention any one man we will send for him?—I was sent for Mr. Wood.

5316. But you could not get him?—No; he never came at all.

5317. That was a void service?—I was two or three hours after him.

5318. Can you tell me any man whom you fetched up. I asked you whom you fetched up, and you told me Mr. Wood, whom you did not succeed with. Tell me some one whom you fetched up in 1863?—I cannot.

5319. You only know "Mr. So-and-so"?—Yes. I cannot recollect names.

5320. I have asked you three times; that is as much as I am bound to, I think; but if you think of any one by-and-by, you are at liberty to say so. Where was Wilkinson's committee room?—At the "Warwick Arms."

5321. You attended his committee?—Yes.

5322. Were refreshments always there?—Not always.

5323. Only sometimes?—Sometimes.

5324. Who paid for them? which of his agents?—I do not know.

5325. Did you never see any of the agents settle the account?—No.

5326. Did you ever on any one occasion pay for anything you took there yourself?—Yes.

5327. You have?—I have for myself.

5328. I say yourself?—For myself, but not for anybody engaged with me.

5329. But did you on any one occasion pay for refreshments you had yourself?—Yes.

5330. Then it is quite right we should know it. I suppose that was not very often?—It was not very often that I went in there to have anything of anybody else, without paying for it.

5331. Do I understand you, then, that when you went in with anybody you paid for that person? is that what you mean?—No, I never paid for anybody.

5332. Anybody you took in yourself?—No. I should have done if I had called for refreshment; I should have paid for it.

5333. But you frequently called for refreshment?—Not for anybody else; always for myself.

5334. Did you pay for the refreshment that you had yourself?—Yes, always.

5335. You did not give me to understand that before. I understood you the refreshment was not paid for by those who had it?—It was at certain times.

5336. "Certain times:" that is quite enough for me. You recollect some previous elections, perhaps?—No, I do not recollect much about them. I recollect there were such elections.

5337. You recollect 1859?—Was that Hackblock's election?

5338. No, long after. That was the election between Wilkinson and Monson?—Yes.

5339. Were you a voter then?—No.

5340. Did you take an active part in it?—Yes.

5341. For which side?—For Mr. Wilkinson. I always stuck to him while he was alive, and I should now if he was alive, poor fellow.

5342. Will you be kind enough to tell me something about that election in 1859. Was Mr. Wilkinson's committee room then at the "White Hart"?—No; I believe it was at the "Swan." I do not know but what it was. I think so. I am not quite sure.

5343. Were you on his committee?—No, not at that time.

5344. I mean at that election of 1859?—No.

5345. You had no vote?—No, then I had not.

5346. You worked a great deal though?—I worked as much as I could.

5347. Did you fetch up voters?—I do not know but what I did at that election.

5348. Did you canvass them?—I do not know but what I did.

5349. What money did you receive at that election for what you did?—Not a farthing.

5350. How was that?—I do not know. It went off with promises then.

5351. Who promised you?—I cannot say exactly who promised me, but I was promised in an indirect way by different parties.

5352. Just tell me who promised you in an indirect way?—Mr. Norman Wilkinson said he would see me righted.

5353. Was that his brother?—That is Mr. Norman Wilkinson living on the hill.

5354. What hill?—Patteson Court, Nutfield.

5355. He said he would see you righted?—Yes, something to that effect.

5356. What for? righted about what?—For what people do in such elections. Of course I was running about and advocating the cause, and so forth.

5357. And I suppose you worked up to the day of polling?—Yes, up to the polling day.

5358. Was it on the polling day that he said, "Go "on, and I will see you righted?"—Several times during the election I met with him, and of course I was working for the cause.

5359. Did he say several times to that effect, that he would see you righted?—Yes.

5360. You did perform some services?—Yes.

5361. I suppose afterwards you applied to somebody for the money?—I did not.

5362. Didn't you apply to him?—No; I did not apply to anybody, because we were on the losing game. We lost our cause, and I thought it was not worth while to apply. I let it sleep.

5363. Is that the generally supposed, the understood bargain at Reigate, no win no pay, no cure no pay?—It was with me.

5364. I want to go a little farther. You are an intelligent man, tell me whether that is the general understanding at Reigate?—I do not know what the general understanding is at all; it seems to me to be the other way; they all seem to me to be grabbing for the money.

5365. Did they seem to be doing so in 1859? Was there as much struggle for the money?—Just about the same as it is now.

5366. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you say grabbing?—Yes.

5367. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you apply to nobody because it was a losing game? Did you not apply to anybody?—I did not. I said, "Let it "go, we have lost the day."

3668. Do you recollect whether anybody besides Mr. Norman Wilkinson made the promises? Try and recollect, if you please?—I am sure I do not know; it is a long time ago.

5369. Well, I know; but I want you to help me. I am asking you for your assistance; I want you to give it to me?—I do not know, I cannot recollect.

5370. Can't you say whether any of the agents of Mr. Wilkinson made you promises in 1859?—No.

5371. Well, I am sorry you cannot. Perhaps the fact was that nobody else did?—Perhaps they did not.

5372. But what do you think about it?—I cannot say at all.

5373. Now I want to ask you, do you recollect the former election to that, which was in 1858?—I recollect the election.

5374. That was the second election in 1858, when Mr. Monson stood against Mr. Wilkinson; Mr. Monson, who afterwards became Lord Monson?—I recollect.

5375. I suppose you were not then on the register?—No.

5376. Did you take an active part in that?—Yes.

5377. At that time for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

5378. You have been true to your colour throughout ?—Yes.

5379. You began with Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes, I began with Mr. Wilkinson, and I stuck to Mr. Wilkinson till he died.

5380. In 1858 were you paid for your services ?—No, not a farthing.

5381. You were on the losing side then ?—Yes.

5382. Did you expect anything ?—I did not expect anything from anybody when we were on the losing game.

5383. I suppose you would have expected something had you won ?—I do not know but that I should have expected some little acknowledgement in some little way, if it was only giving me a silver snuff-box ; that would have been something in commemoration of the work I had done.

5384. With an inscription on it ?—Yes.

5385. Did you perform any services ?—Yes, the same as I did this time.

5386. I suppose on that occasion, in 1858, you saw Mr. Wilkinson, and that he gave you directions about working for him?—I do not know particular about that ; I saw him, of course.

5387. From whom did you receive them ? Does your memory serve you as to the person from whom you received directions to work on that occasion ?—Was not Mr. Cape here then ? I think Cape was the solicitor then.

5388. Did you receive instructions from Mr. Cape ?—I think I did.

5389. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is Mr. Cape living ?—I do not know.

5390. Mr. Cape is a solicitor, is he ?—He was at that time.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He is not a solicitor, but an accountant.

5391. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did he say you would be paid for your services in the usual way ?—Well, he gave me certain notes and different things, which I took about to different parties.

5392. These are your services ; this is the work you did ?—Yes ; of course I was along with him all the day of the polling.

5393. Yes ; and did he give you to understand that you would be paid, that he was not taking up your time for nothing ?—No, he did not give me to understand that I should be paid.

5394. Who did ?—Nobody.

5395. But you said just now that if you were on the winning side you would have expected a snuff-box ?—That would not be payment, that would be a——

5396. A compliment ?—Yes. I should not have expected that. I said they might have done it. If I worked for them, and they had thought proper to give me anything, they could ; what I was doing I was doing gratuitously. I did not expect anything at that time, and should not unless I was set on in the usual way.

5397. You were set on in the usual way ; he gave you notes to take to people ? That is being set on in the usual way ?—Well, if that is the way in which they go on, I was set on in the usual way ; that is the way I was set on.

5398. I want this explained about the money. I have come from a part of the world where people do not work for nothing. I want to know who gave you to understand that you would be paid ?—Nobody gave me to understand at that election that I should be paid.

5399. What I want to know is this : did Mr. Cape meet you in the street and say, "Now, then, come "along, and go and do so-and-so "?—No.

5400. Tell me how it was, if you please. I wish you would condescend to do that ; it would help me ?—Well, he was with a person of the name of Thompson. This Thompson said to me, "You are on such-"and-such a side ?" "Yes," I said. "Well, come on, "I dare say we can do something." And of course what I did for Mr. Wilkinson I did not expect to be paid for at that time.

5401. Not at that time ?—And not at all.

5402. You gave me to understand that in case you went you expected a compensation ?—They might have done so if they had liked, I say.

5403. Don't you recollect about the snuff-box ?—I say if they had made me a present of a silver snuff-box I should have been very glad.

5404. You would have thought it natural ?—I should have thought it about right.

5405. To whom would you look for the snuff-box ?—To the people for whom I was doing the work.

5406. Let us have a name ?—Perhaps to Mr. Cape himself.

5407. That was the second election in that year, 1858. Now we will go back, and I dare say you recollect the beginning of the same year, January, a winter election, the great election of 1858, January ; you were here then ? Mr. Wilkinson stood, and Sir Henry Rawlinson got returned, and Mr. Doulton was here and Roupell too ?—Oh yes, I recollect that election very well.

5408. Whom were you for at that time ?—I was for Wilkinson at that time.

5409. I suppose you had hard work to stick to your colours that time ?—I should think we had, indeed. There was so much money flying about on the other side, and that is the stuff that carries the election.

5410. I will tell you how it will shorten matters a good deal. You say you were very honest and stuck to your colours ; how much could you have made by going over to the others ?—I never went over at all.

5411. How much could you have made by changing your colours ?—If I had changed my colours and gone over to Doulton, I do not know what I should have had.

5412. But from what you were offered, how much could you have made ?—I should have made a bad conscience.

5413. But how much money might you have made if you had gone over to the other side ?—I cannot tell anything about it.

5414. Were not you offered something ?—No.

5415. Try and recollect ?—I would not go near to them where they were.

5416. They might come to you ?—No, they did not come to me.

5417. Why, did they think you were too stern ?—I suppose so.

5418. It is very creditable to you. You had no vote at the time ?—No.

5419. But you had a great deal of influence, because at the next election in the same year they were glad to get you for Mr. Wilkinson ?—I dare say they were.

5420. What is the biggest amount of money you heard of for anybody who would come over ?—I do not know any particular amount.

5421. Could you have got 10*l.* ?—I did not hear any sum mentioned.

5422. But money at that time was very plenty ?—Very plentiful at that election.

5423. Whose money was it ? Which of the candidates brought most ?—Apparently Mr. Doulton brought most.

5424. Was Mr. Roupell here ?—I never saw him.

5425. I suppose Sir Henry Rawlinson and Mr. Doulton were here in person ?—Yes.

5426. Who was working for Doulton ?—I do not know.

5427. What agents ?—I do not know who the agents are.

5428. I dare say you can remember one or two ?—I think Mr. Featherstone was one.

5429. Is that Thomas Featherstone the older ?—Yes.

5430. Tell me another ?—Mr. Henry Boult was another.

5431. Give me another name, if you please. I should like one or two more names?—Well, Mr. Henry Green, I think.

5432. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The present Mr. Henry Green?—Yes.

5433. (The Chief Commissioner.) Give me another. I merely want you to help us now. We cannot readily get as good a man as you for this election of 1858, so I want you to help us?—Well, I really cannot tell you everybody. I believe Mr. Green was, and I believe Mr. Boult was, and also Mr. Featherstone.

5434. Can you mention another?—I do not know that I can.

5435. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What Boult was that?—Mr. Henry Boult, Brighton-road.

5436. Does he live here now?—Yes.

5437. Where?—At what is called Boult's corner. It is in the London-road.

5438. In this borough?—Yes; it runs up from Redhill.

5439. Who was working for Mr. Wilkinson at that election; that was the first election of 1858?—Do you mean who was his solicitor?

5440. Very well, anything, agent, solicitor, anything you please. Who was down here at work for him?—I hardly know.

5441. You did all you could for him?—I did.

5442. Well, who set you going?—I hardly know.

5443. I am not on money now, mind you; but who set you going?—I set myself going.

5444. I suppose you gave some account of what services you performed? You said, "I have been "down to such a place to-day; where shall I go to-"morrow"?—No, I had not any one to appeal to in that way.

5445. Then all the services you performed were in secret, as it were?—Yes, they were.

5446. To yourself?—No, not to myself, because I conveyed my ideas to other people, where I thought they could get a vote.

5447. That is precisely what I wanted to get at, only you put it better than I do. To whom did you convey your ideas where you thought they could get a vote?—I conveyed my ideas to the clerk, Mr. Thompson.

5448. Now tell me somebody else, be kind enough?—The principal communication was with Thompson, and I did not go anywhere else. Of course what I conveyed to him he conveyed to Mr. Cape, and Mr. Cape conveyed to somebody else.

5449. Cape was the solicitor then?—Cape was the man that conducted that election.

5450. That is the very thing I have been trying to get at. This was the first election of 1858. Perhaps I ought to have asked if Cape was here himself in this first election of 1858. Mr. Cape was here working, was not he?—Are we not making a mistake in the year?

5451. Perhaps we are. In 1858 there were two elections; one was in January, and that election in January I am now on. You took an active part for Wilkinson though you had no vote, and you conferred mainly with Mr. Thompson about who would be a likely man to vote, and so on?—Was not that the election when Mr. Monson stood out?

5452. No, he then stood against Doulton, Roupell, and Rawlinson. I am talking of the election when Wilkinson had to go out, you recollect?—He was balloted out.

5453. He was balloted out the night before the election?—That is quite right. Then it was Mr. Monson.

5454. Not Monson?—Yes, Monson, Rawlinson, and Doulton; they were the three that stood.

5455. They went to the poll. Then the night before the election, so far as Mr. Wilkinson was concerned, your labours came to an end?—Quite so, and I had nothing to do but lark the next day.

5456. Did you transfer your services to somebody else?—No, I did not.

5457. Not to anybody?—No.

5458. Well, there would be no disgrace in doing it, if he was a man of the same politics?—I did not.

5459. You do not know how it was, I suppose, that Mr. Wilkinson got balloted out; I dare say you have heard?—I cannot say how it was he got balloted out; I know he did get balloted out.

5460. I dare say you have heard how that was brought about?—No.

5461. Well, I will get that from somebody else; at least I will try. Did you see much treating at that election?—About the same as there has been at all the rest.

5462. Ever since?—Yes.

5463. I suppose you saw a good bit then, at any rate?—Well, I do not know that I did. I have seen more since than I did then. I have had more to do with the elections since.

5464. But you think there was about as much as you have seen since?—Well, about the same; I do not know that it has altered much.

5465. Can you tell me whether in the election of 1858 the candidates were all the same way in politics. There was Wilkinson, Doulton, Monson, and Sir Henry Rawlinson?—I cannot tell you.

5466. I do not mean what they were in their own minds, but what they gave themselves out to be. Do you recollect whether they were all the same?—I cannot say exactly now; I could have told at the time, but I have not got in my mind whether they were whigs, or tories, or conservatives. I know what Mr. Monson put himself out as.

5467. As what?—As a liberal.

5468. What did Mr. Wilkinson put himself out as?—Liberal.

5469. What did Mr. Doulton?—Liberal.

5470. I think there is no doubt that Sir Henry Rawlinson put himself out as a liberal, did he not?—I think he did.

5471. Were not you rather surprised to find that they had elected a tory, afterwards?—Yes, afterwards.

5472. Were not they rather surprised to find that he turned out a tory?—Yes.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It was the other way.

5473. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did he stand as a tory then?—I believe he did.

5474. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He turned out to be a liberal?—Yes, I believe he did.

5475. (The Chief Commissioner.) But he stood as a conservative?—Yes.

5476. Now, that being so, just tell me whether you recollect the election before. Do you remember the election of 1857? that was the year before?—Let us see. Was that Hackblock's election?

5477. Yes?—I do recollect it, but I had not much to do with that.

5478. I will ask you generally; I dare say you will tell me very honestly. Can you give me any information about that?—No.

5479. Do not say "No" if you can?—I know only that Mr. Parrott came and met Mr. Hackblock in this hall; and of course I know that Mr. Hackblock got in at the election. I do not know whether I can give you any more information. That is just when I first came.

5480. You did not know much about the people then?—No.

5481. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) This person you have mentioned, Mr. Cape, do you know what he was? Was he an auctioneer or a land agent?—I do not know what he was.

5482. Did he carry on his business in London and live there?—Oh, yes, he was in London.

5483. Do you know where he carried on his business? Was it in Adelaide-road, London-bridge?—I really do not know where it was.

5484. Do you know his Christian name?—John, I believe.

5485. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You have been working very hard at all the elections up to 1863 ?—Yes.

5486. And you received no money at all ?—No, only what you have heard, mind. You have heard what I have said.

5487. Yes. I hear that you had no vote up to 1863 ?—No.

5488. But when you worked and had a vote you then received money ?—Not for my vote; I never received money for that.

5489. No, I did not say for your vote; but the fact is, when you worked without a vote, not having a vote, you received no money; but having the accident of having a vote, when you worked you received money ? That is so, isn't it ?—Well, I tell you that I did not receive money for my vote.

5490. Is not that so ? The money passed through your hands ?—Well, when money passes through your hands I do not call that having it.

5491. You received 9*l.* How much did you expend and pay away ?—Every farthing, and more to it.

5492. Then you are at a loss ?—I am out of pocket.

5493. I mean in 1863 ?—I have been out of pocket at every election. I have made myself a poor man thoroughly over the elections.

5494. I am speaking of 1863 ?—Yes, and 1865 too.

5495. I am not asking you about 1865. How much were you out of pocket in 1863 by that unfortunate arrangement ?—I was all my time out of pocket; seven weeks time, during which I might have earned 30*s.* a week; seven weeks for Mr. Wilkinson.

5496. And yet you were not warned by that. You entered into an arrangement in 1865 ?—Yes.

THOMAS CULVERHOUSE sworn and examined.

T. Culverhouse.

5497. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are on the list of voters ?—Yes.

5498. What are you ?—A labourer.

5499. What do you earn a day ?—2*s.* 4*d.*

5500. What rent do you pay for your house ?—5*s.* 6*d.*

5501. How long have you been on the register ?—This was the first time.

5502. For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Gower.

5503. Do you know Alexander Rose ?—Yes.

5504. Do you recollect his speaking to you before the election about voting for Mr. Gower ?—Yes, he did.

5505. Did he come to your house ?—No.

5506. Where did he meet you ?—I saw him in Nutley-lane when I was going home to my work, or up town.

5507. He lives in Nutley-lane ?—Yes.

5508. He met you in the lane ?—I think I was coming up town.

5509. He spoke to you ?—How long was that before the election ?—Some time I think.

5510. How many weeks ?—I cannot say.

5511. About three or four weeks ?—More than that I think.

5512. At that time did he engage with you, or did you engage with him ?—He engaged with me.

5513. You were to vote, I suppose, for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

5514. That was the first thing. If you were to vote for Mr. Gower, what was Alexander Rose to do for you; to give you work ?—Yes.

5515. What was he to pay you ?—He was to pay me for what I had done.

5516. At that time you had done nothing ?—But when I had done anything he was to pay; I was to work before I was paid.

5517. Did he say he was to employ you at so much a day ?—No.

5518. Not by the day ?—No.

5519. By the week ?—No, he did not mention that. If I did any work I was to be paid for it.

5520. Were you to work then ?—If I had done any work I was to be paid.

5521. If you did any work; were you at your usual work at that time ?—Yes.

5522. And did you continue at your usual work ?—Yes.

5523. You continued at your usual work up to the end of the election ?—Yes.

5524. And I suppose up to the day you voted you continued at your usual work; you could not afford to give up your time; you attended to your work as usual up to the day of the election ?—I did not work after I was not well.

5525. I am sorry to hear that; but, except when you were unwell, you worked up to the day of the election, did you not ?—Well, I was not able to work.

5526. Except when you were unwell you were at your usual work up till the day of the election, is not that so ?—Yes, when I was able to work.

5527. Was it field labour ?—Yes.

5528. For whom did you work ?—Thomas Harris.

5529. Then you were not able to work for Rose ?—No, I was not able to work for him.

5530. Now, some time after the election did you see Rose ?—Yes.

5531. Did he come to you or did you go to him ?—I have seen him often.

5532. Upon the occasion of any money passing did you go to his house, or did he come to you ?—I never went to his house.

5533. Did he come to your house then ?—I have seen him in the town.

5534. He gave you some money ?—Yes, I know he did.

5535. Where did he give it you ?—At his house; it was at his house.

5536. You did go to his house ?—Yes; I beg your pardon.

5537. I thought you went to his house; when did you go to his house ?—I cannot tell you.

5538. In November ?—I cannot tell you.

5539. How soon after the election ?—I do not know. I think it was some time after the election, but I do not know.

5540. And then he gave you some money ?—Yes.

5541. How much ?—30*s.*

5542. That was a small sum, was it not ?—It was quite as much as I expected.

5543. Quite as much as you expected ?—Yes.

5544. But why should not you expect more than 30*s.*; you were aware that other persons got more than 30*s.*, were you not ?—No.

5545. Come, come ?—I was not.

5546. Were you not ?—I was not.

5547. Were you not aware that other persons had been promised more than 30*s.* ?—I was not.

5548. You did not know anything about it ?—I did not go into other persons' business.

5549. No, of course not. When he paid you, what did he tell you ? Did you give him any receipt, or did you sign a book or anything of the kind ?—I do not think I did.

5550. When did he tell you to come for any more ?—He never told me at all.

5551. Did not you expect more ?—I did not rather expect any more.

5552. You rather expected 3*l.* more ?—I did not expect any more, although it was mentioned here when I was here t'other morning.

5553. What, by that wicked man Mr. Naylor, was it not ?—Yes.

5554. You put your mark to a book, did you not ?—Yes, I did not know the next morning that I did do it, not till my people told me.

5555. How was that ?—Because I was so ill.

5556. I am sorry to hear that you were ill, but you doing no work for the 30*s.*, why should your charge be limited to 30*s.* ? I could have understood it if you had done work, but why it should have been limited to 30*s.* if you did no work, I cannot understand; how did you make up the 30*s.*? Why should it not have been 5*l.*, a respectable sum?—It was whatever the were pleased to give to me.

5557. Did you tell Alexander Rose that you were so unwell you could not hope to work for him?—I was taken ill afterwards.

5558. How long before the election were you taken ill?—I cannot say.

5559. Now, when Mr. Naylor came down to you, that desperate friend, Mr. Naylor, you thought you were in luck, did you not?—I did not think much about it.

5560. Yes you did; you thought you were in luck, did you not? You expected 3*l.* more?—No, I did not expect it, though he promised to give it me.

5561. Why did you sign that paper if you did not expect it?—I did sign the paper because the person——

5562. If you did not expect it, why did you sign the paper?—Why, I did sign the paper, but I could not say whether I should have it.

5563. You were not sure of receiving it, but you did expect it?—Perhaps I might have expected it.

5564. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you told what the work was that you were expected to do?—I was to do what they wanted me.

5565. What they wanted you about the election?—Yes.

5566. Did Mr. Alexander Rose tell you what it was they required you to do?—To carry messages, perhaps, if they wanted me.

5567. He never asked you?—No.

5568. Not to do anything?—No.

5569. Did he come to bring you up to the poll, or did you go over by yourself?—I was brought up.

5570. Who brought you up? Who did you go with? Was it Alexander Rose?—No, it was not.

5571. Do you recollect who it was?—Golding was one.

5572. Does he live in Nutley-lane?—Yes.

5573. Did you tell Golding anything about your being paid for your work?—No.

5574. You went up with him?—Yes.

5575. How long after the election was it that you got this 30*s.* from Rose?—I cannot tell you.

5576. A fortnight or three weeks?—Long after that.

5577. Did he tell you that it was for the election?—Yes.

5578. For the work that you had done?—I did not do it.

5579. No, you did not do any work, but he told you it was for the election?—Yes.

G. Collip.

George Collip sworn and examined.

5580. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you on the list of voters for the last election?—Yes.

5581. What was your qualification?—I was a messenger.

5582. None of you understand the term qualification. I did not ask you how you were engaged?—I had nothing to do before I went as a messenger; I was out of work.

5583. I will put the qualification in another shape; what house do you occupy?—A house in Nutley-lane.

5584. What rent do you pay?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week.

5585. What are you?—A labourer.

5586. You paid rent at the rate of 5*s.* 6*d.* a week?—I did.

5587. Who is your landlord?—Mr. Larmer.

5588. Is he a voter?—I believe he is.

5589. Do you know who he voted for?—I am sure I do not know.

5590. You do not know?—No.

5591. Were you canvassed for your vote?—Yes.

5592. Were you canvassed by Mr. Monson's party at all?—Not at all.

5593. Not from first to last?—No.

5594. Were you canvassed by the Gower party?—Yes.

5595. Did Mr. Gower canvass you?—No.

5596. Did you see Mr. Gower at all?—No.

5597. Not during the election?—No.

5598. Did Mr. Rose canvass you?—Yes he did.

5599. Which Rose?—Alexander Rose.

5600. Alexander Rose of Nutley-lane?—Yes.

5601. When he canvassed you, for whom did he ask you to vote?—Mr. Gower.

5602. Your are a poor man?—Yes.

5603. Have you got a family?—I have.

5604. A large family?—Yes.

5605. How many children?—Five now at home, eight altogether; three are out keeping themselves, and five are at home.

5606. What do you get a day?—3*s.* a day; sometimes I can earn more, occasionally.

5607. You are enabled to keep your family, and very great credit is due to you?—Yes.

5608. When Mr. Alexander Rose canvassed you for your vote did he say anything about paying for it on your doing some work?—Yes.

5609. What work were you to do?—I was to do all work, to take circulars round as a messenger, and then I was to be paid for it.

5610. Did you take circulars out?—I did, and worked very hard.

5611. You worked very hard?—I did, rather harder than I ought to have done; I walked miles when I ought not to have walked a step; I walked one pair of shoes off.

5612. I suppose you did not know the way, that was it?—I did not know the way about things as I do now.

5613. What did he say about payment?—Of course I received my payment every week.

5614. What did he say about payment for your work?—He said I was to be paid for my work weekly, from Saturday to Saturday.

5615. Were you paid weekly?—Yes.

5616. What did you get a week?—5*s.* a day, that is 30*s.* a week.

5617. You got paid that?—Yes.

5618. How many times did you get paid 30*s.*?—Once.

5619. Were you paid for delivering these circulars?—Yes.

5620. Beyond the 30*s.*?—Beyond the 30*s.*

5621. You were paid 15*s.*?—I was paid 15*s.*

5622. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that in addition?—No, that was for delivering the circulars, that was for work I had done in delivering the circulars.

5623. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) 15*s.* a week?—15*s.* a week beyond the 30*s.* for the first week.

5624. Do I understand you, you received 30*s.* and 15*s.* for the first week?—Yes.

5625. One week's work?—No.

5626. What was it?—I said I had about 5*s.* a day when I was at work.

5627. You say you got first of all 30*s.* paid?—I said I received 30*s.* a week.

5628. Did you work for one whole week?—I worked three weeks.

5629. Did you get paid each week?—I did.

5630. Did you get paid at the rate of 30*s.* a week?—I did.

5631. Then you got paid three 30*s.* for the work?—Yes.

5632. Were you paid any more for night watch?—It was 5*s.*

5633. 5*s.* a night?—No, for one night.

5634. Did you not watch three nights?—No.

5635. You only got 5*s.*; what night was that?—I cannot say.

5636. Was it the night before the polling?—I am not sure. I cannot say.

5637. Was it when you were out with Charles Smith watching?—No.

5638. You know him?—I never had much conversation with Smith, not so much as I have had with you.

5639. You know him by sight?—Yes.

5640. You know whether you were out nights watching with him?—I was not out at all with him.

5641. You voted for Mr. Gower, I suppose?—I did.

5642. Now since the election have you applied to Mr. Rose for any monies besides what you have received?—No.

5643. Do you mean to say you did not apply to him for 5*l.*?—I applied to him for money, but not 5*l.*

5644. What money did you apply for? — What money did I apply to him for?

5645. Yes?—I heard of a sum of money being given to all, and I applied to him of course like the rest would have done; that was 30*s.*; and I received 1*l.* from Buckland.

5646. When did you receive the money from Buckland?—Some time after the election; I cannot say the month.

5647. Had you applied at all to Mr. Rose for any money after the election?—No, I did not.

5648. Are you quite certain?—Yes.

5649. You must be careful how you answer that?—Yes.

5650. Upon application to Mr. Rose did not Mr. Rose refer you to Apted?—I did apply to him, as I said before. He told me to go to Apted.

5651. You told me just now you did not apply?—I said I did.

5652. Will you correct yourself?—I told you so once before. You asked me that question three times over, and I have answered you twice that I did.

5653. You did apply to Rose?—Yes.

5654. And Rose referred you to Apted?—He did.

5655. Did Apted refer you to anybody when you went to him?—Not that I know of.

5656. Did he refer you to Smith?—He said "You "are quite right."

5657. When you went to Smith what did you apply to Smith for?—What did I apply to Smith for?

5658. Yes.—For money.

5659. How much money did you ask for?—No particular sum at all.

5660. What did you tell him the money was to be paid for that you wanted?—For the work I had done.

5661. You were paid for your work at the rate of 30*s.* a week; you had got the money?—Not all.

5662. You told me you had worked for three weeks at 30*s.* a week, and one night for 5*s.*; was that all the work you did?—A great deal more.

5663. What more work?—A great deal more.

5664. What work?—Running about from place to place.

5665. Delivering circulars?—Yes.

5666. Well, but you charged for that 30*s.* a week?—Yes.

5667. You told me Mr. Rose paid you?—I did not say Mr. Rose.

5668. You were paid?—I did not say Mr. Rose.

5669. You were paid the whole amount, 30*s.* for three weeks; you told us that?—Yes.

5670. Tell me what other work you did for which you made a claim upon Mr. Smith?—I made no claim upon Mr. Smith at all.

5671. You told me you went and asked him for money for work you had done?—I did.

5672. What was the work for which you had to be paid?—There was the nomination day and polling day.

5673. What did you do on the nomination day?—Of course I was about.

5674. You attended at the nomination?—Yes.

5675. You made one of the crowd?—Yes.

5676. You expected to be paid for that?—Yes.

5677. You expected to be paid for the day of the polling too?—Certainly, how could I lose my time.

5678. You were a voter?—Yes.

5679. And you had to exercise your franchise?—I expected to be paid.

5680. Do you always expect to be paid when you exercise your franchise?—Certainly.

5681. Perhaps I may ask you what politics you are?—As far as that goes, I do not know whether I shall answer.

5682. What are your politics, I should very much like to know?—Am I obliged to answer the question?

5683. Yes, if you please?—Then I shan't answer it.

5684. Do you know what your politics are?—Am I obliged to answer?

5685. Yes.—Then, as I said before, I shall not.

5686. Then I will take it you have no politics. I will ask you this: are your politics these, that you vote for the person who pays you the largest sum of money?—Money is always acceptable.

5687. That always influenced you in the way in which your politics would turn?—It does most people.

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien remarked that the witness had better speak for himself and not for other people.

5688. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Yes, speak for yourself, or else you will have your neighbours complain. Tell me soberly, if you were asked for your vote, and a large sum of money was offered you, would you not go on the side the largest sum of money was offered?—I am not in liquor. I do not know.

5689. It would have a very strong influence on your mind?—It might have.

5690. Did you apply to Apted to be supplied with boots?—Well, I did.

5691. Did he supply you with boots?—He did.

5692. To what extent did you run up the bill for boots?—It was 14*s.* 6*d.*

5693. Not more?—No.

5694. Was it only 14*s.* 6*d.*?—I say so.

5695. When you asked for the supply of boots, did you say anything at all about the election?—Yes, I did.

5696. About the money that was due to you for the election?—I went to Apted and I asked him, at least I met him against the Reigate railway station, and I said, "Now, I want of pair of boots," and he said, "Very "well my friend, you can have a pair, and I have got "them now on my feet. I am not ashamed to show "them." I said, "I will pay you for these when I get settled with;" but he did not give me the chance.

5697. Did you tell Apted what settlement you meant?—No, I did not say anything about that, but he summoned me before I could pay.

5698. What time was that?—Some little time before the election, a day or two, or a week or a fortnight.

5699. Do you mean to say that Apted did not know what you meant by being settled with?—He tumbled to all those sort of things of course.

5700. You did not get settled with?—No, not altogether.

5701. Then Apted summoned you in the county court for the boots?—He did. No, I did not go into the county court. I paid him the money before; let him contradict it if he can.

5702. When you paid him the money when he summoned you, did you say anything to him about this summons that you protested against?—No, I took it very coolly; I thought it was as well to take it coolly as not. I thought it was well to pay him at first as at last.

5703. Did you say to him that you thought you were to have had those boots for your pains at the election?—Not at that time.

FOURTH DAY.

G. Collip.

25 Aug. 1866.

5704. Did you afterwards?—No.

5705. Or at any time?—No.

5706. Did you ever talk about it?—No.

5707. Now, I believe that part of the work you did was attending the refreshment houses, was it not?—Well, a very few of those, for I am no great drinker.

5708. I am just reminded of this; I believe I asked you the question, but when you applied to Smith for payment for work done, did you get any money from him?—Well, I did, a little.

5709. What did you get?—30*s*.

5710. From Smith?—I did, and I am not ashamed to own it.

5711. When you got this money from Smith, how much work did you tell Smith you had done for the money?—I did not tell him I had done any work at all, not Smith.

5712. Did he pay you the 30*s*. without his knowing that you had done any work at all?—He did.

5713. He did not refer you back to Apted?—If he had I should not have got it.

5714. Now, you went to some of these houses; did you attend the meetings at the taverns?—Very few. I do not think you have got many down there that I went to.

5715. Did you go to the "Railway" inn?—Yes.

5716. That was on the occasion when Apted and Johnson were chairmen?—Yes.

5717. That was just before the writ came down?—Yes.

5718. What time did you go there?—As near as I can tell, 8 o'clock.

5719. When did you come away?—About half-past 10.

5720. That was two hours and a half?—Yes.

5721. What were you doing all that time, drinking? Sometimes, and sometimes smoking.

5722. Drinking and smoking. Did you pay?—I did not.

5723. Did you see the brandy and water come in?—Some were drinking one thing and some another.

5724. You were all drinking?—All.

5725. And a large party?—Middling, not very large.

5726. Did you go to another house; John Sayers' public house?—I did.

5727. Of course that was not the same evening?—No.

5728. Was Mr. Rose in the chair at that time?—He was.

5729. Did he order the refreshments to come in?—I believe he did.

5730. How long were you at that house?—About an hour.

5731. Did you have what you wanted?—I had what I thought proper.

5732. Did you pay for it?—I did not, and I do not know who paid for it; it was the only house I went to.

5733. You say that was the only one. Let me remind you; were you at Muddle's beer house about 10 days before the election?—No.

5734. Not when Rose was in the chair?—No.

5735. You have said so?—Not at Muddle's.

5736. Yes?—You have mentioned the "Railway" inn and Sayers', and now you mention Muddle's, and I say "No."

5737. Were you at Glover's?—Well, I have popped in and out there very often.

5738. With Buckland and Apted?—I have paid for all I have had at Glover's, I have paid for all I had there in eating and drinking.

5739. Hearne's beer house; have you been there?—I have been there, and paid for what I had.

5740. Did you see Joyes there?—No.

5741. Did you never see Joyes there?—Not to my knowledge.

5742. Let me remind you. Did you not meet Joyes at Hearne's beer house at the High-street, Reigate, and did you not hear him tell the landlord that whatever you required he would pay for?—No; one pint of ale he paid for, and that was all.

5743. Did you not hear him make the observation?—No.

5744. That whatever you had he would pay for it?—No, it is false.

5745. Nor that whatever was required by the voters he would pay for?—No, that is false; that is as false as God is true.

5746. Did you not go there about a dozen times and have what you pleased?—No.

5747. Will you swear that?—I will swear that that is false.

5748. You recollect seeing Mr. Gilbert here?—I know the writing of the paper; it is Mr. Gilbert's I believe.

5749. Did you make a statement to Mr. Gilbert?—I did.

5750. Was that statement taken down in writing before you?—Yes.

5751. In your presence?—Yes.

5752. Was it read over to you?—It was; but not as you express it now.

5753. Did you sign it?—Yes; but I did not say anything about that.

5754. Stop a moment; here is the paper which you did sign: "Frederick Joyes told Hearne, who "kept a beer house in High-street, Reigate, in my "presence, to let me have whatever I required, and "he would pay him for whatever was required by "the voters. I came there about a dozen times, and "had what I pleased; other voters went there also, "and had refreshment. I cannot remember, for all "who voted for Gower had access to these beer "houses." Did you not make that statement to Mr. Gilbert?—No.

5755. Will you swear you did not?—Yes.

5756. That is your signature (handing the document to witness)?—Yes.

5757. Your own handwriting?—Yes, but Gilbert has put more into it than I told him. I can say that before Mr. Gilbert's face or behind his back.

5758. Is this untrue; because, remember, you have signed this,—"About 10 days before the election "Batchelor himself, and about 10 others, were at "Muddle's beer house. Alexander Rose was chair-"man. The meeting lasted about three hours, "and there was a quantity of beer had to drink; "all of those present were voters, and I saw Rose "pay the money for what we had to drink"?—Yes.

5759. That is quite right?—Yes.

5760. That is Muddle's beer house; you told me you never were at Muddle's house?—I recall that; of course you cannot recollect just at the moment.

5761. Now you remember that?—Yes, we all want time to recollect.

5762. Attend to this: "Job Apted went with "B. and myself to Samuel Glover's beer house, and "told Glover in my presence that he was to let us "have whatever we required, and he would pay him "for it. We accordingly went there as often as we "liked, and had what we pleased to call for. We "have sometimes gone in as many as three or four "times a day." Is that true?—It is.

5763. Did you make that statement to Mr. Gilbert?—Of course.

5764. That part which states about Frederick Joyes being at Hearne's beer house is an incorrect statement?—I cannot recollect it being mentioned.

5765. Will you swear you never made that statement to Mr. Gilbert ; it follows on the same sheet of paper, and it is just at the bottom of your signature ?—I might have said so, but I cannot recollect.

5766. Seeing it now on that piece of paper, do you believe that you did make it ?—I believe I did ; I have not the least doubt about it.

5767. How came you to swear so positively that you did ; you cannot explain that ?—No, I cannot.

The Commissioner remarked that he would not press him to do it.

The witness withdrew.

GEORGE MITCHELL sworn and examined.

5768. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me, will you, if you live in Brighton-road ?—Not in the Brighton-road; Warwick-town, at the present time.

5769. Where did you live in 1865 ?—In the Brighton-road.

5770. How much rent do you pay ?—20*l.* a year.

5771. How much rent did you pay when you lived in the Brighton-road ?—15*l.*

5772. And that was at the time of the election in 1865 ?—Yes.

5773. What are you ?—A gardener.

5774. Were you in that station of life at the time of the election in 1865 ?—Yes.

5775. A gardener ?—Yes, and I carry on the florist business.

5776. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a master gardener ; you say you are a florist ?—Yes.

5777. Do you employ other persons ?—Yes.

5778. (The Chief Commissioner.) May I call you a master gardener ?—You can.

5779. At the last election you voted for Gower, did you not ?—I did.

5780. Had you been here at the previous election ?—One previous.

5781. In 1863 ?—Yes.

5782. I am speaking now of the election of 1865. Did Mr. Gower himself canvass you for your vote ?—He did.

5783. Was any one with him when he came to you ?—There were several in attendance, but not within hearing.

5784. You mean only in attendance, going about with him, do you not ?—Yes. Smith was one, and Job Apted, and Frederick Joyes and Buckland.

5785. Did you see anybody else ?—There were a great number.

5786. Do you remember whether you saw Green with him ?—Not at that time.

5787. Did you see Alexander Rose ?—Not then.

5788. When Mr. Gower canvassed you for your vote did you promise it to him ?—I did not at that time.

5789. What did you say ?—I had not made up my mind.

5790. And then he went away ?—He did.

5791. Nothing more in particular passed at that time ?—No.

5792. Some time later than that, before the election occurred, I believe you and Latham said you should go together ; did you come to a conclusion with Latham about how much you would vote for ?—Not any definite sum.

5793. Was there a sum named ?—There was not a sum named.

5794. Not between you and Latham ?—No.

5795. Was the understanding this, that you should not vote unless you got the same sum as other people got ?—That was the understanding, that we should vote together.

5796. You and Latham ; Alfred Latham ?—Yes.

5797. You mean by voting together the same way ?—The same way.

5798. And you would not vote unless you were paid the same as other people were paid ?—Precisely so.

5799. Did not you and Latham agree together about 5*l.* ; was not that the understanding between you ?—It was generally understood that it was 5*l.*

5800. After that you went to Job Apted, did you not ?—I did.

5801. Did you and Latham go together or separately ?—Together.

5802. You had seen Apted before with Mr. Gower ?—Oh yes, frequently.

5803. You had seen him at the Town Hall at Reigate ?—At a number of places ; I do not recollect all.

5804. It was at the Town Hall you saw him on this occasion ?—Yes, on this occasion.

5805. Did you ask Apted whether he wanted any volunteers, any persons to help ?—Yes.

5806. What did he say to you ?—The more the merrier.

5807. I suppose then you broke it to him what you and Latham had agreed about engaging yourselves ?—Yes.

5808. What did he say to that ?—He said "I guaran-" tee that you shall be paid, and well paid ; it is Mr. " Gower's intention that every one who is on his com-" mittee shall be well paid."

5809. Was it managed then, at that time, that you and Latham should be put on the committee ?—Yes, it was.

5810. Were you both put on ?—My name was entered in a pocket-book by Job Apted at that time ; I suppose it was.

5811. You did not see them in the list ?—Not in the list.

5812. After that did you go and work ?—Yes, as I stated in my statement to Mr. Gilbert, I did work after a form.

5813. I want to ask you one other question about what passed between you and Apted. You remember what Apted told you, when he said that you and Latham should be paid just the same as the others ?—He said he would guarantee it.

5814. Do you remember his saying something about the previous election of 1863 ?—Yes.

5815. What did he say ?—He wished me to inquire of those that had received money from him at that election, and to see and judge for myself whether he had not done everything that was right and fair.

5816. Do you remember his saying anything about what sums of money, large or small, had been paid at this election ?—He did not name any sum.

5817. Did he mention what money had been paid for certain items ?—Yes.

5818. What was that ?—800*l.* was spent at public houses at the previous election, which would be withheld at this late election, and that distributed amongst the voters. He said it had cost Mr. Gower 800*l.*, and Mr. Wilkinson also, for public houses, and that that sum should be distributed in addition amongst the voters.

5819. Do you recollect whether that was all that was said of importance ?—That was all that was said of importance that I remember.

5820. Then something was done, as it were, to bind a bargain, was not there ?—Well, a glass of ale or two.

5821. Mr. Apted took you somewhere and Latham too ?—Yes, we had a glass of ale at Glover's and a glass of ale in the room below.

FOURTH DAY.

G. Mitchell.

25 Aug. 1866.

5822. Who paid for it?—Mr. Apted sent for it; whether he paid for it or not I do not know.

5823. Was anything said about working at the election?—Yes, we were to do the best we could; those were our instructions, all that I received.

5824. Did you receive any definite orders to do any particular work?—Upon one occasion.

5825. No, but at this time?—Not at that time.

5826. What did you understand you were to be paid, the same as others. I am speaking still of this same occasion, when you and Latham had that interview with Apted. He said you should be paid, and he would guarantee to you the same as the others; what do I understand you were to be paid that for?—For doing what was to be done.

5827. For attending public-houses and beer shops, and so on; that was the work you had to do?—It appeared so; that was the labour.

5828. When was it that you promised your vote for Mr. Gower, that you would vote for Mr. Gower?—Some time before the election.

5829. Was it on this occasion, when you had this interview with Apted?—Yes.

5830. So that you said something like this, "Oh, "then, I will vote for Mr. Gower"?—Yes.

5831. Did you after that attend a committee meeting at Reigate Hall?—I did once or twice.

5832. Did you get any refreshment there?—No, not on that occasion.

5833. Is the committee room at Reigate Hall this room here?—The same, beneath us.

5834. Did you never see beer brought in there when you were in attendance?—I was not frequently in attendance.

5835. But when you were in attendance?—I saw one or two have a glass of ale, nothing more.

5836. Did you have anything?—Not on this occasion I did not.

5837. It is the fact, is it not, that sometimes when you went into the committee room, what is called the private room in the hall, that you had refreshment?—In the private room I did on one occasion.

5838. Then that is another room, an inner room?—A small room.

5839. Do you remember going to this room on more than one occasion?—No, on one occasion I had ale.

5840. Who did you find there?—Apted and Joyes.

5841. And then you had beer?—I had beer brought in.

5842. Did you pay for it?—I did not.

5843. And then the election came on. After it was over you went to Apted, did you not, and requested him to settle the account?—I did.

5844. What did he say to you?—On the first two or three occasions he said he had not received the money, and when I applied again he told me to send in the accounts and he would see about it, and pay me when he got the money.

5845. You saw him repeatedly?—Repeatedly, and afterwards I was referred to Mr. Smith, and from Mr. Smith to him.

5846. In the meantime you were not paid any money?—Not a farthing.

5847. I believe at last you threatened him?—I did threaten him, and carried my threat into execution.

5848. You said you should be obliged to summon him in the county court for not keeping his word?—I did.

5849. Did that frighten him, and did he pay you for that?—No, he did not.

5850. You summoned him?—I did summons him.

5851. Did you expect to get much out of that?—I did not.

5852. You thought you would go through the form?—That I would go through the form, and expose the practices of Apted, Joyes, Buckland, and Smith. I thought it would be a means of opening the eyes of many persons who were in the borough and unacquainted with it.

5853. You not only summoned him, but went to trial, and came before the judge at the county court?—Yes.

5854. He said it would not do as matter of law?—That I had got the wrong person.

5855. Did the judge express any opinion as to whom you ought to have summoned?—Yes.

5856. Who did he say?—Mr. Gower.

The judge stated that Mr. Apted was only an agent, and that he ought to have sued the principal.

5857. You did not receive your money?—No.

5858. At any rate you did not receive your money?—No.

5859. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It was a verdict for the defendant, was it not?—Yes.

5860. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you at a meeting at Kiddle's beer house?—Yes, at Earlswood-common.

5861. Do you remember who was in the chair on that occasion?—I think Mr. Church.

5862. And did you see him do anything; did you see him give any orders?—Yes, he gave a trifling order whilst I was there.

5863. What for?—About six pots of ale and a few half ounces of tobacco.

5864. Was that order attended to, and refreshments provided?—Yes.

5865. And handed to people who were present?—Certainly.

5866. Do you know who paid for the refreshments?—I do not.

5867. Did you partake of the refreshments?—I had a glass of ale.

5868. You did not pay?—No.

5869. Did you see anybody pay at all?—No.

5870. They were ordered by Mr. Church?—Yes.

5871. Did you attend another meeting on Earlswood-common?—Yes, in a marquee.

5872. Was Mr. Gower present at that?—Yes.

5873. Were there any refreshments then?—As soon as the meeting was over I left the common. I did not see any particularly.

5874. Where did you go to after the meeting that night?—I went in the direction of home.

5875. Did you not go to the "Royal Oak"?—Yes, we went into the "Royal Oak" that evening.

5876. Who took you into the "Royal Oak"?—Several.

5877. Is the "Royal Oak" Warwick-town?—Yes.

5878. Who took you into the "Royal Oak"?—I cannot say who took me; we all went there, and Uncle Nicholl was in at the "Royal Oak."

5879. Did you get refreshment there?—Yes, a drop of ale.

5880. Did you pay for it?—I did not.

5881. Did you see the others pay?—No, I did not.

5882. Did you afterwards have some conversation with Latham about any money he had received?—Yes, on several occasions.

5883. Did Latham tell you he had received anything?—Yes.

5884. Did he show you a cheque he had received?—He showed me a cheque for 3*l.*

5885. Did you examine the cheque?—Yes.

5886. Did he tell you where he had got it?—Yes.

5887. Was he satisfied with his 3*l.* when he had the conversation with you?—He was not.

5888. Did he tell you whether he would apply for any more?—He did.

5889. Did he tell you who he should apply to?—Yes.

5890. Who did he say?—He said he should go again to Smith for the balance which he considered he was entitled to.

5891. Did he tell you whether he did go?—Yes, he went on several occasions.

5892. Did he tell you whether he succeeded?—He was unsuccessful I believe.

5893. Did he not get anything?—Not anything from Smith.

5894. Did he tell you how much he wanted to have altogether?—He told me he wanted to have 5l.

5895. Now Latham appears to have been your friend throughout the election. Had you seen him after he had been paid in that way, in the way you describe?—Oh, yes, several times.

5896. What work had he done?—I do not know what he had done.

5897. You do not know what he had done?—No, he never stated it to me.

5898. He did not?—No.

5899. I will just ask you one more question on this matter. If it had not have been for what Apted said to you about his guarantee, would you have promised to vote for Mr. Gower?—No, I should not. I did not like Mr. Gower, that is the truth.

5900. Had you anything to do with the election of 1863?—I voted.

5901. Who for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

5902. Who canvassed you for the election of 1863? I volunteered. I went to Mr. Wilkinson and promised him my vote; no one canvassed me.

5903. Did you work for him?—No, I never took any active part before then.

5904. Did you see much that passed at the election of 1863?—I saw plenty.

5905. Did you see much that went on on both sides, Mr. Gower's and Mr. Wilkinson's?—I saw plenty.

5906. What?—Treating.

5907. Did you see any?—Yes.

5908. Did you see it all on one side, or both sides?—Well, I think, if there was any difference, the balance was in favour of Mr. Gower for his liberality. I think there was a little, but it was very little.

5909. You voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—I did.

5910. Did you receive any money on that occasion?—Never a farthing.

5911. Nothing before or after?—No, not even a glass of ale.

5912. Did you receive any promise?—No, not any.

5913. You did not get a farthing?—No, I never expected it.

5914. Did you get anything at all on this election of 1863?—No, I did not trouble myself at all with the election. I had promised Mr. Wilkinson; he was a favorite candidate of mine.

5915. You promised him yourself?—Yes.

5916. You promised him in person?—Yes, without any expectation of any reward.

5917. Did he promise you anything at all?—Not the slightest.

5918. I do not know I asked you whether you received any money on this last election?—No, I have not.

5919. Latham, your friend, seems to have had a 3l. cheque, but you were not so successful?—I did not get any.

5920. Was it for the whole 5l. you went to the county court?—I did.

5921. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you send a bill into Mr. Apted?—I did.

5922. For work and labour?—Yes.

5923. How many days did you put yourself down for?—I think it was five weeks. I believe it was, to the best of my knowledge.

5924. You knew it was all a sham, did you not?—Of course we did.

5925. You wanted in fact to expose the thing?—I did.

5926. You did not expect to recover?—I did not expect to recover.

5927. You wanted to show that you were deceived?—Yes. I wanted to show the kind of tricks that they had been carrying on.

5928. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How did you shape your claim in the county court?—For work and labour.

5929. Of course you told the judge what the work and labour was?—No, he did not enter into the question; the question was not entered into before the judge.

5930. Did you swear you had worked five weeks?—No, the subject was not entered into.

Adjourned to 11 o'clock on Monday morning.

FIFTH DAY.

Monday, 27th August 1866.

GEORGE MITCHELL recalled.

5931. (The Chief Commissioner.) What was it you wanted to add to your evidence?—I only wished to add something to the statement I made with regard to the 800*l.*

5932. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You stated the 800*l.* was taken from the public houses to be distributed amongst the voters, that is to say, 800*l.* was to be spent less in the public houses; is not that so?—That was it; but I wish to add that that was not all; the 800*l.* was spent in settling for the hire of rooms.

5933. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you say rooms or broughams?—Committee rooms and bar rooms.

5934. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You do not mean it was spent in beer?—That was precisely what I intended to convey to you.

5935. (The Chief Commissioner.) You do not tell us that you had paid any of the 800*l.*, but that it was inquiries you had with somebody else; who was the person?—Mr. Apted, and he stated that the refreshments were not included in it; they were distinct from it.

5936. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) They were distinct from the 800*l.*?—Yes.

JOHN EVANS sworn and examined.

J. Evans.

5937. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A labourer.

5938. Where do you live?—In Holmesdale. I live in Glover's-fields now. I used to reside in Holmesdale-road; I have moved into Glover's-fields this last fortnight.

5939. You voted at the last election, did you not?—Yes.

5940. Was that for the house you occupy?—For the house that I used to occupy.

5941. I say occupy. What rent did you pay?—It was not the Holmesdale-road; I reside on Reigate heath.

FIFTH DAY.
J. Evans.

5942. What rent was that house?—6*s.* a week.

5943. What rent do you pay now?—I am only occupying two rooms at 3*s.*

5944. Are you on the register now, do you know?—No, I am not.

5945. You did vote for Mr. Gower, I believe?—I did.

5946. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower?—No one at all.

5947. You intended in the first instance, did you not, to vote for Mr. Monson?—I was engaged on that side.

5948. Who engaged you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Henry Francis.

5949. Was he an agent for Mr. Monson?—I believe he was.

5950. How did you come to promise him?—He came to me one night and asked me if I had a vote. I said I had, and he asked me if I would put my name on the committee.

5951. Mr. Monson's?—Yes, Mr. Monson's; I said yes.

5952. You said yes. What did he say then? It is Henry Francis, is it not?—Yes.

5953. You said yes when he asked you whether he should put your name on the committee?—Yes.

5954. Did he put your name on the committee?—Yes.

5955. You saw it there?—I did not see it there.

5956. You understood it was there?—Yes.

5957. What were you to do on the committee?—He did not tell me.

5958. Did he tell you at all?—I was to see him now and then, and he was to tell me what he wanted.

5959. Tell me exactly why you were to be put on Mr. Monson's committee?—On account of my having a vote.

5960. If he wanted you he was to apply to you?—Yes.

5961. You were not to do it for nothing?—No.

5962. What arrangement was made?—He gave me 2*l.* then and there.

5963. Can you tell me when this was?—I cannot, for I did not notice.

5964. Very likely not exactly, but about how long before the election?—So far as I could judge, I should say about five weeks before the election.

5965. He gave you 2*l.*, and then another 1*l.*?—He gave me a 1*l.* a week for three weeks afterwards.

5966. So that if that was five weeks before the election that was a 1*l.* a week, and the first fortnight was paid in advance?—That is it.

5967. When did he make you the last payment for the last week before the election?—It would be before the election came off.

5968. Then he paid you in advance for the last week?—No, he paid me on the Saturday night, as the election came off during the week.

5969. During the past week?—Yes.

5970. How was it you came to vote for Gower?—It was no use voting for Mr. Monson; he was behind so much; he wanted so many votes.

5971. Very natural; it was no use if he was behind. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower at last?—Alexander Rose spoke to me, and asked me if I would go and give my vote for Mr. Gower.

5972. On the day of the election?—Yes.

5973. What time of the day?—Between 12 and 1.

5974. Can you tell me what time the poll concluded, when the voting came to an end; what time of the day?—No, I did not take particular notice.

5975. I think it did not hold out till 4 o'clock, did it?—Oh, no.

5976. Four o'clock is the hour, is it not?

[Somebody remarked in the hall that the polling booth was kept open till 4.]

5977. (The Chief Commissioner.) You cannot tell me what time it really closed?—No.

5978. What time the voting finished?—No, I did not take that interest in it.

5979. Mr. Rose came to you; had you seen him before?—Yes, several times that morning.

5980. Had you seen him before that morning?—No more than just passing in the street.

5981. But nothing more?—Nothing, until about the election.

5982. Had he been just touching you on the subject before that morning?—No more than just saying, "You had better come with us."

5983. That is exactly what I mean; at last it took rather a more tangible form?—What do you mean?

5984. I mean he was a little more distinct in what he said to you between 12 and 1 o'clock about voting for Gower?—As the cab was by Sore's he said, "Come in," and I jumped into the cab; I did not want any pressing; and I went with the other voters.

5985. Mr. Rose promised you 2*l.* if you went with the other voters?—He did not.

5986. Did he not promise you 2*l.*?—He did not promise me a farthing.

5987. He mentioned 2*l.* to you?—He did not.

5988. I did not say paid it?—No, he did not; he never mentioned a farthing to me.

5989. Now just try and remember, if you please?—I have told you the truth; it is as true as I am standing in this box.

5990. I have not yet said that you have not been saying to me what is not true, but I want you to apply your memory. Now, before you went to vote, did not Rose say something of this sort, "Now, if you "come you shall be paid 2*l.*"?—He did not mention any sum whatever.

5991. Did he say you should be paid like the others?—No; all that Mr. Rose said was, "Come in; "now that we are going you had better come with "the others."

5992. Did he make any sign to you?—No; if he did I never heard him.

5993. You never saw it, you mean; you are quite sure about that?—I am quite certain.

5994. Have you received any money from Rose?—I received 1*l.* several weeks after the election.

5995. Did you ask him for any money?—I never asked him for anything at all.

5996. Did you not ask him for 2*l.*?—No.

5997. Was 2*l.* mentioned after the election?—No; he said very likely when I received this one I might receive another after.

5398. Do you not call that a mention of 2*l.*; perhaps you do not, for you are on the right side, but I should have thought paying one and saying that you were to have another was a mention of 2*l.* Do not set up to be a particularly candid man, if it turns out, in the course of your examination, that that is what your candour is worth; I call that a mention of 2*l.*?—Yes.

5999. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Mr. Rose said you would probably have another?—Yes.

6000. What?—I do not know.

6001. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you get another?—No.

6002. How came you to get the 1*l.*?—He came to me when I was at the Reigate station, the goods station, and told me to come over to Sore's. I did, and he came to me and gave me 1*l.*

6003. What did he say?—He said, "That is what I "have got for you, and perhaps you shall have another "in a few weeks."

6004. Having said that Mr. Rose said, "That is "what I have got for you, and perhaps you will have "another," do you mean now (take your time in the answer) that nothing was said before the election about 2*l.*?—No.

6005. Have you seen Mr. Rose since, lately?—Not since he gave me the 2*l.*

6006. Have you seen him this week?—No, I have been away working in London this last fortnight, and I have not seen him.

FIFTH DAY.

J. Evans.

27 Aug. 1866.

6007. When did you come down here?—On Saturday night.

6008. Did you see any of Mr. Gower's agents on Saturday night?—No.

6009. On Saturday?—No.

6010. Or this morning?—No more than passing.

6011. Did you have any conversation with them?—No.

6012. I wish to know particularly?—No; I have told you the truth, and I come here to tell the truth.

6013. How much have you received then altogether for the election?—I should say 6*l.*

6014. 5*l.* and 1*l.*?—Yes, I believe that is correct.

6015. Then were Mr. Monson's side altogether better paid, generally speaking, than Mr. Gower's?—I can only answer for myself; I had most from him.

6016. So far as you can judge from your own instance or from other instances, which would you say, that Mr. Monson's party or Mr. Gower's party were more liberal?—From what I could see of it, from my own experience, Mr. Monson's party was the most liberal; I had the proof of that.

6017. That is exactly what I wanted to know. Were you a voter in 1863?—No.

6018. Were you here at the election?—I was.

6019. Did you take any part in the election?—No.

6020. Did you never at all?—No.

6021. I understand that you took no part at all?—No, I did not.

6022. Neither in voting, in canvassing, nor in attending meetings on either side?—No.

6023. Did you take any part in the previous election, at the one in 1859?—No, I do not remember that I did.

6024. Have you been a voter ever since you have been at Reigate?—No, that was the only time I had a vote.

6025. Which time?—This last time.

GEORGE RANCE sworn and examined.

G. Rance.

6026. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you a voter at the last election?—Yes.

6027. You voted for a house?—Yes.

6028. What was the rent of the house?—10*l.* I believe.

6029. You believe; was it 10*l.*?—That is what it is, I believe.

6030. Did you pay your rent weekly?—Monthly.

6031. How much a month?—18*s.* 4*d.*

6032. What are you?—I am a gatherer, but being crippled I am obliged to be so; but I lived 19 years before that as coachman to the Castle.

6033. What are you now?—A rag and bone getter.

6034. Were you in that profession when the election took place?—Yes.

6035. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

6036. Now let me ask you, were you canvassed by the Monson party?—No.

6037. Not at all?—No.

6038. Then who canvassed you on the Gower side?—Mr. Gower himself, and Charles Smith.

6039. Was Mr. Joyes with them then?—Yes.

6040. Frederick?—Yes.

6041. How long before the election was that?—I suppose six or seven weeks; six weeks.

6042. Was Mr. Monson a candidate at that time?—Yes.

6043. Who was it introduced you to Mr. Gower?—Himself.

6044. Did Mr. Gower ask you for your vote?—He asked me who I was going to give my vote to, and I said, "To you, sir."

6045. You promised him at once?—I gave him my vote at once.

6045*a*. You did not hesitate at all about it?—Not in the least.

6046. After you promised your vote in that way did you see Job Apted?—About two or three days after I did.

6047. What took place between you and Job Apted about voting?—I asked him for a job, and he gave me a job, and sent me carrying bills round with my pony and cart, because I could not walk.

6048. You had a pony and cart?—Yes.

6049. And you were to go round with this pony and cart and deliver bills?—Yes.

6050. What were you to have for that?—I received 1*l.* I did not make any engagement at all.

6051. When was that 1*l.* paid you?—After I went to work.

6052. When you had worked a week?—Yes.

6053. Did Mr. Apted say anything of this sort, "If "you want a pound or two, you can call and have it"?—After I had worked for it; but I only received 1*l.*

6054. Was not that before you talked about your pony and cart? Did not Mr. Apted speak to you about a pound or two before you told him you had a pony and cart?—No.

6055. Well, then, you were paid the money?—Yes.

6056. 1*l.* a week?—1*l.* for the week.

6057. Did you get any other pounds for other weeks?—Yes.

6058. How many pounds did you get for the week's work?—Only 1*l.* for the week's work.

6059. Did you work the next week?—Yes, for three weeks, but not for Mr. Apted.

6060. Who did you work for then?—Mr. Durrant, while I was on the freehold.

6061. Did Mr. Durrant take charge of the freehold?—Yes, so far as I was concerned.

6062. And Mr. Apted attended to the Old part of the borough?—I did not know anything of Mr. Apted, only for the first week.

6063. You worked on the Old part of the borough for the first week?—Yes.

6064. And afterwards for Mr. Durrant?—Yes.

6065. At the freehold. Was 1*l.* all you received from Apted?—Yes.

6066. How much did you receive? How many days were you employed for that?—I worked a week for Mr. Apted at 1*l.* a week.

6067. Before you went into the freehold did not Apted tell you you should have a pound or two, and you should have 5*l.* for voting for Mr. Gower?—No; he never used the word at all.

6068. Did not he say you should have 5*l.* for voting for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower canvassed me.

6069. You told me you had promised Mr. Gower?—Yes; and Mr. Apted said, "if you work, I dare say "it will amount to that."

6070. (The Chief Commissioner.) Mr. Apted said that?—Yes; those were all the words he used.

6071. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How much did Durrant pay you?—3*l.* for the same work for three weeks. I had my pony and cart, as I was crippled.

6072. Mr. Apted did mention the 5*l.*?—He said it might come to 5*l.* for my work, but if they did not work he would not give them anything. I had nothing to do with him, only for a week. I was to go to Mr. Durrant, and ask him to supply me with work.

6073. Were you at a meeting at the chapel at the freehold?—Yes.

6074. Of Mr. Gower's supporters?—Yes.

6075. I think you said so before, but I am reminded. I will ask you again; did you work for Mr. Durrant the three weeks?—Yes, with my pony and cart for the same thing as I worked for Mr. Apted. I could not get about without it.

6076. You were at the chapel meeting at the freehold?—Yes.

6077. Whose chapel is that; I believe it belongs to Mr. Smith?—I do not know whether it belongs to FIFTH DAY. G. Rance. 27 Aug. 1866.

Mr. Smith; I cannot say whether it belongs to a party.

6078. Whether it is a freehold concern or no it is a dissenting chapel?—I do not know; I never attended. I am a churchman myself; I do not interfere with them, and they do not interfere with me.

6079. Were Mr. Durrant, Mr. Job Apted, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Joyes there?—No, I do not believe Mr. Smith was.

6080. Mr. Durrant was there, was he?—Yes.

6081. Was William Church there?—I do not know him.

6082. I suppose this was a meeting of voters?—I believe it was.

6083. Speeches were made and so on?—Yes.

6084. After the meeting was over did you hear Mr. Durrant say anything about going to the "Barley Mow?—He said, I do not know, sir, whether it was any beer for the vote or not, but he said you can have a little beer there for to-night. I do not know whether it was election beer or not.

6085. You do not know whether it was election beer; what do you mean by the term election beer?—I do not know whether it was election beer or no, because I went up and paid for my own.

6086. I want a definition of the term election beer; what do you mean by election beer?—I had heard that there was some election beer, that they had had beer sometimes.

6087. What do you call election beer?—When a man comes and asks you to have a pint, and you do not pay for it yourself.

6088. When you pay for it yourself it is not election beer, and when it is given to you it is election beer?—Sometimes.

6089. When it is a treat it is election beer?—No, not always; I put it down as election beer because I am not an electioneering man myself.

6090. At all events you went to the "Barley Mow" after the meeting at the chapel?—Yes.

6091. Was Mr. Durrant there?—I did not see him.

6092. Did you see many voters there?—Very few.

6093. Did you see 20 or 30?—There might have been 30, less or more, I cannot say that.

6094. About 30?—There might be, but I cannot say; it is impossible to say; but I will tell you the truth.

6095. That was about the number, was it not?—About 25; I cannot say to any more.

6096. Those were voters, were they not?—I believe so, but as I was very seldom amongst them, I cannot say.

6097. Were not those people having their election beer?—I do not know, I sat outside. I sat out on the stool all the time.

6098. Did you have some beer?—What I paid for I did.

6099. Did you pay for it?—I paid for it.

6100. Did you hear Mr. Durrant say anything about going over to the "Barley Mow" and having some beer?—He said there was a little beer at the "Barley Mow," but I did not have any of it; what I had I paid for myself; I think that is the best way.

6101. When he said there was a little beer over at the "Barley Mow," did he go across to the "Barley Mow"?—No, he went home.

6102. Did those 25 people go to the "Barley Mow"?—When they went up they called in.

6103. Was it after the chapel meeting at the chapel?—Not at the chapel.

6104. Well, after the chapel meeting?—Yes.

6105. He said it in the hearing of 20 or 30 people?—No, only to me; I never heard him say it to any one else.

6106. Then you went up?—I went, and paid for what I had myself, and then the others went up; but whether they paid for it or had it given to them I cannot say.

6107. On the morning of the polling day were you at the "Barley Mow?"—I was.

6108. There were somewhere about 30 persons there?—I should think there were from 20 to 30.

6109. Was there any breakfast laid out?—They had some breakfast in the room.

6110. Did you have any?—Yes, I did.

6111. Did you pay for your breakfast?—No.

6112. You would call that an election breakfast, I suppose?—I do; I call it an election breakfast on the system that I never paid for anything.

6113. What did you have; did you have tea?—Yes, I did not have any beer at all.

6114. Whilst you were there did the people seem to come in and go out after having breakfast?—There were only a few I saw come in. Mrs. Nicholls said, "Will you have any tea"; and I said, "thank you."

6115. As long as you were there did you see some 20 or 30 breakfasting?—No, I only saw two, and I did not know any of them.

6116. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What time was it that you were there?—About half-past 7.

6117. In the morning?—Yes.

6118. (Mr. Commisssioner Smith.) Were you there afterwards?—No.

6119. You have made a statement about this?—Yes, I did.

6120. When you made the statement of course the whole matter was fresher in your recollection than it is now?—Certainly it was.

6121. On that occasion you said there were about 30 had breakfast?—Well, at that time I had been very ill for two months, when Mr. Naylor, Mr. Apted, and Mr. Joyes came down.

6122. When Mr. Gilbert came?—No, Mr. Naylor.

6123. Did he come to you?—Yes, and I had never been out for nearly three months; they came down to me and were going to pay me, money which was owing to me for driving to the poll.

6124. What was owing?—I drove a carriage.

6125. What was owing to you for that?—1*l.* 1*s.*, for which I was engaged, and I never received it.

6126. 1*l.* 1*s.* for the day?—Yes, for driving.

6127. You did the work of driving and never received the 1*l.* 1*s.*?—Yes.

6128. Who engaged you?—Mr. Job Apted.

6129. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were engaged as a driver?—Yes.

6130. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And he never paid you; did you not ask him for it?—I asked him once, but he said he would see about it, and I never asked him a second time; I thought I never should receive it.

6131. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you say 1*l.* or 1*l.* 1*s.*?—1*l.* a week; but I was promised 1*l.* 1*s.* for the driving duty.

6132. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) 1*l.* a week whilst you were working with your pony and cart, and for driving on the polling day you were to have 1*l.* 1*s.*?—He gave me 1*l.* a week, but for driving I was to have 1*l.* 1*s.* It was not my own pony, it was a licensed trap with which I drove to the poll.

6133. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why did you not get your 1*l.* 1*s.*?—I could not get it; it would have been very acceptable to me after I had been laid up so long, as I had got a large family.

6134. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How many hours were you engaged?—All day.

6135. Early in the morning?—I drove up the first poll.

6136. At 8 o'clock?—Yes.

6137. Who drove when you voted?—Some one held my horse while I voted.

6138. I think you had better ask Job Apted for it; were you at any of the earlier elections?—Once before, when I voted for Mr. Gower.

6139. When was that?—1863.

6140. Did you receive anything for voting then?—Yes.

6141. How much?—2*l.* 10*s.*, and I worked the same then.

6142. Were you lame then?—I was not quite so lame as I am now, because I have had the rheumatism very badly since, and it has drawn my limb up, and I cannot use it.

6143. Did you work then as you worked on the present occasion?—Yes.

6144. With a pony and cart?—No, I had not got a pony and cart.

6145. What did you do, walk about?—Well, I hobbled with my stick and went over to Redhill to take bills, and over Reigate-heath and the freehold.

6146. How long did you work?—Two weeks.

6147. At 1*l.* a week?—Yes.

6148. Did you get anything for your polling?—5*s.*

6149. Was it included in the 2*l.* 10*s.*?—I beg your pardon, I drove on the poll day before the last election, and I had my 1*l.* 1*s.* for it.

6150. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You had been accustomed to drive?—I have been a coachman all my life.

6151. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was the only election I suppose?—Those two were all I have been in.

6152. On moving about at these elections, distributing these bills, I suppose you heard some conversation about election matters?—Very little; I did not put myself forward, I thought I was no electioneerer at all, and I gave my vote gratis to Mr. Gower.

6153. Did you hear anybody speak on the election of 1865 about Mr. Monson's party giving money for votes?—No, I did not; people came to me and asked me to give my vote, but they never offered me anything; I said I voted for Mr. Gower, and would not do it.

6154. Some of Mr. Monson's party came to you and asked you for your vote?—They asked me for my vote, and Mr. Monson himself, but when they asked me I said I was engaged and should give my vote for Mr. Gower.

6155. No money was offered to you?—No.

6156. Either in 1865 or 1863?—No; and I never went to any meeting at all except that chapel.

6157. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1865 you had your pony and cart before you spoke to Apted about working?—I had a donkey, and now I have got up to a pony.

6158. In 1865 when Apted told you to do some work had you your pony and cart?—Yes.

6159. How long ago did you give it up and take to a donkey?—I had a donkey first.

6160. Well, then, how long was it you had given up the donkey?—It is two years ago.

6161. Which was it you had in 1863, the donkey or the pony?—I had ne'er a one.

6162. You told me you did not use it?—I had not not got one, I had not got any money to find it with.

6163. How many bills did you take out in the cart when you went out with the pony last election?—Sometimes 30 a day.

6164. Where used you to stick them up?—I used to carry them to people, saddlers and others. I put them down at Wood Hatch turnpike; I took seven right down there at the election time, and I furnished some to the gentleman who sits across there (pointing to a gentleman in the hall) at the same time.

6165. How far is that from where you live?—I had to come up to Reigate, and I took them to the freehold.

6166. How many days did you go about with the pony and cart?—Every day I did something or other, or else I should not have been paid for it.

6167. Had you anything to do besides sticking up bills?—Not whilst I was on the election; I never did anything whilst I was working at the election.

6168. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did not do your own work?—No.

6169. (The Chief Commissioner.) You have no regular work, you are your own master?—Yes.

6170. In your business you are not answerable to anybody else; you work on your own account?—Yes.

6171. What I want to know is how many days in the week did you work to stick up bills?—I cannot say, not to a day, but I was every day taking out at the freehold.

6172. You were every day there?—Yes, and they told me I was to go whether there was any work or not to take out.

6173. How many days in the week did you do any work?—Six days.

6174. Do you mean that?—Yes, something every day, little or much.

6175. What did you do?—Take circulars round or bills.

6176. Every day?—Every day.

6177. Did you always call with the pony or on foot?—Always with the pony, because I was not able to walk.

6178. Did you call with your pony or on foot?—With my pony and cart; I used to take my boy, he used to take out the bills, and run in with them, because I was not able to walk.

6179. When you worked with Durrant what did he supply you with?—Bills and circulars.

6180. The same?—Yes.

6181. When did you call for them; the same as before?—I had to come up here.

6182. You first did it for Apted?—For Apted only one week.

6183. You first were employed for Apted?—Yes.

6184. And after that for Durrant?—Yes.

6185. Did you do the same work for both?—Yes.

6186. Did you come and present yourself in the morning at the same place when you were in Mr. Durrant's employ as when you worked for Mr. Apted?—Yes, I went up to Mr. Durrant's.

6187. When you were working for Apted you came every morning and said, "Have you any work "for me"?—Yes.

6188. Where did you go to after that?—Mr. Durrant's.

6189. And where did you go to before, to Apted's house or the committee room?—I saw Mr. Apted outside the committee room.

6190. You did go to the committee room?—Yes.

6191. You were afterwards employed by Mr. Durrant?—Yes.

6192. Where did you go of a morning to inquire for work?—Mr. Durrant used to get them for me.

6193. Where did you go?—To Mr. Durrant's house.

6194. Where is his house?—In the freehold.

6195. You did not come up here, but you went to Mr. Durrant's house?—Yes.

6196. Not every time?—Mr. Durrant sent me up sometimes to the place to ask for them to take out.

6197. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You spoke of a boy; what boy was that?—My son. I took my son, because I was not able to get out of my trap to walk.

6198. How old is he?—Eleven years old.

6199. I should like to understand this: we were told by a witness that there was some election beer?—Yes.

6200. And you had beer yourself?—Yes, and I paid for it.

6201. You paid for it; for your own beer?—Yes, for what I had.

6202. And during the time of your work you had no election beer?—I had been asked to drink, I cannot say who paid for it, but after I drank I paid my part.

6203. (The Chief Commissioner.) I suppose you

FIFTH DAY. 27 Aug. 1866.

G. Rance.

tasted the election beer, did you not?—I cannot say whether that was it.

6204. Did you taste the election beer?—I paid for mine.

6205. You never took any beer without paying for it?—If I drank with another person, I always paid for it.

6206. You never took any without paying for it; is that what you say?—Only my allowance. If I call for a pint of beer and some friends ask me to drink out of theirs it is just the same, it is going half-and-half; Yorkshire.

6207. That is all you did?—Yes, that is all I did.

The witness then withdrew.

G. Jupp.

GEORGE JUPP sworn and examined.

6208. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you, Mr. Jupp?—A carpenter.

6209. On your own account?—No, not on my own account.

6210. A journeyman carpenter?—Yes, sir.

6211. What rent do you pay for your house?—6*s.* a week.

6212. You voted at the last election?—Yes.

6213. You were a voter then?—Yes.

6214. And also in '63 I suppose?—Yes.

6215. How long have you been a voter for the borough?—I have voted twice for Mr. Gower.

6216. In '63 and '65?—Yes.

6217. Do you know Mr. Edwin Stevens of Reigate?—Yes.

6218. Do you recollect on the morning of the polling day having seen Mr. Stevens?—Perfectly well.

6219. Did you go with him to the "Crown"?—No, not to the "Crown."

6220. Where did you go to?—We went to the "White Hart" tap.

6221. And had something to drink?—Yes, we had something to drink.

6222. Did you pay for it?—I did not pay for it.

6223. Did you see Mr. Stevens pay for it?—He did pay for it.

6224. Edwin Stevens is the name, I believe; is that correct?—Yes, Edwin Stevens, the painter.

6225. I just wish to inquire what you had to drink; I should like to know?—I think it was some ale, but it might have been brandy and water.

6226. Had you voted then?—No.

6227. It might have been both?—Sometimes one and sometimes the other.

6228. Well, there is no inconsistency in it?—No, I like ale first, and brandy and water as a topper.

6229. It would be more respectable?—Yes.

6230. Do you recollect being at the "Warwick Arms" the evening of the nomination or the evening before?—No.

6231. I mean where Mr. Rose was chairman?—No; I recollect being there a fortnight before the election.

6232. Do you not recollect being there the night of the nomination?—No, I do not think I was there.

6233. Tell me, if you can; I am satisfied you will tell me if you recollect?—About a week or a fortnight before the election I was there.

6234. I suppose it was a meeting of Mr. Gower's friends?—I do not know whether it was a meeting; I happened to drop in about 11 o'clock.

6235. Was Mr. Rose in the chair?—That I cannot say.

6236. Who was the landlord of the public house?—I forget his name.

6237. Was it Bell?—No, I think not.

6238. Wood?—I think that was the person.

6239. How long did you remain there?—I generally remained till the last.

6240. Then you can tell me?—It was 12 or 1 o'clock.

6241. And what time did you go there?—About 11.

6242. And you were not the first to come there?—Not by a great many.

6243. Had you been very merry, drinking a good deal?—I don't know for that, I had two or three glasses.

6244. Who paid for it?—I did not; they were small glasses.

6245. Small or large would make no difference, for I suppose they did not stint you?—I was not refused anything.

6246. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You preferred it little and good?—I should have liked larger ones.

6247. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you remember being at the "Bell" public house, where Wood was likewise chairman?—I recollect looking in.

6248. And you also saw plenty of drink there?—We had some ale there.

6249. Did you pay for it?—No.

6250. Did you see any one pay for it?—No.

6251. It was what was so graphically called here by the last witness "election ale"?—I do not know what they called it; but I never paid for any.

6252. It was "election ale"?—I dare say it was.

6253. When did the "election ale" commence? how long before the election?—I could not tell.

6254. Oh, yes, you can?—It might be a month.

6255. About how many public houses where this "election ale" was going on had you visited at the time?—Very few indeed.

6256. I have called your attention to this; you know you said you were the last to go; about how many different houses had you visited?—Four or five.

6257. Four or five?—Yes.

6258. And did they continue open up to the nomination day?—No, sir, only two or three of a night.

6259. I do not mean they were open every night and at all times?—They were open when a day was appointed.

6260. And "election ale" was to be had?—Yes.

6261. Did they continue open down to the day of the nomination?—Yes.

6262. What was the largest number of people you will say who were at any of these meetings? Give me the largest number; would it be 40 or 50?—I dare say there was between 30 and 40 at the "Warwick Arms;" there would be that.

6263. And all were drinking?—I was drinking.

6264. You could see whether the others were drinking?—Generally a drinking.

6265. All drinking?—Yes.

6266. And all drinking on the same terms as you were?—I never paid for any.

6267. And you had no doubt they were all drinking on the same terms as you were?—Not the least.

6268. Tell me the last public house bar that you were at up to the election; I do not mean the day of nomination, but up to it?—I cannot tell.

6269. Were you not there the night of the nomination?—I cannot say; but I know I was there the polling day.

6270. But on the evening of the nomination day were you not there?—Well, I cannot say.

6271. Have you any doubt you were? Where do you live?—Warwick-road, Redhill.

6272. All these public houses were at Redhill?—Yes.

6273. Before I leave that, do you know the public houses that were opened on behalf of Mr. Monson at Redhill; we understand he was rather the Redhill candidate?—Yes.

6274. Can you state the public houses?—There was Langridge's, and Topliss, and Coombe's. I think that is the lot.

6275. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What is the name of Coombe's?—The "White Horse," a beer house.

6276. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Two public houses and a beershop?—Yes.

6277. (The Chief Commissioner.) What was the name of the other public house?—The "Railway" hotel.

6278. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) About how long before the election were they open?—It might be a month.

6279. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who kept the beer house?—Coombes.

6280. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) They were open about a month?—Yes.

6281. Did they continue open till the election was done?—I think they only had one or two meetings.

6282. Where?—At Topliss's. I think they had two meetings at Topliss's, and the other about the same, and one at Coombe's.

6283. Did you attend any of the meetings?—I attended two of the meetings.

6284. (The Chief Commissioner.) Which?—Topliss and Langridge.

6285. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I suppose drink was about there the same as the other?—I could not get much. I could not get there till about 11; I was there about the last, and the glasses were empty.

6286. How many persons were there?—About 50.

6287. Did you fare better at the other meetings you attended? You used to have a glass or two at Langridge's, and of course you did not pay for it?—No.

6288. And do you recollect any one paying; I suppose you were not the exception?—I never thought of it.

6289. Have you any doubt all the others you saw were drinking on the same terms as you were?—I dare say they were.

6290. Do you believe they did drink on the same terms?—I dare say they did.

6291. Do you know Mr. Featherstone?—I do.

6292. And also Mr. Green?—Yes.

6293. Apart from the bars, the treating, or drinking, or anything of that kind, do you remember Mr. Green telling you that you would be as well off this time as the last?—I saw Mr. Green outside the Market Hall at Redhill, and he called out to me "Jupp, you are very backward in coming forward," and he said, "Did I not behave well to you and as a "gentleman at the last election?" and I said "Yes," and he said he would do the same again.

6294. You were a little backward?—Yes.

6295. How long before the election was that?—A fortnight or three weeks.

6296. He did behave like a gentleman to you before?—He paid me what I asked.

6297. Was Mr. Green, Henry Green, an agent of Mr. Gower's?—Yes.

6298. You voted for Mr. Gower in '63?—Yes.

6299. What did he give you?—I was on three or four weeks.

6300. What did he give you?—7*s.* 6*d.* a week; 7*s.* 6*d.* a day I believe.

6301. (The Chief Commissioner.) Which lasted three weeks?—Three weeks or four weeks.

6302. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It would come to about 10*l.* or more?—It might be a little more over or under.

6303. We will take it then that it was about 10*l.*?—Yes.

6304. And expecting you would be equally treated by him you became a little more active for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

6305. You then promised Mr. Green, in fact?—Yes.

6306. And had then decided to vote for Mr. Gower?—I had then decided to vote for Mr. Gower.

6307. Who was Mr. Featherstone? Was he on behalf of Mr. Gower or Mr. Monson?—I believe he was on behalf of Mr. Gower.

6308. Did you receive any money at all for voting at the election?—Not at all, not a copper.

6309. I mean at this election?—No.

6310. Did you apply to Mr. Green?—No, I did not.

6311. Had you been employed? Was your name on the committee list?—I do not think it was.

6312. Had you been canvassing or exerting yourself in any way?—No, not this last election.

6313. You applied to nobody?—No, not for the payment.

6314. How was that, you expected payment, for you said you promised if you were equally well treated as at last time?—Because I expected he would bring it. I thought I could take his word.

6315. I believe you voted?—Yes.

6316. And like others you were disappointed?—I was.

6317. Do you remember a conversation with Mr. Featherstone?—Yes.

6318. I believe he spoke of the amount of money Mr. Gower would expend?—No; Mr. Featherstone said to me, "Which side are you going?" and I said I had not made up my mind. He said, "You had "better come on our side, we can do better than have "so much lush; we do not intend to have so much "lush."

6319. Was that old Featherstone or young Featherstone?—Old Thomas Featherstone.

6320. Was that before you saw Mr. Green or after?—After.

6321. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He did not know you had seen Green?—No, I never let them know.

6322. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did he not add something more to the effect that Mr. Gower was not particular to a 1,000*l.*?—He said, "If you vote for "Mr. Gower there will be such a treat on Redhill-"common as never was known; he is not nice as to a "1,000*l.* or two."

6323. You told me you had received no money at all?—No, none.

6324. And I suppose you were disappointed in not getting it?—Yes.

6325. Did you receive any money at all?—No, I cannot say I did.

6326. None at all?—No.

6327. Did you not see Mr. Green at all?—Oh yes, I saw a man outside after I had seen Mr. Green. The man said, "Are you going into the committee "room," and I said "No." He said, "Come along, "I intend having some lotion," and I followed him into the committee room, for it was a very nice thing to get. I saw George Rooms, and he gave me the tip, and I went out.

6328. You and he went out?—Yes.

6329. Were there many persons about Mr. Green at this time?—It was in the committee room; I dare say there were 30.

6330. Rooms got some money, and you?—I did not get any.

6331. No, he gave it to Rooms. How much "lotion" did you get?—Not much, seven or eight pots.

6332. Did you see the money that passed—the amount?—No, he put it into his hand.

6333. And you had seven or eight pots?—It only amounted to a pot apiece, for there were several people.

6334. Rooms was paymaster?—Yes.

6335. They were all voters?—That I do not know.

6336. They were in the committee room?—Where he had the money handed over. When we went away some of the people followed us.

6337. Where did you go to?—To Mr. Simons.

6338. Was that the only occasion you remember of money being paid by Green?—Yes; it was very scarce the first part of the election.

6339. It became more abundant?—The last day or two.

FIFTH DAY.

G. Jupp.

27 Aug. 1866.

6340. What time in the day did you vote?—Not very early; we could not get good usage afterwards; it was about 3 o'clock, as I thought I would hold back.

6341. You were a very important man till you voted?—Yes.

6342. Afterwards you were not?—No.

6343. Did you breakfast at one of the public houses that morning?—I breakfasted at home; no, I did not; I remember, I breakfasted along with a friend that morning.

6344. Did you lunch before you voted?—I think it was after.

6345. The good usage was only till you voted?—I think it was after at the "Warwick Arms."

6346. (The Chief Commissioner.) An election lunch?—I suppose so; I never paid.

6347. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) In 1863 you received about 10*l.* on behalf of Mr. Gower from Mr. Green; were there many employed at that election?—Yes, I think there were a great many.

6348. Money was more abundant then than it was in 1865, was it?—Yes.

6349. Much more?—Oh yes.

6350. On both sides?—Well, I suppose so; yes.

6351. You think it was on both sides?—I am certain it was.

6352. And how about the public houses, were they as free and as open in 1863 as in 1865?—Oh yes, quite as free.

6353. And more so, I suppose?—Perhaps they might be.

6354. You were better treated in 1863 than 1865?—A great deal.

6355. Now, might I inquire, what did you do in 1863?—Had to meet at the "Wheatsheaf" every morning at half-past 9 to see if there were any circulars to carry out, to fix flag poles, or anything required.

6356. It was very little, I suppose?—No, we were kept humbugging about, and had to be there.

6357. And had your glass of beer?—No, pay for what you wanted in the day-time.

6358. But at night you had abundance?—After we had done work.

6359. Which was humbugging about? Why, you knew the work was all a sham in 1863?—Oh no, you had to be at your post.

6360. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you at your post every day?—I think I was; very rare to be away.

6361. Was anything said about your being at your post in 1865?—No, sir.

6362. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you receive any money on behalf of Mr. Monson or any from any person on his account?—No.

6363. Were you offered anything?—No.

6364. When you entered the beer shops did not you see anybody at all on his account; were not you canvassed by any one on his account?—I was asked by several whether I would go that way. I could have had 30*s.* a week for Monson if I had liked, but I did not intend voting for him, and I did not take it.

6365. How do you know you could have had it?—Because it was offered to me by a man named Kenward at Redhill.

6366. When was it offered to you?—About three weeks before the election; I should have had the first instalment, the first week's work. If I had gone on for Monson I should have received 30*s.* a week.

6367. And I suppose if you had not seen Green you would most likely have taken it?—I should have taken it.

6368. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And voted for Monson?—I should.

6369. If you had taken the money you would have voted for Monson?—Yes, if I had gone on canvassing for him I should have voted for him.

6370. Is it Joseph Kenward?—Yes.

6371. That day that you were promised this money, how long was that before the election?—About a fortnight or three weeks; I cannot say. A day or two after I saw Rooms at the committee room.

6372. Do you recollect the writ coming down?—Yes.

6373. Was it after that?—I could not say whether it was after that or before.

6374. Were you at a meeting at Redhill when Mr. Apted was in the chair?—No, sir. I do not think I ever saw Job Apted in the chair not this last election.

6375. The night before the writ came down?—No.

6376. Can you say whether this was before or after the writ came down?—No, I could not.

6377. That you were at Rooms'?—No, I could not.

6378. (The Chief Commissioner.) I dare say you were on the register at an earlier election, 1859?—No, I think not; I have only been on the register at two elections.

6379. Did you take any part in the election of 1859, when Wilkinson stood?—No, sir.

6380. When the other Mr. Monson stood?—No, sir.

6381. Did you take any interest about any other election?—No, sir, not at all.

6382. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was it you did receive before from Mr. Green?—I do not know how many weeks I was on; it was either three or four weeks.

6383. Did you receive as much as 10*l.*?—I received over 10*l.* if it was four weeks.

6384. You recollect you were examined before the committee of the House of Commons?—Yes.

6385. "I cannot exactly say what it was; it was "about 10*l.*"?—Yes, I gave my statement to Mr. Gilbert; it was either a little over or under.

T. Dale.

THOMAS DALE called, sworn, and examined.

6386. (The Chief Commissioner.) You voted at the last election, did you not?—Yes.

6387. What was your vote for, the house that you lived in?—Yes, 13*l.* a year.

6388. Do you pay the same rent now?—Yes.

6389. It is London-road?—Yes.

6390. What are you?—Gardener.

6391. Did you promise your vote before the election came on?—Yes, I did.

6392. Who did you promise it to?—Mr. Gower.

6393. Did he ask you for it?—No.

6394. Was it Mr. William Joyes who asked you for it?—Yes.

6395. Did you at once promise it to him, or did you hesitate about it?—I promised directly.

6396. Can you tell me how long before the election came on it was?—I cannot say how many weeks; just as the canvassing begun.

6397. Was it four or five weeks?—I cannot say how long it was.

6398. Were you canvassed by Mr. Monson's side?—No, sir. There was one gentleman called at my house, but my wife told him I had promised Mr. Gower.

6399. Did you see any of Mr. Monson's party afterwards at any time about your vote?—No.

6400. At that time you were a gardener, were you?—Yes.

6401. Was any arrangement made between you and Joyes for your vote?—Not for my vote exactly.

6402. Be kind enough to tell me what the arrangement was?—After I had promised Mr. Joyes, he said if I would go on to work for Mr. Gower he would give me a fortnight's work and give me 2*l.*

6403. Were you to go to garden for Mr. Gower?—No, sir; anything that he wanted me for.

6404. And did you do any work for him?—Well, sir, I was open to it; I cannot say that I did any work.

6405. Do you know whether you were put down on a committee?—Well, I was on the committee sheet.

6406. Were you paid the 2*l.*?—No.

6407. Never?—No; I received 30*s.*

6408. Who paid you 30*s.*?—William Joyes.

6409. When?—I cannot tell exactly. I should think it must be somewhere in November.

6410. That was after the election?—Yes, a long time.

6411. Did not you apply for a larger sum?—No.

6412. Did not you look for a larger sum than 30*s.*?—When he paid me 30*s.* he told me there would be another 1*l.* added; that would make 3*l.*

6413. How would that make 3*l.*?—30*s.* I received, and 10*s.* due to me out of the 2*l.*, and 1*l.* would make 3*l.*

6414. Your original bargain was for 2*l.*; he paid you in November 30*s.*; he then intimated that another 1*l.* would be paid?—Would be added.

6415. Does not it occur to you that that would not be carrying out the original bargain, but it was giving you something more?—I do not know why he did so.

6416. Do you recollect anything more being said about another sum of money?—No.

6417. Were not you to be paid the same as the others?—That made it, I suppose.

6418. Were you to be paid, as you understood it, the same as the others?—3*l.*

6419. Pray understand me. Were you to be paid—never mind the amount—but were you to be paid or not, as you understood, the same as the others?—I believe that was mentioned.

6420. Did you understand that 5*l.* was to be paid for the others?—No.

6421. Did you hear 5*l.* mentioned as a sum during the election at all?—No.

6422. Did not you hear 5*l.* mentioned as the sum from Mr. Gower's people at all?—No, I did not.

6423. Have you been a voter at the previous elections?—No, this was the first.

6424. Is this the first election you have taken any part in?—Yes.

6425. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were to receive this 2*l.*?—Yes.

6426. For work, you say?—Yes.

6427. And you are a gardener?—Yes.

6428. What, a jobbing gardener?—No, I work for Mr. Highbury.

6429. Is he a master gardener?—He is a nurseryman.

6430. During all this time did you continue upon your work for your master?—Yes, I did.

6431. You did, in fact, no work for the Gower committee?—No further than I had been summoned to some of the committee rooms, and I came of an evening.

6432. When your work was done with your master?—Yes.

6433. I suppose you attended some of the meetings where there were refreshments?—Yes, I did.

6434. Pretty well the sort of work that all the other persons did who were paid?—Yes.

AMOS ELLIOTT sworn and examined.

A. Elliott.

6435. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are a voter for this borough?—Yes.

6436. And voted at the last election for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

6437. What is your qualification?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week.

6438. What are you?—Bricklayer.

6439. And where do you live?—Nutley-lane.

6440. Were you canvassed by the Monson party?—I was.

6441. And were you canvassed on behalf of Mr. Gower?—Yes.

6442. Who canvassed you first, which party?—I promised my vote to Mr. Job Apted in the room underneath, outside the door underneath.

6443. Was that before you had been canvassed by any of Mr. Monson's party?—It was.

6444. When you promised to Mr. Apted, was anything said to you about receiving money?—He said to me, he asked me for my vote, and I told him that I did not know as I should vote at all. He says, "If "you don't vote at all and work for us you shall "have 2*l.*"

6445. Did he tell you what work you were to do?—I was to do the best I could on behalf of Mr. Gower.

6446. But no other work than that, simply to ask persons for their votes?—And bring them here to the committee room underneath.

6447. That was to be your pay if you did not vote and you worked; what was to be your pay if you did vote?—3*l.*

6448. Then you would have 1*l.* more?—Yes.

6449. Did you canvass?—Yes.

6450. Where did you canvass?—Reigate-hill, one place.

6451. How many times did you canvass at Reigate-hill?—Only once.

6452. On what occasion was it that you then canvassed?—I canvassed my brother-in-law for Mr. Gower.

6453. Did you go over on purpose to see your brother-in-law?—Yes, I did.

6454. Was there a meeting that night?—No.

6455. I suppose you frequently go to see your brother-in-law?—No, it is not very often; not once a twelvemonth.

6456. Unless you are paid for it?—Sometimes I go and have a cup of tea, perhaps once a twelvemonth.

6457. Was this the twelvemonthly visit that you paid?—I went on purpose to see my brother-in-law.

6458. If there was another election to open to-morrow I suppose you would want to be paid to go and drink a cup of tea about that?—I do not know about that; I went on purpose to see my brother-in-law.

6459. Where else did you canvass?—I canvassed a man in Bell-street.

6460. How far from your house?—Three-quarters of a mile.

6461. You canvassed in the evening?—Yes.

6462. Was there any public meeting or private committee meeting?—Not as I am aware of that night.

6463. Where did you canvass?—In the road.

6464. Did you go to any beer house?—No, I brought him straight to the room underneath.

6465. Did you go on purpose to see him?—No; I was going to meet another man.

6466. You were taking your evening walk?—I was taking my evening walk.

6467. Tell me where else you canvassed?—William King, in Nutley-lane.

6468. What did you do with William King?—I brought him here, according to my orders.

6469. Why did not you bring the others here?—I did bring them here.

6470. Did you bring your brother-in-law here?—Yes, I did.

6471. Did you get him put on the committee?—I brought him here, and put him in charge of Job Apted. I do not know what was done afterwards.

6472. Is that the phrase, giving a voter in charge to Job Apted?—I was to bring him here.

6473. What did you say to your brother-in-law to induce him to come all that distance to see Job Apted? did you make any promise to him?—Not a farthing.

6474. Have you heard from your brother-in-law that he has had any promise made to him?—I have not.

FIFTH DAY.

A. Elliott.

27 Aug. 1866.

6475. What is he ?—A quarryman.

6476. Now King, three-quarters of a mile ; why did you bring him to the committee room ?—I brought him here, and left him talking to Job Apted.

6477. Had not you persuaded him to vote ?—I told him I thought he had better come on the working man's side.

6478. Well now, was not it the understood thing that every one of those working men were to be paid ? —I never said a word to them about it ; what other people told them I do not know.

6479. Was not it pretty well understood amongst you that you were to be paid ?—I never said anything about it.

6480. That is no answer to my question. Was not it pretty well understood amongst you that you were all to be paid ?—I was to be paid for what I had done.

6481. Did you bring your friend from Nutley-lane, and give him in charge to Job Apted ?—I left him in the room.

6482. Was anybody else with him in the room besides Job Apted ?—His son.

6483. Is he a young man ?—Yes.

6484. Is he a voter ?—No.

6485. Were those the only three left in the room ? —The only three that ever I saw in the room.

6486. Did you see how long these people remained with Job ?—They done as they liked.

6487. What do you mean ?—They talked over whatever matters they thought proper.

6488. To make the arrangement about paying for the vote ?—I dare say that is it.

6489. Have you any doubt about it ?—No doubt at all.

6490. Did you say something to this man King about being paid for his vote ?—No, I did not.

6491. You left that for private arrangement with Job ?—I left that for private arrangement with Apted.

6492. Was there anybody else you canvassed ?— Pobrook, as I told you.

6493. Where does he live ?—Is that the man in Bell-street ?—Yes.

6494. I asked you if there was anybody else ?—No, that was the three I canvassed. I spoke to several others.

6495. But you did not bring them up, as you were ordered to do, into the charge of Job Apted ?—No.

6496. Then you would not call that any work to meet a man in the street and ask him for his vote ?— I do not know, sir. After I have done my work, and had my tea, I have generally plenty of work to do at home, and not run about after other people.

6497. Do you mean to say seriously you called that work ?—Of course, I was out on that day.

6498. And then you voted ?—Yes.

6499. Did you get your 3*l.* which was promised you ?—No.

6500. That was 1*l.* for your voting day, for polling at the election, and 2*l.* for bringing these three people. You did not get the promises from these three, you only brought them to the committee room ?—They walked here, I did not bring them.

6501. Are you quite certain that you received no promise from anybody else exeept Job Apted ?—I am quite certain I did not.

6502. You will swear to it ?—Yes.

6503. You know Alexander Rose ?—Yes.

6504. He lives in Nutley-lane ?—Yes.

6505. When did you see him last ?—Well, I see him this morning, I think.

6506. Did you see him last night ?—I did not.

6507. Did you see him on Saturday night ?—I did not.

6508. Or on Friday ?—I do not think I did.

6509. Where did you see him this morning ?—I see him about a hundred yards before me.

6510. Did you speak to him ?—I did not.

6511. Did he to you ?—No.

6512. During the time this inquiry has been going on, do you mean to say you have had no conversation with Alexander Rose ?—Of course I have to pass his house often. I have seen him ; but I have had no conversation concerning the election.

6513. Not once ?—Not once.

6514. That you will swear to ?—I will.

6515. Have you looked at him about the election ? —No, I have had no conversation concerning the election.

6516. Or has he nodded to you, which might mean " keep things dark " ?—No.

6517. Not at all ?—No.

6518. I will ask you again ; be careful how you answer. Will you swear you have never had any promise whatever from Alexander Rose about this election for money ?—I will swear that I have not.

6519. Is that your signature ?—It is.

6520. Do you know this book ?—I have seen it before. I will tell you where the mistake is presently.

6521. Mr. Naylor brought that to you ? — Quite right. I will explain the mistake to you presently.

6522. Was there a person with Mr. Naylor ?—Yes, a person who wore spectacles.

6523. I dare say that gentleman was Mr. Hinde, Mr. Naylor's clerk. He saw you sign this book ?— He did.

6524. Tell me, was this read to you before you signed it. You saw this book ?—I saw the book.

6525. Did you read it ?—I did not.

6526. Did you know why you were asked to sign this book ?—Yes, he come and represented himself as one of Mr. Gower's agents in London.

6527. You knew that ?—I knew that.

6528. Did not you tell him that you had been promised 3*l.* by Mr. Alexander Rose ?—I did not.

6529. And that there was due to you 1*l.* 10*s.* out of the 3*l.* ?—I did not. I told him there was the 30*s.* due to me ; quite right that is ; but I did not tell him Alexander Rose.

6530. You will swear to that ?—Yes, I will swear to it.

6531. Who did you tell Mr. Hamblin that you had had this promise of 3*l.* from ?—I told him no one. He come to my door and he asked if I had got a private room. I told him I had not. He says, " Who " is inside " ? I said, " The washerwoman." He says, " Can I come in " ? I says, " Yes, you can." I asked him in. He showed me the book.

6532. I will ask you to be cautious about this, because this has been in the presence of two persons, Hamblin, who represented himself to be Mr. Naylor, and his clerk, Mr. Hinde ?—Yes ; and there were four persons besides in the room ; my wife, Mrs. Duffell, and two nieces of mine. He told me to speak very inwardly, because he did not wish for anybody to know what business there was.

6533. I suppose you did speak very inwardly ?—I did, and that is where the mistake was made.

6534. Then he mistook Alexander Rose for Job Apted ?—He whispered to me, and I whispered to him.

6535. Do you mean to say these names are so much alike that a man might mistake Job Apted for Alexander Rose ?—He asked me if it was Joyes or Rose. I says, " No." I spoke very inwardly. That is where the mistake arose. I did not say Alexander Rose.

6536. Then you said nothing to him about Apted ? —Not at all. I signed the book and he put something down afterwards, what it was I do not know. He wished me good evening, and knocked the ink bottle over into the bargain.

6537. How came he to know it was 3*l.* promised ? —I do not know.

6538. Did not you tell him it was 3*l.* ?—I told him when he showed me the book.

6539. Then he was right with regard to the 3*l.*, wherever he got his information ?—Yes.

6540. Were you concerned in any of the prior elections ; 1863 ?—Yes.

6541. Did you attend any of the meetings in Nutley-lane ?—On which election ?

6542. This election of 1865?—No, sir, I did not, not in Nutley-lane.

6543. There were some?—I believe there were at the beer houses; I was not there.

6544. You never went?—It happened, I believe, on Friday night, when I was busy.

6545. Were you interested in the election of 1863?—I voted for William Arthur Wilkinson then.

6546. Were you paid for voting, or we will call it work?—I received 2*l.* from Frederick Joyes for that.

6547. For that election?—For that election.

6548. What did you do for the 2*l.*?—Well, no further than being on the committee meetings.

6549. You did your ordinary work in the day, and attended the committee meetings in the evenings?—That is right.

6550. Was there any open-house work, drinking, upon that election?—Well, I do not remember ever paying for anything what I had myself.

6551. I suppose you had something?—I did, sir.

6552. Frequently, whenever you went to the committee meetings?—Whenever I went to the committee meetings.

6553. Then, in 1865, did you attend any of the meetings?—I did.

6554. And did you have refreshment and brandy and water, or anything of that kind?—I never drink spirits.

6555. What do you drink?—Beer and porter.

6556. Did you get your beer and porter without paying for it?—I did.

6557. And was it the same thing in 1863 as 1865?—Well, I do not know.

6558. Much about the same?—Much about the same.

6559. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) As to the public houses?—Yes.

6560. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you been offered anything by the opposite party at either of those elections?—This last election I was going down Bell-street, the same night I met Pobrook. As I were going down Bell-street, past the "Grapes," Mr. James Nicholls was standing at the door. He called me and said, "I want to speak to you 'inside." I went into the back parlour. He followed me, shut the door, and said, "I merely went to ask you for your vote." I says, "Mr. Nicholls, I have promised it on behalf of "Mr. Gower." He says, "You had better come our "side." I said, "No, I have promised my word, and "I shall stick to it." And he says, "You know I can "afford to pay you." And then he asked me if I would have a glass of ale. I thanked him; he gave me the glass of ale, and I wished him "good night."

6561. Did he offer you any sum of money at all?—He did not. All he said was, "You know I can afford "to pay you."

6562. But you expressed yourself staunch to Mr. Gower?—I had promised my word, and I should stick to it.

6563. Was that the only occasion on which you had been offered anything by the Monson party?—The third Monday in June, that is the "Black Horse" club day, I was passing up the town with my brother-in-law, and he said, "Come in, mate, and have a glass of "something to drink." I went in; we were taken into the bar parlour. When we got in there Mr. Holdsworth gave my brother-in-law something in his hand. I did not see what. I says to him, "What have I "done that I am not to be served the same?"

6564. Did you afterwards see what that was?—I did.

6565. What was it?—Half a sovereign; leastways he pulled it out of his pocket, and said, "That was "what it was."

6566. When did he pull that half-sovereign out?—After he got out of the house.

6567. Now go back to your story, and tell me what took place between Holdsworth and your brother-in-law?—I did not hear what was said.

6568. What else took place in that bar parlour?—I said to him, "What have I done not to be served the "same?" He put his hand in his pocket and pulled out a purse. "Oh," he said, "money is no object to "me." He threw across half a sovereign to me.

6569. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) But you did not take it?—Yes, I did. He told me it was to drink his health with. I said, "Then let me have a glass of "brandy and water."

6570. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you pay for the brandy and water?—Out of the half-sovereign. Nothing was not said about the election on the occasion.

6571. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did not pay for the glass of brandy and water with all the half-sovereign?—I put down the half-sovereign, and he brought me 9*s.* 6*d.* change.

6572. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And that 9*s.* 6*d.* you carried away?—I carried away.

6573. Very much obliged to Mr. Holdsworth?—I was.

6574. Did he lead you to suppose at all that that was to be any inducement to you to vote?—Not a word was said about the election.

6575. Was that one of Mr. Monson's houses?—Yes, I believe it was.

6576. Did you go there afterwards?—I think not, to the best of my recollection.

6577. It was a great temptation to take you there again?—Well, it was.

6578. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How long before the election was this?—I do not know; the third Monday in June it happened.

6579. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is that all you have to tell us with regard to any money matters or bribery, or anything, in reference to 1865?—That is all.

6580. Your brother-in-law, Fuller, what is his address?—Reigate-hill, quarryman, works for Mr. Carruthers.

6581. Did you know from your brother-in-law at all what terms he had entered upon with Apted?—I did not. He said he had signed the committee book. He never told me, sir.

6582. Now, in 1863, you say that you received money for 1863; who were the candidates then, do you recollect?—Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Gower.

6583. Were you offered at that time anything on the part of Mr. Gower's party?—I was not asked by any one for my vote.

6584. Except Mr. Wilkinson?—I volunteered for Wilkinson myself.

6585. Were you at any previous election?—No.

6586. 1863 was your first?—1863 was the first I voted on.

6587. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said Holdsworth saw you and your brother-in-law at the door?—As we were passing up, and a band of music in front of us.

6588. Did you see any other voters enter that evening?—I did not; it was between 1 and 2 o'clock in the day.

6589. Did you visit the public house again?—I said just now not, sir.

6590. Why did not you go there again having been so well treated?—Because I told Holdsworth myself that I intended to vote for Mr. Gower.

HENRY BAINES sworn and examined.

H. Baines.

6591. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A labourer.

6592. You go out to work?—I go with Mr. Lambert's horse and cart.

6593. What rent do you pay for the house out of which you have a vote?—26*l.* a year.

6594. A large house; I suppose you let a portion of it. Have you lodgers, or do you let a part of it?—I let part, and have lodgers too.

FIFTH DAY.

H. Baines.

27 Aug. 1866.

6595. You do not occupy all that?—No.

6596. How much do you occupy?—I think three or four rooms; four rooms.

6597. You are a married man, I presume?—Yes.

6598. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

6599. Who canvassed you?—No one; Mr. Gower called, but I never saw him, and Mr. Monson too; but I never saw either of them.

6600. Do you know Job Apted?—Yes.

6601. You saw him, I believe?—Yes.

6602. That is before you had promised?—I had not promised any one.

6603. Then you saw him before you had promised?—Yes.

6604. You promised him you would vote for Gower?—No, sir, I did not; he never spoke about voting; I asked him about a job.

6605. Did you go to Mr. Apted, or did he come to you?—We met in the street.

6606. By accident?—Yes.

6607. You had known him to be active for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

6608. And you spoke to him and said, "Mr. Apted, I want a job"?—Something of that.

6609. But you were not out of work then, were you?—No.

6610. How long before the election was this?—I should think six weeks.

6611. That would be a good long job?—Yes.

6612. A job of work?—Yes.

6613. For whom were you at work then?—For Mr. Lambert.

6614. And you continued at work all along?—Yes.

6615. Up to the day of the election?—Yes.

6616. And then you got a job of work from Mr. Job Apted?—No, sir, to go on nights.

6617. I mean that. Of course you were at work by day for your master, and you wanted to work by night for Mr. Job Apted?—Yes.

6618. What were you to get for the job? was it to be job work, 5*l.* for the whole work?—No money mentioned.

6619. No, we do not say money; but what was it, "a fiver"?—No, sir.

6620. Something of that kind?—He promised me three weeks; he said, "We will say three weeks."

6621. More than that, did not he?—No, that is all he promised me.

6622. It was six weeks before the election; you were to be engaged all the time, were you not?—It might be.

6623. Were not you to be engaged all the time?—No, all the work mentioned was three weeks.

6624. What was to be paid for it?—He never agreed to pay me anything.

6625. Attend. You were to get a job, he did not say three weeks for the job, that is not the way people agree about work?—Yes, he did.

6626. Three weeks?—Yes.

6627. And nothing else?—Nothing else.

6628. What did you understand by the three weeks; you might as well out with it?—I understood I should have something, but I did not know what.

6629. You are an intelligent respectable man you know, and you know what I mean. Three weeks means something; what does three weeks mean do you think?—I do not know what it did mean.

6630. What did it turn out to mean?—Why, it turned out to mean very little.

6631. Did not you get 3*l.*?—No.

6632. Is not your name Henry Baines?—Yes.

6633. You had better answer. Did not you receive 3*l.*? You write a very good hand if that is your signature; is that your signature?—I daresay it is (looking at the signature). Yes, that is mine.

6634. Do you see 3*l.* near it as having been received?—I do see 3*l.*

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) "Amount due."

6635. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Oh, amount due, is it. How much did you receive?—2*l.*

6636. Then you are quite right. When did you receive that?—I do not know whether it was this year or last; some time about Christmas.

6637. From Mr. Apted?—Yes.

6638. Did you go to him?—Yes.

6639. What did you ask him for?—Well, I asked him some time in the week if there was any chance for any money.

6640. Why should not there be a chance for money? You had been at work, you are a labouring man, you had been at work for him, why should not there be a chance for money? That is not what you say to your master when you get your week's wages?—No, when I work for him I expect it. I did not do any work.

6641. Oh, you did no work, I beg your pardon, you did no work at all?—No.

6642. Nothing whatever?—I was supposed to work.

6643. I want to know; you did no work?—I did no work.

6644. And Job Apted knew you did no work?—I do not know I am sure what he knew.

6645. Perhaps you worked in the dark. He thought you were working at nights?—It were nights when I did it; I was about.

6646. Did you tell him how much you wanted?—No, sir.

6647. You were rather disappointed in not getting more, were not you?—No.

6648. Did you expect more?—No; I did not expect what I got.

6649. Was anything said about getting more?—There was something said; but what it was I do not know.

6650. Very well, we will see. There was something said about getting more? Well, now, I suppose Apted said, "Well, Mr. Baines, you have been working "very hard, and this is only a small amount"?—He did not say anything about that.

6651. What did he say about something more?—He said there would be a settlement, or something.

6652. He said there would be a general settlement?—He never said anything about a general settlement.

6653. A settlement of what?—He never mentioned anything.

6654. You had a claim upon him. Did you go to his house?—I did go to his house.

6655. What did you go to his house for?—For the money.

6656. Did you get the 2*l.* the first time you went?—The first time I went to his house. I think I am not sure about that. I saw him out in the street.

6657. Did he tell you to call at his house?—Yes.

6658. And that he would pay you some money?—Yes.

6659. On account?—Well, I do not know about that.

6660. Did not he tell you he would pay you some money on account?—He said he would get some for me.

6661. Some from whom?—I do not know.

6662. And when was it he talked of the settlement? Was it when he paid you the 2*l.*?—Yes.

6663. When you talked of the settlement, you talked of 3*l.* more, did not you?—No.

6664. You expected 3*l.* more?—Well, I might expect it.

6665. Did you not?—I do not know that I did. I said just now I did not, and I do not know as I did.

6666. "Expect" may be a strong word; but did not you hope for 3*l.* more from what you knew was going on?—Well, I should have liked to have had it.

6667. Did not you hope for 3*l.* more?—I do not know.

6668. Did not you know that 5*l.* was going?—I heard it.

6669. You had heard that 5*l.* was going, and you received 2*l.*, and then a settlement was talked about?—Yes.

6670. Now I ask you, did not you hope when the settlement would come round that you would receive 3*l.* more?—I did not know whether I should or not.

6671. You did not know of course; but you hoped to receive 3*l.* more when the final settlement would come round?—I should have liked it.

6672. Was this the first time you voted?—No; I voted in 1863.

6673. For whom?—Mr. Gower.

6674. Had you been employed in the same way you were this time?—No; excepting polling day and nomination day.

6675. What did you receive for your services on that day?—I never received anything as I know of.

6676. Did you receive anything at the last election in 1863?—I received 3*l.*

6677. What do you mean by saying you did not receive anything. I understood you, I may be wrong, I thought you said you did not receive anything in 1863?—Well, sir, for my labour.

6678. Very well, you received 3*l.* for your vote in fact in 1863?—Well, I do not know; there was nothing mentioned about my vote.

6679. When did you receive it, after you voted?—Yes.

6680. How long after you voted?—Oh, I should say six months; I do not know when.

6681. It might be six months; but I understood you to say that you had not been at all at work in 1863, except on the nomination day?—That is all.

6682. Who canvassed you in 1863?—Mr. Gower.

6683. Had you voted before that time at all?—No.

6684. That was the first you were a voter?—Yes.

6685. In 1863, besides receiving 3*l.* six months afterwards, I suppose you did not expect it?—No.

6686. To whom did you apply for that 3*l.*?—Mr. Nicholls.

6687. Do you mean the landlord of the "Grapes"?—He is at the "Grapes;" I do not know whether he is landlord.

6688. How came you to apply to him for the 3*l.*?—I do not know; I asked him.

6689. Now you are too intelligent a man not to know?—I asked him about some money.

6690. You know you would not go to me or my friend Mr. Allen, or Mr. Smith, to ask about money. Very well, go on?—He gave me some one day. When I called he gave me 3*l.* "Here is 3*l.* for you," he says.

6691. Why did you go to Nicholls, I want to know?—I do not know.

6692. Why did you go to Mr. Nicholls?—Why, I heard he was a-paying some away.

6693. You heard he was paying money away to voters who supported Mr. Gower?—Yes.

6694. And were you to receive anything more?—No.

6695. Did you go alone there?—Yes.

6696. Who told you that he was paying away money?—I do not know now; I cannot remember.

6697. You know that a great many of your neighbours went there at the same time?—I do not know that any one did.

6698. You do, indeed?—I do not know who went.

6699. Who said they were going there?—I never heard any one say so, not in particular.

6700. Whom did you hear say that he was paying away money?—I do not know now; it was so long ago, I forget.

6701. Was it a little bird?—No, it was not a bird.

6702. You went alone, I suppose?—Yes, I did.

6703. Did he take you into the back parlour?—No.

6704. Where?—I met him out in the street.

6705. Did he take you into the house?—No; he gave it to me, and off I went.

6706. He put his hand in his pocket and handed you 3*l.*?—Yes.

6707. (The Chief Commissioner.) In the street?—In the street.

6708. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Of course you gave him no receipt. You asked him for money?—Yes.

6709. What did you say?—I forget now.

6710. I will put you in mind of it. Did you say, "Mr. Nicholls, I supported Mr. Gower at the last "election." He was not an intimate friend of yours?—I never said no such words to him.

6711. Did you say, "I voted for Mr. Gower at the "last election"?—I suppose he knew that.

6712. How did he know that? You were not an intimate friend of his?—He might have seen my name on the poll sheet.

6713. Did you say, "I voted for Mr. Gower, and I "hear you are paying money to the voters"?—No; I never said such a word as that.

6714. What did you say?—I cannot remember.

6715. You did not go up to him and say, "Mr. "Nicholls, I want 3*l.* of you"?—I do not know what I did say to him.

6716. Is that what you did say?—It is so long ago, I do not remember what I did say.

6717. Did you say to him, "Mr. Nicholls, I want "3*l.*"?—No; "Some money."

6718. Did you say, "I voted for Mr. Gower, and "I think it is time now I should be paid"?—No.

6719. Or, "I think it is time now I should have a "little money." Recollect yourself; is not that what you said?—Well, I do not remember what I did say.

6720. Was it anything like that?—I do not know; I cannot remember what I did say.

6721. Besides receiving the 3*l.* at that election, you have had plenty of beer?—I never had any that I did not pay for.

6722. Never had any that you did not pay for?—No.

6723. Did you never have any beer at the last election that you did not pay for?—At meetings I had.

6724. That is what I mean?—Yes, I did.

6725. Had you any beer at the meetings in 1863?—No; I never went to any meetings, only at the public hall.

6726. But you had election beer in 1865 when you attended the meetings?—Yes.

6727. Did you attend many meetings?—I attended three, I believe.

6728. And you had as much beer as you liked at all those three meetings?—As much as I like.

6729. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say when you met Mr. Nicholls no sum was mentioned?—No.

6730. You say you met Nicholls in the street, and he put his hand in his pocket and gave you 3*l.* Had you done any work?—Only on the two days I have told you.

6731. What did you do on the two days?—I do not know what was done.

6732. That was the polling day and the nomination day?—Yes; they asked me to come here.

6733. You, like a lot of other fellows, hung about idle?—Yes.

6734. And then wanted to be paid for it. You must try and draw your recollection back, because it is almost incredible that Mr. Nicholls should put his hand in his pocket and give you 3*l.* without anything being said?—Well, I do not recollect.

6735. You are quite certain it took place?—Yes, it took place.

6736. Where was it that it took place?—In the High-street here.

6737. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower on that occasion, do you recollect?—Mr. Gower himself and Mr. Smith.

6738. Mr. Charles Smith?—Yes.

6739. When you were canvassed was anything said about your doing anything?—Nothing.

6740. Or being paid?—Nothing.

6741. How many days after the election was it that you got the 3*l.*?—Six months, I should think. I do not know what time it was; it might not be so long.

FIFTH DAY.

H. Baines.

27 Aug. 1866.

6742. When that 3*l.* was given to you, was anything said to you by Mr. Nicholls about your voting for Mr. Gower at any future election ?—No.

6743. Did he say it was for your vote ?—No.

6744. Had you done any work for Mr. Nicholls ?—No.

6745. Not at all ?—Not at all.

6746. You had no claim against Mr. Nicholls ?—No.

J. Thrift.

JOHN THRIFT called, sworn, and examined.

6747. (The Chief Commissioner.) You live at Reigate-heath ?—Yes.

6748. What are you ?—A gardener.

6749. Tell me what rent you pay ?—13*l.* a year.

6750. Did you vote at the last election ?—Yes.

6751. For Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

6752. Who canvassed you ?—Mr. William Joyes.

6753. Did Mr. Gower ?—Mr. Gower called at my house, but I was not at home.

6754. Did Mr. William Joyes canvass you after that ?—Yes.

6755. Did you promise him your vote ?—It was promised before I promised it. My wife promised it ; she knew I was going to vote for Mr. Gower.

6756. We will leave out about your wife. When Joyes saw you, did you promise him ?—Yes.

6757. What arrangement was made between you ?—Not any before I promised my vote.

6758. But at this time, when you did promise, what arrangement was made ?—He said I could go to work for them, and he promised me 2*l.*

6759. I think he promised you more than that ?—Well, it was after that ; after the election some time.

6760. What was the 2*l.* for ?—I was to go to work. He did not exactly say what work I was to do.

6761. He did not tell you what work ?—No.

6762. After he went away, of course you could not do any work ?—No ; I attended all committee meetings.

6763. You voted, and what money was paid you ?—30*s.*

6764. By whom ?—By Mr. William Joyes.

6765. When was that 30*s.* paid you ?—Some time in November.

6766. Had he made you a promise of more than 2*l.* ?—No ; at least I do not know whether it was before or after.

6767. But either before or after did he make you a promise of another 1*l.* ?—He did not exactly make a promise ; he said most likely I should get another.

6768. I suppose you did not ?—No.

6769. Was no larger sum mentioned than 3*l.* altogether ?—No.

6770. How was that ?—I do not know, I am sure.

6771. But you were expecting to hear something mentioned of some other sum besides the 3*l.* ?—No, I did not expect any.

6772. I am not talking about what you were expecting to receive, but you were expecting to be talked to about something more than the 3*l.* ?—No ; I had no idea of it.

6773. Is this your first election ?—Yes.

6774. You did not take part in any other ?—No.

T. Stone.

THOMAS STONE was called, sworn, and examined.

6775. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where do you live ?—Reigate-heath.

6776. What are you ?—A gardener.

6777. A working gardener ? — A gentleman's gardener.

6778. For whom do you work ? — Mr. Thomas Moreland.

6779. Is he a voter ?—Yes.

6780. For whom did he vote ?—Mr. Gower, I believe.

6781. What do you occupy ?—A house.

6782. What rent do you pay ?—The house I live in belongs to my father, and I have the house for keeping it. He lodges and boards with me.

6783. Who pays the rates and taxes ?—I do.

6784. Is it your father's own freehold ?—Yes.

6785. What is the value of the house ; what would it let for ?—6*s.* a week, that is what the other lets for.

6786. How long have you been living with your father in that way ?—About five years.

6787. Are you married ?—Yes.

6788. Have you a family in the house ?—Yes.

6789. Did you vote for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

6790. Who canvassed you for your vote for Mr. Gower ?—Rose.

6791. Alexander Rose, of Nutley-lane ?—Yes.

6792. Did you promise him your vote ?—Yes.

6793. Did he promise you any money that you were to be paid ?—He said if I liked to go on to work for them they would give me 1*l.* per week.

6794. Did he tell you what work you were to do ?—To deliver circulars in the evening.

6795. Did he refer you to the committee ?—I was on the committee.

6796. When you were canvassed by him did he refer you to the committee ?—No.

6797. Did he bring you to the committee ?—No.

6798. Not to Mr. Apted ?—No.

6799. Or any of the persons acting ?—No.

6800. Did you attend the committee ?—Yes, some of them in the town hall.

6801. Did you take out circulars ?—Yes.

6802. How many ?—I cannot say how many.

6803. How many times did you go out with circulars ?—Several times in the evening. I used to call and get them at the committee rooms.

6804. How many times do you think you went out delivering circulars ?—I cannot say.

6805. Did you go out three times ?—I might go out two or three times a week.

6806. How long would it take you to deliver those circulars of an evening ?—It all depends how far I had to take them.

6807. How long were you occupied in taking out those circulars ?—Perhaps an hour of an evening, sometimes more.

6808. What were you to be paid ?—1*l.* a week.

6809. For how many weeks were you to work ?—I was to work five weeks.

6810. He said five weeks ?—Yes, I worked about five weeks.

6811. That would be 5*l.* ?—Yes.

6812. How long before the election were you canvassed ?—About six weeks.

6813. Did you get paid ?—Yes, part of it.

6814. Who paid you ?—I was paid 2*l.* by Buckland.

6815. Did anybody else pay you any money ?—Rose paid me 2*l.* ; that is 4*l.* altogether.

6816. When did Buckland pay you, after the election ?—Buckland paid me about a fortnight before the election.

6817. When did Rose pay you ?—About four months after the election, I think.

6818. Did you ask him for the money ?—No, he brought it to me.

6819. To your own house ?—No, where I worked.

6820. Were you to have anything extra for the polling day ?—I never heard. I was engaged to go with the flys, but I had nothing for it.

6821. Did you see Apted during the time of the election ?—Not to say anything to him.

6822. Or Joyes ?—No.

6823. Or Green ?—No.

6824. Your dealing was with Alexander Rose ?—Yes.

6825. Did you attend meetings, I do not mean the committee meetings, but tavern meetings ?—Only these meetings here, these committee meetings.

6826. In this house?—Yes.

6827. Were you concerned in the election, or take any part in the election of 1863?—No, I was not on the register.

6828. Were you living in the place?—Yes.

6829. But, although you were not on the register, did you take any part in the election?—No, none at all.

ROBERT ROSE FRANCIS called, sworn, and examined.

6830. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you, Mr. Francis?—A tailor.

6831. A master tailor?—No, not particular. I am at the Reformatory School at Redhill.

6832. You are tailor there?—Yes.

6833. What house do you occupy, or what rent do you pay?—Now I occupy a house in the Brighton-road.

6834. But when you voted?—I think I took my vote for Mead-vale.

6835. What rent did you pay there?—It is my own cottage; the rent is about 6*s.* a week.

6836. That is the house for which you voted?—Yes.

6837. Were you engaged all the time at the Reformatory as tailor?—Yes.

6838. During the election and before?—Yes.

6839. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Gower.

6840. Is this the first time you voted?—No.

6841. You had a vote at the former election?—Yes.

6842. In 1863?—Yes.

6843. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

6844. This time, when you voted for Mr. Gower, do you recollect who canvassed you?—I saw Mr. Gower, but I had an arrangement with Mr. Buckland in the first instance.

6845. What were you to receive?—Nothing particular; no stated sum.

6846. But what were you to receive? Were you to receive some money?—Well, I was to be paid for what they called work during the election.

6847. I mean that. Were you to be paid for what they called work?—Yes.

6848. You would not give up your work at the Reformatory?—No; but I had to run about of an evening. That was my arrangement, to do what I could of an evening.

6849. You were to be paid for that?—Yes.

6850. How much a week?—Nothing particular; there was no stated sum.

6851. Were you not to receive 6*l.*?—No; no stated sum.

6852. How much did you receive?—2*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. Buckland.

6853. And from whom else did you receive any money?—Well, I received 1*l.* from Mr. Henry Green.

6854. When did Mr. Buckland pay you?—Somewhere in November, I think.

6855. It was with him you made the arrangement?—Yes.

6856. And when did Mr. Green pay you the 1*l.*?—That was before the election.

6857. How long before the election?—It might be a fortnight perhaps; I could not tell you exactly.

6858. When had you made the arrangement with Mr. Buckland that you were to be paid?—About five weeks before the election.

6859. Was it not 1*l.* a week?—No.

6860. How came he to pay you 2*l.* 10*s.*?—That was after the election in November.

6861. How came he to pay you 2*l.* 10*s.*? Did you give him any account of what had been done?—It was only an arrangement.

6862. What was the arrangement?—I was to do what I could in respect of Mr. Gower's cause.

6863. And vote for him?—No, not particularly vote.

6864. Mr. Francis, you are a tailor at the Reformatory Institution——

(Witness.) I mean to tell you the truth; there is no object in telling you any falsehood.

6865. And you mean to tell me that you were to receive the money irrespective of your vote; do you mean to tell me that?—Irrespective of my vote? Of course they expected me to vote for Mr. Gower; there was no arrangement that I should.

6866. I did not say there was any arrangement that way. They expected you to vote, and you promised to vote?—Not then.

6867. When did you promise to vote for Mr. Gower?—When I saw Mr. Gower.

6868. That was before the arrangement with Mr. Buckland?—Before the arrangement with Mr. Buckland.

6869. Did you tell Mr. Gower that you had arranged with Mr. Buckland that you were to work for him?—No.

6870. You did not tell him then?—No.

6871. What I want to know is, how came you to receive 2*l.* 10*s.* or 3*l.*, or 4*l.*?—That is what Mr. Buckland gave me.

6872. You went for some money to him?—Not particular that; I had some little business with Mr. Buckland.

6873. What business had you with him?—He is agent for the National Freehold Land Society; I had a little business with him in that respect.

6874. Are you a member of the Freehold Land Society?—I am.

6875. And he is the agent?—Yes.

6876. And you went there to see him on business?—Yes.

6877. What did he say? Did he give you the 2*l.* 10*s.*?—Not before I asked him if there was anything likely towards expenses incurred.

6878. What do you mean by "towards expenses"?—Do you think a man can run about without incurring expense?

6879. You had better not ask me what I think, because you told me it was for what they called work?—Yes.

6880. You say you asked Mr. Buckland. Did you say, "I want some money"?—I asked him if there was any chance, and he gave me the 2*l.* towards expenses.

6881. Don't talk of expenses; what expenses were you put to?—As far as regards expenses, you cannot run about of an evening without expense.

6882. What expenses were you put to of an evening?—You cannot run about public houses of an evening without.

6883. Did you not get some beer at the public houses?—Not but what I paid for.

6884. Were you to receive anything more?—The arrangement with Mr. Buckland—what Mr. Buckland paid me was in November. I wish to say the truth.

6885. If you say that again I shall begin to doubt you; if you repeat continually that you are telling the truth, it is always a habit of mine to commence doubting. Now tell me what the arrangement was between you and Mr. Buckland?—The arrangement in the first place with Mr. Buckland?

6886. No; when you came to receive the money?—He asked me what I thought I should be satisfied with. I told him I thought if I was paid 6*l.* it would be sufficient.

6887. That is coming to business. Then you received 2*l.* as an instalment?—I did.

6888. That was 5*l.* in addition to the 1*l.* you had already received. When were you to receive the 3*l.* 10*s.*?—There was no particular time stated.

6889. Did he tell you when it would be likely?—There was no particular time stated.

FIFTH DAY.

R. R. Francis.

27 Aug. 1866.

6890. But did he not tell you after the petition was over?—After the petition?

6891. Yes?—No, no; he didn't.

6892. Recollect yourself. You knew at that time that the petition was going on?—Of course I did.

6893. And he told you after the petition was over?—He told me there might be a settling time some time or other.

6894. Just so; after the petition was over?—I do not know; he might have said so.

6895. You asked for 6*l.*, and he gave you 2*l.* 10*s.*, saying, there might be a settling time for the remainder?—He might have said that; I cannot say.

6896. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

6897. For Mr. Wilkinson?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

6898. Was employment as plentiful in 1863 as in 1865; work, I mean?—Well, it was similar, attending the meetings; similar to what it was in 1865.

6899. I suppose you were engaged to work then?—Yes.

6900. The same work?—The same work.

6901. What were you paid?—I had 2*l.*

6902. For how many weeks' work?—I do not know how many weeks it was; it might be three or four weeks. I almost forget how long it was. I objected to have anything much to do with it.

6903. Then what did you receive the 2*l.* for?—Just merely attending the committees, and such as that.

6904. Who paid you the 2*l.*?—Mr. Rose.

6905. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Which Rose?—Mr. Rose of Mead-vale.

6906. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Mr. Alexander Rose?—I suppose it was.

6907. When did he pay you the 2*l.*?—I think it was two or three nights after the election, I cannot say how soon.

6908. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it not Mr. Ephraim Rose?—Yes, it was.

6909. Were there many men there when he paid you?—No; there was only myself in the room.

6910. That may be; but did you see some men about?—I saw some about.

6911. Going to receive money of him?—I do not know; they came out of the house.

6912. Who told you to go and get the money?—I did not know it until the evening. I was out taking a walk in the evening, and I saw other people going there, and I asked them why.

6913. A good many of the people of that happy valley went there to receive their money?—I am sure I do not know. I did not take much notice myself: I was very well satisfied with what I got.

6914. You were well satisfied with the 2*l.*?—Yes.

6915. How came you to go to Mr. Buckland upon a particular occasion last time? Why did you not go before November?—I did not think about going at all. I was in Reigate on business, and I happened to go into Mr. Buckland's.

6916. A mere accidental thing?—Yes.

6917. Do you know of any other election; does your memory go back to any other election?—No; I had no vote. I have been in the school several years and have had no vote.

6918. Were you ever employed at any other election?—No, not at any other election.

6919. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you canvassed by the Monson party at all?—I cannot say I was not canvassed; yet it was not a canvass.

6920. Was anything said about your being employed on that side?—No, nothing particular.

6921. Anything that was not particular?—I had promised my vote for Mr. Gower; they knew I was pretty staunch, and they did not trouble me. Mr. Monson never came near me.

6922. Did you see any money passing on the Monson side?—No; I never saw any money passing.

6923. Did you hear of any?—We all heard of it in the neighbourhood.

6924. Were you offered any yourself?—Well, I was. It's no use!—Gentlemen, now I've one thing to say to you. It is really a difficult thing for me to go against——it's a nephew of mine. I really did not like to say anything against him.

6925. (The Chief Commissioner.) We don't want you to say anything but the truth?—That's it. I came here to speak the truth.

6926. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) First of all, tell me your nephew's name?—Henry Francis.

6927. Is he a voter?—I believe he is.

6928. Whom did he vote for?—I think for Mr. Monson. I believe he voted for Mr. Monson. He proposed Mr. Richardson, I know.

6929. (The Chief Commissioner.) That is a non sequitur?—I don't know whether he was allowed to vote for Mr. Monson. I know he proposed Mr. Richardson.

6930. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What do you mean by not being allowed to vote?—I do not know whether a man might vote who proposed another candidate.

6931. Never mind about that. Now tell us what took place wiih Henry Francis, your nephew?—He came over to me; he told me Mr. Monson's head committee sent him to me, and they wished me to go on their side.

6932. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He was acting for Mr. Monson?—He was one of their agents.

6933. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he offer you work on that side?—Not at all.

6934. Did he offer you money?—Yes.

6935. What?—10*l.*

6936. As coming from the head committee?—So he told me.

6937. Where did that head committee sit?—At the "White Hart," I believe.

6938. And at the "Grapes" too?—I do not know.

6939. Is your nephew in the town?—I do not know.

6940. Do you know where he is?—His residence is at Reigate-heath.

6941. Does he work at any particular business?—He is a stonemason.

6942. Is there any difficulty in finding him?—I do not think there is. I do not know; I do not have much to do with him.

6943. Does he work on his own account, or for somebody?—On his own account; he has got a business there; he has got a yard there.

6944. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You knew he had been working for Mr. Monson?—Oh, yes.

6945. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you already promised to the Gower party?—I had promised Mr. Gower.

6946. Did you tell your nephew you had promised Mr. Gower before he offered you the 10*l.*?—Yes, I told him I had promised Mr. Gower, and it was no use coming to offer me any money.

6947. Did you tell him that you were going to work for Mr. Gower?—I did not tell him anything of the sort.

6948. Then he told you what his message was from the head committee of Mr. Monson?—Yes.

6949. Were you concerned in the former election?—Only for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863.

6950. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It was then you received the 2*l.*?—Yes.

6951. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was when Mr. Gower was a candidate. Were you offered anything on that occasion on the part of Mr. Gower?—No. Mr. Gower came to see me, and I told him I had promised to vote for Mr. Wilkinson.

6952. Were you offered anything on the part of Mr. Gower by any of his supporters?—No, not at all.

6953. I mean in the same way that this nephew offered you 10*l.*?—No.

THOMAS WILKINS was called, sworn, and examined.

6954. (The Chief Commissioner.) Wilkins, when were you summoned to come here?—I never was until half an hour, it may be an hour ago. You have called me up, I believe, before.

6955. At the last election whom did you vote for?—I did my best for Mr. Wilkinson as well as I could. I had no vote.

6956. For whom did you vote?—I never had a vote till the last election, not until this last election. I voted for Mr. Gower at this last election.

6957. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do not talk more than necessary. Be so good as to answer my questions.

(Witness.) I beg your pardon if I have done wrong.

6958. Also be kind enough to attend to the questions. Now, whom did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

6959. Who asked you to vote for him first of all? Mr. Gower came to see me before I had seen anybody else; I had not seen anybody else but Mr. Gower.

6960. Who else came to ask you besides Mr. Gower?—Nobody.

6961. Nobody asked you?—I was working on the place for Mr. Carruthers, and when Mr. Gower came to me he said, "I hope, Wilkins, you'll do as much "for me this time as you were against me last time." I said, "Certainly, I will."

6962. Did you promise Mr. Gower then?—I did, sir, and in his own name. I never saw any man before.

6963. After that did you see some people who came from him belonging to him?—Not that I know of.

6964. Do you know Mr. Smith?—Oh, I don't take any notice of him.

6965. Do you know Mr. Smith?—Yes, I know him very well.

6966. Do you know Mr. Frederick Joyes?—I know him quite well.

6967. Did you see them about your vote?—Yes.

6968. Did they come to you about it?—I have seen a great many about it.

6969. But did these two, Mr. Smith and Mr. Joyes, come to you about it?—No; they never came on my job, not where I was. Of course I met them on my way. Mr. Gower did come, they didn't.

6970. I am afraid you and I shall fall out if you are not more cautious?—I hope not; I'll give into you anyhow.

6971. Just consider my question?—I hope I will.

6972. Did Mr. Smith and Mr. Joyes, or either of them, come to you about your vote?—They didn't.

6973. Very well. Do you know Mr. Durrant?—I do.

6974. Mr. David Durrant?—I do.

6975. Did you see him on the subject of your vote?—I did.

6976. What did he say to you about it?—I can't say that he said a great deal about it. He was not the first man that came to me after I promised my vote to Mr. Gower, and I never meant to return any man except Mr. Gower.

6977. What did Mr. Durrant come and say to you about it?—Mr. Durrant never said anything. There was another man or two that came to me before Mr. Durrant did.

6978. Who came?—A man of the name of Chitty.

6979. Is that Thomas Chitty?—Thomas Chitty.

6980. What did he come about?—He came to me and he said, "How are you going on?" I said, "I "have promised Mr. Gower, and I shall not turn "from him." He says, "It's like this; you can have "so and so if you like to stand to us."

6981. To whom?—To Mr. Gower. I says, "it's "like this; I have promised Mr. Gower; I shall not "turn back from him." I says, "I don't want no-"body to come to me particular for that." He says, "Will you mind going up and see Durrant and make "a bargain with him." I said, "No, I know Mr. "Durrant very well; if we can't bargain when we "get together, we shall never bargain without it."

6982. Then, I suppose, you went up to Mr. Durrant?—I didn't. I never did till I saw him.

6983. When you saw him did you have the bargain?—Not particular, I didn't.

6984. But, generally, had you an agreement with Durrant?—I'll tell you what agreement I had with him. I said, "Chitty came to me, Mr. Durrant, on "such a day." I says, "I didn't want him to come, "because I promised Mr. Gower in my work." I never see any man before Mr. Gower, and I promised he should have it. Mr. Gower was the man who came to me and said, "Wilkins, I hope you'll be as "much for me this time as you were against me last "time." I says, "I will, just the same for you this "time as I was against you before." He said, "I "hope you will, Wilkins." After this I met Durrant. I said, "Mr. Durrant, as the man appoints "that everybody is to have so much, I suppose I am "to have the same." "Certainly, Wilkins," he says, "you shall have just the same." Gentlemen, there's no harm in speaking the truth.

6985. (The Chief Commissioner.) Certainly not, that is all that we want.

(Witness.) He says, "Well, Wilkins, as to your "interest, it is quite right. Whatever," he says, "is "right, of course you shall not lose by that." He says, "You are all customers of mine." I'm not going to tell any falsehood. I left my work rough and ready to-day to come and see you, gentlemen.

6986. Was anything more said about you and Durrant? Just finish up that?—Oh, no; I can't finish up any further.

6987. That is about all that you said?—Yes, that is right.

6988. Do you know what was going for the other men?—No, I do not.

6989. Had you not got any sum in your mind?—No, not anything then. I speak for myself; I can't for no other.

6990. I suppose you did not tell anybody to put you on the committee?—I never told any one. They asked me if I would like to go on the committee. I said, "Yes, if you like." But, in fact, not exactly; I had no work to go to. I could have gone to work, but I left my work to go on the committee, thinking to get a nice little prize, but I got a blank.

6991. Tell me, what money did you get?—I never got anything; I never had a penny piece, I take my oath, all through the election. What I worked for I got "slooked" out of. I never got a penny piece. I hope you won't make me lose my time for coming here.

6992. If you did not get any money, I suppose there was a good deal of beer going?—I do not know how that was.

6993. Let us see what houses were there that you were free to go into. There was the "Barley Mow"?—That was one.

6994. Do you know William Groom's house?—I know that very well.

6995. That was another house where you could get refreshment when you wanted it?—That was a house where one night, I believe, they were allowed to go there.

6996. That was the night before the polling day?—That's right.

6997. Who was in there that night? who did you notice in there that night? Be kind enough to tell me?—How can I tell you, when I was ordered out that night?

6998. That is quite right, you were ordered out; I mean before you were ordered out?—I do not know who was there that night.

6999. Do you recollect Alfred Balchin?—I believe he attended there that night.

FIFTH DAY.

T. Wilkins.

27 Aug. 1866.

7000. Was Goddard there?—He was to have been there, but whether he was or not I do not know.

7001. How do you know he was to be there?—Because I know they was all in one; they were "mashed up in one bait."

7002. Do you know whether Truelove was there? I do not know.

7003. Do you know whether Warren was there?—I know he was.

7004. Do you know they were kept there some time?—I know they was a good while.

7005. How was that? Do you recollect what happened about that? I dare say you will be able to tell me what happened. It was rather good fun that night?—Yes, it was rather.

7006. Do you recollect some men being kept there all night?—I do; I was out all that night. I was at work that night.

7007. How did they manage to keep them there, can you tell me?—I do not know; they were kept there.

7008. Who was keeping guard, and taking care of them all night?—There were men in the house; of course they would take care of them.

7009. How did they manage to prevent their going away?—I do not know.

7010. Was there not some story about somebody's shoes being taken away altogether?—I believe they were put on one side.

7011. Were those the shoes belonging to those men whose names I have mentioned?—I know it was.

7012. Whose doing was that?—I do not know; I could not tell you that when I was out on duty.

7013. You had something to do with the election of 1863?—No, none at all, until this last.

7014. I thought you had?—Not the least. I was for Mr. Wilkinson. God bless his old heart. I shook hands with him when I saw him.

7015. I thought you told us that Mr. Gower expressed to you a hope that you would be as much for him as you had been against him?—Yes; but I had no vote in '63. I worked for Mr. Wilkinson, and I took a great deal more interest in the question than those who did vote.

7016. Would there be the same sort of thing in that election as in this last?—That is quite right. I did help Mr. Wilkinson all I could, and I could not help him enough.

7017. Was money free at that election?—It never helped me to a penny, I take my oath.

7018. What never did?—That election. I never received a penny. I did my greatest for Mr. Wilkinson.

W. Church.

WILLIAM CHURCH was called, sworn, and examined.

7019. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are a voter of this borough?—Yes.

7020. What is your qualification?—I have got the lease of a house and cottages; pay 30*l.* a year for it.

7021. What do you pay for the house you occupy?—The value of it runs about 15*l.* a year; it is rated at 10*l.*

7022. It is a 10*l.* occupation. What are you?—Well, I keep a little grocer's shop, and occasionally go to work while my wife attends to the shop.

7023. Who canvassed you at the election?—Mr. Gower and Mr. James Smith.

7024. Were you canvassed by the Monson party?—I was.

7025. Who canvassed you on the Monson party?—Mr. Monson and Mr. James Nicholls.

7026. Was that after you had been canvassed by Mr. Gower?—After.

7027. Did you promise Mr. Gower on the first visit?—Well, I have been thinking. I would not wish to take my oath, and tell an untruth, without my memory would allow. I cannot fully say whether I said downright to Mr. Gower that I would give him my promise, but I believe I did. He came to me in this way: Mr. Smith introduced Mr. Gower to me, and said, "This is Mr. Gower." And when Mr. Gower came he said, "We want you to be on our "committee." After a little consideration I said, "Most likely, if I vote for anybody I shall vote for "you." I believe that was the true statement that I gave to Mr. Gower.

7028. Was that all that took place between you and Mr. Gower?—It was.

7029. Did you have any conversation with Mr. Smith on that occasion?—No more.

7030. Did you have any conversation with Mr. Smith afterwards about your vote?—Not at all.

7031. Did Mr. Smith promise you any money?—Not at all.

7032. Never?—Never.

7033. Were you to do any work?—I made an engagement with Mr. Job Apted and Mr. Buckland for work.

7034. What work were you to do?—They gave me to understand I had been a pretty good canvasser for Mr. Wilkinson. Hollies-row is on the Foreign, towards Reigate, and on Mr. Wilkinson's election I had taken in 18 members out of 19. I had worked very hard for him.

7035. You had taken 18 members out of 19 from that district?—From that district. As I came one day on business I met Job Apted. He said, "We "must have you to work for us." I went into his house. I said, "Well, here's a long while to work." He offered me one paltry 5*l.* for neglecting my shop, and for working seven weeks in the election. I said, "If I work for the election all the election through, "I shall want 10*l.*;" and I tell you, gentlemen, I ought to have had 20*l.*

7036. Did you work?—I did.

7037. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) We only want to know what you told Apted?—Apted said, "I can't "do anything myself; we will go up to Mr. Buck-"land." He took me up to Mr. Buckland's house, and he stated to Mr. Buckland that Church wanted 10*l.* "Well," he said, "we must have him;" and he agreed in Buckland's house to give me 10*l.* for the full election.

7038. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you see Mr. Smith? Were you taken to Mr. Smith?—No.

7039. Did you never see Mr. Smith at all with reference to the 10*l.*?—After I had made the engagement with Mr. Apted and Mr. Buckland, Apted and me had a tumble out.

7040. What was that about?—That was about some little difference. We could not hit matters, and when men fall out, of course we are not obliged to tell our secrets of what we fell out about.

7041. Was it about the election?—It was.

7042. Then you will tell me, if you please?—This was it. I am come here to speak the truth. I had been working, I believe, between two and three weeks. I do not keep any memorandum of elections at home, and what my memory will allow I will speak. Between a fortnight and three weeks I had been at work, I had been travelling, and had been showing my influence; and driving my pony when my legs would not allow. I came over one day, and Job Apted said, "I know "what you have come over for, but you are mis-"taken." He said, "You have come over for money." Of course I ought to have had some in that time. If I work I expect to have money. He said, "You may "as well send in your bill and have some." I said, "In what shape must I make my bill out?" He told me for travelling expenses and work, which was all proper. The next morning, according to his orders, I brought my bill; he flew in my face, and said there was no money on the election. I told him, I supposed he could do without me, and if he could do without me I could do without him. And from that instant I went to Mr. Smith, and Mr. Smith said, "I'll pay you

" for what you have done ;" and after that I was under Mr. Smith's training, and all I received I received from Mr. Smith.

7043. Mr. Charles Smith ?—The head agent.

7044. You have cut that interview with Mr. Smith very short. Tell us what took place between you and Mr. Smith ?—I told Mr. Smith I had engaged with Apted for so-and-so, and how things——

7045. You did not say for so-and-so ; did you not say for 10*l.*?—Yes, yes ; when I said so-and-so I meant what I have told you. I said we had engaged for 10*l.* ; and Mr. Smith said, " Well, for what you have done " I will pay you."

7046. Did Mr. Smith pay you then ?—He gave me a cheque.

7047. For how much ?—For 3*l.* I went into the bank and changed the cheque.

7048. Go on. What took place with Mr. Smith after you got the cheque ?—After I got the cheque I gave my vote for Mr. Gower.

7049. But you had some arrangement with Mr. Smith as to what you were to do ?—No other arrangement took place whatever.

7050. What were you to be paid after you received 3*l.*?— Of course, according to the agreement with Apted, and that depending on Mr. Smith ; there was the further pay that I had engaged for.

7051. Did you receive any more money ?—Yes.

7052. From whom ?— I laboured about another fortnight.

7053. I want to know what money you received ?—The next money I received ? I received 2*l.* from Mr. James Smith.

7054. When was that ?—I cannot tell you the day.

7055. Was it before the election ?—Yes ; I worked seven weeks for them.

7056. The same Mr. Smith ?—The same Mr. Smith ; the head agent.

7057. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that a cheque or in money ?—In money that was.

7058. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you receive any other money from Mr. Smith ?—After the election.

7059. How long after ?—I cannot tell.

7060. Was it weeks or months ?—It was several weeks ; I cannot tell.

7061. What did you then receive from Mr. Smith ?—Mr. Smith then sent me a cheque for 2*l.* 10*s.* to my own house.

7062. You got then 7*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes.

7063. Was that all you got out of the 10*l.* ?—Every farthing.

7064. Have you applied for the balance ?—No.

7065. Why not ?—Because I thought it was throwing trouble away, and I thought I should have no more ; so I gave the job up.

7066. Now tell me what was the work you did ?—The work that I did ! Well, you see a canvasser does not merely run here and there, and say to one " you " vote for Gower " and " you vote for Gower." It is a man showing his influence, going about among the people, and speaking of the good qualities of the candidates ; it does as much good as asking a man to vote.

7067. Will you give us a specimen of your canvassing ; assuming I am a voter, just canvass me for Mr. Gower. Give me what you term some of the good qualities of Mr. Gower ?—I should suppose, if your name was James Watts, I should come and say, " James Watts, what do you think of Mr. Gower ? " what do you think of Mr. Monson ?" Well, I might say, " I think Mr. Gower is the man to send " in," and by so doing I should represent some of his good qualities, and that might make an influence upon that man's mind.

7068. Just give me one good quality that you said ?—If I cannot I am mistaken in my views ; but I believe he is a gentleman to the backbone.

7069. Did you simply say he was a gentleman to the backbone ?—Here's the thing that I relied on ; I relied on this, that there were many in Reigate-town who, when Mr. Gower went into the House expected that he would turn out to be a turnshift and turn a Tory ; but Mr. Gower stood his ground, and I like him all the better.

7070. Amongst all those good qualities of Mr. Gower, did you ever tell any of the voters that you canvassed that they might have work if they liked ?—Never ; I never was empowered to do it.

7071. Did you take them to Job Apted ; no, you would not as he and you were enemies ; did you bring them up to the committee ?—No, I did not.

7072. You began five weeks before the election ?—Seven, almost within a day.

7073. Can you give me one or two names that you canvassed ?—I can one in particular, but I really do not like to bring up a dead man.

7074. Perhaps you can give me some gentleman who is alive and not dead that you canvassed ?—I suppose I could those that I talked to, but as I told you before it is so long ago, and I am not so young as I was, and my memory is bad.

7075. What time of the day was it that you canvassed ?—I do not know whether it was morning or night ; I never kept a memorandum of the election.

7076. In your business have you a horse and cart ?—With regard to having a horse and cart, I keep a pony to fetch my goods from the station.

7077. Do you go out to deliver your goods that people come to your shop and buy ?—My shop is not fine enough and large enough for out-of-door business.

7078. Does your wife attend to your shop as much as you ?—As much as she can ; she keeps all the books and attends as much as she can.

7079. Have you got some grown-up children ?—I have got some sons.

7080. What is the age of the eldest ?—I suppose 26.

7081. Is he at home ?—No.

7082. Have you any of your family that you keep at home ?—Only a little girl of 12 years old who assists her mother.

7083. When do you shut up shop ?—We in the country shut up sometimes at 10, sometimes at 11.

7084. Then, in fact, you did go out canvassing when your shop was open ?—Of course I did.

7085. And left your wife to attend to the business ? Yes, that is it.

7086. Can you give me some idea how much of your time you were occupied on the canvass ?—Well, too much for my business, and more than I will ever do again.

7087. Did you attend public meetings ?—I did.

7088. Were you at the public meeting at the chapel ?—I was.

7089. A chapel in the Foreign. What chapel was that ?—I understand it is a place ; it is only an understood thing with me that Mr. Smith built it, and the Independents have it for public service, and for lectures and business, and anything of that kind ; I can't say more.

7090. It is called a chapel, but it is for general purposes ?—I expect so.

7091. I don't know whether you are a person who goes out preaching ?—Yes.

7092. Did you ever preach in that chapel ?—No ; I gave an address that night.

7093. What night was that ?—I cannot say.

7094. It was not long before the election, was it ?—I think it was two or three weeks.

7095. Was Buckland there ?—I cannot say.

7096. Do you know Buckland ?—I know Buckland, but I can't recollect seeing him.

7097. Were you one of those who retired to the " Barley Mow " afterwards ?—No. Which do you call the " Barley Mow " ?

7098. Near the chapel ?—I can clear myself of that ; I can bring witnesses to prove it.

7099. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were known to be a man of very great experience at former elections, such as '58 and '59 ?—Yes.

FIFTH DAY.

W. Church.

27 Aug. 1866.

7100. By your work and speaking ?—Yes.

7101. For Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

7102. Had you been engaged in the former election for Mr. Wilkinson ?—I had.

7103. And as a worker ?—I had.

7104. What did he value your services at ?—At 5*s.* a day.

7105. How long were you on ?—For five weeks.

7106. As messenger ?—No, I was placed on the committee.

7107. How much did you receive, 20*l.* ?—No, taking the average of so many weeks I think it would be 12*l.*

7108. Was it not more ?—12*l.* or 13*l.* I think.

7109. Twelve pounds and a penny ?—No I could not say to a penny.

7110. On Mr. Wilkinson's committee ?—Yes, and paid every week.

7111. Better pay than since ?—We had it every week and made sure of it.

7112. You seem to be a man well versed and experienced in elections ; had you been at the election of '59 ?—That was before Mr. Wilkinson.

7113. Yes ?—No, I had not come to Redhill then, I was not at Redhill, I had not taken my house then.

7114. You had not taken your stand then ?—No, I had not ; it is only two elections I know anything about.

7115. I suppose when you spoke at the chapel you spoke against bribery and corruption and such things ?—I will tell you my speech ; I said "I hope "you men will stand together and send in Mr. Gower "honourable and like a gentleman."

7116. (The Chief Commissioner.) Mr. Smith the last election handed you a cheque for 3*l.* ?—The first I received.

7117. What bank was it drawn upon ?—I changed it on the Reigate bank.

7118. Can you tell me whether it was drawn on the Reigate bank ?—No, I received it on the bank, and I went and changed it on the Reigate bank.

7119. Do you know who signed it ?—No.

7120. Do you know on what bank it was payable ?—No.

7121. You cannot tell ?—I cannot.

7122. The last payment he made and sent you was a cheque of 2*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes.

7123. What bank was that on ?—I do not know.

7124. Where did you get it changed ?—That I do not know, I did get it changed, but my memory will not allow me to say where.

7125. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say you never went to these houses of refreshment ?—I never went there ; I know my legs worked.

7126. Never mind your legs ; do you know Tyrrell ?—Yes, he is a grandnephew of mine.

7127. Were you not frequently there ?—On this last election they spoiled my party ; they came and robbed me of my votes.

7128. I commenced by asking you whether the Monson party canvassed you ?—They did.

7129. Mr. Nicholls ?—Yes.

7130. Did you receive from Mr. Nicholls or the Monson party any money ?—None, sir.

7131. Did they ask you to do any work ?—No, they let me alone ; I will tell you a little bit of a secret. They had a meeting at Tyrrell's, and I attacked Mr. Monson on his political principles, and I do not think they have ever liked me since.

7132. You are the first man we have had in the box who has talked on political principles ; how did you attack Mr. Monson on his political principles ?—I asked him if he went into the House what principles he would vote for.

7133. Was there any difference between Mr. Gower and Mr. Monson as to their political principles ?—I cannot tell what was in their minds.

7134. You put your faith in Mr. Gower ?—I did ; the reason is, because I am of the Liberal party, and I will stick to them.

7135. Was that the only meeting you attended ?—It was, and then it was only to see Mr. Monson ; there were two or three at me at the time, and I stated my views of everything.

7136. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You had the best of it ?—I do not know, but I stated my views on everything, it was near my own door.

7137. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose you are more accustomed to public speaking than he is ?—No ; I am a poor scholar.

7138. Was there any drinking going on ?—Very likely.

7139. Did you see any ?—Not while I was at Mr. Monson's ; and I left the place when they did.

7140. Was that the secret you wanted to mention ?—I do not know that I wanted to mention any secret.

7141. That was the secret ?—Yes.

7142. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you mean when you said the Monson party came round and robbed you of your votes ?—The last time at Mr. Wilkinson's election I catched them all, and then the Monson party came round and catched them before me.

7143. Do you know how they were caught ?—No, I am not in their secrets ; I have enough to do to mind my own business.

7144. You did not know whether they were bought over ?—That was not my business.

The witness then withdrew.

J. Smith.

JAMES SMITH sworn and examined.

7145. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Are you a voter ?—Yes.

7146. What rent do you pay ?—None at all.

7147. How is that ?—I am a freeholder.

7148. What is the value of your house ?—In the way of building ?

7149. No, by the year ?—To rent it ?

7150. Yes ?—25*l.* a year.

7151. And you live in it yourself ?—Yes.

7152. You live in a house valued at 25*l.* a year of your own ?—Yes.

7153. What are you ?—A bricklayer.

7154. A master bricklayer ? I suppose you employ men ?—I have lately.

7155. For whom did you vote at the last election ?—Mr. Monson.

7156. Was that the first time you voted ?—No, the time before.

7157. For whom had you voted ?—Mr. Gower.

7158. You voted for Mr. Gower in '63 ?—Yes.

7159. And for Mr. Monson in '65 ?—Yes.

7160. That is so, is it ?—Yes.

7161. Do you know John Mulles ?—No.

7162. Is that your handwriting ? I see you write a very good hand if it is, I wish I could write as well ?—I wish I could.

(A voice in court.) There is another John Smith.

7163. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That is not your handwriting ?—No ; but now I am here I should wish to say all I know.

7164. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Yes, what have you got to say ?—Well, I have nothing to say ; but whatever you ask me I will answer.

7165. I thought you had something to say ?—Ask me whatever questions you think proper, and I will answer.

7166. You voted for Mr. Gower in '63, and for Mr. Monson in '65, how was that, had you changed your opinion of the men ?—I had.

7167. Who canvassed you on behalf of Mr. Monson ?—Not any one.

7168. Nobody canvassed you ?—No.

7169. How came you to change your opinions?—Because I thought he was the best man.

7170. You thought he was the best man?—Certainly I did.

7171. Did you attend any of his committees?—No.

7172. Did you canvass on behalf of him?—No.

7173. Who canvassed you on behalf of Mr. Monson?—Nobody. I believe Mr. Monson called at my house, but I was not at home. I saw Mr. Monson one day in the road, and Mr. Nicholls was with him.

7174. You know James Nicholls?—I know him by sight.

7175. He was with you on that occasion?—No.

7176. You told me he was?—No, he was with Mr. Monson; he was passing, and Mr. Monson introduced me.

7177. And asked you for your vote?—Yes.

7178. That is what I call canvassing?—I do not know whether he did canvass me; he said, "This is "Mr. Monson."

7179. Did they ask you for your vote?—I do not not think they did at that time.

7180. Do you mean to say you were never canvassed?—No, I never was canvassed.

7181. Nobody ever asked you for your vote?—No.

7182. Not Mr. Monson?—No.

7183. Nor Mr. Nicholls?—No.

7184. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Nor anybody else?—No.

7185. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were not engaged by anybody?—No, I was not engaged.

7186. Where do you live?—Wray-park, Holmsdale-road.

7187. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you to do any work for them?—No.

7188. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You never did any work?—No.

7189. And never received any money?—No.

7190. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did any one ever offer you any money?—No.

7191. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did any body ask you to do anything for Mr. Monson?—No.

7192. And you know nothing at all?—No.

7193. How came they to know you were likely to vote for Mr. Monson?—I do not know that they did; it was some weeks or months before the election.

7194. Did the Gower party canvass you?—No; I will tell you. I saw Mr. Smith, Mr. Gower I saw; he came and asked me for my vote, and I said, "No, I "have not promised." He said, "You had better "promise," and I said, "No."

7195. What were you doing with Mr. Smith?—I had some business with him.

7196. In reference to the election?—No, sir.

7197. What was it?—Private business.

7198. He canvassed you, and you said you had not made up your mind?—I had not made up my mind.

7199. When did you make up your mind?—Not till the day of election.

7200. What time did you vote?—I forget; but I think it was in the afternoon.

7201. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What time in the afternoon?—I think it was between 1 and 3 o'clock.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You knew it was of no use voting for Mr. Monson?

7202. The election was lost at this time, as I understand?—I do not understand you; it was not that I know of.

7203. You had voted for Mr. Gower at the previous election?—Yes.

7204. Had you voted before that?—No.

7205. Were you disappointed with his conduct?—I do not understand you.

7206. Were you not disappointed with his conduct or principles when you voted against him this last time?—No.

7207. You turned against him?—No.

7208. Were you not engaged at the former election?—At the former I was.

7209. You were engaged?—I was engaged as a messenger; I had a bad finger at the time.

7210. What were you to be engaged for at the former election?—Nothing was mentioned.

7211. You expected to be paid?—Nothing was mentioned.

7212. How much did you hear was to be paid?—I do not know.

7213. How much did you hear was to be paid?—I did not hear.

7214. Did you not hear from anybody?—No.

7215. How much did you expect?—I did not expect to be paid less than I worked for.

7216. How much did you expect to receive as messenger when you worked for Mr. Gower at the former election?—5*s.* 6*d.* a day.

7217. Who engaged you to work as messenger at 5*s.* 6*d.* a day at the last election?—Mr. Buckland.

7218. And how many weeks had you been engaged?—Five weeks.

7219. That would be 33*s.* a week; how much did you receive?—I got three guineas or 3*l.* 10*s.*

7220. You were disappointed at receiving that amount?—I expected more; I was disappointed in this way; I thought it was very poor pay.

7221. You were disappointed in the amount?—Yes.

7222. I told you we should get at it; you expected 8*l.* 5*s.*, at 5*s.* 6*d.* a day for five weeks, and got three guineas or 3*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

7223. Did you apply for more?—No.

7224. Who paid you the 3*l.* 10*s.*?—Mr. Smith.

7225. After the election?—Yes.

7226. Do you mean Mr. Smith the solicitor or agent?—Yes.

7227. Now before the election of 1865 did you not make an application for the back money?—For this last election.

7228. Yes?—No.

7229. For the back money of 1863?—No.

7230. Did you not tell Mr. Smith you were engaged in 1863, that you had not been paid the full amount, and would require to be paid the back money?—No.

7231. Was not that the private business you were engaged on with Mr. Smith?—No.

7232. Did you apply to Mr. Buckland?—No.

7233. Was it a secret matter the business you were engaged on with Mr. Smith?—Yes.

7234. Relative to your own private business?—Yes.

7235. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you a client of Mr. Smith's?—If I require any business to be done I apply to Mr. Smith.

7236. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you consult him on that occasion?—No.

7237. Was it matter connected with the election?—No, it had nothing to do with the election at all.

7238. It was not relative to the money due to you at the last election?—No.

7239. Did you not tell him you would not vote unless you were paid?—No, I did not.

7240. And they only canvassed you in that casual way?—No.

7241. And they knew you were disappointed?—That I cannot say.

7242. Did they not know you were disappointed?—That I cannot say.

7243. Did you not mention it?—No.

7244. If you were engaged for five weeks to work at 33*s.* a week, why should you be content with 3*l.* 10*s.*?—I was obliged to be.

7245. Why?—They gave me a cheque for 3*l.* 10*s.*

7246. Well, but why should you have been content with that?—It is of no use saying why.

7247. You have a shop?—No.

7248. Have you not?—Yes, if it is a shop; a beer shop.

7249. If people have beer you expect to be paid?—I lose a good deal.

7250. Well, but you expect to be paid, and seek to be paid?—Certainly.

FIFTH DAY.
J. Smith.
27 Aug. 1866.

7251. If Mr. Buckland engaged you to work for five weeks at 33*s.* a week, why did you not expect to be paid; was your work worth that or not?—I could not tell.

7252. Not whether it was worth 3*l.* 10*s.* or 8*l.*?—Well, my time would be exhausted in looking after it.

7253. Well, you never sought after the balance?—No.

7254. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me this, what were your political principles in '65; did you ever say anything about them?—No, I never said anything about my political principles.

7255. Just tell me what your political principles are, for I should like to know if you have any?—I do not think that I have any; they are very slight if I have, very slight indeed.

7256. I wish you to tell me one thing more if you can: are Mr. Gower's politics and Mr. Monson's at all different, the one from the other?—I suppose they are both Liberals.

7257. As far as you know, they both have the same politics?—I really cannot say.

7258. You really cannot say whether there was any difference between them as to politics?—I cannot.

7259. I would not wish to take the answer unless you assent to it. As far as you know, is there any difference between them in politics?—I cannot say, it is very little conversation I have had with them.

7260. In spite of all that you voted first for the one, and then for the other?—Yes.

7261. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) In 1863 you were a messenger?—Yes.

7262. Whilst you were a messenger had you promised to vote for him?—No.

7263. Did you promise before the day of polling?—No.

7264. What time in the day did you poll in 1863: in the afternoon I suppose?—I really cannot say, but I rather think it was before 12 o'clock.

7265. Were you canvassed by a gentleman you see here, Mr. Burt, in 1863?—I met him in the street.

7266. About two or three days before the election?—No.

7267. Close before the election?—It might have been the day.

7268. It might have been a day or two before?—I do not know.

7269. Tell me, and consider before you answer the question I put, did you not tell Mr. Burt you did not care who you voted for, but intended to go for the man who gave you the biggest shilling?—Not that I remember.

7270. Try and recollect, consider for a moment, and then answer me?—I probably might have said this, that I always would vote for the biggest shilling, and that is generally my answer to everything that is in the way of work.

7271. When you come to apply that to an election how do you put it, that you are going to vote for the man who gives you the biggest shilling?—No.

7272. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Perhaps I may be able to prove it.

(The Witness.) I dare say I can face it.

7273. Now, having considered for a moment can you give me a distinct answer to that question?—Not further than what I have given.

7274. Why did you not promise the Gower party when you were acting for them as a messenger?—I was to work for Mr. Buckland. I had a bad finger at the time, and could not work in my usual way, but I used to go round and see how the work was progressing, and Mr. Buckland said, "You cannot work "in your usual business, and therefore you had better "come on our committee."

7275. And for that you expected to be paid?—I expected to be paid.

7276. You did work some portion of the time?—Certainly I did.

7277. Working for them as messenger, why did you not promise them your vote?—Oh no, I did not think that was necessary.

7278. Why?—Why should I promise them my vote when working for them.

7279. Was not this the reason, that you might get your money while working as a messenger for Mr. Gower, and leave yourself open to get some money on the other side to vote for them?—No, I never thought anything of it.

7280. Did Mr. Buckland speak to you about voting?—He did not say more than I have said to you.

7281. Mr. Buckland, an active agent of the party, did not ask you for a vote when he paid you as messenger?—He said, "You had better let me put you "down as a messenger, and come on our com-"mittee."

7282. Do you mean to say a man who is advertised as a committee man does not pledge himself to vote?—I do not think so.

7283. In what way do you consider a voter is bound to vote?—Voluntarily, without any pay at all.

7284. And without any promise?—Certainly.

7285. In '65 you voted in the afternoon?—Yes.

7286. And kept yourself open to the last?—Yes.

7287. Do you mean to say no person came and looked you up to go and vote?—No.

7288. Or sought you out to go and vote?—No.

7289. Not a single sound?—It might have been spoken in my room, as there are as many as 40, or 50, or a 100 a day.

7290. Were you keeping the beer house at that time?—Yes.

7291. What was it?—"The Prince of Wales."

7292. Did the Gower party ever come there?—Not that I know of.

7293. Or the Monson party?—Not that I know of.

7294. Perhaps you did not want them?—I did not.

7295. You are a wonderfully independent voter?—It is right enough.

7296. Do you wish me to believe no person canvassed you on the day before or the day of the election?—No, they did not.

7297. Of either party?—Of either party.

The witness then withdrew.

T. Best.

THOMAS BEST sworn and examined.

7298. (The Chief Commissioner.) Where do you live?—At Red-hill.

7299. You voted the last time for Mr. Gower, in 1865?—Yes.

7300. What was the rent you were paying for your house?—14*l.* a year.

7301. Is that still the case?—Yes.

7302. What are you?—A carpenter.

7303. Did Mr. Monson's people canvass you?—No.

7304. Not at all?—No.

7305. Then nobody canvassed you for Mr. Monson?—No, I had nothing to do with them at all.

7306. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower canvassed me himself.

7307. At your house?—No, he came to the shop.

7308. Was any one with him?—No, he came by himself at the time; Mr. Smith was outside the shop himself.

7309. Did you promise him your vote the first time he came?—No, nor the second time.

7310. Did he come again?—No.

7311. Then Mr. Gower did not get your promise himself at all?—No, he did not.

7312. Who did?—I did not make up my mind till just before the election; I then came and voted for him.

7313. Who rather gave you the turn; was it one of the agents?—I had made up my mind before that I would vote for him, but I did not tell him so.

7314. Then when you refused to promise him you had made up your mind?—Yes, I meant to vote for him.

7315. To whom was it you first expressed your intention to vote for him?—Mr. Penfold.

7316. Was that Mr. Thomas Penfold?—Yes.

7317. Where did you see him and tell him about it?—I do not know.

7318. Now, where was it you saw Mr. Penfold?—It was at the meeting at New Hall.

7319. Did he come and say, "I suppose you will "vote for Gower"?—Yes.

7320. And did you say, "I suppose I shall"?—I did not promise him then; I was on the committee before he knew I meant to vote for him.

7321. Before you had made your promise you were put on Mr. Gower's committee; that was rather curious, was it not?—I do not know whether it was curious or not.

7322. Before you were put on the committee, did he say what you would have to do?—No.

7323. When you were put on the committee, did anybody give you to understand what you would have to do?—No.

7324. After you had been put on the committee, did anybody ask you to do anything?—They used to send me circulars when there was anything to do.

7325. You did not work for them?—No, I did not work for them.

7326. You received 30*s.*?—Yes.

7327. You had been promised more?—Yes, it was promised there would be some more.

7328. Did Penfold promise you?—Yes.

7329. Do you recollect when he promised you?—It was in December.

7330. After the election?—After the election; in December I believe it was.

7331. Was it after the time he handed you over 30*s.*?—Yes.

7332. In money?—Yes, in money.

7333. And he said, "May be there will be some "more coming"?—"Perhaps there will be some more "coming."

7334. I do not know whether you call it promising or not, but that you shall judge for yourself; were you pretty well satisfied with what you got?—I might as well be satisfied, I suppose.

7335. When Mr. Penfold said "Perhaps you will "have some more?" you did not intend to give him a receipt in full for the 30*s.*?—No, I did not give him any receipt.

7336. You were not quite satisfied with the 30*s.* for all the work you did?—I never did any work.

7337. Was any larger sum paid?—No.

7338. You never got above 3*l.*?—No.

7339. And nobody ever mentioned above 3*l.*?—Not to me.

7340. Who did they mention it to?—Nothing to anybody about me.

7341. Had you anything to do with the election of '63?—Yes, I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

7342. Who canvassed you then?—I do not know; it is so long ago.

7343. You will be able to recollect if you think a bit?—Mr. Rose, of Mead-vale.

7344. Was it Ephraim?—I do not know.

7345. It was not Alex. Rose?—No.

7346. What money did you get as to the election?—Half a sovereign.

7347. Who gave you that?—He sent it to me to my house.

7348. Rose did?—Yes.

7349. And no more?—No.

7350. Had you expected any more before you voted?—No.

7351. You expected it would be a little handsomer than 10*s.*?—There were a good many who expected to get more than that.

7352. Were you paid the same as the other voters had?—I do not know anything about that. I do not know anything about what the other voters were going to have.

7353. Were you on Mr. Wilkinson's committee in 1863?—No, I was not on any committee at all.

7354. You were not employed at all?—No.

7355. Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Gower were much of the same politics in 1863, were they not?—I am sure I do not know.

7356. Perhaps you did not trouble yourself about that?—Not I, very little.

7357. You troubled yourself very little about their politics?—No.

7358. This time you voted for Gower; had you any particular reason for it?—No.

7359. You had no particular reason for it?—I do not know that I had.

7360. You had not done very well the election before?—We thought he was a deal the properer candidate.

7361. You voted against him before?—Yes.

7362. You thought then that Mr. Wilkinson was the properest candidate; was it after you were paid the 10*s.*?—No, that was not the thing to make me vote like that.

7363. Then you will not give me any other reason for voting against Mr. Gower the first time and voting for him the second, than what you have stated; have you no other reason to give?—We thought Mr. Wilkinson was the best man that time, and this time we thought Mr. Gower was the best man; that is my opinion about it.

The witness then withdrew.

WILLIAM ROBERTS sworn and examined.

W. Roberts.

7364. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You voted at the last election in 1865? Yes.

7365. And you voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

7366. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower's side?—It is difficult to tell.

7367. Just tell me what you are?—I am a carpenter.

7368. A journeyman carpenter, I suppose?—Yes.

7369. What house do you occupy?—One in Linkfield-road.

7370. What rent?—10*l.*

7371. Do you pay the rates?—Yes.

7372. How long have you been on the register?—I cannot say.

7373. Some years?—Some years.

7374. Were you at the previous election in 1863?—Yes.

7375. And voted?—Yes.

7376. Who did you vote for then?—Mr. Wilkinson.

7377. Had you voted on the previous election to the one you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—In 1863.

7378. Yes?—That is all I think.

7379. You were canvassed by Mr. Gower's party; who canvassed you?—Frederick Joyes.

7380. When he canvassed you what took place; in what way did he canvass you?—I cannot say; he asked me to vote for Mr. Gower.

7381. That is not all I suppose that he said. 'Did he ask you to come on the committee?—I did not go on the committee.

7382. Did he ask you to come on the committee?—No.

7383. Did he ask you to do any work?—He merely asked me to do what I could for them.

FIFTH DAY.
W. Roberts.
27 Aug. 1866.

7384. Did he tell you what you were to be paid for it?—Yes, I was to have 5*l.*

7385. You were to have 5*l.* for doing what you could for them?—Yes.

7386. Did he tell you what you were to do?—I was to give them my leisure time; I was to do anything I could in my leisure time.

7387. I want you to tell me now, were you examined before the House of Commons?—No; I made a statement.

7388. As I have not got your statement before me, perhaps you will be good enough to give me your statement. Who did you tell?—My neighbours came round.

7389. Tell me what you told your neighbours?—I was to have 5*l.* for my vote.

7390. And Mr. Frederick Joyes promised you the 5*l.*?—Yes.

7391. Was he the only person who promised you 5*l.*?—Yes.

7392. On that side?—Yes.

7393. Had you been canvassed by Mr. Monson's party?—I never saw anything of them.

7394. Not any of them?—No.

7395. Are you quite certain?—Yes.

7396. Are you quite certain of that?—Yes.

7397. You have not been paid the 5*l.*, have you?—Yes; I had it out in a bill that I owed Mr. Joyes.

7398. In what way was that 5*l.* paid on the bill to Mr. Joyes? did you owe him the money?—Yes.

7399. How did you discharge the debt. In what way was it done?—I do not know which way it was done.

7400. Did you ever get a receipt?—No, never. I had a letter came saying I was to pay it again.

7401. I want to know what took place as to that transaction. You say a letter came asking you to pay it again. How did you know that he had been paid? By your services or by your voting; how was it you understood the bill was to be paid; did you see Mr. Joyes about it?—Yes.

7402. What took place between you and Mr. Joyes with reference to the bill?—We settled the bill.

7403. In what way did you settle the bill; how was it settled?—He stated as I owed him money that cleared it off.

7404. In what way did he settle it, did he show you his book in which there was the entry, William Roberts owing Frederick Joyes 5*l.*?—Yes, that was the entry.

7405. Was there any mark made by Mr. Joyes in his book?—I did not see any.

7406. You say it was settled?—That is what I know was stated, that it was settled.

7407. Did he say it was settled?—Yes.

7408. Did he tell you how it was settled?—No.

7409. When he told you it was settled, did you go to him and ask him for the 5*l.*?—I never asked him for it at all.

7410. How was it the bill had reference to the 5*l.* which you were to be paid for your vote. If you say it was settled, it was settled in some way so that you understood it was paid?—We understood one another that it was settled.

7411. Tell me in plain English how it was you understood each other that the bill was settled; what was said between you; what did Mr. Joyes say, or what did you say?—I said nothing.

7412. How did you know it was settled?—Because he told me it was settled.

7413. What did you owe the money for?—A suit of clothes.

7414. Had he sent you in the bill?—Yes.

7415. When you went to his shop, did you have the bill with you, did you go there to pay him the bill?—No.

7416. Did you talk to him about it?—No, I did not.

7417. Then who began the conversation about the bill, Mr. Joyes or you?—Mr. Joyes.

7418. What did Mr. Joyes say first about the bill?—He said my vote for Mr. Gower had settled it between us; that that would make it square.

7419. That if you voted for Gower we will settle the bill and make it square. When was that said, was it before the election?—Yes, about a week before the election.

7420. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He said to you, "You owe me 5*l.*, and if you vote for Gower it will "be all right"?—Yes.

7421. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you see Mr. Joyes after the election about the bill, or did you see him at all?—I saw him after.

7422. Did he mention this bill?—No.

7423. Have you ever had a claim sent in for his bill?—I had a claim sent in that I was to pay him again.

7424. When did the second come in?—About a fortnight after the election.

7425. About a fortnight after the election?—Well, I cannot say, but somewhere about that time.

7426. After you had voted?—Yes.

7427. When he sent in the bill, did you go and say the bill was settled by your voting?—I mentioned it to him.

7428. Tell me what you said?—I merely told him as I have told you just now.

7429. What did you say, that it was settled by the election?—Yes.

7430. What did Mr. Joyes say?—He did not say anything.

7431. Did he again say it was paid?—Yes.

7432. Since then, have you had any further claim made upon you by Mr. Joyes for the bill?—Not lately I have not.

7433. But since that interview after the election, when you say Mr. Joyes repeated that the bill was settled, did he treat it as a mistake sending in the bill after the election?—I told him so.

7434. Did he say anything about its being a mistake?—No.

7435. Since that time has he made any further claim upon you to pay this 5*l.* bill?—No.

7436. Not again?—No.

7437. Not since the fortnight after the election?—No.

7438. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did he threaten you with the county court?—Yes, he told me he would county court me.

7439. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When did he tell you that?—The same time.

7440. A fortnight after the election?—Yes.

7441. Was it at the interview with him after the election, when you went to him, he having sent in the bill again, that this county court question was mentioned?—Yes, after.

7442. Do you still owe him the money?—So he says I do.

7443. When did he last tell you that you owed the money?—I cannot say; I have not seen him lately.

7444. You are quite certain, as a fact, that he said it would square off the bill if you voted for Gower?—Yes.

7445. Are you certain of that?—Yes.

7446. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How long had you owed him the money at that time?—Oh, about a month or two, I dare say.

7447. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Now about the Monson party this last election. Are you quite certain you were not canvassed by any of them?—Yes.

7448. By Nicholls or any of them?—I was not at home if they came.

7449. Have you not received a sum of 4*l.* 10*s.* from them?—No.

7450. And returned it?—No.

7451. You are quite certain of that?—Yes.

7452. That none of them ever came to you?—No, not in my presence they did not. I did not see any.

7453. Did they see your wife?—No, I dare say not, or else she would have named it to me.

7454. Has your wife given you any money that has come from them ?—No.

7455. Or your children ?—No.

7456. Have you been at any of the meetings ?—No, I never attended a meeting.

7457. Or a committee meeting ?—No.

7458. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said you voted for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863 ?—Yes.

7459. Did you receive any money then ?—No.

7460. Were you promised any money ?—No ; I gave my vote independently.

7461. Quite independently ?—Yes.

7462. Had you promised it before the time of the voting ?—No, I promised Mr. Wilkinson. He came to me and asked me, but I was not offered any money.

7463. Nobody offered you any money at all ?—No.

7464. Or place ?—No.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN SIMMONS sworn and examined.

J. Simmons.

7465. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you vote at the last election for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

7466. What are you ?—A beer seller.

7467. You keep a beer shop ?—Yes, and it ought to keep me by rights.

7468. What is the rent of your house ?—None.

7469. What is it worth by the year ?—I am sure I do not know, I never had it valued.

7470. Is it worth 10*l.* ?—Yes.

7471. Is it worth 15*l.* ?—Yes.

7472. Is it worth more ?—Yes.

7473. 20*l.* ?—Well, I do not put it at 20*l.*

7474. We will stop somewhere between 15*l.* and 20*l.* then ?—Very well.

7475. Will that meet your opinion ?—Yes.

7476. Who asked you in the first instance to vote for Mr. Gower ?—He asked me himself.

7477. Did you promise him when he came ?—Yes.

7478. At once ?—At once.

7479. Did he promise you anything ?—No.

7480. You had some talk with some of his men, his agents ?—Very little.

7481. It is just that little I am alluding to. Who was it that you had a talk with ?—Who was it that I had a talk with ?

7482. Who was it you did talk to ?—I beg your pardon, I am hard of hearing. Why, Charles Smith.

7483. How long before the election was that ?—I do not know ; I was ill five or six weeks I know.

7484. Was it during the time you were unwell ?—Yes.

7485. Can you tell me about how long it was before the election, was it three weeks or a fortnight ?—I am sure I do not know.

7486. May it have been three weeks ?—It might.

7487. Perhaps less ?—Or perhaps more. I do not know.

7488. Were you ill all the time of the election, as much as five or six weeks before the election ?—For twelve weeks I was.

7489. What arrangement was made between you and Mr. Smith ?—He said if I did anything I was to be paid for it.

7490. He said if you had done, or if you did ?—If I did do anything I should be paid for it.

7491. Did you say "Done !" to that ?—I said I would if I could.

7492. Unfortunately you remained ill until the election, as I understand you ?—Till three days before the election.

7493. Do you mean two or three days before the election you got well ?—I got well enough to go there.

7494. Well enough to go to the election ?—Yes.

7495. You mean by going there, I suppose, going to the poll ?—Yes.

7496. Was any sum mentioned as what you were to receive ?—No.

7497. Nothing at all ?—No.

7498. What did you receive ?—None at all.

7499. Dear me, that was very hard ?—It was very bad, I know.

7500. It was very hard, was it not ?—Yes.

7501. You were expecting something pretty good, were you not ?—I may expect a good while before I shall get anything.

7502. Were you not expecting a good deal ?—No.

7503. You were not ?—No.

7504. There had been something mentioned —There was a little.

7505. What was mentioned ?—The same as I told you before.

7506. A sum was mentioned ?—Yes, there was a sum mentioned.

7507. That is exactly what I want you to tell me. What was it, if you please ?—I cannot understand you quite.

7508. He told you if you worked you should be paid for it ?—Yes.

7509. Was not there a certain sum of money mentioned ?—No.

7510. Not at any time ?—Not till after the polling day.

7511. Well, after the polling day ?—Yes.

7512. Tell me what the sum was after the polling day ?—I made my bill out and sent it in.

7513. That is it. To whom did you send it ?—To Mr. Charles Smith.

7514. Did you leave it with him ?—No, Mr. Frederick Joyes did.

7515. What was the amount you sent it in for ?—7*l.*

7516. Did you get any answer about it ?—He said I must wait.

7517. Who said you were to wait ?—Smith did.

7518. And you did wait ?—I have waited until this time.

7519. The bill was in writing, I suppose ?—Yes.

7520. Was the bill returned to you ?—No.

7521. Was it Frederick Joyes you say you sent your bill by ?—Yes.

7522. Is Frederick Joyes here ?—Yes.

7523. Who brought you back the message, was it Frederick Joyes, or did Smith answer it himself ?—Why, Frederick Joyes said a week afterwards I had got to wait.

7524. Did you put down in your account voting 7*l.* ?—No, I did not mention the vote at all.

7525. Was it for services ?—No, nor yet for services.

7526. What was it then ?—For the things I had broken, and what they stole.

7527. Who stole them ?—Oh, that I do not know.

7528. What was in the bill. Was this in the bill, "To one quart pot stolen" ?—Yes.

7529. How much ?—I do not know what the pots are.

7530. To one quart pot how much ?—I do not know.

7531. You know what a quart pot is worth ?—No, I do not know, for I have not got my bill here.

7532. If you keep a beer house, do you mean to say you do not know what a quart pot is worth ?—No.

7533. Was it a pewter pot that was stolen ?—I paid for a pewter pot, but what it was I do not know.

7534. What else was broken ?—Two chairs.

7535. One moment, I beg your pardon, I dare say you will forgive me ?—Yes.

FIFTH DAY.

J. Simmons.

27 Aug. 1866.

7536. I mean, now referring back to the quart p[illegible] t, now would 3*s.* be a good price for a new quart p[illegible] that looked liked pewter?—I cannot say.

7537. You are a beerhouse keeper, you can give me some notion about that?—It is so many years ago since I bought them.

7538. I wish you would tell me, I want to know?—I am sure I cannot tell.

7539. You could tell me about what it would be worth?—I do not know.

7540. Is it worth 5*s.*?—I do not know.

7541. Do you think it is worth 1*l.*?—No, I do not.

7542. Do you think it worth more than 10*s.*?—I am sure I cannot say.

7543. Will you tell me what they broke?—Some glasses were broken.

7544. Did you put them down in a lump, two glasses broken together?—I lumped them all together.

7545. You did not lump the glasses into the quart pot?—Yes.

7546. Did you smash your glasses up with the quart pot?—No.

7547. Was the first item, "To one quart pot stolen" so much?—Yes.

7548. Was the next, "Two glasses broken" so much more?—Yes.

7549. If the quart pot was worth something under a pound, for the broken glass did you put down 6*l.*?—I do not know.

7550. I want to get the information from you, as I may not be able to get the bill, but remember I may be able though?—Oh, yes.

7551. Did you write it yourself?—No.

7552. Who did?—Frederick Joyes.

7553. Just tell me this, will you,—I have little very little more to ask you,—but what did you do at the election of 1863?—I did not have much to do with it.

7554. I want to know what?—Mr. Wilkinson came and asked me for my vote, and I said "Yes."

7555. And you voted for him?—Yes.

7556. Did you do anything for him then?—No.

7557. You were not unwell then?—No.

7558. Did you do anything at all?—No.

7559. You were not on his committee?—No.

7560. Were there any arrangements between you and Mr. Wilkinson's party at the time?—Nothing at all.

7561. Did any money pass at that time?—Not in my presence, not a farthing.

7562. Was there any promise or arrangement made about money?—No.

7563. Not at all?—No.

7564. Were you to get the same as the others? was it arranged that you were to be paid the same as the rest?—No.

7565. No sum of money was mentioned. Was it arranged that any payment should be made to you?—No, not to me, there was not.

7566. Did you hear any arrangement made with anybody?—No.

7567. Do you remember the election in 1859?—No.

7568. Were you paid in 1863 anything?—No.

7569. Nothing at all for broken glasses?—There were none broken then.

7570. Just recollect, there was no story about a quart pot then?—No.

7571. Were you paid for a quart pot?—No, I have not been paid for that.

7572. Were you paid for a quart pot in 1863?—No.

7573. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You say you are a freeholder; your house is a freehold?—It is a leasehold.

7574. A freehold lease for 99 years?—I do not know whether I shall get my lease again, but I want my lease renewing; it is only for 80 more years to come.

7575. Is there any land attached to it. Did you build the house yourself?—No, I never did build a house in my life.

7576. Was it built for you?—Stephen Godstone built it.

7577. Was it built for you, on your account?—No, I bought it after it was built.

7578. What did you pay for it?—I cannot say.

7579. What did you pay for it? Is it a good house?—I do not know what without the bills were here.

7580. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I do not know whether I understand you to say that you were a voter before 1863. Were you a voter before 1863?—The last time Mr. Wilkinson put up I voted for him.

7581. Was that the first time you had voted for the borough?—No.

7582. Were you at the previous election?—Yes, but I was not at home.

7583. You were not at home at the previous election?—No.

7584. How is it you were not at home?—Because my business took me out.

7585. What was your business that called you away?—A brickmaker.

7586. Had you been in the town just before the election?—Yes, I was.

7587. Were you there a week before the election?—I dare say I was.

7588. Were you there the night before the election?—Not the night before the election.

7589. Two nights before?—Very likely.

7590. Did you take any interest in the election at that time?—Not at all, I was too tired; I worked enough in the day.

7591. If you were too tired, why did you not stop at home and rest?—Because I had to go and work again for Lord Monson.

7592. Who were the candidates then?—I am sorry I do not know, because then I would tell you.

7593. Any of the Monson family?—No, I do not think there were.

7594. Did anybody suggest to you it would be as well to go out of the town during the election?—No.

7595. You went of your own mind?—No, but I was obliged to go, I had got business to attend to.

7596. Only making a few bricks?—I did not make them, I burnt them.

7597. Had you promised anybody a vote at the election?—No.

7598. Not at all?—No.

7599. One of the Monsons was a candidate at that time?—Was he, sir.

7600. Yes?—Oh, I did not know that before.

7601. Do you remember it now?—I recollect this last one.

7602. But in 1859?—No.

7603. Did you vote at the election of 1858?—No.

7604. You did not?—Who was it put up at that time.

7605. Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson?—I am bothered if I know whether I did or not.

7606. You do not know whether you did?—I never voted for ne'er a one of the Monsons.

7607. Were you here at the election when Doulton came here; do you remember that?—I recollect his name.

7608. Did you take any active part in that election?—Not much.

7609. But you were in the town?—I was in the town.

7610. That was a very good election, was it not?—I am sure it never did me any good.

7611. Did you receive any money on that election? Did you vote either for Mr. Wilkinson or Mr. Doulton?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

7612. He got in, did he not?—No, I think not.

7613. You were on the losing side?—Yes, I always have been.

7614. Were you paid anything on that occasion?—No.

7615. Not at all?—No.

7616. What were you then; were you keeping a beer-house then?—Yes.

7617. Were you keeping a beer house in 1859, when you say you were brickmaking?—Certainly, my wife was to look after that.

7618. Your wife looked after the beer?—Well, she is right to.

7619. Then upon no occasion have you received money?—No.

The witness withdrew.

HENRY FRANCIS (who volunteered his evidence) sworn and examined.

H. Francis.

7620. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is your name Henry Francis?—As far as I am aware of.

7621. Do you live at Reigate-heath?—Yes.

7622. Did you vote for Mr. Monson?—No, for Mr. Richardson.

7623. For Mr. Richardson?—Yes.

7624. At the last election?—Yes, Mr. Richardson.

7625. First of all I will hear your story?—No, you begin, and I will give you the whole truth according to your questions, but when a man like Robert Francis, my uncle, comes here to make a statement, let us see what is the statement he made; there is his own mother, a poor old woman 82 years old.

Mr. Commissioner Smith advised the witness to let the poor old woman alone.

7626. You took a very active part in the election?—Yes.

7627. Did you take that active part in the election for Mr. Wilkinson?—No, I had nothing to do with it.

7628. Or for Mr. Richardson?—I had nothing to do with it.

7629. You took an active part?—I had nothing to do with the previous election. At this last election I did make myself busy in that affair.

7630. But this election, you did make yourself busy?—Yes.

7631. You were very active?—I was.

7632. For whom did you interest yourself?—Mr. Monson.

7633. And for whom did you vote?—Mr. Richardson; don't you see, there will be two points presently.

7634. Now, having made yourself very active for Mr. Monson, and voted for Mr. Richardson, tell us why you voted for Mr. Richardson?—I did that entirely for a petition.

7635. But you were active for Mr. Monson?—Yes, throughout the whole of the election for a space of six months before the election, and from the commencement of it I was very active. During the period of the election, for six weeks before the usual time of it, I took an active part, and for six weeks afterwards I could not get it out of my hand for why ——

7636. Did you canvass?—Yes, several.

7637. You were going on to say "For why," and then you stopped?—I say "For why"? Several I canvassed.

7638. You were going on with a sentence "For why"?—I had a good deal of money perhaps.

7639. From whom did you get the money?—No, no, you go on and I will tell you.

7640. You had a great deal of money?—I had a great deal of money, and I will tell the whole affair; wait a bit, and I will tell you; and that is not the bottom of it.

7641. Now begin, and go on?—The fact of it was, when Mr. Monson first came to me for my vote I told him I would vote for the Liberal cause; that was in February.

7642. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Tell us about the money; where did you get the money from?—From Mr. Nicholls.

7643. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How much did he give you?—50*l.*

7644. What did you do with it?—Spent it.

7645. In what way?—That I cannot tell you; I spent another 50*l.*, and I spent 50*l.* of my own out of my own pocket.

7646. Did you find 50*l.* out of your own pocket?—Yes, I did, and a great deal more, if you come to the truth of the thing.

7647. You say you spent 50*l.* out of your own pocket?—Yes.

7648. Then you spent 100*l.*?—Yes, and more than that.

7649. How much more than that?—Oh, perhaps 50*l.* more, there is no telling; look here, I cannot tell you exactly, as I previously told you I was on the election six months.

7650. Now tell us before the polling?—I am only telling you the truth.

7651. Let us have the truth; first of all you say Mr. Nicholls gave you 50*l.*?—He did not give me the 50*l.* of a lump, he gave me 20*l.* or 30*l.* and then 13*l.*

7652. When did you first get money from Mr. Nicholls?—Not till after the election commenced.

7653. After the canvassing?—Yes; I heard of the thing, and said it was time to put a stop to this corruption.

7654. I suppose Mr. Nicholls joined in your virtuous indignation?—I said to Mr. Monson, "If you "will not petition against Mr. Gower I will find "somebody who will, for you will not find a single "man who will canvass this borough any more."

7655. Tell me when you first got any money from Mr. Nicholls. You say it was after the canvass began?—I did not have it before.

7656. Now the question is, when did you have it?—I did not have it before.

7657. Tell me when you had it?—A week or two after, or it might be a month after, I pledged myself to Mr. Monson, Mr. Gower asked me for my vote.

7658. Never mind Mr. Gower or Mr. Monson. You got a sum of money from Mr. Nicholls; what was the sum?—It might have been 10*l.*

7659. Was it?—Yes.

7660. How long had you been canvassing before you got the 10*l.*? Had you been canvassing a week?—Yes, more than that; two or three weeks.

7661. When you got the 10*l.* from Mr. Nicholls, in what way did you ask him for it; what did you say to him you wanted it for?—I told him the way that our candidate was going on in the voting, and I did not like him to be left in the lurch.

7662. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said you must fight it?—In fact, I paid the first 10*l.* out of my own pocket before I asked Mr. Nicholls for 10*l.*

7663. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Out of your own pocket?—Yes, it was my own money.

7664. When did you pay the first sum of money?—When I found out these proceedings.

7665. I only want to know when you paid the first sum?—Now, look here, will you allow me to make a few remarks when all is over.

7666. Yes, any remarks you like to make; but now tell me first of all when it was you paid the first sum of money?—I cannot tell exactly.

7667. To whom did you pay it?—Oh, to several;

FIFTH DAY.

a pound here and a pound there. I spent it anyhow; I was in all the election right through.

7668. What I want to know is, what you did with the money; you say you gave a pound here and a pound there?—Some I offered 10*l*. after I knew that they had promised Mr. Gower, not that they got any money from me, I only wanted to try their principles, and when I found they would give up their word for 10*l*., I did not give them any.

7669. Give me those instances where you tell me you actually gave the money?—There might be one or two; there was a man, but he is not alive now, and we will not disturb the dead.

7670. Give us the name of some man who is alive?—There is a man named Josiah Ede. I spent this money in trying what people were.

7671. Now Josiah Ede, what did you give him; 2*l*.?—I dare say it was.

7672. Was that to try his principles?—Yes.

7673. Did he keep the 2*l*.?—The other party had got him away, and I offered him 2*l*. to come with me, and come fairly; he said they had promised him 5*l*., but I said, "You can have the ready money from "me."

7674. Did he vote for Mr. Monson?—No; he voted for Mr. Gower for 5*l*. more.

7675. Was that the first 2*l*. that you paid?—It might have been something like a pound or two; I used to drop it out of my pocket as I walked; I wanted to see what was going on.

7676. You distributed your money pretty freely?—Very freely. I can mention another man I gave money to; I gave Evans 4*l*. or 5*l*.

7677. What is his Christian name?—John, I believe. I gave him 4*l*. or 5*l*., but he voted for Mr. Gower; I knew his game, so I stopped it, and he did not have any more. I gave it to him to see what the man was.

7678. Is there any other name you can think of?—I think it is time there is a stop put to it. I do not know of anybody else.

7679. Did you give anything to Roberts?—No; do you mean Robert Francis.

7680. No, William Roberts?—No.

7681. Now, that is only 7*l*. out of 10*l*. Did you charge Mr. Monson's party with your having paid 10*l*. out of your own pocket?—No; I had 5*l*. for my own expenses; that I signed for; it was a stamped agreement.

7682. What was the agreement?—Oh! nothing at all; I never had it, and I did not have the money at the time.

7683. Have you ever got it?—I have not got it now.

7684. Were you paid it?—No.

7685. It is still owing to you. Was this stamped agreement a stamped receipt?—Yes, I put a stamp on it.

7686. How came you to put a stamp without receiving the money?—The thing was, we had had this money pass between us.

7687. How came you to give a stamp receipt for 5*l*. without receiving the money; is that your usual way of transacting business?—No; but a man may give a signature to a bill; if he receives the 5*l*. he may give a stamped receipt.

7688. Did you receive the 5*l*.—Of course I did, I received 50*l*. from Mr. Nicholls; there is no doubt about that, and I put my stamp for 5*l*.

7689. Why did you not put it for 5*l*. and not for 50*l*.?—It did not matter whether it was 5*l*. or 50*l*.

7690. Oh, yes, it did; if the 5*l*. was returned as legal expenses, and the other 45*l*. were illegal, it would make a very great difference in the accounts?—There might be a difference then.

7691. You received 5*l*. and gave a receipt for 50*l*.?—The fact of it is that Mr. Nicholls owed me 5*l*.

7692. What for?—There was a bill of long standing for different things, and I took the 5*l*. from off that, and he said, "Give me a receipt for 5*l*.;" and when I asked him about electioneering affairs, he said, "That "squares it."

7693. Mr. Nicholls owed you 5*l*. and you owed Mr. Nicholls ——Mr.?—No, I never owed Nicholls.

7694. You gave a stamped receipt for the money which Mr. Nicholls owed you?—Yes.

7695. Did that come in the 50*l*.?—Yes. I do not know exactly whether it was 50*l*., 40*l*., or 45*l*.

7696. You ought to have had 10*l*., your own bill, and the 5*l*. too?—Of course I could not charge my own man.

7697. You did not get it?—That was the only thing I got paid; I had no money for my expenses for the whole time, only that 5*l*.

7698. Did you get the 5*l*. given to you?—I did previous to my signing my bill.

7699. What, you mean a receipt?—Yes.

7700. You did get 5*l*.?—Yes.

7701. Was that part of the 50*l*.?—Yes.

7702. You said that it was 10*l*. out of your own pocket; you have given me one instance of either 6*l*. or 7*l*. that you spent?—Yes.

7703. Where did the other sovereigns go to; you told me you went about with money in your pocket, and you dropped sovereigns in various places; tell me some more places. Did you do that before you received the money from Mr. Nicholls?—I did in some respects.

7704. Now in what respect, and how?—I spent many a shilling and pound.

7705. In what way?—In going about myself agitating the man's cause.

7706. Agitating the man's cause with sovereigns in your pocket?—Yes, as I do now; I am not lost for a pound. I may go now if there is any cause and agitate with a pound in my pocket, and if it is a good cause give a pound myself.

7707. Did you do it at the election?—I spent several pounds for Mr. Monson's cause because he had been badly treated, and I would have spent 150,000*l*. if I had possessed it.

7708. You used the expression rotten sheep. What do you mean by rotten sheep?—They who take men's money on both sides. I defy any man to come in this borough and canvass them, let him bring the largest sum which the Bank of England can produce.

7709. I want to know to whom you distributed these pounds?—I cannot tell you.

7710. Did you distribute them amongst these black sheep?—I cannot tell you.

7711. You have given me John Evans and Josiah Ede?—Supposing I mention every public house in the place, will that satisfy you?

7712. Go on.—There is not a public house in the parish but what I have distributed 5*s*., or 10*s*., or 1*l*. in every house.

7713. In what way would you distribute it?—Go in and get a man to drink; you cannot expect elections to be conducted in such a manner but what a man will have a glass of ale in a house; you cannot expect that.

7714. But you come here and you are agitating for purity of election?—I am.

7715. How much more money did you receive from Mr. Nicholls besides the 50*l*. to distribute?—Nothing at all; I do not know that I had 50*l*.; I do not believe I have had more than 40*l*., but people thought I had a deal of money, and I put it down at 50*l*.; I say, perhaps I had. Now, Mr. Nicholls objected to any money being paid; I only had 5*l*. for my work, and I was engaged for six months. Look here, you are a clever man no doubt, but you will not listen to the truth and honesty of the thing.

7716. Well, now, I will; tell us about it?—Do not fancy yourself too clever.

7717. Be good enough to tell me the truth and honesty of the thing?—I will tell to you the truth and nothing but the truth.

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien suggested an adjournment till the following morning, as the witness would be then less excited.

The Chief Commissioner thought it would be the better course.

The Witness stated that his conscience was as good then as it would be in the morning, and he would not be less excited.

7718. (The Chief Commissioner.) You know Allen Edwards, do you not?—Yes.

7719. Do you recollect before the election came on seeing Allen Edwards about his vote?—He worked for me before the election came off.

7720. It was quite natural you should see him?—Yes.

7721. Do you recollect promising him a pound a week if he would come and vote for Mr. Monson?—I gave the man a pound a week during the time he worked for me. He was out of employ, and he had got a family, and I said if no one else would give him a job I would give him a job.

7722. What did he work at for you?—Cleaning and rubbing up my business, and gardening.

7723. What is your business?—I am a monument builder.

7724. Did you set him to work before the election?—I set him on my garden.

7725. Did you give him a pound a week?—Not for the election.

7726. You agreed about a sum?—I gave him in the first instance a pound a week for his work, for what he did for me.

7727. Do you know how long he worked for you?—He worked so long that when he wore his fingers out he ran away, and would not have any more of it.

7728. Did you pay him?—He ran away without his money.

7729. He promised to vote for Mr. Monson?—No, he promised to summons me for the money.

7730. Did he promise you to vote for Mr. Monson?—No, not at all throughout the affair.

7731. You asked him to make you a promise to vote for Mr. Monson, did you not?—I might have done; it is natural enough to ask a man when he has got a vote, if he works for you.

7732. Upon that you agreed to give him 1*l.* a week?—No, not upon that, he was to work for me previous to the election coming off; before there was any election occurred. I said, "Now, I am for Mr. "Monson; they are treating Mr. Monson in a very "scandalous manner;" I said, "Give us your vote;" he said, "I do not know, there is the other party "after me, I shall not promise;" I said "Then do "so."

7733. Then you promised him 1*l.* a week and he was to give you his vote for Mr. Monson?—No, he did not promise me a single fraction of a vote, for he was waiting for something from the other side.

7734. The other side might have come to him perhaps, after he had made you the promise; did you not in the first instance promise him a pound a week if he would vote for Mr. Monson?—I asked him to vote for Mr. Monson, and when the affair had gone through about six weeks I asked him to vote for Mr. Richardson, and if you wish it I can tell you the reason for that.

7735. At 8 o'clock at night were you at the "White Hart" the night before the election?—I cannot say that I was there during that time; just let me see; the polling day came off on the Wednesday.

7736. There were some arrangements made at the "White Hart" that night about Mr. Richardson?—Mr. Richardson; oh! yes.

7737. What was the arrangement made?—I do not know; I was asked to nominate him, and I agreed to that momentarily.

7738. You told my friend some little time ago that it was with a view to the petition that Mr. Richardson was put up?—That was it, and nothing else.

7739. Can you explain to me what you mean by that?—It was time that there was a stop put to this corruption.

7740. This was the night before the polling; was there a talk?—Do you mean by the public about the petition?

7741. Yes?—Oh no, of course not; I knew well enough it was time we had a petition.

7742. That was the reason Mr. Richardson was put up?—Yes, it was entirely for a petition to stop these abominable practices.

7743. Did you fear that if there was a petition both Mr. Gower and Mr. Monson would be thrown out?—Well, I do not know; I question whether there would have been if I had stuck to my word; there was only one man stood in the way, or else I should have signed the petition for Mr. Richardson.

7744. Who was the man you mentioned who stood in your way?—Frederick Joyes.

7745. He prevented you signing the petition?—Yes.

7746. But Mr. Joyes was a friend of Mr. Gower's?—Well, he was a friend of mine previous to any election, years ago; he was the man that helped me in my business when first I started for Reigate.

7747. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Mr. Joyes state any reason to you why you should not sign the petition?—No, I stated to him.

7748. What?—I told him this: "Look here, "Fred," I said, "the fact of it is, it is time there is "a stop put to this crime, my conscience will not "allow me to do it."

7749. What did Mr. Joyes say to you?—Not a word to me. I went to him; Mr. Joyes had acted as a friend to me; I said "Look here, Fred, you "cannot solicit a man in this place but what you "are asked to give him something." I said "for our "personal freedom by G—— it is time that we had "a petition." I said, "If you have done anything "wrong, you square it."

7750. You say you did not petition because of your friend Joyes?—Joyes never remarked a word to me about it, but I will not go against a friend; if any man acts as a friend to me I will never go against him, or else I should have signed a petition for Mr. Richardson, for he is the best gentleman we have got in this place.

7751. (The Chief Commissioner.) When you got displeased about the way things were going on, did you go on Mr. Monson's side to Mr. Joyes, because he was a leading man on the other side?—It was weeks and weeks before this time Mr. Gower met me in the street before Mr. Apted and Mr. Smith and one or two more, and asked me to give him my vote. I said "I am for Mr. Monson;" he said, "You may alter your opinion." I said "If you "were to give me 1,000*l.* you should not have my "vote;" that was in the High-street long before the election.

7752. It was arranged the night before that Mr. Richardson should be put up?—I do not know; I gave my name to it in a moment.

7753. I dare say your name carried it?—In fact I did not know of it in the morning.

7754. Was it done for this reason, because it was expected if there was a petition that both Mr. Monson and Mr. Gower would be dislodged and Mr. Richardson would stand?—That is the truth. We knew we were not clean ourselves, but I said it was time that there was a stop put to it.

7755. Did you feel that your man was in much the same danger that Mr. Gower was in?—I knew he had been badly treated.

7756. Did you know that your man, Mr. Monson, was in much the same danger?—Oh, yes, I understand you; I did of course; I knew that Jack was as good as his master in regard to that.

7757. You received from Mr. Nicholls altogether, you suppose, 50*l.*?—I put it at that, but I do not believe I had all that.

7758. Have you furnished Mr. Nicholls with any account of how you spent the money you received?—No, Mr. Nicholls is a man I would give 50*l.* to.

7759. Do answer the question?—I have not sent in any account whatever as regards the election.

7760. Of that 50*l.*?—There is no account, but I have paid it all.

7761. Have you given in any account of how you paid it?—No, I have kept no account.

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien told the witness to refresh his memory during the night, and in the morning he must give an account of how the 50*l.* was expended.

The inquiry was adjourned until 11 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

HENRY FRANCIS further examined.

Mr. Commissioner Smith said that owing to the excited state of the witness the previous day they had been compelled to adjourn, and he must request him to disabuse his mind of all angry feelings, and to confine himself to answering the questions as simply and as quietly as he could.

7762. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You said yesterday you had paid 10*l.* out of your own pocket some two or three weeks in the canvass before you went to Mr. Nicholls?—Yes.

7763. You said you had paid Josiah Ede 2*l.*, and John Evans 4*l.* or 5*l.*?—Yes.

7764. That amounted to about 6*l.* or 7*l.* out of the 10*l.*?—Yes.

7765. Give me the name of any other person that you paid money to about that time; the early part of your canvass?—There was not any at the early part.

7766. I mean before you went to Mr. Nicholls, when Mr. Nicholls supplied you with money?—Yes.

7767. Probably you said 10*l.* as a sort of round sum, not meaning to fix it?—I put it at 10*l.*, and I dare say it was not far from it.

7768. You cannot give me any further names than John Evans and Josiah Ede to whom you gave money previously?—No more than I was about.

7769. In what way did you spend the money? Going about to houses and treating men with beer and brandy and water?—Yes; probably it might be that way; but before that I did not intend to have anything to do with it at all, before I heard about the 5*l.*s being given by Mr. Gower's party. I should not have had anything to do with the canvass if the people had treated Mr. Monson in a respectable manner, because I promised him my vote. He was not exactly the man who would have had my vote; but as I had promised him my vote I told Mr. Gower 1,000*l.* would not part us.

7770. You would not have spent any money at all, or paid any money, with reference to persons voting, had you not heard of something being done on the other side?—I should not. I heard there were promises made, and so on.

7771. You had heard promises of what?—Before I commenced anything myself with regard to bribery I heard there were promises made on the part of Mr. Gower. I understood Mr. Gower was coming it. I had thought he had enough of the previous election, and I thought Mr. Gower intended to go through this last election in what you may call a pure sort of manner.

7772. You heard he had "offered" voters?—Yes.

7773. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was before you commenced bribery?—Yes; before I commenced.

7774. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You had heard that 5*l.* had been offered?—They had been promised 5*l.*

7775. Do you know what they call Hollis's-road or the Hollis district?—At Redhill I know Hollis road, near the Asylum.

7776. Do you know a person of the name of William Church, who was examined yesterday?—I know him from seeing him here, and by being at his house once or twice.

7777. Does he live in your district?—I live at Reigate-heath, at the east, he lives at the west.

7778. At the Asylum?—Yes.

7779. Had you been canvassing in his district?—Not at all. I went to a meeting there, but I do not know that I canvassed any one there.

7780. Do you know who was the active man about Hollis's district in canvassing for Mr. Monson?—I should say that Mr. Rose of the Asylum was.

7781. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Ephraim Rose?—Yes.

7782. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That would be his district?—Yes.

7783. He was an active man for Mr. Monson?—There were a good many active men. I do not know whether he was very active; he made himself appear as such; but whether he had anything to do I do not know.

7784. He was a person in the neighbourhood of Mr. Church?—He works at the Asylum.

7785. Is there any other person in the neighbourhood of Mr. Church's district who would be acting for Mr. Monson?—I do not know who acted. I do not know exactly who did work for Mr. Monson in the Redhill part, no more than that I went to several meetings at Redhill; there were a great many there.

7786. Now after you had heard these matters with regard to the 5*l.* being paid on the part of Mr. Gower, and you had paid these monies, did you report what you had done to Mr. Nichols ? — I reported to Mr. Nichols directly I heard of the first onset.

7787. Now, after you went to Mr. Nichols, when you had heard that these 5*l.* were being paid on the part of Mr. Gower, what did you say ?—I mentioned to Mr. Nichols and one or two more that they were beginning the old game.

7788. Was that in the committee room that you mentioned it ?—No.

7789. It was not a committee meeting ?—No.

7790. Did you attend a committee meeting ? — I attended twice.

7791. Were there any committee meetings being held on the part of Mr. Monson in the early part of the canvass ?—Not that I am aware of.

7792. Can you give me the names of any of the persons who were with Mr. Nichols at the time you reported this fact with regard to the 5*l.* promises ?— I am not certain who might have been with him; but if there was anybody I should not have let them hear me, because it was at the "Grapes," and I should have called him aside.

7793. That is a public house and tavern ?—Yes.

7794. You say you told it to him privately ?— Yes.

7795. When you told him this, did he give you any instructions how to act ?—He told me, "Now, look "here, if they begin that game, keep your eye open, "we will petition against them." I said I did not see why a young chap like that should come in and be shoved out of the place no how. That was the remark I made. Of course this is the truth of the thing, it is no use coming any other dodge.

7796. Go on ?—I say what I have stated is the truth.

7797. Something occurred to your mind at the moment, and you said this is the truth of the thing; what is the truth of the thing ?—It is impossible for a man to canvass a borough if there is going on that corruption, and passing of money, and that sort of thing. It is no use to go and agitate a cause upon any political point when you begin that. I am sorry to say you cannot find any to bring together that will go and agitate anything for the Liberal cause.

7798. Don't let us get back to the agitation; let us get into the business part of the election ?—That was the answer.

7799. That is what you mean by the truth of the matter ?—Yes.

7800. You told me yesterday you received some 50*l.* or more from Mr. Nichols ?—50*l.* or less. I said, "40*l.*, perhaps less."

7801. You said 50*l.*, and perhaps more ?—I say more or less; I do not know.

7802. We will put it at 50*l.* to begin with. When did you first begin to receive money from Mr. Nichols; was it at the time when you first represented to Mr. Nichols that 5*l.* was being promised the other side ?—No.

7803. How soon after ?—Some time after that.

7804. At that interview Mr. Nichols only said, "Keep your eye open, and we will look out for a "petition."—He told me to keep my eye open for anything of the kind.

7805. And to look out for a petition ?—Yes.

7806. Tell me how soon after the interview when Mr. Nichols said that you received the first monies from Mr. Nichols; was it a week after or two days after ?—More than that; a month, I should think. I was on the election four months before the polling day. I should say it commenced in April.

7807. When did the canvassing, to your recollection, begin; four months before the election ?—I should say it did.

7808. Was that four months before the election that you heard promises had been made for these 5*l.*s ? —No, I did not hear of any promises before Mr. Gower put himself forward.

7809. How long before the election did Mr. Gower put himself forward ?—Five or six weeks.

7810. How soon after Mr. Gower had put himself forward did you hear of these promises being made ? —A week, or perhaps a couple of weeks.

7811. Then you did not at once report these 5*l.* promises to Mr. Nichols, but you paid these sums to Ede and to Evans before that ?—No.

7812. Before you reported it to Mr. Nichols about the 5*l.* ?—No.

7813. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You had represented first ?—Yes.

7814. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you report to Mr. Nichols you had heard there were 5*l.* promises made on the part of Mr. Gower before you spent money out of your pocket ?—I spent it for my own use, but not for paying them.

7815. Before you gave any to Ede and Evans ?— Yes, before that I spent money for my own use in going round.

7816. I do not mean the money you spent for yourself in going round; I mean the money you paid to Ede and Evans ?—No.

7817. At the present moment there is a slight contradiction. You paid these monies to Evans and Ede ?—Yes.

7818. Those were out of your own pocket ?—Yes.

7819. I understand before you paid these monies you represented to Mr. Nichols you had heard 5*l.* were promised on the part of Mr. Gower ?—I told him there had been 5*l.* promised.

7820. Before you paid any of these monies to Evans and Ede had you represented to Mr. Nichols that the 5*l.* had been promised on the part of Mr. Gower ?—Oh! yes.

7821. Then, after Mr. Nichols had told you to keep your eye open and look out for a petition, you paid those monies to Ede and Evans ?—Yes.

7822. How soon after Mr. Nichols had told you to keep your eye open for this petition did you pay this money to Evans ?—A week or two.

7823. Did you know that Evans had promised to vote for Mr. Gower?—No, he had not promised any one.

7824. He had not promised any one when you gave him the 5*l.* ?—I told him to take and work for us; in fact I gave him 1*l.* a week; that is what I gave him.

7825. Did you ask him to come on Mr. Monson's committee ?—Yes, and I believe he brought Ede to me.

7826. Did you tell him that if he was wanted you would let him know, and did you give him 2*l.* upon your first interview with him ?—Yes, I think I did.

7827. What was the 2*l.* for ?—I told him he was to work for Mr. Monson, canvassing, in fact. I said, "You had better come down every night or in the "day if you can, and see if there is anything doing, "whether you are wanted to be sent anywhere, and "so on."

7828. What work was he to do for the 2*l.*—I told him he could take circulars round or he could go to meetings.

7829. What meetings ?—Anywhere round where there was a meeting.

7830. A public meeting ?—Yes.

7831. Or a meeting where there was refreshment ? —Yes.

7832. Were you at any of the meetings where there was refreshment on the part of Mr. Monson ?— I have been at meetings, several of them, of course, where there has been a sort of evening's diversion, such as smoking and drinking, and so on; that is all the refreshment I have seen.

SIXTH DAY.

H. Francis.

28 Aug. 1866.

7833. Will you tell me one of these meetings?—Yes, at Mr. Tyrrell's.

7834. That is in Nutley-lane, is it not?—No, in Redhill.

7835. Oh! in Hollis-road?—Yes.

7836. That is a beer house, is it not?—Yes.

7837. Not a licensed house?—No.

7838. Was it a large meeting?—Yes, it was not very small.

7839. Then who was there; was Mr. Monson there?—Yes.

7840. Were there speeches?—Yes.

7841. After the speeches were over was there any drink going on?—Yes.

7842. Who paid for it?—I had some ginger beer.

7843. Did you pay for it?—I think I did there.

7844. Did you see the others pay for what they had?—No, I did not.

7845. Do you know who did pay?—No, I do not.

7846. Was Mr. Monson there?—Yes, I believe he was.

7847. Who was there of the influential part of Mr. Monson's agents; Mr. Nichols was one?—Yes.

7848. Was Mr. Richardson there?—Yes.

7849. He it was who afterwards put up as candidate?—Yes.

7850. How long did Mr. Nichols and Mr. Richardson and Mr. Monson stop?—Till it dispersed.

7851. While they were there was there any drinking going on?—Not a great deal whilst they were in the room.

7852. There was some?—Very little; I had a glass of ginger beer, and I saw one person have a glass; that was all during the time we were there.

7853. During the time they were there?—During the time we were there; we all came away together.

7854. You live at the west?—Yes.

7855. Then you had to get home?—Yes.

7856. What time did you leave the meeting?—About 10; it might be 11.

7857. Did you leave any people in the house when you came away?—No; I do not know; I cannot say.

7858. Of the residents of Hollis-road?—I cannot say whether they stopped there or not.

7859. Was that the evening Mr. Church was there; did you see Mr. Church?—I did.

7860. He made a speech?—Rather a foolish one.

7861. We will not sit in judgment on that speech; but was that the evening Mr. Church was there, and asked Mr. Monson questions; you thought they were oolish questions?—Some of them.

7862. Did Mr. Church stop the whole of the meeting?—Well, I cannot say; I know he had a great deal to say.

7863. Were you at any other meeting?—Yes.

7864. Where?—At one at Reigate-hill.

7865. How long before the election?—A week or two, perhaps.

7866. Where was the meeting?—At the "Yew Tree" I think was the sign of the house.

7867. Who is the landlord?—Burrell I think now.

7868. Who was landlord then at the time of the election?—There was no man only old Burrell himself; that was all.

7869. He was the landlord of the "Yew Tree"?—No, his father.

7870. Is he alive?—Yes.

7871. Does he live there now?—Yes; he does not live at the house; he lives at the farm just above.

7872. Was he the person taking the management of the house?—He was the person to take the chair.

7873. He was in the chair at the meeting?—Yes.

7874. Was Mr. Monson there?—No.

7875. Was Mr. Richardson there?—No.

7876. Or Mr. Nichols?—No.

7877. Then was Mr. Burrell the influential man of the evening?—He was for the chairman.

7878. Were there speeches made?—Yes.

7879. Was it a general meeting, or open to any voter who liked to come in?—Yes, or any one else.

7880. Was it an advertised meeting?—No.

7881. How came you to know that there was a meeting there?—I suggested that we should have a meeting there.

7882. And as you walked along did you tell your neighbours there would be a meeting?—Yes.

7883. Were there refreshments?—Oh! cigars, ale, and anything of that kind.

7884. Was it a licensed house?—Yes.

7885. Were there any spirits?—Well, I think there was a glass or two of brandy and water.

7886. Who ordered the brandy and water; who ordered the spirits and the beer?—I do not know; it came in, and they drank it.

7887. Did you have any?—I had some ginger beer.

7888. That was a very small item?—Yes.

7889. Some 2d., I suppose?—I dare say I had about five or six bottles.

7890. Did you have anything in the ginger beer?—Nothing at all.

7891. Did you see them paying for what they had?—Yes.

7892. Who did you see pay?—They clubbed round for it, I believe, and paid for it themselves; all that were there, 13 or 14, and subscribed for the whole of it, I think.

7893. Did you subscribe or pay as you had your ginger beer?—I paid as I went along.

7894. Your proportion was small, I suppose, to the others?—I did not take anything only ginger beer at that time.

7895. It was small in proportion to the others' expenses?—Yes, they had money sufficient; but if they had not I should have given them 10*s.* I dare say if they had wanted it.

7896. You saw them subscribe round?—Yes.

7897. Tell me some other meetings you attended?—I went to the park once, to the "freehold."

7898. What was your object in calling this meeting at the public house?—I do not know.

7899. When you were there did you tell them that you had heard that the Gower party were promising 5l. for votes?—No.

7900. Did you not discuss the question at all there?—No; in fact, they had a meeting themselves opposite to us.

7901. The Gower party had a meeting that night?—Yes.

7902. Where was the meeting of the Gower party?—At Thatcher's, I think.

7903. What is the name of the house?—I do not know the sign of it; it is a beer shop. I think it is the "Volunteer," but I am not sure.

7904. At this meeting did you not discuss amongst yourselves who were the shaky voters who were likely to go over to the Gower party?—Well, I think there were some of them there.

7905. Did you canvass them that evening?—No, I did not have much to do with them.

7906. You did not canvass them?—I did go round to the shaky ones; at least, I went round to those that promised to be staunch, and a great many of those went over; so I thought it was time to walk about and see what was going on. They did not get a deal out of me; I told you, in fact, what they had.

7907. This was long after you had been to Evans and Ede?—Yes.

7908. Tell me some other house you went to?—I went behind the park to the freehold. I went behind the town; the "Barley."

7909. You just got out "Barley," half a syllable of the "Barley Mow;" had you been there?—Several times; the fact of it is this, I know these places and persons; make a remark, and it makes me mention the house. I do not know the sign; it was Walters' where I attended a meeting, but I do not know the sign of the house.

7910. It would have been a mistake then if you had mentioned the "Barley Mow"?—It would have been no mistake to say I have been there, for I have been there, but I do not think I was there during the time of the election at all.

7911. What was the house you went to?—What, behind the park; nowhere, only at Walters'.

7912. What sort of a house is Walters'?—A licensed house.

7913. Did you attend any meeting there?—Yes.

7914. Was that meeting convened by private intimation or public circular?—Private intimation.

7915. Was there any circular sent round to call any meeting?—I think there were for that meeting.

7916. Did the circular go from the head committee or from yourself?—I do not know, but it did not go from me.

7917. Who took the chair at that meeting?—Page, I think.

7918. What is his Christian name?—Thomas Page. I am not certain whether he was in the chair or not, but I know Page was there.

7919. That is Page the overseer, is he not?—Yes.

7920. Did Thomas Page take a very active part in the election?—I do not know.

7921. Did he canvass?—I do not know.

7922. He was in the chair on this occasion?—I cannot swear to that.

7923. He was at the meeting?—He was there, but I cannot tell you who was chairman.

7924. Were many people there?—Not a great many.

7925. Was the room full?—It is not a room, it was a booth at the back of the house.

7926. I suppose it was a large booth?—Not particularly.

7927. How many people were there, 30 or 40 or 50?—I should say 100.

7928. Was Mr. Page the most influential person of the Monson party who was at the meeting?—No.

7929. Who was, yourself; of course I do not put you below Mr. Page, but who was the most influential person there?—I do not know.

7930. Was Mr. Monson there?—Yes.

7931. Of course he would be more influential than Mr. Page; was Mr. Richardson there?—Yes.

7932. Mr. Nichols?—Yes.

7933. Was there any other gentlemen of the Monson party who were of the same class as those which you have mentioned?—I do not know, I cannot bring it home to my recollection. I do not know who was at the meeting.

7934. Who were the persons besides Mr. Nicholls of Mr. Nicholls' class of life; you say there was Mr. Monson?—Yes.

7935. Well, who was there besides Mr. Nicholls?—I do not know.

7936. Who was the person who principally worked for Mr. Monson?—I cannot say that.

7937. Yes, you can, you must know that; you were very busy at the election; I want to know those persons of the same class of life as Mr. Nicholls who were canvassing for Mr. Monson?—I do not know.

7938. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You must know that, Mr. Francis?—Of course there was Mr. Richardson, he took a great part in it.

7939. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You have mentioned him; was he not chairman of the committee?—Sometimes.

7940. When he was not chairman of the committee who acted as chairman?—I was only there twice; the chairman was Mr. Lainson; he was there once, and Mr. Hanbury the times I was there.

7941. We know Mr. Hanbury by name very well; who is Mr. Lainson?—A gentleman who lives at Reigate heath.

7942. Who was there besides of that class, it is a highly respectable class. There were several of those taking an active part in the matter?—The room was full, but I do not know that they took an active part in particular.

7943. Well, I will change the term then, of those who were continually attending the committee room there?—I do not know whether they were continually attending, I was only there twice.

7944. Were they there when you were there?—Some of them.

7945. Are there any others that were there whilst you were there?—Mr. Hanbury, Mr. Richardson, and in fact a great many of them whose names I do not know.

7946. Was Mr. Hanbury at the meeting behind the park?—No.

7947. Or Mr. Lainson?—No, I never saw those gentlemen in any other meeting in my life.

7948. Was there any refreshment going on at the meeting behind the park?—There is no question that some of them did not stop there dry if they were at a public house meeting, there is no question but what they had something to drink.

7949. The landlord of the place belonged to Mr. Monson's party?—No, he did not belong to any of them.

7950. Did he vote?—No; he said he had had enough of the last election, and he wanted to get square from that.

7951. And so he would not promise his vote?—He would not promise.

7952. Did you have any refreshment that night?—Yes.

7953. Ginger beer?—Yes, and a drop of brandy.

7954. The ginger beer was put in a drop of brandy?—No.

7955. You paid for it yourself?—Yes, and I had a little drop given to me.

7956. What do you call a little drop?—About 3*d.* or 4*d.*

7957. Who gave you that?—Mr. Easton.

7958. Who is Mr. Easton?—A tradesman who was there at the meeting.

7959. Well, we will pass him by in silence. Now, did you see anybody else taking refreshment besides yourself?—I never went by a public house yet, but I have seen persons taking refreshment.

7960. Answer the question?—Well, that is such a curious question to ask.

7961. Not so, because it was going to lead to another; did you see those who had the refreshment pay for what they had?—I cannot say; I have gone to a house many a time and have not seen a man pay.

7962. Did you see anybody order refreshment?—No.

7963. Did the waiter come in and get his orders?—No, not that I know of; in fact, there was nothing in the booth to my recollection; if there was it was after I was gone.

7964. Did you have yours in the booth?—No, at the bar, and then I came away home.

7965. Then you heard no orders given with regard to refreshment?—No, and I do not know what there was; I cannot say there were not any orders or that there was not anything to drink, but I did not see any.

7966. I do not know whether you have told me the name of the landlord?—Mr. Walters.

7967. What is his Christian name, do you know?—I do not.

7968. He is on the register I suppose?—Oh, there is no question about that.

7969. Were you at any other meeting of a similar character?—No, those are all I believe. I was at one at Redhill, Warwick-town; I do not know whether they call it Warwick-town, but it lies between Warwick-town and the church.

SIXTH DAY.
H. Francis.
28 Aug. 1866.

7970. Where was it at?—The "Greyhound."

7971. Who was the landlord?—That I do not know, not Mr. B., he was not there then; this was at the last election.

7972. You do not know the landlord?—I do not know whether the name was Brown orSmith or what.

7973. Very well, I am afraid that we shall not be able to find it out by that definition, but you know the sign?—I know it was the "Greyhound."

7974. How was that meeting called, how came it to be held?—I am sure I do not know; I did not know that there was a meeting till they asked me to attend.

7975. Do you recollect who asked you to attend?—I cannot say; I know I was coming down the street, and I went into the "Grapes," and somebody said they were going to the meeting, and up I jumped.

7976. Who drove you?—I cannot say.

7977. Who took you in the trap?—Do you mean the coachman?

7978. There was somebody else besides the coachman?—Yes.

7979. Who was it?—Mr. Corderoy.

7980. Who was Corderoy?—A young man about the place.

7981. Was he a voter?—I believe he was.

7982. He was an active man, was he not?—Yes, he was, I believe, very active for Mr. Monson.

7983. What district did he live in?—Oh, I cannot say; I did not know anything of his affairs?—Not the slightest.

7984. Was anybody else with Corderoy that went with you to the meeting from the "Grapes"?—There were three or four, but I cannot tell you their names.

7985. I dare say you can recollect, it may be material for us to know who they were?—It is a great tax upon the memory to think of all these people. I have mentioned one, and perhaps if you call him as a witness he may mention another that he knows.

7986. If I can get it now from you very likely it will shorten our labours?—I told you of Corderoy. I cannot think of the others, it is no use telling a man's name when he was not there.

7987. There were two others besides you and Corderoy?—Yes, I believe there were.

7988. Did Mr. Nichols go with you from the "Grapes"?—No.

7989. When you attended this meeting who was in the chair?—I was.

7990. You took the chair?—Yes; in fact, I took the chair pretty nearly at all of them excepting at Redhill and behind the park.

7991. Was there refreshment going on at this house which you speak of, the "Greyhound"?—Well, the room was full.

7992. But were they not all drinking?—Yes, that is all I know; I do not know who paid for it or anything of the sort, there were a lot of men came in, a great many of a different sort.

7993. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you not order anything?—I ordered nothing, only for myself.

7994. Did you not say that you were out of pocket because of the money expended?—Yes, I did.

7995. How did you spend it if you did not order anything?—I did not spend any there, it was round at public houses different to these meetings. I said, those people who called the meetings let them pay for them, I have got enough to pay at other times when I am on my rounds. I do not know that I paid anything; I might have paid at Burrell's, at Redhill, some 3*s.* or 4*s.*, or offered 10*s.*; but that was the only meeting at which I did pay for anything, if I did then.

7996. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What class of persons were at this meeting at the "Greyhound"?—All sorts.

7997. All sorts?—Yes, of labouring classes.

7998. It was chiefly the labouring classes that attended there?—Yes.

7999. What was the class of drink that they had for refreshment, was it brandy and water?—Yes, and ale.

8000. Ale and brandy and water?—Yes, from what I could see it was just like any other public meeting; some would fancy ale, some beer, some brandy and water, and just what they liked to call for.

8001. Did you see them pay for it?—No.

8002. This was had in the room?—Yes.

8003. You were in the chair?—Yes.

8004. Did you take ginger beer?—No, cold brandy.

8005. Were you there when the meeting first began?—Yes.

8006. After it first commenced how long did it last?—I did not stop all the time.

8007. How long did you stop?—An hour and a half.

8008. When you left the chair of course you apologised to the meeting that you were going to leave, did you not?—Yes.

8009. When you left the chair I suppose you apologised to the gentlemen present for leaving?—Yes.

8010. Did you ask any gentleman to take your place?—Yes.

8011. What gentleman did you ask to take your place?—Mr. Rose of Redhill.

8012. What was his Christian name, and was it Ephraim?—No.

8013. Do you not know what his Christian name is?—Robert, I think it is.

8014. Are you certain it was Robert Rose who succeeded you in the chair?—I am not certain, but I think it was.

8015. Was he at the meeting?—He was at the meeting.

8016. You are sure of that?—Yes.

8017. Do you know how long the meeting was kept up after you left the chair?—No.

8018. You do not know?—No.

8019. Did you ever hear?—No.

8020. Were there any other houses you attended where this class of meeting was going on?—No.

8021. Have you now told me all?—That is all.

8022. An observation which fell from you drew me from the subject upon which I was questioning you; I will now revert back to it. You told me you gave Evans 2*l.*, and that you told him you would let him know when you wanted him for work, did you ever give him any work?—I do not know what he did.

8023. But you gave him the 2*l.* when you first saw him?—Yes.

8024. And at that time you did not know he had promised to vote for Gower?—He had not promised Mr. Gower, he told me so.

8025. You told us in your evidence yesterday you went round to test the purity of these men?—Yes.

8026. Did you say anything to him about voting for Mr. Gower?—I asked him if he had promised his vote, and I think he said, "No;" I said to him "You "look here, I am not going to be shut out altogether "by these youngsters, and will fight with the same "weapons."

8027. You told us yesterday what you did was to test the purity of the place?—I did, but after I had had the first communication I would not have any more of it.

8028. If Evans told you that he had not promised to vote for Mr. Gower, why did you give him the 2*l.*? I asked if he had been promised 5*l.* by the other side.—He did not tell me he had promised his vote.

8029. From whom then did you learn it?—He told me he was promised the 5*l.*

8030. He told you that before you gave him the 2*l.*?—Yes.

8031. Will you swear that?—Yes; he told me when I first saw him about it that he had been promised 5*l.* by the other side, as far as my recollection can go, and he did not know what he should do, whether he should take it or not.

8032. Before you gave him the 2*l.* will you on your solemn oath swear he said a single word to the effect he had been promised 5*l.* on the part of Mr. Gower?—I will not say positively as to that, but there was something of the kind said, because he lived close by me, and that was the cause of it.

8033. He lived close by you, did he?—Yes; and those who lived close to me if I asked them for their vote I did not trouble them again. I gave him 2*l.*, and told him he could have 1*l.* a week up to the day of the election.

8034. I believe you saw Mr. Evans very early in your canvass?—Yes.

8035. That was five weeks before the election?—Yes, I should say five weeks.

8036. There you and Mr. Evans agree. Did you also give Mr. Evans 5*l.*, 1*l.* a week for the three weeks following?—I did.

8037. Why did you do that?—I told him to come every Saturday for the money.

8038. Having given him the 2*l.*, you told him to come every Saturday for 1*l.*?—Yes, I told him he was to work for it, he was to come down, of course, to the committee room, or Mr. Nichols, and see whether there was anything to be done during the week.

8039. Did you inquire whether he had done any work before you gave him the 1*l.* a week?—No; at least, I asked Mr. Nichols whether Evans had been down, and whether he had found work for him.

8040. Did Nichols say whether he had found work for him?—I do not know that he said anything about it.

8041. From whom did you get the money to pay the 1*l.* a week to Evans?—2*l.* I gave him out of my own pocket.

8042. But when you gave him the 1*l.* a week I thought that you had seen Nichols and told him what was going on?—Yes.

8043. Had you received any money from Nichols to pay this 1*l.* a week?—I did not receive any money from Nichols not for a fortnight before the election.

8044. Now, be careful, do you mean to say that?—I should think so, I cannot say exactly about it; but when I paid him this 2*l.*, it was money out of my own pocket.

8045. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did you first get any money from Mr. Nichols?—It was a fortnight or three weeks before the election.

8046. Or a month?—I cannot tell you exactly.

8047. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It was before then that you got the money from Mr. Nichols, if you draw your recollection back, it must have been so.—I do not think it was; I know the first money he gave me was 20*l.*

8048. The first sum of money?—Yes.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I wish you could fix that.

8049. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Give me as nearly as you can the date when you received that money?—But I paid 10*l.* out of my own pocket before that, if you can understand it. I said to Mr. Nichols, "Look here, I cannot afford to spend all "my own money."

8050. Well, never mind that, you told us you referred to Mr. Nichols as to whether Evans had done any work, and then you paid him 1*l.* a week?—Yes.

8051. That was after you referred to Mr. Nicholls that you paid him 1*l.* a week?—Yes.

8052. Did you tell Mr. Nichols what engagement you had made with Evans?—I told Mr. Nichols I did not agree with all these fellows, they call themselves workers; I said that Evans worked with me, but I believe he intended going on the other side.

8053. I dare say Mr. Nichols being a sharp and clever man would not pay the 1*l.* a week on such terms as those?—He had nothing to do with it.

8054. You went to Mr. Nichols and told him this man was to have 1*l.* a week, and you went and asked him what work he had done?—And he said, None, or, perhaps, that he did not know Evans.

8055. Understanding that you paid 1*l.* a week to Evans?—Yes.

8056. Did you not get any of these pounds before you paid Evans?—No.

8057. Not before you paid Evans?—Oh, yes, but I paid 2*l.* out of my pocket, and at that time I paid 10*l.*; the 2*l.* was a portion of my money.

8058. When you paid Evans the 2*l.* had you then paid 10*l.* out of your own pocket?—Yes, I had, after I had paid Ede.

8059. Did you pay Ede before Evans?—I think both were paid together.

8060. The same day?—I think so, but I am not certain.

8061. And at that time you had spent 10*l.*?—Yes, and the 1*l.* a week I think I had from Mr. Nichols out of the 20*l.*

8062. It is clear the 3*l.* you paid to Evans for the three subsequent weeks formed no portion of the 10*l.* you had paid out of your own pocket; where did you get that 3*l.* from?—I did not get it singly, I told you I had 20*l.*

8063. You paid the 3*l.* out of the 20*l.*—Yes.

8064. Then what did you mean by saying just now that you got no money until a fortnight before the election from Mr. Nicholls?—I do not know exactly when it was, for the first commencement of my concern with the election was in April.

8065. Well, we will refer to it by-and-by, we have got a little closer to the point. You now remember the three one pounds you paid to Evans were out of the 20*l.* you received from Nichols, now try whether that does not enable you to fix the time when you received the 20*l.*?—I do not know the time when Evans received the first money.

8066. You have told us it was about five weeks before the election, you have told us that, and Mr. Evans and you both agree that it was about five weeks before the election?—He might be out a week and I might be out a week, I cannot tell exactly, but I know I paid him 2*l.*, and Mr. Ede, and I told Mr. Nichols I had paid 10*l.* out of my own pocket, and I asked him to advance me money to go on with. I told Evans to come down and see what he could do for us up at Redhill in canvassing, and I said to to him, "I will give you a 1*l.* a week to meet me at "the 'Grapes,' and if there was any person wished "to have a glass you will pay for it, and whatever "you pay I will give you the money back."

8067. And he was to get his refreshments in the shape of drink, and you were to pay for it?—Yes.

8068. Did you tell him to treat others as well as himself when he canvassed?—I told him if he liked to take any one there to take a glass of ale he could.

8069. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Could what?—I told him if there was any one there on the canvass who wished for a glass of ale he could pay for it, and I would pay it on the Saturday night when I gave him the 1*l.*

8070. Did you tell that to Ede or Evans?—To Evans.

8071. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Why did you particularly refer to the "Grapes" as to the drink; did you know others went there?—Yes, I did myself.

8072. Of course you paid for what you had?—I did sometimes.

8073. And sometimes not?—Yes.

8074. And was that so with other parties?—I do not know.

8075. Perhaps it was that they did not pay at all?—I cannot say that.

8076. Now attend to me; with regard to this 20*l.* that you received of Mr. Nicholls, let us have no misunderstanding at all about it. So far as we have arrived at a conclusion, I think it is this; let me see whether I am correct; before you commenced paying Mr. Evans his 1*l.* a week you had received money from Nichols?—Before I commenced paying the 1*l.* a week at least.

8077. Now, tell me, was it at the "Grapes" you mentioned this 1*l.* a week?—Yes.

8078. The "Grapes" inn, kept by Mr. Nicholls?—Yes.

SIXTH DAY.
H. Francis.
8 Aug. 1866.

8079. Was Mr. Nichols in constant attendance at the "Grapes" inn?—Yes.

8080. The "Grapes" inn is kept by Mr. Nichols, I believe?—Yes.

8081. It is the inn nearly opposite the "White "Hart" hotel?—Yes.

8082. Were these 3*l.* paid to Evans on a Saturday? Yes, on the Saturday.

8083. And at the "Grapes"?—Yes.

8084. That was so?—Yes.

8085. Now, before you paid to Evans either of the pounds at the "Grapes" did you speak to Mr. Nichols?—About what.

8086. About paying Evans 1*l.*?—I asked him.

8087. You have told us you asked Nichols whether Evans had done any work?—I told him if he had got anywhere for Evans to go.

8088. I want to know, before you paid any monies to Evans, did you ask Nichols for the money at that time, that evening?—Not as I am aware of.

8089. Did you never receive monies from Nichols on Saturday evening?—Oh, yes.

8090. Was a portion of that money to pay Evans?—There were generally one or two there that had been working and so on.

8091. Now you say that there were generally one or two who had been working who had to be paid, did you have to pay them?—Well, I have paid. All I paid was Josiah Ede 2*l.*, and this Evans, to my recollection, but of course there were others waiting to be paid.

8092. Now give me the names of those who were waiting to be paid on these occasions?—I cannot tell exactly.

8093. You can tell me one?—No, sir, I cannot tell you one, not to a certainty.

8094. Well, now, tell me to an uncertainty?—That is an uncertainty.

8095. Very well, make a guess, we will be quite satisfied with a guess?—I cannot, there were so many about there during the election. In fact, I cannot swear that those people were there to be paid, only imagination that is.

8396. You have made an assertion, that there were two or three there besides Evans on that Saturday to be paid, and you paid Evans?—I paid Evans.

8097. Tell me the others who were paid?—I do not know, I cannot tell you who the others were. In fact, when I say that there were others there, the passage perhaps was full, but I do not know whether they wanted paying or what not. They used to be inquiring for Mr. Nicholls and so on; I used to say, "I suppose you want paying," or something of that sort.

8098. Give me the name of any man to whom you said, "I suppose you want paying"?—I cannot.

8099. Why did you say to any one of them "I "suppose you want paying"? What led you to make that observation?—I did not tell them so.

8100. You have said just now that you said, "I "suppose you want paying"?—I said, "I suppose "you want paying," that was to myself.

8101. No, no, that won't do for us; you said it to them?—I did not say it to them; I said so to myself.

8102. That is not what you led us to infer at first, when you gave your answer. Do not shelve back?—Well, look here, you can talk for a week, and you won't get no more out of me than that. If I tell you aught else and bring a man's name in, what is the good of my telling you the man's name? I do not know whether that man wanted to be paid, I say I only said so in my own idea.

8103. Now just give me the name of some person whom you thought was going to be paid according to your own idea?—I cannot tell you that. I will answer any question that I do know, if I know it for true I will tell you.

8104. That would be very like truth if you were to tell us an answer to that question?—I do not know.

8105. Who was the person you thought was going to be paid?—I do not know.

8106. Was it a usual thing for persons to be engaged, as Mr. Evans was, on the Monson side?—I cannot say what they done.

8107. Oh, yes, you know it by reputation?—I know no more about the others' affairs than a child, nothing what they done, nor nothing of the sort. All I know is what I have done myself, and I did not trouble myself what others had done. I thought it was a bad policy in anything of this sort to let one another know your business.

8108. To let the opposition side know your business?—Ay, or even your own party.

8109. Then you did not tell anybody except Nichols what you had done with Evans, you kept that to yourself?—I told several since the election.

8110. But I mean before the polling you did not make that a subject matter of conversation at those meetings?—Oh no, sir.

8111. Now amongst your friends did not you say something of that sort. "I have given Evans a "couple of pounds, and he is going to work for us. "Cannot you get somebody to work for us as well, "in the same way"?—I never told any one.

8112. Did you ask anybody to canvass for Monson besides Evans?—Yes; Thomas Stone, Reigate-heath, first commenced it, but I found they wanted to know what the price was and so on.

8113. You put Stone on?—No, I did not put him on. In fact, I solicited him for his vote, and I found he was waiting to know what the price was, and I never troubled him any more.

8114. Did you offer Stone work?—I do not know; I asked him for his vote at any rate.

8115. Might you have offered him work?—I might perhaps.

8116. Thomas Stone is his name?—Yes.

8117. What sort of person is Mr. Stone?—He is a gardener, I believe.

8118. On his own account or a jobbing gardener?—A gardener to some gentleman, who is. I do not know exactly where.

8119. What sort of work were you going to put him upon, to canvass?—To canvass, I suppose. He was generally among the gardeners, and so on.

8120. I suppose his day was occupied at his ordinary work?—Yes.

8121. Was he to be paid for his work and loss of time?—Yes.

8122. What was he to be paid?—I offered him 5*l.*; I think I did, for his services. That was the first starting.

8123. Before you paid Evans?—I do not know, I think it was somewhere about the same time. That was to go on and work for Mr. Monson.

8124. Was he to attend the committees and meetings?—Yes.

8125. Did he promise to work?—No, sir, I had no more to say to him.

8126. He gave you some answer?—I never asked him any more about it.

8127. But did he tell you that he was engaged to vote for Mr. Gower?—No.

8128. Did you know that he was engaged to vote for Mr. Gower?—I do not think he knowed himself.

8129. That is no answer. Then you looked upon him as a perfectly free and independent voter, if you thought he had not promised?—He looked to me,—I do not know what he did look like; I did not trouble him no more after his vote.

8130. He refused to go upon the Monson side and accept your offer?—Yes, he did.

8131. But I suppose, if he had promised to vote for Monson, you would not have gone away, but you would have closed with him?—There is no question that I should.

8132. You would have said, "Very well, I will give "you the 5*l.*"—I do not know.

8133. Then why did you offer him 5*l.*?—That was for him to do the work.

8134. And vote for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

8135. Did you report to Mr. Nichols that you had seen this man Stone?—I think he had been mentioned once or twice.

8136. Did you?—I do not know whether I did or not.

8137. When you saw Nichols on Saturday, or whenever you went to the "Grapes"?—The fact of it is, I asked him for his vote first without promising any money. I found he was hanging about for some, and I offered him a job. That was the commencement.

8138. That is not an unusual commencement?—It does not appear to be.

8139. Did you report to Nichols that you had offered this 5*l.* to Stone, and that he would not promise a vote?—I do not know.

8140. Was it your custom to report to Nichols, or to any influential member of the committee, what work you had done, what success you had met with?—Not everything particular. Being in with Nichols for four months, of course you do not stand and say nothing, you pass a few remarks. But I have no recollection of half I said to Nichols during the four months.

8141. You were with Nichols some four months before the election; was it quite in the early part of the four months that you saw this man Stone?—I cannot say, I think it was.

8142. Then that must have been before Mr. Gower came forward?—Well, I do not know that; it was somewhere in May, I think.

8143. When did Mr. Gower come into the field?—That I cannot tell you exactly.

8144. Then it was that you saw Stone?—That I cannot say. There was a great deal at that election I forget, I assure you. Not that I wish to forget on purpose, I do forget it.

8145. If I understand you, are we to conclude that Mr. Gower came forward as a candidate after you had canvassed Stone?—I do not know, I cannot say.

8146. You have told us that you went out for the purpose of testing the purity of the election. Now, can you tell me whether it was before or after Mr. Gower came into the field that you canvassed Stone?—I do not know, I forget.

8147. Then that does not draw it to your recollection?—No.

8148. Was there anybody else besides Stone that you canvassed for the purpose of helping Mr. Monson?—I do not know.

8149. Somebody else that you offered a job to amongst the gardeners?—No, sir.

8150. A great many gardeners are voters, are they not?—Yes.

8151. Were there any other gardeners that you saw that you were going to engage as canvassers, or to vote?—I do not know that there were any.

8152. You know Stone was not the only man that you asked to vote and to work?—Stone was the man that lives next door to me.

8153. Is there any other man not living next to you that you canvassed in that way?—Yes.

8154. Tell us who?—Now you have asked me, that does sharpen my memory, I cannot think of all these things in a moment. A man of the name of Thrift. It has come to my recollection, I asked for his vote.

8155. Is that John Thrift?—Yes.

8156. He is a gardener?—Yes.

8157. Did you offer him work?—No.

8158. In what way did you canvass Thrift?—Asked him if he had made up his mind. He told me he was going to vote for Mr. Gower, and I never asked him any more.

8159. You know that is not what I mean. Did you see Thrift before that time, before the time you said he told you he was going to vote for Gower and you left him?—That was the first time I called on him.

8160. Did you ever ask him to canvass for Mr. Monson?—Not at all.

8161. Did you offer him a job?—No.

8162. Give me some person's name that you offered a job to, in the same way as you did to Stone and Evans?—Well, I cannot think of any.

8163. I suppose you might have offered a job to other electors, and yet not recollect the names.

8164. To how many?—I do not know.

8165. Some half-dozen?—That I cannot say.

8166. It might have been?—It might have been.

8167. It might have been fifty?—It might have been fifty.

8168. Did you continually canvass in that way these gardeners and labouring people, in offering them jobs?—No, in fact I did not canvass many of the gardeners.

8169. I say generally, when you canvassed a man, did you offer him a job to come upon the committee?—Yes, I asked him to come upon the committee, but I forget now who it was, no more than Stone; that is all.

8170. Did not you tell them they should be paid?—What, Stone?

8171. No, any of them that you canvassed. Did not you tell them that they should be paid if they came on the committee?—No, nobody else but Stone.

8172. Are you quite certain of that?—As far as my recollection goes.

8173. Do you know the name of a person called Peter Pelling?—Yes.

8174. Where does he live?—On the freehold.

8175. What is he?—A baker, I believe.

8176. A journeyman baker?—No, a master baker.

8177. What was he at the last election, journeyman?—I do not know; he has been a gardener.

8178. When did you see Pelling first?—I never canvassed him at all. He came and offered his services.

8179. Did you accept them?—I believe they did at the "Grapes."

8180. What was he to do?—Well, he was to work, but I do not know what he was to work. He was to call there the next day, but it appears he only come in as a spy. He was to have 30*s.*

8181. Who gave him the 30*s.*, did you?—I think I did.

8182. When was it you gave him the 30*s.*? Was it at the "Grapes"?—Yes.

8183. When was that 30*s.* given?—That I cannot say.

8184. How long before the election?—That I cannot tell you; I know he had the 30*s.*

8185. Was it some weeks before the election?—That I cannot tell you; I cannot tell you exactly when it was. I know he came and wanted a job; he had been out of work, and so on.

8186. Did you see him alone or in company with anybody?—What! when he wanted the money?

8187. When he came and wanted the job was Nicholls there?—Yes.

8188. Was it to Nicholls that he offered himself or to you?—He offered himself to Nicholls, I believe, first.

8189. And then came to you?—Yes, I believe so. I cannot say exactly whether he offered it to him or me, but it was to one of us he offered himself. He said he was out of employ; he wanted a job. I believe Mr. Nicholls set him on for 30*s.* a week during the election, something of that sort, and I gave him the 30*s.*

8190. On that evening when he asked for the job?—Yes.

8191. Then you paid him 30*s.* in advance?—Yes.

8192. Did you pay him any other money than 30*s.*?—None at all.

8193. Did you see any other monies given to him?—None at all.

8194. Where did you get the 30*s.* from you paid to Pelling?—I had it from Nicholls.

SIXTH DAY.
H. Francis.
28 Aug. 1866.

8195. Where did Mr. Nicholls take that 30*s.* from?—That I cannot say.

8196. From his pocket?—I think I gave him the money.

8197. Gave him the money to pay it; yes, but you got it from Nicholls first?—I had the money.

8198. When did you get that money from Nicholls that you gave Pelling?—I do not know whether I had it that night, or whether I gave it from my pocket, or how it was. I think I gave it to him.

8199. How came you to give the money, and not Nicholls?—That I do not not know. Mr. Nicholls asked me to pay him.

8200. Did you see whether Pelling did any work?—No; I cannot say.

8201. What work was he to do?—I do not know. He came and offered his services. I do not know what he was to do. He was going to canvass, and to be messenger, and I do not know what all; he was going to do something of that sort.

8202. Then this gentleman gardener who was out of work, and who is not a baker, was he an influential man then?—That I do not know.

8203. You do not know that he did any work at all?—No.

8204. Now was that the only person that you saw at the "Grapes" or elsewhere, who came and offered himself to work?—That I cannot say; if you know of any one that you can remind me of, I will tell you.

8205. You are to give me the information, you know it; you know that I was not here at the election?—Of course I will state anything that is correct, but I cannot bring it to my memory. Suppose I was to mention two or three.

8206. Very much obliged to you if you would?—And they were not there.

8207. I do not think it is very likely; you might make a very good shot?—On a man's name if he was not there?

8208. Give me one or two?—That I cannot.

8209. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Mr. Monson's friends will think that you are very lukewarm and inactive if you only mention two or three names?—I am not going to mention a man's name if he was not there, or anything.

8210. (Mr. Commissioner Swith.) Do you know the names of any persons who were employed in the same way as Pelling?—I do not know; I cannot say.

8211. Can you give me the names of any persons of that class of life like Mr. Pelling who were canvassing for Monson?—I cannot say.

8212. Or messengers?—No.

8213. Do you know who were the messengers?—I do not.

8214. Do not you know the name of one single messenger?—No.

8215. You had to send messages sometimes?—I do not know where I sent them to. I do not think I sent any one anywhere; in fact, I had no one along with me much, I kept by myself.

8216. You can tell me the names of some persons who were about Mr. Monson's committee room, hanging about as messengers?—No, not to a certainty. All that I see at the committee was the gentlemen I have stated. The others of course I do not know nothing what their business was.

8217. Now this other man, Mr. Josiah Ede, what was he to do?—I think he was a messenger; I did not employ him; I think I have heard him say that he was. I did not employ him as a messenger; there was something, I do not know exactly what it was.

8218. If you did not employ him as a messenger, what did you give him the money for, to vote?—To canvass for Mr. Monson, that is all; but I might have said he was to be a messenger, but I gave him the money and I never saw him no more. I believe he turned to Mr. Gower the next week; I never saw him no more.

8219. Then he did not belong to Mr. Gower's side when you gave him the money which you paid him, 2*l.*?—No; I gave it the same time as Evans.

8220. He did not go to the Gower side till a week after?—No; at least I do not know when he went to the Gower side.

8221. You are perfectly ignorant as to that?—I do not know when he went, although I know he was with Mr. Gower.

8222. Well, now, having given me that answer, that you are quite ignorant as to when he went to Mr. Gower, can you tell me how you explain that you gave that 2*l.* to him for the purpose of testing the purity of Mr. Gower's party?—Because I told him, I believe, if he wanted a job, if he was going to canvass, he had better see Mr. Nicholls or some of them, to see if they had got anything for him to do. Whether they employed him or not I do not know, but I did not go to Reigate-heath no more after that; in fact, I did not see him for months after that, and all that I heard was that he had voted for Mr. Gower.

8223. And you had given him the 2*l.* to vote for Mr. Monson?—I had given him the 2*l.* to vote for Mr. Monson.

8224. Did you offer any other monies to people to vote for Mr. Monson?—I do not know.

8225. I want to exhaust your memory if I possibly can with regard to these. You must have canvassed and offered jobs and monies to somebody else in the same way as you did Mr. Josiah Ede?—I do not know; I might have done so.

8226. Did you?—I do not know; I won't say that I did not or that I did.

8227. You might have done so, but the names do not come to your recollection at present?—No; if you bring any name, if I did I will say so.

8228. You know that is a perfectly harmless observation to make to me, because I am in your hands with reference to that?—Well, I cannot mention any names.

8229. I suppose you were very much disappointed when you found Ede had voted for Mr. Gower, were not you?—Well, it did not put me out much.

8230. Did you ever ask him for the 2*l.* back again?—No.

8231. Did you ever ask Evans for the money back again that you had given?—No, I did not.

8232. Now, you see, you put considerable difficulties in my way, let me see whether I can help you in any way. Did you know a person of the name of Trusler, of Mead-vale?—There are two or three of them.

2233. Do you know any one of the Truslers?—I know Trusler the tailor, and Trusler the carpenter. There is one a young chap, a schoolmaster.

8234. Do they all vote?—That I cannot say.

8235. Had these three Truslers all got votes?—I cannot say.

8236. Is there one named Francis?—I do not know. I know James Trusler.

8237. Did you canvass James?—Not to my recollection.

8238. Did not you offer him 5*l.* upon one occasion?—James Trusler?

8239. Or one of the Truslers?—I am sure I do not know; I might have done, I think I did James now I come to think about it, the night before the election; at least, it was like this: I do not know whether I did or who it was offered him the money.

8240. Was it in your presence?—It was the Saturday, I think, before the election I saw him.

8241. Who was with you?—That I cannot tell.

8242. Because you say it was doubtful whether you offered it or somebody else?—I will tell you where I was, up at the "Cross." He came in with two or three more, and they wanted to know how the figure ran, or something of that sort.

8243. Will you be kind enough to tell me who the two or three more were that came in with Trusler?—Some one from Redhill; I do not know the names.

8244. Can you give me the name of one?—I do not know any more than Trusler.

8245. You see how hard you deal with me; you won't let me know anything at all about it?—I will let you have the truth.

8246. I have drawn your attention to a particular name, Trusler?—I cannot tell you who the others were. There were two or three come in, but who they were I cannot tell you now.

8247. Now tell me what took place with Trusler on that night?—There were three or four come in, I forget the others by names, and they wanted to know what was doing—something of that sort; and I thought what their game was, to get 5*l.* or 10*l.*, or what they could out of me, and then intended to vote for Mr. Gower; so I don't know whether I am quite correct now—there is no question but what I said, "Will a fiver do for you?" and perhaps they would have took it, but they did not get it.

8248. You asked them if a fiver would do for them?—They came over here expressly on purpose to get money.

8249. When you found that the fiver was not enough did you offer 6*l.*?—That I cannot say.

8250. Just try and recollect; we shall get it by degrees?—I cannot say that; I might have done.

8251. They refused the 5*l.*?—I do not know about refusing; I did not let them have it.

8252. You of course did not let them have it, you were testing the purity at that time; but finding that they did not take the 5*l.*, although you would not let them have the 5*l.*, did you offer them 6*l.*?—That I cannot say.

8253. Will you swear you did not?—I cannot say that I did or did not.

8254. You know all these four may be called; we shall find them out if you won't tell me?—Well, I cannot tell you the names, I do not mind who they call.

8255. I want you to give me a distinct answer. When you found that they refused the 5*l.* did you not offer 6*l.*?—I won't swear that I did not; I might have offered them 6*l.*, and I might have offered them more, and they would have taken it; but they did not get anything.

8256. Did not you offer more money than the 5*l.* for the purpose of getting their votes for Mr. Monson?—Of course it be for Mr. Monson if it was any one; but then they come over there the night before, they had had plenty of time to make up their minds who they were going to vote for without coming, three and four in a bunch, to see what money they could get two or three days befere the election.

8257. Suppose those four persons had told you that they would vote for Monson, and you would have relied upon them, would not you have given them the 5*l.*?—I do not know; I should have had my doubts.

8258. Why should you have had your doubts?—I did not part with any money.

8259. But you had received 50*l.*, or perhaps more, from Mr. Nichols?—Yes.

8260. If you did not part with money what you do with that 50*l.*?—Oh, I was keeping part of it for myself, no doubt, I was in the election; no doubt for the polling day. I paid 30 or 40 "rooks," what was hired for the occasion.

8261. Will you be kind enough to tell me what do you call a "rook"?—Why, they had "rabbits" and we had "rooks."

8262. Are those what they call in the election expenses "Officers of the Peace"?—Well, I do not know whether they are peace-makers or row-makers.

8263. Are these rooks the persons who can caw at the public meetings?—Holloaing about.

8264. What were the rabbits to do?—They make a great noise if they get in a trap.

8265. I suppose the rabbits were to work in the borough, and the rooks were to work at the public meetings and make a noise?—Yes.

8266. Were there a lot of men on one side with poles and rooks on the top, and the others with poles with rabbits on the top?—That I cannot say.

8267. Did you see them?—I saw a rabbit on a pole once or twice.

8268. Did you ever see a rook on a pole?—Yes, I saw a rook on a pole.

8269. You engaged some of these fellows, and paid some of this money away to these men?—Perhaps 30 or more.

8270. Were they voters?—No.

8271. Were those people who went about with poles and rabbits, were they voters?—I do not know; they belonged to the other party.

8272. Did you see any of these men who were voters? Will you swear these fellows were not voters?—If they were voters, they were at other places, but not here. I did not know any of them. I paid them their money for two days' work.

8273. What sort of men were they, navvies?—Sort of tag, rag, and bobtail.

8274. Were they sort of navvies?—Of course when there is a nomination and polling there are generally a lot out of work, and they generally flock to a place and are hired.

8275. And the rooks, they flock here?—And the rooks, they flock here.

8276. Well now, how much of this 50*l.* did you pay in that way for rooks?—I paid 30 of them, perhaps more.

8277. How much did you pay them?—Some 10*s.*, perhaps 5*s.*

8278. How long did they work for it?—Two days.

8279. Did you pay any other monies to people like Ede and Evans?—Oh, yes, I spent a good deal of money during the election; in fact I spent a good bit the day after the poll.

8280. How did you spend that money the day after the poll?—There were a lot of fellows out here fighting, so I gave them half-a-crown to get rid of them.

8281. Could not you have got rid of them by walking away?—I did collar a man, and he come back again, so I gave him 2*s.* or 2*s.* 6*d.* to wash his face and get himself a glass of gin and water, and not let me see him any more. I did not see him any more that day.

8282. Was he a voter?—No, a rough.

8283. You told me in the early part of your examination, to go back to another point, that you spent a good deal of money in canvassing by yourself in houses. When you got a voter you took him and gave him a glass, canvassed over a glass, is that so?—Oh, yes.

8284. Did you do that on many occasions?—A good deal. I did not take any one particularly, I used to go about myself.

8285. If you saw a voter you took him into the "Cross" or some house like that, and canvassed him?—Not particular canvassed him. There are several that I know promised Mr. Gower, and when they had promised we would go and have a glass together. Those that I knew were going to stick staunch to the man, directly they told me they were going to promise Mr. Gower, I never troubled them any more; we had a glass together as comfortable as could be.

8286. You did not trouble them any more, whether they had promised under a 5*l.* promise or not?—No.

8287. Why did not you if you were testing the purity of the election?—Not where I found them genuine.

8288. You mean genuine fivers? I thought you went out under the instruction of Nichols to find out where these fivers were?—Oh, yes.

8289. And you took the money in your pocket. You told me you had sovereigns and so on in your pocket, and you went out to test the purity of the borough?—Yes, I did.

8290. How did you find out that these people had got their promise of 5*l.* from Mr. Gower's party?—It was not much trouble to do that.

SIXTH DAY.

8291. Were not they as close as you were in keeping all their information to themselves? You know you were very cautious in the way in which you did it; you never told anybody?—Not what I did.

8292. What you did?—Not more than I could help.

8293. You never told anybody till you told me, and you see what difficulty I have had to get it out of you?—Not much, I do not think.

8294. We have got on very well as yet, I am happy to say. Give me the names, if you please, of any persons that you took into one of these houses and had a glass of beer with before you canvassed him, or whilst you were canvassing him?—I cannot think of them exactly.

8295. Were there so many?—I may think of one presently.

8296. Because, you know, you must have spent some 10*l.*, 15*l.*, or nearly 20*l.*, in that way, according to the account you have given me of the money you received; and besides that there is a very large sum of money which you have not accounted for?—I say I had 50*l.* from Nichols, and it might be less, and it might be more. I was in the election four months before the polling, and I spent what money I had of my own, and I do not know how much that was exactly. That is what I account for my money.

8297. Can you give me a guess how much you spent of your own?—No.

8298. A good bit?—Yes.

8299. Some 40*l.* or 50*l.*?—I do not know.

8300. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said yesterday you had spent more than 100*l.*?—I said yesterday I did not know how much I did spend.

8301. "I received money from Nichols, 50*l.* more "or less; I expended more than 100*l.*"?—I say I might have done so.

2302. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Having said that you might have spent more than 100*l.*, was it something near 100*l.*?—I do not know exactly what it was.

8303. Just tell me: you did in fact canvass persons, and take them into houses and give them some refreshment whilst you were canvassing them?—Yes.

8304. And paid for what they had?—Yes.

8305. What did you generally have there; was it a glass of ginger beer, and your friend a glass of brandy and water?—A drop of ale.

8306. That would not come to very much each canvassing?—No, sir.

8307. Then you must have canvassed a great many to make up that large sum, 100*l.*?—I cannot tell you what I done with my money. I know during the time I neglected all my work, and that is all the money I had from Nicholls; there was the 50*l.* for my work, and for what I done, and spent, and everything.

8308. If you cannot give me any particular names, may I take it as a fact that you did canvass in this way, and treat the persons as you canvassed?—There is no question about that.

8309. Did you report to Nicholls the mode in which you canvassed them?—I might have done.

8310. Did you tell Mr. Nicholls in conversation what you were doing, the active part that you were taking for Mr. Monson?—I do not know exactly what I did say to Nicholls.

8311. Might you have told him that you had met so-and-so in the street, and taken him to such-and-such a house?—I might have gone into his house with any one for what I know.

8312. If you had taken a person to the "Grapes" you would have paid?—Yes; I always paid for what I drank.

8313. But Mr. Nicholls would have paid you afterwards?—I had the money of him, I have said.

8314. You had told Evans to canvass, and what he spent in drink you would pay him on the Saturday?—Yes.

8315. Now, was that the same course adopted between you and Nicholls?—No, sir; Mr. Nicholls did not say anything to me about how I was to adopt anything of the sort.

8316. But he knew you were canvassing on his behalf?—Oh! yes.

8317. You were examined yesterday; since you were examined have you seen Mr. Nicholls?—No, sir.

8318. Did you see Mr. Nicholls yesterday evening?—No; I went home.

8319. Did you go to the "Grapes"?—No.

8320. Did you see any of the persons?—I saw Mr. Nicholls this morning in the street; not to speak to him.

8321. You are quite certain he did not speak to you?—I am certain of that. I went to the "Grapes" this morning, but I did not see Mr. Nicholls.

8322. Who did you see there?—Some one in the bar. I went down and got a little drop of cold brandy and water before I came up here; that is all. I saw Mr. Nicholls in the street, but did not even say "Good morning" to him.

8323. Did you see Mr. Richardson?—No; I saw no one.

8324. Or had any conversation with anybody belonging to Mr. Monson's party since you were here yesterday?—No. I went to the "Grapes;" there was James Apted and two or three in there; I had no conversation regarding the election whatever.

8325. Or this examination?—No, sir.

8326. You were not told to keep things dark as much as you could?—Oh! no; I told them I intended to speak open.

8327. When did you tell them that?—A day or two ago.

8328. Who did you tell so?—James Apted.

8329. Did he tell you to keep things dark as much as you could?—No.

8330. What did he say when you said you intended to be open about the matter?—He did not say anything. He is a man I have very few words with.

8331. Is he the only person you have spoken to with reference to this examination, or your giving evidence at all?—With regard to this examination.

8332. Or giving evidence before this commission?—Yes. At least, Nicholls, he knew I was going; I told Nicholls if I was called up I should tell everything I knew about it. I said I was not going to get myself into trouble.

8333. When was it you told Nicholls that?—Some time last week.

8334. What did he say when you told him?—Oh! he did not say much.

8335. He said something?—He only sort of laughed, that is all.

8336. Did he tell you to keep things quiet?—He did not say much to me; not neither of them.

8337. Very likely not; but did he tell you that you were to keep things dark?—Mr. Nicholls gave me no advice on it whatever, not the least, either side.

8338. I am very much obliged to you so far for the information.

8339. (The Chief Commissioner.) Be kind enough to recollect, if you can, the meeting you had at the "Wheatsheaf" the night before the polling; I dare say you can recollect that?—I was not there.

8340. I mean at the "White Hart"?—I was at the "White Hart."

8341. Well, now, Nicholls was there that night, was not he?—I do not know. They asked me to nominate Mr. Richardson; that was the next morning.

8342. The night before?—I was not there the night before. If I said so it was a mistake. It was on the nomination morning.

8343. Were you there at the "White Hart"?—I was in the committee room.

8344. Was James Nicholls there?—Yes.

8345. Was Thomas Jordan there?—No.

8346. Do you know Thomas Jordan?—No.

8347. Richardson, was he there?—Not Richardson.

8348. Was Corderoy there?—Yes.

8349. Was Holdsworth there?—Yes.

8350. Richard Steer?—No.

8351. John Reed?—No.

8352. Henry Boult?—No.

8353. Were you there the night before the polling?—No, sir.

8354. I think there is some mistake about it?—If I said I was there the night before in regard to Richardson's affair, that is wrong. It was on the nomination morning.

8355. I want to know when it was, I have a fancy in my head you were there in company with these men whose names I have mentioned?—There were only three of us, Mr. Nicholls, Holdsworth, and me.

8356. Where was Richardson, was he there?—I do not know.

8357. When was it, at what meeting just before the election, that you met all those persons whose names I have just read to you, Nichols, Jordan, Corderoy, Holdsworth, Steer, Reed, and Boult?—What! a committee meeting.

8358. I dare say it was?—I do not recollect being at any meeting with Mr. Boult.

8359. Can you tell me whether all those men were members of Mr. Monson's committee?—I believe they were. I believe Mr. Boult was one, and so was Jordan and Reed.

8360. There is no doubt about it?—I believe that is right.

8361. Steer was?—Yes, I know him; I cannot remember any meeting with all those.

8562. I am wrong about the meeting, I suppose, but all those were members serving on the committee or the sub-committee for Monson?—I believe they were.

8363. Well, now, the morning before the election at the "White Hart" Nichols and you and Holdsworth were present together?—Yes.

8364. Were you present together the previous night there?—Not myself; I do not know whether the others were.

8365. Was not Mr. Richardson there that morning?—Not to my recollection. He was there on the nomination morning, but he was not in the room during the time.

8366. Was he there at the time that you made the arrangement about proposing Mr. Richardson?—Yes.

8367. Did Mr. Richardson come in, and did you tell him what had been arranged?—He was in afterwards.

8368. He, of course, acquiesced in the arrangement that he should be put up?—I do not know; I did not ask him. There was not a great deal of time, you see, between there and the going to the hall.

8369. But still you did not put Richardson up against his will?—Oh, no, he wished us to do so.

8370. Then I will take it that he acquiesced. At this time did you know where Mr. Monson was?—No, I did not.

8371. Had you seen him in Reigate that morning?—No, I had not. He might have been there.

8372. Was he here on the nomination day?—Yes.

8373. He was?—Yes.

8374. You do not recollect whether he came into the room?—No.

8375. Can you tell me whether he was aware in the morning of Mr. Richardson going to be proposed?—I believe he was.

8376. Did you tell him?—I do not know.

8377. Try and recollect?—I do not know whether he knew that. I know that Mr. Richardson agreed to stand the poll. Mr. Richardson was asked, I believe; so I heard; I did not ask him that; but Mr. Richardson was asked to stand and to be nominated as a candidate. Of course I asked what it was for, and so on.

8378. Having come to the arrangement which you told me about yesterday, about Mr. Richardson being put up, did you tell Mr. Monson why Richardson was to be put up?—I believe it was told the same day, the same morning.

8379. By whom?—He knew it. I do not know now whether I told him. If I said so last night I forget.

8380. No, you did not. I am not at all entrapping you, you did not say a word about it last night?—All I know is, that I know Mr. Monson was aware of it.

8381. Was Mr. Monson at all aware the arrangement was made about Richardson?—I believe he was.

8382. Do you feel confident he was?—There is no question about it. He was there the nomination morning, and Mr. Richardson and I went up with him.

8383. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was he at the "White Hart" on the nomination morning?—Yes, but not at the commencement.

8384. (The Chief Commissioner.) But before the nomination took place, and before Richardson was proposed, he was at the "White Hart"?—I cannot say whether he was at the "White Hart." I know that he came in at the "White Hart" on the nomination morning, but whether he was in the "White Hart" at the time Holdsworth and Richardson and me were talking about that, I do not know. I do not know whether he was present.

8385. But afterwards one of you must have seen him, or otherwise neither of you could have told him about the arrangement?—Oh, yes, but I cannot tell exactly who it was. I know we all met in the committee room to go to the hall.

8386. Was Mr. Monson informed, and did he know, why the arrangement about Richardson was made?—I believe he was.

8387. Did you hear him told?—No, I did not.

8388. Did you hear Mr. Monson say something about it? Did he approve of it?—I do not know. Of course he approved of it; there is no question about that. He would not like for another candidate to go opposite to him.

8389. Neither Mr. Gower nor Mr. Monson, you thought, would be likely upon a petition to hold their places, therefore Richardson was put up?—He was.

8390. Did Mr. Monson say "aye" about that arrangement, and that it was all right, Richardson had better be put up?—That I cannot tell you exactly.

8391. But you know what I mean when I say did he say "aye"? He approved of it, at all events?—I think there is no question that he did.

8392. Henry Boult, you know, was on the committee? Yes.

8393. He is a very old partizan down here at Reigate?—I do not know. He lives at Redhill, I believe.

8394. Don't you know that he has been concerned in a great number of elections past?—I do not know. I know he was on the committee of Mr. Monson; that is all I know.

8395. I do not recollect whether you told me last night that you had been at many previous elections, before this?—No, I never had a vote before this.

8396. Did you work at elections?—No.

8397. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You proposed Mr. Richardson, did you?—Yes.

8398. Who seconded him?—Holdsworth.

8399. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say that Mr. Monson was present when Mr. Richardson was proposed to the committee as coming forward?—I do not know that. He was at the "White Hart" that morning. I do not know what the gentlemen there said.

8400. Did you hear Mr. Monson dissent at all to Mr. Richardson being proposed?—Of course with a gentleman like that I did not go and poke myself in. If he was talking to a gentleman in any conversation, I did not go and listen to what they said.

8401. You did not hear Mr. Monson dissent?—No.

SIXTH DAY.

H. Francis.

28 Aug. 1866.

8402. There is no question that he assented ?—I suppose so.

8403. There was a matter yesterday which you told me about, and which requires some little explanation. You told me yesterday, that you gave a receipt for 5*l.*, a stamped receipt for 5*l.* to Mr. Nicholls ?—Yes. The truth of that is this, I cannot say whether that was 5*l.* or 50*l.* One day after the election I asked Mr. Nichols for 5*l.*, and he gave it to me. This was after the election, about two months.

8404. I see in the election expenses, returned by the expense agent, that your name is entered as a canvasser, but grouped with many others, and the charge for canvassers is 99*l.* 2*s.* ?—For mine ?

8405. No, generally. There are 12 canvassers entered at 99*l.* 2*s.* ?—Well, I do not know about that.

8406. Will you tell me what the amount was upon that receipt of yours ?—I cannot tell you what it was.

8407. Was it more than 5*l.* ?—There was five upon it, but whether there was "fifty" in writing I cannot tell. There was a stamp upon it, and I put my signature.

8408. If your receipt was for 50*l.*, that would leave only 49*l.* 2*s.* for the whole of the other canvassers ?—Mr. Nicholls asked me to sign that one day when I was passing his house, and I went in and signed ; but whether it was 5*l.* or 50*l.* I do not know. I know I saw the figure five, but whether it was written "fifty" in writing after that I cannot say.

8409. You told us that Nicholls owed you 5*l.* besides ?—Yes, I asked him for 5*l.* I considered he owed me 5*l.* on the election.

8410. Only the 5*l.* ?—I asked him for 5*l.* He gave it to me. That was a month after the election.

8411. Was it at the time he gave you the 5*l.* that you gave the receipt ?—No.

8412. When was it that you gave him the receipt ?—A couple of months after that.

8413. After the election ?—Yes.

8414. When you gave that receipt for 5*l.* to Mr. Nicholls did he say anything to you about giving it only for that sum ?—No.

8415. Did he say something of this kind, that he wanted a receipt for 5*l.* to return as election expenses ?—I do not know, no more than he said, "Give me "a receipt ; here is a receipt I want you to sign ;" and I signed the receipt ; but what it was for, or anything of the sort, I do not know. I did not ask him that question.

8416. I suppose your belief is that it was for 5*l.* ?—I do not know whether it was 5*l.* or more. It was 5*l.* in figures, but whether there was "fifty" in writing I cannot say.

8417. Not very likely. Did he tell you that that was for the purpose of the election accounts ?—No. He knew what I had had, and he asked me to sign this, and that is all that passed. I was in a hurry that morning. I was going up the street, and wanted to get away home. I had some business. I was in a hurry. I put my signature to it, and away I went out of the house, there and then.

8418. Did you understand it was to be on account of the election ?—Yes.

J. Apps.

JAMES APPS recalled and examined.

8419. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you recollect we talked to you about the election of 1865 ?—Yes.

8420. You were a voter in the election of 1863 ?—I was.

8421. Whom did you vote for ?—Mr. Wilkinson.

8422. Were you then resident at Mead-vale ?—Yes.

8423. Do you recollect on a Wednesday before that election, which was the 28th of January, being in the morning at Wood Hatch ploughing, when you were canvassed ?—Yes.

8424. Did Mr. Martingale of Earlswood, and Mr. James Nicholls, and Mr. Thomas Corderoy come to you ?—They did.

8425. You were ploughing ?—I was.

8426. They were agents for whom ?—For Mr. Gower.

8427. For Mr. Gower at that time ?—Yes.

8428. I mean, by agents, they were at work for him ?—Yes.

8429. Who was Martingale ?—Well, I believe he was a masterman carpenter at that time.

8430. He had nothing to do with you in employment ?—No, nothing to do with me.

8431. Do you remember Martingale calling to you and saying something of this sort : "Here, we want "to talk to you about your vote ;" or, "Here, Jim, "we want to talk to you about your vote ;" or something like that ?—Yes.

8432. Well, upon that you stopped your work, and Corderoy came and talked to you ?—They all three came.

8433. I believe they asked you if you had promised your vote ?—Yes.

8434. What was your answer, do you recollect ?—I said I had not.

8435. Did Corderoy then say to you, and they had come to ask you if you had not better vote for Mr. Gower ?—Yes, he did.

8436. I believe you were still unwilling to promise ?—I was.

8437. After you had shown some unwillingness do you recollect what Corderoy said to you about your plough ?—He asked me how the plough went, and whether it wanted greasing.

8438. What did you reply to that ?—I said, "I "think it does."

8439. What did Corderoy do upon that ?—He pulled a shilling out of his pocket, and spun it up, and said to the boy, "Take that, and go and get half "a gallon of ale ;" and the boy did so.

8440. That was your boy ?—That was the boy that was driving the plough for me.

8441. And the ale came, and it was drunk ?—Yes.

8442. Was it drunk there in the field ?—Yes.

8443. While the boy was away Corderoy went on talking to you about your vote ?—Yes, he did.

8444. He was a little more tangible then in what he said ? He fixed it a little closer ?—Well, he might, a little. I do not recollect just about that.

8445. What did he say ? He made you an offer then ?—Yes, he made me an offer then of 3*l.*

8446. 3*l.* for what ?—For my vote.

8447. For Mr. Gower of course ?—For Mr. Gower.

8448. Did he tell you the money was to be paid for doing anything, or something of that sort ?—No, he never said anything about that ; only, I was to have it for my vote, and I was to be here on the polling day. They were the words he said to me.

8449. Do you recollect whether he said you were to do any services at all for it ?—Not any at all.

8450. Did you agree ?—No, I did not.

8451. You still held out ?—I still refused to promise.

8452. Corderoy said something more then. He talked about one of your relations, about your brother, didn't he ?—No, about Tom Apps, the brickmaker. He is not any relation to me.

8453. Did he think he was then ?—No, I believe not.

8454. Didn't he tell you that you had a brother out of work ?—Yes, he did.

8455. Was that the case ?—That was the case. He had just left the army.

8456. What did he say about him ?—He said he might put him on work if he chose, and pay him for it.

8457. And if you did choose, what was he to do? You were to tell your brother to do what?—He was to go them for employment.

8458. Where was he to go to? Was that mentioned?—I cannot recollect that.

8459. Was the "White Hart" mentioned? Did he say, "Send him up to the 'White Hart'"?—I believe he did.

8460. Did he say what he would pay him for his work?—Yes, I think he said 5*s.* up to the polling day.

8461. And what was to be allowed for polling day and nomination day?—I cannot say.

8462. Do you recollect whether he fixed any larger sum for the last two days, the polling day and the nomination day?—I cannot say that he did then.

8463. Do you recollect the sum of 30*s.* being mentioned at all?—There was something said about 30*s.*, but I do not recollect what.

8464. Do you recollect whether he added up what it would all come to?—He said it would be 3*l.*

8465. That was for your brother?—Yes.

8466. Had your brother a vote?—No. He had just left the army, invalided home on account of the rheumatics.

8467. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was independently of the 3*l.* you were to have?—Yes, as I understood.

8468. (The Chief Commissioner.) I think you acquiesced,—said you would send your brother up?—I think I did.

8469. Do you remember what Corderoy said then?—No.

8470. Did he say, "But I should like to have your "promise to vote"?—Yes.

8471. You still held off, and declined to promise?—Yes.

8472. Then upon that did Corderoy say, "Well, "then, if that is so, it is no use sending your brother "up"?—Yes, he did.

8473. Then he talked to you a little more, and did you at that time promise?—No, I did not.

8474. I dare say you recollect whether Corderoy took something out of his pocket to write upon?—He did so.

8475. What did he take, a piece of paper, or a book, or what?—He took a book out.

8476. And he was writing down something?—Yes, he did write down something, what, I do not know.

8477. Did you say anything about it?—I told him it was no use his putting my name down, because I would not promise him, and I did not.

8478. What did he say to that, do you recollect?—That I cannot say.

8479. Do you recollect he said when you would be paid?—He said I should be paid after the polling day.

8480. But it ended in your not promising after all at that time?—It did.

8481. At that time had you seen Mr. Gower himself?—I do not think I had; no, I had not.

8482. I think at that time Corderoy asked you the question, didn't he?—Yes, he did.

8483. And he promised to bring Mr. Gower to introduce him to you?—Yes, he did; and he brought him in the afternoon.

8484. In the afternoon of the same day?—Yes.

8485. You remember the interview when Gower came to you?—Yes.

8486. Were you working in the same field at the plough?—Yes.

8487. Did Corderoy come with Mr. Gower?—Yes.

8488. And Mr. Gower spoke to you?—He did.

8489. I suppose he asked you, "How do you do," and you said, "Very well, I thank you," and so on?—Yes.

8490. Did Mr. Gower then say something to this effect, "Corderoy tells me you want to see me," or something of that kind?—About the voting,—yes.

8491. And he canvassed you for your vote?—Yes.

8492. Did you then promise him your vote?—No.

8493. What did Gower say upon that?—He said I had better give him my vote. I said No, I should not.

8494. Was there any salutation passed at that time?—He asked me several times, and I denied.

8495. Was there any salutation, any compliment passed?—Not with Mr. Gower. Mr. Corderoy, he mentioned the sum.

8496. I am not alluding to money the least in the world, but in the course of the canvass was there any sort of salutation between you and Mr. Gower, did he shake hands with you?—Yes.

8497. In the way of canvassing I mean?—Yes, in the way of canvassing.

8498. He of course was sorry you were reluctant to promise him your vote?—He did say so.

8499. Naturally enough. And, finding that you would not promise, do you recollect what passed, anything being done between him and Corderoy?—Mr. Corderoy called me a little on one side, and he said I had better vote and have the 3*l.*, and have done with it; and I said I should not. Mr. Gower made reply, and he said he thought he had better get on one of the horses, and ride to and fro the field with me till I did promise.

8500. It was Corderoy that said to you that he would be able to get you the 3*l.* he had promised. Had you noticed any conversation between Corderoy and Mr. Gower?—They spoke to one another at a distance from me, and I did not hear what they said.

8501. But you know Mr. Gower had been canvassing you?—Yes.

8502. And you had held out and would not promise him?—No, I did not.

8503. Did you see then a conversation take place between Gower and Corderoy?—I did.

8504. Was it after that conversation that Corderoy came up and said something to this effect, "I can keep "my word about the 3*l.* to you"?—Yes, afterwards.

8505. Something to that effect?—Yes.

8506. Still you did not promise Corderoy?—No, I did not.

8507. Did Mr. Gower upon that, so far as you can recollect, come up and say something? Was anything more said about your brother?—Well, I really do not recollect whether there was or not.

8508. Did Mr. Gower make you any promise at all?—No, he did not make any promise, not to my recollection, not himself.

8509. Did they remain there some time after that?—Yes, they were there I should think, as nigh as I can tell, an hour or over, with me.

8510. Did they get a promise from you?—No, they did not.

8511. And then they went away at last?—They went away at last.

8512. Do you recollect seeing either of them again the following morning?—I really do not recollect.

8513. Do you remember seeing them again?—Oh, yes, I saw them several times.

8514. Together?—I do not know.

8515. Did you see them to speak to them?—I spoke to them both afterwards.

8516. Do you remember them coming afterwards together and speaking about your vote?—I do not recollect whether they came together again or not. I think they did, but I do not recollect.

8517. Do you recollect one of them saying, "Well, "Apps, I am glad at last you made up your mind," and your saying, "Well, I have not," something like that; perhaps you do not remember that?—I do not remember it.

8518. Well, I do not at all wish you to say so if you do not, I am sure. You did vote at last?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

8519. This was in 1863. When you had the con-

SIXTH DAY.
J. Apps.
28 Aug. 1866.

versation with Mr. Gower and Corderoy, had you at that time promised Mr. Wilkinson?—No, I had not promised him.

8520. When did you promise Wilkinson?—I promised him the next morning.

8521. Who canvassed you for him?—Mr. Mazden, I think. It was Mr. Mazden.

8522. He asked you for your vote, I suppose?—Yes, he asked me for my vote.

8523. Was Mr. Wilkinson there himself?—He was there the same evening, at Mr. Mazden's.

8524. Was it there that you saw him?—Yes.

8525. What made you go there?—There was a bit of a meeting there, and he sent for me.

8526. He asked you for your vote?—Yes.

8527. What was said about it; try and recollect?—I told him I should not promise then.

8528. The same as you had told Mr. Gower?—Yes; I said I should not promise till the day, either of them. Mr. Wilkinson came himself that night, or at least, not himself, his brother, Mr. Norman Wilkinson. They introduced the thing to me, and he asked me for my vote. I did not promise him, not that night.

8529. Was anything said then about your brother?—Not that I can recollect.

8530. You would recollect it, wouldn't you, if anything was said about your brother?—I am sure I do not know, it is so long ago.

8531. What was said about your voting?—There was nothing more said about it, no further than they asked me for my vote.

8532. Well, but you did not promise it that night?—No.

8533. Why didn't you promise it that night?—Because I thought I would not promise till I had a little better understanding.

8534. Exactly?—I did not know either of the men, not to say know anything of them. I knew Mr. Norman Wilkinson.

8535. What understanding did you come to at last, was it the next morning?—The next morning Mr. Wilkinson came to me, after Mr. Gower had been, and asked me if I did not have Mr. Gower in the field to me? I said, "I did." He said, "I hope he has "not had any influence over your vote." I said, "No, "not at all." Then he said, "You did not promise "him?" "No," I said. "Then," he said, "you "were the same with him as you were with me last "evening?" I said "I was," and he asked me then if I had made up my mind which way to go? I said, "I do not know at present," and he asked me a time or two, and I promised him.

8536. Why?—Because, knowing him, I knew that he was very liberal to the poor of Nutfield parish and those around.

8537. You were not one of the poor of Nutfield parish?—No, I was not then; and it did not matter much whether it was Nutfield or Reigate. I never had anything of him.

8538. Didn't you come to some understanding?—No, I did not, no further than I promised him there and then that I would vote for him; and there was nothing mentioned about any one thing, not about money or anything.

8539. Did he never promise you?—No, he never promised me a farthing.

8540. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Nor any one for him?—No; I never had a farthing.

8541. (The Chief Commissioner.) Whom did you vote for this time?—Wilkinson.

8542. You say you never had a farthing; were you expecting it for six months after the election?—No.

8543. Didn't you expect anybody to call upon you?—No.

8544. Didn't you expect anything from Mr. Norman Wilkinson?—No, I did not.

8545. Do I understand you to say that you voted for Mr. Wilkinson entirely on principle?—I did.

8546. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) But how came you so soon to shift your principle, because your principle the night before was to vote for the man who would give you the most money?—No; I never thought of such a thing.

8547. You said you were going to wait till you could get a better understanding. What do you mean by a better understanding?—To know which of the men was thought most fit by other people as well as myself, not as to any money at all, not in the least.

8548. (The Chief Commissioner.) Now, you know Holdsworth, don't you?—Yes.

8549. Have you got anything to do with Holdsworth?—No, not at all now.

8550. Had you in the election of 1865?—I was working with him.

8551. That is what I mean. Do you recollect having some conversation with Holdsworth about voting?—Yes.

8552. What did Holdsworth tell you?—Why, he asked me for my vote.

8553. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For whom?—For Mr. Monson, and I promised him.

8554. (The Chief Commissioner.) Promised whom?—I promised Mr. Holdsworth that I would vote for Mr. Monson.

8555. When was that?—I cannot say justly when.

8556. Was that before you were canvassed by Mr. Gower?—After that.

8557. Was it after you were canvassed by Mr. Norman Wilkinson?—That was in the election before.

8558. Well, at that time you were working with Holdsworth, in 1863?—Not in 1863.

8559. Oh, I misunderstand you.

8560. In 1865 you were working with Holdsworth?—I was.

8561. I thought you negatived that. Did Holdsworth in 1865 ask you for your vote for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

8562. Did you promise it?—I told him that I would promise him the next day; I would tell him.

8563. What did he say when you did not promise him at once?—He did not say anything more but "You will make up your mind then, Jim, and let me "know to-morrow." I said I would.

8564. Did you let him know "to-morrow"?—Yes.

8565. Which way?—I told him I would vote for Mr. Monson.

8566. Why?—I was employed by Holdsworth, and I received very good wages; and I had a wife and children to look to.

8467. Had you any reason for supposing you would lose your work if you did not vote for Monson?—Two or three told me that he could not find me work all the winter, go which way I would. I said I did not know about that.

8568. Did Holdsworth tell you so himself?—No, he did not.

8569. Do you remember a conversation with Holdsworth when he was sitting on the corn bin in the stable?—No, there is no corn bin in the stable; so I am satisfied I do not.

8570. I ask you whether in 1865 you recollect a conversation with Holdsworth when he was sitting on the corn bin in the stable?—I said there is no corn bin there, so I could not recollect such a conversation.

8571. Do you remember a conversation when he was sitting on a corn bin not in the stable?—No; I have no recollection of anything that passed in the stable at all, because I do not recollect that ever he came into the stable to say anything.

8572. Do you remember any conversation with Holdsworth outside the stable about your vote, and about your wages and your work?—No, I do not.

8573. Did Holdsworth tell you that he certainly would send you away from his employment if you did not vote for Monson?—No, he did not.

8574. Did he say anything of the kind?—No.

8575. You are sure of that?—I am sure of that.

8576. Did Holdsworth ask you to work for Mr. Monson?—No.

8577. Are you working with Holdsworth still?—No, I am not working with Holdsworth.

8578. Didn't he ask you to be on Mr. Monson's committee?—He did ask me to be on the committee.

8579. Did he put you down on the committee?—I cannot say whether he did or not; I do not recollect whether my name was on or whether it was not.

8580. After he talked to you about putting your name down on the committee, he paid you money, didn't he?—No; only for my work.

8581. What did he pay you for your work afterwards?—18*s.* a week; that was my weekly pay.

8582. How did he pay you?—He paid me every week.

8583. Didn't he pay you a certain sum of 5*l.* on one occasion?—No, he never did.

8584. Didn't he pay you a sum of 3*l.*?—No.

8585. And didn't he pay you a third sum of 2*l.*?—No, he did not.

8586. Did he pay you any sums of money except the 18*s.* a week?—No.

8587. Do you know a man named James Fisher, your brother-in-law?—Yes.

8588. Do you recollect showing James Fisher the money?—No; I never did.

8589. Did you show him any money?—I might have shown him some money.

8590. Not what you might, but what you did?—Not any money which I had for my vote.

8591. I did not say for your vote. You had been asked to belong to the committee for Holdsworth?—Yes.

8592. Holdsworth was an active man for Mr. Monson. Did you show Fisher any money you had received from Holdsworth?—No.

8593. Did you tell him you had received money from Holdsworth?—No.

8594. You told me just now that you might have done so?—I might have shown him some money, but not for that.

8595. I suppose you would not show your wages. A man when he has received his 18*s.* a week for his wages does not show that. Any man is paid that as a matter of course. What do you mean by saying "I might have shown him some money"? Have you any explanation of that?—No.

8596. Did you show any money to Fisher at all?—Not that I can recollect.

8597. It is odd you should say to me, "I might "have done so," is not it?—Well, I do not know, I do not recollect anything at all of showing him any money at all.

8598. Do you recollect that when you got the money from Mr. Holdsworth you went and laid some of it out in buying a new coat?—I did buy a coat about that same time, but not with any money of that. I might go and buy a coat now.

8599. Did Fisher go with you when you went to buy your coat?—No, he never did. That I will be on my oath, any time.

8600. It would appear that I am wrong, from what you say?—He might say such a thing, but I am satisfied that he never did; and he never saw any money that I received from Mr. Holdsworth on that account.

8601. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Just revert to a point that I was going to ask you about, in reference to 1863. You had been offered 3*l.* for yourself and 3*l.* for your brother if you promised your vote to Mr. Gower?—Well, I understood that my 3*l.* was to be different from the other.

8602. You went to Mr. Wilkinson's committee room the day after?—No, he came to me in the plough field.

8603. But you did go to the committee room?—I went that night as Mr. Gower came in the afternoon.

8604. You saw Mr. Norman Wilkinson, and you did not then promise?—No, I did not then promise.

8605. And you told the Chief Commissioner that you wanted a better understanding?—I did.

8606. Now, I want you to explain to us what you mean by a better understanding?—Well, I wanted to see others, to see whether they knew any more about it, to inquire which they thought was the best way for me to go, which would be the likeliest man.

8607. You said you were not going to promise until the polling day?—I did say so two or three times before, and I do not know that I might not half a dozen times; I did say I would not promise. Then, of course, I altered my mind.

8608. Why did you not tell Mr. Gower and Mr. Corderoy, when you were offered the 3*l.* for yourself and the 3*l.* for your brother, that it was no use their talking to you about money, you intended to go on principle? Why did you not refuse the money at once?—I do not know how that was, I am sure; I cannot say about that.

8609. You say they were a very long time with you? They were an hour in the field?—I told them I could not trust to them; if they were to pay me the money first, I might go; and Mr. Corderoy said, "Oh, no." He said he could not do it like that; he could not trust to me. I said, "if you cannot trust "to me, I cannot trust to you."

8610. And is that the meaning of what you said when you said, "I wanted a better understanding"?—No, it is not.

8611. If he had given you the money then, should you have promised?—Yes, but I do not say that I should have voted for them though.

8612. You would have got the money and broken your bargain?—I think it is very likely I should.

8613. I think you mentioned Mazden in reference to canvassing?—Yes.

8614. He canvassed you in the last election of 1865?—Yes.

8615. What did he offer you?—5*l.*

8616. Did you get it?—No.

8617. That was for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

8618. He was against Mr. Gower in 1863?—Yes.

8619. On which side was Mr. Nicholls on that occasion, in 1863?—In 1863 he was for Mr. Wilkinson, the same as Mr. Mazden was, and the next time he is for Mr. Monson.

8620. These two gentlemen always go against one another?—No, they were both together.

8621. Was not Nicholls for Gower in 1863?—Yes, of course he was.

8622. Mazden was for Wilkinson. At this election Mazden was for Gower, and Nicholls was against Mr. Gower?—Yes.

8623. Have you seen other elections here before 1863?—No, leastways I have seen them, but I never was in one before.

8624. You never voted?—No, I had no vote.

8625. Now, Mazden offered you 5*l.*?—Yes.

8626. Mazden offered you 5*l.* for Gower?—Yes.

8627. Before he offered you for Wilkinson?—He offered me nothing for Wilkinson.

8628. Quite certain of that?—Yes, quite certain.

8629. Then did Mr. Norman Wilkinson offer you anything?—No.

8630. Are you quite certain about that?—I am quite certain. There was nothing said about money at this time at all.

8631. This was in the evening that you were at Wilkinson's committee, and I think you told us that on the following day you promised to vote for Wilkinson?—Yes.

8632. To whom did you promise?—Wilkinson himself, in the plough field.

8633. Did you go straight home from Wilkinson's committee room to your own house on that occasion?—Yes.

SIXTH DAY.

J. Apps.

28 Aug. 1866.

8634. Then I suppose you went to bed and got up early to go to your plough?—Yes.

8635. What time were you at your plough? Five or half-past?—About 7 o'clock when I got to the plough, but I was down to the stable to attend to the horses about 5.

8636. Then you were about your ordinary business about 5 in the field till you saw Wilkinson when he came to canvass you?—I think that was about half-past 9 or 10 o'clock.

8637. Wilkinson was a stranger to you before?—Mr. Arthur Wilkinson was, but Mr. Norman Wilkinson I had known for several years. That is the reason I voted for his brother.

8638. Did you vote on account of Mr. Norman Wilkinson then?—I did, a good bit.

8639. What was the other bit about?—Well, I voted for his brother on account of knowing of him, and they said his brother was as good a man as he was, as liberal. That is all that I knew anything about.

8640. As liberal?—Yes, as liberal as he was himself. I thought he was the best man of the two.

8641. Didn't Mr. Norman Wilkinson say anything to you about the liberality of the election?—No further than he said his brother was a true Liberal, and Mr. Gower, he said, was a Tory. That is all that I know. I cannot recollect anything that he said to me beyond that.

8642. Well, but then, what was the other little bit that induced you to vote, beyond your knowledge of Mr. Norman Wilkinson?—Well, I had no other little bit that I know of at all.

8643. Do you mean to say that Mazden said nothing to you about payment?—Not at all.

8644. Had you told Mazden, or told Mr. Wilkinson, what your conversation had been with Mr. Gower the day before?—Yes.

8645. Whom did you tell?—The boy went and told his father first.

8646. Whose father?—Joseph Risbridger. The boy's name was George Risbridger; and his father asked him——

8647. Never mind about that; if it becomes of importance I will ask you presently. Did you tell Mr. Norman Wilkinson what had taken place between you and Gower and Corderoy the day before?—I did. Some of the committee had told him before, and he asked me about it.

8648. Some of the committee? Then had you told any of the committee?—Yes; I mentioned it that same night to Mr. Wilkinson.

8649. To Mr. Wilkinson the candidate you mentioned it?—I believe Mr. Thomas Penfold was there, and Mr. Rose, but I really do not know whether it was Robert Rose, or what his Christian name was, now; he was chairman.

8650. You mentioned it to Penfold and Rose; did you mention it to Mazden?—Well, I cannot say whether he was in the committee room or not when I told them of it.

8651. Didn't you tell them you did not agree to vote for Gower, because there was a little hesitation about when the money should be paid?—Yes, I did.

8652. Now, upon that, was not something said to you as to money?—No, nothing.

8653. Not by Mazden?—Not to my recollection, however, and I think I should recollect it if there was anything of that.

8654. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) About your not being a loser by supporting their side?—He never said anything of that to my recollection. There was not a word said, as I recollect, about money matters at all.

8655. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was there a promise of employment?—No promise of employment, or anything of the sort.

8656. Nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

8657. Now, was it with Mazden and Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Norman Wilkinson only that you had the conversation that you recollect about this matter?—I never did have any conversation with Mr. Arthur Wilkinson at all about it.

8658. But you mentioned the fact of Gower canvassing you the night before?—To Mr. Norman Wilkinson.

8659. But to Mr. Arthur Wilkinson?—No; he was not there, and I do not think I saw him at all then.

8660. Then you only mentioned it to Mr. Norman Wilkinson?—And to two or three others. I think Rose was there.

8661. Which Rose was it?—I do not know his Christian name. He works at the Asylum; he is a carpenter there.

8662. Then it would be Ephraim?—I do not know. He has a house at Mead-vale.

8663. Was it the Ephraim Rose who has been examined here?—I do not know. He has lost one eye. What his name is I cannot say.

(Short adjournment.)

J. Allen.

JOHN ALLEN called, sworn, and examined.

8664. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What occupation are you?—A labourer.

8665. All men are labourers; are you an agricultural labourer?—Yes, agricultural, or I work in the building trade.

8666. Which is it?—I work in the building trade.

8667. And you occupy a house with a rental of——?—5*l.* 4*s.* a year.

8668. Are you a voter?—Yes.

8669. Is that the rent you pay, 5*l.* 4*s.*?—Yes.

8670. How long have you been a voter?—I voted for Mr. Hackblock when he put up.

8671. How long have you been a voter; how many years?—I do not know how many years ago it is when Mr. Hackblock put up; seven or eight years, is it not?

8672. You have been a voter for seven or eight years?—Yes.

8673. Living in the same house?—Yes.

8674. And you pay 5*l.* 4*s.* a year rent; that is 2*s.* a week?—Yes.

8675. Do you pay it by the week?—No; quarterly, or how I can. Quarterly I generally send it.

8676, Where is it situated?—Redhill; near Redhill church.

8677. What is it rated at?—7*l.* a year it was a little time ago, but it is under a different Act now, I believe.

8678. How is it you only pay 5*l.* 4*s.* a year?—Why, I keep the place in repair myself. If there are any repairs wanted I do them.

8679. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you ever been objected to before the revising barrister?—Yes.

8680. And you have satisfied the revising barrister that your house is worth 10*l.* a year?—Yes.

8681. And no more?—No more. I have been here before the revising barrister.

8682. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How many years ago?—Three or four, perhaps.

8683. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

8684. That is the first time you voted for Mr. Gower, I believe, was it not?—No; I voted for Mr. Gower before.

8685. Did you?—Yes.

8686. When?—Before this election; when he put up first.

8687. In 1863 ?—Yes.

8688. Had you ever voted for Mr. Monson ?—Not this present Monson.

8689. You voted for Lord Monson ?—Yes.

8690. The brother ?—Yes.

8691. When was that you voted for Lord Monson ?—I do not know how long ago it was ; I do not keep such things in my head.

8692. 1858 or 1859 ; 1859 perhaps ?—Perhaps it was. I voted for him when he put up, whenever it was.

8693. Who was his opponent? Who was against him ?—Mr. Doulton.

8694. That was in 1858, I believe ; did you vote for him ; that is the present Lord Monson ?—Yes.

8695. Did you vote for any of the Monson family after that ?—No.

8696. For whom did you vote in 1863 ?—For Mr. Gower.

8697. Who canvassed you in the last election ?—In this last election ?

8698. Yes ?—No one.

8699. Nobody came near you ?—No.

8700. On behalf of Mr. Gower ?—No.

8701. Nobody called upon you at all ?—No.

8702. Who canvassed you in 1863 ?—I cannot say now.

8703. Recollect, if you please, who called upon you ; did you see Mr. Gower ?—Yes, I believe I did see Mr. Gower.

8704. Whom did you see with him ; what friend did you see with him ; who was canvassing ?—I do not know ; there was somebody with him.

8705. Yes, of course, there would be somebody with him, but recollect, whom did you see ?—I cannot recollect.

8706. You must recollect ?—I cannot recollect who he was ; it is so long ago.

8707. 1863 is not so long ago ?—Three years.

8708. Whom did you see ; just recollect ?—I don't recollect, I am sure.

8709. Oh ! yes, you do ?—It was a stranger to me, perhaps.

8710. Who spoke to you about it ?—Mr. Gower.

8711. Did he say, "You have voted for Lord "Monson before," and that he had known you ?—Yes, he had known me before.

8712. There was a Monson up in 1863 ?—Yes.

8713. Were you canvassed on behalf of Mr. Monson in 1863 ?—No.

8714. Did anybody speak to you ?—No.

8715. Nobody canvassed you, although you had voted for Lord Monson before ?—Oh ! yes, I voted for Lord Monson.

8716. Now you can tell me who canvassed you besides Mr. Monson himself ?—No.

8717. Your eyes must have been rather ——?—No, they were not.

8718. They were not what ; your eyes were not what ; they were not closed ?—Closed, no, I hope not ; they are open now.

8719. Do you mean to say you did not know there was money going in 1863 ?—I did not know there was money going.

8720. Never heard there was money going in 1863 ?—No.

8721. Really, Mr. Allen ?—It is quite right what I am telling you.

8722. I am not asking you whether you had any money or not ; did you not hear there was money going ?—I did not trouble myself about the election.

8723. But we hear things without troubling ourselves much ; had you never heard that money was going in 1863 ?—No.

8724. Before the election ?—No.

8725. Nor after the election ?—No.

8726. Never heard that money was paid by Gower or by Wilkinson, or on Gower's behalf or on behalf of Wilkinson ? —I never had any from them ; there might have been money.

8727. But had you never heard that money was going ?—There was a talk about it, but I never saw any pass.

8728. But you had heard that there was money in 1863 ?—It was all the talk round ; anybody could hear it.

8729. Was it not the talk in 1863 ?—It was; but I did not receive any.

8730. Did you attend any of the committee meetings ?—At this last election I did.

8731. I am asking you about 1863 ?—No.

8732. Had you attended any public meeting ?—No.

8733. You attended no public meetings ; who brought you up to vote in 1863 ?—I walked over from Redhill.

8734. Did you come with anybody ?—No.

8735. Did you know who were Mr. Gower's agents in 1863 ; the gentleman who had been acting as his agent in 1863 ?—Oh ! yes, I knew Nicholls ; that was all ; he was his agent then, I believe.

8736. Any one else ?—No.

8737. You only knew Mr. Nicholls ?—I knew Mr. Nicholls.

8738. Did you know any other gentleman ?—Not that I know of, that was an agent of Mr. Gower's.

8739. Very well, you heard that money had been going in 1863 ; did you hear that money had been going in 1865, the last time ?—Oh ! I heard the talk of it.

8740. What did you hear was going for a vote, 5*l.* ?—I never heard the money named.

8741. Not any sum named ?—No, not any sum.

8742. Were you on the committee last time, in 1865 ?—I attended the meetings at Mead-vale.

8743. Were you on the committee ?—I believe my name was down.

8744. Did you canvass anybody on behalf of Mr. Gower ?—No.

8745. And nobody canvassed you ?—No.

8746. How come your name to be put down upon the committee list ?—I attended the committee meeting at Mead-vale, and I told them to put it down.

8747. Whom did you tell ?—Penfold.

8748. You told Penfold to put on your name ?—My name on the list.

8749. He was one of Mr. Gower's agents ?—Yes, I believe he was.

8750. Was he chairman of the meeting that you attended ?—Yes.

8751. Where was that meeting held ? — In the school-room, Mead-vale.

8752. Did you attend no other meeting except, out of school-room ?—No.

8753. Did you attend any other meetings ?—No.

8754. What was the use of having your name on the committee, then ?—There were meetings there almost every night.

8755. Have you spoken to any one else at all about your giving evidence before the Commissioners ?—No, not to any one.

8756. When were you summoned ?—Last night, about half-past 8 o'clock.

8757. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Perhaps you were not summoned last night ; you had your summons before ?—I never had it till last night ; Mr. Cheal was the gentleman that gave it to me last night.

8758. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You had notice last night ?—Yes.

8759. You attended no committee meetings at all except those held at the school-room ? — That is right ; Mead-vale.

8760. You attended no public house meeting ?—No.

8761. None that was held in a public house ?—No.

8762. Who was generally chairman of that committee ?—Penfold.

8763. Was he chairman every night you attended ?—When I was there he was.

8764. About how many meetings did you attend ?—Well, I should say half a dozen, perhaps ; perhaps more.

SIXTH DAY.
J. Allen.
28 Aug. 1866.

8765. Meetings held in the evening, I suppose?—Yes.

8766. At a considerable loss of time on your part, was it not?—Loss of time? Of course there was a little loss of time to me.

8767. What are your wages a week, if I may be so impertinent; about?—Suppose I say 30*s*., but they do not average that quite.

8768. But you could not well afford to lose your time, could you?—No.

8769. What arrangement was there about your loss of time?—There was no arrangement at all.

8770. No arrangement about your loss of time?—No.

8771. You had heard that others who were on the committee had been paid for their loss of time?—No, I never heard it.

8772. You had heard it before this time, before you were examined in the box?—I do not know that they were paid.

8773. You had heard that they were paid for their loss of time?—Oh! yes, for the loss of time, of course, on nomination day or election day; of course they have a right to be paid that.

8774. Then there are attending meetings and so on?—We do that in the evening, after we have done our day's work.

8775. Were you paid anything for the loss of time?—Yes.

8776. How much?—50*s*.

8777. When was that?—I should say it was three months after the election.

8778. 50*s*.?—Yes.

8779. You only attended the meetings in the evening?—That is all.

8780. You were here on nomination day and polling day, of course?—Yes.

8781. Who paid you?—Mr. Penfold.

8782. About two months after the election?—Two or three, I cannot say to a week or two; it might be a little more.

8783. Did you call on Mr. Penfold for the money?—No.

8784. How then?—He brought it to me at my house.

8785. Were you expecting him?—No, I was not.

8786. Came to your house with it, and you were not expecting him?—No.

8787. When he paid you did you give him any receipt or anything of that kind?—No.

8788. You were at home, and he said, "Well, Mr. "Allen, this is 2*l*. 10*s*. I have for you for your "exertions"?—Yes.

8789. For your support of Mr. Gower, I suppose?—Oh! no, for my work, for my losing my time on the nomination day and polling day.

8790. I asked you about your work, and you told me that none had been paid you?—For my loss of time; of course I was obliged to lose time on the nomination day and polling day.

8791. How did he know that you had been there on the nomination day?—How did Penfold know?

8792. Yes?—He did know.

8793. Did he engage you to be there?—No, he saw me there.

8794. But why should he pay you if he did not engage you; there were many at the nomination who were not paid, I suppose?—I do not know.

8795. Why should he pay you for being here on the nomination day if he did not engage you?—It was not likely I should attend without being paid.

8796. Why did Mr. Penfold pay you if there was no engagement between you and Mr. Penfold?—Well, he thought that I could not lose time for nothing.

8797. Why did Mr. Penfold pay you; you told me that nobody canvassed you?—No, they did not.

8798. Why should Mr. Penfold pay you more than anybody else?—Because he was agent.

8799. Agent for that district?—Yes.

8800. And your name was down?—Yes.

8801. Did you not see Mr. Penfold before the nomination day, and did you not arrange with him to be present at the nomination to support Mr. Gower?—I told them we should be there to support him.

8802. Told whom?—Mr. Penfold.

8803. What did he say you were to have?—There was nothing mentioned.

8804. But you were to be paid?—No.

8805. Did you expect to be paid?—I did for loss of time.

8806. I ask you if nothing was said, and no reports were abroad, why did you expect to be paid for attending on the nomination day?—Because I could not afford to lose time.

8807. That is no expectation; why did you expect to be paid if nothing was said?—Well, there was nothing more said.

8808. Nothing more than what; that persons who gave up their time for Gower would be paid?—No.

8809. Was it not said that those who exerted themselves would be remunerated?—No, that was not said.

8810. What was said before the 2*l*. 10*s*. was sent?—Nothing was said.

8811. He brought you the 2*l*. 10*s*.?—Yes, he brought it.

8812. He said, "Mr. Allen, this is for the work "you have done," I suppose?—Yes; for nomination day and polling day, and for attending the committee room, of course.

8813. You expected it to be paid then?—Of course I expected something for loss of time.

8814. How much did you expect?—As much as I could get.

8815. Perhaps you expected more?—No, I did not.

8816. Reality seldom comes up to our expectations, you know?—I expected what I got.

8817. Your expectations were larger, you expected more did you not?—No.

8818. You expected 5*l*.?—No.

8819. You expected exactly what you got?—What I got. If they did not pay me so much I should not have expected it.

8820. Why did your expectations fix upon 2*l*. 10*s*.?—Because he brought that sum; I did not expect that till he brought it.

8821. Then it came upon you by surprise?—I did not know he was going to bring it.

8822. Do you mean to say it came upon you by surprise?—There was nothing promised me.

8823. Do you mean to say that you did not expect to get any money between that time and the time it was paid you?—No, I did not expect it.

8824. You expected nothing at all?—Only for loss of time.

8825. I say for loss of time, did you expect it for loss of time?—Of course I expected something; I did not know what it would be.

8826. What did you estimate your loss of time at?—What they pleased to give me.

8827. Would you have been satisfied if you had got 10*s*.?—Yes.

8828. Do you think your loss of time would be amply repaid by 10*s*.?—I do not know about "amply repaid."

8829. But would it repay you in your estimation?—It would hardly repay me. Of course I cannot go about without having something to drink.

8830. Would 1*l*. pay you?—Hardly.

8831. Would 1*l*. pay you?—I think it would not.

8832. I want to know how you estimated your labour; do you think 1*l*. would have paid you?—No.

8833. Would 30*s*. have paid you?—No.

8834. Would 2*l*. have paid you?—No.

8835. Would 2*l*. 10*s*. have paid you?—Yes, that did pay me because I could not get any more.

8836. If you had no arrangement with Mr. Penfold, how did Mr. Penfold know exactly what would repay you, 2*l.* 10*s.*? How did he know that if you had no arrangement with him or said nothing about it?—I do not know.

8837. That was mere guess work?—Yes.

8838. When you got the 2*l.* 10*s.* from him what did he say to you?—What did he say? He said nothing; he said, "There is your money for your time," and that's all; "There is the money for the work that you "have done, loss of time."

8839. Which did he say?—Loss of time.

8840. Oh, "Here is your money for loss of time"?—Yes.

8841. What did you say?—What did I say? "Thank you," I said.

8842. Did he say anything about something more being —— ?—Nothing more said.

8843. About the party might afford a little more to them?—No, nothing more said.

8844. Now that was in 1865; you had lost your time in 1863 also for Mr. Gower, had you not?—Yes.

8845. Attending on the polling day?—Yes.

8846. At the nomination?—Yes.

8847. What did you receive in 1863?—I received 2*l.*

8848. From whom?—Mr. James Nicholls.

8849. How soon after the election?—Well, I cannot say.

8850. About?—A fortnight perhaps.

8851. Did you go to Mr. Nicholls?—Yes.

8852. You went to him for the money?—No.

8853. What did you go to him for?—We were out here. I saw Mr. Nicholls, and he asked me if I would have a glass of ale, I was poorly at the time, and he gave me the 2*l.*; I never asked him for it.

8854. You saw Mr. Nicholls; did you go to his house?—No, I did not know where he lived then.

8855. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Which Nicholls do you mean?—James Nicholls.

8856. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where did you see him?—Just here, in front of the "White Hart."

8857. Why did you go to Mr. Nicholls instead of any one else?—Why did I go?

8858. Yes; because you told me you had no arrangement with anybody?—In 1863 I took circulars out.

8859. You told me that in 1863 you made no arrangement?—No, not in 1863. I carried circulars out; I was supposed to have 5*s.* a day.

8860. Did Mr. Nicholls canvass you?—I suppose he did. I went to work for them, and I voted for them.

8861. In 1863?—Yes.

8862. And you were to have 5*s.* a day?—5*s.* a day for my work. I carried circulars round and posted bills.

8863. You do not mean to say you became a bill-sticker?—I was.

8864. Posted bills?—Yes.

8865. What else did you do?—That was all I did, besides attending on the polling and nomination, and I had 2*l.* for it.

8866. How many days were you engaged?—I do not know.

8867. About how many days?—I cannot say how many days, it is so long ago. I do not know how long the election was about.

8868. You cannot tell me whether you were engaged a fortnight or a week?—No.

8869. Now attend.—I suppose it was quite a week.

8870. Go on.—That is all I have to say. I was paid for it.

8871. That would be 30*s.*?—I was paid 2*l.*

8872. Then, what was there for the nomination day?—That is all I had for those days.

8873. The nomination day and the polling day?—And for my posting bills and carrying circulars.

8874. You had only 2*l.*?—Yes.

8875. You were better paid at the last election?—Yes, by 10*s.*

8876. And you did not do anything at the last election?—No, except attend meetings.

8877. At the school-room, Mead-vale?—Yes.

8878. Then you went, of course, to Nicholls, and you asked him for money, I suppose?—No.

8879. Why, you had been engaged to work, why should not you be paid? Why should you not ask him for money?—Because he knew he owed it to me. I suppose for my work. He paid me.

8880. Did he pay you in the street?—Yes, 2*l.*

8881. You met him in the street opposite the "White Hart," and he paid you 2*l.*?—Paid me 2*l.*

8882. Did he ask you how long you had been employed for that?—He knew.

8883. But, did he ask you?—I do not remember whether he did.

8884. Do you remember whether he did or did not?—No, I do not.

8885. Had you any book; was your name down in any book?—No.

8886. You voted for Mr. Monson in the former election?—Yes.

8887. Had you been employed in that election?—Carrying circulars.

8888. And attending meetings?—No, I never had anything to do with meetings.

8889. You were a voter?—Yes.

8890. How long had you been employed on behalf of Lord Monson?—I do not know how long.

8891. About how long?—I cannot say.

8892. Oh, yes, you can?—I cannot, really.

8893. Who employed you?—Nicholls.

8894. Nicholls was for Lord Monson then?—Yes.

8895. What did you receive?—I cannot say exactly what it was now. Something over 2*l.* for my work. I worked for him.

8896. Mr. Nicholls paid you?—Yes.

8897. How soon after the election?—I do not know. It might be five or six weeks.

8898. Had Mr. Nicholls engaged you?—To work for him.

8899. He was then acting for Lord Monson?—Yes.

8900. Had you promised him to vote for Lord Monson?—Yes.

8901. You received over 2*l.*, can you tell me how much over?—No, I cannot.

8902. Was it over 3*l.*?—No.

8903. Could you say whether it was over 3*l.* or not?—It was not 3*l.*

8904. Then you can tell me?—It was not so much as that.

8905. Was it 50*s.*?—Thereabouts.

8906. That was your first time of voting, I suppose? No.

8907. For whom did you vote in 1858?—I voted for Mr. Hackblock.

8908. Had you been engaged on his behalf?—No, I never had a farthing.

8909. You never had a farthing for that election? No.

8910. You voted for a gentleman who is dead, Mr. Hackblock, you say without receiving anything?—Yes.

8911. Now the next election would be February 1858, I think. There were two elections in 1858, do you recollect?—Two elections.

8912. Was one in February and one in October?—Yes.

8913. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) On the death of Mr. Hackblock?—Mr. Monson that was.

8914. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you employed in that election of February 1858?—Mr. Monson's?

8915. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) No; Monson was October. In February 1858 there was Rawlinson, Wilkinson, Walters, and James?—I voted for Rawlinson.

8916. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you been employed at all?—I was employed for posting bills.

8917. How much did your labour bring you in at that election?—We were paid 5*s.* a day.

8918. What did you receive altogether?—About 5*l.*, perhaps, for my work.

SIXTH DAY.
J. Allen.
28 Aug. 1866.

8919. You received 5*l.* in February 1858 ?—Yes, for Mr. Rawlinson.

8920. Then upon his promotion there was an election in October ; then you voted for Lord Monson ?—Yes.

8921. And then you received 2*l.* 10*s.* ?—2*l.* I told you, did I not ?

8922. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Just bear the dates in your recollection. In 1859 you told us you received on account of the present Lord Monson, and from Mr. Nichols, over 2*l.* ?—Yes, that is right.

8923. The election in October 1858, you recollect, was upon the occasion of Sir Henry Rawlinson taking office ?—Yes, I know it was.

8924. Then there was an election, and Mr. Wilkinson and the Right Honourable Mr. Monson were the candidates ?—Yes.

8925. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For whom were you employed on that occasion ?—Lord Monson.

8926. Employed, I suppose, in delivering bills ?—Yes, circulars and so on.

8927. What did you receive ; what amount of money did you receive upon that occasion ?—Over 2*l.* ; 2*l.* 10*s.*, or something like that, I think.

8928. Have you any distinct recollection of how much you received in 1859 ?—No, I have not ; that was Hackblock, was it not ?

8929-30. No.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) 1859 was the Honourable Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson.

(The Witness.) Yes, that was 1859.

8931. You have spoken of it ?—Yes, I told the other gentleman.

8932. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Then if I understand you rightly it was this : that from 1857 you were employed in all the elections, and received certain monies ?—I was employed.

8933. And received certain monies ?—The money that I had I have told you.

8934. You voted in 1857 ?—Yes.

8935. And received nothing for Hackblock ?—Yes.

8936. No money was going for employment ?—Not at all.

8937. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you hear of any money going on the election of Sir Henry Rawlinson ?—No, only as I was paid for my work.

8938. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I understood you to say that you did not hear that any money was going at all, except for work ?—That is all.

8939. I asked you early in my examination whether you had heard of any money at all passing, and you said that you did not hear that any money was passing, you meant then only for work ?—Only for work.

8940. How many were engaged with you in that district, how many men besides yourself were engaged ?—I do not know.

8941. Oh, yes, you do ?—No one else but me.

8942. How many of the committee men that you were in the habit of meeting were working ?—I do not know.

8943. About how many ?—I do not know.

8944. Do you know any ?—No, I know I was employed myself, that is all.

8945. Mr. Penfold did not engage you to do any work ?—No, no further than to be paid for my loss of time.

8946. When did he tell you you were to be paid for your loss of time ?—When he brought my money.

8947. When did he tell you what would be paid for your loss of time, before the time was lost ?—He never told me at all, only when he brought me my money.

8948. Was Mr. Penfold's understanding with you different from the understanding that you had with others ?—I never had any understanding with others.

8949. Never with any one who employed you ?—Not during this election.

8950. I am speaking of former elections ; you had been engaged for Sir Henry Rawlinson, had you a distinct understanding then about being paid for your time ?—For my work.

8951. With whom ?—With Nicholls.

8952. And with whom had you a distinct understanding to work for Lord Monson ?—With Nicholls.

8953. And with Nicholls for Mr. Gower ?—The first time.

8954. Then how is it you had not the same understanding with Penfold ?—I do not know how that was I am sure.

8955. Mr. Nicholls engaged you for Rawlinson, did he ?—Yes, he employed me.

8956. But you were not employed on the last occasion at all ?—Not particularly.

8957. You had no understanding with anybody ?—No.

8958. And the 2*l.* 10*s.* was given to you without any understanding at all ?—Yes, it was.

8959. (The Chief Commissioner.) You remember the election of '59, when you voted for Mr. Hackblock ?—Yes.

8960. I did not understand whether you were paid for loss of time at that time ?—I was paid nothing.

8961. You were not paid for your loss of time ?—No.

8962. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you recollect whether you voted in 1852 ?—Who's that for ?

8963. Somers Cocks and Major Parott ?—No.

8964. Were you on the register then ?—No.

8965. Then you did not vote ?—No.

8966. You say that as far back as 1858 Nicholls engaged you for Rawlinson ?—Yes.

8967. And paid you 5*l.* for the work ?—Yes.

8968. He is an old friend of yours ?—Not at all.

8969. You have known him from, 1858 to 1865 ; is he a person long connected with the town ?—I do not know more about him than that I know him.

8970. He is connected with the county court is he not ?—I do not know, I have nothing to do with the county court. I never was before them.

8971. I suppose he is a person well known in this town ?—I dare say he is a person well known.

8972. Who kept the "Grapes" in 1863 ?—I do not know, I do not frequent such places.

8973. You knew him in 1858, and yet you say you did not know where he lived in 1863 ?—No, he might have lived in different parts of the town.

8974. What are you ?—Do you mean my trade ?

8975. Yes.—Why, I am in the building line.

8976. Are you a master builder or a journeyman ?—I am not a master.

8977. A journeyman ?—A journeyman, if you like.

8978. That is as you like. Are you a carpenter or bricklayer ?—No.

8979. A plumber or glazier ?—No, I work at stonework, preparing stone for building.

8980. In 1865 were you at your usual occupation, working at the stone ?—Not the nomination day, for I was here.

8981. But before that ?—I was here ; of course I was ; I went to the meeting in the evening.

8982. I suppose you thought the nomination could not go on without you ?—I did not think so.

8983. Who asked you at all ?—Nobody.

8984. In 1863 were you still the stonemason ?—Yes.

8985. And in 1863 did you continue your business as stonemason during the time you were canvassing ?—I was out of employ then.

8986. Altogether ?—Yes, and I took circulars and posted bills, and so on.

8987. When you were employed in '63, was it the whole of the day ?—We had so much per day.

8988. I want to know what you did for it ?—I took circulars, perhaps 200 or 300.

8989. That did not continue every day ?—No, but there were bills to post.

8990. Were those bills distributed pretty freely ?

—Yes, or there would not have been so many of them.

8991. And continuously?—Yes, by committee men and so on.

8992. How many voters were there on the register in '63?—I do not know.

8993. I think I can tell you?—More than 500 I think.

8994. There were very few persons to distribute these among, the constituency being so very small?—Over 500 I think.

(The Chief Commissioner.) 547 I think.

8995. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were these circulars sent to the whole of the 547?—No, they were distributed to some of them, and I had to distribute them.

8996. How many were employed besides you, some 400 or 500?—No, I do not know of anybody but myself.

8997. In 1859 were you still a stonemason?—I think so.

8998. You were paid then?—Yes.

8999. Were you at work in 1859 in your business of a stonemason?—When I could get work.

9000. I suppose you generally get work?—No.

9001. Are you in work now?—Yes.

9002. Well, for the last few years there has been a good deal of building going on about here?—Yes, but sometimes it is slack; it is so now.

9003. What work did you do in '59?—Stone work.

9004. You did not do stone work then?—I do not know whether I was out of work or in at the time.

9005. You received 5l. from Mr. Nichols, and that was only for sorting letters?—I have told you it was for delivering circulars and posting bills.

9006. No, I have only just asked you about '58; what did you do?—Delivered circulars and posted bills.

9007. Do you know whether you were out of work then?—I suppose I was, for if I had been at my regular work I should not have been here.

9008. Could you not have done that of an evening?—No.

9009. In October '58 were you out of work?—Of course I was nomination day and polling day. If I am employed at my own work I do it, but if I have nothing to do at election time I go and ask for a job, and perhaps they give me one.

9010. In 1865 you were in good work as a stonemason down to the nomination, and yet you were paid?—Yes.

9011. You were paid a large sum in '58, 5l.?—I worked a long time for it.

9012. In October 1858 you worked for Lord Monson and got 2l. or 2l. 10*s.*?—That was not much, was it.

9013. I do not know what you did for it, what did you do for it?—Delivering circulars and posting bills, and as far as it went I was paid for my time.

9014. In 1865 you were paid 2l. 10*s.* simply for attending two days?—I was at a meeting at the Meadvale.

9015. Committee meetings, I suppose they were, where you got some refreshment?—There was not any there at all.

9016. In 1865 you said you were supposed to have 5s. a day?—Not in 1865, but in 1863.

9017. In 1863 you were supposed to have 5s. a day?—Yes.

9018. And then you were employed delivering circulars and posting bills?—Yes.

Mr. T. Conway.

Mr. Thomas Conway sworn and examined.

9019. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you live at Wray-park, just above the town?—Yes, I do.

9020. How long have you lived there?—I think about seven years from 1859, just after the last election but two.

9021. Had you anything to do with the election of 1859?—Nothing whatever.

9022. I will begin with the election of 1863. You were here at the election of 1863?—Yes.

9023. That was between Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

9024. Were you then on the register?—Yes.

9025. And did you take an active part with Mr. Gower in that election?—Not an active part.

9026. Were you on his committee?—No.

9027. You interested yourself?—I am a Conservative, but on the retirement of Mr. Wortley I gave Mr. Leveson Gower my support, as against Mr. Wilkinson.

9028. Was that the Hon. James Stuart Wortley?—Yes.

9029. The late Recorder of London?—Yes.

9030. Did he come down then to contest the borough?—Yes, he was down here a very short time.

9031. He did not go to the poll?—No, he met 12 or 13 of us; he gave an address. Seven or eight of us walked over to the "White Hart," and we considered it would not do.

9032. You were a Conservative?—Yes.

9033. You have not Conservatives enough to support your principles here?—We have not, unfortunately, at Reigate.

9034. After Mr. Wortley retired, you then interested yourself for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

9035. Did you canvass for him?—Well, I asked a few friends, but I did not take an active part.

9036. Did you canvass for him, did you succeed in influencing any votes for him?—I am not aware that I did, I might possibly have done so.

9037. Did you succeed in obtaining any promises?—Very possibly I did, but I really do not recollect.

9038. Are you able to tell me whether in 1863 you put on any names which you canvassed on the committee list?—In '63?

9039. Yes?—Certainly not.

9040. You did not?—Certainly not.

9041. At that time you were not on the committee list yourself?—Certainly not.

9042. Did you do anything of this kind: did you canvass a man, and then report to the committee that it would be a good thing to put his name on the committee list?—No.

9043. You would remember that if you did?—Yes.

9044. Did you understand at the election of 1863 there was a good deal of money going about the borough?—No, I hardly took an active part, I really did not take a sufficiently active part for that, I heard nothing definite.

9045. Then, coming on to 1865, I believe you took a more active part in that year for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

9046. You were on his committee?—Yes.

9047. And attended that regularly, did you not?—No, I attended two meetings.

9048. Did you go about canvassing with Mr. Gower yourself sometimes?—No, I should have been very happy to have done so, but I had no time.

9049. You occasionally attended him, say once or twice, when he was canvassing?—I think not, I attended meetings, but I do not think I went about at all with Mr. Gower.

9050. Did you obtain promises for him?—I might have asked several whether they intended to vote for Mr. Gower, and they might have said they intended to vote for Mr. Gower. I might have canvassed them,

SIXTH DAY.
Mr. T. Conway.

but not in any but a casual way ; I might have met a friend or a relative, and have asked them.

9051. Was there not a voter in your employ of the name of George Walker ?—Yes.

9052. I suppose you canvassed him knowing he was a voter ?—No, I did not, but I believe he took a very active part.

9053. Do you know whether George Walker was on Mr. Gower's committee ?—Yes, I saw him.

9054. You yourself canvassed him, that is to say, you spoke to him ?—No, I understood he meant to vote for Mr. Gower.

9055. Had you not some conversation with him about it, and, if you had, tell us what that conversation was ?—No, we had no conversation that I recollect at the time.

9056. Do you not recollect any conversation you had with Walker about the election ?—No, I do not recollect it.

9057. Were you aware from Walker or from any other person that Walker had been promised a sum of money for what he had done on the election ?—Certainly not.

9058. You had not been made aware of it either by Walker or by anybody else ?—Not in any way.

9059. Did you ascertain from Mr. Smith that Walker had been promised something for his services ?—Certainly not.

9060. You think you would recollect it if you had ?—I am quite sure I should.

9061. Walker at the time of the election was in your employ, was he not ?—Yes.

9062. Do you recollect in a conversation with Walker some reference being made to money that had been promised previous to the election. This conversation I am referring to was after the election ?—No, I cannot recollect.

9063. But you would recollect that, for it is very remarkable ?—Decidedly.

9064. Did not Walker tell you something like this, "I have been promised something for what I did at "the election, and I am not getting it" ?—Not likely.

9065. Very likely that may be, but did he ?—Certainly not.

9066. Did he not tell you that he had been promised something by Mr. Smith ?—Certainly not.

9067. I suppose you would have recollected that if he had told you ?—Certainly he would not say that to me.

9068. Did you say to him at the time after the supposed conversation took place something of this sort, "Well, for what you did, for your services, you ought "to be paid fairly, and if Mr. Smith don't pay you I "will" ?—I do not remember saying anything of the sort. He was often absent from his work,—that I overlooked to the fullest extent ; I know nothing else ; I gave him leave. He said he was on the committee, and I said "Very well."

9069. You would know he had given up his time to Mr. Gower, and that would make such a conversation much more natural. Bearing that in mind, did you not long after the election say, "For the "services you have performed you have something "like a claim on Mr. Smith. I was aware of them, "and if he does not pay you I will," or "I will see "you paid" ?—Certainly I do not remember it. He was a man not troubled about his means at all. He may have said things to me which really I may hardly have listened to.

9070. He may well have begun the conversation and told it you rather like a tale of pity ?—But he is very well off.

9071. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did not stop any wages from him ?—No, he is very well off, and no children.

9072. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you not think such a conversation as that may have passed between you and him ?—I do not recollect it at all, Mr. Allen ; I really do not recollect. I am not that sort of man as to enter into such a conversation with him on such a matter.

9073. You think from the impropriety of it ?—He might in walking round the garden tell me a few matters about the election, which would go in at one ear and out at the other.

9074. But this is more than that ; it is that you said to him, "You ought to be paid for the services "you performed, and therefore if Mr. Smith does "not pay you I will." I wish to know whether you would go as far as that ?—Certainly not. He said something one night that somebody had had so much, but I did not want to hear it.

9075. He naturally would go on ?—No, he would not have broken ground on this topic, and he relinquished it.

9076. He would say, "It is hard upon me, for you "know how hard I have worked, and know I have "nothing" ?—If he had said so I should not have the slightest hesitation in telling you.

9077. I only wish to assist your recollection about it. I have some evidence of it myself, on which I am now proceeding, and I only wish to know whether you said to him anything of the kind ; a conversation introduced by him, if you please, as most likely it was, in a casual way, and I wish to know whether you can tell me whether you went on to say, "Under the cir-"cumstances, if Mr. Smith won't pay you I will" ?—No, I do not recollect anything of the kind.

9078. Do you recollect on one occasion being present when Mr. Gower himself said something about the work that Walker, your gardener, had performed for him ?—No.

9079. To put it plainly ; were you present on one occasion when Mr. Gower said to Walker something of this kind, "Well, we all know how much you have "worked, we all know how active you have been, "and no doubt about it you have brought us many "voters to the poll, and no doubt Smith will pay "you" ?—Certainly not.

9080. Do you think this took place ?—I do not recollect it.

9081. You will not say whether it took place or not ?—I do not think it is at all likely. I do not think Mr. Gower would have said so.

9082. Do you recollect Mr. Gower in your presence acknowledging Walker's services, and saying no doubt Smith would pay him because he had brought so many voters to the poll ?—I am quite sure he never said anything of the sort.

9083. Now I will tell you this ; a witness has stated this much, that he heard Walker say that Mr. Gower in your presence acknowledged his, Walker's, services, and said that Smith ought to pay him for them. Another witness (not Walker himself) swore ; no, I was wrong in saying swore ; but he said a man had stated he was told by Walker that Mr. Gower in your presence acknowledged his services, and said that Mr. Smith ought to pay him for them, because it was well known he had brought so many voters up to the poll ?—This is utterly false, and I believe I shall be able to bring evidence to confute such scandalous lies, such scandalous and disgraceful falsehoods.

GEORGE ATTWOOD sworn and examined.

9084. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you a voter of this borough ?—Yes.

9085. How long have you been a voter ?—Only this last election.

9086. What is your qualification ?—I rent a house at 6*s.* a week.

9087. Where ?—Nutley-lane.

9088. What is your business?—A carpenter and joiner.

9089. By whom were you canvassed?—By Mr. Gower himself.

9090. First?—Yes.

9091. Did you promise Mr. Gower when he came to you at first?—Mr. Gower, Mr. Smith, Mr. Buckland, and Job Apted called on me. I told Mr. Gower when he asked me for my vote that he was rather sharp upon me, but I would give him an answer as soon as possible.

9092. Did you give your answer without being asked again?—I did; I called at Mr. Buckland's house going round, and told him I wished to vote for Mr. Gower, and I did not trouble any more about it.

9093. When you saw Mr. Buckland did he offer you anything for coming on their committee?—Nothing at all.

9094. Were you to get anything for coming on their committee?—Nothing at all, except he told me he would put my name on their committee.

9095. Is that all that took place before you gave your vote?—Yes.

9096. Did Mr. Joyes canvass you?—No, he did not.

9097. Frederick Joyes, I mean?—No, sir.

9098. You say Joyes never canvassed you?—No.

9099. Never spoke to you about your vote?—No, I do not think he did; I do not think I had any conversation with him about the vote.

9100. Do you know Alexander Rose?—Yes.

9101. Did you have any talk with him about your vote?—I might have said, "I am going to vote for "Mr. Gower."

9102. Did you have any talk with him about being on his committee?—I might have said so, I will not say I did, but I might have said, "I have been to see "Mr. Buckland, and I am going to be put on your "committee."

9103. You are quite certain Mr. Buckland said nothing to you about what the people were going to be paid?—No, nothing passed, except I told him to put my name on his committee.

9104. Were you to do any work?—No.

9105. Were you to canvass for him?—No; he said, "Do all you can to get voters," and I said, "Of "course I will."

9106. Did he not say, "You shall be paid like the "others"?—No.

9107. Or something to that effect?—No, I believe not.

9108. You believe not?—I believe nothing of the sort passed.

9109. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was it Buckland or Rose said, "Do all you can to get voters"?—It was Buckland.

9110. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How long before the election was that?—I cannot say exactly, but I believe five or six weeks.

9111. Did you canvass?—No, I do not know that I canvassed; I do not think I did.

9112. Did you attend any meetings?—Yes.

9113. What meetings did you attend?—The committee meetings at this hall down stairs.

9114. Only those?—That is all; it was the general committee room; at least one of them.

9115. Do you mean to say you attended no meetings at public houses?—Not committee meetings.

9116. But you attended some meetings at public houses?—I went to a public house.

9117. During the time of canvassing for this election?—Yes.

9118. Tell me one?—I went to the "Black Horse."

9119. Was there a meeting there?—Yes.

9120. Who was in the chair?—I cannot recollect now.

9121. How long before the election was it?—It might have been three or four weeks, but I cannot exactly remember when it was.

9122. There was a good deal of drinking going on there, I suppose?—Not such a wonderful deal.

9123. Nothing extraordinary?—No; nothing to take me away.

9124. Nothing more than usual?—No.

9125. Did you pay for the drink you had at the "Black Horse"?—I paid for some.

9126. Not all?—No.

9127. Did you pay for more than what you drank yourself?—No; when I went in and had a glass at the bar I might, but then I went in and had some more inside.

9128. You did not pay for that in the inside?—No.

9129. Why did you not?—Some one asked me to drink, and I did.

9130. Did the entertainment go on for some little while at the "Black Horse"?—I was there an hour and a half.

9131. Tell me some other house you have been to?—I went to the "Bell."

9132. Do you recollect who was in the chair there?—No, I cannot remember.

9133. I suppose there was always a chairman at these meetings?—Yes; but I took no notice who was chairman and who not.

9134. They were all voters?—To the best of my recollection.

9135. Were you at Tyrrell's?—No; I do not know where it is.

9136. Who kept the house in Nutley-lane?—Muddle. I was there one night.

9137. Who was in the chair that night?—I do not know.

9138. Was it Alexander Rose?—I went into the house, but I do not know who was in the chair.

9139. You have seen Rose?—Yes, I have seen him several times.

9140. When have you seen him last?—Do you mean during the election?

9141. No, now.—I saw him last night.

9142. Where?—I saw him at Mr. Muddle's; that is the only house I go to of an evening.

9143. Who were with you there last night? There was Alexander Rose; and who were the others?—There were several of us.

9144. Several of your friends from Nutley-lane, neighbours?—Yes.

9145. Were they all voters?—I do not know that.

9146. Pretty well that, I suppose?—Well, I do not know that.

9147. Pretty well all voters, were they not?—In fact I do not know half the voters of the borough; and when I go into company I do not study whether they are voters or not.

9148. How many were there at this meeting last night?—It was not a meeting.

9149. Well, this assembly?—Several.

9150. Were there 20?—I do not suppose there was.

9151. A dozen?—There might have been a dozen.

9152. Were they neighbours of yours?—I do not know.

9153. Did any party ask you to go there?—Nobody.

9154. No one?—No.

9155. Was anybody in the chair?—No, there was no chairman; there was no chairman present.

9156. I suppose you told Alexander Rose you were coming here to-day?—He knew it as well as anybody that I was coming here to-day.

9157. How?—Did he not hear them called, or see the name on the door?

9158. No, not until this morning; for it is the first

SIXTH DAY.
G. Attwood.
28 Aug. 1866.

time they have been posted outside.—My name was called yesterday.

9159. Did you say to Alexander Rose you were coming here to-day ?—No. I was told of it when I was coming home from work last night.

9160. And then you went to Muddle's ?—Of course I did.

9161. Did you always go to Muddle's ?—When I go to a public house I go to Muddle's.

9162. You do not go there every night ?—I do not make a practice of it.

9163. Did any of the others say they were coming here as witnesses ?—I do not know.

9164. It was talked of ?—I do not know that it was.

9165. Do you mean to say this Inquiry was not talked of last night ? Come, look straight forward like an honest man, and answer me.—I can look like an honest man ; I cannot say it was talked of.

9166. Was not something said about it ?—Yes.

9167. And did you not say, "I am going there to-morrow" ?—I do not know that I did.

9168. Did you not intimate to the company you were coming here to-day ?—I was told of it there, and as I was coming home as well.

9169. Who told you ; was it Alexander Rose ?—No, it was not Alexander Rose.

9170. Who was it knew you were coming here to-day, and told you so ?—Mr. Miles told me my name was called ; he spoke to Mr. Cheal about it the other night, as I am from my home at work ; and when I went down to see Cheal he said, "If there is anybody "who hears your name called, it would do you a "kindness to tell you."

9171. Quite right. And he told you ; and did not that open your conversation about your coming here ?—No ; I do not know, though my name was mentioned, that anything passed about me to my knowledge.

9172. Do you mean to say there is no interest taken among you gentlemen at Muddle's about this Inquiry ?—Not more than at other houses.

9173. Do you mean to say that gentlemen who assemble at Muddle's do not take an interest in the matter so as to talk about it ?—Not much ; but it is the general conversation of the place.

9174. They did talk of it last night ?—They might have said something, but I did not listen.

9175. You were an interested party, I should have thought you would have listened ?—No.

9176. Was it not a subject matter of conversation between you men the thing was to be kept dark ?—No, not to my knowledge it was not said, nothing to be kept dark.

9177. Did you all agree to come here ?—I know what I mean to do myself, and not to study about other people.

9178. Did you receive any money after this election ?—Yes, I did.

9179. How much ?—30*s.*

9180. Who from ?—Mr. Job Apted.

9181. You told me Job Apted had not canvassed you before, and had only spoken to you about your voting, how came you to apply to Job Apted for any money at all ? Of course you applied to him before the voting ?—I understood from the talk they were going to be paid for their time. I saw Mr. Job Apted one day, and I said to him, "I hear that many are going "to be paid for their time ;" and he said he did not know.

9182. Did you see him again ?—I did not see him till some time afterwards.

9183. How long afterwards was it you got your 30*s.* ?—I think it was in September.

9184. How came you to know the men were going to receive money ? Who told you ; was it Buckland ?—No.

9185. Who did you hear it from ?—I cannot remember just now.

9186. Did you hear it at any of these meetings at Muddle's ?—No.

9187. From whom was it you heard the men were going to be paid for their time ?—I do not know, it was the general talk.

9188. You say it was the general talk ?—Yes.

9189. Did you hear it as general talk they were to be paid ?—Those that worked.

9190. Did you work ?—I attended all the committee meetings.

9191. Then you did not work ?—I do not know whether you call that work.

9192. I do not call it work, if you do not call it work ; I think you take a very right view of it. Have you ever had any boots from Apted ?—Yes, I have.

9193. He is a boot and shoe maker ?—Yes.

9194. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you mean in addition to the 30*s.* ?—No, not in addition.

9195. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did those boots and shoes you had come up in amount to 30*s.* ?—I do not exactly know what it was now, but somewhere about that amount.

9196. When did Mr. Apted let you have the boots and shoes ; I suppose they were for yourself and family ?—Yes, I don't know the time.

9197. Were those boots and shoes owing for at the time of the election ?—No.

9198. After ?—No.

9199. Has he forgiven you the debt for the boots and shoes ?—The 30*s.*

9200. In what way has he forgiven you the debt, has he given you a bill and a receipt ?—I saw him one day ; he said he had seen Mr. Smith, and he had got 30*s.* for me to pay me for my time at the election, and of course he deducted the boots from that.

9201. He said he had received the money from Mr. Smith ?—Yes.

9202. He has given you no money ?—No.

9203. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Or any account between you ?—No.

9204. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He has credited you 30*s.*, the amount of your bill ?—Yes.

9205. And he has not since asked you for the amount of your bill ?—No.

9206. Do you know a man of the name of James Brooker ?—Yes.

9207. He lives in the High-street ?—Yes.

9208. Did you canvass him the second time for his vote ?—I do not remember it.

9209. Did you work for him ?—No.

9210. Do you know the man I mean ?—I know there is a James Brooker who has a greengrocer's shop.

9211. Have you ever been with Frederick Joyes canvassing ?—No.

9212. Have you never gone out canvassing with him ?—No.

9213. Or alone ?—No.

9214. Or asked anybody for a vote ?—Yes, the first I saw was a party down our lane, Nutley lane. The only words that passed were these. I asked him how he was going on and if he was going to vote. He said he had not seen Mr. Gower, and I said, "All "right," and off he went.

9215. Did you tell him he was to be paid for his work ?—No.

9216. Did you tell Brooker he would be paid or was likely to be paid ?—I know nothing about that. I do not remember ever having any conversation with Brooker.

9217. Alexander Rose was a very active man ?—I believe so.

9218. He canvassed very largely amongst you men ?—Well ; he lived down the lane, and I suppose he did.

9219. (The Chief Commissioner.) When you saw Apted, who told you he had seen Smith, do you recollect Apted saying something about Brooker, you know Smith said there was to be some allowance, and he wanted to credit you a bill to the amount of 30*s.* you told this gentleman so ?—(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Yes.

9220. You recollect telling this gentleman just now ?—Yes.

9221. At that time did Apted tell you something about Brooker ?—I do not think he mentioned the name.

9222. Was not Brooker's name mentioned by somebody at the time ?—No.

9223. Do you remember meeting Brooker and saying you had your money ?—No.

9224. Or Brooker to you ?—No, I cannot remember anything about it.

HENRY AUSTIN sworn and examined. H. Austin.

9225. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I believe you live at Reigate ?—Yes.

9226. And carry on the business of a draper ?—Yes.

9227. You took a great deal of interest in the last election ?—Yes.

9228. You voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

9229. You were on his committee I believe ?—Yes, I was.

9230. And took the chair upon several occasions at the meetings ?—No, I think not.

9231. Well, you were chairman on some occasions ?—Well, I am not sure, but I think not.

9232. Can you tell me positively whether you were or were not ?—I came on several meetings in the room below, but I do not think I was in the chair.

9233. You would be a man most likely to be in the chair if you were early at the meeting ?—But I came in late, I was generally engaged till late ; I do not think I ever was, but I might have been once.

9234. You happen to have some influence in this borough ?—I am not aware that I have, I may have, but I used what I had in Mr. Gower's behalf.

9235. Did you support him in 1863 ?—No, I opposed him in 1863.

9236. On behalf of whom ?—On behalf of Mr. Wilkinson.

9237. And had you been active on this former election of 1863 ?—No, I was not. I might have gone to attend a meeting at the town hall.

9238. But you had not been so active ?—No, I was a stranger in the place then.

9239. When were you first on the register ?—I should think about 1859 or 1860, I am not quite sure.

9240. Then 1863 would be the first time you took any part in the election ?—I was here in the town at the time of the election of 1859, when Mr. Doulton put up.

9241. But you did not vote ?—No.

9242. There are some out-voters belonging to the constituency in Reigate, some persons who happen to be living outside the town or away at the time ?—Yes.

9243. Do you recollect one of them coming to you ?—Coming to me ?

9244. Yes, with regard to his expenses ?—No.

9245. Just recollect yourself, Mr. Austen ?—Not any man came to me respecting his expenses. I wrote to two out-voters to ask them for their votes.

9246. Who were they ?—John Baily, who is living at Cranley, and Henry Turner, of Bickley.

9247. Both voted, I believe ?—I believe they did.

9248. For Mr. Gower ?—I believe not. I believe Turner voted for Mr. Monson ; he told me he had on the day of polling.

9249. What I want to know is, have you not paid the expenses of any out-voter ?—No, I did not.

9250. Did any out-voters apply to you for expenses ?—No.

9251. Nothing of the kind ?—I believe I said in the letter I wrote them I would undertake to pay their travelling expenses if they wished it.

9252. Have you a copy of the letter you wrote ?—No.

9253. Did you see the voters ?—I saw them both on the day of the election.

9254. Baily did vote for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

9255. If you had promised his expenses would you not mention it ?—I met him in the street, but not a word passed about his expenses.

9256. Do you know whether he had been paid his expenses ?—No, I do not.

9257. Or, if so, who paid them ?—No.

9258. Then I understand you paid no out-voter any expenses ?—No, I did not.

9259. On any account whatever ?—No, not on any election.

9260. I mean in 1865 ?—No.

9261. Do you know a Mr. Tullett ?—Yes.

9262. Is he a voter ?—Yes.

9263. Do you recollect canvassing him on behalf of Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

9264. Was that in your shop ?—No, I met him in the street here, and afterwards he went in.

9265. Did he go into your shop with you ?—No, I believe not.

9266. He went in afterwards ?—I found him there when I got home afterwards.

9267. Did he promise when you canvassed him in the street to vote for Mr. Gower ?—He did.

9268. And I am afraid he had a bad hat. Had he not a bad hat ?—I am not aware that he had.

9269. Did not he go into your shop, and did not you treat him to a new hat ?—No, I did not.

9270. Did he purchase a new hat ?—That I am not sure about ; he purchased some article ; it was either two pair of hose or a hat, but I did not serve him with it, and whatever he had he paid for.

9271. Do you recollect whether he purchased anything ?—I recollect he purchased something, but whether it was a hat or hose I do not know. He told me when I went into the shop that he had purchased something.

9272. You had known him before ?—Yes.

9273. Do you recollect your saying anything to him about his going on the committee ?—I do not know.

9274. Had you seen him attending the committee meetings ?—No ; he had been ill, he had been laid up some time.

9275. That does not at all prevent them from being received on the committee ?—Well, I did not see him.

9276. Do you know whether he was engaged as a canvasser or messenger ?—No, I believe not ; he did not tell me he was, and I certainly did not ask him. I merely asked him for his vote, and he promised it for Mr. Gower.

9277. Did you promise that he should be well paid if he voted for Mr. Gower ?—No, I did not ; the man did not want to be paid, he promised me at once.

9278. Or anything to that effect ?—No, nothing of the kind, there was no promise or any arrangement about it ; there was no inducement held out.

9279. So far as you know, he did not require it ?—He did not to me, certainly.

9280. What time of the day did he vote ?—I presume it was about 11 o'clock. I met him in the town, and he told me he had voted.

9281. What is he ?—He is a gardener, a gardener for Mr. Thompson of Blaxton.

9282. So far as you know, there was no inducement ?—No ; I did not make him any promise. I believe the man was very much annoyed at some proceeding, taken by Monson's men, and therefore he did not vote for Mr. Monson.

SIXTH DAY. H. Austin. 28 Aug. 1866.

9283. What was that ?—Some one had canvassed his master for him.

9284. They wanted to get his master to canvass for them, and then he became indignant ?—Yes.

9285. He wanted to be his own judge of his vote, and you found him in that mind and secured him ?—Yes, so far as taking his promise.

The Commissioner informed Mr. Austen that he was very glad to have had the pleasure of hearing his evidence, and, as there was nothing at all to implicate him, he would not be required any more.

The witness withdrew.

J. Brooker.

JAMES BROOKER sworn and examined.

9286. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you live in the High-street ?—Yes.

9287. What are you ?—A carpenter.

9288. What rent do you pay ?—13*l.*

9289. Who did you vote for at the last election, in 1865 ?—For Mr. Gower.

9290. Who did you promise your vote to ?—Mr. Gower.

9291. Mr. Gower himself ?—Yes.

9292. The first time he came to ask you ?—Yes.

9293. After you promised Mr. Gower, were you called upon by some of his agents ?—Yes, by Mr. Joyes.

9294. That is Mr. Frederick Joyes ?—Yes.

9295. And what did Mr. Joyes say to you?—He said something about some work, and he would pay for it.

9296. What was he to pay for it ?—I was to have five weeks' work at 1*l.* a week.

9297. At the time he called on you were there five weeks to work before the election, or not so much ?—More than that I should say, but I could not tell exactly.

9298. You do not mean five weeks' work as a carpenter ?—No.

9299. Are you a master carpenter ?—No.

9300. A journeyman ?—Yes.

9301. Do you keep a greengrocer's shop as well, attended to by your wife and family ?—Yes.

9302. You continued your work as a carpenter all that time ?—Yes, pretty much I did.

9303. I suppose you got your name put down on the committee ?—I do not know whether it was down or not.

9304. Perhaps you did not attend a committee meeting ?—Not a great many, I attended a few here in the town hall.

9305. Before the election took place did Mr. Joyes pay you anything ?—No.

9306. Did anybody pay you ?—No.

9307. You were not paid by the week as it was understood ?—No understanding at all.

9308. After the election was over were you paid ?—I received 2*l.*

9309. From whom ?—Mr. Joyes.

9310. When ?—Two months after.

9311. Was there anything on paper about the 2*l.* ; did you give a receipt ?—I think not.

9312. Did he tell you it was an instalment, and he promised to pay you more soon ?—Nothing was said more about it.

9313. When he paid you the 2*l.* did he say he hoped to pay you the residue ?—No.

9314. Who else was he paying at the time he paid you ?—I do not know.

9315. There were others ?—I do not know.

9316. Not in the room ?—He left it at my place.

9317. I suppose it was left with your wife ?—Yes.

9318. Did you see Mr. Joyes after the money had been left at your house ?—I have seen him since, but we have never said anything about it.

9319. Did you acknowledge it at all ?—No, not at all.

9320. Now, in 1863 what part did you take in the election ?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

9321. And who canvassed you for Mr. Wilkinson ?—Mr. Joyes.

9322. The same gentleman ?—Yes.

9323. Was much the same sort of arrangement made then ?—Yes, not the same, but something like it.

9324. And on that occasion what did you receive ?—Not the same, as there was only two days' work that I was to have.

9325. You were to have two days' work in 1863 ?—That was all.

9326. What were you to be paid in 1863 for two days' work ?—2*l.*

9327. What did you receive ?—2*l.*

9328. That was for Mr. Wilkinson ?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

9329. Who did you vote for in 1863 ?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

9330. In 1863 you had the same arrangement ?—Not the same.

9331. But for the two days ?—Yes.

9332. And you were to be paid by Joyes ?—Yes, the 2*l.*

9333. For whom ?—Mr. Wilkinson.

9334. You have been here at the previous election ?—Not before.

9335. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) In 1863 what was the work you were to do, the two days' work ?—The same ; I was to go to poll and attend on the nomination day.

9336. You were to attend on the nomination day and the polling ?—Yes.

9337. That was comprised in attending some of these public house meetings and drinking ?—No, I did not attend any.

9338. Not any ?—Only here at the town hall.

9339. You did not attend more than two or three committee meetings ?—No, merely at the public hall.

9340. You live on the opposite side of the way ?—No.

9341. Well, in the street ?—Yes, further down.

The witness withdrew.

W. Bristowe.

WILLIAM BRISTOWE sworn and examined.

9342. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are a voter for this borough ?—Yes.

9343. How long have you been a voter ?—Only the last election.

9344. What house do you occupy ?—A cottage and garden, at least a cottage.

9345. What rent ?—3*s.* 6*d.* a week.

9346. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A bricklayer.

9347. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you always paid 3*s.* 6*d.* a week rent ?—No, I have paid 6*s.*

9348. When did you commence to pay 3*s.* 6*d.* a week ?—I have been in this house a year and a half.

9349. When was your rent reduced from 6*s.* to 3*s.* 6*d.*?—About a year and a half ago, when I got a new house.

9350. You changed your residence, and then paid 3*s.* 6*d.* a week?—Yes.

9351. For whom did you vote at this last election?—Mr. Gower.

9352. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Gower?—Nobody.

9353. Did anybody ask you to vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

9354. Somebody canvassed you?—No.

9355. But you were on the register of voters?—Yes.

9356. And did you not think it very extraordinary that you were not canvassed?—Well, I did not know.

9357. You voted for Mr. Gower?—I voted for Mr. Gower willingly.

9358. Willingly?—Yes.

9359. Did you attend at any of these meetings?—I think I attended two.

9360. Where were those meetings?—One was at the "Railway" hotel, Reigate, and one at Legg's beer shop.

9361. Did you join in taking the refreshments which were there?—I paid for what I had, very nearly so.

9362. You paid for what you had, and then gave your independent vote for Mr. Gower?—I had given my vote for Mr. Gower before that I had promised it.

9363. In 1863?—No, this last election.

9364. Was it after the election that you went to the houses you speak of?—No.

9365. Before?—Yes.

9366. After the election did you receive any money?—Yes.

9367. Who did you receive the money from?—From Mr. Smith.

9368. Did you go to him and ask him for the money?—I sent my bill into Mr. Smith.

9369. How did you make out the bill, what was it?—I made out my bill for work, and I worked for Mr. Gower for a little over three weeks.

9370. Did you work for Mr. Gower without being asked to work?—No, I was asked to work.

9371. Who asked you to work for Mr. Gower?—I was asked by some of the committee.

9372. Who was the gentleman of the committee who asked you?—I do not know who it was, there was a lot of them together.

9373. Where were you asked?—In this house here.

9374. Down below?—Yes.

9375. How came you down below?—I came here on a wet day, I walked in.

9376. In the evening?—No, in the middle of the day.

9377. What, at dinner-time?—12 o'clock.

9378. That would be the time you would leave off your work; did you go to work?—I was ill, and did not do any work.

9379. What was the matter with you?—I do not know what the matter was with me.

9380. Who asked you, Frederick Joyes?—There were about a dozen in the room.

9381. How came you to be employed; did you offer yourself?—No, I did not offer myself, I was at the meeting there, and they asked me whether I would do some work, and take out circulars, and I said "Willingly."

9382. How long before the election was that?—Over three weeks.

9383. What, used you to be there every day?—No, not always.

9384. Did you very often come into the committee after that?—I used to come every day over there almost.

9385. You did not get work nearly every day, did you?—No.

9386. They did not have so many circulars to send round, did they?—I do not know, they had a good many sometimes.

9387. Not very often, was it?—Sometimes.

9388. What, very often was it?—Pretty generally each other day.

9389. Each other day, how long would it take you each other day?—It would take me some time; my friend helped me.

9390. Who was your friend; was he a voter?—No, he was not, and he had nothing for it.

9391. Was anything said to you when you were engaged to take out these circulars, as to what you were to expect?—No, nothing at all.

9392. Nothing?—No.

9393. Nothing said about 5*l.*?—No.

9394. Or any sum a week?—No.

9395. Or any amount per day?—No.

9396. Nothing?—Nothing at all.

9397. Or anything mentioned about you were to have more if they won?—No.

9398. Or nothing if they beat?—No, there was nothing said to me either way.

9399. Did you attend the nomination?—Yes, I did.

9400. And you voted?—I voted.

9401. Now tell me how you made out your bill, what was the form of it?—I made out my bill for labour for three weeks' work.

9402. Did you write it yourself?—Yes.

9403. Was it so many weeks' work?—Yes.

9404. At how much?—5*s.* a day.

9405. How many weeks?—A little over three weeks.

9406. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Three weeks and two days, I suppose?—I do not know.

9407. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Mr. Smith know you were going to work?—I do not know that he did.

9408. You sent it in to Mr. Smith?—Yes.

9409. How soon after did you get it paid?—I should say it would be six weeks, perhaps, at the outside.

9410. How much did you get?—3*l.* 10*s.*

9411. For what did you make out your bill?—5*l.* 10*s.*

9412. You asked for 5*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

9413. And you got 3*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

9414. Were you satisfied with that?—I was forced to be.

9415. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you sure you asked for 5*l.* 10*s.* or 5*l.*?—5*l.* 10*s.*

9416. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When were you to get the remainder?—I did not have any now.

9417. You asked for it?—I asked for it.

9418. You charged them for attending the nominations?—I charged them the same as I did the other days.

9419. And the same for your voting?—Yes.

9420. And the same for the polling day. Did you have any circulars to take out on the nomination day?—No.

9421. Or on the polling day?—No.

9422. Then your charge was 5*l.* for the ordinary work and 10*s.* for the two days, the polling and nomination?—Yes.

9423. My friends here have calculated it up, and it would make it about right, 5*l.* for the ordinary work days and 10*s.* for the nomination day and polling; is that so?—(The witness made no answer.)

9424. Did anybody tell you to make it up to 5*l.*?—No, I made it up myself.

9425. Nobody helped to make out the bill?—Nobody at all.

The witness withdrew.

SIXTH DAY.

J. Bartlett.

28 Aug. 1866.

JAMES BARTLETT sworn and examined.

9426. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You live at West-street?—Yes.

9427. What are you?—A broker.

9428. And what house do you occupy; what rental?—14*l.* a year.

9429. Have you been long a voter for the borough?—Yes.

9430. How many years?—I have been here above 20 years.

9431. How long have you been a voter; you have not been a voter all that time?—I think so.

9432. Do you recollect 1857?—Who was the candidate?

9433. Mr. Hackblock?—Yes, I voted for him.

9434. There was an election upon the occasion of his death, in January 1858; do you remember for whom you voted?—Who was it then?

9435. There was Mr. Rawlinson, Mr. Doulton, and Mr. Monson; do you remember for whom you voted?—Neither.

9436. Did you not vote at all?—No.

9437. There was another occasion, later in 1858, upon the occasion of Sir Henry Rawlinson being placed in office; do you remember then for whom you voted?—Who were the candidates?

9438. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

9439. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You voted for Mr. Wilkinson on that occasion?—Yes.

9440. That brings us down to the election in 1859?—Who were the candidates in 1859?

9441. Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

9442. You voted for Mr. Wilkinson again; that brings us to 1863; for whom did you vote in 1863?—That was Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Gower?

9443. Yes?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

9444. In 1865 you voted for Mr. Gower, Mr. Wilkinson being dead?—Yes, that was the reason.

9445. Did you take an active part in the election?—No.

9446. Did you not take an active part on behalf of Mr. Gower?—No.

9447. You canvassed some persons?—Well, I do not know; I might have asked, "Who are you going " to vote for?" but as for going about canvassing I did not.

9448. You know Mr. Rose, do you not?—Yes.

9449. Do you recollect going with Mr. Rose to a voter named Fuller; do you know him?—No, not to my knowledge.

9450. Who is the Rose that you know best?—There is one in Nutley-lane, a carver.

9451. He is Alexander Rose; do you remember driving with him to call on a voter?—No, I cannot remember if I did; I would answer at once if I could.

9452. Oh, of course there is no harm in it; do you remember driving out to call on a voter?—No.

9453. Do you remember whether you did call on a voter?—I do not remember calling on any one, for I took no interest in it. I will not say I did not ask anybody, but I took no interest at all in it.

9454. You took no interest at all in it?—No.

9455. Were you canvassed yourself on behalf of Mr. Monson?—No, not by Mr. Monson.

9456. I am now asking you about yourself; were you canvassed for Mr. Monson?—William Holdsworth asked me if I would vote for him. I said, "No."

9457. I take it then that no offer was made to you?—No, never.

9458. No offer of money?—No, not by either party; I never was offered such a thing.

9459. Now I call your attention to Fuller; do you recollect going with Alexander Rose to the "Yew-Tree" public house?—Yes, I recollect going there.

9460. With Mr. Alexander Rose?—Yes, I believe he was there; that was the polling day.

9461. He drove you there?—No, the coachman, I think.

9462. I mean he was there?—He went up in the same trap.

9463. Was not that the polling day, or the day before?—The polling day.

9464. You were all very busy that day; what time in the day was it you went up there?—I should think somewhat about the middle of the day.

9465. And there was a great pressure for voters then; I suppose you went after a voter there?—We went up to see if we could get anybody.

9466. You went into the skittle ground?—No.

9467. Don't be angry, there is no harm in that.—I cannot play at skittles.

9468. No, you did not go to play at skittles, but you went into the skittle ground to look after a voter; you saw a voter there?—I saw Burrell, the landlord.

9469. Oh, no, I do not mean the landlord, I mean Fuller, who was there; Thomas Fuller, of Reigate; he is a labourer?—I do not know him.

9470. You did not recollect driving up with Mr. Rose at first on any occasion. Now I call your attention to the polling day, do you recollect seeing Fuller there?—No, I do not know him.

9471. Did you see a voter there?—Not that I know of. We went in there; I had something to drink, but I do not know whether there were voters there, or what they were.

9472. You went in search of voters?—That was the object.

9473. You were going up there in search of a voter?—Yes.

9474. I ask you with respect to a voter named Fuller; you say you did not know his name then?—And I do not know him now.

9475. You do not know him?—I know his name from your saying it, but I do not know him.

9476. Did you see Mr. Rose talk to Fuller?—I do not know Fuller; he was talking to several, but who they were I do not know.

9477. Did you see the man he was talking to go to the poll that day?—No, I did not.

9478. Did you see any person whom he was talking to there that day go to the poll?—No. They did not come with us in the trap.

9479. No, but did they promise to come down after?—No.

9480. Did not Rose tell you that he had got a man who was to come down?—No.

9481. Now we are at the "Yew Tree" public house, you and Rose together; how long did you remain there?—Perhaps ten minutes. I had a glass of grog.

9482. But you did not go for the glass of grog though you were there. Where did you go to afterwards?—I came back again.

9483. You came back again to the town hall?—Yes; and into the square.

9484. Who asked you to go there?—I do not know who did in particular.

9485. Who hired the trap?—That I do not know.

9486. Who paid for the trap?—That I do not know.

9487. Did not Alexander Rose ask you to go there?—He asked me to have a ride.

9488. How far is it from this place?—About half a mile.

9489. You went up and had a glass of grog there; did you see Mr. Rose talk to any person there apart, did he talk to any man privately?—No.

9490. Did he talk to any person there?—Yes.

9491. To whom? I do not mean the landlord, but to anybody else?—I do not know his name.

9492. There was a man there he talked to?—There were one or two there.

9493. He did not let you hear what he said, did he?—No.

9494. He walked up to them and had private conversations with them?—It was not private, because it was in a passage there; if anybody had been listening he would have heard; it was inside the house.

9495. Did you remain in the trap while he went into the passage?—No.

9496. Where were you whilst he was in the passage?—Standing by the door having some grog.

9497. You did not hear what was said?—No.

9498. You did not see what was done?—No.

9499. Was it a dark passage?—No, open.

9500. It was open?—Yes, open.

9501. Now did you not learn from Mr. Rose—mind, he will be examined,—that he had secured his man?—It was not said to me.

9502. Did he not tell you coming down, "I have "got one other voter for Mr. Gower"?—No.

9503. Did he not tell you something of the kind? I cannot use his language, but did he not say something of the kind?—Not to me.

9504. To whom did he?—He might to somebody else, but not to me.

9505. You knew what he went up for?—To get anybody he could.

9506. And you knew that when he was talking to men at that critical time he was not talking for nothing to them, you knew that?—I did not pay much attention.

9507. You knew it was a very critical time. Did he not tell you he had secured a man when he came down, or something to that effect?—No, he did not give me anything of the kind, and I do not think he much cared; we were so far ahead that we did not care about voters then.

9508. You were secure of victory at that time?—He thought so, and so did I.

9509. He was in a very good humour?—He would have let you have a glass of grog if you had met him.

9510. Where did Mr. Rose see the men he was talking to in the passage?—In the passage; they were standing up there when we got there.

9511. Who was?—I do not know who it was.

9512. Oh, the men were in the passage?—Yes.

9513. When you got there?—Yes. I was in the bar; as you go in there is a bar on the right side, and then there is a passage.

9514. Then Mr. Rose left you after he called for a glass of brandy and water?—No; I called for a glass of brandy and water, and I paid for it.

9515. Then he talked to these men?—Yes; but I did not take any notice.

9516. You knew that he was a very active agent for Mr. Gower?—No.

9517. It was well known that he was one of the most active agents whom he had?—I knew I was not very active, for I had the gout most of the time.

9518. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you mean to say that you did not hear from Mr. Rose what was the result of his journey, of his canvassing?—No; he asked me if I would have a ride and go with him, but he did not say any one.

9519. Not any name at all; but did he tell you whether he had succeeded in getting a vote or not?—He never stated to me whether he had got one or not.

9520. How far did you drive to the "Yew Tree"?—Half a mile.

9521. All the way going along were you both perfectly silent?—I was smoking.

9522. Were you and Mr. Rose alone?—Yes.

9523. There was nobody else in the carriage?—There was the coachman there.

9524. He was on the box driving?—Yes.

9525. Do you mean to say Mr. Rose never told you what he was going for?—No, he did not.

9526. Nor when he came away what he had been for?—I knew he was gone to see if he could get a voter, but he did not say who or whom.

9527. Did you see Alexander Rose drinking at all?—Yes.

9528. Did he have anything?—Yes, he drank along with me.

9529. Did you see whether he paid?—I did not.

9530. You were engrossed in your brandy and water?—I had mine.

9531. And thought of nothing else?—No, I will not say that I did not ask them to drink out of mine.

9532. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you considered that it was pretty safe for Mr. Gower before the polling began?—I hardly knew which way it would go.

9533. Oh, you did not?—No.

9534. Not on the polling day?—No.

9535. You were applied to, were you not, on the other side?—What, do you mean Mr. Monson?

9536. Yes.—Mr. Holdsworth said, "You must come "on our side, you have always been on our side;" that was Mr Wilkinson's. I said, "No."

9537. That was some time before?—That was some time before, and I said, "It is no use bothering me."

9538. Two or three weeks before?—Two months before.

9539. Some time nearer the election were not you applied to on behalf of Mr. Monson?—No.

9540. Did not Mr. Monson's party come to you and say, "Well, now, we want you, you are a man of "good standing," or something like that, and "we "want you"?—Yes.

9541. I will ask you plainly; there was something more mentioned about money, was there not?—By whom?

9542. Why, somebody who came on behalf of the Monson party to you?—To give me money?

9543. Was there not something mentioned to you about money?—Not to give me.

9544. Was there not something mentioned to you about money; I do not say it was to give you money, but was there not something mentioned to you about money, and, more than that, a sum stated too?—To me?

9545. I do not say to give you any sum; but was there not a sum of money stated to you, try and recollect that if you please?—I do not understand you.

9546. In reference to the election?—Yes.

9547. Did not the Monson party come to you and ask you to come with them and be with them, and mention a sum of money?—Not so late as that.

9548. When was it?—A party came into the "Cross" to me and said——

9549. Is that the "Red Cross"?—Yes.

9550. Go on, we shall find it out, if you please?—He said, "You are going for Mr. Monson this time, "won't you," and I said "No." Mr. Holdsworth said, "You may as well, and you may as well go down with "me; here is five and twenty pound good to you," and I said, "Damn your five and twenty pound."

9551. Was that the phrase he used, five and twenty good to you?—Yes.

9552. And you said what have you told us?—Yes.

9553. That was Mr. Holdsworth?—No.

9554. It was at Holdsworth's house?—Yes.

9555. Tell me, please, who the party was?—Mr. James Nicholls.

9556. Did he make a display of anything?—No.

9557. Nothing at all?—No.

9558. No notes?—No notes, no nothing at all.

9559. Was that all that passed, so far as you can recollect?—Directly I said what I did he was done; he thought that was an answer I suppose.

9560. Were many people there then?—No.

9561. Was that all that passed about that?—Yes.

9562. Was there ever any other sum mentioned to you at any other time?—No.

The witness withdrew.

SIXTH DAY.

A. Balchin.

28 Aug. 1866.

ALFRED BALCHIN sworn and examined.

9563. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you a voter?—Yes, I was this last time.

9564. You were in '65?—Yes.

9565. Did you ever vote before?—No.

9566. What rent did you pay for your house?—I paid 4*s.* 6*d.* a week.

9567. You are a labourer, are you?—Yes.

9568. Do you work in digging out stone?—Yes, anything I can get, no particular work.

9569. Were you put on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes, I was.

9570. Who asked you to come on Mr. Gower's committee?—David Durrant I saw first.

9571. Where did he find you?—We were going home together.

9572. One evening before the election?—Yes.

9573. What is Mr. Durrant when there is no election going on?—A brewer.

9574. I suppose he met you and walked with you?—Yes.

9575. What did he say to you?—He asked me whether I was going to come along with them. I said I did not know; he said, "Make up your mind." Then Mr. Chitty came to see me next; he came to see me on the Sunday.

9576. Is that Thomas Chitty?—Yes.

9577. Did you promise Mr. Durrant in the first instance?—No.

9578. Did Mr. Durrant at that time make any arrangement with you?—No, he never did promise me anything.

9579. Then Thomas Chitty came to you on the Sunday?—Yes.

9580. What did he say to you?—He said he would do the best he could for me.

9581. Did you make any arrangement with him? No, I did not.

9582. Who then put you down on the committee?—On Monday night he sent for me, and I went down. He said, "I suppose I shall put your name down," and I said, "Yes, I will do the same way as the workmen "do." I did not know anything about elections at all. He said, "We will do the best we can for you."

9583. Was any arrangement made about what you were to do?—No, I was to do what they wanted me to do.

9584. Who arranged this with you?—Mr. Durrant arranged that with me.

9585. Why were you to work for them, why were you to do it for them?—To do it for them?

9586. You were to do what you could for Mr. Gower's party?—To see any one that wanted to vote on their side and speak to him I suppose.

9587. What were you looking to get if you did that?—I was to canvass any one who had got a vote.

9588. If you did canvassing, and if you did work as a committee man, what were you to get for it?—He told me that he would do the best he could.

9589. Did he mention any particular sum?—No, he did not, he said, "I will do the best I can for you."

9590. Did he say anything about what others were having?—No.

9591. Did he not say anything about what the other working men were having?—No, only the best he could do.

9592. Was the best pretty good that he did do?—I do not know much about that, he satisfied me.

9593. Was that after the election or before?—He paid me a little before the election and a little after.

9594. Just tell me how much he paid you before?—1*l.*

9595. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Mr. Durrant sent it?—Mr. Chitty brought it me, but I suppose it came from Mr. Durrant.

9596. (The Chief Commissioner.) What was Mr. Chitty?—A gardener.

9597. What did they give you afterwards?—They gave me 35*s.* after.

9598. Was that all you received?—That was all.

9599. There was some little proposal made to you on the other side, was there not?—On the freehold.

9600. Who was it it came and talked to you about Mr. Monson?—Mr. Brown.

9601. What did he say about it?—He said he would give me 5*l.* for six weeks' work if I would do it.

9602. Was that after you had talked to Mr. Durrant?—Just at the same time; Mr. Durrant came to me first, I think.

9603. When Mr. Brown came you were already on Mr. Gower's committee, were you?—Yes.

9604. He said he would give you work for five weeks. Just go on?—What I had from Mr. Monson?

9605. Yes, I want you to tell me the story yourself about Mr. Monson's party?—He told me I could have five or six weeks' work if I liked; I said, "Very well;" he never asked me for any voting.

9606. He said you could have five or six weeks' work if you liked?—He never asked me for any vote. I said I should be glad of it, and of course I knew what he meant about that; I went and did what they set me to.

9607. You did?—Yes.

9608. What did they set you to?—Delivering forms and circulars.

9609. What did you get for it?—I had 5*l.*

9610. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You got your 5*l.*?—I did.

9611. From whom?—I cannot say which paid me, Mr. Apted and Mr. Brown were both together.

9612. James Apted, was it?—Yes.

9613. (The Chief Commissioner.) Now tell me where it was that they paid you, was that at Mr. Holdsworth's stables?—It was up there at the "Cross."

9614. At the "Red Cross"?—Yes.

9615. How long before the election was it that they paid you?—It was nomination day.

9616. It was late in the day, was it not, that they paid you?—It was 2 or 3 o'clock; I cannot say when it was; I did not know anything about the time.

9617. Did you have all the 5*l.*?—Yes; I had the 5*l.*

9618. You did better than most of them, did you not?—I do not know.

9619. Did not your friends congratulate you rather about how you came out of it?—I do not think they did; I do not think that they got much pull over it.

9620. They certainly did not get much pull, for you voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

9621. Now I want to know this; where were you the night before the election, do you recollect?—Yes.

9622. Where?—At a private house.

9623. Whose house was it?—I cannot say.

9624. With some other men?—Oh yes.

9625. Were you locked up in a room?—I cannot say whether I was locked up; I was in a room when I woke up.

9626. Were there some other men with you?—Yes.

9627. You could not get out of the room, could you?—Yes, when I woke up.

9628. When you got up it was not till morning?—No.

9629. You do not know how the door was all night?—No.

9630. Tell me how many men there were with you in the room?—Two or three more.

9631. Did you find your shoes there when you got up or your boots?—No; my shoes were not in the room; they were given to me as soon as I asked for them.

9632. In the morning?—Yes.

9633. They had not been in your room all night?—I do not know whether they were or not; they were not in in the morning. I was asleep when I laid down, I expect. I did not know anything about shoes, whether I had them on or what.

9634. I dare say you saw Robert Warren there that afternoon?—Yes.

9635. Was Truelove of the party too?—No, I do not know that he was.

9636. Thomas Goddard was there?—Yes.

9637. Do you recollect their making the same remarks as you did about their boots not being there?—They were not there, they were up before.

9638. Then you did not hear what they said?—I did not hear what they said.

9639. Tell me, what house it was, whose house?—Mr. Groom's.

9640. Is that a beer house?—No.

9641. A public house?—No.

9642. A private house?—Yes.

9643. Do you recollect who took you to Mr. Groom's house the night before?—No, we went altogether, I believe.

9644. Who went altogether?—A number of us; you see I do not recollect their names.

9645. Were you taken by anybody on behalf of Mr. Gower or on behalf of Mr. Monson?—Mr. Gower's men, I suppose, but I do not know who took us.

9646. Were you marched down, then, with a kind of guard?—No, I do not know how we went.

9647. I believe you had had refreshment, election refreshment, "election beer"?—I expect so.

9648. And you expect that you were taken down there by somebody for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

9649. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that after you had received the 5l.?—Yes.

9650. At 2 o'clock in the day?—Yes.

9651. You had received the 5l.?—Yes.

9652. (The Chief Commissioner.) Just go back to Mr. Holdsworth's stables, where you got the 5l. There were two other men there, were there not?—Yes, two other men with me.

9653. Who were they?—The two whom you asked me about, Warren and Goddard.

9654. They were up at Holdsworth's?—Yes.

9655. Can you tell me whether they got anything at Holdsworth's?—No.

9656. But these were the two men who were up there?—Yes.

9657. Was it in the dark; they did not see what you received?—I do not suppose they did.

9658. Did they take you apart from these two men when they paid you?—No.

9659. They did not see what you received; how was that?—My money was put into my hands.

9660. Quietly?—Yes.

9661. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you see anything put into their hands?—No.

9662. Did you go into the stable separately?—No.

9663. Perhaps you were in different mangers?—No.

The witness withdrew.

Adjourned to to-morrow, at 11 o'clock.

SEVENTH DAY.

Tuesday, 29th August 1866.

Henry Carpenter, from the Crown Office in Chancery, produced four poll books of the last election.

Joseph Digance sworn and examined.

9664. (The Chief Commissioner.) You live at Nutley-lane, do you not?—No, at the bottom of Nutley-lane, in Albert-road.

9665. Did you live there at the last election?—Yes.

9666. What rent do you pay for your house?—5s. a week, exclusive of taxes.

9667. Who does the house belong to?—Farrington; he lives now under the some roof; they are attached.

9668. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It is a separate house?—Separate, but they are attached.

9669. (The Chief Commissioner.) What is Farrington's Christian name?—Benjamin.

9670. Do you go in at the same door as he does?—No, they are separate, entirely separate, only it is under the same roof.

9671. You are a carpenter, are you not?—Yes.

9672. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

9673. Had you voted on the election before, in 1863?—Yes.

9674. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee in 1865?—Mr. Gower's.

9675. Did you promise him the first time?—Yes.

9676. Was he alone when he canvassed you?—No.

9677. Who was with him?—Smith, Apted, and Buckland.

9678. That was, of course, Job Apted?—Yes, Job Apted.

9679. Did they ask you then to go on the committee at that time?—No; Mr. Gower asked me himself; he said, "I should like to have you on my committee." I said, "Very well, if I can be of any "service I will put my name on the committee."

9680. Did he say anything about what you should do for him?—No, nothing whatever.

9681. Did either of the others say anything about what you should do?—No.

9682. What did you do?—I interested myself in his behalf.

9683. Yes, but what did you do for him? you did not stick up bills, I suppose?—Nothing of the sort.

9684. You had no time to do that; you were a carpenter, and had work?—Yes, I kept my work.

9685. You kept your work regularly; what did you do for him?—I pleaded his cause amongst my fellow-workmen, and if there was anything to do with the election I always attended the committees; I attended the committee meetings.

9686. You did not do any other work for him?—Certainly not.

9687. Was any arrangement made with you?—No, no arrangement whatever.

9688. What was done about it?—Nothing at all.

9689. Was any understanding referred to?—No understanding at all. I voted for Mr. Gower.

9690. But before you voted?—No, I never saw any one till then.

SEVENTH DAY.

J. Digance.

29 Aug. 1866.

9691. Till when?—Until Mr. Gower called on me.

9692. Between the time when you were canvassed and the election?—Oh no.

9693. During that time was there some arrangement made between you and any of Mr. Gower's party?—No arrangement whatever.

9694. What were you to receive for your services?—What was I to do?

9695. What were you to receive for your services?—Never to receive anything that I know of at the present time then. I was under no agreement to receive anything. He asked me for my vote, and I promised him.

9696. You said "at the present time then." You were under no agreement?—I never was.

9697. At first you said, "at the present time then"?—That remained till the last. I never had any agreement about money. I voted for Mr. Gower, not for money.

9698. You mean you did not vote for money?—I did not.

9699. Did you receive anything at all?—No, I beg to deny anything of the kind, that I voted for money. I received no money for voting at the election.

9700. Did you receive anything?—2*l.* 10*s.*

9701. What for?—For my services and loss of time.

9702. Now you see how unfortunate it is when men go ahead; we just have from you that you did not lose any time, but you kept regularly of course at work, and now you say you were to be paid for loss of time. You received 2*l.* 10*s.* From whom did you receive it?—Mr. Buckland.

9703. How was it Mr. Buckland came to pay you? you did not mention him as having been present at your canvassing?—Yes, I did.

9704. I understood you to say not?—Yes, Buckland, Job Apted, and Smith.

9705. Where did you receive it?—In the street.

9706. Were you sent for by him, or did you ask him?—No; I met him in the street, when I was leaving my work.

9707. You began to talk to him about it?—No, I did not.

9708. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he talk to you?—He said "Here, come down, I want to speak "to you."

9709. (The Chief Commissioner.) You went down, and, cutting it short, did he give you then the money?—Yes.

9710. Was anything said about any future hopes he had for you?—No; that was merely for my services, and recompensing me for loss of time during the election.

9711. Was anything said about his hoping you would get something more by-and-by, or if there was anything to share by-and-by you should have your share?—I had no share to take.

9712. I ask you a very simple question; was anything said about your chance of getting something more?—Nothing whatever.

9713. Was 5*l.* ever mentioned?—No, never.

9714. Allow me to ask you, did 5*l.* ever pass through your mind?—No.

9715. It did not?—No.

9716. What house was it you principally attended during the election of 1865?—Several. Shall I name the houses?

9717. Yes, just name the houses?—I will make a statement if I may be allowed.

The Chief Commissioner told the witness he might make any statement he liked.

9718. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Name the houses, if you please?—The first I attended——

9719. (The Chief Commissioner.) I do not care about the first, give me any?—The "Bell," and Legg's.

9720. The "Bell;" and what is the sign of the second house?—I really do not know what is the sign at all; it is Legg's house; there was a meeting there that night.

9721. Is that a beer house?—Yes.

9722. Tell me some more?—Sore's, the "Railway" inn, and the "Bat and Ball."

9723. Is that near the cricket ground?—No, leading to the station, what they call the London-road, the North London-road.

9724. Did you attend any other place?—Mrs. Thatcher's on the hill, and opposite was the "Beehive," in opposition at that time.

9725. Was the "Beehive" Mr. Monson's?—Yes.

9726. Can you tell me any other?—Yes, the "Black Horse."

9727. That is all?—Yes, that is all, I think.

9728. Were those evening meetings?—Yes.

9729. I suppose at all those places there were refreshments more or less?—Yes, in a moderate way.

9730. I do not mean in the least beyond the moderate way; you had refreshment like the rest, I suppose?—Yes.

9731. Did you ever pay for them?—No.

9732. How long did that continue; how long before the election?—I really cannot say.

9733. I do not want to tie you to time, but was it three weeks before the election?—More than that, I think, but I cannot say.

9734. Do you think it was five?—I really cannot say.

9735. It may have been four?—It may have been four, or it may have been five.

9736. I do not want to tie you to time; we will take it at perhaps four weeks before the election?—Yes, or it might have been more.

9737. Four weeks will do for me. I presume you never saw any of those refreshments paid for?—I did not.

9738. I presume you did not know who paid for them?—I did not.

9739. Did you ever hear any orders given by any of Mr. Gower's committee as to providing those refreshments?—No.

9740. In 1863 you were a voter, I think?—Excuse me, you did not allow me to make my statement.

9741. Well, you may make it now?—Yes, it is concerning 1865; a witness here of the name of Johnson.

9742. William Johnson?—Yes; he said I was at Hoad's beer shop one night, and that he was chairman and I was vice-chairman. I asked him how he came to say that, and he said he did not know whether it was me or Wells. I wished to correct his mistake; it is all very well for him to say I was there—

The Chief Commissioner (interrupting the witness) said that it was evidently a mistake, but there was no harm in being vice-chairman.

9743. Who did you vote for in 1863?—Mr. Gower.

9744. Were you canvassed by Mr. Gower then?—Yes, by himself.

9745. I do not recollect whether you promised him then, or did you afterwards promise one of his agents?—Mr. Gower was a perfect stranger to me then, and so I did not promise him.

9746. You did not?—No, I did not know what his principles were, and I told him I could not promise him then.

9747. Who did you afterwards give your promise to in his behalf, do you recollect?—I do.

9748. Who was it?—I will tell you.

9749. I should be glad if you will in your own way?—Well, if you will allow me I will. I did not vote for Mr. Wilkinson, and I did not promise either of them. Both of them wanted me previous to their commencing their candidature at Reigate, and I told them both I should not promise them till I had heard what their principles were, and I did not promise either. After I had heard Mr. Gower I think I was going home, and I met one of his sub-agents it might be. The subject of our conversation was his speech of last evening. "Well," I said, "I shall vote for Mr. "Gower." "Oh, you will," said he, "Well, I am one "of his party, shall I put your name down?" "Cer- "tainly," I said, "I will vote for Mr. Gower." That was after I had heard his address the evening before.

9750. Now give us the name of the person, please?—That was Mr. Love the painter.

9751. You agreed with him that you would vote for Mr. Gower?—I made that statement.

9752. Were you put by Mr. Love or anybody else on the committee for Mr. Gower?—By Mr. Love himself; I met him two or three days after, and he said, "I have put your name on the committee."

9753. Did you do what you could for Mr. Gower after you had been put on the committee?—No, I never took any interest; I gave my vote; I thought that was as much time as I could afford.

9754. After the election of 1863 did you receive any money for your work?—No, I never did any.

9755. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) For your vote?—No.

9756. Did you receive any money at all?—Yes, but not for voting.

9757. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you receive any money?—Yes, I received a sovereign in September of the same year.

9758. What time was the election, in February? On that election of 1863 did you go about and attend as much as you did this last time at the different houses?—No, I did not; I did not go anywhere.

9759. They rather wished you should be in attendance; you are rather a good one at singing?—I do not know; I used to sing very well, but I do not sing as well now.

9760. But you were probably at your best in 1863?—I do not know that I sang during the whole of the election in 1863.

9761. I dare say they regretted it?—I did not go anywhere.

9762. Had you any opportunities of observing the election in 1863, if you did not work on the committee?—No, I did not; I promised my vote and I did not trouble myself any further than that I voted.

9763. Had you opportunities of forming an opinion as to the way in which the election of 1863 was carried on?—I beg you will repeat that.

9764. Had you opportunities in 1863 of observing how the election was carried on?—Yes, I had every opportunity of course.

9765. Did it appear to be conducted much in the same way as the election of 1865?—Well, I did not see much difference.

9766. Did it appear to you that money was about as easy?—About the same I should think.

9767. You did not go to public houses in 1863?—No, I did not.

9768. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you say you received 1*l.* of Mr. Love in September 1863?—Yes.

9769. You say it was not for voting?—No.

9770. Or for work, because you had done no work?—It was as remuneration for my loss of time the nomination day.

9771. You had lost no time?—Yes.

9772. What time had you lost?—Nomination day; every candidate is eager to get the show of hands, and I lost time on that day.

9773. What else?—And the polling day, I lost that day; remember it was quite at my own discretion that I lost my polling day.

9774. Then, when you saw Mr. Love in September 1863, what did he say to you that the 1*l.* was for?—As a recompense for the loss of my time.

9775. For the nomination and polling; had you made a claim upon him?—No, none whatever; I never made it from the election to that time.

9776. I suppose all the persons that attended public houses were members of the committee, so far as you know?—I think they were.

9777. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I suppose it was understood that those men who acted as members of the committee were all to be paid more or less for their trouble?—I will speak for myself; I had no idea of receiving any recompense for anything until Mr. Gower addressed us in the room below. Then he hinted we should put our shoulder to the wheel and do what we could for him, he did not wish but what we should be remunerated for our services.

9778. Up to the speech you had no expectation or hope of remuneration at any time?—None whatever.

9779. But when the speech was made you thought, perhaps not unreasonably from that speech, that if you worked you would be entitled to be paid?—Certainly, from his own words I thought that I should receive some slight remuneration for loss of time in agitating his cause.

9780. Was that the general impression, so far as you know, among the committee men?—I will not say; I speak for myself.

9781. So far as you know; persons who know each other exchange what is passing in their minds. So far as you know it was generally thought from that speech that those who worked for Mr. Gower would be paid?—I have no doubt they understood the same thing after those words.

9782. Can you tell me how long before the election that speech was made?—No, I cannot.

9783. Was it three weeks before the election?—It might have been three, four, or five.

9784. That was a turning point in your mind; after that you expected remuneration to some extent?—Yes.

9785. It was some three or four weeks before the election?—Yes.

9786. When Mr. Buckland spoke to you about giving you 1*l.* or 2*l.*, did he refer at all to Mr. Gower's speech?—Not at all.

9787. But he apologised for the smallness of the sum of money?—No; he said, "Here is a small re- "muneration for you." I said, "Thank you, what is "it?" He said, "There is 2*l.* 10*s.* awarded in your "favour, as a recompense for your loss of time."

9788. Yes, he said awarded?—Yes.

9789. That was being awarded by a general body I suppose?—I suppose so.

9790. Did he say it was about as much as they could afford to give amongst so many?—Nothing was said. I had no claim whatever; that was quite as much or more than I expected.

9791. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you hear Mr. Gower make a speech with regard to people being paid in 1863?—No, I did not; I do not think I did; I cannot recollect. I will say his committee in 1863 and 1865 were composed of very different people, in one sense of the word we had the "upper ten."

9792. Was not that speech of Mr. Gower's in 1865, that you referred to, about the committee being paid? Was not that a subject matter of conversation between you and your co-workmen? Did you not talk about it?—I do not know, it was the general conversation; of course when Mr. Gower had promised us in that way of course we expected a trifle in remuneration.

9793. Did you gather the general impression which you speak of as existing in conversations which you had had with your workmen afterwards?—I gathered it from Mr. Gower's words.

9794. No, I want to know what effect it had upon the minds of the general public?—I do not know I am sure.

9795. Did you not hear it spoken of?—I do not know; I did not attend to anything about it.

9796. You might have heard it afterwards?—I might have heard it, and taken no notice of it.

9797. Still your general notion was that it had that effect on the body of the voters that they would expect to be paid for their work?—I do not know; I know it was my impression, I shall receive a small remuneration for my services when the job is over.

SEVENTH DAY.

J. Digance.

29 Aug. 1866.

9798. Did you hear anything about the sum; anything like 5*l.* being paid for those who worked; was that mentioned about the town?—No.

9799. Did you hear that?—No; I had every impression that it was a strictly legal thing.

9800. Were you canvassed by the Monson party; by Mr. Monson?—Yes, and by a person of the name of Hendry; on a Saturday evening they were together.

9801. Did you see Mr. Nicholls at all?—I saw him.

9802. Did you speak to him?—I never spoke to him during the time of the election.

9803. Did any of those persons during the time of the election make overtures to you to vote for Mr. Monson for money?—No, no one ever made any overtures to me, either in 1863 or 1865, to vote for money on either side.

9804. Or to work for them?—No, nor yet to work for them.

The witness withdrew.

D. Boscawen.

DAVID BOSCAWEN sworn and examined.

[The witness stated that there was a mistake. His name had been called as Daniel, and it was David.]

9805. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you live near Station-road?—Yes.

9806. Are you down in the list of voters as near Station-road?—Otherwise I should not have voted.

9807. You are down in the list as Daniel Boscawen?—I did not answer to that name.

9808. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did answer to the name of Daniel at the last election?—I always answer to David; my name is David, and not Daniel.

9809. What were you called, then?—David.

9810. Look at the list?—Oh, that is immaterial.

9811. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) But look at it?—I answered to David and not to Daniel.

9812. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

9813. Who for?—Mr. Monson; at least, Mr. Gower.

9814. If you answered in that way at the last election you would have voted for Mr. Gower; it was rather doubtful last election who you were going to vote for, was it not, Mr. Monson or Mr. Gower?—(No answer.)

9815. Pretty well up to the time of your going to the poll, was not that so, David?—(No answer.)

9816. Now, come, was it not rather doubtful as to whether you would vote for Mr. Monson or Mr. Gower up to the time of going to the poll?—(No answer.)

9817. When did you make up your mind to vote for Mr. Gower?—(No answer.)

9818. Come, you must answer?—Oh, that I will.

Mr. Commissioner Smith remarked that if the witness did not answer he would find himself in difficulties, or if he did not behave himself.

9819. Had you made up your mind for whom you were going to vote before the day of polling?—No.

9820. Had you not promised Mr. Monson's party some time before the day of election to vote for Mr. Monson?—I had.

9821. What do you mean by answering you had not made up your mind for whom you would vote up to the day of polling?—Because, walking through the street, a person asked me to come and be on the committee.

9822. Who asked you to come and be on the committee?—John Shepherd.

9823. Whose committee; Mr. Monson's?—Mr. Monson's.

9824. How long before the day of election?—Three or four weeks, perhaps.

9825. When he asked you whether you would go on Mr. Monson's committee, did you tell him you would?—I walked up some stairs and got into Langridge's room.

9826. Who is Langridge?—A person who keeps a public house; I do not know the sign of it, but it is close to the tunnel; I do not know whether you call it the "Warwick Arms" or not.

9827. Did you go to Langridge's public house?—Yes, I did.

9828. With Mr. Shepherd?—Yes.

9829. Did he treat you well then?—I went upstairs with him.

9830. Did he treat you well when you went upstairs?—Not first of all he did not.

9831. What was his treatment first of all?—First of all he said, "I have brought David Boscawen."

9832. To whom did he say that?—To Mr. Richardson.

9833. Which Mr. Richardson?—Well, I do not know; I only know he is a gentleman who lives on the top of the heights; I should scarcely know him to see him again.

9834. Was that the gentleman who was afterwards put up as a candidate?—I know nothing about that; I do not know what they have done.

9835. Oh, yes, you do?—I do not.

9836. There were three persons put up to vote for at the election?—I do not know that.

9837. In what state were you in on the day of nomination and polling?—At my work.

9838. Not drunk?—In a fit state to look to my work.

9839. If you were not drunk on that occasion, tell me this, whether the gentleman you saw at Mr. Langridge's house of the name of Richardson was the same person who was put up as a candidate to vote for at that election?—What is that?

9840. Was the Mr. Richardson you have spoken of as being at Langridge's public house when you were there with Shepherd the same person who stood at the election as a candidate?—I never saw Mr. Richardson, nor yet John Shepherd, not for a bit.

9841. Except on that occasion?—Except on that occasion.

9842. Where did that Mr. Richardson live that you have spoken of?—Well, somewhere at the top of Redhill; I hardly know where it is.

9843. Is there any name to the place where he lives?—Not that I am aware of.

9844. Do you know his Christian name?—I do not.

9845. Was he a voter?—I cannot answer that; I do not know whether he was or not.

9846. Was it George Gibson Richardson, of Garlands White Post hill?—I never have any recollection whatever of Mr. Richardson.

9847. You told us he lived somewhere at some place on the hill?—Just on the hill.

9848. Where is the Garlands?—I do not know I am sure.

9849. White Post hill, do you know that?—I do not.

9850. Will you swear you do not?—I swear I do not.

9851. How long have you lived here?—Fifteen years.

9852. Do you swear you do not know Garlands, White Post hill?—I do not.

9853. And do you expect us to believe that?—Certainly I expect you to believe it.

9854. Do you know Mr. George Richardson, of Wray Park-road?—I do not.

9855. Do you know Mr. William Richardson, of Hooley?—I do not.

9856. Where is Hooley?—That I do not know.

9857. Do you know Wray Park road?—I do not.

9858. Where do you live; in what part of the borough?—Warwick-town.

9859. In this part of the town?—No, not in Reigate-town.

9860. First of all, tell me what you are?—An engine fitter.

9861. Whom did you vote for?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

9862. What qualification?—I thought I would get him in first if I could.

9863. What is your qualification to be on the register?—To be on the register?

9864. To be on the register?—To be on the register? The qualification does not count beyond that.

9865. Beyond what?—Beyond the register.

9866. Do you understand what your qualification is on the register?—I understand what is my qualification on the register.

9867. But what is your qualification to be on the register; do you understand that?—No, I do not.

9868. I want to test your intellect?—Thank you.

9869. What house do your rent?—15*l.* 12*s.*

9870. 15*l.* 12*s.* a year?—Yes.

9871. Do you pay by the week?—Yes.

9872. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) 6*s.* a week?—Yes.

9873. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You pay your rent by the week?—Yes.

9874. How much did you say by the week?—6*s.* a week.

9875. Now let us go back to Langridge's public house. You say that at the first they did not treat you well; did they treat you more kindly after you were there awhile; did they use you well while you were there?—As to using me well, they did not ask me to drink very much.

9876. How much?—When they asked me who I would vote for, and I said Monson, there was a glass of ale for me.

9877. Before you promised to give your vote for Mr. Monson, did you have your beer?—Oh, yes; I had plenty of beer before, previous to the voting.

9878. I am speaking about Langridge's public house; did Shepherd give you any?—Not that I am aware of.

9879. Did you have any?—I can hardly answer that question.

9880. Oh, yes, you can; we know what you have said about it. What do you believe?—I can scarcely answer that.

9881. Yes, you can?—No, I cannot.

9882. Whatever you had did you pay for it?—I do not know whether I did or did not.

9883. Did you pay for it?—I am sure I do not know.

9884. Did you pay for it?—Well, I might or might not.

9885. Have you been working this morning?—Yes.

9886. What time did you go to work?—Six o'clock.

9887. How long have you been from work?—Since half-past 8, from breakfast.

9888. Have you been drinking this morning?—Not much, a glass of gin and peppermint.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You do not appear very sober, and I give you this caution that you had better answer properly, or you will find yourself in difficulty.

9889. Was Mr. Richardson there the first time you were with Shepherd?—He was there the whole time since I first went in.

9890. Did he remain there?—He remained there till such time as I left.

9891. Did either Mr. Shepherd or Mr. Richardson say anything to you about what you were to receive for voting for Mr. Monson?—No, they did not.

9892. Did they make any promise to you about what you were to receive?—No, they did not.

9893. Did you not expect to receive something?—Otherwise I should not have gone in.

9894. If you expected to receive something, what did they promise you?—They did not promise me anything at all.

9895. What did they give you?—Nor yet give me.

9896. Do you mean to say you were not to get something for voting for Mr. Monson?—No, sir.

9897. Were you to be on the committee?—Yes.

9898. Were you to do any work for them?—To look about and see what I could find.

9899. What were you to receive for work?—I was to receive weekly wages, 1*l.* 10*s.* a week.

9900. Who told you that you were to receive 1*l.* 10*s.* a week?—John Shepherd.

9901. And Mr. Richardson was in the room at the time?—He did not tell me there.

9902. Where did Mr. Shepherd tell you that you were to have 1*l.* 10*s.* a week?—Out of doors.

9903. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Before you went in?—Yes.

9904. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Before you went in to Mr. Richardson?—Yes.

9905. When Richardson went in did Shepherd say to him, "This is David Boscawen, who is going to "work for us, and I am going to give him 30*s.* a week "for that"?—Not like that.

9906. Was it anything like it?—No, nothing.

9907. What did he say, or what work did he mention?—All he said was, "This is Mr. Boscawen, "place him down on the books."

9908. Was that a committee meeting?—I expect it was.

9909. Was Richardson in the room besides Shepherd?—Oh, yes; there were several.

9910. Who was there besides Richardson, Shepherd, and yourself?—I was there.

9911. Was Nicholls there?—No, sir; I do not know him.

9912. Do you not know Mr. Nicholls?—No, sir.

9913. Who was there besides?—A person of the name of Crompton.

9914. Is he a voter?—I think so.

9915. Do you know Crompton's Christian name?—I do not.

9916. Do you know where he lives?—At Station-road, I believe.

9917. Can you recollect any other parties?—There might be a person of the name of Wood, whom they called old Thomas Wood, to make a distinction, old Tom Wood.

9918. Where does he live?—I do not know what employment he follows; sometimes he works at plastering, and sometimes at bricklayering.

9919. A plasterer?—He might be a plasterer's labourer.

9920. Was there anybody else there?—A person of the name of Richard Fuller.

9921. Anybody else that you remember?—Not at present I do not.

9922. Did Fuller speak to you?—I do not know; not that I am aware of.

9923. Was Henry Green there?—I scarcely know the gentleman.

9924. Was Thomas Reeve there?—I do not know him.

9925. Do you know Andrews?—I do.

9926. What is his Christian name?—John Andrews—at least, John.

9927. Had he spoken to you about voting?—There was no speaking at all as yet.

9928. Had he spoken to you about voting for Mr. Monson?—For Monson?

9929. Or for Gower?—No, sir, not for Gower.

9930. He did not?—No, sir.

9931. Had Henry Green spoken to you about working for Gower?—Not that I am aware of.

9932. Or Stevens?—I do not know; he probably might speak to me, but I do not know.

SEVENTH DAY.

D. Boscawen.

22 Aug. 1866.

9933. Had anybody spoken to you about working for Gower?—Nobody, that I know of.

9934. Did you work for Monson?—You may call it work.

9935. We are going to call it work. What did you do for Monson that you call work?—I done nothing.

9936. Were you paid anything?—Yes.

9937. Did you get paid anything?—Certainly, sir.

9938. You did?—Certainly, sir.

9939. How much did you get?—30*s.* a week.

9940. Did you get 30*s.* a week?—Yes.

9941. Who paid you?—John Shepherd.

9942. Were you paid for three weeks?—Yes.

9943. Can you tell me how long it was before the election that you went to Langridge's public house, was it four or five weeks?—I went very seldom to Langridge's public house or any where else.

9944. Was it the first time?—I did not go much with Shepherd.

9945. You told us you did go once to the house near the archway?—When I went with Shepherd it was at the latter end of—— 9946. Of what month?—I cannot say that.

9947. The latter end of what?—I cannot say.

9948. How long was it before the election?—I will say as far as I know the truth.

9949. Was it before Mr. Gower was a candidate; was it before Mr. Gower had put out his bills to say he was coming as a candidate?—I did not take much notice of his bills; I always wish to get early to my breakfast in the morning.

9950. You did not take any interest, I presume, in the politics of either party?—Not a bit.

9951. What did you take an interest in?—In myself.

9952. Well, it had no reference to the election the interest you took; what did you take an interest in with reference to the election?—In myself.

9953. You considered how much money you could make out of it?—I did not care much about it.

9954. But you were very anxious to make something of it if you could?—No, not that I know of.

9955. And you did get three weeks' pay?—Yes.

9956. You were paid for three weeks' work for Mr. Monson by Shepherd?—Yes.

9957. Did not some one on the part of Mr. Gower offer you work?—No, sir.

9958. You have told me you did not make up your mind for whom you would vote till the day of polling?—No, I did not make up my mind.

9959. Did you not tell Mr. Shepherd you should vote for Mr. Monson?—I told him he might put my name down if he liked.

9960. How came you to vote for Mr. Gower?—I took it in my head all of a moment I would go and vote for Mr. Gower.

9961. How came it there; did nobody speak to you?—Nobody, that I am aware of.

9962. Did not somebody persuade you?—No.

9963. Did not somebody speak to you and ask you to vote for Mr. Gower?—No.

9964. Will you swear that?—I can; I will swear that.

9965. When was it you made up your mind to vote for Mr. Gower; was it on the day of polling?—It was in the morning part.

9966. The morning of polling?—Yes.

9967. Had you applied to Mr. Shepherd for any more money after the payment of the first three weeks?—There was a lot of people applying to them.

9968. Did you apply to him?—I did not say anything to him; I was only a-listening.

9969. Who were the parties amongst you applying to Shepherd for money upon that occasion, when you were listening?—There was nobody applying that I know of; they were listening to Mr. Shepherd.

9970. What was he saying?—They had only been paid up the last three weeks, and were expecting to be paid on the following Monday.

9971. Had you been paid in advance?—No, but we expected to be paid for the day of polling.

9972. Was that after?—It was only for the day, such as I term 30*s.* for the day.

9973. Were you to be paid 30*s.* for that one day?—We could not get it.

9974. Were you to be paid 30*s.* for that one day?—We could not get it.

9975. Did you expect to have received it?—I should have liked very much.

9976. I ask you again, did you expect to have received it?—I should have liked very much.

9977. Had you any expectation of receiving 30*s.* from Mr. Shepherd for polling for Mr. Monson?—I expected if I was there either one day or six to be paid just the same for one day as for the six for a job of that description.

9978. At 30*s.* a week?—I did, indeed.

9979. Did Shepherd hold out any expectations you would be paid in that way?—He did not.

9980. Who was with you when you were listening to Mr. Shepherd?—I can hardly tell you.

9981. Give me the names of one or two?—I did just now; Crompton for one.

9982. That was in Langridge's public house, the first time you went there?—And after.

9983. Were you only once in Langridge's public house?—Twice.

9984. When was the second occasion, was it after you had been, so called, working for three weeks?—Yes.

9985. On the second occasion?—Yes.

9986. Crompton?—Yes.

9987. Crompton was there on the first occasion, and on the second occasion?—Certainly.

9988. Do you remember any other person being there on the second occasion?—A person of the name, I think, of Phipps or Pipps; I do not know the name exactly.

9989. Is this the man, Thomas Phipps, 32, Ladbrooke-lane or road?—Something similar.

9990. And was he the person you remember being present on the second occasion?—There might be a few parties.

9991. Can you recollect one or two?—Yes, I might.

9992. Well, then, mention another; in the meanwhile let me just ask you a question, there were other persons?—Of course there was.

9993. Was there a person of the name of Tilder?—Of course there was.

9994. Tilder Brown?—Yes, of course there was Tilder Barham there; that was one.

9995. That is a female, isn't it?—I do not know, I am sure.

9996. Do you mean Tilden Barham, of Langbrook-place?—Some person like that.

9997. That is the man?—I believe so.

9998. Do you recollect any person else present on that occasion?—James Donaldson.

9999. Is he also of Ladbrooke-place?—Well, I never heard so; he lives here; I do not know much about him.

10,000. No. 39, Ladbrooke-place; that is where he is if you want to call upon him?—I never go there.

10,001. Is there anybody else that you recollect amongst them?—No.

10,002. Do you recollect whether Phipps was engaged to work for Monson?—No, I do not know anything about it.

10,003. Of course you did not see him doing any work?—Well, you may call it work if you like.

10,004. Is he a working man?—Yes, the same as myself.

10,005. Barham is the same as yourself?—He is an engine driver.

10,006. On this railway?—The "South Eastern."

10,007. Did you hear from him that he was engaged to do any work, or was to do any work for Mr. Monson?—Well, I am sure I do not know anything about him, because he hardly ever speaks to me.

10,008. Then there is Donaldson?—I do not know anything about him, only he was on the committee the same as I was.

10,009. These were all on the committee the same as you?—Just so.

10,010. Now, was it before Phipps and Barham and Donaldson and yourself that Mr. Shepherd was making some observation about pay on the second occasion?—They were all at it before I came into it.

10,011. Did you hear from them that they had had anything?—No.

10,012. When did you hear that they had had anything?—Not a word.

10,013. How did you know that they did have anything?—Well, I expected such.

10,014. Only you "expected such"?—Because it was a system of voting on the committee.

10,015. Then it was an understood thing that the men upon the committees were to be paid?—I should expect to be paid for my labour, do what I would, ever so small.

10,016. If it was ever so small?—Yes.

10,017. I cannot at all understand why you did not speak to your party if you were so well paid. You know you have told me that you had no political principle, and you did not care a rush for that. I cannot at all understand why you voted for Gower?—I did not say "rush."

10,018. Why did you vote for Gower?—Because it pleased my mind.

10,019. And to please something else, yourself?—That was my mind.

10,020. Yes; what was it had such a very powerful influence over your mind?—Well, just my thoughts.

10,021. And your thoughts afterwards came round that you would vote for Gower?—Yes.

10,022. Having received money on the part of Mr. Monson?—Oh, I did not care about that.

10,023. Did you receive anything at all from Gower after the election?—No.

10,024. Or on the part of Gower?—No.

10,025. From anybody?—No.

10,026. No election money?—No.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do not be indignant.

10,027. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you know Job Apted?—I do not; I should be very sorry.

10,028. Why should you be sorry?—Why should I be sorry, I would not deal with a customer like him.

10,029. Now, David Boscawen, just tell us, because we are not going to rely entirely upon your word, you must tell us; somebody paid you to vote for Mr. Gower; who paid you?—Nobody.

10,030. Did you attend any of their committee meetings?—I once went over to Earlswood-common.

10,031. Aye, when?—Oh, I do not know how far back.

10,032. Just before the election, was it?—It might be a long time before that.

10,033. Not it might or it might not, but was it?—Oh, it might be a week or two, perhaps.

10,034. Wasn't it less than a week before the election, before the nomination day?—Oh, no.

10,035. Wasn't it less than a fortnight?—No.

10,036. Whom did you see there?—Oh, I saw plenty of people; I am sure I do not know them.

10,037. Did you speak to anybody there?—I suppose to some that spoke to me.

10,038. Whom did you speak to?—I did not know them then.

10,039. Some strangers?—Well, they are strangers to me.

10,040. All men from the booth?—I was never near the booth.

10,041. Did you have any drink there on that occasion at Earlswood?—I had, at a beer shop.

10,042. You went into a beer shop?—Yes.

10,043. What beer shop?—On the left-hand side.

10,044. Do you know the name?—No.

10,045. Was it where there was a meeting being held?—There was a meeting on the common.

10,046. Was that an open meeting, or in a booth?—I do not know. I never was near it myself.

10,047. Do you know Titchener's beer house, Earlswood-common?—I was there once.

10,048. Was that the beer shop that you were in when you went to this meeting at Earlswood-common?—That was before the election.

10,049. Before?—Yes.

10,050. Do you know Tyrrell's?—I suppose that must be the place on the left-hand side going over the common.

10,051. Well, supposing it was, when were you there?—I went when there was a meeting on the common.

10,052. Now you can tell me, perhaps, now you remember Tyrrell's, how many days was it before the election?—Ah, that I cannot say! It was in the evening I went there.

10,053. Do you know a man of the name of Mazden?—I do not.

10,054. Now, there was a large number of persons, were there not, at this meeting on the common; some three, or four, or five hundred?—I never went there.

10,055. Not to the meeting?—No.

10,056. Only to the public house?—I saw them all together, and I went.

10,057. I think that was to Tyrrell's, if I recollect rightly. Did you manage to get into the house?—Yes.

10,058. You were lucky. A great many had to stop outside?—That I do not know at all about.

10,059. You saw a great many outside?—After we had done.

10,060. Did you pay for what you had there?—No.

10,061. Do you know who did?—That I do not know, I am sure.

10,062. Now, do you mean to say when you attended that beer house of Tyrrell's nobody spoke to you about your voting?—No.

10,063. They knew you were a voter?—They might do so.

10,064. Do you work in that neighbourhood?—No.

10,065. Did you live in that neighbourhood?—No.

10,066. Far away?—Yes.

10,067. How came you to go to Tyrrell's on that afternoon, then?—I thought I would take a walk; that is all.

10,068. You knew there was going to be a meeting there?—Somebody asked me whether I would come over.

10,069. Who asked you?—I do not know, first one and then another.

10,070. You can tell the name of some one?—No, I cannot. If I could I would.

10,071. You can tell me who it was asked you to go over to that meeting?—I cannot.

10,072. Where were you asked to go over to that meeting; near to your own house?—I am blowed if I know.

10,073. Near your own work?—No.

10,074. It was not there?—No.

10,075. Then it was near your own house?—It might be in the street.

10,076. Was it in the street?—It might be.

10,077. You know Tyrrell's is some distance from your house?—Yes, it is.

10,078. How far?—I do not know.

10,079. Two miles?—No, it is not a mile, hardly, I think.

10,080. But you do not often go there?—I walked a mile and a half once across there from the common.

10,081. Tell me who it was that asked you to go there. Think?—There is no occasion of thinking whatsoever. If I could I would.

10,082. Whoever it was that asked you to go there,

SEVENTH DAY.

D. Boscawen.

29 Aug. 1866.

what did he say to you when he asked you?—Oh, I don't know.

10,083. Did he tell you there was going to be a meeting at Tyrrell's, and on the common, of Mr. Gower's friends?—He only said, "Go on;" that is all.

10,084. Did he ask you to come on the committee?—No.

10,085. Gower's committee?—No.

10,086. Did he offer you work for Gower?—No.

10,087. Did he make any promise to you, that if you voted for Gower you should be paid?—No.

10,088. Do you know a man of the name of Henry Taylor?—No, I do not; not particularly.

10,089. Not particularly?—No.

10,090. Do you know a person of that name, a guard on the railway?—Well, I have heard the name of Taylor; that is all I know.

10,091. Where does he live?—Ah, that I do not know.

10,092. Now, you know him?—I wish I did. I would certainly say so.

10,093. Has not Henry Taylor spoken to you about the election?—Yes, he once did on the foot-plate.

10,094. On a foot-plate?—Yes.

10,095. What do you mean by "on a foot-plate"?—From the foot-plate of a locomotive engine.

10,096. What took place between you and Taylor on this foot-plate?—I do not know. He spoke to me.

10,097. He spoke to you about the election?—Yes.

10,098. About giving evidence?—No. He told me to mind what I was at.

10,099. In what way?—I do not know. He fancied something, and I fancied another.

10,100. Surely you had told him that you were going to give evidence somewhere?—I did not say anything to him about it. I told him to mind his own business, and hook it off the foot-plate quick.

10,101. Didn't you tell him you were not going to be such a fool as to open your mouth to fill other people's?—Certainly I did.

10,102. And is that the reason why you won't tell me why you voted for Gower?—I will tell you the candid truth.

10,103. Is it because you decline to open your mouth?—I can open my mouth as you ask me a question.

10,104. You are bound to come here and inform me, whether I ask you the question or not; but I do ask you now the question, who it was that bribed you to vote for Gower?—Myself.

10,105. That may not be bribery, but somebody bribed you to go to Gower; who was it?—Nobody.

10,106. Had you been to any other meetings except that one at Earlswood?—No.

10,107. Why did you hesitate when you said "No"?—I did not hesitate much.

10,108. But you did quite sufficiently to satisfy me that you went somewhere else?—Be it so.

10,109. Did you go somewhere else?—No.

10,110. First tell me where it is you live—in the freehold?—No.

10,111. What is the name of the place where you live?—Well, there is no name to the place where I live.

10,112 In what district do you live?—It is a place that runs out of Station-road towards Mr. Willet's, the baker's. There is no name up.

10,113. Do you know the "Warwick Arms"?—Yes.

10,114. That is kept by Mr. John Davis, is it not?—I believe that is the name.

10,115. Is that the house that you generally use when you want to get a little refreshment?—If I want a pot of stout, or what not, for home, I go for it there.

10,116. Now tell me, before the election were you not in the "Warwick Arms"?—Before the election?

10,117. Yes?—Just before the election, many a time I was.

10,118. Did you see any of the supporters of Mr. Gower at the "Warwick Arms"?—No; I never troubled myself about them.

10,119. Did you ever talk to any of the people at the "Warwick Arms" about the election, or they talk to you?—Some might say, "Where are you going?" I said, "I don't care; I am going my own road."

10,120. At that time you were advertised as being on the committee of Mr. Monson?—No, not then.

10,121. A week before the election were you not advertised as on the committee,—as soon as you told Langridge that you would consent to be put on the committee?—I was three weeks on the committee for Mr. Monson.

10,122. And everybody in the town had an opportunity of knowing that you were on the committee?—Certainly.

10,123. And of course they would know it at the "Warwick Arms"?—Certainly.

10,124. The "Warwick Arms" was one of Mr. Gower's houses, was it not?—I did not know whether it was so or not.

10,125. Did not John Davis ask you about your voting for Gower?—I do not know that name.

10,126. Well, the landlord of the "Warwick Arms," did he ask you?—Not that I know of.

10,127. Didn't he say, "You had better come over "to us"?—I never heard him.

10,128. Did anybody else at the "Warwick Arms" say, "You had better come over to us"?—No.

10,129. Did you ever attend any meetings at the "Warwick Arms"?—No.

10,130. Or go in and drink beer or have refreshments in the same way as you went to Tyrrell's?—No.

10,131. Did you pay every time that you went to the "Warwick Arms"?—Whenever I thought proper to have a pint of beer and porter I paid for my own.

10,132. At the "Warwick Arms"?—I did indeed, independent of the election; previous to that.

10,133. Did nobody at the "Warwick Arms" ever ask you to take a little refreshment, and then pay for you, treat you?—No, they were too close for that.

10,134. They were too close for it?—That they were, a good deal.

10,135. Well, I suppose you thought yourself very ill-treated at the "Warwick Arms"?—Well, I did not care much about it. As long as I had twopence in my pocket I paid for my own.

10,136. Well, but you would have liked to be treated by them?—Well, it is very acceptable.

10,137. Did you see others in the "Warwick Arms" having refreshment and not paying for what they had?—No, not I.

10,138. Were you at the "Warwick Arms" in the evening at all?—In the evening?

10,139. Yes?—I have been in several times.

10,140. There have been some of Mr. Gower's friendly meetings there; have you attended them?—No.

10,141. You have not attended them?—No, by no means whatsoever.

10,142. Now, are there any other houses that you had attended besides the "Warwick Arms"?—No, not that I am aware of much.

10,143. Had you ever been over to Redhill?—At the time I was speaking of, a little time back, to that beer shop; that is the only one.

10,144. That is not Redhill, that is Earlswood?—I do not draw a distinction between Redhill and Earlswood.

10,145. Perhaps I am not quite right in the geography of the place. Now Hoad's; do you know that?—No.

10,146. Reigate-heath?—Oh, no.

10,147. Were you ever at Reigate-heath?—This is the fourth time I have been in Reigate in 15 years.

10,148. Have you been living away from the place?—Near the Station-road.

10,149. Do you know Simmonds's, the "Thimble and Nutmeg-grater"?—Yes.

10,150. Were you there at any meetings?—No.

10,151. Why not?—The house is not half big enough.

10,152. Not to contain you?—No; other people.

10,153. But have you ever been there?—Not at the election.

10,154. At meetings?—No.

10,155. You went to some houses, surely, during the election, where there were some meetings going on. What house did you generally use that was big enough for you?—A very small house would be big enough for me.

10,156. Tell me where you went?—To Mr. Langridge's; that I told you previously, and likewise to the "Warwick Arms."

10,157. To Tyrrell's?—No.

10,158. Were those the only three houses that you attended?—There was one that they call the "Greyhound."

10,159. Where is the "Greyhound"?—I do not know what name they call it hardly; it is going up towards Redhill.

10,160. Who keeps it?—I do not know who keeps it now. I almost forget who kept it previously.

10,161. (The Chief Commissioner.) You are a Warwick-town man?—Yes.

10,162. Shepherd was on the Warwick-town district committee, wasn't he?—Yes.

10,163. So was Joseph Kenward, I believe?—I do not know that name.

10,164. You do not?—No, I do not know that.

10,165. I think you would?—No.

10,166. Langridge was on the Warwick-town committee?—Yes.

10,167. Do you recollect whether there were any more on the Warwick-town committee?—I said James Donaldson.

10,168. Where did Shepherd live?—I do not know.

10,169. Didn't he live in 34, Ladbrooke-place?—During the time I have been in Redhill I have only once passed Ladbrooke-place.

10,170. How recently have you seen Shepherd I want to know?—Never since he paid me the last 30*s.*

10,171. That was before the election?—When the 30*s.* was paid to me?

10,172. When the last payment to you from Shepherd was made was previous to the election, wasn't it?—Of course it was.

10,173. Have you not seen Shepherd since?—Yes, I did once.

10,174. Where?—Going round from Redhill, coming to Mr. Langridge's house.

10,175. When was it?—I cannot say.

10,176. Since the election?—Yes.

10,177. Not long ago?—Not far after the election.

10,178. Have you seen him recently?—No.

10,179. You are sure you have not?—I might have seen him two or three weeks ago while at work.

10,180. How long from this time?—Perhaps three weeks back; I cannot answer. It was in the way of business.

10,181. I am not talking about anything but the election now; where was it you saw him?—I saw him in the street.

10,182. In a street in Reigate?—No.

10,183. Well, tell me?—In Warwick-town.

10,184. Was he at work there at the time, do you know?—He was not working in Warwick-town then.

10,185. Has he got that work there now?—That I cannot answer.

10,186. Why not?—I am sure I do not know, I never look after John Shepherd.

10,187. Perhaps you can tell me?—If I could I would.

10,188. Can you?—I cannot.

10,189. Are you able to tell me where he is?—I cannot.

10,190. Am I to say that you have pledged yourself that you do not know where he is now?—I do not know.

10,191. Do you know whether he went to Horsham. Pray be cautious in your answer. I dare say you wish to do what is quite right, and I believe you do. Do you know whether he went to Horsham?—He has to work at Horsham.

10,192. Recently?—Yes.

10,193. How long?—It may be for three or four weeks back.

10,194. Do you believe he is at work in or about Horsham now?—That I cannot tell.

10,195. I know you cannot tell, but I ask you for your belief?—I do not believe he is.

10,196. If you do not believe he is, you must have some reason for your answer?—I cannot answer as to the reason for my belief.

10,197. Why do you think he is not at work at Horsham?—Because otherwise you would see him come and take his wages.

10,198. Where at?—Where he is at work.

10,199. If you saw him take his wages, you must see him come near Redhill. Is that what you mean? I do not want to fence about Shepherd at all, we can do that about something else. Why do you think he is not at Horsham?—Because I think he has gone somewhere else to work.

10,200. Why? I want to make it sure.—He is liable perhaps to go and look for a job somewhere else.

10,201. Have you reason to believe he has gone and looked after some other job?—Perhaps he might.

10,202. Have you reason to think that he has gone from Horsham?—I rather believe that might be his meaning.

10,203. Then you rather believe he has gone. Now I will ask you as an honest man to tell me where you believe Shepherd to be?—That I do not know.

10,204. Do you mean to say that if you wanted to communicate with Shepherd to-day you think you could not do it?—I make no communication with any person; only myself.

10,205. I do not know what you mean; but do you mean that if you wanted to find Shepherd you could not do so?—If I could I would.

10,206. Do you mean to say you think you could not find him?—I am confident I cannot.

10,207. Well, how much obliged to you I should have been if you had told me that before. So much for Shepherd. I understood you to say you did not know Kenward; is that correct?—I do not.

10,208. Am I wrong in the way I pronounce the name? Do you know a man of the name of Kenward?—I am sure I do not know that name.

10,209. At the election there were several men who were called railroad men, being attached to the railroad, who were brought up to vote, were there not?—I do not know anything about being brought up to vote.

10,210. Well, who came to vote?—I voted for myself.

10,211. Are you one of the railway men?—Yes.

10,212. Was there not an arrangement made previous to the election with all the railway men about there?—Not as I am aware of.

10,213. Do you know that there were as many as 18 voters who belonged to the railway?—I do not know how many there were.

10,214. Was there not an arrangement made with all the railway men?—Not as I am aware of.

10,215. That is a very decided answer. You never heard of it?—No.

10,216. Now, you have told us what you were paid by the Monson party some time previous to the election; after you had been on Monson's committee did Mr. Gower himself come and call on you at your shop?—No, not after I had been on Mr. Monson's committee. Mr. Gower never called on me.

10,217. Well, now, Mr. Gower did come and call upon you before the election?—Certainly.

10,218. When was that, if you please?—Well, it might be a week or two. I cannot exactly say.

10,219. Before the election; that would be after you were on Monson's committee?—That was a few weeks before the election.

SEVENTH DAY.

D. Boscawen.

29 Aug. 1866.

10,220. According to the dates, as you have stated it, that would be after you were on the Monson committee; but, however, that is a matter of observation. Well, one or two weeks before the election Mr. Gower called on you, did he?—Well, I might have said a week or two; I did not exactly mean it. It might have been two weeks.

10,221. I do not want to tie you to time at all, we will take it a week or two, as you like. Was it at your shop?—Yes.

10,222. He canvassed you for your vote?—Yes.

10,223. Be so good as to tell us very honestly what passed, so far as you can recollect, between you and Mr. Gower?—The moment he asked me about my vote I said to him, "I do not know I shall vote at all."

10,224. Go on, if you please?—That is all.

10,225. He did not walk out without saying anything; did he not express sorrow?—No. I said naught. I allowed him to go just as he liked.

10,226. Then, you won't help me any more as to that interview?—If I could I would.

10,227. Did he not say, "I will get some of my people "to call on you"?—No.

10,228. Did some of his people come and call on you afterwards?—No.

10,229. Are you sure of that?—I swear to it.

10,230. Do you know Apted; Job Apted?—I do not, only by seeing him the day before yesterday and Saturday.

10,231. Where did you see him the day before yesterday?—In this room.

10,232. Did you know anything about him before?—I forget.

10,233. Well, then, what made you tell my friend just now that you did not like to have any dealings with a man of that sort?—From his countenance.

10,234. From his countenance. I will take your answer if you like, only let me have it plainly. If that is really your answer I will take it; only I shall form my own opinion of it. Why did you not want?—I think myself he behaved rather ill to others, and as to myself I have nothing to do with him.

10,235. How do you think he is behaving ill?—Only by hearing people speaking in court.

10,236. That is all?—Yes.

10,237. I must ask you once more, are you sure that nobody called on you for Mr. Gower, or on his behalf?—Nobody.

10,238. Did you speak about giving your vote to Mr. Gower to any one on the polling day?—I never spoke to any one respecting my vote until I got up in the morning, and then I says, "Here goes to vote for "Mr. Gower."

10,239. I want to know whom you said that to?—John Andrews.

10,240. Who is he?—That is the gentleman (pointing opposite.)

10,241. What is he; was he one of Gower's party?—I do not know, I am sure.

10,242. You do not?—No; not a bit. (Laughing.)

10,243. Well, I am very willing to smile at any joke, but I cannot exactly see the point of that?—Well, it is very pleasant I am sure.

10,244. Do tell me who is Mr. Andrews?—That is the gentleman; excuse me pointing; the gentleman with a black moustache.

10,245. Perhaps he won't like it?—I do not mind about that.

10,246. Can you tell me whether Mr. Andrews voted for Mr. Gower or Mr. Monson?—I cannot tell.

10,247. Did he ask you to vote for Mr. Gower?—No.

10,248. How came you to tell him?—I did not tell him at all. I said, "Fetch me out, and I will go and "vote for Mr. Gower."

10,249. If you said that to him it is unnecessary to inquire whether you knew if Andrews was a Gowerite or not?—I do not know, I am sure.

10,250. And did he fetch you out?—Yes; he brought a trap, and of course I rode in it, and was taken round and voted.

10,251. He took you round?—Him and another did.

10,252. Who is the other?—His name is Vosper, I believe.

10,253. Vosper and Andrews put you into a trap and took you up to the poll?—Yes, they two took me away.

10,254. Where were you? Where did they take you from?—Oh, from my house.

10,255. Did they come and call you in the morning, or how was it that you happened to see Andrews?—I do not know. Andrews came for me out, and I went.

10,256. I suppose they said, "Now, come old fel-"low, and vote for Gower," or something like that?—No.

10,257. I beg your pardon for saying "Old fellow," I ought not to have said it; but did they say, "Now, "come and vote for Mr. Gower?—No; all they said was this, "Are you ready?" I said, "Yes." They said, "Go into it."

10,258. Very well, did they come into the house and take you out?—No, I walked out.

10,259. Pray do not misunderstand me. I did not mean took you out with the smallest violence or force. They said, "Well, then, come on, get into the trap"?—No. I merely went into Mr. Andrews' house till they thought proper to call for me.

10,260. He came and called on you. I understood you to say, Andrews and Vosper invited you out, and said, "Come into the trap"?—No. I said, "Go on, "I will go with you."

10,261. Did you want to go with him, or did he come into your house and ask you first?—I was in bed when he came in.

10,262. And he invited you to come up and vote at that election?—All he said was, "I want you."

10,263. I see Mr. Andrews, as far as I can identify him, shaking his head at you, a good deal at you. I suppose it means dissent; never mind about that?—I do not care for anybody. I come here to express myself.

10,264. Then you got up; and what did he say to you, I should like to know?—I hardly know what he did say; I cannot recollect what he said.

10,265. Did he know up to this time that you belonged to the Monson party?—Well, he might be a little aware of it.

10,266. Then, if so, it was rather strange to see him come in, who was a Gower man, was it not?—That I do not know.

10,267. Were you rather expecting him?—No, not a bit.

10,268. As he knew that you belonged to the Monson party, you would hardly expect him to come in, would you, into your house?—Oh, any one is liable, I believe, if they think proper, to go and see anybody.

10,269. So when he came in you treated him as a canvasser?—Not I; I say any person is liable to come in anywhere.

10,270. Inasmuch as he came into your house, I suppose you considered him a canvasser coming in?—No, I did not; any person is liable to go anywhere.

10,271. What do you mean by saying that any person may go anywhere they like if they canvass?—Yes, where they think proper to canvass, if they like.

10,272. What is the use of making that observation to me if it is not applicable to Andrews when he paid you this visit?—Well, he might come and see me, and have a pipe of tobacco, as he often has done.

10,273. He would hardly have a pipe of tobacco when you were in bed?—I often had a pipe of tobacco upstairs.

10,274. But you do not receive company in bed?—I do at times.

10,275. Did you dress while he was in the room? —He was not in the room at all.

10,276. Did you dress while he was in the house? —He was not in the house at all.

10,277. I am afraid you are contradicting yourself? —He was in the house before I dressed. I admit I was wrong there. I do not know whether he was in the house or out of the house when I dressed.

10,278. Was there any breakfast before you got into the trap? Did you give him breakfast?—(No answer.)

10,279. Where did you breakfast that morning? At the "White Hart"?—Nowhere at all.

10,280. Where did you lunch?—None at all.

10,281. You should not say that, because I know you have a good deal more intelligence than that?—You can rely upon it.

10,282. Where did you first eat on the polling day? —I can hardly tell you.

10,283. You say you did not breakfast, you say you did not lunch. Give it your own name. Where did you first have any refreshments on the polling day?—The polling day? Well, I do not believe I tasted a bit of anything that day.

10,284. Did you have anything to drink that day? Well, I had a share of a pint of beer with a man that carried boards round.

10,285. That was all?—And I paid for a bottle of ginger beer myself.

10,286. Where did you poll. At Redhill?—Somewhere thereabout.

10,287. The polling places are not "about" anywhere; they are at distinct places, very well known. Where did you poll?—I dare say about Redhill.

10,288. If you like to say that you do not know where you polled, I will take your answer if you like, but it will give a character to other answers too. Do you mean to say that you do not know where you polled that day?—I will say so. Yes.

10,289. You do not know?—No.

10,290. Well, I will take your answer. I am sorry that you made it for your own sake. Having taken that answer, I will ask you this question, were you promised anything for voting for Mr. Gower?—No.

10,291. By any person?—No.

10,292. You remember your last answer, that you do not know where you polled?—Yes, I do.

10,293. Did you receive anything at all after the election?—Not of Mr. Gower.

10,294. Did you receive anything at all after the election?—No.

10,295. From any person?—No.

10,296. What did you mean by saying, "Not from "Mr. Gower"?—I mean that it might be promised though.

10,297. Who promised it?—Nobody.

10,298. Was there any arrangement, or any hope expressed that you would receive something?—No, not from me.

10,299. Did you apply to Apted for it?—I do not know the gentleman.

10,300. Oh, yes, you know Job Apted, begging your pardon?—No.

10,301. You have expressed an opinion about him to-day. Did you apply to Job Apted after the election for something?—No; it is too far to walk from Redhill to Reigate.

10,302. Never mind the reason why. Let us have the fact first. Did you apply to Job Apted for anything?—No.

10,303. Did Job Apted refuse to give you anything?—I never spoke to him respecting anything.

10,304. Did Job Apted say he was sorry there was nothing for you?—No.

10,305. Did any person?—No.

10,306. Do you know Frederick Joyes?—Well, I saw him when I was here on Saturday. That is the first time that I knew him. That is all.

10,307. Did you ever make any application to Mr. Gower himself?—No.

10,308. Or cause any application to be made to him for anything?—No.

10,309. Do you wish me to take it that, though you voted for Mr. Gower at the last moment after receiving money from Mr. Monson's party before, you had no reason whatever for doing so?—I took my own mind, and voted according to my own mind.

10,310. What did your own mind get formed from? Was it entirely from what people call "caprice," or what was it?—Only I says to myself, "Here goes for "Mr. Gower."

10,311. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where were you the night before the polling?—In the "Warwick "Arms.

10,312. Were Vosper and Andrews there?—Not that I am aware of.

10,313. Did you see them that night?—I cannot say exactly I did.

10,314. Andrews, you say, you used to smoke a pipe with?—Ah, that is at my own house.

10,315. Was he at your house the night before the election?—No.

10,316. During the week before the election?—He might be there during the week.

10,317. If he was there during the week before the election, did he not speak to you about your voting for Gower?—No; he was too close for that.

10,318. I do not mean about promising you anything; but didn't he ask you during that week to vote for Gower?—No.

10,319. What time did they come to you on the morning of the poll to take you to vote?—Somewhere between 9, or from that to 11 or 12. Something of that sort.

10,320. Do you mean you were in bed so late as that?—I sometimes like to rest; especially as I had been out the night before.

10,321. Had you got drunk the night before?—No.

10,322. What time did you get to bed the night before?—I can scarcely tell you.

10,323. You do not know what time you got to bed?—It might be some time under 12, probably.

10,324. You were in bed as late as between 9 and 12 in the morning. Do you know what time you voted?—I cannot exactly say. Some time in the course of the day.

10,325. I know that. Was it in the middle of the day?—It might be; I cannot say, hardly. I cannot say whether it was before dinner or not.

10,326. You have no recollection?—No.

10,327. If you have no recollection what time you polled, or where you polled, were you sober when you polled?—I cannot answer exactly that.

10,328. Very likely you were not. Had you had any drink before you went to the poll?—No.

10,329. Did not Andrews and Vosper treat you before you went up to the poll?—No, not him.

10,330. Then how came Vosper and Andrews to have so much influence over you to induce you to vote for Mr. Gower?—I gave my vote myself, independently of Andrews. He had no influence over me whatsoever.

10,331. Was that the first time you thought of Gower, when they came to you?—I went and told them I would go with them.

10,332. But you say they came to you first. Had you told them that you would go for Gower before that morning?—No.

10,333. But they found you in bed?—But I went and told him.

10,334. Where was it you first told them that you would vote for Gower?—I do not know.

10,335. At your own house?—No; they did not come for me on Wednesday at all.

10,336. Did they come for you at all?—No, only to smoke a pipe.

10,337. Andrews did?—Yes.

10,338. Had he smoked a pipe with you before that week?—Not about elections.

10,339. About anything?—No.

10,340. He never came to you before to smoke a pipe?—Oh, yes; weeks and weeks.

SEVENTH DAY.

D. Boscawen.

29 Aug. 1866.

10,341. Were you old friends?—Certainly so.

10,342. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I should not like to do you an injustice, Mr. Boscawen, but I took down your evidence as this, "I should not have voted "unless I expected to receive something for it." You said that in the early part of your examination. Do you recollect?—No, not "expect."

10,343. You did, indeed, when you were promising for Monson. You said, "I should not have voted "unless"?—"I expected to receive something for it?"

10,344. That is what you said to my friend Mr. Smith. You did expect something from the Monson party?—No.

10,345. From the Monson party?—Oh, I beg your pardon.

10,346. You did expect. You would not have voted for the Monson party without money?—Oh, no.

10,347. That is what I mean?—I beg your pardon, I was looking at this gentleman instead of attending to you.

10,348. And I suppose you were greatly disappointed with the Monson party in not giving you more money?—Oh, no; I was highly pleased with what I did get.

10,349. You expected more?—Oh, no.

10,350. Why did you not vote for Monson as an honest and respectable man, when you had received money from Mr. Monson's party?—I thought myself very well satisfied, and that 30*s.* per week was very nice.

10,351. And you were not satisfied when you did not receive the last 30*s.*?—Well, I was satisfied so far as that, that I should like to be paid for my day as though I went to the poll.

10,352. Was that the reason you did not vote for Monson?—I think that is not further than a foot of it.

10,353. Having received the money for three weeks then, and not getting the money for the last week, you were dissatisfied, and you refused to vote. I suppose you wished to be paid the last week beforehand?—No.

10,354. Who refused to pay you the last week?—John Shepherd is the person who ought to have paid me.

10,355. Who refused to pay you the last week?—Oh, nobody refused.

10,356. How did you know you would not be paid, because you told me you know that you would have voted for Monson if you were sure of being paid the last week. How did you know that you would not be paid?—They said I might get it if I could.

10,357. Who told you you would not get it?—Nobody.

10,358. How did you know?—Because I would not trust their honesty.

10,359. You would not trust their honour for that. In fact, I suppose you were paid week by week?—Yes.

10,360. And the first time you were paid I suppose you received a week's wages in advance?—No, not in advance; only, on first going I received my wage.

10,361. Why did you not treat them with the last week, and continue?—When my time of servitude was worked I expected to have my wage.

10,362. You were paid your wage for the last week?—Yes.

10,363. Were not you paid weekly?—Yes.

10,364. Why did you not go on receiving the weekly wages?—Because they stopped it quick.

10,365. Who stopped it?—That I don't know.

10,366. Who told you it was stopped?—It was stopped.

10,367. Who told you?—I found it out.

10,368. How did you find it out?—Because I did not get it.

10,369. Who refused to give it to you?—I did not like to go and ask.

10,370. Who refused?—I did not ask.

10,371. You did not ask? Then you do not say you were refused. It puzzles me?—We do think to ourselves at times we are liable to be refused; but still at the same time I did not ask, because I thought I should be refused.

10,372. How did you read a refusal?—I put it to myself. I thought it was nearly a case with Mr. Monson, I thought it was all up with Mr. Monson for more money.

10,373. My difficulty does not end there, because I took down your words, they were very graphic, "I "had got into my head all in a minute to vote for "Mr. Gower"?—Yes.

10,374. Was it in bed it got into your head?—That is just the place to think.

10,375. At that very moment when you thought of it in bed Andrews and Vosper came in, as if by magic?—No, not Vosper.

10,376. Your waking thoughts were running on it. What time did Andrews and Vosper come?—I did not take particular notice.

10,377. You were in bed when they came?—In bed, no.

10,378. You told my friend so. You said, "I was "in bed when Mr. Andrews came, and he said, 'We "want you." Is that so?—Well, I will say in bed. I had got my trousers on, that is all.

10,379. What time of the day was it?—I can hardly tell you.

10,380. Yes, you can?—Some time between breakfast time and dinner time. I could not say to an hour or two.

10,381. Was it 12 o'clock, or was it 1 o'clock?—No.

10,382. Eleven o'clock?—I cannot say.

10,383. Perhaps at 6 o'clock you thought of voting, and said to yourself, "Gower is the man"?—Yes.

10,384. They came to you between 11 and 12?—Some time betwixt 9 and 12.

10,385. They did not canvass you to vote; but they said, "We want you"?—I told them I would go with them.

10,386. Didn't they say, "We want you"? They did not ask you to go and vote for Gower?—I did not say so.

10,387. Did they ask you to go and vote for Gower?—I told them I would go and vote for Gower.

10,388. But did they ask you?—I told them.

10,389. Did they ask you for whom you were going to vote?—No; they did not ask me who I was going to vote for.

10,390. Did they ask you whether you were going to vote for Gower?—No.

10,391. How did you know they came to you about your voting at all?—I told them I would vote.

10,392. How did you know they came to you about your vote?—I did not know what they came to me for.

10,393. You do not mean to abide by that answer?—How could I know?

10,394. But did you know?—Certainly I did not know.

10,395. And the first you said to them was, "I will "vote for Gower"?—Of course I voted for Gower. I said so.

10,396. What did Andrews say to you, "Now is the "time, we want you," or something of that kind?—I do not know what they said. I said, "Here goes, I "will vote for Mr. Gower."

JOHN ANDREWS called, sworn, and examined.

J. Andrews.

10,397. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I believe you are a voter of this borough?—I am.

10,398. I believe your place of abode is Station-road, and your qualification is a house and shop?—Yes.

10,399. What rental do you pay?—33*l.* a year.

10,400. What business do you carry on?—Furniture broker.

10,401. You acted, I believe, on Mr. Gower's committee at the last election?—I was on the committee, but I had no orders to act, though I did act; I did my best for Mr. Gower.

10,402. That is what I mean; you were acting on the committee?—Yes.

10,403. In which district?—What they call the Warwick-town district.

10,404. Station-road?—Yes.

10,405. That brought you, I believe, a great deal in contact with a number of railway people?—Yes. I was about with every one, pretty much, about there.

10,406. Did you vote in 1863?—The first time of my voting was in 1865.

10,407. Did you support Gower in 1863?—I had no vote. This was my first time of voting. I was not here in 1863.

10,408. When were you first put on Mr. Gower's committee?—About a month before the election.

10,409. Did you canvass many of the men in the neighbourhood?—I canvassed a great many, but I did not get many votes.

10,410. A number of the men there were rather inclined for Monson, I believe?—Well, I tried to canvass the station men, but they had pledged their words for Monson for 30*s.* a week.

10,411. (The Chief Commissioner.)—The station men?—The station workmen, such as fitters and engine-drivers.

10,412. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How many of them were there?—I think they went in a lump together; about a dozen or 15 who had pledged their word for so much.

10,413. You had learnt in the course of your canvass that some 12 or 18 of the station men were receiving 30*s.* a week from Mr. Monson?—I believe they were unanimous, one and all alike.

10,414. The last witness was one of these men?—He was, I believe; he was a station man; that is all I take it from.

10,415. Did you hear when that 30*s.* a week ceased to be paid to them?—Well, I believe it ceased on the Saturday before the election took place. I think they were generally paid on a Saturday.

10,416. What day did the election take place; what day of the week?—I cannot say what day; the fore part of the week, I believe.

10,417. You had heard that 30*s.* a week was paid up to the Saturday, and then you found they were free and open?—Well, I did not care who were open and who were not, as long as I could get them.

10,418. But you had heard that they had ceased so far?—They had ceased so far; that was their last payment.

10,419. Are you aware, or have you heard, or do you know from your own knowledge, that they went up on the Tuesday, and offered to vote in a body for Mr. Monson if they got their 30*s.* a week?—Not after that Saturday. I do not know.

10,420. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did they on that Saturday?—They had been taking their 30*s.* a week then for three weeks.

10,421. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) On the Saturday did they not send a message up to Mr. Monson's committee, saying unless they got 30*s.* down in addition to what they had already received they would not vote for Monson, and if they did get the 30*s.* they would vote for him?—I know nothing of it.

10,422. When did you hear that they were refused the 30*s.*?—I believe they had it on the last Saturday.

10,423. When did you ascertain that they were not going to vote for Mr. Monson?—I never did ascertain that.

10,424. But you had heard the rumour, had you not?—We know there is such a thing as people taking money and voting in opposite directions.

10,425. But on the Monday or Tuesday did you not know that they were shaky?—I do not know about being shaky. While we were out canvassing we polled who we could.

10,426. And you found they were shaky, in fact?—I dare say they were shaky.

10,427. You found when you canvassed they were?—I only polled one.

10,428. You and your friends on the committee would report to each other on the committee, I suppose. I suppose there was a committee meeting on the Monday?—I never was at a committee meeting, except at the hall; at private committee meetings, not at public.

10,429. You reported to each other. Did you find that 12 or 18 men who were pledged for Monson were shaky?—We knew they had pledged their word to Monson a fortnight before the election.

10,430. Did you not know from your own report to one another they were then uncertain?—I might believe that they were shaky; they did not think 30*s.* sufficient.

10,431. I suppose that they were all canvassed on the part of Mr. Gower?—Not by me.

10,432. I did not say by you; some were canvassed by you, and some by others, I suppose?—I do not know one of the station men being canvassed, except by me.

10,433. How many did you canvass?—Boscawen.

10,434. How many station men voted for Gower?—Only this one that I am aware of. There were more, I think.

10,435. You know about how many of these station men were dissatisfied. I do not mean from personal knowledge, but a man on the committee would know how many of the 12 or 18 men were dissatisfied?—I think there might be three or four of the station men who voted for Gower.

10,436. All these men had been in receipt of money from Monson?—I cannot tell whether they were all.

10,437. But they were reputed to be so?—Yes; they were supposed to be on Monson's side.

10,438. When did you first ascertain that Mr. Boscawen was a shaky voter?—On the morning of the polling day.

10,439. That was on the Wednesday; had you not ascertained it before?—No.

10,440. Had you canvassed him before?—No.

10,441. Had you not spoken to him at all about voting?—I had spoken to him about the election.

10,442. That is what I mean. You had spoken to him about the election after the Saturday; these things become very well known in a little place; after the Saturday did you not speak to him about the election?—Only on the polling day, to vote for Gower.

10,443. But, before the polling day, had you not spoken to him about the election?—Yes, before he pledged his word to take the 30*s.* a week I had spoken to him; that was a month or six weeks before the election. It was before he took the money.

10,444. You told him, I suppose, employment was going on the part of Gower?—No.

10,445. There was employment on the part of Mr. Gower as well; it is not strange to you that there was employment on the part of Gower, is it?—I suppose we cannot return a member without employment.

10,446. But I mean that it was known that Gower was employing men?—Yes.

10,447. And he was paying them about the same rate?—I do not know. I got no payment.

10,448. Did any question of mine suggest that? I made no allusion to it. I do not suggest that in the slightest degree. You are mistaken if you think so. You had not seen the man, then, till the polling morning?—No.

10,449. Had you been at his house?—Yes, several times; his boy used to work for me.

10,450. Between the Saturday and the polling day had you been at his house?—Only on business. I used to run there for his boy to take goods home for me very frequently.

10,451. You had been to his house?—Yes.

SEVENTH DAY.

J. Andrews.

29 Aug. 1866.

10,452. Did you see him at all between Saturday and Wednesday?—Yes.

10,453. You saw him and spoke to him?—I saw him every day.

10,454. Saw him and spoke to him?—Nine times out of ten when I saw him I did not speak to him.

10,455. We thought from Mr. Boscawen's answers that you were almost a stranger to him; now we find you employed his boy?—I did so.

10,456. And you were at his house more than once between the Saturday and the Wednesday?—I cannot think I was there more than once between those few days.

10,457. You have said so already. Did you see his wife?—Yes.

10,458. And spoke to her?—Yes.

10,459. Did you not speak to his wife about his voting for Gower?—No.

10,460. Not at all; just recollect?—Well, I had spoken to his wife to see how he was going to vote; that was before he took the 30*s.* a week.

10,461. Now things were coming to a crisis: you are aware there is a breach between the station men and Mr. Monson's party, and then you go to his house on business: now did you not speak to his wife, because now is the opportunity for a friend of Gower?—Not after I knew he was pledged to Monson.

10,462. Or on the committee?—No.

10,463. Did you say anything to his wife?—No; I do not canvass women when I want men to vote.

10,464. Then I am afraid you are not a good canvasser; it is said the women have a good deal of influence. You went to his house on the following day, what time did you get to his house in the morning?—I suppose it was about a quarter to 9. The polling was opened, and had been opened half an hour.

10,465. You took a trap with you?—No.

10,466. Had you a trap there?—No.

10,467. You had a trap there afterwards?—No, I never did take a trap to his house to poll him.

10,468. He says he got into a trap, where was the trap; did he get into a trap?—I suppose he did; it appears so.

10,469. Well, you heard him say so, did you not; you brought a trap there?—Not to his house.

10,470. Where?—To my private entrance.

10,471. Well, we get at it, you see, however private the entrance may be. How far is that away from his house?—I could throw a stone from one to the other. The trap was as well at my house as at his. You cannot drive down to his house, it is in a lane.

10,472. You had a trap for the purpose of bringing him to the poll?—It was a trap hired for the day to bring all people to the poll.

10,473. You went to his house?—I went to his house, and he got in.

10,474. You had not seen him to speak to him upon the Saturday, the time you know he ceased to receive Mr. Monson's money, and the Wednesday? Now just be cautious?—I had seen him.

10,475. To speak to him about the election?—I saw him on the eve of the polling day.

10,476. Your memory or mine is at fault. You know I asked you, and you told me that you had not seen him till the morning of the polling day?—Not about election matters.

10,477. But you had seen him on the eve of the polling day?—Yes.

10,478. On what business? Any business at all?—I say him at the "Warwick" hotel.

10,479. Was that a house of Mr. Monson's?—I cannot say; the "Warwick" hotel was a place where Gower's men went to.

10,480. Now the light is breaking in; it was a Gower house?—Gower house.

10,481. Then you saw him on the eve of the polling day, that would be the nomination day at the Gower public house?—Yes, at the "Warwick."

10,482. Were there many of those other men with him?—There was a lot of men.

10,483. I mean station men?—Not that I know of.

10,484. And I suppose from his being there you took the intimation that he was ready to vote for Gower?—I thought it strange to see him come in among the Gowerites, as I knew that he was on the Monson committee.

10,485. Did you speak to him upon that occasion? just recollect?—Not respecting the election.

10,486. I thought everybody's mouth was full of the election then?—So it was for them that we thought of getting.

10,487. What else was talked of then?—I think when a man pledges his word to vote for any gentleman, he ought to do so.

10,488. Did you speak to him about the matter then?—No.

10,489. Did you know then that he was ready to vote for Gower?—I did not till the morning I went to his house.

10,490. I am speaking of the eve of the polling day?—I thought it strange for him to be there.

10,491. Was he drinking?—He was having refreshments. I went for my supper beer to the bar.

10,492. I am not including you at all now in the matter, but those you saw there were having refreshment—what is understood as election beer?—I do not know what election beer is, I am not acquainted with it.

10,493. About how many were there?—I should think there might be from 20 to 30.

10,494. How did you know he was going to vote for Gower upon the morning of the polling day?—I did not know, only I thought he was a shaky one and that I would go and give him a trial; he was so near me, he was in my way.

10,495. Did you go to any one else, because I want to know what the doctrine of chances is; did you go to any other of the voters upon that day by chance?—No, I never went to another station man.

10,496. Do I understand you that this was by a mere chance you went to this man in the morning?—Yes.

10,497. Just recollect for a moment, you are a man of intelligence; do you mean to say that it was by chance you went to call upon Mr. Boscawen?—It was by chance.

10,498. You adhere to that answer?—Yes.

10,499. Who is Vosper?—He is a working man for Fuller, the tailor.

10,500. Did you take him with you?—No.

10,501. He was with you?—No, he was not with me when I took him from his house; he was not with me at Boscawen's.

10,502. You went to Boscawen's house alone?—I went when I had had my breakfast. I did not go for his vote.

10,503. What did you go for?—I went to see one of the boys.

10,504. You did not go for his vote that morning?—I heard he was not up.

10,505. You did not go for his vote, that was not the object of your visit?—It was not the object of my visit. It was too early in the morning.

10,506. Was it the object of your visit to go canvassing for Gower, or was it not? You know what you went for?—Well, I went over.

10,507. Is there any doubt that you went over to canvass and get him if you could for Gower?—Well, I did get him for Gower.

10,508. But did you go over with the intention of getting him if you could to vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

10,509. Why did you try to put on me the answer that you went merely on business? You expressed a very proper sentiment about not canvassing him when you knew that he was receiving money from the Monson party. When did you cease to think it was wrong to canvass a man who had received money from the Monson party?—I never did canvass him.

10,510. You called for him?—He told me that he was going to vote for Gower before I asked him.

10,511. But you told me that you went over for the purpose of getting him to vote for Gower, if you could?—It was purposely for that; he told me he was going to vote for Gower before I asked him.

10,512. But you went over to his house?—I did go over to his house.

10,513. And for the purpose of getting him to vote if you could?—It was about a quarter to nine.

10,514. Had you been to his house twice that morning?—I cannot recollect that I had. I went once to his house.

10,515. You knew he wanted money?—No; I think he would have been satisfied without money on the other side, and the money was forced upon him.

10,516. You heard him say here to-day, "I should "not have voted unless I received money"?—Yes; I heard him say that.

10,517. But at that time you were in so much ignorance that you thought he would have voted without any money; is that what you say?—(No answer.)

10,518. What passed between you and him that morning when you went in?—Nothing at all.

10,519. Nothing at all?—No.

10,520. Come, what passed between you; tell us?—I have nothing to tell you.

10,521. What passed between you, now? I ask you upon your oath, what did you say to him to induce him to vote for Gower?—I did not tell him anything to induce him.

10,522. Upon your oath, now, what did you say to him to induce him to vote for Gower?—Nothing at all.

10,523. Nothing whatever?—I never asked him for his vote.

10,524. What did you say to him to induce him to vote for Gower?—Nothing.

10,525. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Or "persuade" him, not "induce"?—No; when I went to his house he holloas down stairs and said he had made up his mind that he would vote for Gower instead of Monson.

10,526. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did that come upon you by surprise?—Yes.

10,527. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How did he know you were downstairs?—Because he heard me talking. It is only a one-storey house.

10,528. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you employed any other man at all on behalf of Gower?—No.

10,529. Had any money passed through your hands at all; I do not say for yourself, because I do not believe it; had any money passed through your hands at all for matters of expenditure or expense during the election?—Yes, one sovereign; not for myself.

10,530. To whom did you pay that sovereign?—I had it for the services of my boy taking out circulars; at least, not my boy, a boy that I employ.

10,531. A boy is not a voter?—No, but he took out circulars; he was under me and I lent him to the committee.

10,532. Had you yourself employed any one except your boy?—No.

10,533. Did any other monies pass through your hands?—Not a farthing.

10,534. What business do you carry on?—A furniture broker.

10,535. Only a pound for your boy?—That is all.

10,536. Was that boy this man's son?—Yes.

10,537. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Boscawen's son?—Boscawen's son.

10,538. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why did you not tell us that you employed Boscawen's son?—I did not employ him, I lent him; I lent him to Mr. Green to take out circulars.

10,539. I suggest a more respectful term than lending; however, you lent him to Mr. Green to take out circulars, and you received a pound for his services?—Yes, I paid him his weekly wages and I considered I ought to have it.

10,540. How long had the boy been employed?—I suppose three or four or five days. He went two miles round taking circulars; he took as many as a hundred at a time.

15,541. Was that between the Saturday and the polling day?—No, three or four or five weeks before the election.

10,542. The father was engaged on one side and the boy engaged on the other?—In fact it was before the committee was formed; almost at the birth of the election.

10,543. (The Chief Commissioner.) You say you saw no other money than that pound which passed through your hands?—No.

10,544. You received that money from Mr. Green?—Mr. Green.

10,545. I dare say you will forgive me for asking whether, although no money passed through your hands, had any money passed into them though not out again?—No.

10,546. What arrangement was made between you and Mr. Green when Green asked you to be on the committee?—None at all. Green never canvassed me.

10,547. Who did?—Mr. Gower himself. I gave him my vote the very first time he came to my house.

10,548. You gave him the promise of it?—My promise to vote.

10,549. Did you tell Gower you would be put on the committee?—No, he did not speak to me about the committee.

10,550. Who put you on the committee?—I suppose those that promised were committee men; I gave them no authority to put me on the committee.

10,551. But you found you were on the committee? I found I was.

10,552. Was the committee at which you worked a sub-committee or a general committee?—I suppose it was a general committee. I had meetings to attend night after night.

10,553. When you did attend who was in the chair at the committee?—Well, at the committee meetings we had different chairmen.

10,554. Was Green chairman sometimes?—No; I believe Webb was chairman once.

10,555. Was Shepherd chairman a good deal?—Shepherd was not with us at all.

10,556. What committee did you attend?—A Gower committee. Shepherd is a Monson man.

10,557. Who was it that attended as chairman of the committee?—I believe Mr. Webb was in the chair once.

19,558. Do you recollect anybody else?—I believe Mr. Featherstone was in the chair once.

10,559. Is that Mr. Featherstone, senior, or the young Mr. Featherstone?—Mr Featherstone, senior.

10,560. If you were canvassed by Mr. Gower, did you not report yourself either to Mr. Featherstone, or Mr. Webb, or somebody or other as being ready to do work?—No.

10,561. Then how did they know that you were a a man to whom they might send circulars?—Because I suppose Gower had told them that I had given him my promise.

10,562. Where did you see Gower?—He came to my house.

10,563. What passed between you?—Very few words. He came to solicit my vote and I gave it him.

10,564. Did he suggest that you should be on the committee?—No.

10,565. Did you attend a committee meeting at the town hall when Mr. Gower made a speech?—Yes.

10,566. Did you hear him say anything about the men who worked for him being properly paid?—No, nothing of that kind.

10,567. Had you an interview with any of Mr. Gower's people after you had the interview with Mr. Gower?—No.

10,568. None at all?—No.

10,569. Then if anybody comes here and says he had an interview with you on behalf of Mr. Gower it won't be true, will it?—I think not.

J. Andrews.

29 Aug. 1866.

10,570. But thinking won't do. If a man comes here and says, "Mr. Andrews reported to us that he "was ready to do work, and I waited upon him and "desired him to work and promised to send him "circulars;" if anybody comes and says that it will not be true?—I do not think it will.

10,571. I do not wish it to take you by surprise; I have no trap at all for you; and if anybody comes here and says that, will it be true or not?—No.

10,572. Do not answer hastily; may you have forgotten it?—I never had any interview with anybody about work.

10,573. Did you make any arrangements with any of Mr. Gower's people that if circulars were sent to you you would see that they were posted up?—They took the liberty of posting them on my house, which was a corner house.

10,574. Who did so?—Those who were posting for Gower.

10,575. But who?—A man of the name of Somers. He was not a general poster.

10,576. Who told him to do so?—Green.

10,577. Who told you so?—He did.

10,578. I want to find out who of Mr. Gower's people you had any talk with about working for Mr. Gower; do you know Job Apted?—Yes, very well indeed.

10,579. Did you have any talk with him about being willing to do services for Gower?—No.

10,580. Did you have it with Joyce?—No.

10,581. Who then; I wish you would think?—I believe it was Mr. Green. I believe he was the right man.

10,582. Did you go to Green yourself, or did Green come to you apparently on Mr. Gower's report?—I met him accidentally in the street and we talked electioneering matters over.

10,583. That is right; just tell us what you said about services?—He said we must do our best, all of us.

10,584. What did you say?—I said, "Decidedly so."

10,585. Did you say "And I am willing to do the "best"?—He could see I was willing.

10,586. Did you say so?—Yes.

10,587. Did he then say "Mr. Gower will pay "fairly for what is done"?—Well, he said something about "Those that work will be paid."

10,588. Did he tell you at what rate the others were being paid?—No, he never mentioned any pay at all.

10,589. He did not mention any sum you mean?—No sum.

10,590. Did he mention you would be paid like the rest, or to that effect?—Pay is pay. I was to be paid for labour of course; he did not mention any sum.

10,591. Did he not say, "Very well, all right; go "to work, you will be paid like the rest"?—He said I was to do my best.

10,592. Did he go on to say you will be paid like the rest. I am going to call Mr. Green, there will be no concealment about that; did he not say "You will "be paid like the rest," or something like that?—He said I should be fairly paid.

10,593. You were on the committee; now what in your judgement would be fair payment?—You see I am not like a man that goes out to work; I give my full time at the election.

10,594. Therefore you would expect rather more?—I should say so. I do not know that I expect anything, only when a man says "You will be paid," he ought to see you are paid, if you have any pay to come.

10,595. What did you receive?—No money at all.

10,596. Have you never received anything since?—Not a farthing.

10,597. Tell me how is that?—I do not know.

10,598. You did not receive anything before the election?—No; only that pound I told you about.

10,599. Quite right. You have made an application have you not?—I cannot say that I have made an application.

10,600. You cannot say you have not?—I cannot say that I have not.

10,601. You cannot say you have not made an application?—No.

10,602. Did you make it to Mr. Green or to whom?—Well, after the election was over I of course expected to be paid for labour done, having bills posted on my house, and so forth; and I said something to myself about payment.

10,603. What did Green say to you?—He told us to wait; he expected a petition.

10,604. What?—He said we were to wait; we should all be paid in time.

10,605. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What age was this boy of Boscawen's?—About 16 years of age.

10,606. What wages do you pay him?—I do not know; he has left me now; from 5*s.* to 6*s.* or 7*s.* a week. He was come to me as an improver; I think it was 6*s.*, as near as I can say; I am not going to bind myself.

10,607. You told us that he was away delivering circulars about four days?—About four days. He came to me to be apprenticed, and his father took him away; that is the reason he did not have more wages.

10,608. Then you told us also that you thought as he was your servant, and you paid him his wages, you ought to keep the sovereign for his services?—The sovereign was paid to me.

10,609. He only went out four days?—Oh! that does not matter to me; he is worth a pound a week working for me although he only took 6*s.*

10,610. Then you took the property?—I was entitled to do so; apprentices generally earn more than their wages are worth.

10,611. (The Chief Commissioner) Yo you remember telling Green that you could lend your boy?—He came and asked for his services; he knew I had got a boy.

10,612. Was that after you had the conversation with him, when he said you would be paid for your services?—That was before; it was at the commencement, six weeks before the election, Mr. Green came to me. It was a hard job to get a boy to go out at the time.

10,613. He came to you with circulars?—He brought a lot down.

10,614. Was anything said to you about your vote?—No.

10,615. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you ever tell the boy that you had received a sovereign of Green on his account?—No.

A short adjournment took place.

T. Ford.

THOMAS FORD called, sworn, and examined

10,616. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—Carpenter and joiner.

10,617. Do you live in what is called in Lesbourne-road?—Yes.

10,618, What rent do you pay for your house?—17*l.* a year.

10,619. Do you pay by the year or weekly?—Weekly.

10,620. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

10,621. For Mr. Gower?—Yes.

10,622. Did you vote at the election of 1863?—No.

10,623. Did you hear of that election?—I was in Reigate.

10,624. Now at the election of 1865 when you voted for Mr. Gower, did he canvass you himself ?—Mr. Gower canvassed me himself.

10,625. When he canvassed you did you promise him your vote ?—No.

10,626. What did you tell him ?—I told him I had not made up my mind ; I should not give him a promise then, there was plenty of time.

10,627. Was that four weeks or a month before the election ?—I do not know how many weeks ; it was when they first begun to canvass.

10,628. Were you afterwards canvassed by Mr. Monson's party ?—No.

10,629. I do not mean by Mr Monson himself, but by any one for him ?—No, not one.

10,630. How soon did you promise Mr. Gower your vote ?—I think it was about a week after he called.

10,631. Then your promise to him was made a good while before the election ?—Yes.

10,632. Probably a month ?—I cannot tell how many weeks. It was a week after he came that I gave him my promise.

10,633. Whom did you see the second time when you spoke about it ?—I told Mr. Buckland.

10,634. Where did you see Mr. Buckland ?—Coming down the High-street.

10,635. Did you go up to him and speak to him ?—I think we passed "good evening," it was in the evening. I said, "You can put my name down as one "for Mr. Gower."

10,636. On the committee ?—I told him to put my name down ; that I should vote for Mr. Gower.

10,637. Did you tell him to put your name down on the committee ?—No ; he afterwards asked me if I would do any work for him.

10,638. Was that on a different occasion ?—I think it was afterwards ; whether it was the next day I cannot positively say.

10,639. Not on the same day you think ?—I would not say for certain.

10,640. He asked you if you would do any work for him ; what else did he say ?—He said he would pay me for what I did.

10,641. Did you say you would do any work ?—Yes.

10,642. What was he to pay you ?—Nothing was said as to what he was to pay.

10,643. Did he tell you he would pay you the same as the others ?—No ; he said he would pay me for what I was to do.

10,644. Did he say more than that ? Did he say, "I will pay you the same as the others," or, "I will "give you so much a week"?—He said nothing about the other people.

10,645. Were you to be paid by the week ?—Nothing was said about that.

10,646. What were you to do ?—I was to canvass all I could, and also to carry out circulars, attend to him and go where he wanted me to.

10,647. Did you do work ?—Yes.

10,648. After the election what did he pay you ?—Altogether he gave me 3*l.*

10,649. When was that ?—I had it on three different occasions before the election.

10,650. Did he pay you on Saturdays at the end of each week, or how ?—No ; I cannot tell you what days he did pay me.

10,651. Did you go and ask him three different times for an advance of money, or something of that sort ?—No, I did not ask him for it.

10,652. When did he come and pay you the first time ?—I think it was a fortnight after I had been working for him. He asked me if I should like to have any money. I told him I should.

10,653. Did he then hand you 2*l.* ?—I think it was a sovereign the first time.

10,654. You are not sure ?—I cannot speak positively as to what it was.

10,655. Are you sure it was not 2*l.* ?—I am sure it was not 2*l.*

10,656. When did you get the second payment ?—I forget now when it was.

10,657. I wish you could give me a little more information.—I do not recollect ; I will give you all I do recollect.

10,658. Was it a week or so, again ?—It might be three weeks.

10,659. No, the election would be on then ?—It might be a week, it might be a fortnight.

10,660. Do you recollect how long before the election the third payment was made ?—I said I received the three before the election. I think it was only two before the election, and one after.

10,661. Do you feel a doubt about it, or are you quite sure the last pound was paid you after the election ?—I think it must have been after, to the best of my recollection.

10,662. Now where was Buckland when he paid the last pound ? At his office or his house ?—He paid me at his office.

10,663. Had he got a list there ?—I never saw any.

10,664. Were some other people there as well as yourself ?—No.

10,665. How did you get there ? Did he send for you, or did you meet him ?—I had a little business to go there for.

10,666. Other business ?—Other business.

10,667. And did you mention there was still a sum coming to you ?—No, I did not mention anything about it.

10,668. Be so good as to tell me how it took place ?—He said he thought to pay me a little more money for what I had done, and he took and paid me a sovereign.

10,669. Did you see a list ?—No, I saw no list at all.

10,670. Did you give him a receipt for it ?—No.

10,671. Did he say he was in hopes there would be something more for you ?—No, nothing ; he never mentioned about any more.

10,672. Was the sum of 5*l.* ever mentioned ?—No, never was mentioned ; no sum was ever mentioned.

10,673. The sum of 5*l.* ?—No, never.

10,674. Was the sum of 5*l.* floating in your mind ?—No.

10,675. Were you to canvass ?—Yes.

10,676. Whom did you canvass ?—I canvassed Jupp.

10,677. George Jupp ?—William Jupp is his proper name. Some call him William, some George.

10,678. However, he is the Jupp that we have had here as a witness ?—I do not know. I have not been here until to-day.

10,679. You say you are a carpenter. Now, from the time you gave in your name, as you have told us, did you go on doing your work as a carpenter ?—I did the best part of the day.

10,680. It was of an evening that you attended the meetings ?—I neglected my work to do what I did do.

10,681. How was that ?—Because at the time we were busy, and I was ordered to work late at nights.

10,682. That is overtime ?—That is overtime.

10,683. What work you did for Mr. Gower you did late at night, I suppose ?—Not all of it. I worked two or three days ; three days, I think.

10,684. In doing what ?—In waiting about and carrying about circulars for Mr. Buckland, and going messages.

10,685. Be so good as to tell me anything you did in the daytime ?—That is what I did.

10,686. Any one message that you took to any particular person ?—I can hardly tell you now, because I do not recollect enough about it.

10,687. Tell me anybody you canvassed besides Jupp ?—James Trussler, at Mead-vale.

10,688. Jupp and Trussler ?—They did not give me their promises.

SEVENTH DAY.

T. Ford.

29 Aug. 1866.

10,689. Who else did you canvass?—A Mr. Millbank.

10,690. Who else?—A person named Geer.

10,691. Can you tell me anybody else, because I shall have an opportunity of talking to them about it, if I like?—There were several more, but I can hardly recollect.

10,692. I should rather like the names, if you could give me them.—I do not think I can.

10,693. Did you take a message to any person that you can mention?—I think I took a message to a man named Penfold.

10,694. Penfold was a biggish man, an active man?—He is rather tall and slight.

10,695. I mean a biggish man in the election?—No, he is not.

10,696. From whom did you take the message to him?—They were circulars that Mr. Buckland gave me to take. I do not know what was in them.

10,697. Did you take any other message, do you recollect?—Well, I took one to Mr. Eve.

10,698. Who else?—I believe I took one to Mr. Lucas.

10,699. Anybody else?—I cannot think of anybody just now; I did not take much notice of it.

10,700. When you went out canvassing had you any book with you, any sort of canvassing book?—No, I had no book at all.

10,701. Were you desired to go to particular people and canvass them, or did you go from your own knowledge to where you thought a likely man was to be found?—From my own knowledge.

10,702. I suppose all the time you were employed you went to the public houses of an evening where other people went?—I went to two or three.

10,703. Were you in the habit of attending public houses where there were meetings?—I went to two or three.

10,704. Did you occasionally have refreshments when you went there?—I always had some.

10,705. For which you did not pay?—I often paid for it myself.

10,706. But not always?—Two or three times I went and never paid for it.

10,707. I do not want to go more into particulars about that. You had nothing to do with the election of 1863?—Nothing whatever to do with it.

10,708. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you know whether Jupp, Trussler, Millbank, and Geer were canvassing also? Were they on the committee?—Not on Mr. Gower's committee, not at the time.

10,709. But afterwards?—I do not know that they were on the committee.

10,710. Did you ask them to go on the committee?—I asked them who they were going to vote for, and I asked them to vote for Mr. Gower. They would not give me any promise.

10,711. Do you know whom they did promise?—No; I know whom they voted for. Trussler and Jupp voted for Mr. Gower, but to whom they promised I do not know.

10,712. Did Millbank and Geer vote for Mr. Gower?—No, I believe they voted for Monson.

10,713. They voted for Monson?—I believe so.

10,714. Did you offer Millbank and Geer employment?—No, I did not.

10,715. Did you offer Trussler and Jupp?—No.

10,716. Did you tell them if they came on the committee there would be something paid for that?—No, I never promised them anything of the sort.

10,717. Never showed them the five fingers?—No, I did not.

10,718. Or touch them by hand, "five fives," or anything of the sort?—No.

10,719. Or give any sign that they would be remunerated?—No, I give no sign whatever.

10,720. Millbank and Geer went afterwards for Monson?—I believe they voted for Monson.

J. Ede.

JAMES EDE called, sworn, and examined.

10,721. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You reside in Nutley-lane, and are a gardener by trade?—Yes, a working gardener.

10,722. What rent do you pay for the house for which you vote?—Not any.

10,723. Is it a freehold house?—It is my own.

10,724. What is the value of it; what would it let for?—I should think about 12*l.* to 15*l.*

10,725. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

10,726. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

10,727. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

10,728. For whom?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

10,729. First I will inquire about the last election. Do you know Mr. Alexander Rose?—Very well indeed.

10,730. He canvassed you, I believe, for Mr. Gower?—No.

10,731. Were you working with him on behalf of Mr. Gower?—Yes, working with him.

10,732. On behalf of Mr. Gower?—Yes.

10,733. Were you at all employed for work, Mr. Ede?—Yes.

10,734. You told me you are by trade a gardener; were you in employ at the time, or were you working on your own account during the election?—I was working on my own account.

10,735. I mean as a gardener?—Yes.

10,736. Do you employ men?—No.

10,737. And besides working as a gardener you were employed for Mr. Gower?—I was.

10,738. Who engaged you?—Mr. Apted.

10,739. Is Mr. Apted here?—Yes.

10,740. Is this Mr. Apted (pointing out a person in Court)?—Yes.

10,741. Was anything said about what you were to have, or anything of that kind?—Nothing.

10,742. How much a week, or anything of that kind?—Nothing.

10,743. What did Apted say to you?—Nothing was said at all.

10,744. You know one man does not employ another without saying something?—Well, he asked me to vote for Mr. Gower, and I said, "Oh, yes."

10,745. Well, go on?—And he said, "Can you "render us any assistance"? "Oh, yes," I said, "I "am quite willing to do that." I went on.

10,746. Did he not say further you would be paid for it?—No, he did not say anything about it.

10,747. Or, "I'll take care that you are paid for "it"?—Not a word said about it at all.

10,748. Did you understand him to mean that you would be paid for it, no matter what was said?—No, there was nothing of the sort.

10,749. Did you understand that you were to be paid for what you did?—No.

10,750. Do you mean to tell me you did not expect to be paid?—Mr. Apted never said anything about my being paid.

10,751. Did you expect to be paid if you were set to work for Mr. Gower?—No; he did not say anything about that.

10,752. I did not say he did; but did you expect to be paid if you had to work for Mr. Gower?—Well, I expected a recompense for the time.

10,753. Exactly; you know you were not engaged by the hour. Before I go further, tell me what did you receive?—Do you mean for what I did?

10,754. Yes.—5*l.*

10,755. When did you receive 5*l.*?—I can hardly say.

10,756. Was it from Mr. Apted?—No, Mr. Buckland paid me.

10,757. Mr. Buckland paid you the 5*l.*?—No, Mr. Apted; yes—no, Mr. Buckland paid me the 5*l.*

10,758. Did he pay you in one or two payments, or how?—No, he paid me all at once.

10,759. Did you go to him after the election, or was it before the election that Mr. Buckland paid you?—It was after.

10,760. How soon after, a month?—Well, I should think it was.

10,761. About a month after?—A month or five or six weeks after.

10,762. What is Mr. Buckland in business?—I really do not know what business he calls himself.

10,763. What do you call him?—He is secretary to a building society.

10,764. The Freehold Building Society?—Yes.

10,765. Did you go to his office?—I did.

10,766. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is that the Freehold Land Society?—There is more than one.

10,767. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It was Mr. Apted who asked you to do the best you could; why is it you went to Mr. Buckland? Were you referred to him by one one?—No; I do not know how I went. I dropped in accidentally.

10,768. People do not drop in accidentally and get 5*l.* My friend here and myself we know a little of the world, and we know that people do not drop in accidentally and get 5*l.* You went to Mr. Buckland, did you not?—No, I did not; I dropped in accidentally that morning coming down town.

10,769. You dropped in accidentally on Mr. Buckland and you found him there?—Yes.

10,770. At his desk?—I hardly know that he was at his desk.

10,771. Was there anyone else there besides you and Mr. Buckland at the time?—I think Mr. Rose and me and Mr. Buckland.

10,772. Was that Alec Rose?—Alec Rose.

10,773. Did you pick up Alec Rose accidentally that morning?—Well, I do not know. I think I saw him in his shop.

10,774. Then Mr. Rose joined out, and you went by accident to Mr. Buckland's?—We came down town.

10,775. You and Mr. Rose came down together?—Yes.

10,776. You were associated a good deal with Mr. Rose at the election time?—At all times.

10,777. I mean at election time; you associated a good deal with Mr. Rose at the election time?—Yes.

10,778. You met him and picked him up accidentally, and went by accident to Mr. Buckland's?—Yes.

10,779. Is that it?—Yes.

10,780. Both by accident?—Yes.

10,781. Rose knew that you did a good deal at the election?—Oh, yes.

10,782. He knew you were a very valuable man?—I do not know about that.

10,783. He knew you were an active, busy man?—Yes.

10,784. Why did you take Rose to Buckland's?—Well, we dropped in accidentally.

10,785. Why did Rose go with you?—I do not know.

10,786. How far was it from Rose to Buckland's?—It is out of Nutley-lane down the street.

10,787. Half a mile?—No, it is not half a mile; a quarter of a mile.

10,788. Then, did you say to Mr. Buckland, "I "want a little money," or did he know by looking at you what you came for? Which do you think? Did he guess what your errand was?—He might do so.

10,789. Did you say anything to him, or did you look at him, or what? or did he look at you?—He might have done so.

10,790. But did you say anything to him?—Well, I don't know that I did.

10,791. Did he say anything to you?—Oh, yes.

10,792. What did he say?—He said he had got 5*l.* for me.

10,793. Did Rose receive any money on that occasion?—He did.

10,794. It was a lucky accident. How much did Rose receive?—The same as myself.

10,795. 5*l.* a piece?—Yes.

10,796. That was your first visit to Mr. Buckland, or had you called on him before?—No, I do not think so.

10,797. I want to know, in consequence of the simple words Mr. Apted said to you, how is it that you called on Mr. Buckland? Why did you go to him? Did you understand he was paymaster?—Yes; oh, yes.

10,798. From whom did you understand he was paymaster? Who told you?—Well, I don't know.

10,799. Yes, you do know. These are important matters. You had been at work, and naturally you would say to yourself, "Now, who is to pay me for "this"? Then you would inquire. Now, who told you that Mr. Buckland was the man?—No one; I had heard that Mr. Buckland paid.

10,800. That is what I said. From whom did you hear that?—Well, I cannot tell you. It was the general talk, I suppose.

10,801. You were a head man upon the occasion; you had men under you?—Yes; I canvassed ever so many.

10,802. I know you canvassed; everybody is a canvasser and messenger in Reigate; they canvass each other. But you had a number of men under you; you had Mr. Fuller?—Yes.

10,803. He is a voter?—Yes.

10,804. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What Fuller is that?—Thomas Fuller.

10,805. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you employ him?—Yes, they were all committee men.

10,806. Then all the committee men were paid? All were understood to be paid?—Well, I understood so by what Mr. Gower said.

10,807. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You understood it from Mr. Gower?—Yes.

10,808. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You mean you refer to the speech he made in this hall?—Yes, below.

10,809. You understood from that that all the committee men were to be paid?—Yes.

10,810. Paid handsomely?—I do not know about that.

10,811. Did you put Thomas Fuller on the committee?—Yes.

10,812. How much did you pay him?—I paid him 30*s.*

10,813. From whom did you receive that money?—From Mr. Apted.

10,814. You received 30*s.* from Mr. Apted for Thomas Fuller?—For Thomas Fuller.

10,815. When?—Well, several weeks after the election; I could not tell you the exact time.

10,816. How much money did Mr. Apted hand you over for the purpose of paying others?—I think it was 30*l.* to me and to Mr. Rose.

10,817. Were you both together?—We were both together.

10,818. Where did he hand you over the 30*l.*?—At his own house.

10,819. In sovereigns?—Yes.

10,820. Did he take any acknowledgment from you?—No.

10,821. He counted out 30 sovereigns?—Yes.

10,822. Did you take 15 of them, and Rose 15, or did you take them all?—I picked up none.

10,823. Who took it?—Mr. Rose.

10,824. And no acknowledgment was given for the money?—No.

10,825. Did Rose afterwards divide it with you to pay away, or how?—Rose gave me the money.

10,826. He gave you all the 30*l.*?—No.

10,827. How much did he give you?—He gave me Fuller's money,

10,828. I must know more than that. How much money did Rose give you out of the 30*l.*?—It was 7*l.* 10*s.* I think; I forget.

10,829. How much did he give you? Did he give it to you in one sum, or did he give it to you in various sums, as you wanted it?—I believe he gave it me at two separate times.

10,830. You can tell me did he give you 10*l.*, 5*l.* each time?—I think he gave me 3*l.* at one time, and I think he gave me the other afterwards.

10,831. How much?—I forget.

10,832. 7*l.* or 8*l.*?—7*l.* or 8*l.* altogether.

10,833. You paid Fuller 30*s.*?—Yes.

10,834. You paid Steer 1*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

10,835. You paid John Brooker 1*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

10,836. And you paid J. Ede, who is J. Ede?—Josiah Ede; 1*l.*

10,837. How is that? Is he your brother?—No, he is my uncle.

10,838. Who is August?—He is a gardener.

10,839. Is he a voter?—Yes.

10,840. You paid him 1*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

10,841. Is that all the money that passed through your hands?—Yes.

10,842. Not all, is it?—That is all.

10,843. Not more?—No, none at all.

10,844. How came you to go with Mr. Rose to Mr. Apted for the 30*l.*? Who told you to go there?—We called in to see if there was any recompense for these men.

10,845. Why did you not get your own money from Mr. Apted?—I do not know why.

10,846. Why did you not get your own money from Mr. Apted?—I can't say.

10,847. How long after did you receive your own money, the 5*l.*?—After the election.

10,848. You distributed these sums; when did you distribute these sums?—I should think about five or six weeks after the election.

10,849. Had you received your own money then?—I had not.

10,850. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you live in Nutley-lane?—Yes.

10,851. You lived at the election of 1863 in Nutley-lane?—I did.

10,852. At that time were you engaged on Mr. Wilkinson's committee or not?—No, I was not on his committee at all.

10,853. You were engaged by his committee as messenger?—That is right.

10,854. At that election you saw Nicholls and a man named Corderoy frequently working in the election?—Yes.

10,855. Who were they working for?—I believe they were working for Mr. Gower at the time.

10,856. They came and talked to you about Mr. Gower?—I do not recollect that they said much about Mr. Gower.

10,857. Do you recollect the evening before the nomination day, or the evening of the nomination day being at Reigate, and going towards the town hall, and meeting Nicholls and Corderoy?—Yes, I met them.

10,858. Do you remember Nicholls then coming up to you, and speaking to you about the election?—Yes.

10,859. Well, did he not ask you who were you going to vote for?—I think he did.

10,860. He did not feel quite sure about your vote, did he, at that time?—I do not know.

10,861. Perhaps you will know if you remember what your answer to him was. Did you not say you were not quite sure, "you hadn't made up your mind"?—Well, I might have said so.

10,862. Do you remember upon that whether Nicholls said anything to you? Do you know a public house called the "Little Crown"?—Very well, indeed.

10,863. Did you and Nicholls go in there?—We did.

10,864. Was Corderoy with you too?—He was.

10,865. When you got into the house did you notice what Corderoy did? Did you notice something rather particular that he did?—He went into more rooms than one, did he not?—No, I think not.

10,866. You did not notice him look into all the rooms?—Well, he might have done so; I stood in the passage.

10,867. Did you notice Corderoy upon all the doors that were within reach from the passage and look in?—No, I did not notice that.

10,868. At last Corderoy found a room into which he took you, didn't he?—I think not.

10,869. Then he didn't find one; but he came back to you in the passage?—I do not know.

10,870. When he came to you in the passage, be so good as to tell me what he said to you. You will have no difficulty in recollecting, it was about voting you know?—Well, I do not remember what he did say, but I know there were motions made.

10,871. I have not got to the motions yet. I know all about the motions. Before we get to that just tell me what he said to you. He said, "Well now, "Ede, ——" Just tell me how he introduced the motions. What did he say about your vote?—I cannot remember at all.

10,872. I do not want the exact words?—I know he made motions.

10,873. Not the exact words, but to what effect? Did he say, "Now, Ede, the time is getting on, the "polling day is to-morrow; what do you want for "your vote"? Do you recollect his saying that?—No, I do not; I do not remember that.

10,874. Don't you recollect he said something of this sort, "Well, Ede, now what do you want for "your vote"?—Well, I do not remember at all what he did say. He might have said such a thing or he might not.

10,875. He might have said such a thing; that is quite enough for me?—I could not tell you; I know he made motions.

10,876. I will come to that now. When he said that he did he take you by the hand?—Yes he did.

10,877. When he took you by the hand, just describe what motions he made?—Well, I think he said this, "one—two—three—four—five." (Here the witness tapped with the fore finger of one hand upon the palm of the other.)

10,878. You are sure that the last stroke came down five?—Yes.

10,879. Did he then make a kind of note of interrogation (holding up the fore finger)? Did he do that?—I suppose he meant that.

10,880. It looked as if he was asking you a question; while he was doing this one—two—three—four—five?—I supposed it might be.

10,881. Did you leave your hand there to let him go on tapping once or twice more, eh? or did you draw your hand away, thinking that plenty?—Well, I think I drew my hand away.

10,882. At No. 5. You were a little more plain, and I think you said "That will do"?—No.

10,883. I thought you did; I thought you said "Yes." But you think you did not?—No.

10,884. Now you saw some money with him at the time; do you recollect that you saw some sovereigns?—I think I saw a pinch of sovereigns.

10,885. You do not mean a pinch like a pinch of snuff?—Yes, like a pinch of snuff.

10,886. When he showed you that he said something, didn't he; did he not say, "Don't be shy, "we've got plenty of money"?—No, I don't think he said that. He popped the money back into his pocket.

10,887. But did he not say something of that sort, "We're all right in money"?—I do not know that he said that.

10,888. Do you remember he said something else to you to which you did not agree?—I do.

10,889. Just let us have that from you, yourself, will you. I would rather get it from you?—Well, he asked if I would be willing to go down to the "White Hart" and be locked up.

10,890. The polling was next day?—Yes.

10,891. He rather made that a condition; he said, "Well, but you must be locked up"?—Yes.

13,892. I think you did not much like that?—Not much.

10,893. And so you did not agree to be locked up all night. Then how did you arrange with him at last? Was it arranged that you should go down there in the morning?—I think it was; that I was to go down next morning.

10,894. But you were not locked up that night?—No.

10,895. You would not condescend to that?—No.

10,896. As you did not condescend, did he hand you over the five sovereigns then?—No; he popped them back in his pocket.

10,897. Do you not think it would have been better if you had taken his terms?—Well, it might have been so.

10,898. In one sense only. I suppose you would have got the five sovereigns?—Well, I might have done.

10,899. I believe you then had a glass of stout or something to drink in the house?—I think he left me, and I had a glass of stout.

10,900. Did he pay for it?—I think it is very likely he did.

10,901. Whom did you vote for next day?—Mr. Wilkinson.

10,902. Why did you vote for Mr. Wilkinson at last?—Well, I had promised to do so.

10,903. Did you think it would pay better?—To vote for Mr. Wilkinson?

10,904. Yes?—Oh, no.

10,905. Did you get anything for voting for him?—No.

10,906. Not a farthing?—Not a farthing.

10,907. Were you promised anything?—Not a farthing. I was employed.

10,908. Employed for him?—Yes.

10,909. You were not on his committee?—No. I was employed as messenger from day to day.

10,910. By whom?—By the committee; I do not know who it was.

10,911. Were you not paid for your services from day to day?—Paid by the week.

10,912. You can tell me who paid you for Mr. Wilkinson?—I forget his name.

10,913. How much a week was it?—30*s*.

10,914. You were paid by the week?—Yes.

10,915. How many weeks?—I think about three.

10,916. Did you receive 4*l*. 10*s*.?—Yes.

10,917. By the week; I mean paid weekly?—Yes.

10,918, Not more than that?—No.

10,919. I wish you to tell me who paid you?—I believe the gentleman's name was Mr. Geer; I am not quite sure.

10,920. May I put down that you think it was Mr. Geer?—Yes; I think that was the gentleman's name. It was the gentleman who always acted in the committee room over at the "Swan."

10,921. Now for that 30*s*. did you really do any service?—I did.

10,922. What did you do?—Carried circulars all over the town.

10,923. What were you at that time?—I worked in the garden, but I had nothing to do then, I think; if I remember it was the winter time. I was put on as messenger.

10,924. When you were put on did they tell you what you were to be paid?—No, I do not think they did.

10,925. Try and recollect; did you not know what you were to receive? Because after the first week you received 30*s*.?—I do not think I did previous to that.

10,926. What are your services worth when you are in employ as a gardener?—About a pound a week.

10,927. It was pretty good pay then?—Not very; I think not.

10,928. You do not think it good pay?—No.

10,929. A pound a week is about what you earn?—That is about what I earn, but I do not think it is very good pay.

10,930. But you see there was something more than service. Did they tell you who you were to vote for when they agreed about your employ?—Not a word mentioned.

10,931. Did you see Mr. Norman Wilkinson?—No.

10,932. Do you know him?—Oh, very well.

10,933. Have you ever done any work for him?—No.

10,934. He is a very good man, is he not?—I have heard so.

10,935. You do not know it?—No.

10,936. You know nothing of any other elections further back?—No.

THOMAS CHAPMAN sworn and examined. T. Chapman.

10,937. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you a voter for this borough?—I am.

10,938. And voted at the last election?—Yes.

10,939. What is your qualification?—The rent of my house and shop is 14*l*. a year.

10,940. How long have you been a voter for this borough, many years?—Yes, ever since 1852.

10,941. You voted at this last election for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

10,942. Who was it canvassed you, Mr. Chapman?—Mr. Relf.

10,943. Is Mr. Relf your landlord?—He is.

10,944. Did he ask you to be one of the committee men for Mr. Gower?—No.

10,945. When he asked you to vote for Mr. Gower, did he make any promise to you?—No, sir; not in the least.

10,946. Did he at any time?—No, sir.

10,947. Did you owe him any rent at the time?—I did, sir.

10,948. How much?—I cannot tell you.

10,949. More than half a year?—I might have done.

10,950. Did not Mr. Relf, that is, Mr. Samuel Relf, promise to forgive you half a year's rent if you would vote for Mr. Gower?—No such thing; he did not.

10,951. Do you owe Mr. Relf any rent now?—I do.

10,952. How much?—I do not know exactly what it is.

10,953. What was your last payment of money to him?—14*l*.

10,954. And when did you pay it?—Last September.

10,955. Then in last September you paid him 14*l*.?—No, I only paid him 7*l*.

10,956. Then last September you owed him a twelvemonth's rent, and paid him 7*l*.?—Yes.

10,957. Did he give you a receipt for 14*l*.?—No, he gave a receipt for the 7*l*.

10,958. Was that a receipt in full of all demands?—No, sir.

SEVENTH DAY.

T. Chapman.

29 Aug. 1866.

10,959. Have you got that receipt?—I have, at home.

10,960. Perhaps you can tell us what was in the receipt?—"Received 7*l.*; due for rent."

10,961. Up to September?—Yes.

10,962. Did you take your house from September; Did you go in at September or Lady-day?—No; I went in in November.

10,963. Have you paid him any more rent?—No, not since.

10,964. Do you pay him rent half-yearly or quarterly?—Yearly is my time to pay him.

10,965. You pay him every September?—Yes, when I do pay him.

10,966. Then you will not have to pay him any more more money till September?—I have got the 7*l.* to pay.

10,967. Have you ever been asked for it?—Yes.

10,968. Who asked you?—Mr. Nicholls.

10,969. When did Mr. Nicholls ask you for that?—He has asked me.

10,970. When—when?—This year.

10,971. When did he ask you; was it yesterday?—No.

10,972. Was it a week ago?—More than that.

10,973. A fortnight?—I told him I would pay him as soon as I could.

10,974. Was it since the hearing of the petition?—No.

10,975. Was it before?—Yes, before the petition was on.

10,976. Did you receive any summons to attend the committee?—No.

10,977. You were expecting to be called?—No.

10,978. When Nicholls came and asked you for your rent you were very likely to have been called up before a committee of the House of Commons, and then it would be convenient to settle the 7*l.*?—Well, he never spoke to me on the subject.

10,979. Why did you not pay Mr. Relf the whole of the twelvemonth's rent at September?—If I had got it I should have done so, but I had not got more than 7*l.*; I paid him all I had.

10,980. When you paid Mr. Relf the 7*l.* was not something said about the election?—Not a word.

10,981. Did you do any work on the election?—Yes; I posted some bills.

10,982. Did you do so on several occasions?—Yes; I posted some bills for both parties.

10,983. We will take our position at Mr. Gower's committee first; were you on his committee?—No.

10,984. You merely posted his bills?—Yes.

10,985. Were you to be paid for posting his bills?—That I do not know; the bills were sent to my house to be posted from Mr. Gower's committee.

10,986. Who brought the bills?—I do not know; they were brought to my house to be posted.

10,987. You are a grocer, I believe?—No, I am a hairdresser.

10,988. Do you usually go posting bills; you are not a common billsticker as well as hairdresser?—I do anything I can to get an honest living.

10,989. Do you go out posting bills as well as cutting hair?—I have done so.

10,990. Not very often, I suppose?—No.

10,991. Generally at election time?—No; I have posted bills for H——, the printer.

10,992. You were posting bills for both parties, and therefore you would not stick these bills up as a matter of principle for both parties, but it would be for what you could get?—Yes.

10,993. Did you make any application after the election, or during the time of the election going on, to be paid for the sticking up of those bills?—I did not.

10,994. Do you mean to say nobody has been to your house to offer you money for sticking those bills?—They have not.

10,995. But you expected to be paid?—I did, indeed.

10,996. Who did you expect would pay you?—I did not know who would pay me.

10,997. Who did you expect would pay you?—I thought they would be honourable enough to pay me.

10,998. Who?—Mr. Page sent somebody to my house.

10,999. Was he one of Mr. Gower's committee?—No.

11,000. Was he one of Mr. Monson's committee?—I do not know.

11,001. Did Mr. Relf ever apply to you for the remaining 7*l.* before Mr. Monson came to you?—No.

11,002. Mr. Nicholls is the county court officer, is he not?—Yes.

11,003. Did he come to you with a summons from the county court for the 7*l.*?—No.

11,004. He came in his private capacity, and not in his public capacity?—Yes.

11,005. Did he say he had come for Mr. Relf?—He gathers the rent.

11,006. Was he gathering the rent for Mr. Relf?—Yes.

11,007. Do you usually pay the money to Mr. Relf?—I did not pay the 7*l.* to Mr. Relf, but to Mr. Nicholls.

11,008. Did he tell you that Mr. Relf would forgive you the other half on account of your voting at the election?—He never said nothing about that.

11,009. Will you swear that?—I will.

11,010. Did Mr. Relf say anything to you about the 7*l.*?—No; he never said nothing about it.

11,011. Will you swear that?—I will.

11,012, How soon after you had paid the 7*l.* did Mr. Nicholls apply to you again for the money?—I think it was in July he applied for more money.

11,013. This last July?—Yes.

11,014. Had he applied to you between September and July for the 7*l.*?—No, sir.

11,015. But you told me just now he applied to you before the petition for the 7*l.*, and now you say it was not until July?—It was not until July.

11,016. It was not till July that Mr. Nicholls came to you to ask you for the 7*l.*?—No, it was not.

11,017. You had heard that this Commission was coming down here to inquire into these matters before Mr. Nicholls applied?—I heard it mentioned, but I did not think it would come.

11,018. But I dare say Mr. Nicholls did?—I cannot tell what Mr. Nichols thought.

11,019. Did he say anything to you about the Commission?—Not a word.

11,020. He was too cautious, I suppose, to say anything about that; he did not say anything about it?—He did not.

11,021. You live in this town?—In Linkfield-street; about a mile from here.

11,022. You have been a voter here since 1852?—I have.

11,023. Perhaps you can tell me about the previous election. Did you vote in 1863; I will take you back, your recollection will have become quieter; did you vote in '63?—I did.

11,024. Who for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

11,025. Was Mr. Nicholls acting for Mr. Wilkinson at that election?—No.

11,026. I see he was for Gower; he changes sometimes. Mr. Mazden was acting for Mr. Wilkinson?—I do not know.

11,027. Did Mr. Mazden canvass you in 1863?—No.

11,028. Did Mr. Mazden act for Wilkinson?—Yes.

11,029. Who did canvass you?—Mr. Wilkinson himself.

11,030. Did you do any work in 1863?—No.

11,031. Nothing whatever?—No.

11,032. You did not post a bill?—No.

11,033. Try and remember?—No.

11,034. Did anybody promise you anything in 1863?—No.

11,035. Did you get anything?—No, I did not.

11,036. Did you apply to any one to have anything for loss of time for the nomination day and polling?—No.

11,037. Did you consider it working attending the nomination, or loss of time?—It was loss of time.

11,038. There is loss of time at the nomination; did you expect to be paid for that?—I did not then.

11,039. Did you attend the nomination in 1865?—I did, sir.

11,040. Of course you considered that as loss of time?—Yes.

11,041. You told me you did not expect to be paid in 1863, but you did in 1865; did you expect to be paid?—Yes, I expected something, but I did not get anything.

11,042. What did you expect, how much, 5l., or what you could get?—I thought I should have been paid.

11,043. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) A day's loss of time attending the nomination, giving your attendance?—And for polling day.

11,044. Losing time?—Yes.

11,045. Who did you expect would pay for the loss of time, 10*s.*? Out of whose pocket did you expect it would come?—I did not know.

11,046. Perhaps you did not care?—I did not care much where it came from so they paid me.

11,047. Did you expect the candidates to bear the expense?—I cannot say.

11,048. You were going to vote for the Liberal candidate, and the most liberal, I suppose?—I cannot say that.

11,049. That one is most liberal who would pay the costs of the days I have mentioned?—Mr. Gower is a very good Liberal.

11,050. Why is he a good Liberal?—For his politics; I never received anything from him.

11,051. You expected it in 1865?—I ought to have been.

11,052. Who did you vote for in 1859; did you vote for Mr. Wilkinson?—I did.

11,053. Who opposed him then; Mr. Monson?—Yes.

11,054. Were you defeated by the Monson party then?—Yes.

11,055. Were you defeated by the Gower party in 1863?—No, sir.

11,056. Not then?—No, sir.

11,057. Were you offered any work or any payment by any party?—No, sir, I was not.

11,058. You say you stuck bills also for the Monson party in 1865?—I did.

11,059. Who employed you?—Mr. Page sent the bills to my house; he asked me if I would have the kindness to post them, and I did.

11,060. Did you see Mr. Page about the posting these bills?—No.

11,061. Did you do it generally?—No.

11,062. Was there any understanding between you and the Monson party you were to be paid anything?—No.

11,063. Did you expect to be paid one penny for these bills?—By some one.

11,064. Did you do any other work for the Monson party in 1865?—No.

11,065. Excepting posting these few bills?—No.

11,066. Were you canvassed?—No.

11,067. Somebody I suppose asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

11,068. Did you not think it very strange you should not be asked?—No, because I had promised to vote for Mr. Gower.

11,069. Had you said so?—Yes, when they came to me and asked me.

11,070. Did you ever see Job Apted in the election of 1865?—I have seen him many times.

11,071. Had he spoken to you about it?—No.

11,072. Or Green?—No.

11,073. Or any other person who took an active part then?—Not in the least.

11,074. Did not Mr. Nicholls ask you for a vote?—No, I never saw Mr. Nicholls.

11,075. Who was it you promised your vote for Gower; did you promise Mr. Relf?—I did.

11,076. I suppose he knew at the time you were indebted to him for the rent?—I dare say he did.

11,077. Will you swear that he never made any allusion to you about the rent that was owing?—Yes.

11,078. Either that or at any other time?—He has asked me several times, "Chapman, what rent do you "owe," and I have told him I did not know.

11,079. You might have owed him more; did you owe him more than the 12 months' rent?—There was some left behind.

11,080. How much, did you owe two years' rent?—No.

11,081. In the previous year had you paid your rent up?—No, I had paid some off.

11,082. Tell me how much did you owe?—I am not certain.

11,083. You might have owed two years' rent?—Well, I cannot say.

11,084. I should very much like to see the receipt; perhaps you will be good enough to bring it?—Very well.

11,085. How far do you live off?—About a mile.

11,086. Would you be good enough to bring it here this afternoon or to-morrow morning?—Yes.

11,087. (The Chief Commissioner.) When you voted in 1863 who was your landlord?—Mr. Relf.

11,088. Did Mr. Relf and you vote on the same side on that occasion?—I think not.

11,089. You voted for Wilkinson?—I did.

11,090. And who did your landlord vote for?—Mr. Gower.

11,091. At that time did you owe him something for rent?—Yes.

11,092. Do you know what rent was in arrear?—No, I cannot tell you how much.

11,093. But there was some?—Yes.

11,094. Did Nicholls and Relf vote on the same side at that election?—I think not.

11,095. Have you ever voted on the same side with Nicholls at an election?—Yes.

11,096. When?—At Rawlinson's election.

11,097. But not in 1863?—No.

11,098. Rawlinson's election was in 1858?—Yes.

11,099. That was when there was the general election, when Mr. Doulton came down; is that the one you mean?—Yes.

11,100. Who did you vote for at that election?—Rawlinson.

11,101. He gained it, did he not?—Yes.

11,102. You were on the winning side?—Yes.

11,103. Did you receive something for your services then?—Not a halfpenny.

11,104. What had you done for him?—I had done nothing at the election except going and voting.

11,105. Did you see much of that election?—No.

11,106. Have you been at any elections before that?—Yes.

11,107. Do you recollect Mr. Hackblock opposing Sir Henry Rawlinson in '57?—Yes.

11,108. Hackblock beat Sir Henry Rawlinson?—Yes.

11,109. Did you vote for Hackblock at that time?—I did.

11,110. Was anything paid on that occasion?—Nothing.

11,111. Was anything promised?—No.

11,112. No suggestion made about any payment after voting?—Not in the least.

11,113. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you expect to be applied to after you had voted for your rent that was in arrear?—The rent ought to have been paid, but the circumstances were such that I could not pay it.

SEVENTH DAY.

T. Chapman.

29 Aug. 1866.

11,114. There is nothing against you for that, nothing at all; but did you expect to be asked for the arrears of rent after you had paid the 7*l.*?—Certainly I did; I expected to pay it all.

11,115. And you thought you would be asked for it?—Yes.

11,116. And you had no reason to expect but that you would be asked for it?—Certainly not.

The witness withdrew.

W. Child.

William Child sworn and examined.

11,117. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you, Child?—I am a cellerman at a brewery.

11,118. Where do you live?—At Lesbourne-lane.

11,119. What rent do you pay for your house?—15*l.* a year.

11,120. You voted for Mr. Gower on the last election?—Yes, sir.

11,121. Was that your first election?—Yes, sir.

11,122. You did not vote in '63?—That was my first election.

11,123. Were you put on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes.

11,124. Who put you on?—Mr. Dann.

11,125. Who used to be mayor of this place?—Yes.

11,126. Did you do any work for it?—I went about to meetings.

11,127. Did you do any work?—Not particularly so.

11,128. All the time of the election you were going on with your own proper work in the brewery?—Yes.

11,129. Who did you promise your vote to?—To Mr. Dann.

11,130. Mr. Gower in fact?—Yes.

11,131. Who did you give your promise to to vote for Mr. Gower?—To Mr. Dann.

11,132. This was just before the election?—It was about a fortnight before the election.

11,133. I thought you did not promise your vote till it was near the time of voting?—It was a fortnight as near as I can tell.

11,134. I thought it was not till two or three days before the election; I suppose I am wrong in that?—I suppose you are.

11,135. Had you not wavered in your mind two or three days before the election?—No.

11,136. But you went steadily on under Mr. Gower's colours?—After I had told him I would vote for him.

11,137. That was a fortnight before?—Yes.

11,138. I do not wish to tie you down at all to a day or two?—That was the time.

11,139. Was Mr. Dann on the committee?—I believe he was.

11,140. Did Mr. Dann make you any promise?—No, sir.

11,141. None at all?—No.

11,142. Who did you have any conversation with about what work you were to do besides Mr. Dann?—Mr. Joyes.

11,143. And Mr. Apted?—No.

11,144. Did you not see him?—I saw Mr. Apted, but I did not speak to him.

11,145. Did you have any conversation with Buckland about it?—No.

11,146. Only with Frederick Joyes?—Not Mr. Frederick.

11,147. But William Joyes?—Yes, William.

11,148. When you saw William Joyes what did he say?—He asked me if I was agreeable to work for them.

11,149. Was it a fortnight before the election, or more, or less?—It might be a fortnight, but I cannot recollect.

11,150. Was it the same time you promised Mr. Dann?—It was after that.

11,151. What arrangement did you make with Mr. Joyes?—He offered me 3*l.*

11,152. What were you to do?—Anything he required me to do.

11,153. And you were agreeable to that?—Yes.

11,154. And did you say "Done, like," to this bargain?—I do not know what you mean.

11,155. Did you say "Done?" Did you make the bargain with him?—I would do what he required me to do.

11,156. When was he to pay you the 3*l.*?—No time was stated when he was to pay me.

11,157. Did he pay you before the election?—No, it was paid after; some weeks after the election the 3*l.* was paid.

11,158. Were you paid by Mr. Joyes?—No.

11,159. Who were you paid by?—I was paid by Mr. Buckland.

11,160. I suppose you attended the public houses here to hear what was going on, when your work was over?—No, I got enough in the brewery.

J. Ede.

Josiah Ede sworn and examined.

11,161. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What rent do you pay for your house?—4*s.* a week.

11,162. What are you?—I look after two horses now, and work in my garden.

11,163. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

11,164. For whom?—For Mr. Gower.

11,165. Had you been employed by Mr. Rose in his behalf?—James Ede and Apted came to me about four weeks before the election.

11,166. James Ede is your nephew?—Yes.

11,167. He came when you were at work?—Yes.

11,168. And they found you work?—Yes.

11,169. What were they going to pay you; how much?—I asked them what they were going to pay me, and they said the money would mount up to 3*l.* or 4*l.*, perhaps.

11,170. Or perhaps to 5*l.*?—They did not exactly say that.

11,171. But they gave you to infer that it might?—Yes.

11,172. And you said, of course you would do all you could for Mr. Gower?—I did, sir.

11,173. You did not do anything; you were not called upon to do anything?—No; I was not.

11,174. You remained at your work?—I remained at my work.

11,175. But you voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

11,176. What money did they give you after voting?—2*l.*

11,177. Only 2*l.*?—No.

11,178. Who paid you the 2*l.*?—Mr. Joyes.

11,179. Did you not receive 30*s.* from your nephew, James Ede?—No.

11,180. He said so on his oath?—He never did.

11,181. 1*l.* I mean. I asked him particularly why he paid you so badly. Recollect now, did you not receive 1*l.* from him?—I never did.

11,182. The money you did receive was from Mr. Joyes?—Yes.

11,183. How came you to go to him?—James Ede took me to him.

11,184. Your nephew took you to him?—Yes.

11,185. How long was that after the election?—I cannot say, but I think it was about six weeks.

11,186. About six weeks after the election?—I should think it was.

11,187. Were you promised any more when you were paid the 2*l.*?—Yes, I was to have some more afterwards.

SEVENTH DAY.

J. Ede.

29 Aug. 1866.

11,188. And that was what Mr. Joyes said?—No, I do not know that Mr. Joyes said so, but James Ede did.

11,189. Did he tell you how much more you were to have?—Ede told me it would amount up to 5l.

11,190. Did you apply to any one after that?—I did come down again once.

11,191. To whom did you apply?—To James Ede.

11,192. And then he told you it was all up?—No; he said there was going to be a settling, and I should get something.

11,193. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it your nephew or Joyes paid you the 2l.?—No, sir, Joyes, up at the shop.

11,194. Joyes?—Yes.

11,195. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) To go to the last election previous to '65, had you voted in '63?—Yes.

11,196. For whom did you vote on the occasion?—For Mr. Gower.

11,197. What did you receive?—I never received anything.

11,198. You did not receive anything on that occasion?—No, I never received anything.

11,199. Did they promise you anything?—No, sir.

11,200. They did not from Mr. Gower?—They never promised me anything.

11,201. Were you canvassed on behalf of the other candidate in 1863, and did they promise you anything?—No, never; they never offered me a halfpenny, and I never had a drink of beer.

11,202. This was the first time you ever had any money?—It was, and it was paid by Mr. Joyes.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I dare say; I accept your evidence with the greatest confidence.

11,203. That was the first time you ever received any money?—Yes.

11,204. And your nephew came to you?—Yes. I was at the election at 1863. I did not promise Mr. Gower, and Cline said to me, "You will give a vote "to Mr. Gower; will you mind giving it to Mr. "Gower?" I said, I did not. Four or five days before the election I was taken badly with the rheumatics; that was in 1863; and I kept my bed. Mr. Steel attended to me, and he said, "How much are "you offered for lying here?" I said, "Nothing at "all." He said, "Were you offered 9*l.* or 10*l.*?" I said "No;" and I was not, not a halfpenny; and he even got me out of my bed, and got me to vote for Mr. Gower.

11,205. And you received nothing?—No.

11,206. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose Mr. Steel thought you were shamming?—He did.

11,207. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you voted at other elections?—Yes, for Hackblock and Doulton; and I voted twice for Mr. Monson.

11,208. Hackblock was a gentleman of great local influence, and deservedly so; did you receive anything from him on account of voting?—No, never; nor expected from any one.

11,209. Did you from Mr. Doulton?—No.

11,210. Nor for voting for Mr. Monson?—No.

11,211. You never received anything except on the last occasion?—No, I never received a halfpenny.

11,212. You were never employed in any way?—No.

11,213. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was there a great deal of money going about at the election when Mr. Doulton was here?—I firmly believe there was, but I got none of it. Doulton had some large placards, and I went a few days to carry them about the town, and all I received from him was 3*s.* a day.

11,214. You got 3*s.* a day?—Yes.

11,215. Were there many people carrying them about?—I think five or six.

11,216. Not more?—I will not swear there were that.

11,217. Did you attend any public houses in 1858, at Mr. Doulton's election?—No.

11,218. You did not?—No.

11,219. And you took no more interest in it than carrying those bills?—Nothing except carrying those bills.

The witness then withdrew.

EDWARD EDE sworn and examined.

E. Ede.

11,220. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you live in Nutley-lane?—Not now.

11,221. You did?—I did live there.

11,222. At the election?—Yes.

11,223. Where do you live now?—At Holmesdale.

11,224. What rent do you pay?—6*s.* 6*d.* a week.

11,225. What rent did you pay at the election?—5*s.*

11,226. What are you?—A day labourer.

11,227. How many elections have you voted at?—Only one.

11,228. You had nothing to do with the election of '63?—No.

11,229. Had you a vote?—No.

11,230. Whom did vote for in '65?—For Mr. Gower.

11,231. Did Mr. Gower call upon you for your vote?—No.

11,232. Who did?—Mr. Rose.

11,233. That is Alexander Rose?—Yes.

11,234. What relation is James Ede to you; not the older man, the younger man?—He is a nephew of mine.

11,235. Are you a brother of Josiah Ede?—Yes.

11,236. Did your nephew, James Ede, call upon you about your vote?—Mr. Rose called upon me.

11,237. I will begin with Rose then. How long before the election did he call?—I am sure I do not know.

11,238. What arrangements did you make with Rose?—No particular arrangement.

11,239. No, not particular, but tell me what it was generally?—All the arrangement I made was for giving my time and my vote. I was to have as much as other people.

11,240. How much was that?—I don't know.

11,241. Well, go on, I do not want to stop you?—There was no quantity of money mentioned at all.

11,242. Where did this conversation take place? Was it in Rose's house?—Yes, I think it was.

11,243. Were you fetched up to Rose's by your nephew, James Ede?—Yes, I think I was.

11,244. You did vote?—Yes.

11,245. Did you do any work?—No.

11,246. You were paid 3*l.* instead of 5*l.*?—No.

11,247. You were paid 3*l.*?—No, I had 2*l.* 5*s.*

11,248. I thought it was 3*l.*?—No.

11,249. By whom were you paid?—I had 35*s.* from Rose and 10*s.* from Joyes.

11,250. Did Rose pay you first?—He paid me the first money.

11,251. Was that before or after the election?—I had my money in instalments.

11,252. Did you receive any money before the election?—Yes, half-a-crown.

11,253. How soon after the election were you paid part of the 35*s.* by Rose?—The day after the election half-a-crown more was paid, and half-a-sovereign I had from Joyes the day after the election, and the t'other I cannot tell you about.

11,254. But it was some time after the election?—A long time after.

11,255. Did you see something of the Monson party before you voted?—Well, yes, I did.

11,256. Be so good as to tell us about it in your own way?—I was going along with the team of horses, when I met Mr. Holdsworth and Mr. Monson together in the road, and he asked me to stop my team. He asked me if I had promised my vote, and I said I had to Mr. Gower.

11,257. Had you at that time promised it?—Yes.

11,258. Well, go on, and tell us what else passed?—I have nothing more to say about it. I did not promise any one else.

11,259. Did they ask you who you had promised it to?—Mr. Monson said, "Did you promise the vote "to Mr. Gower himself, or to his agents"? I said, "To his agents." They said, "That is nothing." I said, "My word is my bond, and I shall vote for "Mr. Gower."

11,260. Was not something more said?—No.

11,261. After that did you see any of the Monson party with Mr. Monson himself?—No, I never saw any more of them.

The witness then withdrew.

J. Ede.

Josiah Ede (a former witness) here addressed himself to the Commissioners, saying he wished to correct a mistake he had made in his evidence.

The Chief Commissioner observed they would be happy to hear anything he had to say by way of explanation.

(The Witness.) I made a mistake. My nephew, Jem Ede, I recollect, did pay me a pound.

11,262. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who wrote this (holding up a small paper writing before the audience)?—(A Policeman.) I did.

11,263. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who got you to write it?—(Policeman.) The old gentleman (Josiah Ede).

J. Ede.

Josiah Ede further examined.

11,264. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you seen your nephew in Court?—There he is (pointing out a young man near the Bench).

11,265. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was it a mistake?—Yes.

11,266. Then you did receive the 3*l.*?—Yes, I did.

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien expressed himself as being quite satisfied with witness's evidence.

J. Dormer.

James Dormer sworn and examined.

11,267. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What is your qualification; what rent do you pay?—15*l.* 12*s.*

11,268. Where do you live?—Holmesdale-road, Wray-park.

11,269. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

11,270. To whom did you promise your vote for Mr. Gower?—Himself.

11,271. After that promise had been given did anybody else come to you about your vote, or did you see anybody?—No.

11,272. Were you on the committee?—Yes.

11,273. Who put you on the committee?—Alexander Rose, I believe.

11,274. Did he ask you to be on the committee?—Yes.

11,275. After he asked you to be on the committee did he tell you that the men who were on the committee would be paid?—Yes.

11,276. Did he tell you what you could expect?—He said I should have a 1*l.* a week if I liked to go out and work for them.

11,277. Was that after you had promised Mr. Gower?—Yes.

11,278. Had you been canvassed by the Monson party?—No.

11,279. Not at all?—No.

11,280. Not during the election?—No.

11,281. Were you put on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes.

11,282. How soon after you had promised Mr. Gower were you put on the committee?—About a week or ten days after.

11,283. Did you not think it very strange that the Monson party did not canvass you?—No.

11,284. Why not?—Because I had pledged my word.

11,285. You had not told the whole public you had pledged your word?—A good many knew it.

11,286. And Alexander Rose said you were to have a pound a week for working; did you do any work?—I delivered a few bills.

11,287. On how many occasions did you deliver bills?—Three or four different times; perhaps three or four times in the week.

11,288. It took you about half an hour to do it?—More than that.

11,289. One hour?—Yes.

11,290. What are you?—A gardener.

11,291. You worked at your usual occupation during the day of course?—Not all the time.

11,292. As often as you could get work?—I was in a regular place.

11,293. You worked your usual hours for your master did you not?—If he liked to let me off I could go.

11,294. Whose service were you in?—Mr. May's.

11,295. Who did he vote for?—I believe for Mr. Gower.

11,296. Were you at weekly wages?—Yes.

11,297. How much a week?—1*l.* 1*s.* a week.

11,298. You always got your 1*l.* 1*s.* from your master?—Decidedly.

11,299. He gave you permission to deliver bills for Mr. Gower?—I asked before I went.

11,300. You never left without asking?—Decidedly not.

11,301. Then he paid you for the time you were taking these bills in fact?—Yes.

11,302. And you got your 1*l.* a week from the committee?—No, I did not get it.

11,303. Did you ask for it?—Yes.

11,304. When did you ask for it?—On several occasions.

11,305. After the election was over?—Yes.

11,306. Did you ask for any money before the election?—No.

11307. Not till after?—No.

11,308. How long after was it?—Three weeks or a month.

11,309. To whom did you make the application?—To Alexander Rose.

11,310. When you applied to him for money, what did he say?—He said he had not got any.

11,311. Did he refer you to any one?—No.

11,312. He did not refer you to Job Apted?—No.

11,313. Or to Mr. Smith?—No; I got something after; 30*s.* six weeks after.

11,314. Mr. Rose gave you 30*s.* six weeks after the election?—Yes.

11,315. When he gave you 30*s.* at that time did he not give you more money?—Not at all; only the 30*s.*

11,316. Was that at his own house?—No.

11,317. At yours?—No.

11,318. Where?—On the highway.

11,319. Was he alone?—Yes.

11,320. Were you alone?—Yes.

11,321. He promised you you should have more?—Yes.

11,322. You have not succeeded in getting any?—No.

11,323. Then Mr. Rose told you why he could not pay you any more?—He had not got any himself.

11,324. Did he say anything about this money in reference to the petition?—No, I do not recollect that he named it.

11,325. Whether you would be paid in February?—No.

11,326. Or after it had been to parliament?—No, I do not recollect.

11,327. Did you receive money from anybody else?—Yes, 5*s*.

11,328. Who from?—Mr. Apted.

11,329. When did you receive the 5*s*. from Apted?—Before the election.

11,330. What was that for?—For services going to Catterham.

11,331. Oh, that was your railway expenses in going to Catterham?—Yes.

11,332. Did Job Apted request you to go to Galton?—Yes, I believe he did.

11,333. You are certain he did, or else why should he give you the 5*s*. for going to Catterham?—Yes.

11,334. That was so?—Yes.

11,335. That was a week before the election?—More than that.

11,336. Did he tell you where it was at Galton?—No, I knew where I was to go.

11,337. From Mr. Apted?—No.

11,338. Who told you?—I knew myself.

11,339. How did you know?—I knew where the man lived whom I was to go to see.

11,340. How did you know you were going to that man?—Mr. Apted sent me.

11,341. You said you knew before Mr. Apted sent you you were to go to this man; it was a man of the name of Ashford, a voter, was it not?—Yes.

11,342. You were to go and see this man and canvass him?—Yes.

11,343. Did Apted tell you you were to offer him any money?—No.

11,344. What were you to offer him?—Nothing.

11,345. What did you offer him?—I did not offer him anything.

11,346. Did Apted tell you to offer him anything or not?—No.

11,347. Tell me what took place between you and Mr. Ashford?—I asked him for his vote.

11,348. Did he promise?—No.

11,349. You went to get the vote if you could?—Yes, decidedly.

11,350. What sort of a man is Ashford, a working man?—I believe a bailiff.

11,351. A farm bailiff?—Yes.

11,352. Did you not offer him work if he would come?—No.

11,353. Will you swear that?—Yes.

11,354. Why did you hesitate when I asked you if you were authorized by Mr. Apted to offer him work?—I was thinking whether anybody else told me.

11,355. Did anybody else?—No, I was thinking at the time.

11,356. Did they?—No.

11,357. Do you mean, upon your solemn oath, that Apted did not offer any inducement to the man to vote?—No.

11,358. This vote was important to get was it not?—I believe it was.

11,359. Apted was very anxious to get votes then?—Yes.

11,360. You knew that promises were pretty freely made by Apted to get votes?—Yes.

11,361. Do you mean to tell us that was the only vote Apted was desirous to get without making a promise?—He never made any promise to me.

11,362. Did he authorize you to make a promise to Ashford?—No.

11,363. Just tell me precisely what Apted told you when he requested you to see Ashford?—There was no one knew Ashford. I said I knew where Ashford was, I knew his address and would go and find him; I would go and see whether I could secure his vote.

11,364. Do you mean upon your solemn oath that Mr. Apted, upon that occasion or upon any other, did not tell you to offer the man Ashford money if he would come and vote?—No, he did not.

11,365. Or to be paid for coming?—He might tell him he should be paid his expenses to come down.

11,366. If he was to be paid his expenses, what expenses was he to be paid?—I do not know.

11,367. Did you say your general expenses?—I might say the expenses of coming down on the polling day.

11,368. The polling day?—The polling day only.

11,369. Did you canvass anybody else?—No.

11,370. Was Ashford the only man you asked for a vote?—I might ask several.

11,371 Did you, when asking anybody for votes, tell them that they were to be paid for their time?—Yes, when they were to come on the committee; but this man I knew would not go on the committee; he would not attend.

11,372. He might have been named on the committee, though living down at Catterham, to swell the list; that was one of the objects to swell the lists?—I suppose so.

11,373. It did not signify whether a man came down to work or not?—I should have thought it did.

11,374. We have got enough evidence to satsfy us that that was not so. You tell me upon your oath that you did not offer him money or make a promise of anything; do you still hold with that?—Yes.

11,375, And that nobody else authorized you to offer him any money?—No.

11,376. Was Apted the only person who authorized you to see this man?—I believe so.

11,377. You believe so; are you certain? Was he spoken of in the committee room?—Yes, I believe he was.

11,378. Who spoke of him in the committee room when you were there?—I think Apted did.

11,379. Did Apted in the committee room say anything about it, though not to you?—I did not hear it.

11,380. Did you hear anybody in the committee room speak about offering this man Ashford money, or saying overtures were made to him?—No.

11,381. It was sometimes spoken of when in the committee room about offering men work?—Sometimes it was; not always.

11,382. Sometimes it was?—Yes.

11,383. And they were to be paid, and paid well, if they worked?—Yes; if they liked to work.

11,384. Did you hear Mr. Gower say so himself in the committee room?—In the room below.

11,385. Some few days before the election?—Some time before the election.

11,386. How long?—It might have been a fortnight.

11,387. That those who worked should be paid, and paid well?—Yes.

11,388. Having that in your mind, did you think it would be a matter of inducement to Ashford, if he came to work, that he should be paid well; that that might influence his vote?—No; I thought he was beyond that.

11,389. That he was too pure?—Yes.

11,390. For that to tempt him?—Yes.

11,391. Did you think so?—Yes, I did.

11,392. Really and truly?—Yes.

11,393. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that your only election?—There was 1863.

11,394. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

11,395. Had you voted previous to 1863?—No; 1863 and 1865.

11,396. You did not vote before 1863?—No.

11,397. Who did you vote for in 1863?—Mr. Wilkinson.

11,398. And who canvassed you; did he himself?—Yes.

11,399. When he came did you promise him or did

SEVENTH DAY.

J. Dormer.

29 Aug. 1866.

you say you had not made up your mind?—I did not promise him.

11,400. Did you promise him before you voted?—Yes.

11,401. How long before the election can you recollect that you promised him; before the polling day?—I cannot say.

11,402. About?—A month, perhaps.

11,403. After you promised him you stuck to him?—Yes.

11,404, Before you promised him did you have some talk with Mr. Gower's friends who were there opposing Mr. Wilkinson?—He came and asked me for my vote.

11,405. Who came?—Mr. Gower himself.

11,406. What did you say to him? You had not promised anybody then, you know?—I had not promised.

11,407. Did you tell him you had not promised when he canvassed you?—Yes.

11,408. What did he say? Did he ask for your vote for him?—Yes.

11,409. And did you promise him?—No.

11,410. What did he say to you?—He wanted my vote.

11,411. And you said you had not promised him? What did he say to induce you to vote for him?—I do not recollect the words now.

11,412. I do not want the words. Did he say anything, if you voted for him, you know?—No, he never said anything about that; he said he should like my vote.

11,413. Did you see anybody else in his behalf in this election of 1863?—No.

11,414. Afterwards?—No.

11,415. Soon after that did you promise your vote for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

11,416. Did you see anything of Mr. Gower's party after that?—No.

11,417. Before the voting?—No.

11,418. Did you go on Mr. Wilkinson's committee?—No.

11,419. Did you take an active part in the election?—No.

11,420. Did you receive anything for your vote?—Yes.

11,421. From whom?—Frederick Joyes.

11,422. Before the election or after?—After.

11,423. How much?—2*l.*

11,424. Nothing more than 2*l.*?—No.

11,425. What did he tell you the 2*l.* was for?—Nomination day and polling day.

11,426. Had you done anything at all on the nomination day and polling day, except attending and shouting, and that sort of thing?—Yes.

11,427. What had you done?—Circulars.

11,428. You had not given up your regular engagement at that time as gardener, had you?—No.

11,429, (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you in the same place then?—Yes.

11,430. (The Chief Commissioner.) It was a goodish sum, 1*l.* a-day, for polling and nomination day; did you not consider it good pay?—Oh, yes.

12,431. You seem to be an honest man. I am going to ask you this question, did you not consider that the 2*l.* was also for your vote?—No, not exactly.

11,432. No, not all of it, not exactly; but tell me as an honest man, you have given your evidence very straightforward, did you not consider that the 2*l.* included your vote?—I considered that was in the vote.

11,433. Tell me, if you can, was there a good deal of refreshment at the election of 1863?—I do not know; I did not attend any of the meetings.

11,434. Were you at any previous election?—Only those two.

11,435. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Your master paid you just the same wages in 1863 at the end of the week, notwithstanding you were away for two days for polling and nomination?—Yes.

11,436. You got the 2*l.* and your master's pay as well?—Yes.

11,437. And your master knew you were away?—Yes.

11,438. Did he know you had received the 2*l.*?—I do not know that he did.

11,439. You did not tell him?—No.

The witness withdrew.

J. Eastmond.

JOHN EASTMOND sworn and examined.

11,440. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you, what is your business?—A carpenter.

11,441. What rent do you pay for your house?—It is my own house.

11,442. What is the value of it?—18*l.* or 20*l.* a year.

11,443. You were on the register, of course, and voted at the last election?—Yes.

11,444. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

11,445. Was that the first time you voted?—No; I voted for Mr. Gower before.

11,446. In '63?—Yes.

11,447. Had you voted before that?—Yes.

11,448. In '59 did you?—I have voted twice for Mr. Monson, once for Mr. Doulton, and once for Mr. Hackblock.

11,449. Then you voted for Mr. Hackblock and Mr. Doulton once each, for Mr. Monson twice, and twice for Mr. Gower?—Yes, that is so.

11,450. Now direct your attention to the last election. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

11,451. Himself?—Yes.

11,452. But you saw some others of his friends?—No, he came eight or nine weeks before the election.

11,453. Did you know Mr. Featherstone Green?—Yes.

11,454. He was a friend of Mr. Gower's, a supporter?—Yes.

11,455. He canvassed you, did he not?—No.

11,456. Had you not any conversation with him about how you were to vote?—No;

11,457. Not a word?—Not a word.

11,458. Did you know Mr. Murray?—Yes.

11,459. He was a strong supporter of Mr. Gower's, was he not?—I believe he was.

11,460. Had you no conversation with him about who you would vote for?—No.

11,461. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

11,462. What district?—Warwick-town.

11,463. That is near Redhill?—Yes.

11,464. Did you attend pretty well?—Yes, I was there generally every night.

11,465. Where were the committee rooms?—At the new town hall.

11,466. And at public houses and other places?—The town hall was for our district.

11,467. You worked hard, I suppose, on behalf of Mr. Gower?—I did what I could for him.

11,468. You canvassed?—Yes.

11,469. Did you canvass at all in the expectation of being remunerated or paid for your work?—Was I to receive anything?

11,470. No; did you canvass under the expectation of being paid for your work?—I thought I might.

11,471. Did you hear Mr. Gower's speech?—No.

11,472. Did you read it in the papers?—I do not know that I did.

11,473. Did you hear from those who had heard it that all men who worked for Mr. Gower should be paid?—No, I never heard of it till to-day.

11,474. But you expected to be paid for your work?—Yes.

11,475. How many weeks do you think you were at at work for Mr. Gower?—About seven or eightweeks.

11,476. What would you think a fair remuneration for your work during that time?—I did not think anything in particular.

11,477. What should you think would be a fair remuneration; 1*l.* a week?—I did not think anything of what would be paid; I knew what was paid the time before.

11,478. (The Chief Commissioner.) You knew what was paid the time before?—Yes.

11,479. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What was paid the time before?—Seven shillings a day.

11,480. That would be two guineas a week; how many weeks were you employed before for Mr. Gower?—About three weeks.

11,481. How much did you receive; it would be about six guineas?—Yes.

11,482. You remember you did receive six guineas?—I believe that was it.

11,483. You expected to be paid at the same rate this time?—I thought I might.

11,484. Were you at all paid for your work this time?—I received 2*l.*; but I did not consider that was for my work; my son was about three or four weeks delivering circulars.

11,485. Your son was not a voter?—No.

11,486. You received the money?—That was what I received.

11,487. From whom?—From Mr. Green.

11,488. Is that Featherstone Green?—Henry Green.

11,489. When did you receive the 2*l.* from him?—I should think it might be a month or five weeks after the election.

11,490. Was Mr. Green the paymaster in that district?—He gave that to me. I believe he was.

11,491. Does he live in that district?—Yes.

11,492. And you went to him for the money, I suppose?—No.

11,493. Did he come to you?—He came to me.

11,494. And paid you the 2*l.*?—Yes.

11,495. That was a small amount for your work, was it not?—Yes, it was not much.

11,496. We had a very honest witness, and as we have now a very respectable man, and we put to him whether or not he considered the 2*l.* was paid on the vote, I will read to you what he said, because I thought it was a very graphic answer, he said, "I "considered that the 2*l.* was in the vote." Did you consider the six guineas you received before in '63 was in the vote?—No; I should have voted the same if I had not received anything.

11,497. Do you think you would have received it if you had not promised your vote?—I do not know.

11,498. You do not think so?—No.

11,499. Had you been employed in the election before '63?—No, I do not know that I was employed.

11,500. You voted in '59?—Yes, I was with Mr. Doulton; I did a little for Mr. Doulton.

11,501. I thought you did. That was the time that the employment commenced, or nearly so. What were you employed in on behalf of Mr. Doulton?—I think I canvassed one or two for him.

11,502. How much did you receive for that?—I think it was eight and twenty shillings.

11,503. You canvassed two persons?—Yes.

11,504. You received more than eight and twenty-shillings?—I do not think it was.

11,505. Just think?—I will not be sure.

11,506. You received more?—I do not know; I thought it was four days, but I will not be sure.

11,507. Did you not receive 2*l.*—I think not.

11,508. Did you receive on any other election any other amount?—No.

11,509. Then it was eight and twenty shillings, six guineas, and 2*l.*?—I think that was it.

11,510. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you vote for Mr. Doulton?—Yes.

11,511. You did four days work for him, I understood you to say?—Four or five days I was working to my own mind.

11,512. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you mean that you did work four days?—Yes, I think that is what I was paid for.

11,513. Did you tell Mr. Green when he came to you, "This is a very poor sum, 2*l.*, to give me for my "services to Mr. Gower"?—No, I said nothing of the sort.

11,514. Nothing at all?—No.

11,515. You took the 2*l.* and were satisfied?—Yes.

11,516. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I thought you said the 2*l.* was for your boy?—I thought it was for him.

11,517. What age is your boy?—Fifteen.

11,518. Did you give the 2*l.* to your boy?—I did.

11,519. You did?—I did.

11,520. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you mean you handed over your money to your boy?—Yes; he gave Mr. Green the receipt for it, I think.

11,521. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And you did not get it back again?—No.

11,522. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me this, you voted at the elections of '58, did you not vote at the first election of '58, and then afterwards you voted again in the second election of '58, when Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson were candidates?—Yes.

11,523. Do you remember pretty well that occasion?—I remember when it was.

11,524. At the time when Mr. Monson got in by the majority of 15?—Yes.

11,525. When you voted for Mr. Monson; did you get anything on that occasion?—No.

11,526. I do not mean for your voting, but were you paid for your services?—No, I did not receive anything.

11,527. Did you expect anything?—No.

11,528. What had you done on that occasion, anything except voting?—For Mr. Monson?

11,529. Yes?—I do not know that I had.

11,530. I wish you would try and recollect?—No, I do not know that I had. Not to lose time.

11,531. Do you recollect whether he canvassed you?—Yes.

11,532. Did you promise him at once?—Yes, I promised him at once.

11,533. There was nothing at all about money, neither expressed nor understood?—No.

11,534. Then in the next election the thing was reversed. Mr. Wilkinson beat Mr. Monson at the end of the next year?—Yes, I think so.

11,535. Did you vote for Mr. Monson that time?—I voted for Mr. Monson then.

11,536. Did you go on his committee then?—No, I think I did not.

11,537. Oh, I made a mistake, there was a majority for Mr. Monson also at the second election. In '59 you voted then for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

11,538. You were on the winning side?—Yes.

11,539. Did you go on his committee?—I believe I did.

11,540. Did you do some work for him, messages, or bills, or canvassing?—I do not know that I went with any letter or message. I might have canvassed.

11,541. Perhaps that is more in your line. I suppose you did not work then for nothing?—I did not receive anything.

11,542. Did you do what you did do for nothing?—I did not do it for anything.

11,543. I do not mean that you received anything, but did you do it hoping or expecting something would be due to you?—No.

11,544. Do you remember the election pretty well?—Yes.

11,545. Can you tell me whether money was pretty free at that election?—I do not know that it was. I know that I did not receive any.

11,546. I am taking your word for yourself, but I mean among other people?—I am not aware of it.

11,547. Was there much treating?—At Mr. Monson's and Mr. Wilkinson's election?

SEVENTH DAY.

J. Dormer.

29 Aug. 1866.

11,548. Mr. Monson beat Mr. Wilkinson by 99 votes, that was at the general election in '59. I want to know if you can recollect that?—I think there was a good deal of drinking at that time.

11,549. A good deal of drinking or treating?—Yes, drinking.

11,550. About the money. Do you not think there was a good deal?—I cannot say; I speak for myself.

11,551. I am satisfied that you received nothing, but what was your notion as to other people. You may have canvassed other people?—I do not think that there was much money down at that time.

11,552. Did you, yourself, make promises at that election?—No.

11,553. Had you authority to do so?—No.

T. Chapman.

THOMAS CHAPMAN recalled.

11,554. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You told me that you always paid your rent to Mr. Nicholls as agent for Mr. Relf?—Yes.

11,555. And you told me you paid that 7*l.*, not to Mr. Relf, but to Mr. Nicholls in the usual way?—Yes.

11,556. Did you pay it to Mr. Nicholls?—No, to his young man in the office.

11,557. What is his young man in the office?—I do not know. His name is on the bill, Joyes; Alfred Joyes.

11,558. Is he any relation to Frederick Joyes?—I do not know. I should think he was by the name.

11,559. I understand he is nephew to Frederick Joyes?—Yes.

11,560. Is he in the service of Mr. Nicholls?—Yes.

11,561. You told me you paid it to Mr. Nicholls, but in fact you paid it to Alfred Joyes?—Yes.

11,562. Did Mr. Nicholls say anything to you, that the other portion of your rent was put in your vote?—No.

11,563. Did he tell you that the other 7*l.* was for your services, for voting?—No.

11,564. He did not say a word about the election?—Not a word.

11,565. Did you ever see Frederick Joyes with reference to this?—No.

11,566. Nobody?—No.

11,567. Excepting Alfred Joyes?—Excepting Alfred Joyes.

11,568. I see in the previous year you did pay 14*l.*, that is the 22nd of March '64. Did you pay any rent between the 22nd of March '64 and the 29th of September '65?—No.

11,569. Nothing?—No.

11,570. That is a year and a half's rent due?—Yes.

11,571. Then you pay 7*l.*, and they do not make any application to you until this last July. He must be a very kind landlord?—He is indeed.

Adjourned to to-morrow, at 11 o'clock.

EIGHTH DAY.

W. Banks.

30 Aug. 1866.

EIGHTH DAY.

Thursday, 30th August 1866.

WILLIAM BANKS sworn and examined.

11,572. (The Chief Commissioner.) Will you tell me whether you voted at the last election?—Yes.

11,573. Did you vote for Mr. Gower?—No, for Mr. Monson.

11,574. What rent were you paying at the last election?—4*s.* a week was what I was paying at the last election. I pay a little more now.

11,575. Whose house is it?—My landlord is Mr. Skilton.

11,576. Is he a voter?—No.

11,577. Is not he a voter?—No.

11,578. Were you canvassed by Mr. Gower first, or by Mr. Monson first?—I was canvassed a little by Mr. Gower first; not by Mr. Gower personally.

11,579. Who canvassed you, was it Mr. Durrant?—Yes.

11,580. He canvassed you for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

11,581. And after that you were canvassed for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

11,582. Who canvassed you for him?—Mr. Brown.

11,583. What did you tell Mr. Brown when he came to canvass you?—I never told him anything in particular; he told me that if I was in want of money, which I was at that time, that I could have 5*l.* if I canvassed for Mr. Monson.

11,584. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Give me the christian name of Mr. Brown?—James.

11,585. Do you know his address?—No, I do not.

11,586. He was a voter, I suppose?—No,

11,587. Was he a Reigate man?—Yes.

11,588. What was he?—A plasterer. I worked for him.

11,589. (The Chief Commissioner.) He told you about the 5*l.*, did you agree about that?—Yes.

11,590. Did you tell him you had been canvassed by Mr. Gower?—I told him that I had had a few meetings with Mr. Gower, but I had not promised my vote; not to Mr. Gower personally.

11,591. Who had you promised your vote for Mr. Gower to?—I told Mr. Durant that I was in favour of Mr. Gower, and he said if I did go for him I should have the same as other men; we were all neighbours together, and I should have the same.

11,592. He said the same as other men?—Yes.

11,593. What was that?—I do not know. He never stated it.

11,594. What did you understand was the amount?—I never had any understanding with him.

11,595. Not with Mr. Durrant, but in your own mind what did you understand?—That was the very reason why I did not go for Mr. Gower, and went for Mr. Monson; because I could not get any understanding.

11,596. Tell me, if you please, did Mr. Durrant at that time or afterwards specify a sum?—No.

11,597. He did not at all?—No.

11,598. Now you did put your name down on Mr. Monson's committee?—I believe it was down on Mr. Monson's committee for anything I know of; but I do not know whether it was or not.

11,599. You supposed it to be?—I supposed it to be, whether it was or not.

11,600. Had you been down on Mr. Gower's committee?—I believe not; I never saw it down myself. I told them they were not to put it on.

11,601. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You told them not to put your name on?—Yes.

11,602. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you do any work for Mr. Monson?—I was employed for him in canvassing.

11,603. Did you do any work for him?—The same as other men.

11,604. What was your work at that time?—A labourer.

11,605. At what?—A plasterer's labourer.

11,606. In the employ at that time of Mr. Carruther's?—Yes.

11,607. I suppose you went on with your employment?—Yes, only when I was employed. I then lost two days.

11,608. We will come to that. Did Mr. Carruthers know that you were working for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

11,609. Did you stay two days' work on the nomination and polling day?—One day on the nomination and one day at polling day.

11,610. Were you paid anything extra for polling and nomination?—Nothing at all.

11,611. When were you paid the 5*l.*?—I had 2*l.* 10*s.* on one Saturday.

11,612. Before the election?—Before the election, but I cannot remember the day.

11,613. Who by?—Mr. Brown.

11,614. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He paid you 1*l.*?—No, 2*l.* 10*s.*

11,615. When were you paid the other 2*l.* 10*s.*?—One polling morning.

11,616. Who paid that?—Mr. Brown.

11,617. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Before you polled, of course?—Yes.

11,618. (The Chief Commissioner.) They were quite fair with you, and paid you what was promised?—Yes.

11,619. Was this your first election?—Yes.

11,620. Where were you in '63?—I was living in the same house, but I was not on the register. I ought to have been, only I was missed.

11,621. Did you take any part in the election of '63?—Nothing at all, only I came about to look in the town.

11,622. You did not know much what was going on?—No.

11,623. You cannot give me any information about it, you think?—Nothing at all, because I never attended any meetings.

11,624. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You did not attend any meetings in 1865?—Yes, I attended a few meetings in 1865.

11,625. Did you take any interest then in the politics of either party?—No, because they were both Liberal. I thought one man was as good as the other.

11,626. You did not care which came in?—I was sure of the money. I was a little in debt, and I wanted to pay it off. I had a large family.

11,627. You say James Brown was not a voter?—He was not.

11,628. Did he take an active part in the election?—He did.

11,629. Was he very active?—He was not very busy.

11,630. Did you see him canvassing others besides yourself?—I know he tried others.

11,631. Amongst your workmen?—No, I cannot say that he did.

11,632. Can you give me the name of any person you know Mr. Brown canvassed?—I can give you the name of one; he tried pretty well, but he never got it.

11,633. Who was that?—Hodge, at the "Angel;" he tried hard, very hard.

11,634. (The Chief Commissioner.) But he failed?—Yes.

11,635. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is Mr. Hodge living at the "Angel" now?—Yes.

11,636. Where is that?—It is on the Brighton-road.

11,637. What is his Christian name?—I am sure I do not know.

11,638. He is a voter, is he not?—Yes.

11,639. Do you know anybody else he tried very hard?—There were Balchin, Warren, and Goddard; Thomas Goddard.

11,640. Balchin?—Yes, Alfred Balchin.

11,641. Thomas Goddard; who is he?—He is here now.

11,642. He is here now in the court?—Yes.

11,643. Did Mr. Brown tell you what he had done with Goddard?—No.

11,644. You only know that he tried hard?—I only know that he tried it.

11,645. Do you recollect anybody else?—William Warren; he went over to Mr. Gower.

11,646. Notwithstanding Mr. Brown tried?—Yes.

11,647. Can you recollect any other name, any other person who was tried by Mr. Brown?—No.

11,648. Those three or four he was unsuccessful with?—Yes.

11,649. Can you tell me anybody he was successful with?—No; the others were my neighbours, and that was how I knew it.

11,650. Did you know from Mr. Brown who employed him to canvass?—No, I do not know who employed him, no more than it was the Monson party.

11,651. Were you there with Mr. Brown at any place of entertainment?—No.

11,652. No public house?—No public house.

11,653. Did you go to the "Grapes" with him?—Yes, I was at the "Grapes;" that was when I first came over.

11,654. Were you there when you promised Mr. Brown?—Yes; when I gave him my word.

11,655. Was any one else there?—Yes.

11,656. Who was with you?—Francis.

11,657. Henry Francis?—Yes.

11,658. And Holdsworth?—Yes.

11,659. Did Henry Francis and Holdsworth take part in endeavouring to persuade you to come to Mr. Monson?—No; I had made up my mind before I came there to vote for Mr. Monson.

11,660. Did you then get the 2*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

11,661. You did?—Yes.

11,662. And Francis and Holdsworth were present when you were paid?—Yes.

11,663. Did you see Mr. Nicholls?—I have seen him; I had no conversation.

11,664. Was he present at that time?—No.

11,665. Did you see where Mr. Brown got the money from?—Yes.

11,666. Where did he get the money?—From Mr. Holdsworth.

11,667. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The publican?—Yes.

11,668. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The man who keeps the "Red Cross"?—Yes.

11,669. Did you see where Mr. Holdsworth got the money from?—No, he took it out of his pocket; that is all I know.

11,670. Did you see anybody else receiving money that morning at the "Grapes"?—No.

11,671. Nobody?—Nobody.

11,672. Have you had any conversation with Mr. Nichols at all at the "Grapes"?—No.

11,673. Not at all?—Not at all.

11,674. I think you said, that you did not hear from Mr. Brown who engaged him?—No, I did not.

11,675. When you were paid this 2*l.* 10*s.* on the day of polling; where were you paid it?—At Barker's.

11,676. Is that a public house?—I believe it is a beer shop.

11,677. What is the name of it?—I do not know the sign of the house; there is no sign out.

11,678. Is it in Reigate?—Yes, in Reigate.

11,679. Is it opposite the polling booth?—Opposite the new hall.

11,680. Did the polling take place here?—At the new hall.

11,681. You say that Mr. Brown paid you the 2*l.* 10*s.*; was anybody with you when Mr. Brown paid you the 2*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes, Mr. Apted.

11,682. Which one?—Mr. Apted of Bell-street.

11,683. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) James Apted?—Yes.

11,684. The poulterer?—Yes.

EIGHTH DAY.

W. Banks.

30 Aug. 1866.

11,685. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where did Mr. Brown get the money from ?—From Mr. Apted.

11,686. Apted gave Mr. Brown the money ?—Yes.

11,687. Did Brown ask for the money ?—No, not that I am aware of ; Brown told me, "You had better "come and poll now, or perhaps it may be no use."

11,688. Was that before you went to Mr. Barker's ?—Yes.

11,689. He did not take you direct to the poll ?—We went to Barker's and had a drop of beer together.

11,690. And then went to poll ?—Yes.

11,691. Did Mr. Brown tell you the object in going into the house ?—No, we went along the street together and went in there.

11,692. Did you not say anything about the 2*l.* 10*s.*, the balance of the 5*l.* ?—He promised me that he would see that I had it.

11,693. You got the 2*l.* 10*s.* before you polled ?—Yes.

11,694. Why did you get the 2*l.* 10*s.* before you polled ?—That was my agreement.

11,695. When Mr. Brown asked you to go to poll did you not say, "I will have my 2*l.* 10*s.* first "?—He told me I should have it before I did poll.

11,696. Was that the reason why you went to Apted before you did poll ?—We all three went together.

11,697. Was Apted with you ?—Yes.

11,698. Did Apted say, "Let us go to Barker's "?—No ; we all three went in together.

11,699. Where did he get the money from ?—Out of his pocket.

11,700. He had it ready ?—Yes.

11,701. Did Brown ask him for it ?—No.

11,702. Was not something said by James Apted or by Brown that you were to have the 2*l.* 10*s.* before the polling ?—Nothing was said that morning ; they knew I had agreed.

11,703. They gave it to you without your asking for it ?—Yes.

11,704. Who took you to the poll ?—I cannot tell you the man's name ; it was a man who came in directly after. I should not know the man again.

11,705. When this person came in you did not know him. Upon receiving the 2*l.* 10*s.* was there something of this kind said "Banks has got his money, "will you see he votes" ?—Something was said about "See he goes the right way," and Mr. Brown said, "No "fear about him, he will go the right way."

11,706. They did send the man with you to see you were all right ?—Yes.

11,707. And that was the reason why you voted for Mr. Monson, because you received 5*l.* ?—That is it.

11,708. And the only reason ?—Well, I thought one was quite as good as the other ; both were Liberals and both professed the same thing.

11,709. You could not get an agreement with the Gower party, and as you got a distinct promise from the Monson party you went with them ?—Yes.

11,710. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You know a good many men in your own rank of life and class of life in your neighbourhood ?—Yes, I know several.

11,711. So far as your knowledge goes, did most of the men whom you know of go in the same way that you did, for the man who would give them the most money and the best wage ?—Some went one way and some the other.

11,712. According as they got the money ?—According as they got the money or the promises.

11,713. Do you know any men of your own class of life of the voters who did not act in that way, do you know any one ?—I know no more than what I mention ; whom we tried, some went one way and some the other.

11,714. How many in your class of life do you know, how many voters I mean ?—I do not know.

11,715. Two or three dozen ?—I do not know their names.

11,716. But you do know them ?—I know them by sight.

11,717. But not by their names ?—But not by their names, I know a great many, I have been about Reigate now some time.

11,718. It was generally understood amongst you that you were to vote in that way ?—Yes.

11,719. That was so, was it not ?—Yes.

The witness then withdrew.

T. Goddard.

THOMAS GODDARD sworn and examined.

11,720. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you ?—A labourer.

11,721. What rent do you pay for your house ?—4*s.* 3*d.* a week.

11,722. What labour do you work at ?—Anything that I can get.

11,723. You have no stated business as a plasterer ?—No ; sometimes I work for a gentleman in a garden.

11,724. You are a sort of gardener ?—At times I am.

11,725. You can turn your hand to anything, you are a general labourer ?—Yes.

11,726. You were on the last election register ?—Yes.

11,727. As a voter ?—Yes.

11,728. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

11,729. Do you know a man of the name of James Brown, mentioned by the last witness ?—Yes.

11,730. Did Brown canvass you on the part of Mr. Monson ?—No.

11,731. Are you quite certain of that ?—Yes, I am.

11,732. Did he ask you to vote for Mr. Monson ?—No, he did not.

11,733. Did ?—For Mr. Brown

11,734. Yes ?—No, we never went together.

11,735. You know the person ?—Yes, I know the person.

11,736. The last witness said Brown tried to get you to vote for Mr. Monson ?—He never did but once, at the "Grapes," when I denied him ; he asked me once to come in and have a glass of something to drink there, and I denied him.

11,737. Did you not promise to vote for Mr. Monson ?—No, not to anybody.

11,738. Were you canvassed by anybody else for Mr. Monson excepting James Brown ?—No, I do not think I was.

11,739. Are you certain ?—James Brown did canvass me once, I think.

11,740. Brown asked you once to vote for Monson and you refused him ?—Yes, I refused him.

11,741. Did anybody else ask you except Brown ?—No.

11,742. When Brown asked you to vote for Mr. Monson did he offer you anything to go on the side of Mr. Monson ?—No.

11,743. Are you quite certain ?—Yes.

11,744. Did he ask you to come on their committee ?—No.

11,745. Did he ask you to work for Monson ?—No.

11,746. Are you quite certain of that ?—Quite certain.

11,747. Then Brown tried you hard, as the last witness said ?—No, he did not try me hard ; he only asked me once, and I refused him.

11,748. Were you canvassed by the Gower party ?—The other party ?

11,749. Yes ?—Yes, I was canvassed for Mr. Gower.

11,750. Were you canvassed by Mr. Durrant ?—No.

11,751. Were you canvassed by anybody else ?—Yes.

11,752. Who was it ?—I was canvassed by Mr. Gower himself.

11,753. Did you promise Mr. Gower ?—Yes, I did.

11,754. The first time you saw him ?—Yes.

11,755. Did you go on the committee ?—Yes, I did.

11,756. Did you work as a messenger ?—No, I did not work, I was on the committee, but I did not work.

11,757. Who asked you to go on the committee?—I think it was Durrant, I believe he asked me if I would go their way; I said "Yes, Mr. Gower had "canvassed me." He said, "Will you go on the com-"mittee," and I said "Yes."

11,758. Did Durrant say you would be paid for your work on the committee?—No.

11,759. Did he say you would be paid like other persons on the committee?—No, I was offered nothing in particular.

11,760. I did not say you were offered anything in particular, but were you to receive the same as others who worked for Mr. Gower?—No.

11,761. Did you expect to be paid as others?—Not in particular.

11,762. But something out of the particular you expected to be paid?—No, I did not.

11,763. You are a man who worked generally?—I did not work.

11,764. I suppose you could not afford to give them your time?—I never gave up any time.

11,765. Did you attend any committee?—Only one.

11,766. Did you attend on the nomination day?—Yes.

11,767. Did you attend on the polling day?—Yes.

11,768. And you voted?—Yes.

11,769. After the election did you ask anybody to pay you for the time you had lost on the nomination day and polling day?—No.

11,770. You never asked any one?—No, I never asked any one.

11,771. But when you voted you expected to be paid?—I should like to have been paid; still I never asked anything, and no one ever offered me anything.

11,772. I suppose you heard that others were paid?—I heard it the last day.

11,773. On your side, on Mr. Gower's side?—Yes.

11,774. Did not that make you a little desirous to be paid?—No, not at all. Mr. Gower was a man I intended to vote for, and I did not care whether I was paid anything or not.

11,775. Most of those who promised had that intention, but from what we have learnt they wish to be paid for it, and I wish to know whether you were not of the same class?—As far as that goes, if I had been offered anything I should not have refused it.

11,776. What did you expect to have been offered you?—I did not know any particular amount at all.

11,777. Did it ever cross your mind you might have 5*l.*?—No.

11,778. You knew that others were going to have that sum?—No.

11,779. Did you ever hear it?—No.

11,780. Not from anybody?—Not from anybody.

11,781. Did you ever see Job Apted about your voting? Did he ever speak to you?—I cannot say he did not speak to me, but nothing about the election that I know of.

11,782. Did he ever say that if you were on the committee you should be paid like other men?—No, not to my recollection.

11,783. What committee did you attend?—Mr. Gower's.

11,784. The one that sat under this room?—No, I was never here.

11,785. Where was your committee?—Well, I cannot say. I was put on the committee, but I never attended a meeting except down at the "freehold."

11,786. That was the only one?—Yes.

11,787. Was Mr. Gower there at that time?—Yes.

11,788. Was anything said by Mr. Gower to the effect that anybody who worked should be well paid?—I never heard it.

11,789. And you were never at a meeting at this hall?—Not at this hall.

11,790. Who came up to poll with you?—Thomas Williams was one.

11,791. Was he Mr. Gower's man?—Yes.

11,792. Did he bring you up to the poll?—He came up with me.

11,793. Where did he find you?—At the "Barley Mow."

11,794. Were there many of you at the "Barley Mow"?—There was a goodish many.

11,795. At that time?—Yes.

11,796. What time was that?—Between 7 and 8 in the morning.

11,797. Where did you sleep the night before the polling?—At Grooms'.

11,798. Is that a beer house?—No, a private house.

11,799. Where is your house?—About a stone's throw from his.

11,800. Are you a married man?—Yes.

11,801. And a family?—Yes.

11,802. How came you to sleep there?—We were asked, for a few of us felt sleepy, and he said we might go into another room.

11,803. Who were the others who felt sleepy?—There was Balchin and Warren.

11,804. When did you go to Grooms' on the day before the polling day?—It was late in the evening.

11,805. Who took you to Grooms'?—No one.

11,806. Who asked you to go there?—I do not know that any one did.

11,807. This is a private house?—Yes.

11,808. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is it a private house?—Yes.

11,809. Mr. Groom actually invited you, Balchin, and Warren to go and take tea with him?—No.

11,810. Was Durrant there?—No.

11,811. Did you see him before you voted?—Not at all.

11,812. Did you see anybody besides Groom, Warren, and Balchin?—Yes.

11,813. Who was there besides?—I cannot tell; but I was reckoning there might be ten or a dozen.

11,814. All of them voters I suppose?—For anything I know.

11,815. You knew all the party well?—I might at that time, but I could not name them now.

11,816. I don't ask you to name them, that might try your recollection too much. You knew who were in the house with you?—I might at the time.

11,817. Was Job Apted there?—No.

11,818. Or Alexander Rose?—No.

11,819. Was anybody there in the house with you who was taking an active part for Mr. Gower?—Not that I know of.

11,820. Did Groom take an active part during the election of Mr. Gower?—I have no doubt he did.

11,821. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is it William Groom?—Yes.

11,822. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He is on the Holmesdale estate?—Yes.

11,823. What refreshment did you get there? You did not go to Groom's to take tea?—No; beer and cider.

11,824. Anything else?—I think there was a little ginger beer.

11,825. Was there anything else besides the beer and cider?—Nothing at all.

11,826. Do you recollect what time you went to bed?—It might be 12 o'clock.

11,827. Did you feel very sleepy when you went to bed?—Not particularly.

11,828. You have a very clear recollection of your going to bed?—Oh yes.

11,829. Then you were not drunk at all?—No.

11,830. Not in the least?—No.

11,831. Were others the worse for the bee?—I think Balchin was rather.

11,832. Was Warren?—No.

11,833. As this was only 12 o'clock, why did you not go home to your wife?—I do not know any reason.

EIGHTH DAY.

T. Goddard.

30 Aug. 1866.

11,834. Did not Groom suggest some reason?—No.

11,835. Is it your custom to sleep out from your wife?—No, not at all.

11,836. You had not done it since you were married; well give us some sensible reason for doing it then?—I first laid down on a stool that we sat on, when Mr. Groom said, "If you like to go into my next room "there is a carpet you can lay your heads on."

11,837. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You laid on the carpet?—Yes.

11,838. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) If you were not so very fatigued, how came you to lay down on a stool?—I suppose I was sleepy.

11,839. Did it come on you suddenly?—It might have done.

11,840. Did it not come suddenly over you?—Yes, it did.

11,841. You say you were kept there on the suggestion of Groom?—Yes.

11,842. Had Balchin or Warren retired to rest?—I was in last.

11,843. Were Balchin and Warren in the same room with you?—Yes, we slept together.

11,844. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) On the carpet?—Yes.

11,845. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Of course you did not undress?—No, we had nothing but our shoes off.

11,846. What became of your boots and shoes?—We left them in the room we went out of.

11,847. When you got up in the morning could you find them?—Yes, they were where I pulled them off.

11,848. Did Balchin find his?—I was up before him.

11,849. Were you up before Groom?—I saw him about 5 in the morning.

11,850. He was up then?—Yes.

11,851. Was anybody with him?—That I do not recollect.

11,852. Oh, yes, you do, you know very well whether he was alone or somebody else with him?—I do not know.

11,853. Were you at all a diffident voter; had not some of the Monson party been with you a few days before the election?—No, only Mr. James Brown down here.

11,854. How long before the election was that?—On the Monday.

11,855. Wednesday was the polling day?—Yes.

11,856. Nomination day was Tuesday?—Yes.

11,857. Mr. Brown saw you on the Monday?—Yes.

11,858. Did you tell Mr. Groom or any of the Gower party that you had seen Mr. Brown?—Not to my recollection.

11,859. Might you have done so?—I do not think I did.

11,860. Do you not think that they had got some suspicion that Mr. Brown had been to you?—I do not think they had.

11,861. Did you see Mr. Brown at the nomination?—Not at the nomination.

11,862. Did you see him on the nomination day?—Yes, I did.

11,863. Then that is a second time you saw Mr. Brown?—Yes.

11,864. You told me before that you had only seen him once. Did you speak to Brown on the nomination day?—I did.

11,865. And he to you?—And he to me, he only asked me once.

11,866. Did he not speak to you about the election?—Yes.

11,867. On the nomination day?—Yes.

11,868. Did you walk with Mr. Brown?—I did.

11,869. Where did you walk with him, in the High-street here?—In the freehold.

11,870. What distance did you walk with Brown?—Three-quarters of a mile.

11,871. Mr. Brown was a very notorious character, was he not, for any one on the Gower side to be seen with?—Yes.

11,872. As being interested for Mr. Monson?—I do not know.

11,873. You knew him to be interested for Mr. Monson?—I knew the man.

11,874. Now in that three-quarters of a mile did you come through any of the public thoroughfares, where the houses or the shops are?—Yes.

11,875. Would you pass Mr. Green's or Apted's? At all events it would be a public thoroughfare?—Yes.

11,876. Where you and Mr. Brown might have been seen together?—Yes.

11,877. After the election did you make any application to any of the Gower party for money?—No.

11,878. Was any money given to you?—Nothing at all.

11,879. Was not money offered to you?—None at all.

11,880. Not from the Gower party?—No.

11,881. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me who took you into Mr. Grooms' that night, just recollect?—Mr. Groom asked me if I would go up there, if I would come with him.

11,882. Did you have any talk with Mr. Groom about voting for Mr. Gower?—No, I do not think he named it.

11,883. Who did then?—No one that, I know of.

11,884. You are on your oath; now bear that in mind, and do not let us have any trifling. Was not an arrangement made with you that you should vote for Mr. Gower, but that you should be locked up at Mr. Groom's all night?—No, there was not.

11,885. Nothing of the kind?—No.

11,886. How was it you were locked up there?—We were not locked up.

11,887. That you swear?—Yes.

11,888. You swear that?—Yes, I swear we were not locked up.

11,889. How do you know that?—The door was open when we got up, and there was no one in the room.

11,890. I am quite aware that there were only three in the room; but how do you know that you were not locked up?—If they did they opened the door next morning.

11,891. Now only state things that you know, I ask you this very plainly, there is no disguise about it, was it not arranged that you were to vote for Mr. Gower, but you were to be locked up?—No.

11,892. What were you to get for voting for Mr. Gower?—Nothing at all.

11,893. No pay for your services?—No pay at all.

11,894. Now answer me this; did they know very well that you were a shaky voter?—I do not know, I cannot say.

11,895. You are on your oath; do not say you do not know; answer my question and with some consideration; did they know you to be a shaky voter?—I believe not.

11,896. Do not answer in a hurry; answer like an honest man; were you a shaky voter?—I was not, I promised my vote for Mr. Gower, and I gave it him.

11,897. When did you first promise your vote for Mr. Gower; a fortnight, or three weeks, or a month before the election?—It might be.

11,898. Do you mean to say you had had no interview at all, or any talk with the other side?—Oh, yes, I had a little talk.

11,899. Now, do you mean to repeat you were not a shaky voter?—I was not.

11,900. You were not?—No.

11,901. Do you know James Apted?—Yes.

11,902. Who was he acting for?—For Mr. Monson.

11,903. Do you know Mr. Holdsworth?—Yes.

11,904. You know his house too?—Yes.

11,905. You have been in his stable, have you not?—I have.

11,906. When were you in the stable before the election?—On the nomination day.

11,907. That was the day on which you met the enemy in Mr. Groom's house; now then, will you still say you were not a shaky voter?—Yes.

11,908. Who was in Mr. Holdsworth's stable with you?—Warren and Balchin.

11,909. Do you still say you were not a shaky voter in fact, whatever they may have thought you?—Yes, I do.

11,910. What were you to do in Holdsworth's stable? who were you going to vote for if you were there?—Mr. Gower.

11,911. Why did you go to Holdsworth's stable?—Because they asked me to go.

11,912. Who asked you?—Apted.

11,913. Why did you go there if you had made up your mind to vote for Mr. Gower? Holdsworth and Apted were both Mr. Monson's men?—They were.

11,914. Why did you go over and talk with the enemy in a stable if you were not a shaky voter?—At Park-hill I met Apted and James Brown, and they strongly persuaded me to go back to Holmesdale inn, and on our return about 11 yards Apted looked round to me and said, "Tom, I hear you have "worn your coat off your back going about at this "election," and I answered him in a joke, "Yes, and "I have come down here to put a new suit on." We went down there, and I do not think we had more than a pot of beer and ginger beer.

11,915. Where is the Holmesdale inn? But go on, if you please, in your own way?—We were coming back again and he said, "What do you want?" I said, "Seven for a good suit." He said, "That is too much, "I will give you 5*l.*" He said, "I can't pay you all "now, but you can have the other when you have "been to poll;" I said, "I do not care for you or your "men."

11,916. What men?—Balchin and Warren. "Well," he said, "if you go back up to the 'Castle' along with "me, I will go and get you 30*s.* each." We went there and received it.

11,917. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where did you get that?—At the "Castle."

11,918. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that from Apted?—Yes.

11,919. You were to have the money in the afternoon?—We were to have the money at 3 o'clock, but we did not get it so soon as that.

11,920. Go on in your own way, if you please, and tell us, will you?—We went back again about 3, and we went to the "Red Cross" inn.

11,921. That is Holdsworth's?—Yes; about 3, and we had the remainder in the stable.

11,922. That was 3*l.* 10*s.*?—5*l.*

11,923. Oh, the remainder; you had 7*l.*?—No; 15*l.* was divided among the three.

11,924. Then I was right, it must have been 3*l.* 10*s.*, but never mind; who paid you, did Apted?—Yes.

11,925. Was Holdsworth there when you were paid?—No, he was not.

11,926. At what time in the day was that?—It might have been 5 o'clock, or it might have been more, I cannot say.

11,927. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I understood you to say, when you were examined by Mr. Smith, that you were not canvassed at all on behalf of Mr. Monson, or by any one except James Brown?—I was canvassed by James Brown.

11,928. But you said you were not canvassed by any one else?—No.

11,929. Then you told a lie, that is the simple fact, for you were canvassed by these men, Holdsworth and another?—Where?

11,930. You were canvassed when you received the money from them, the money to vote for Mr. Monson?—They never asked me.

11,931. Was not the money to vote for Mr. Monson?—They never asked me.

11,932. Was not the money to vote for Mr. Monson? Did you not receive the money under the understanding you were to vote for Mr. Monson?—(No answer.)

11,933. Did you not receive it on the understanding you were to vote for Mr. Monson?—I did not understand it.

11,934. Did you not give them to understand you were to vote for Mr. Monson?—I did not.

11,935. Just attend to what you say; when you went back into the stable, did you not give them to understand you were to vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

11,936. What did you receive the money for?—For a new suit of clothes.

11,937. What were you to do for it; what were you to do for the money; you might as well answer the question at once?—Well, they did not ask me.

11,938. I do not say they did ask you, but what did you understand you were to do for the money?—I did not know.

11,939. What were you to do for the money you received, the 30*s.* and 3*l.* 10*s.*?—I can't say.

11,940. Did you not understand you were to vote for Mr. Monson?—No, I did not.

11,941. What did you understand you were to do for it?—Nothing.

11,942. You went with the other two men there; what did you understand you were to do for it; now remember you are upon your oath, and everybody in court is hearing you; did you not understand, or did you not give them to understand, that for receiving that money you were to vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

11,943. Did you not think they expected you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Perhaps they might.

11,944. Now about the night you slept out, did you tell your wife you were going to sleep out?—No.

11,945. Did you send word home you were going to sleep out?—No.

11,946. What family have you?—Eight children.

11,947. You did not send up to them?—No.

11,948. Will you tell me this? If you were voting of your own free will for Mr. Gower, how came you to sleep in Mr. Groom's house that night, if you were not doubtful?—He asked me there.

11,949. How came you to sleep there? You say you were a free voter for Mr. Gower, then how came you to sleep at Mr. Groom's that night?—I do not know anything particularly.

11,950. Now I ask you upon your oath, did you not receive money from Mr. Gower?—I received money from Mr. Monson.

11,951. I know that, but upon your oath did you not receive money on behalf of Mr. Gower?—No, I did not.

11,952. Why did you vote for Mr. Gower when you received money on the other side?—He was the man I promised.

11,953. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you offered anything for your vote by the Gower party?—No.

11,954. To record your vote?—No.

11,955. Do you think it was honest, after having promised Mr. Gower, then to take money from Apted, his opponent. I want to see what notion you have of honesty; do you think it was honest?—I do not know that it might be honest.

11,956. Was it dishonest? I put it plainly to you; do you not think it was very dishonest?—Perhaps it was.

11,957. Do you not think it was?—Yes.

11,958. You say you were offered 7*l.* for your old coat?—No, not for an old coat.

EIGHTH DAY.

T. Goddard.

30 Aug. 1866.

11,959. What was it for?—Nothing at all.

11,960. What do you give for your suits of clothes?—I never have a suit at once.

11,961. If this money was not given you for your voting, what took place between Apted, Balchin, and Warren about their monies; what were they to do for their money?—It was for the same.

11,962. For new suits of clothes?—Yes.

11,963. Was anything said to Warren and Balchin about their voting for Mr. Monson?—No.

11,964. You are quite certain about that?—I am quite certain that nothing was said in my hearing.

11,965. You were in the stable?—Yes.

11,966. And you swear upon your solemn oath that nothing was said about the election when you and the others were paid?—There was nothing said, only when we received the money.

11,967. When you received the money was anything said?—Apted said, "You vote for Mr. Monson early "in the morning;" we said we would be there early, but I never told him who for.

11,968. Then the talk about voting was after the money was paid?—Yes.

11,969. And then you were to vote for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

11,970. When Apted said, "Now you be there early "and vote for Mr. Monson," did you say that you would vote for Mr. Gower?—No; I said, "We will be "there early." I never told him who for.

11,971. Did you not understand from Apted that because you had received the money you were expected to vote for Mr. Monson early?—When we got the money?

11,972. Did you lead Apted to suppose you were going to vote for Mr. Monson?—No, I did not.

11,973. Why did not you tell Apted when you got the 5l., all or one of you, that you were going to vote for Mr. Gower; why did you not have the common honesty to say that?—We ought to have done so.

11,974. Is not this very much like obtaining money under false pretences. You received this money, having in fact promised, and it being strictly understood, that you were to vote for Mr. Gower, and then go with Warren and Balchin to Holdsworth's, and never said that you were going to vote for Mr. Gower?—Oh, yes.

11,975. What, in the stable?—No, not in the stable.

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien remarked that Balchin had promised Mr. Gower his vote, that he then received 5l. from the Monson party, and afterwards obtained 55s. from Mr. Gower's friends.

11,976. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you know that Balchin received money from Mr. Gower?—No, I did not.

11,977. On your solemn oath do you?—No, I do not.

Mr. Commissioner Smith remarked that from his evidence he was not at all willing to believe the witness upon his oath.

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien expressed the same opinion.

11,978. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Let me put it to you, upon your solemn oath, did not Balchin state he had received money from Mr. Gower?—No.

11,979. On behalf of Mr. Gower?—No.

11,980. Before or after the election, has not Balchin told you that he received money after the election?—No, he never told me.

11,981. Now, having received 5l. from James Apted to vote for Mr. Monson, why did you vote for Mr. Gower?—I promised him.

11,982. Then did you consider the promise that you made on behalf of Mr. Gower binding upon your honour?—Yes, I did think I was to vote for him.

11,983. Then in that case, so far as that goes, you were honourable?—I was honourable to him.

11,984. Why could not you be honourable to James Apted?—I do not know; I could not be to both.

11,985. Do you not think that it is very much like a downright piece of robbery on Mr. Apted to take that money from him; let me have your notion of honourable dealing?—No.

11,986. I recollect now that you did admit that it was dishonest. Did you tell anybody you had been in Mr. Holdsworth's stable; did you tell Mr. Groom or anybody?—Yes, I did.

11,987. When did you tell Mr. Groom?—I think I told him that night.

11,988. Before you went to Mr. Groom's?—No, I do not think it was before.

11,989. When you were at Mr. Groom's?—Yes.

11,990. Was that before you went to sleep on the stool?—No doubt about it.

11,991. Having told Mr. Groom that you had received that money from James Apted, did he not tell you you had better be locked up all the night?—No, he did not.

11,992. Who went to poll with you?—Williams.

11,993. What time did you poll?—At 8 o'clock in the morning.

11,994. Did you see James Apted?—I do not recollect.

11,995. You did not want to see him?—I did not mind about that.

11,996. You did not mind about that; you had a little modesty in the morning; you did not want to see James Apted?—I do not know about wanting to see him in particular.

11,997. Or Mr. Holdsworth, did you meet him?—Oh, yes, on the Park-hill.

11,998. After you had voted?—Yes, I think it was.

11,999. Did you tell Holdsworth you had been and voted for Mr. Gower?—No.

12,000. Did he ask you to come and vote for Mr. Monson?—No, not then; he never spoke to me.

12,001. Perhaps he did not see you; you saw him and you got out of the way very likely?—I was in a carriage.

12,002. In a carriage; what, riding about like a gentleman; were you bringing up the voters then?—I had been to poll, and got back again.

12,003. Were you taken to the poll in a carriage? Yes, I was.

12,004. Were you taken from Mr. Groom's house to poll?—No.

12,005. I beg your pardon, from the "Barley Mow"? Yes.

12,006. What time in the morning did you go to the "Barley Mow"?—I cannot say; it might have been about 6 o'clock.

12,007. Did Mr. Groom take you to the "Barley Mow"?—No.

12,008. Who went with you?—No one.

12,009. Did not Balchin or Warren go with you?—I walked by myself to my own house.

12,010. You had gone home first?—Yes.

12,011. What time did you go, 5 o'clock?—Yes.

12,012. Of course you told your wife where you had been?—Yes.

12,013. Was she up?—Yes.

12,014. Waiting for you?—No, she had been in bed.

12,015. Was she much alarmed at your being away all night?—No, not at all.

12,016. Not at all?—Not at all.

12,017. What time did you go to the "Barley Mow"?—Six o'clock.

12,018. You went from your house to the "Barley Mow"?—Yes.

12,019. Who did you go with?—By myself.

12,020. Who did you meet there at 6 o'clock in the morning?—Several persons; I cannot say who they were.

12,021. Who told you to go to the "Barley Mow"?—No one at all.

12,022. How came you to go there?—I went in company there with the rest of the voters.

12,023. In company with who?—The rest of the voters.

12,024. Who were they?—I cannot say all their names.

12,025. Give me one, was Balchin with you?—Not when I went there; he was there when I got there.

12,026. He was there first?—Yes.

12,027. Who took you there?—I do not know.

12,028. Did you find Mr. Groom there when you got there?—No.

12,029. Was Warren there?—I do not know, I cannot say.

12,030. Did you find many of those men there whom you had met the night before at Mr. Grooms'?—Yes, there were some.

12,031. A good many of them?—Yes, I think there was.

12,032. What did you do at the "Barley Mow" that morning, did you go in and drink?—I had some coffee and meat.

12,033. Was there a breakfast laid out?—Yes, there was.

12,034. You all sat down to breakfast?—Yes.

12,035. Did you go in a carriage from the "Barley Mow" to poll?—Yes.

12,036. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me, who is James Brown?—He is a plasterer.

12,037. Did he employ you at that time. Where was he living at that time, where he lives now?—No, Glover's-fields, I think.

12,038. Is that where he lives now?—No, he has gone away from here.

12,039. Where has he gone to?—I think he is somewhere in London.

12,040. Is he in court to-day?—I do not know.

12,041. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you seen him in the town during this Inquiry?—No.

The witness withdrew.

RICHARD DEWDNEY called, sworn, and examined.

R. Dewdney.

12,042. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you vote for Mr. Gower at the last election?—Yes.

12,043. At what time of the day did you vote?—I will tell you as near as I can recollect.

12,044. It was late in the day, was it not?—Something about the middle of the day, I do not know the hour.

12,045. Who canvassed you to vote for Mr. Gower?—I do not know that I was asked by anybody particular; I said I should give Mr. Gower my vote.

12,046. Did not anybody call on you on behalf of Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower called upon me, I believe, once.

12,047. Did Mr. Apted or Mr. Joyes call upon you? Have you seen Mr. Job Apted?—I do not recollect that I did.

12,048. Did anybody else call upon you?—I do not know that I was called upon by any one particular; Mr. Gower called once, I believe.

12,049. Did not Mr. Buckland call upon you?—No; I do not think he did.

12,050. You were on Mr. Gower's committee, were you not; your name was up as belonging to Mr. Gower?—Yes, I believe it was.

12,051. Who put it on, whom did you tell to put it on?—I do not know that; I did not know it was on; I am not certain it was on.

12,052. Did you tell anybody to put it on?—I told no person.

12,053. Just try and recollect, it will save you and me some trouble. Don't you recollect whom you told to put your name on?—I am sure I don't know.

12,054. It would save a great deal of trouble if you would tell me. Who were Mr. Gower's friends that you knew were working for him, and going about for him?—I do not know; I did not know Mr. Gower, only by name.

12,055. But who were his friends that you knew were working for him. There were persons working for him, were there not?—I don't understand you.

12,056. Were there any persons going about asking people to vote for Mr. Gower in your district?—Mr. Gower called upon me once, I know.

12,057. I know that; but were there not other persons?—I met him once on the road, and he said, "Will you vote for me."

12,058. But did not anybody else speak to you, anybody that was going about on behalf of Mr. Gower?—No one in particular.

12,059. I am not asking about anybody in particular, but did you know anybody; give me the name of any one that you saw with reference to the election. Can you recollect?—No, I cannot.

12,060. Will you give me the name of the person who promised to put you on the committee?—I really do not know.

12,061. Well, did anybody call upon you on behalf of Mr. Monson?—I do not recollect that any of Mr. Monson's party called upon me.

12,062. Who took you up to vote for Mr. Gower; who went with you?—His name was up; most people voted for him, I believe.

12,063. But with whom did you go up to the poll?—I do not know that I went up with anybody.

12,064. Who took you to the poll?—I do not know; I really do not recollect.

12,065. Who took you to vote for Mr. Gower?—I do not know that any one did particular.

12,066. Did you walk, or did you go in a carriage?—I walked.

12,067. Whom did you go with; you did not go alone; did you go with any one?—I do not recollect that I did when I went to vote.

12,068. Try and recollect, it is not so far back. Did somebody come for you and take you; I dare say he brought a carriage for you?—It was somebody in the borough; I was called upon.

12,069. Who called upon you; that is what I want to know?—That I cannot tell you exactly.

12,070. Was it Mr. Apted, or Mr. Buckland, or Mr. Joyes, or Mr. Rose?—I do not know now.

12,071. Do you know Mr. Buckland?—Oh, yes, I know him.

12,072. Now, I ask you, did not Mr. Buckland see you about the election?—I do not know that he did.

12,073. Did he not see you about the election and talk to you about it?—No; I do not recollect that he did.

12,074. Now, will you tell me who came for you on the morning of the polling day?—I am sure I do not know; I was in town here, I believe.

12,075. But who came for you?—I was not sent for in particular by any one.

12,076. Was it not Buckland who took you to the poll?—I do not recollect that any one in particular took me to the poll.

12,077. Did you see Buckland to speak to him on the polling day?—I do not recollect that I did.

12,078. Your memory is very bad, Mr. Dewdney. Did you see Mr. Mazden on the polling day?—No, I do not know that I did; I forget.

12,079. Did you see Mr. Frederick Joyes on the polling day?—Oh, no; I do not know that I did. I might see him; I forget; I do not recollect who I did see and who I didn't.

12,080. Can you not tell us whom you saw on the polling day, who spoke to you and asked you to come up and vote?—I was asked my name by the clerk,

EIGHTH DAY.

R. Dewdney.

30 Aug. 1866.

and he asked me for whom I would vote, and I said, "For Mr. Gower."

12,081. But did you not speak to any one before that?—I do not recollect that I spoke to any one in particular.

12,082. Did you do any work for Mr. Gower at the election, or go about attending meetings; did you attend any meetings?—I might hear some, but I do not recollect anything about them.

12,083. I will ask you, did you receive anything for your work, or for what you did; did you receive any money?—Oh, no, not a farthing; I had no bribes.

12,084. I did not ask you about bribes; I ask you, did you receive any money at all?—No; I received no money.

12,085. Was this the first time you voted at an election; did you vote for Mr. Gower in 1863?—Yes, I think I voted for him before; as for money, I had no money offered me.

12,086. Did you vote for him in 1863?—Most likely; I can't say now how that was.

12,087. Am I to understand that you never received any money for what you did, for your loss of time, and the loss of a day going up to vote for him; were you not paid for that?—Oh, no, I didn't receive a farthing.

12,088. For the loss of time?—No, not a farthing.

12,089. What rent do you pay, Mr. Dewdney, for your house?—I think it is rated at 8*l.*

12,090. What rent do you pay?—I may say it is my own in a great measure; I do not pay any rent in particular.

12,091. Is it your own house?—Yes; I suppose it is; it belongs to the family.

12,092. (The Chief Commissioner.) I want to ask you, were you put on Mr. Gower's committee?—Oh, no; I believe not; I do not recollect anything at all about it.

12,093. About what?—My name was not there, I believe.

T. Bradford.

THOMAS BRADFORD called, sworn, and examined.

12,094. (The Chief Commissioner.) Bradford, what are you?—An agricultural man.

12,095. A labourer?—Yes.

12,096. What rent do you pay for your house?—5*l.* 17*s.* a year.

12,097. What rent were you paying in 1865, the same?—Yes; I have been there 19 years.

12,098. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who is your landlord?—Widow Ede; I do not know what her Christian name is.

12,099. (The Chief Commissioner.) What is your house worth by the year?—I cannot say.

12,100. Is it worth more than 5*l.* 17*s.*, or is that the fair value of it?—It is worth more, according as houses are asked.

12,101. How much more?—I cannot say, I am not a valuer.

12,102. Do you remember the election of 1865?—Yes, I suppose so.

12,103. You voted, did you not?—Yes.

12,104. Then there can be no difficulty in recollecting it?—I know I voted.

12,105. Then tell me, whom did you vote for?—For Mr. Gower.

12,106. Were you canvassed first of all by Mr. Gower?—Yes, that I was.

12,107. You did not promise at first, I think?—I never promised anybody else.

12,108. Didn't you; we shall see. Were you canvassed by Mr. Monson's party?—I was not.

12,109. Did Mr. Monson call on you?—Yes; I think there was somebody came to me, but I never promised him.

12,110. Were you canvassed for Mr. Monson; that is my question?—Oh, no! oh, no!

12,111. Who came to you for Mr. Monson; I want the name?—It is so long ago, I forget.

12,112. I am talking of the election of last year, that is not long ago at all?—I do not remember that any one came to me.

12,113. I have no doubt about somebody coming to you; I want to know who it was?—I do not think anybody did.

12,114. We shall see, perhaps. Who came to you from Mr. Gower?—It was down in a field I saw him.

12,115. I want his name?—I cannot think of his name now.

12,116. I dare say you will by-and-by?—It was Mr. Durrant.

12,117. You see you can recollect who it was that called upon you for Mr. Gower. Now, see if you cannot recollect who it was that called upon you for Mr. Monson?—I do no remember that any one did.

12,118. But you were spoken to about Mr. Monson?—I may, perhaps; very likely; I do not remember that.

12,119. Why do you not remember one as well as the other; does it not strike you as rather odd that you can remember one and not the other? Did you know any of Mr. Monson's friends?—No, I did not.

12,120. You never heard of any of Mr. Monson's friends?—I knew people were troubling themselves on the other side.

12,121. Who were they?—That I do not know; I did not trouble myself at all about it.

12,122. Only answer the question. Who were troubling themselves for Mr. Monson that you knew? Did you know any man named Apted?—Yes; I believe he was one.

12,123. What is his Christian name; is it James Apted?—James Apted.

12,124. Did you know Holdsworth?—Oh, yes.

12,125. Did you know anybody else that troubled themselves for Mr. Monson?—I do not know the names, not now.

12,126. Did Holdsworth call on you?—Not while I was at home; whether he did or not I cannot say.

12,127. Did Apted call on you?—No; not when I was at home.

12,128. Did you hear that anybody called at your house? Are you married?—Yes.

12,129. Did your wife tell you that anybody had been calling?—She did not tell me of anybody at all.

12,130. Did anybody?—No.

12,131. We will now go back to Mr. Gower's party. Do you know Frederick Joyes?—Yes.

12,132. Did he call upon you for Mr. Gower?—No.

12,133. Did you meet him?—I dare say I have seen him a great many times at the time, but I never thought anything about him.

12,134. At the time of the election you called on him several times?—No; I never called on him.

12,135. Then I am wrong. You saw him several times about the time of the election?—I saw him, I dare say.

12,136. Did you have any talk with him about the election?—No, nothing particular; only passed a word or two, perhaps.

12,137. About what; about the election?—No; I do not know anything particular about that; I cannot remember exactly; I have not got anything to say.

12,138. That is exactly the reason why I am helping you by questions. We shall see by-and-by whether we succeed or you. Did Frederick Joyes speak to you about your vote?—No.

12,139. Not a word?—I do not remember. To the best of my recollection he never said anything about a vote.

12,140. To whom did you promise your vote?—Mr. Gower.

12,141. Himself?—No.

12,142. That is the very thing I am asking you about; to whom did you promise your vote?—I promised it to Mr. Gower.

12,143. Did you see Mr. Gower?—No, I do not think I did.

12,144. Then you could not have promised Mr. Gower that you would give him your vote?—No.

12,145. To whom then did you promise that you would give Mr. Gower your vote?—Mr. Durrant.

12,146. What is his Christian name?—David, I think, but I am not sure.

12,147. Where did Durrant talk to you about it?—At my house.

12,148. Did he call on you at your house?—Yes.

12,149. Did he ask you to vote for Gower?—Yes.

12,150. Did you say you would?—I told him I would consider upon it.

12,151. Now we shall get it perhaps, did you consider?—Yes.

12,152. For how long?—When he saw me again I told him I would.

12,153. How soon afterwards?—I cannot say.

12,154. About how long?—A week or so perhaps.

12,155. Can you tell me before the election how long that was, when you said you would vote for Gower?—I do not know.

12,156. About how long, a fortnight?—A fortnight or three weeks.

12,157. What did you say to him?—Nothing, only that I should vote for Mr. Gower.

12,158. What did he say?—He said, "Very well, "I shall depend on you then."

12,159. Was anything said about putting your name on the committee?—No.

12,160. Was your name put on the committee?—Not that I know of.

12,161. You did not hear anything about it?—No.

12,162. Did you take some bills about?—No.

12,163. Did he ask you?—Yes, he asked me.

12,164. He said, "You'll be wanted to take some "bills about"?—Yes.

12,165. And did you say "Very well"?—I said, "Very well, I'll see about it," but I did not take any.

12,166. That is what I am coming to. You did not take any bills about I believe?—No.

12,167. What else did he say when he said you would take bills about if it was wanted?—He said he would satisfy me if I did so, but I did not take any.

12,168. And did you say "All right," or something like that, and agree with him?—Yes, I said I would give him my vote.

12,169. And you did give your vote?—I did give my vote.

12,170. Before the election did Durrant give you any satisfaction?—No.

12,171. Did he not give you any money?—No.

12,172. It was afterwards, was it?—Yes.

12,173. How long after?—About a week I should think.

12,174. What was it he gave you?—2l.

12,175. You see it has come out now?—It is true.

12,176. Did you you get more than 2l.?—No.

12,177. You were satisfied with the 2l.?—Oh, yes, I was satisfied enough.

12,178. Were you expecting any more?—If the gentleman liked to do it, but they never promised me any more.

12,179. I know; but were you expecting a little more?—No, not at all.

12,180. When he told you he would give you satisfaction for what you did, in the first instance, what did you expect to get?—I don't expect anything particular; he gave me what he pleased.

12,181. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

12,182. Whom did you vote for in 1863?—Mr. Gower.

12,183. Who talked to you then about your vote?—Mr. Gower.

12,184. No, no; you did not know Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower came to me.

12,185. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) In 1863?—At the time I know he did.

12,186. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1863 whom did you promise your vote to?—I promised Mr. Gower and I gave it to him.

12,187. Never mind the giving it to him, was it to him that you promised?—No.

12,188. That is what I want to get at?—I do not think I did; he spoke to me about it.

12,189. Who was the person you promised, was that Durrant?—Yes.

12,190. Durrant again, and what did Durrant promise you in 1863?—He gave me the same.

12,191. I suppose you did for Durrant and the party much about the same in 1863 as you did in 1865?—There was not much difference I reckon.

12,192. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then did Durrant give you 2l. in 1863?—Yes.

12,193. Before or after voting?—After.

12,194. Soon after?—Yes, a little while.

12,195. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me, had you voted at previous elections, had you voted in 1859, when Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson stood, the Hon. Mr. Monson, afterwards Lord Monson?—Yes, I think I did.

12,196. That was a general election; whom did you vote for then?—I voted for Mr. Monson once.

12,197. Was that in 1859, can you recollect?—I do not know.

12,198. Do you recollect who was on the other side when you voted for Mr. Monson?—No, I do not.

12,199. How many times before 1863 had you voted?—I can't say.

12,200. Are you able to tell me at how many elections you have voted in your life?—No, I cannot.

12,201. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Or for elections at Reigate; how many times for Reigate?—I do not know, I cannot give an account.

12,202. (The Chief Commissioner.) How long have you been a voter?—Well, I don't know, I cannot say now.

12,203. How long have you been at Reigate?—I have been at Reigate a good many years, I have been in this house 19 years.

12,204. Have you voted at every election since you have been at Reigate?—No.

12,205. Can you tell me how long you have been a voter?—No, I cannot.

12,206. Have you been a voter these ten years?—Yes, I think I have.

12,207. Rather more?—Very likely I may; I can't say.

12,208. Have you voted at every election at Reigate since you have been a voter?—No, I have not.

12,209. How is that; if you were a voter, why did you not vote?—Why? Because I did not choose to.

12,210. I want you to tell me honestly why you have not voted every time?—It did not suit, I could not get away every time.

12,211. I want to know why it did not suit you?—For no particular reason.

12,212. You have voted latterly, why did you not vote at all the elections?—If I liked to I might.

12,213. But why did you not like?—I say I had no particular reason; for want of time, perhaps.

12,214. Can you tell me how many elections you have voted at?—I do not know.

12,215. We have got three, you know, we have got 1865 and 1863 and we have got the general election

EIGHTH DAY.

T. Bradford.

30 Aug. 1866.

of 1859, between Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson, did you vote before that?—I do not know.

12,216. Do you remember Mr. Doulton being down here?—No.

12,217. That was early in 1858?—I do not remember that.

12,218. Do you not remember Mr. Doulton and Sir Henry Rawlinson?—I remember a little talk about Rawlinson.

12,219. Did you vote that time when he was up?—No.

12,220. Have you ever voted without getting some money for work you have done?—Oh, yes.

12,221. When?—Two or three times.

12,222. I beg your pardon, because we have only got three votes, and you got money for two of them. Have you ever voted without getting some money, I do not say for your vote, but for your services?—Yes, I can say that I did not get any.

12,223. When?—That I do not know, nor how long ago; I cannot say; I do not think about these things.

12,224. When you voted for Mr. Monson in 1859, how much did you get then?—Nothing at all.

12,225. Yes, I beg your pardon?—I did not, I take my solemn oath.

12,226. Then I am mistaken; you will take your solemn oath?—That I will.

12,227. You did not get it before or after?—No, not from Mr. Monson I did'nt, not a halfpenny.

12,228. Were you promised some?—No.

12,229. Now mark! were you promised some and were you disappointed?—I was not promised any.

12,230. Were you expecting some, and were you disappointed?—No, I was not disappointed at all; I did not expect any.

12,231. Had you done nothing for Mr. Monson, not worked for him?—No.

12,232. Not for Apted?—No.

12,233. He came to you and asked you himself I suppose?—I do not remember whether he did or not; I worked for Mr. Nash, and he came to me and asked me to vote.

12,234. Is that Mr. John Nash?—Mr. John Nash.

12,235. Is he here?—I do not know.

12,236. Was he an agent for Mr. Monson?—I know he wished me to vote for him, and I did so.

12,237. Were you in his employ?—Under his employ.

12,238. Had you any arrangement with Mr. Nash?—No.

12,239. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You pay 5*l.* 17*s.* rent?—Yes.

12,240. How long have you paid that same rental?—Nineteen years come Michaelmas.

12,241. Do you think your house is worth 10*l.* a year; would you be willing to pay it; suppose they asked you 10*l.* a year, would you pay it?—I could not pay it, that I could not.

12,242. On the first occasion that Durrant canvassed you you said you would consider. You knew Mr. Gower, because you voted for him in 1863?—Yes.

12,243. Having voted for him in 1863, and knowing Mr. Gower, why did you not at once promise Mr. Durrant that you would vote for Mr. Gower; what were you going to consider?—Nothing particular that I know; I thought I should not vote at all, I said I should not, I told them I should not.

12,244. Were you dissatisfied with the party and their politics?—No, I would rather not have voted; I told them so.

12,245. Had you ever considered the political principles of Mr. Durrant at all?—No.

12,246. Or Mr. Monson's?—Oh no; I said I would wait and see.

12,247. Did you care anything at all about politics?—No.

12,248. Did Mr. Durrant on the first occasion say anything about your taking circulars round?—Yes, he mentioned it.

12,249. When he first canvassed you?—Yes.

12,250. Did he make you any offer that you would be paid for it, on the first occasion?—He said if I took anything round he would pay me for it.

12,251. Was that the first occasion of his canvassing you?—Yes.

12,252. He paid you 2*l.* at the election of 1863; why did you not close with Mr. Durrant on the last occasion when he first asked you for your vote, did he not tell you you should be on the same terms?—That is right.

12,253. As in 1863?—Yes.

12,254. Was that on the first occasion or the second, you know you saw him twice?—I did.

12,256. If on the first occasion he offered to pay you the same as in 1863, why did you not agree with him?—I said I didn't think I should vote at all; that was the reason.

12,257. Now, when you said you thought you would not vote at all, did Mr. Durrant still continue to offer you the work of carrying circulars round?—No, he said nothing about it.

12,258. He walked away then, when you said you would not vote at all?—Yes.

12,259. And dropped the circulars?—Yes.

12,260. How soon after that was it that Mr. Durrant came to you again, a few days?—A few days.

12,261. Did he make the same offer to you again?—Yes.

12,262. The same terms as in 1863, 2*l.* and the vote?—Yes.

12,263. You promised him the vote then?—Yes, I did.

12,264. And you got your 2*l.*?—Yes.

J. Comber.

JOHN COMBER was called sworn, and examined

12,265. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you, Comber?—I am milkman and cowkeeper.

12,266. What rent do you pay?—6*s.* a week.

12,267. Who is your landlord. Mr. Green.

12,268. Henry Green?—Yes.

12,269. How long have you been a tenant of Henry, Green?—I cannot say exactly within a year.

12,270. For some years?—Eight or ten years, perhaps a year longer.

12,271. Whom did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

12,272. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes, for Mr. Wilkinson.

12,273. Mr. Gower was a candidate then, was he not?—Yes, Gower and Wilkinson.

12,274. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien) And you voted for Wilkinson?—Yes.

12,275. (Mr. Commissioner Smith) Do you recollect which side Green voted for at that election?—Mr. Gower.

12,276. Had you voted before that?—Oh, yes.

12,277. In 1859 it was Monson and Wilkinson you know. Do you recollect whom you voted for then,—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

12,278. I am asking you about the election in 1859, when the Hon. Mr. Monson was a candidate and Mr. Wilkinson. Did you vote for Monson or Wilkinson?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson. I don't think I voted for Mr. Wilkinson only but once, when I come to think about it.

12,279. Then in 1859 you might have voted for Monson?—No, I did not.

12,280. Did you vote at all in 1859? The Hon. Mr. Monson was a candidate, and Mr. Wilkinson?—Oh, yes, I recollect now. Yes, I did. I think it was in 1859.

12,281. Did you vote for Mr. Monson then? I think you said you had only voted for Mr. Wilkinson once?—That is quite right.

12,282. Did you vote at the election of 1859?—For Mr. Monson.

12,283. That was so I am told; you did vote for Monson?—Yes.

12,284. Did you vote at the general election in 1589, when Rawlinson and Doulton, the Hon. Mr. Monson, Wilkinson, Waters, and James were down here; the great election of 1858?—I remember it, but I did not vote for Mr. Doulton.

12,285. Whom did you vote for at that time?—I never voted at all.

12,286. Were you asked to vote?—Yes.

12,287. Who asked you to vote?—I was asked by Mr. Doulton.

12,288. Did you promise him?—I do not know that I did.

12,289. Did Doulton offer you any money?—The reason I didn't vote at that time was, I'm a milkman, and I go about to gentlemen's houses with milk, and I heard a something.

12,290. Did you hear that they were going to take away their custom for milk from you?—I heard somewhat similar to that.

12,291. Whom did you hear that from?—I can mention one gentleman.

12,292. Mention him?—No, not at that time it was not, when I come to recollect.

12,293. First mention the name, and then we will take the time. Give me the name, that is the most important?—Why, I don't know that I can mention any one's name. I went by what other people said about it.

12,294. What did other people say?—Other persons, said, "If you didn't vote so and so, don't vote "at all." It took great effect in that way.

12,295. Yes, but in all that long answer you didn't mention the name?—I will tell you, I will not give you any particular statement upon it. It was the last time I voted. The gentleman on the top of the hill, just against the mayor's, he said he didn't want me to call with any more milk. That is Capt. Swann; but I don't think he was hardly right in his head.

12,296. Did you receive any money at that election in 1858, or any promise of money?—No, not a farthing.

12,297. Did Doulton canvass you?—Yes, Mr. Doulton and Mr. Featherstone.

12,298. Were you on Doulton's committee?—No.

12,299. Was that your only reason for not voting on that occasion. You were afraid of losing Capt. Swann's custom in milk?—I voted then, because that was not at Doulton's time.

12,300. You were going to give me some reason why you did not vote in Doulton's time?—I told you I went by what other people said. There was a little intimidation about.

12,301. Was that intimidation on Doulton's side?—Well, I don't know that. It might be; Doulton might be a very good man. Of course I was told this.

12,302. Which side did you hear say was intimidating?—I do not know the man, not now.

12,303. You can tell me which side the man was going to vote. You knew him as an active agent belonging to one of the parties?—I do not know that he was agent for any one. I cannot exactly mention the gentleman's name.

12,304. Never mind about his name. Can you recollect on which side he was interesting himself?—I can't.

12,305. Was he acting for Mr. Monson?—No, I believe not.

12,306. Was he acting for Sir Henry Rawlinson?—No; perhaps he was quite an independent voter, that is, no voter at all in the place. I have been told of this when I have been perhaps miles away from the parish altogether.

12,307. And you do not know for whom he was acting?—No, I do not.

12,308. Was that your only reason for not voting for Mr. Doulton?—That was my only reason.

12,309. Were you not offered money by one side or the other not to vote?—None, not a farthing.

12,310. Or to vote?—No.

12,311. Not offered any money by Monson's party in 1858?—None.

12,312. Or by Sir Henry Rawlinson's?—No.

12,313. You are quite certain of that?—Quite certain.

12,314. Now let us come to the present election and see whether you recollect anything about that. You voted for Gower?—I voted for Gower the last time, and I did vote for Mr. Hackblock.

12,315. You did vote for Mr. Hackblock?—Yes, I believe that was the first time I voted.

12,316. Did you receive any money for voting for Mr. Hackblock?—No, I didn't.

12,317. Or any promise?—No, none. All I received when I came up in this room was "much "obliged," and a shaking hands.

12,318. But you had no promise of money at that election when Mr. Hackblock was a candidate?—None.

12,319. Now let us try 1865?—The last election you are now upon.

12,320. Yes, the last election. I see you want to be a little careful. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower at this last election of 1865?—Mr. Gower himself.

12,321. Who was with Mr. Gower when you promised him? or did you promise him then?—I did promise him when he called upon me the first time.

12,322. You voted against him in 1863?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

12,323. Against Mr. Gower?—Right.

12,324. Who was with Mr. Gower when you promised him your vote?—Mr. Webb.

12,325. Were those two gentlemen alone, or was there anybody with them?—I think, from what I can recollect, to the best of my recollection, that Mr. Webb's son was along with him.

12,326. Was Job Apted with them?—No.

12,327. You promised at once, did you?—I promised at once, as soon as he came.

12,328. You did not hesitate about the matter?—Not a bit. I didn't want gentlemen to be calling at my house every day; I didn't want to be worried about it every day.

12,329. Were you asked to go upon Mr. Gower's committee?—Well, I believe I was. I was asked to do so.

12,330. They wanted to get you; your name would be very valuable on the committee if you promised immediately. Who was it asked you to go on the committee?—Mr. Gower.

12,331. Had you told Mr. Gower you would go on the committee?—I said, "No, sir, I would rather "not."

12,332. Was your name put on the committee?—No, I believe not; not by my orders.

12,333. Did you see anybody else who asked you to go on the committee?—No, I never saw any one else.

12,334. Then do I understand you to say that Mr. Gower, and Mr. Webb, and his son were the only three persons you had seen with reference to your vote?—I was going to tell you just now. Mr. Smith, I think, was present at the time; I believe these were the only four.

12,335. Did Mr. Smith ask you to go on the committee?—No.

12,336. To whom was it you said you would rather not go on the committee, to Mr. Gower himself?—Yes.

12,337. Did nobody else come to you after that to ask you about going on the committee, or working for Mr. Gower?—Well, Mr. Gower did say to me, when he stood talking to me he said, "I should like you to "go on the committee, and I should very much like "for you to work for me."

12,338. Mr. Gower said that?—Yes.

EIGHTH DAY.

J. Comber.

30 Aug. 1866.

12,339. Did Mr. Gower tell you what work he wanted you to do?—No.

12,340. After that did you see——

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did you say to that?

12,341. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What did you say to that?—I said, "I know you've been in the "House," and I believe I said, "I don't see myself "that we want to send schoolboys there every day." I said, "You are a tried man, as you have been "there," and I said, "I don't think we can send a "better gentleman."

12,342. Was there anybody else? Did Henry Green come to you and ask you anything about the election?—Yes, he did.

12,343. First of all let me have your version of that interview with Mr. Green?—Well, he said I was to do what I could; that is, of course, to get all the voters I could. Of course I worked and did all I could. I had a brother or two, and I worked among them and other friends that I was acquainted with; and, of course, if I could not get them to poll I was not to be blamed for that. I tried my best.

12,344. You tried your best, and if you did not get them you were not to be blamed?—That is quite right.

12,345. Did that take you much time to canvass those people?—Well, sir, of course I worked about. I have a great deal more time upon my hand than what most persons, because my work lay chiefly of a morning and an evening.

12,346. Then you worked about among those peeple that you knew?—Yes, particular friends that I associate with.

12,347. How long before the election?

12,348. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How many weeks?—Either three weeks or a month; I will not be positive. That is the outside time, a month is.

12,349. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Of course Green said if you did that you would be paid for your work?—You are right, sir.

12,350. Did Green tell you what you were to be paid?—No; no promise was made; none.

12,351. Nor to be paid 1*l.* a week?—Oh no! no! no!

12,352. Was there any sign made by Green as to what you were to be paid?—Not in the least.

12,353. He did not hold up his hand and show the five fingers?—No.

12,354. Or just tap you in the palm of the hand four or five taps?—No.

12,355. No little signs of that sort?—Not in the least.

12,356. Or nod his head five times, eh?—No.

12,357. He was "mum" upon that, as to what you were to be paid?—Well, we had no interview of anything of that sort, nor of money matters.

12,358. Only you were to get something for your work; it was indefinite then?—Of course every man that works has a right to be paid.

12,359. You voted for Gower?—Yes.

12,360. After the election did you see Green?—After we had polled do you mean?

12,361. Yes, after you had polled?—Well, I might have seen him, but not to have anything to say to him.

12,362. You did not ask him for your remuneration for the work that you had done?—No; I will be on my oath on that.

12,363. Very well. You did not succeed in getting those voters that you asked?—Well, I believe I had a brother.

12,364. Be good enough to give me the names of those gentlemen that you canvassed. You said four or five. One is your brother. What is your brother's Christian name?—I believe it was my brother Ted.

12,365. Commonly called Edward?—Yes, that is it.

12,366. Now give me another?—I got four besides myself. I spoke to them all. I recollect now perfectly well. I believe that two voted for Mr. Monson. I voted for Mr. Gower, and one more voted for Mr. Gower.

12,367. Your brother Edward, whom did he vote for?—He voted for Mr. Gower; so did I.

12,368. Now give me the two that voted for Monson?—My brother George.

12,369. Who was the other?—William.

12,370. Another brother?—Yes.

12,371. And yourself the fourth?—That's it.

12,372. Then that was the work you did; you canvassed your three brothers?—I worked among other friends as well; I worked the same for them.

12,373. But more particularly your work lay in canvassing the three brothers, Edward, George, and William?—Well, I don't know about that; I worked among my friends as well.

12,374. How many friends did you work among?—Well, I dare say to put them together I may be acquainted, perhaps, with ten or a dozen more.

12,375. Did you canvass the whole ten or dozen?—No; I believe some went one way and some another.

12,376. Can you give me the names of any one of the 10 or 12 that you canvassed by asking for a vote? I do not mean by canvassing securing a vote. When I say canvassing, I mean asking to vote. Can you give the names of any of those 10 or 12 that you asked to vote for Mr. Gower?—I don't think I can.

12,377. Did you ask your brothers Edward, George, and William to come on the committee and work for Mr. Gower?—I didn't ask them to come on the committee, I asked them to come and work for him.

12,378. Did you tell them that if they came to work for Mr. Gower they would be paid like the others for their work?—No, I did not.

12,379. It was pretty well understood that everybody who worked would be paid?—Well, those who worked expected to be paid. I was not an idle one.

12,380. Then you did not consider yourself an idle one?—No, not in the least.

12,381. Not thinking yourself an idle one, of course you expected to be paid?—You are right, sir.

12,382. Now, if you expected to be paid, how much did you expect to get?—Well, I could not say, because there was no limited sum mentioned.

12,383. You would have been satisfied with 5*l.*?—Well, that would have been rather more than what I thought I should have earned.

12,384. If they had given you 5*l.* you would not have refused it?—Well, I don't know.

12,385. Or 2*l.* 10*s.*?—That would look more like business.

12,386. Then you really did it as a matter of business?—Yes.

12,387. Did you get 2*l.* 10*s.*?—I did.

12,388. Who paid you?—Mr. Green.

12,389. Henry Green?—Yes.

12,390. Was that after the election?—Yes.

12,391. Did you apply for the 2*l.* 10*s.*? Did you apply for any money to Green?—No.

12,392. Did he come and pay you?—Yes.

12,393. Was anybody with you when Green paid you?—Yes, I believe there was.

12,394. Who?—My wife.

12,395. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Your brother Ned got 2*l.* 10*s.*

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Edward get anything?—I do not know, sir. I will not be answerable for him.

12,396. If Mr. Green should say he did not give you 2*l.* 10*s.* I suppose your wife will come here and say she saw you paid?—Oh, yes, sir.

12,397. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Your wife was there when you got the money?—Yes. You'll excuse me for speaking. I didn't have the money, not the day before the poll, it was six months after that.

12,398. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) In October or September?—It might have been in January or February; I can scarcely say which.

12,399. About six months after?—Yes.

12,400. Now when you canvassed George and William, did they tell you that they had promised Mr. Monson?—They said they had partly promised him.

12,401. Did they give any reason why they were going to vote for Monson?—Not in the least; not to me.

12,402. They did not tell you they had received money from Monson, or had been promised money on the part of Monson?—Not at all.

12,403. Did Mr. Green tell you that any person you asked for a vote you might tell them that if they voted for Gower they would be paid, or if they worked for Gower they would be paid like the other men?—Nothing said of the sort.

12,404. Not by Green?—No.

12,405. He only said so to you?—Well.

12,406. I thought he might have given you some authority to persuade the others to come over?—No, not in the least. None whatever.

12,407. Do you know John Mulley?—The milkman?—Yes.

12,408. A brother milkman?—Yes; quite right.

12,409. Is he in partnership with you?—No.

12,410. He does not interfere with your interest?—Not in the least.

12,411. I suppose you are very good friends?—Very good indeed. If he has got a gallon of milk and I want it, he will let me have it.

12,412. Whom did he vote for?—Mr. Gower, I believe.

12,413. Did he ask you about voting, or say anything to you about voting?—Yes, I believe he did. He said, "I hope you won't run away from Mr. "Gower," or something like that.

12,414. Did he tell you anything at all about being remunerated for your work?—None whatever.

12,415. Did he tell you that he was going to be remunerated?—Not a word was said.

12,416. Did he tell you he was working for Gower?—No; I believe that was not spoken.

12,417. (The Chief Commissioner.) You tell us Mr. Mulley said he hoped you were not going to run away from Mr. Gower?—Mr. Mulley said so.

12,418. You told my friend here just this instant that he said he hoped you were not going to run away from Mr. Gower?—Well, he asked me. I do not know as I said anything about running away.

12,419. Is it your own expression; you can correct it if you like. Mulley said to you he hoped you would not run away from Mr. Gower. It was your own expression?—He did ask me about sticking to Gower certainly.

12,420. If he did not say "running away," did he say "I hope you will stick to Mr. Gower"?—Some similar words.

12,421. What I wanted to know was this: just a short time before that he had seen you with some of the Monson people or some of the Monson people with you?—Very likely he might have done.

12,422. Now, who was it that you had had one interview with on behalf of the Monson people?—Nobody about the election, because I promised my vote to Mr. Gower.

12,423. I know you did; but I want you to tell who of Monson's party you had been with? I dare say you can recollect?—I can't. No; I can't.

12,424. You said just now, you dare say he had seen you with some of Monson's people?—Very likely he might. He might have seen me pass in the road.

12,425. No, no; talking with them, I mean?—Well, I believe that I could mention one man that very much pressed me.

12,426. That is the very thing I want to know?—No.

12,427. Who was it?—I do not know that he came on purpose, because we merely met.

12,428. Will you tell me who it was?—It was Mr. Brown.

12,429. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is that Mr. James Brown?—No, Mr. Stephen Brown.

12,430. Does he keep a public house?—He keeps a public house and cows.

12,431. (The Chief Commissioner.) The "White Lion," is it not?—Yes.

12,432. How soon before that had Stephen Brown been with you? I will not trouble you to a day or two?—About the polling day.

12,433. How many days before the polling day?—I should expect it was about a week or ten days.

12,434. He pressed you a good deal. Tell me, what did he say?—He said, "You had better come over "my side; we shall be safe to win." I said to him, "We shall see whether you win or not, we shall see "that tested out."

12,435. I am anxious to get what passed between you and Brown. I would rather get it from you, if you will be kind enough to help me?—I do not think there was anything else.

12,436. Was there any reason given why you should go over to Monson's party?—I do not know what reasons there were.

12,437. Did he not say something?—He did say something.

12,438. That is what I want to know. I would rather have it from you than put it into your mouth. Tell it in your own way?—Well, in a romance he did say, "If you get up into other parties' traps I'll "turn you over."

12,439. Tell me what he meant by that—what you understood him to mean?—I will tell you as plainly as I can; I did'nt mean any harm at the time.

12,440. No, we know that. It is only a "romance," you know?—That is all.

12,441. Just go on with the story. What did he mean by that?—I do not know; no particular meaning; no further than what I told you.

12,442. What did you understand him to mean?—He might not be very first-rate, because he could not get me over to the other side.

12,443. And he didn't get you over; you were staunch?—Yes.

12,444. There is no imputation upon you. How did he try? He did'nt succeed?—No.

12,445. How did he try you? You say he pressed you a good deal?—Well, I never went into his house that morning, I'll be upon my oath. I was going up the street, and I merely meets with him. He's a man that I know. We passed the time of the day to one another. We are very good friends.

12,446. That was the beginning of it. Then he got on to the election, and about your getting into other parties' traps, you know. Just tell us what else he said?—He did say candidly what I have told you. He said if I was to get into other parties' traps he would turn me over. Of course I laughed at that.

12,447. I am not quite so bright as you were; I do not quite exactly see what he meant by that; I want you to tell me?—I think, sir, you can see.

12,448. Well, I do not think I see so sharp as you do quite. Just give me a little information about that?—I do not know, only he said so.

12,449. What did he mean?—He meant he could not exactly bring me over the other side.

12,450. You say he said he should throw you over?—We very often romance with one another.

12,451. But most romance is founded on some probability?—None whatsomever.

12,452. No, he had no pull upon you, but what did you understand him to mean? He was not to say anything unpleasant along your milk-walk, or anything of that sort. What did he mean by throwing you over?—Well, the only reason I have got for it is, because it was he found I had given my vote to Mr. Gower, and he could not turn me.

12,453. What did he say to turn you besides that?—I do not know that he said anything.

12,454. Did he say, "It will be worth your while," something like that?—There was nothing said; I will take my oath upon that.

EIGHTH DAY

12,455. I want to find out what was said. Did he say it would be worth your while?—No.

12,456. I do not mean in those words. Look here, you gave me credit for understanding you, and so I will give you credit for understanding me; you know what I mean?—I do, sir.

12,457. Did not he say something that meant that?—Nothing like that.

12,458. Did not he say something which might have meant that?—No.

12,459. Supposing you had gone over quietly and voted with him, don't you think it would have been all right?—I should not think, sir, I could come here and kiss the book to do like that.

12,460. You would have expected it to be made all right?—I would rather trust it to Mr. Green.

12,461. Would not you have expected, if you had gone over, Stephen Brown would have reported you to the proper place, and they would not have forgotten you?—I should have been rather doubtful about that.

12,462. What I want to know is, I am not doubting your honesty, but did not you think Stephen Brown meant that?—Well, sir, he might mean it, but the question is whether he would do it or not; he would like his own pocket too well.

12,463. Do not you think he meant you to understand that?—Perhaps he did.

12,464. I want you to say whether or not you believe he did?—Well, he might possibly, but still I did not take the hint.

12,465. Do not misunderstand me, I never hinted you did; I am talking about Brown, not about you. Did not you think Brown meant that sort of hint that you would not be forgotten?—Well, I do not know what his thoughts might be at the time; I know what mine was.

12,466. What did you think?—I thought as I had promised I would stick to Mr. Gower.

12,467. Just answer me this question, aye or no; did he promise you any sum of money?—Not in the least.

12,468. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Or hint that you might have some?—Not in the least.

12,469. You know what an electioneering hint is?—I know what it is perfectly well, but there was nothing of that sort passed.

12,470. (The Chief Commissioner.) You have told me you received after the election 2*l.* 10*s.* from Green in 1865?—Quite right.

12,471. Did you receive anything for work you did in the election of 1863? You voted for Wilkinson in that election of 1863, and I dare say you did your best for him?—Yes.

12,472. Probably you canvassed your brothers then if they had votes; had they?—Yes.

12,473. Did you receive something for the work you did? A man is generally paid for his work, you know?—I done all I could, and I believe, to speak the truth about it, I had one sovereign.

12,474. Who was that from?—From Mr. Wesley, the builder.

12,475. That was after you voted?—Yes, after the election.

12,476. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you do any work for him?—Yes, I canvassed in the same way.

12,477. Your brothers?—And other friends besides them.

12,478. You did not go beyond your personal friends for the sovereign?—Well, I not know as I did.

12,479. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you set to work about canvassing and doing what you did on an agreement that 1*l.* was to be paid you, or was no sum mentioned?—None at all.

12,480. You did not know what you were to be paid?—I know I was not canvassing so long at that time as I was in Mr. Gower's time.

12,481. Before you set to work you did not know what you were to be paid in 1863?—No, sir, nothing was said about it.

12,482. You have voted at a previous election, in 1859, when Lord Monson and Mr. Wilkinson were opponents; do not you recollect you voted for Lord Monson?—For the present lord that is in the House of Lords now; I did so.

12,483. Did you work for him too?—No, sir.

12,484. Not at all?—No.

12,485. Did not you canvass?—No.

12,486. Were you on his committee, do you recollect?—I cannot recollect.

12,487. Do you think you were?—I won't say, not to be positive.

12,488. Did you receive something for your work?—No, sir, because I did not work.

12,489. Did you receive something on that occasion after the election?—No, sir, not one halfpenny.

12,490. Were you promised something?—No, sir.

12,491. Was that altogether for love?—All that was all gone away.

12,492. What do you mean by that?—Why, the money.

12,493. Before you got it?—I never did get it.

12,494. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You mean it was all spent before you asked for it?—Well, I will give you a reason presently.

12,495. Give it us now before you forget?—I have an objection against voting at all for a man; well and why is it? I think, myself, electioneering is very well when it is carried on perfectly right, but of course a man has other work and so on to attend to.

12,496. What do you consider being carried on all right?—Why, for every man to be honest.

12,497. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1859 was there something that you were expecting when you voted for Lord Monson?—Do I think it was carried on all right?

12,498. Yes?—I believe, for what I can say, it was.

12,499. Now, will you be kind enough to tell me that bit more that you were going to let out about the election?—Many other persons perhaps might know; I was drove here at about five minutes before four in the time of Lord Monson; then of course I had a very limited sum by being drove here so very late. It was reported so. It was said I had 50*l.* that time, but I never got it, sir.

12,500. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you to have it?—Never was promised one halfpenny.

12,501. Because you told me just now the money was all gone?—I do not know whether there was any about or not.

12,502. (The Chief Commissioner.) Where did they find you so late, just five minutes before four?—I had a reason for not voting. I never promised ne'er a one. They went from here up to the old church; one road runs the way to Redhill, and one road takes you to Wray-common; they were on hunt for me, which of course they were very much drove for a man, or they would not run after him like that. I were just been and milked the cows, and I got out and I had a quiet walk, and I got out in the fields instead of being seen about the place. I had not got my time in my pocket, and I happened to start a little too soon, and of course the time was getting on, the gentlemen wanted their milk. As I were travelling through a field that I rented of Captain Ingram at the time; the gentleman is not here now; a very nice gentleman, that I respect very much; I do sir, though I never received one halfpenny from him.

12,503. So far I am believing all you tell me, so why not go on?—A very nice gentleman. There is a road runs by this field, sir; as I was going along, I got I suppose about half way down the field, Mr. Surgey who lived at Wray-common; he stops his gig, and there were a lot more; he jumps the hedge, sir, hands over head, from the road over into the field. He says, "Ay, we will have you now, my nobs;" so I says, "What am I going to do with the milk?" He says, "Well, look," he says, "I will send word home to "your wife to come and fetch it; set it down, she "will know were it is." So I set it down under a hedge, of course I could not say no, because I did like the gentleman, because he was a good gentleman and I come here along with him. The gentleman is not here, mind, now.

12,504. Where is he now? Gone away?—He is gone away, sir; I do not know exactly the name of the place; he left Wray-common.

12,505. Never mind, the truth won't hurt him?—There wern't no bunch of "fives."

12,506. Nothing passed, but you had to get over the hedge, and you had something to do before you got into the trap; he did not get you over the hedge for nothing?—Well, sir, I will be put upon my oath for that.

12,507. Nothing said all the way into the town?—No further than we drove very hard, sir.

12,508. Nothing said about money?—The horses' shoes struck fire with the flints very much.

12,509. Nothing at all said?—No.

12,510. Did not you think something was due for all that?—No.

12,511. Nothing passed?—Not the least; not in the shape of coin.

12,512. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) In the shape of anything else? in the promise of a new milk-walk?—No.

12,513. (The Chief Commissioner.) Then it seems to me I have rather been running on a false scent; you have rather been leading me on a false scent?—Perhaps I have sir, on that.

12,514. Don't you think you owe it to me to tell me something else that is a little more interesting to finish up with?—I won't say which time it were, whether it was that time, or the time before, but the same gentleman went to my house, my wife she went out, because she was worried very much and so on with the people, and locked up the house.

12,515. Mind, you are not to deceive me this time?—I shall in one way, sir.

12,516. Well, now, go on, I trust to you?—He come there; of course he could not be exactly satisfied what the other people told him in the neighbourhood, that I wern't about. He got his knife and put the sash on one side, and got in the house, and searched the house.

12,517. For you?—Yes.

12,518. Did he find you?—No, sir.

12,519. Is that all?—That is all.

12,520. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You said upon that election when Surgey came to you over this hedge, that you were desirous to get out of the way; not to go and vote?—I was.

12,521. Perhaps you will be able to give us some solution to this; if you were so desirous not to vote, how came you to be so desirous to vote at five minutes to four?—Well, sir, look here, it was in this way, I told you before he is a gentleman I respect very much as a gentleman, and of course I could not very well refuse him from going.

12,522. Did you serve him with milk?—I did so.

12,523. Was anything said to you about the milk?—Not in the least.

12,524. You simply went because you served this gentleman with milk?—Yes.

12,525. You know what an electioneering hint is, you have told us?—Yes.

12,526. And you have twice put up your hand in this kind of way, (showing) closing your four fingers and then knocking it down in your hand; who did you ever see do that at the election?—I never see any one.

12,527. Where did you learn to do it off so cleverly twice, and always in the same kind of way?—I did not want any learning.

12,528. Have you ever done it before?—Well, I have.

12,529. When you have been asking for a vote?—We very often do, in this way; we go into a fair, or go anywhere to buy things, and then of course that is done there; that aint electioneering.

12,530. Why should you do it at a fair?—Because we perfectly understand one another.

12,531. And then you perfectly understand one another when it is done at an election?—We cannot be off from doing it. I do not make a practice of it here.

12,532. That is what you call a fair style of electioneering?—No, sir.

12,533. Did you ever practise it on electioneering?—No.

12,534. Never once, not when you canvassed your two brothers who were going over to Mr. Monson?—No, sir.

12,535. Or your private friends?—If I know a man has promised his word I let him keep to it.

12,536. But sometimes he wants to get a little inducement; did you never work a voter in that way?—No, sir.

12,537. Or in some other way to give a little hint that he might expect something?—Not in the least.

12,538. You trust to your own persuasive arguments to bring them round?—Yes, they can do as they like after I have tried them, whichever way their inclination goes.

12,539. How do you try them?—I merely ask them; say, "Well, I am going to vote for so-and-so, and I "believe him to be a good man."

12,540. That is all you do say? If they do not give way to that you do not introduce your little fair signs?—Not in the least.

William Gibbs sworn and examined.

W. Gibbs.

12,541. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—Carpenter and joiner.

12,542. What rent do you pay for your house?—8*s.* a week.

12,543. That is a 20*l.* house?—We pay 13 months to the year; we pay it weekly.

12,544. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

12,545. Had you voted in 1863?—Yes.

12,546. For whom?—Mr. Gower.

12,547. Had you voted before that election?—No, that is the only two.

12,548. About how long have you been a voter?—About five years.

12,549. I believe you were on Mr. Gower's committee?—No, I was not, not that I am aware of.

12,550. Did not you attend any of his committee meetings?—I did attend two summonses I had.

12,551. That shows you were on the committee?—I was not in the committee downstairs, I was only up here in this room.

12,552. Have you the paper that you got to attend the committee?—No, I have not, sir; it came from Mr. Smith.

12,553. How many committee meetings did you attend?—I was summonsed twice.

12,554. But you attended more, did you not?—No, never any besides.

12,555. You took an interest in Mr. Gower's election, did you not?—No, not much.

12,556. You canvassed people for him?—No, sir, not one.

12,557. Nor acted as messenger, did not you?—No.

15,558. You were quite satisfied with the result of the election, were you not; did not you express yourself satisfied?—Yes.

12,559. Although it was not as good as you thought,

EIGHTH DAY.

W. Gibbs.

Aug. 1866.

something of that kind?—Oh, no, nothing of that kind.

12,560. With whom did you go to the poll on the polling day?—I was voted to look after one of the cabs myself; we all went down in a line together, we all got into one cab, and all went down together.

12,561. From where?—From Nutley-lane to the polling place.

12,562. Who came down the night before, do you recollect?—It was the meeting here, where I was summonsed.

12,563. I suppose you were present at the nomination?—Yes, I was.

12,564. And at the polling day?—Yes.

12,565. And lost some time?—Three days.

12,566. How much did you get for the loss of time?—I got 3*l.* altogether in three different instalments.

12,567. You did not canvass?—No.

12,568. But how would you make out the third day; the nomination day and polling day; how do you make out the third day?—Well, I never done much, only walking about.

12,569. From whom did you receive the 3*l.*?—From Mr. Apted.

12,570. Did you receive any before the election?—I received the first 1*l.* the morning of the nomination. I received 10*s.* on the Saturday night previous to that.

12,571. From Mr. Apted?—Yes.

12,572. And 1*l.* on the nomination morning?—Yes.

12,573. When did you receive the next pound?—I received the 30*s.* the second of September.

12,574. Is that all you have received?—That is all I have received from an election.

12,575. In any way?—Well, I went down to Mr. Nichols, and he asked me when I went down there what I wanted for my vote, and I said I would not take his word at all, I said he owed me half a crown for half a day's work, which he promised to pay me, which had nothing to do with the election at all; it was previous to that. It was in the dark where he had me, and he gave me two half-crowns, as he said, into my hand to say no more about that, and when I got home I found it was a two-shilling piece instead of 2*s.* 6*d.*, so that it was 4*s.* 6*d.* instead of 5*s.*; that is all the money I received.

12,576. How long before the election did he put this 4*s.* 6*d.* into your hands?—About three months.

12,577. He wanted you to vote for Monson?—Yes.

12,578. He offered you more money?—Well, he wanted to know what I wanted for my vote, and I would not tell him.

12,579. You not relying upon him did not tell him?—No.

12,580. Did he tell you at all how much was going?—No, he never said a word to me.

12,581. He told you money was going?—Well, I knew that a little, but I do not know as he told me of it; I knew that there was money flying about.

12,582. Did he send for you?—Well, I have got rather forward in my story; I should like to begin it. I worked for Mr. Carruthers eight years, and he come to me one day and wanted to know which way I was going. He says, "Gibbs, which way are you going?" I said, "I am going for Mr. Gower I believe," and he said, "Why are you going for Gower?" "Well," I says, "I voted for him last time, and I am "going for him again;" and he says "Why you "never got paid last time," I said, "I got satisfied "very well, and I shan't say no more;" he says to me, "I suppose a little money would alter your mind." I says, "Well, I dont know;" "Well" he says, "whatever you have been promised on the other side, I dare "say you have been promised something." I said "Yes "I had;" "Well" he says, "whatever you have been "promised, I will give you a pound more if you like to "vote for Mr. Monson;" and so he says "Whatever "you are saying to me aint going no further." I says "Very well," so I did mention a sum; 6*l.*, though I never was promised that in my life.

12,583. He asked you how much you were promised, and you told him you had been promised 6*l.*?—Yes, and he told me that he would give me a pound more. He says, "You have not promised your vote, have you?" "No," I says, "I have not." When Mr. Gower came to me I told him about my vote first. He came to me before Mr. Carruthers came to me. He asked me for my vote, and I told him I thought it was very likely he could have it, and I told him I would not promise it to him it just at present, but I would see what I would do in time; but I told him it was no good him coming to me before.

12,584. You did not want to be bound by a promise Your master told you he would give you 1*l.* more?—Yes, and he said, "I suppose you have not "promised your vote;" I says "I have not." "Well" he says, "don't you promise it till you have seen "me again."

12,585. When did you see your master again?—I see him again underneath the shop; and he says to me, "well, how do you go now;" "Well," I says "I have not altered my mind at all." "Well," he says, "I can do something for you if you like to "vote for Monson; and if you go for Gower, I shall "be shortening hands very soon, and you will be one "that will have to go."

12,586. Does your master employ many men?—Yes.

12,587. You are not at work with him now?—I got discharged, I believe, through that and nothing else. That was the last time he said anything to me; he went through the passage, and left me to do as I liked.

12,588. How long before the election was this?—About six weeks I should think.

12,589. And then you had no other conversation with your master?—Not at that time. He had a third visit to me about my vote; he came up in the shop again.

12,590. Nearer the election time, within a week or two of the election?—It might have been a fortnight. He came up to me again and he says, "Gibbs, have "you made up your mind which way you are going"; I said, "No, sir, no further than what I have said "before, I am going for Gower." "Well," he says, "you know what you told me the other day, that you "had been promised 6*l.*," I said, "Yes, I do." "Well," he says, "tell me the man that promised you;" and I says, "I shall not." He says "Why won't you;" I says, "I shant tell you." "Oh," he says, "very "well, there are two gentlemen coming up to see you "to-day, and they will make you tell them;" and I says, "You may lead a horse to water, but you cannot "make him drink."

12,591. Did the two gentlemen come up to you?—No, they did not; and he says, "Will you say it "was one of the agents that promised it to you?" I said, "I shan't say no such thing." "Oh," he says, "that is near enough," and never said no more to me; I suppose he told one of the men that was there if I voted for Gower that I should always rue the day, it would be the worst day's work that I ever did.

12,592. How did Nichols come to you, or did you go to Nichols?—He wanted me to go and see Mr. Nichols, that is how I come there. With that I thought I did not want to get out of employment, so I went down to Nichols and saw him. I attended a public house meeting where Gower was at.

12,593. But you went and saw Nichols?—Yes; Nichols was there at the public house meeting in Nutley-lane, and Mr. Carruthers was there too. I had a little talk with Nichols; then I come down the town, and he was shortly after me. He called me and says, "I want to speak to you;" I asked him what he wanted. He said he wanted me to go over and go into the "Grapes," and I went in, and that was how it occurred.

12,594. Did he name any sum at all which he was to give you?—He was to give me 2*l.*, what he called "spending money," and then if he won the day he would handsomely treat me.

12,595. 3*l.* more ?—I don't know what it was. He asked me to name it, and I said I could not name it.

12,596. At any rate under any conditions, winning or losing, you were to receive 2*l.* spending money ?—Yes.

12,597. And if he won then you would be treated handsomely ?—Just so.

12,598. Did he offer you the 2*l.* ?—No, he said he should give it to me on the Friday night; and Friday at dinner-time he sent Mr. Monson up to me up in the shop, and all the men in the shop were round me like a lot of bees, and I promised Mr. Monson before their eyes on purpose to get rid of them.

12,599. I believe you did not receive the money on the Friday ?—No.

12,600. Did you expect to get it on the Friday ?—No.

12,601. How was it you did not expect it when you promised Monson?—Why, I only promised Monson to get rid of him.

12,602. But he did not know that ?—I was asked to go down ever so many times to receive the 2*l.*, but I did not go down.

12,603. You were told it was ready for you ?—Yes.

12,604. Where, at Nichols' ?—I suppose so.

12,605. I mean, when you were asked to come down and receive it did you understand it was at Nichols' ?—Yes, I suppose it was so.

12,606. In 1863 did you vote ?—Yes.

12,607. Had you been employed for Mr. Gower ?—No.

12,608. What did you receive at that election for loss of time ?—I received 3*l.* 10*s.* at that election, but I was not promised it; I had it given me after the election some time.

12,609. Who paid you ?—Mr. Job Apted.

12,610. Did he pay you any money ?—No, I received it in goods.

12,611. You only received 3*l.* in 1863 ?—Yes.

12,612. Did you receive it in money or goods ?—Not money.

12,613. Did you take it all out in goods in 1863 ?—Yes.

12,614. Some time after the election ?—Yes.

12,615. Had you voted before 1863 ?—I had not.

12,616. Were you here in 1859 ?—I was here on the nomination day; I came here the very same day from Dorking.

12,617. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you know James Brown. He was a fellow workman with you at Carruthers' ?—No, sir, I never saw the man in my life, as I am aware of.

12,618. Banks worked at Carruthers' ?—Yes.

12,619. He spoke of a person of the name of James Brown ?—I know the man you mean, though I have not seen him; he is a plasterer, and worked for Mr. Carruthers'. I was always working in the shop.

12,620. Did Brown speak to you about voting ?—No, sir, never said a word to me.

12,621. Never spoke to you ?—No.

12,622. He was influential, was he ?—Not among the workpeople. I never saw him in the shop. He is a man I do not know. I could not pick him out, because I do not know him.

THOMAS DENTON called, sworn, and examined.

T. Denton

12,623. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—A painter.

12,624. Where do you live ?—Warwick-town, No. 4, West-street.

12,625. What rent do you pay ?—4*s.* 6*d.* now; but I was not living at the same house I am now at the time of the election.

12,626. Where were you living then ?—No. 4, Grove-road.

12,627. What rent did you pay ?—4*s.*

12,628. You voted at the last election in 1865 ?—I did, the only one I have.

12,629. Were you here in 1863 ?—Yes, I was.

12,630. Had not you a vote ?—No.

12,631. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Gower, this time.

12,632. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower ?—Mr. Edward Potter was the first that spoke to me about Mr. Gower's election, a neighbour of mine.

12,633. Did you make him any promise of your vote ?—No, sir, he did not ask me for that.

12,634. More like conversation ?—I was away at work all the summer at East Grimstead. Mr. Potter came to me on Sunday evening and asked me if I was a mind to be down on Mr. Gower's committee, and I said, "Well, I do not care, put me down if you like." "Well," he said, "I will put your name down." I said, "I shall not be there," because I was away at work.

12,635. About how long before the election was this ?—I think it was about three weeks, but on the Friday night previous to the Sunday, the next Friday night following, I had finished up the job at Twyford in Sussex, and had taken my money on the Friday night, and was going on Saturday morning to see about another job to take that, and I took a smart little sum of money that evening, and I came home here and brought it, because I thought I should have fresh lodgings to take in East Grimstead, and I would bring my money home. On the Friday night I came home there was a meeting at Redhill, and who should I see but Potter, and he said, "There's a meeting "to-night, will you go?" "I said, "I don't mind, I "have not seen anything of it yet." I went. Mr. Featherstone was there and Mr. Webb at the top of the hill, and several more that I know. Mr. Featherstone says, "Good evening, Mr. Denton;" I said, "Good "evening." He says, "Have you any objection to "having your name down on the committee?" I said, "No, sir, I believe you have it;" "Oh, yes," he says, "we have got it, but we wanted your sanction." "Well, then," I says, "you might put it down for Mr. "Gower." That is all I see of the meeting of that side. On the next Sunday night Edmund Bailey come to me to canvass me for Mr. Monson. He knocked at my door about twenty minutes past ten on Sunday evening, as I had just got my boots off to go to bed, and my wife was gone. I opened the door and saw it was him. He says, "Good evening, Mr. "Denton;" "Good evening, Edmund," I says. He says, "I have come to see you." "Oh, have you," I says, "you have come just in time, for I am just "going to bed." He says, "How do you get on for "trade;" I says, "I have plenty at present, but it is "a long way from home." He says, "I want to "speak to you a minute." I put my boots on and went outside the door; when I got outside I saw Joseph Kenward. Edmund Bailey asked me if I wanted to do myself any good this election. I said I did not want to do myself any harm; and he says, "Well, come across to that man, he will talk to you," but, however, I had not a chance to go across there. He came to me and asked me if had promised my vote. I said, no, I had not, no more than I was down on Mr. Gower's committee, for I told them to put my name down myself, and he said, "Well, we don't "mind about your being on his committee, will you "come on ours;" and I said, "No, I think not, one's "enough." He says, "It is no use being on so many." "Well," he says, "will you come down as far as "Langridge's along with me." I believe it is called the "South Eastern" hotel. We got down there, and he said he would allow me 30*s.* a week, and he would pay me for the time back that had been passed.

12,636. Who said about paying you, Mr. Kenward or Langridge ?—Kenward; 30*s.* a week, and he would pay me back from the time the election began, which

EIGHTH DAY.

T. Denton.

30 Aug. 1866.

I think he said then I should have a fortnight due to me, and he would pay me 1*l.* for nomination day and 1*l.* for polling day.

12,637. At that time ?—That same time.

12,638. He did pay you that ?—No ; he said he would pay me.

12,639. How much for polling ?—1*l.* each day, nomination and polling.

12,640. Then, you know, that would be 2*l.* ; commencing with the 2*l.* you would have very near 8*l.* ?—I think it came to about 6*l.* 10*s.*

12,641. What did you receive ?—30*s.* on the next Saturday night, as polling day was on the following Wednesday.

12,642. From whom did you receive it ?—From Joseph Kenward.

12,643. Did you receive any more ?—Yes ; I received 10*s.* on Sunday evening after the Saturday, next day evening, from Joseph Kenward.

12,644. How much more ?—Nothing more ; but I was going to tell you the observation that he made, that he did not pay me up the full amount that he had promised to pay me ; I was to have the full amount on the Saturday evening for the end of the election right up to the polling day.

12,645. What was it ?—It was on the Saturday evening, when I went to him at the proper time ; he told me I was to come there and receive the money. We were in Langridge's back yard ; he went out one way and I went round the other, and he says, "I am "rather short to night, I cannot give you what I promised to give you." He says, "I have paid away "rather more than I expected, I had more names on "the book than I had thought of." This was about a quarter past nine or a quarter before, I won't be sure which. "But," he says, "I shall be over at Mr. "Nichols' to-night, and I shall get the remainder, and "I will pay you to-morrow morning at nine o'clock."

12,646. But on the Monday there were the 10*s.* ?—The Tuesday he did not give to me at all.

12 647. Did you get any money ?—No ; only the 2*l.*

12,648. Did you get any more after the election ?—No.

12,649. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) But he asked you questions. Did he say, "I have got no more, "gentlemen" ?—No ; he said, "I am short of money, "Denton, I cannot pay you what I promised you."

12,650. Had there been anybody there before you ?—No.

12,651. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was the Sunday before the polling day ?—Yes ; that was the Sunday before the polling day.

12,652. Eventually you did vote for Mr. Gower ?—I did ; and I can tell you my reason why.

12,653. If you please ?—Because I found he was not a man of his word ; he was not the man for me ; if he had given me his word I should have voted for him. I received 30*s.* one time and 10*s.* at another.

12,654. Who did you go and tell you were going to vote for Mr. Gower ?—My neighbour, Mr. Scotton ; he was a neighbour of mine ; and I said the same to some of them ; and Mr. Mulley, he canvassed me on the polling morning.

12,655. Can you recollect what passed then ?—I do ; Mr. Mulley said, "I will satisfy you for these "two days, but for anything more I will have nothing "to do with ; but as to the amount he did not say, I "should have the same as the rest for two days."

12,656. And you may have the same as the rest ?—Yes.

12,657. But no amount was mentioned ?—No amount was mentioned.

12,658. Was anything more proposed to you, in any more definite way, before you voted ?—No.

12,659. And so you went up and voted for Mr. Gower ?— I did.

12,660. Did Mr. Mulley keep his word and pay you for the two days ?—No.

12,661. Did anybody ?—No.

12,662. Did you receive anything more before the election for Mr. Gower ?—No ; but I remember I went to the market house, and I believe some money was paid, but that is only what I was told ; I am no scholar.

12,663. Mulley had said what the practice was ?—Yes.

12,664. Was anybody by ?—Mr. Scarlett was one.

12,665. There was like a witness by, then ?—Yes.

12,666. Did you not apply to Mulley for it ?—Yes ; I have applied.

12,667. What has been his excuse ?—He said after Mr. Gower was sworn in at the House of Commons or the House of Lords these things would be paid.

The Chief Commissioner stated to the witness he was much obliged for the straightforward way in which he had given his evidence.

The witness then withdrew.

J. Cooke.

James Cooke sworn and examined.

12,668. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Your name is James Cooke ?—Yes.

12,669. What are you, Cooke ?—A jobbing carpenter.

12,670. What house do you occupy, what rent ?—Mead-vale ; it is my own.

12,671. What is it worth a year ?—The rates are 6*l.* 10*s.*

12,672. What is the estimated value of it in the rate books, do you know ?—No, I have not considered that, but it is a valuable place to me.

12,673. Is it a separate house or in a row of cottages ?—No ; it is separate, and a garden to it.

12,674. You consider it worth more than 10*l.* a year ?—Yes.

12,675. If you were going to let it, what rent would you ask ?—A considerable deal more than that.

12,676. Did you vote at this last election ?—Yes.

12,677. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

12,678. What time in the day did you vote ?—I believe it was somewhere between 9 and 10 in the fore part of the morning ; but I cannot say exactly to half an hour.

12,679. Had you been canvassed, or asked to be for Mr. Monson ?—No.

12,680. Not by anybody ?—Not by anybody.

12,681. You had intended to vote for Mr. Monson ?—No.

12,682. Never ?—Never.

12,683. And had you never promised anybody you would vote for Mr. Monson ?—No.

12,684. Were you at the nomination ?—Yes. Do you mean the day before the election ?

12,685. Yes ?—When the candidates were proposed.

12,686. That was at the new town hall, I believe, and you were there ?—Yes, I was.

12,687. Where did you sleep that night ?—At home, in my own house.

12,688. Are you quite certain about that ?—Yes, that I be.

12,689. Where do you live ?—At Mead-vale.

12,690. And you are quite certain you slept at Mead-vale that night ?—Yes, that I am.

12,691. Do you know Mazden ?—Yes.

12,692. When did you promise to vote for Mr. Gower ?—When Mr. Gower came round to me one evening. There was Mr. Smith and some one else with him. I was standing, the same as I am here, on my own premises, and he came up to me and asked if I would give him my vote, and Mr. Smith said to me, "Mr. Gower," and I said, "Is it ?"

12,693. Mr. Smith introduced him ?—Yes ; and I said "Yes." Mr. Gower bade me good morning, and that was all that was said.

12,694. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes.

12,695. Were you advertized as being on the committee?—James Mazden asked me (I had no work at the time), "Would you like to go on the com- "mittee," and he put my name down.

12,696. That was Mazden?—That was James Mazden.

12,697. Did Mazden ask you to work for Mr. Gower?—Yes; he said, "As far as any letters are "concerned, if I wish you to deliver them, will you "do it;" he said, "There are five to take over to the "committee room, will you take them," and I said "Yes."

12,698. You had known Mazden a good many years?—Yes.

12,699. I suppose you would have been very happy to have done that to serve him as a friend?—I had nothing else to do.

12,700. And you would have been very happy to have served him as a friend in carrying a letter?—Yes.

12,701. Did Mazden tell you that you would be paid for it?—He said he would see that I was paid for it.

12,702. Did he tell you what you would be paid for this carrying of letters?—No, he did not say.

12,703. That was quite uncertain?—Yes, it was quite uncertain.

12,704. How long before the election did Mazden ask you to carry letters?—It was five weeks or a month, but I cannot say exactly which.

12,705. When he told you that you would get paid for it, did he make any sign with his fingers?—No.

12,706. Or give you any hint as to what you were likely to have for it?—No.

12,707. Were you paid at the rate of 1*l.* a week?—No.

12,708. Was it said that it would be a good thing for you if you did come and take these letters?—No; he only said he would see me paid.

12,709. Did you carry any letters for Mazden?—Yes, I delivered them round to the voters.

12,710. I suppose not many?—A good many at times.

12,711. How many times did you carry letters for Mr. Mazden?—Several weeks.

12,712. Did you carry very many in the week?—Sometimes I might have only to come over here, and sometimes I might go over to Mead-vale to Warwick-town.

12,713. Did you always receive them from Mazden?—Penfold gave me one letter.

12,714. Do you think Mazden gave you 50 letters to distribute?—I cannot say.

12,715. Or 20?—I cannot say.

12,716. You only received your letters from Mazden and Penfold?—That is all.

12,717. Did you receive any money from Mazden for carrying these letters?—I received 1*l.* before the election, and three weeks or a month after the polling day I received another 1*l.*, and that made 2*l.*, from Mr. James Mazden.

12,718. How long before the election did you receive the 1*l.*?—I believe it might be a week.

12,719. When Mazden paid you the 1*l.* did he tell you what it was for?—He said, "It is part of your "money for your labour."

12,720. Had you promised him you would vote for Mr. Gower before he told you you should be employed about these letters?—Yes, Mr. Gower asked me for my vote, and I said "Yes;" and Mr. Mazden said the next morning, "Did you see Mr. Gower," I said "Yes, and I told him I would vote for him," and he said, "Do you mind your name being put on the com- "mittee," and I said, "You can do it if you like."

12,721. You are quite sure you were not asked for the Monson party?—No.

12,722. Not just before the election?—I believe it was Mr. Monson came and spoke to me these words, before the election; he said "Is your name Cooke?" I said, "Yes;" and he said, "Have you promised your vote," and I said, "I have promised it to Mr. "Gower." I did not know it was Mr. Monson.

12,723. Were you walking with any of Mr. Monson's friends or supporters?—No, not to my knowledge.

12,724. Do you mean to say you avoided them? Do you mean to say you avoided their society?—I might pass them on the road.

12,725. You know what I mean by avoiding their society. Did you pass them on the road?—No.

12,726. Do you mean to say Mr. Gower's friends and supporters would look to you as a staunch supporter and friend?—Yes.

12,727. You are quite certain about that?—Yes; when I promised my vote I intended I would keep to my promise.

12,728. Do you mean to say you would have no communication whatever with the Monson party up to the time of the night before the polling?—I am certain.

12,729. And you are quite certain you slept at home that night?—I am certain.

12,730. Do you know a man of the name of John Dennis?—He is a nephew of mine.

12,731. Did you see him the night before the election?—He is living under me; he lodges at my house.

12,732. Is he a voter?—Oh, no.

12,733. Where did you enjoy your evening the night before the polling?—At home.

12,734. Are you quite certain you were at home?—Yes, along with my wife and family.

12,735. Like a reasonable man?—Yes.

12,736. I hope it was so?—I know it was so.

12,737. Are you quite certain of that?—Yes.

12,738. You were not at home the whole evening?—I cannot exactly say just to a few minutes.

12,739. Or an hour?—I might go away for a few minutes over to Mazden's to fetch a drop of beer for my wife and smoke my pipe.

12,740. You were there?—I believe I was.

12,741. We will call it the supper beer?—Yes, we will call it the supper beer.

12,742. Did you merely go in to get your supper beer?—Yes.

12,743. And did not stop there?—No.

12,744. Let me put this question to you. Were you not in the company of some person that evening, and did you not drink?—No.

12,745. Will you swear that?—Yes, I will; for I do not allow myself to get drunk.

12,746. Election times may be different?—Well, I was not.

12,747. Did you ever attend any of the meetings of the Gower party at the town hall?—I was at one meeting with Mazden.

12,748. Was that shortly before the election?—I could not say how long it might be.

12,749. Was it a week before the election?—It might be a week before the polling.

12,750. Were there many people at Mazden's at that time drinking?—So many people come in and out that you could not tell whether they belonged to the election or not.

12,751. When you were there in the evening before the election did you pay for all you had?—I said I might drink a glass of ale along with a friend.

25,752. I did not mean simply drinking a glass of ale in the ordinary way, but did you sit down at the table and have your refreshment without paying for it?—I might have had some, but not all the time.

12,753. (The Chief Commissioner.) In case any one asked you you took it?—Yes.

12,754. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you take just so much as to be put to bed with another man?—No.

EIGHTH DAY.

J. Cooke.

30 Aug. 1866.

12,755. Then if we have reason to say another man said so, was it a mistake ?—It must be a mistake.

12,756. Where is George Dennis ; does he still live at your house ?—Yes.

12,757. Then if anyone has ever reported that to have taken place you say it is untrue ?—Yes, that is it. I am quite satisfied about that.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then it has been said ?

(The witness.) I am very sorry for it, and if I knew who has spoken it I would tell him of it certainly again.

The Commissioner observed that if there is no truth in it he was glad to have given the witness the opportunity of saying what he had that day.

(The witness.) There is no truth at all in it.

12,758. (The Chief Commissioner.) You have been living here some time ?—Yes.

12,759. Pretty well all your life ?—All my life.

12,760. How long have you been a freeholder, about ; I am not particular to two or three years ?—It belonged to my father, and then it came to me.

12,761. Have you succeeded your father 15 years ?—Oh, yes, longer than that.

12,762. You remember a good many elections ?—I remember some in the time of Earl Somers.

12,763. You remember Mr. Hackblock's time ?—No, I had nothing to do with that.

12,764. Do you not recollect that ?—I remember hearing of it, but I was not at Reigate.

12,765. I thought you had been at Reigate 15 years ?—More than that.

12,766. At Hackblock's election were you at work here ?—No, not about Reigate. I was in the parish of Reigate.

12,767. That is in the borough of Reigate ?—It might be.

12,768. Did you not vote at that time ?—No.

12,769. Did you vote at the great election when Mr. Doulton was down here ?—No, I had no vote ; at least I had never put my claim in.

12,770. When was your name first on the register ?—I put my name on when it was reported Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Gower were going to put up, and then I put in my claim.

12,771. Was that in 1863 ?—In 1863.

12,772. Was that the first time you were on the register ?—It was the first time I put my claim in.

12,773. Did you vote at that time ?—Yes ; for Mr. Wilkinson.

12,774. You remember the election pretty well in 1863 ?—Oh yes.

12,775. That is not so long ago ?—I remember that very well.

12,776. Do you remember whether Mr. Wilkinson canvassed you himself ?—Mr. Wilkinson met me in Mead-vale as I was going to my home from my work; Frederick Joyes was with him. Mr. Joyes said to Mr. Wilkinson, "This is one of the voters," and Mr. Wilkinson then turned to me and said, "Is "your name Cooke ?" I said, "Yes ;" and he said, "Who do you intend to vote for," and I said, "Mr. "Wilkinson."

12,777. Who else asked you for your vote after that ?—James Mazden asked me. Mr. Wilkinson said in the first place, "Would you like your name to be "on my committee," and I said, "Yes ;" and when Mr. Mazden wished me to come to the committee room at the "Swan" he gave me a letter. I was to come here and see the clerk.

12,778. I understand. Mr. Mazden gave you a letter, and you were to do what you did do ?—Yes.

12,779. I suppose it was not much ?—Sometimes it was.

12,780. What did you receive for doing it in 1863 ?—I was paid at the "Swan" here 5*s.* a day during the time.

12,781. That is 5*s.* a day when you worked?—While I was here.

12,782. Did you work all the time during the election ?—I believe the first money I received on the Saturday was 1*l.*, and the next week was 30*s.*

12,783. Well, that is 2*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes, that is 2*l.* 10*s.*

12,784. That was before the polling day ?—Yes.

12,785. That is 2*l.* 10*s.* altogether ?—Yes.

12,786. Who paid you that ?—Mr. James.

12,787. And after the election what money did you receive ?—Five and twenty shillings.

12,788. No more ?—No more.

12,789. Who paid you that ?—Ephraim Jones.

12,790. Did you get any more money ?—No.

12,791. You voted for Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

12,792. And you were paid by him ?—Partly paid.

12,793. Was there any agreement made as to what was to be paid you for the nomination and polling day ?—Not anything particular. On the polling day in the evening Ephriam Rose was at Mazden's. He got home before me. When I went home he sent for me, and said, "I wanted you," and said, "I have got "25*s.* for you for what you have done at the election." That, I suppose, was the nomination day and the polling day. Since that time I received 30*s.*

12,794. But you were not paid, in fact, 25*s.* at one time ?—That was after the election.

12,795. You were paid 30*s.* at the election ?—No.

12,796. (The Chief Commissioner.) I took it wrong. I took it as 2*l.* 10*s.* You took notice of the election in '63 ; as it was going on you saw it all ?—I did not take particular notice about that.

12,797. You are a man of observation ; tell me in a word, altogether did the election of 1863 appear to you as to treating and public houses much the same as '65 ?—That I cannot say.

12,798. I was going to say did it appear to you to be much the same sort of thing, proceeding as in 1865 ?—I saw people about.

12,799. If you think it was different say so ?—I think they were both alike.

12,800. Were public houses open at both elections ?—I do not know whether they were free for any one.

12,801. Do you know whether people of your own standing in life went in and got refreshment at public houses, and were not called upon to pay ?—I never knew any one to go in and call for anything.

12,802. At the last election of '65, when you were going about to your work you used to go into a public house occasionally ?—Yes, but I always paid for what I had.

12,803. Did you never have anything without paying for it ?—Only at those two meetings ; one, at James Mazden's; I had a glass or two of ale there.

12,804. At Mazden's, in 1865, you did not pay ?—Yes.

12,805. Not on that day at that meeting ?—I do not say I paid for everything I had to drink.

12,806. But you went into Mazden's and took refreshment ?—Yes.

12,807. You did not pay for that ?—Some of that I did.

12,808. But not for all of it ?—I cannot say that I did for all of it.

The witness then withdrew.

D. Goacher.

DANIEL GOACHER sworn and examined.

12,809. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A milkman.

12,810. What rent do you pay for your house ?—4*s.* 6*d.* a week.

12,811. How long have you been a voter for this borough of Reigate ?—I voted for it twice.

12,812. You voted in 1863 and 1865 ?—Yes.

12,813. For whom did you vote at the last election?—For Mr. Gower.

12,814. For whom did you vote in 1863?—Mr. Wilkinson.

12,815. Now I suppose you were on Mr. Gower's committee?—No.

12,816. You were not on his committee at all?—No.

12,817. Who canvassed you; who asked you to vote for him?—Mr. Gower.

12,818. You had seen Mr. Mazden?—I see him every day.

12,819. Did he not ask you to vote for Mr. Gower?—He asked me after Mr. Gower.

12,820. Did you see any other of Mr. Gower's people besides Mr. Mazden?—No.

12,821. Nobody else came to you?—No.

12,822. Did anybody come to you on the part of Mr. Monson?—No, sir, not one.

12,823. How long before the election did Mr. Mazden speak to you about voting for Mr. Gower?—I cannot say how long.

12,824. Was it about three weeks or a month?—It might be a fortnight or three weeks.

12,825. Did he tell you to be at the nomination?—I was not there.

12,826. He would expect you to be at the nomination?—He did not say he would expect me there.

12,827. Nor at the polling?—Yes, I was at the polling.

12,828. But not at the nomination?—No.

12,829. Who came with you to the poll?—Mr. Mazden.

12,830. Did he drive you there?—He drove me there.

12,831. Where did he find you?—At my own house.

12,832. Was it early in the morning?—No, about the middle of the day.

12,833. Were you not going to vote at all till he came for you?—I promised Mr. Gower.

12,834. I know you did. I suppose if he had not come for you you would not have voted?—He told me he would come for me.

12,835. When did he tell you that?—In the morning.

12,836. What time in the morning did he tell you that?—About 8 in the morning.

12,837. Did you see him the night before?—Most likely I did, for I see him most nights.

18,838. I suppose you recollect the nomination well. Did he not tell you Mr. Gower had a great show of hands and was sure to win, or something of that kind?—I forget.

12,839. You don't indeed?—Yes, I do.

12,840. Did he come to see you in the morning?—I went to his house with the milk.

12,841. And then he told you he would call for you in the middle of the day?—Yes.

12,842. What was he to give you for your loss of time that day?—He did not give me anything.

12,843. I do not say he ever did, but how much was he to give you?—There was nothing said about it.

12,844. How much did you expect?—I did not expect anything.

12,845. Why did you hesitate. How much was he to give you; was he to give you anything, and, come, we shall have Mr. Mazden here. Was he to give you anything?—Nothing was said about it.

12,846. But was he to give you anything?—He did not give me anything.

12,847. Was he to give you anything, whether anything was said about it or not?—No.

12,848. Mr. Mazden will be called, you may rely upon it. Had Mr. Mazden spoken to you; come, I ask you, what was he to give you for your loss of time?—There was nothing of the kind said.

12,849. It may be implied; was there nothing of the kind said?—Nothing to me.

12,850. Was he to give you a pound or two?—Nothing at all.

12,851. Did you get any more?—Yes, sir.

12,852. When?—After the election.

12,853. How soon after the election?—About three weeks or a month.

12,854. Did he look at you; come, don't look so unhappy?—I am not unhappy.

12,855. Well, I am glad of that. I am glad to see you smile. Did he look at you?—No, I was at his house.

12,856. Did you ask him for the money?—No, he gave it me without asking.

12,857. What did he say?—He said, "This will "satisfy you for your trouble for what you have "done."

12,858. But you did nothing at all; you did not even attend the nomination. You told me you did nothing?—I said I was not at the nomination, but I was at the polling.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then you got the 2*l.* for voting.

12,859. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He gave you 2*l.*?—Yes, that was it.

12,860. You told me nothing was said about it?—I thought you meant that day.

12,861. You said nothing was said and nothing was understood. Were you much surprised when you got the 2*l.*?—No, sir.

12,862. Then you did expect it. What is the use of your keeping it back; did you not expect money from Mr. Mazden for going up polling?—He said, "That will satisfy you for your trouble for what you "have done."

12,863. Did he not say that when he took you up to the poll?—He might.

12,864. You voted in 1863, did you not, for Mr. Wilkinson, and you were living in the same house?—Yes.

12,865. And you are a neighbour of Mr. Mazden's?—Yes.

12,866. And Mr. Mazden was acting for Mr. Wilkinson on that occasion; you know he was. Did you go with Mr. Mazden to the poll in 1863?—I went with several, but it is so long ago that I forget.

12,867. Who took you to the poll in 1863?—I do not know.

12,868. Milkmen are too valuable to stray about, as we have heard from other milkmen to day; who took you up in 1863?—It is so long ago that I forget.

12,869. Do you recollect the time you polled in '63?—It might be 10 or 11 o'clock.

12,870. With whom did you poll?—I do not know.

12,871. Who spoke to you about it?—Mr. Wilkinson.

12,872. Somebody else did?—No, sir.

12,873. Somebody else did?—No, sir.

12,874. I will ask you again who it was who spoke to you about the polling in '63, was it one of Mr. Wilkinson's friends?—I do not know his friends.

12,875. Who spoke to you in '63 about voting for Mr Wilkinson?—It is so long ago.

12,876. Well, just recollect?—I will try, but I do not expect I shall.

12,877. Who went with you to the poll?—I do not know.

12,878. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You did not go alone?—That is not likely, there were plenty.

12,879. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you walk there or go in a fly; did you walk there or go in a carriage?—(No answer.)

12,880. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was it Mazden?—No.

12,881. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are quite certain of that?—Yes.

12,882. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What money did you receive on that occasion?—10*s.* nomination day and 10*s.* polling day; and that is all I received.

12,883. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Ephraim Rose take you to the poll?—No.

EIGHTH DAY.

D. Goacher.

30 Aug. 1866.

22,884. You recollect Ephraim gave you the 10*s*?—Yes.

12,885. Was that all you got?—Yes.

12,886. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was a poor election?—A good many had better I hope.

12,887. You knew a good many had better?—No.

12,888. Who told you you would be paid for nomination and polling days?—Nobody.

12,889. But you were?—Yes.

12,890 (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you go to Ephraim Rose to get the 10*s*.?—He sent for me.

12,891. How did he know what you were to have—He knew that.

12,892, Was Ephraim Rose the man who took you up to the poll?—No.

12,893. You are sure?—Yes.

12,894. Do you know Mr. Nichols of the "Grapes"?—I do not know anything particular about him.

12,895. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Mazden was not for Mr. Gower in '63, though he was for him in '65; but Nichols was for Mr. Gower in '63?—Was he?

12,896. You know it?—No, sir.

12,897. Were you not taken to the "Grapes" to have your little refreshment in 1863?—No.

12,898. Do you live in Ephraim Rose's district?—I live at Earlswood.

12,899. Does not Ephraim Rose live in the neighbourhood?—At Mead-vale.

12,900. Ephraim Rose was an active man for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863?—Yes.

12,901. And you went under his colours?—That is the amount he paid me.

12,902. Will you be on your oath, Ephraim Rose having paid you, that he did not take you to the poll?—No.

12,903. Who was it? You all say it was not Ephraim Rose; who else could it have been if it was not Ephraim Rose? It was somebody about Mead-vale?—There were many at the same time.

12,904. It was somebody about Mead-vale, was it a neighbour of yours?—I think Sendall went at the same time with me.

12,905. You can recollect who went with you. Who was it that took you; you surely must recollect that; come, say who it was?—I cannot recollect.

12,906. Do you recollect who it was you promised you would vote for Mr. Wilkinson?—Mr. Wilkinson himself.

12,907. Anybody else?—Not that I know of.

12,908. Were you on Mr. Wilkinson's committee?—No, I was not.

12,909. Were there three or four went up with you, was the carriage full?—Yes.

JOHN FIELDER sworn and examined.

J. Fielder.

12,910. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A baker.

12,911. Where do you live?—In Mead-vale.

12,912. What rent do you pay?—12*l*. a year.

12,913. When you voted for Mr. Gower did you pay 12*l*. a year?—Yes, I have a larger house now, but I pay less rent.

12,914. Never mind that; you are still on the register I suppose?—Quite correct.

12,915. Who canvassed you at the last election?—Mr. Mazden.

12,916. For whose side?—On Mr. Gower's.

12,917. How long before the election?—Four or five weeks I think.

12,918. Did you agree to vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes, I told Mr. Mazden I would vote for Mr. Gower.

12,919. Did you ask him to put your name on the committee?—No, I never asked anything about that.

12,920. Did he say anything to you?—No.

12,921. Were you put on the committee?—I think not, I acted as clerk to the Gower committee at the British school. I worked from 5 in the evening till 10 o'clock at night; John William Hewett and I used to take it in alternate turns.

12,922. You relieved one another?—Yes.

12,923. What were you to be paid for your services as clerk?—7*l*.

12,924. Did Mr. Mazden make the arrangement with you?—Yes.

12,925. For how many weeks?—For abont five weeks.

12,926. Then was there to be anything at the last part of the election?—Nothing at all, that was all that passed between Mr. Mazden and myself.

12,927. Did he say anything to you about nomination day and polling day?—No, nothing at all. I never attended at the nomination day.

12,928. No, but this was beforehand?—There was nothing of the sort mentioned.

12,929. How much a week do you consider you were paid?—I was paid 6*l*. 10*s*.

12,930. I thought you were paid 7*l*.?—No, that was the agreement. I only received 6*l*. 10*s*.

12,931. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you?—Mr. Mazden paid me 30*s*., and Mr. Smith 5*l*.

12,932. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did not attend the nomination?—No.

12,933. You did not work from 5 o'clock in the evening till 10 o'clock at night?—Yes.

12,934. I want to know during the day what were you doing?—Attending my own business.

12,935. Did your own business ever last as long as as 8 o'clock in the evening?—Yes, 9 o'clock at night; when I set my fire was the last job.

12,936. You were able to do that after you got home from the committee room?—Yes.

12,937. Was any of your labour interfered with?—No, I am not aware that it was.

12,938. Have you got a man who is working in the same bakery?—I do it all myself, with the assistance of my wife and children.

12,939. Had you ever anything to do with the election of 1863?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

12,940. What were you doing on the election of 1863; were you clerk to him?—No.

12,941. What were you?—I did nothing at all.

12,942. Were you on the committee?—No.

12,943. Nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

12,944. Was Mr. Mazden the person who canvassed you?—No, Mr. Gower canvassed me himself.

12,945. Whose side was Mr. Mazden on?—I think he voted for Mr. Wilkinson then.

12,946. You are quite right, Mr. Gower canvassed you himself; but you know somebody else besides Mr. Gower, do you not?—No.

12,947. Did you do any work for Mr. Gower in 1863?—No, none at all, not anything.

12,948. Did you receive any money in 1863?—No.

12,949. Not at all?—No.

12,950. Not before the election?—No, not at all.

12,951. Nor anything after the election?—No, not a farthing.

12,952. Were you not to have received anything?—No, not anything.

12,953. Have you had anything to do with previous elections?—No, with none at all.

The witness withdrew.

C. Farley.

CHARLES FARLEY sworn and examined.

12,954. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you a voter for this borough?—Yes.

12,955. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

12,956. And for what qualification?—11*l*. 10*s*. is my rent.

12,957. What are you?—A carpenter and joiner.

12,958. Did you vote without being canvassed or asked to vote?—Mr. Gower canvassed me with Mr. Smith and Mr. Penfold; the first time he came round to canvass the borough he canvassed me.

12,959. Did you promise at once?—Yes.

12,960. Who did you promise?—Mr. Gower.

12,961. Yourself?—Yes.

12,962. Were you on the committee?—No.

12,963. Did anybody afterwards come to you and offer you work for the election?—No.

12,964. Were you to do any work for the election for Mr. Gower?—No; there was nothing said at that time when I promised Mr. Gower.

12,965. When was it said?—As soon as we commenced the committee meetings I went about to some of the meetings, seeing how things were going on. I laid what I had got before the committee, though I was not on the committee. Some one asked me to have my name on the committee, and I said I would rather not have it on, but I would see what I could see. I heard how things were going on without having my name in public, so that they would not have any suspicion. I had made up my mind to vote for Mr. Gower, but I would not have my name stuck up. I said that at the committee, and my name was not on.

12,966. You were going on to say something about work. You have not arrived at that part of the story yet?—Work?

12,967. Yes?—Well, that was the commencement of the work.

12,968. Now let me draw your recollection back; you said nothing was said about work at the early part of the canvass?—Not at that time.

12,969. What time?—The time Mr. Gower asked me for my vote.

12,970. It was not at that time; now, I ask you to tell me when it was?—It might have been, perhaps, a fortnight or three weeks previous to the election.

12,971. When it was mentioned about work, what was said?—There was not anything said, only I was to ascertain how the election was going.

12,972. Were you asked then to work?—I do not know whether I was asked, or whether I offered my services.

12,973. To whom did you offer your services?—To Mr. Penfold, I think.

12,974. When you offered your services to Mr. Penfold, did you express to Mr. Penfold that you thought your services might be of some value?—I do not know that I did.

12,975. You thought your services were of some value?—If I did not think so, I should not have offered them to get Mr. Gower returned.

12,976. You did not intend to give your services and work freely, gratis, for nothing?—I never like working for nothing, I do not agree with that.

12,977. Nobody does; but not intending to give your work for nothing, what were you to get?—There was nothing mentioned; I did not ask anything; I was not offered anything.

12,978. Perhaps not; but did Mr. Penfold lead you to suppose that you would get something?—He never mentioned that.

12,979. No particular sum was mentioned?—No.

12,980. But you did expect to get something for your services, you know perfectly well; did you not know that all those who were working for Mr. Gower were working to get something?—I did not.

12,981. Or that they had been promised?—I never heard of any promise. I do not know of any such promise; what I did was done on the quiet. I did not say to any one what I was doing.

12,982. I think you say you understood Mr. Penfold led you to suppose you were to receive something. Tell us what you did on the quiet, what was your little quiet work; pray do?—I went and attended at the meetings to see what was going on. I got what information I could.

12,983. You went to some of the quiet meetings, did you not?—I did not say quiet meetings.

12,984. No, it was quiet work, I beg your pardon; you went to some of the meetings?—Most of them.

12,985. Were those meetings held at different public houses?—Yes.

12,986. Where were the meetings held that you went to?—At this hall one or two, and at the committee meetings, public meetings.

12,987. They did not want to pay you for you to tell them what was done in their own committee room. Now, let us see, did you go to any of the houses where Mr. Monson's party assembled?—I called in at the "Grapes" once or twice.

12,988. No more than once or twice?—No.

12,989. Did you see Mr. Nichols there?—I do not recollect seeing him.

12,990. Did you go in the private room or stop at the public bar?—No, I did not go into the private room.

12,991. Well, in a quiet way what did you do at the "Grapes"?—I went in and had a glass of ale to hear what was going on in the front of the bar.

12,992. Did you hear anything going on at the front of the bar?—I cannot say.

12,993. You heard nothing about the election?—It was all electioneering conversation of course.

12,994. Did you come back to your own committee and then report what you heard to Mr. Mazden?—I reported to Mr. Penfold and Mr. Mazden what had happened, not there particularly, but in the daytime.

12,995. Mr. Penfold and Mr. Mazden?—That was the first time you mentioned Mr. Mazden's name?—Yes.

12,996. Did you have any little understanding with Mr. Mazden about these quiet perambulations of yours?—No.

12,997. Did Mr. Mazden tell you that you would get paid for your work?—No.

12,998. Or that you might expect to get something for your able services?—He did not say anything to me about it.

12,999. Are you certain?—Quite certain.

13,000. Did you get anything for the election?—Yes.

13,001. What did you get, 5*l.*?—5*l.*

13,002. Who paid you?—Mr. Mazden.

13,003. Mr. Mazden did?—Yes.

13,004. Did you go to Mr. Mazden for the 5*l.*?—To Mr. Smith's first.

13,005. To Mr. Smith the principal agent?—Yes.

13,006. What did you ask Mr. Smith for?—I took my account to him.

13,007. A written account?—Yes.

13,008. Have you got a copy of it?—Mr. Smith had it.

13,009. You remember how you drew up the account; give me the words of the account?—I did not put any items, I made up an account for services rendered at the election of Mr. Gower, the date, July 1865, and total, 5*l.*

13,010. For so many weeks?—No, not at all.

13,011. Why did you put the total at 5*l.*?—I made an account previous to that.

13,012. What was the amount of that account?—6*l.*

13,013. Who told you to alter it from 6*l.* to 5*l.*?—Mr. Penfold said he did not think he should be able to get the money for me. He said he did not say but what I was worth it, but perhaps he would not be able to pay me.

13,014. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The previous account was one long sum; of 5*l.*?—The 6*l.* was.

13,015. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The previous account was a lump sum, you did not make it in this way, 5*l.* for work and 1*l.* for nomination and polling day?—Not to my knowledge.

13,016. When you made that account out did not this cross your mind; 5*l.* for my labour, and the extra for my polling and nomination days?—No.

13,017. Did you not expect to get a little extra for polling and nomination days?—No, 6*l.* I made out my account for.

13,017*a*. Certainly I have nodoubt what the amount

EIGHTH DAY.

C. Farley.

30 Aug. 1866.

was, but how did you arrive at the amount, how did you get at 6*l.* ?—My loss of time and money I had spent going about round to the public houses.

13,018. Where did you spend your money ?—At the public houses some of it, not their money but my own.

13,019. When you went to these public houses did you pay for what you drank ?—Yes.

13,020. Did you pay when you went to the Monson house, the "Grapes"?—I went twice to the "Grapes;" I have been a good many times since, but only twice at that time.

13,021. I am speaking before the election when you had anything at the "Grapes" ?—Yes.

13,022. Did you pay when you went to Mr. Gower's own houses ?—Yes.

13,023. Always pay ?—Yes.

13,024. And then you charged what you drank those evenings to Mr. Gower ?—No.

13,025. Then it was 5*l.* for your labour and 1*l.* extra for what you drank ; was that the way you made out your account ?—I did not make out any item at all.

13,026. Did you frame it so in your own mind ?—No, I put it in a lamp sum of 6*l.*

13,027. And the other men were to receive 5*l* ?—I do not know that.

13,028. Oh, yes, it was a common understanding that all who worked were to receive 5*l.* ?—I am on my oath and tell you I did not know that.

13,029. Do you mean to say that you were moving about like a dark horse at the election and did not know that ?—I never heard of 5*l.*, and never was offered 5*l.* or 6*l.*; I never asked any such sum only three or four months after when I made out my account.

13,030. You told them you would not have your name put down on the committee because Mr. Monson's party would suspect you ?—Yes.

13,031. Did you expect to get anything from Mr. Monson's party if you voted for them ?—No, I was not offered anything by Mr. Monson or any of his agents.

13,032. You were not ?—No.

13,033. Do you mean to say they allowed you to go into the "Grapes" and walk about without asking you to vote ?—A good many in the "Grapes" did not know I was a voter, I was only just on the register.

13,034. Mr. Nichols did ?—He did not, it was only just registered.

13,035. Do you mean to say that Mr. Nichols, the active man, did not know you were to vote ?—I believe not.

13,036. Did you work on his part ?—I worked for Messrs. Jackson and Shaw's the builders.

13,037. Some way away from Mr. Nichols ?—About a mile.

13,038. Had you been at Mr. Nichols' house before the election some time ?—No, I do not think Mr. Nichols had lived there long before the election, it was only just a short time before the election that he took the "Grapes."

13,039. Did you fall very much in love with Mr. Gower's politics ?—I knew his principles.

13,040. You knew Mr. Monson's also ?—I had heard him address two or three meetings.

13,041. So far as you were personally concerned, both of them being gentlemen of large intellect, you had very little to choose between them ?—No.

13,042. There was little difference between their politics either ?—Mr. Gower was an old servant, and I did not see why he should not have my vote. He came first and I promised him.

13,043. Mr. Monson never canvassed you at all ?—Mr. Monson never called at all, neither himself or his agents.

13,044. Had you not publicly said that you were quite prepared to vote for the party that gave you the biggest sum of money ?—I never said such a thing.

13,045. Suppose the Monson party had come and offered you a larger sum of money, that would have had an influence on your mind ?—No.

13,046. You are quite certain of that ?—I am quite certain.

13,047. And if anybody had said that you said that you would vote for the man that gave you the largest sum of money, that is untrue ?—I should not have done any such thing.

13,048. Is it untrue ?—I beg your pardon, I do not hear.

13,049. I wish to give you an opportunity of saying whether it was true or not. If it has been reported by anybody that you publicly said that you would only vote for the person, or were willing to vote for the person, who gave you the most money, is that a truth, or is it false ?—If any one said so he has said an untruth ; I never said so, and I am sure I should not say so.

13,050. (The Chief Commissioner.) Will you tell me; you moved about and found out what you could, and took notice of everthing before the election ; was there much treating going on ? You know what I mean ?—No, there was not.

13,051. You think not ?—Not in my presence.

13,052. But from all you knew would you say that refreshments were pretty plentiful ?—Very scarce.

13,053. On both sides ?—On both sides.

13,054. From your own observation I mean ?—Yes.

13,055. You think they were scarce ?—Yes.

13,056. You know James Apps ?—Yes.

13,057. You knew him at that time ?—Yes.

13,058. What was James Apps ?—I believe he was a cabman ; a carter.

13,059. A cabman ?—Yes ; Apps of Mead-vale, you mean. He was carter at the same place where I was working previous to the election ; he was working for Jackson and Shaw the builders.

13,060. Previous to the election ?—Yes.

13,061. Do you remember having some conversation with him about his vote ?—Yes.

13,062. How long before the election ?—I think about a week, I would not say to a day, but I think about a week.

13,063. I dare say it was rather a particular conversation, and probably you will be able to tell me the nature of it ; what did Apps say about his vote ?—I understood him before this conversation took place, the evening perhaps you are alluding to, that was three or four days previous to the election, he intended to vote for Mr. Gower, and I understood he promised Mr. Gower himself one evening, (whether it was Thursday or Friday previous to the polling day, I do not remember), he came into Mazden's, and I believe he had a jug in his hand for his supper beer, I am not positive, but I should say so as far as I can recollect ; of course electioneering was then all the topic of conversation, and we got into conversation about it. In the course of the conversation he said that Mr. Holdsworth had been speaking to him about his vote and he was not sure that he should go with us. It was at the bar at Mazden's, and I believe he was present behind the bar. I was in the passage, so I cannot say the words that passed, but, however, the sum and substance of it was, that he said "Rodney has been "out with me to-day."

13,064. Who is Rodney ?—A name that Mr. Holdsworth goes by. He said, "Rodney has been out to "me to-night, and had half an hour at me about it. "He sat down on the oak chest and gave me a good "talking, and told me that there would be no winter "work if I went the other way." I said something to him, I cannot say the words now, and I think Mazden might have made a remark; but, however, in the course of conversation I said, "Well, if it has come to that, "and Rodney has been at you, we shall not see any "more of you." After that I believe the conversation ended that night, and I did not see or hear any more of him.

13,065. Do you know which way he voted ?—For Mr. Monson, I believe.

13,066. Holdsworth was for Mr. Monson?—Yes, I believe so.

13,067. Rodney?—Yes.

13,068. I mean by reputation?—Yes; I suppose most people at Reigate know what we mean by saying Rodney.

13,069. As I understand you, there was no hope for him; you mean Rodney would be too strong for him?—He might take it as he liked, that was my meaning.

13,070. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I quite forgot to ask a question; did you call at Mr. Smith's with your account?—I made out my account.

13,071. Did you see Mr. Smith?—Yes.

13,072. What did he tell you when he had your account?—He said he had no money in hand of Mr. Gower's.

13,073. Did he refuse to pay you, or decline to pay you anthing?—No.

13,074. Except that he had got no money?—He was just going out in his trap, the horse was being put in; I handed him in the account; he looked at it; it was my account, signed by Mr. Penfold and Mr. Mazden, for 5*l.*

13,075. Certified, in fact?—Yes, they considered my services were worth the money.

13,076. Then upon that did Mr. Smith refer you to anybody?—He said, "I beg your pardon, are you not "Farley;" I said, "Yes." He said, "I did not know "you;" I said, "You knew me when Mr. Gower can-"vassed me, you knew me all very well then."

13,077. You thought it was rather strange that he should know you before the election and not recognize you after?—He said, "I have not any money in hand "of Mr. Gower's, and not knowing you . . . . ; but, "however," he says, "as soon as I see either of those "parties you shall have your money."

13,078. Those were Mr. Mazden and Mr. Penfold?—Yes.

13,079. How long after that was it that Mazden came and paid you the 5*l.*?—He did not come and pay me.

13,080. You were paid?—Yes, I received it in his name.

13,081. How long after?—Two months.

13,082. You had no more communication with Mr. Smith or any of them until you received this money from Mr. Mazden?—Not with any of them, either one or the other.

HENRY FINCH sworn and examined.

H. Finch.

13,083. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A gardener.

13,084. What rent do you pay for your house?—15*l.* a year.

13,085. How long have you been a voter for this borough?—1863 was the first time, and then came 1865.

13,086. The last election?—Yes.

13,087. For whom did you vote?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

13,088. Do you know Mr. Mazden?—Yes, I know him very well.

13,089. You live near him?—Yes, close by him.

13,090. He is a leading man, a man of a leading position in the district in which you live?—I do not know much about that, but he did not lead me.

13,091. We will hear about that; who canvassed you for Mr. Gower?—No one.

13,092. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Gower?—No one.

13,093. Did anybody call upon you?—Nobody called upon me.

13,094. Whether on behalf of Mr. Gower or Mr. Monson?—No, neither side at all.

13,095. They overlooked you?—They overlooked me, I was forgotten.

13,096. How came you to vote then? With whom did you come up and vote?—I came up and voted for Mr. Gower.

13,097. With whom did you come up on that morning?—I do not know that I came in the morning, it might have been between 1 and 2, I think very likely it was.

13,098. With whom did you come up?—I do not know, I believe there was Mr. Laker's man, and there were two or three ladies in the trap.

13,099. Whose man?—Mr. Laker's man.

13,100. And two or three ladies?—Yes, two or three ladies in the trap, I do not know anybody else.

13,101. Did he come for you and bring the trap for you?—It was standing in the village, and I jumped up in the trap and came over.

13,102. They sent traps round?—Yes, it was in the village; I jumped up in it, and came over.

13,103. Did not anybody at all speak to you about your vote?—No person at all ever came and canvassed me or asked me for my vote in any way whatever.

13,104. Were you on the committee?—No.

13,105. Did you attend any meetings at all?—I attended a good many at the town hall.

13,106. Did you ever attend any committee meetings?—No.

13,107. Or public meetings?—No public meetings, only at the town hall or the schools; I might have gone there.

13,108. You heard the speeches I suppose?—Yes.

13,109. Did you do any work on behalf of Mr. Gower?—Yes, I took a great many circulars round.

13,110. Who gave you the circulars?—Sometimes Mr. Hewett, the clerk at the school, he gave them to me sometimes.

13,111. Who else?—He gave me the chief part.

13,112. Who else gave you the others?—Mr. Mazden and Mr. Penfold perhaps.

13,113. Persons did not come and put circulars in your hand; did they not speak to you to tell you you were to distribute them on behalf of Mr. Gower?—No, the first circulars I had I was asked if I would take them round; I answered yes, I did not mind taking them round.

13,114. Who asked you?—I do not know whether it was Mr. Penfold or Mr. Mazden.

13,115. They did not ask you to take them round for nothing?—They did not say anything.

13,116. Do you mean that?—I went two or three times, and I asked who was to pay me; they had fixed upon me, I suppose, because I used to carry letters.

13,117. To whom did you say "Who is to pay me"?—Mr. Mazden; he said, "Whatever circulars or letters "you take out, I will see that you are satisfied for it."

13,118. At that time of course he knew you were to vote for Mr. Gower?—No, he did not.

13,119. Do you know any persons who were employed who were in the enemy's camp; do you pretend Mr. Mazden would employ one of Mr. Monson's men to carry out circulars?—He did not know but what I might do it for both, I am certain he did not at first.

13,120. Very likely he did not at first; but when was it he knew you were to vote for Mr. Gower?—He never did know that, not till I had been and polled.

13,121. Did anybody speak to you on the other side at all?—Neither side at all about my vote.

13,122. They spoke to you on Mr. Gower's side?—No.

12,123. They asked you to go and carry out circulars?—That was not canvassing one.

13,124. They spoke to you. What else did you do?—I did nothing else with them.

13,125. You carried out circulars?—Yes.

13,126. How many days?—I do not say I was out every day, but I was out nearly six weeks, but not every day.

13,127. How many days?—I could not say.

EIGHTH DAY.

H. Finch.

30 Aug. 1866.

13,128. About how many days a week ?—I had little or much to do every day.

13,129. What were you to receive a day ?—There was nothing said.

13,130. You knew what you were to be paid?—I expected them to say what I should be paid when I went and told them what it was.

13,131. What did you tell them ?—I could not say until I got my job done.

13,132. What did you want them to pay after you did your work ?—5l.

13,133. Generally people make bargains when they go about in that way. Who did you want to pay 5l. ?—I asked Mr. Mazden after I had been two or three times with the letters who was to pay me, and he said he would see it was paid ; nothing more was said about it.

13,134. When did you apply to him for the 5l. ?—I never applied to him at all.

13,135. Did you apply to him for any money ?—No, he asked me when it was over what he was to pay me for taking the circulars, and I told him.

13,136. You told him what ?—5l.

13,137. That is what I call an application for money. He asked you what he was to pay ?—He said he was in my debt.

13,138. And you said 5l. ?—Yes.

13,139. What did he say to that ?—He gave it to me.

13,140. He gave you 5l. ?—Yes.

13,141. When ?—I do not know when ; it was some time after the election.

13,142. How long after the election ?—It might be two or three weeks.

13,143. Did he come to you, or did you go to him ? I was going in his house.

13,144. He asked you in ?—He called me in.

13,145. He called you first ?—He called me to the door ; he did not call me in.

13,146. I mean that ; he said, "Finch, what am I "in your debt for the services you rendered ;" something of the kind ?—He asked what he was in my debt for carrying the circulars, and I told him 5l.

13,147. Did you give him any bill?—I gave him no bill ; he asked me what it was, and I told him.

13,148. And he paid you immediately the 5l. ?—Yes.

13,149. Can you tell me at all how many circulars you took out?—Sometimes 50, and sometimes 70 perhaps.

13,150. Fifty a week ?—No, 50 at a time.

13,151. You were a gardener ; you were at work at that time ?—I could not be when I was carrying the circulars.

13,152. Were you at work during that time ?—Yes, I was at work ; I had work to do.

13,153. You had got work to do ?—I was at work for a time.

13,154. You were not out of work ?—I was not out of work.

13,155. Where were you working ?—At Meadvale.

13,156. With whom ?—I was at work at different places ; I was out sometimes carrying these circulars about.

13,157. And you continued to work, did you not, during that time ?—Yes.

13,158. It did not interfere with that particular time when you were taking out the circulars; you took them out morning and evening ?—No, sometimes in the middle of the day ; generally in the middle of the day.

13,159. When you were going to dinner and coming from dinner ?—No, never when I was going to or coming from dinner ; sometimes it took me five hours to deliver them, sometimes six.

13,160. Tell me any particular day when it took you five or six hours to deliver the circulars ?—I cannot.

13,161. Were you not at gardening work during the whole time; did you not do jobbing work during that time for the five or six weeks ?—No.

13,162. You did not ?—No ; I might have worked, perhaps, two days a week.

13,163. More than that ?—No, I do not believe I did more than two days a week.

13,164. What used you to be paid for work as a gardener ?—5s. a day.

13,165. What were you to get for the nomination day ; were you here at the nomination day ?—No, I was delivering some circulars on the nomination day.

13,166. Could you say how many you delivered on the nomination day ?—No.

13,167. Did you at all make out any list for what you were employed at so much a day ?—No.

13,168. He did not ask you for your account ?—No; he asked me how much I considered he was in my debt, and I said I did not know, but I supposed about 5l. ; I considered that by that time I had lost nearly four days a week.

13,169. How many weeks ?—Five weeks.

13,170. That would be 20 days ?—Yes.

13,171. That is how you worked it up ?—Yes, I do not think I worked any more than two days a week at most during that time.

13,172. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What work do you mean ?—Gardening work.

13,173. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were not working at any particular loss, you were gardening on the job ?—Yes.

13,174. Do I understand you to say that Mr. Mazden never canvassed you at all, and that he did not know you were going to vote for Mr. Gower till you did poll ?—No.

13,175. Do you adhere to that answer, for if you do it will make me doubt everything you tell me ?—He never mentioned it.

13,176. Do you mean to say you were carrying out circulars to Mr. Mazden's knowledge during the whole six weeks, and he did not know you were going to poll for Mr. Gower ?—He might have expected it.

13,177. He did expect it ?—I do not know that.

13,178. Had you been at his house after ?—I am always there every day.

13,179. In what way ?—I go to get something to drink.

13,180. Was the committee meeting held there ?—No.

13,181. Were any meetings held at Mazden's house during these times ?—Not that I know of. I was once at a meeting at Mazden's.

13,182. (The Chief Commissioner.) Will you tell me, going about with circulars and doing what you had to do, did you sometimes get amongst the Monson party ?—No, I do not know that I did.

13,183. Do you remember sometimes that your curiosity or your business took you up to Mr. Holdsworth's at the "Red Cross" ?—I do not think I was there during the election.

13,184. Do you know Apps ?—I know James Apps.

13,185. Do you remember seeing Apps there ?—No, not that I can remember. I do not remember that I did.

13,186. I will try to refresh your memory ?—It will be of no use, I am sure I was not in the house.

13,187. Just allow me to have a try. Do you recollect being one evening in Mr. Holdsworth's stables ?—No, I never was in Holdsworth's stables in my life.

13,188. Do you remember seeing Mr. Holdsworth and Mr. Nicholls together up in the neighbourhood of Mr. Holdsworth's house one evening ?—No.

13,189. Do you remember seeing Mr. Holdsworth in company with Apps ?—No.

13,190. Do you remember seeing Mr. Holdsworth on one occasion when Mr. Holdsworth had some money ?—No.

13,191. Do you not remember that ?—No.

13,192. I am sure you will tell me ; try if you can recollect it ?—No, I do not remember it.

13,193. Do you remember seeing Mr. Holdsworth take some money out of his pocket or out of a bag ?—No.

13,194. Do you not remember seeing Mr. Holdsworth one evening, it was in the evening I think, rather late ; he had some money ?—No.

13,195. Do you not? I dare say you recollect Apps talking to you about being with Mr. Holdsworth and saying Mr. Holdsworth had some money ?—No.

13,196. You know Mr. Holdsworth ?—Yes.

13,197. Do you not remember Apps telling you Mr. Holdsworth had some money ?—No, I do not.

13,198. Do you remember Apps saying he had a conversation with Mr. Holdsworth, and Holdsworth had been pressing him to vote for the Monson party ?—Yes, he told me something of that sort.

13,199. Now we shall get to it. Apps told you something about Holdsworth having pressed him for Mr. Monson ?—He did not exactly say that he was pressed to vote for him ; but he told me that he thought if he did not vote for Mr. Monson that he should lose his work.

13,200. Did he tell you why he thought so ?—I suppose they had given him hints to that effect.

13,201. Do you remember his saying more than that ? Do you remember his saying, if he did vote for Mr. Monson, he should probably get something for doing it ?—He said he should get satisfied, he said no more.

13,202. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were these circulars that you took round open circulars, or in an envelope ?—In envelopes.

13,203. Did you see the same lying on the table ?—No, they were all done when I went there.

13,204. Did you ever see any of these circulars, so that you might read them ?—Yes, I read them sometimes when directed to me.

13,205. To yourself ?—Yes.

13,206. Have you any of those circulars ?—No.

13,207. They were only valuable at the time of the election ?—Sometimes I did open to read them, and sometimes I did not.

13,208. What circular was it ?—It might be to say that there was a meeting ; if there was a meeting at the town hall, or any place, you would have a circular to be delivered to the voter.

13,209. Those circulars were delivered to the voters?—If there was a meeting at the town hall, or any committee room, there were circulars to distribute in the neighbourhood.

13,210. You say that some of those circulars were addressed to you ?—They sometimes have been.

13,211. Were any of those circulars that you took round convening meetings at any of the houses of refreshment ?—No, not that I know of. I never went to any house, I had not got time.

13,212. I did not ask you that ; that is not the question. Were any of those circulars convening meetings at the public houses ?—I do not know any one that did. I did not go into any one of those houses.

13,213. They would not insult you by asking you to attend a meeting at the public houses ; but were any of these circulars to your knowledge for that purpose, for the voters to attend at any public house ?—Not that I know of.

13,214. Do you know, in fact, that there were a great many evenings kept by committees at the public houses ?—Not that I know of, only what people might do themselves.

13,215. Have you been told several times that the voters were there ?—Only by hearing it ; but if they sent circulars, I have not seen them, and therefore I cannot say.

13,216. Are you quite certain you never saw it ?—Yes.

13,217. The only circulars you saw were to attend at the town hall ?—At the town hall, or one of the schools.

13,218. At the town hall, not any of the houses of refreshment ?—No, not any that I remember, except one.

13,219. Tell me that one ?—That was when they had the booth on the Earlswood common.

13,220. Did you deliver the circulars ?—I did to say there was to be a meeting at the booth to be erected on the common.

13,221. Did you go to that meeting ?—No.

13,222. That was not a house of refreshment ?—Well, I did not call it a house of refreshment ; you asked me any other places besides school-rooms, and so on, and you cannot call a booth a school-room or a town hall.

13,223. You never took a circular calling persons together to meet at the "Angel," or some house of that sort ?—No, I never did. I never had one to deliver that I opened, not of my own, and of course I could not look at other people's.

13,224. You saw the circulars on the table ?—No, they were all sealed when I had them.

13,225. You did not tell me what the circulars were ?—I do not know ; if I could I would.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN FLINT sworn and examined.

J. Flint.

13,226. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you live at Nutley-lane ?—No.

13,227. You did though ?—Yes.

13,228. Where do you live now ?—In Holmsdale-road.

13,229. You are a gardener ?—Yes.

13,230. I think now you pay 10*l.* 5*s.* rent for your house, but when you did live in Nutley-lane you paid about 14*l.* ?—14*l.* and a few shillings ; 14*l.* 6*s.*

13,231. You lived there at the time of the election of 1865 ?—Yes.

13,232. Did you vote in 1863 ?—No, I was not a voter ; I had only come into Reigate a short time.

13,233. Now, on the election of 1865 you voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

13,234. When did you make up your mind for whom you would vote, long before the election ?—Perhaps five or six weeks.

13,235. Five or six weeks before the election did you make up your mind to vote for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

13,236. You did not change your mind at all ?—Not at all ; I had no reason for it.

13,237. Were Monson's party of that opinion, or did they make a little attempt upon you ?—No, never, only that Mr. Monson and his friends came to solicit my vote.

13,238. It was all fair ?—Yes.

13,239. Were any overtures made to you from the Monson party at all ?—Not at all.

13,240. Were you put down after that on Mr. Gower's committee ?—No.

13,241. Did you not do anything for Mr. Gower ?—I did.

13,242. What was that ?—I went as messenger.

13,243. But you were not on the committee ?—No.

13,244. For how long did you work as messenger ?—I should think for near a month.

13,245. Who arranged with you to be messenger ?—William Joyes, the newsvendor ; he came down with the paper on the Saturday, and I asked him how the election was going. I said I had no work, and if there was anything to do I should be glad to take it of him.

13,246. What did he say ?—He said I had better go to the committee at the town hall, and they would allow me to go round with circulars ; that was on the Saturday. Afterwards I did do so, and was put on.

13,247. Who by ?—By Mr. Smith ; he went out to

EIGHTH DAY.

J. Flint.

30 Aug. 1866.

his office, and he wished me to come here, and then Apted put me on to carry the circulars out.

13,248. You were not put on to carry the circulars out till rather late in the election ?—It would be about four weeks before.

13,249. Did you do much work ?—Oh, yes ; I was frequently going out with the circulars.

13,250. Do I understand you to say at that time you had no work of your own ?—I had no work of my own.

13,251. You had no work in hand to do for other people ?—No, I was only a jobbing gardener ; I was not a fixed gardener for any gentleman.

13,252. When you did garden did you do it by the job or the day ?—By the day.

13,253. About what did you get a day ?—Just 3*s.* 6*d.* and 4*s.* a day, according to general custom ; we have a good deal for mowing lawns.

13,254. You were paid, were you not, for the services you did ?—Yes, I was.

13,255. Was anything said about your vote ?—Nothing, no more than Mr. Gower himself and Mr. Smith came to ask me for my vote, which I promised them there and then.

13,256. But afterwards, did any of the agents tell you when you were put on to the work how much you would receive for the work ?—I do not remember anything of the sort being mentioned.

13,257. When the work was off, did you go and ask to be paid for your services ?—No.

13,258. Did they send for you ?—At the end of the first fortnight I asked Apted if he would be kind enough to allow me some money, for I had been out of work some time, and I was very poorly, and was in great need of it.

13,259. Did he give you some ?—Yes.

13,260. What did he give you, 1*l.* ?—2*l.* after being working a fortnight.

13,261. Did you understand that to be at the rate of 1*l.* a week, or a lump ?—I had no understanding about it at that time.

13,262. Afterwards you were paid more ?—Yes.

13,263. Before the election ?—No, after the election; some weeks after.

13,264. What did you get after the election ?—I made up my account according to the time I had been engaged, and I sent it up to Mr. Smith ; and, in fact, I went the first time, but the clerk said he was not at home, and I had better make out my account.

13,265. You made it out on paper ?—Yes.

13,266. How much was your account ?—I charged them from the time after I received the 2*l.* I had been engaged 20 days, and I charged them 3*l.*, besides the 2*l.*

13,267. Did he pay you the 3*l.* after ?—He sent me a cheque after three or four days.

13,268. So you were paid 5*l.* ?—Yes.

13,269. He sent you a cheque ?—Yes ; and I went to the bank and received the money for it.

13,270. What bank did you go to ?—This bank in Reigate, in West-street.

13,271. The London and County Bank. What bank was the cheque drawn upon ?—I cannot say.

13,272. You are a scholar, of course ?—Yes.

13,273. Did you write your name on the back of the cheque ?—I believe I did.

13,274. You did ?—I believe I did.

13,275. Had you been working at all for Mr. Conway, of Wray-park ?—No.

13,276. You know him ?—Yes.

13,277. Do you recollect having some talk with him about the work you had done ?—Never a word.

13,278. Never a word with him ?—Never a word with him.

13,279. No talk with him about the election ?—Not at all.

13,280. You did not say to him that you had been taking out circulars, and you supposed you should be paid like other people ?—Never a word of anything of the kind ; if I had I should have told you at first. We never had any talk about it.

The witness withdrew.

T. Fuller.

THOMAS FULLER sworn and examined.

13,281. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What rent do you pay for your house ?—4*s.* a week.

13,282. What are you ?—A quarryman.

13,283. Whom did you vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

13,284. You were first of all asked to vote for Mr. Monson, were you not ?—No.

13,285. You had promised to vote for Mr. Monson, had you not ?—No.

13,286. Did you do any work for Mr. Monson ?—No.

13,287. Or for his party ?—No.

13,288. Are you quite certain about that ?—Yes, quite ; I never did anything.

13,289. Did you take out circulars for any of Mr. Monson's committee ?—No.

13,290. Were you asked to take out circulars ?—No.

13,291. Did you ever go to any of the houses where Mr. Monson's friends met ?—I might have been in some houses ; I might have called in.

13,292. You very probably did call in ?—Well, at times.

13,293. Give me the names of any of the houses you called in at ?—I had no particular time for going. I called in at a good many houses at that time.

13,294. And you called in, I suppose, at Mr. Monson's houses and at Mr. Gower's houses ?—Yes.

13,295. You were not particular which you went into ?—Not at all, certainly not ; what I had I paid for.

13,296. When you went into any of Mr. Monson's houses you were known to be a voter ?—Yes.

13,297. You were well known to people, were you not ?—I suppose so.

13,298. Do you mean to say that the people in Mr. Monson's houses did not ask you which way you were going to vote ? Can you give me the names of any of these houses ?—No.

13,299. Were you ever at the "Grapes" ?—Yes ; several times.

13,300. During the time pending the election?—No.

13,301. Do you know Rodney ?—Yes.

13,302. That is Mr. Holdsworth's house ?—Yes.

13,303. He is a very good sort of a fellow, is he not ?—I do not know that he is. I never had anything in his house, only what I paid for.

13,304. Has anybody told you to come here to say you never had anything but what you paid for ?—No.

13,305. Then why do you always tell me you always paid for what you had ? Do you think it very material that you should always say you paid for everything that you had ?—I do not know that it is.

13,306. Because I have not said yet that you did not pay. Why should you always tell me at every answer you give to me that you paid for what you had ? Somebody has told you, has he not ?—I have not seen any one ; I came straight from home.

13,307. I do not mean to-day, but within the last few days, some one has seen you about this story ?—No.

13,308. Do you mean to say that you have not talked with anybody about giving your evidence ?—Yes ; we have talked as we have been at work.

13,309. Have they not said, "Well, when you go "there you had better say you paid for what you "had" ?— No ; never.

13,310. You are quite certain of that ?—Yes, if I never speak another word.

13,311. Did Mr. Holdsworth ever ask you to vote for Mr. Monson ?—No.

13,312. Were you in Mr. Holdsworth's society or company recently before the election ?—Yes, once.

13,313. Where ?—At his house.

13,314. The "Red Cross" ?—Yes.

13,315. Was it in the daytime or evening ?—The daytime.

13,316. In what part of the house did you see him ?—In his back parlour.

13,317. That is a little private room of his own ?—It is not a very small room.

13,318. It was in his private room, was it not ?—Yes.

13,319. You and Holdsworth were alone ?—Yes.

13,320. Had you ever been in that room before ?—No, I think not.

13,321. How long before the election were you in that room ?—I do not know how long it was, three or four weeks it might be, I am sure I cannot say.

13,322. You did not go into that room of your own accord, did you ?—I went in for a glass of something.

13,323. It is not usual for you to go in that room and take your glass of something to drink ?—I have gone in many times before.

13,324. The same room ?—Yes.

13,325. Alone ?—No, when I have got any one particular.

13,326. It was only on particular occasions you did go in that room ?—No, it is a house I very seldom call at.

13,327. How came you to go in that room with Mr. Holdsworth on that night; what was the occasion of your going in ?—I did not know.

13,328. If you did not know, did Mr. Holdsworth tell you why you should go ?—No.

13,329. Did he ask you in ?—I believe he did.

13,330. When he had asked you in, did he tell you why he had asked you in ?—He asked me which side I should vote; I did not give him any certain answer.

13,331. But did Holdsworth say to you, "Come, "Fuller, come in and have a glass of something with "me" ?—No, he did not.

13,332. How did he invite you in ?—I went in at the door and asked him for something to drink, and he invited me in there.

13,333. To go and take it there ?—Yes.

13,334. When you were in the room together, you did get talking about the election, did you not ?—Yes.

13,335. Who opened the ball, Holdsworth ?—Well, he commenced it, I think, but I will not be certain.

13,336. Tell me what Holdsworth said; did he ask you whether you were going to vote for Mr. Monson, or if you would vote for Mr. Monson ?—He asked me whether I would, and I told him I was not quite certain whether I should or not.

13,337. You had not made up your mind on which side of politics you would go ?—No.

13,338. When Holdsworth found that you were a little doubtful, did he try to persuade you to come on his side ?—Yes.

13,339. What arguments did he use to persuade you to go to Mr. Monson ?—He gave me half a sovereign.

13,340. Was that the only argument which he used, or did he say anything more ?—I did not remain in the house.

13,341. How long were you there ?—Half an hour.

13,342. A deal of business may be done in half an hour; in the first place, you got half a sovereign ?—Yes.

13,343. Did he say, "Now, Fuller, here is half a "sovereign, now will you vote for Mr. Monson" ?—No, he did not say anything of the kind.

13,344. For what did you get the half-sovereign ?—I suppose he thought he was going to have me.

13,345. But he had spoken to you about the election and voting for Mr. Monson before he gave you the half-sovereign ?—Yes.

13,346. And you told him that you were doubtful; how long after you told him you were doubtful did he give you the half-sovereign ?—Very soon after, I was not in more than half an hour.

13,347. Was it a few minutes after that ?—Yes.

12,348. Immediately after ?—Certainly, almost.

13,349. Directly you told him that you were doubtful. The half-sovereign did not clear up your doubts ?—No.

13,350. What did you do with the half-sovereign, put it in your pocket ?—I put it in my pocket.

13,351. Did you promise at all that you would vote for Mr. Monson ?—No.

13,352. If you did not promise to vote for Mr. Monson, did Mr. Holdsworth ask you for the half-sovereign back again ?—No.

13,353. Did you not think it rather strange that he should make you a present of half a sovereign ?—No.

13,354. Had anybody else given you half a sovereign at the time of the election ?—That would seem strange.

13,355. Did you pay for what you had ?—Yes.

13,356. What did you pay for it ?—Sixpence, for a glass of gin and water.

13,357. Did you have a sixpence in your pocket ?—Yes.

13,358. You did not give the half-sovereign, like another voter did, to get it changed ?—No.

13,359. Was Mr. Holdsworth talking about the election of Mr. Monson during the whole half-hour ?—No.

13,360. Did he allow you to go out of the house leaving him quite in doubt ?—Yes.

13,361. Mr. Holdsworth would not be quite satisfied with your first expression of doubt after giving you half a sovereign; he made use of some other arguments besides the half-sovereign ?—About the election?

13,362. Did he not promise you that if you voted for Mr. Monson you would get something more ?—No.

13,363. Do you mean to say that he never told you you would get something more ?—No, he did not.

13,364. Did you tell him that you were going to vote for Mr. Gower ?—I told him I had not made up my mind.

13,365. You left that in doubt too ?—Yes.

13,366. Did you see Mr. Holdsworth again before the election ?—Perhaps I might.

13,367. Did you ?—I am not certain whether I did or not.

13,368. Mr. Holdsworth would not let the half-sovereign remain in your pocket without having a little better understanding than that. He saw you again ?—I do not know.

13,369. It was before the election he saw you again; when did you see him; you spoke to him after he gave you the half-sovereign ?—I do not recollect that I did.

13,370. Did anybody else belonging to the Monson party see you ?—I saw nothing of them.

13,371. Did anyone besides Holdsworth give you half a sovereign ?—No.

13,372. Did you tell anybody he had made you a present of one ?—No.

13,373. Were you ever at Mr. Holdsworth's stable ?—No.

13,374. Never ?—No.

13,375. Did Mr. Nichols ever ask you for your vote ?—No.

13,376. Where you ever at the "Grapes"?—Yes.

13,377. Were you at the "Grapes"? Did you ever get into the back parlour ?—Oh, yes; I have been there several times.

13,378. But during the election ?—Not election time.

13,379. Now, I will just call your attention to a visit that was before the election ?—Yes.

EIGHTH DAY.

T. Fuller.

30 Aug. 1866.

13,380. Were you in the "Grapes" after you had received the half-sovereign from Mr. Holdsworth ?—Yes.

13,381. And before the election ?—Yes.

13,382. Now just draw on your recollection; I am sure you will tell me if you can; tell me whether, after you had received that half-sovereign from Mr. Holdsworth, did Mr. Nichols ever speak to you at the "Grapes" about voting for money ?—Not that I know of.

13,383. And refer to this half-sovereign that Mr. Holdsworth had given you ?—No.

13,384. Did you ever tell anybody ?—No.

13,385. Never ?—No.

13,386. On the day of election did Mr. Holdsworth come to you ?—No.

13,387. Did anybody come from Mr. Monson to take you to the poll ?—Yes.

13,388. Who came to you on the part of Mr. Monson to take you to the poll?—A man of the name of Fuller.

13,389. A relation of yours ?—No.

13,390. What is his Christian name ?—Frederick.

13,391. Frederick Fuller came to take you to the poll ?—Yes.

13,392. What time in the day did Frederick Fuller come ?—Somewhere in the morning part; I do not know what time it was. I was then employed at 7 o'clock in the morning.

13,393. Did you go with him ?—No.

13,394. Why not ?—I had not made up my mind. I had made up my mind for Mr. Gower all the while.

13,395. Had you ever told anybody so ?—Yes.

13,396. Who ?—James Ede.

13,397. When did you tell James Ede?—Why, some weeks before the election it might be.

13,398. Was that before you received the half-sovereign from Mr. Holdsworth ?—After.

13,399. You had not made up your mind when you received the half-sovereign, you told Holdsworth ?—Not to vote for Mr. Monson. I had not made up my mind to vote for Mr. Monson.

13,400. But you had made up your mind to vote for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

13,401. They were the only two candidates ?—Yes, I know they were.

13,402. Having made up your mind to vote for Mr. Gower, I just want to test your notions of honesty. Did you consider it honest to take the half-sovereign from Holdsworth, leaving him to suppose that you would vote for Mr. Monson ? Do you consider that was common honesty ?—No, I do not know that it was.

13,403. Why did not you, as an honest man, tell Mr. Holdsworth when he gave you that half-sovereign, which you knew was for the purpose of influencing you to vote for Mr. Monson, that you had made up your mind to vote for Mr. Gower ?—It was in the fore part of the election when I saw Mr. Holdsworth.

13,404. You told me you had made up your mind to vote for Mr. Gower all through ?—Yes.

13,405. And Mr. Gower was in the field before you got the half-sovereign ?—Yes.

13,406. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was the third week in June when you talked to Holdsworth ?—Yes.

13,407. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When did you tell this to Ede, after that ?—Yes.

13,408. When was it then that you told Ede you should vote for Gower ?—It might be a week or ten days.

13,409. Did Ede ask you to go to Mr. Gower, or did you go to Mr. Gower ?—He asked me.

13,410. Did you expect to receive anything from Ede for voting for Mr. Gower ?—No.

13,411. Just let me ask you this; what did he say ?—He asked me if I had made up my mind to vote for Mr. Gower, and I said, "Yes."

13,412. You said you had made up your mind to vote for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

13,413. Did he ask you to go on the committee ?—No.

13,414. Or to work for them ?—No.

13,415. Did he tell you that you were to be paid like the other people ?—No.

13,416. You expected to be paid ?—No, I did not.

13,417. Did anybody hold out any inducement to you that you should be paid ?—No.

13,418. Not at all ?—No.

13,419. You were still a little doubtful whether you should vote for Mr. Gower, though you had told James Ede you should vote for him ?—No, not at all.

13,420. What time in the day did you vote ?—Between 9 and 10 I believe it was.

13,421. Do you know Alexander Rose ?—I have seen him.

13,422. More than once ?—Oh, yes, several times.

13,423. Do you know a man of the name of James Bartlett ?—No.

13,424. You never saw him ?—Not that I know of.

13,425. You do not think you ever saw him ?—Not that I know of.

13,426. You know the "Yew Tree," do you not ?—Yes, I do.

13,427. Where is it ?—Up the hill, about a mile from here.

13,428. Do you live in the neighbourhood ?—Yes, close by.

13,429. There is a very good skittle ground ?—I do not know.

13,430. Do you ever play at skittles ?—No, I never did practise.

13,431. You never go into the skittle ground ?—No, not once in a twelvemonth.

13,432. If you ever went into the skittle ground, you would go to look at the play ?—Yes.

13,433. Now, just tell me, I put it to you on your solemn oath, were you not at the "Yew Tree" on the morning of the day of polling in the skittle ground ?—No, I was not.

13,434. Were you at the "Yew Tree" ?—I was.

13,435. On the day of polling ?—Yes; I went in there and had half a pint of beer.

13,436. Did you see Alexander Rose there ?—No.

13,437. Did you see Alexander Rose the morning of the day of polling ?—He came to me at my house.

13,438. Did you see him to speak to ?—Yes.

13,439. Did he speak to you ?—Yes.

13,440. Was anybody with him ?—No.

13,441. Was not James Bartlett with him ?—No.

13,442. Were you two alone ?—Yes.

13,443. Was that before you voted ?—Yes.

13,444. Did Mr. Rose ask you whether you had voted ?—He knew I had not.

13,445. How did he know you had not voted ?—I do not know.

13,446. Did he tell you that he knew you had not voted ?—Yes.

13,447. And he spoke to you about voting ?—Yes.

13,448. You were a little coy, you wanted a little pressing to go up to vote ?—Not at all, as soon as he came I went.

13,449. But something else took place before you went ?—No.

13,450. If you choose to tell me all the truth, more did take place ?—To tell you the truth, there was not the least thing.

13,451. Did Rose tell you if you voted there would be something come to you after the election ?—No.

13,452. Will you swear that ?—Yes.

13,453. Did not Alexander Rose upon that occasion offer you money to vote ?—No.

13,454. I do not say that he paid it ?—No, he did not.

13,455. He offered you money ?—No, he did not.

13,456. He gave you money before you voted, did he not ?—No, he did not; I never saw a halfpenny that day.

13,457. I did not say you saw a halfpenny ?—No, nor no money at all.

13,458. Did you see a sovereign ?—No.

13,459. Or half a sovereign ?—No.

13,460. You were perfectly free to receive half a sovereign, you told us, from Holdsworth ?—Yes.

13,461. Under false pretences. How far had you to walk with Alexander Rose down to the poll ? He came with you all the way. How far had you to walk ?—There was a fly 20 yards below the gate.

13,462. There was a fly ; then he got you in the fly, and drove away to the polling ?—Yes.

13,463. Did Rose tell you he was very anxious you should vote ?—Yes.

13,464. If you were such a staunch friend to the party, why did you require looking up so by Mr. Alexander Rose ?—As soon as he came I went.

13,465. Why did you not go before ?—I might have gone before if I meant to walk down.

13,466. Then you wanted to go like a gentleman in a carriage ?—Certainly I might ride in a carriage as well as a gentleman.

13,467. Was that your only reason for not being earlier, because you wanted to go down to the poll and ride like a gentleman ?—No.

13,468. Were you at work that day ?—No.

13,469. Did you attend the nomination ?—Yes.

13,470. Now after the nomination were you with Mr. Holdsworth or any of Mr. Monson's party ?—No, I went home directly after it was over.

13,471. Has Mr. Rose paid you any money since the election ?—No.

13,472. Has anybody paid you ?—James Ede paid me 30*s.*

13,473. What was that for ?—Polling day and nomination day.

13,474. You had done no work for Ede ?—No, I never did any work at all.

13,475. Was James Ede the person who canvassed you ?—Yes.

13,476. Now James Ede having canvassed you and paid you 30*s.*, tell me did not James Ede make a promise to you before the election ?—No.

13,477. That he would pay you something ?—No, no person at all.

13,478. Did Rose tell you when you were going down to the poll that Ede owed you 1*l.* ?—No.

13,479. Or that he owed you 1*l.* ?—No.

13,480. No reference to Ede at all ?—No.

13,481. Or Apted ?—No.

13,482. Did Ede bring you the money or did you go to him ?—He brought it.

13,483. Did you think it very strange that he should give you the money ?—When he was lamp lighting he called to me.

13,484. He was lamp lighting ?—Yes.

13,485. What is he ?—A lamp lighter in the winter time.

13,486. What is he besides being a lamp lighter ?—A gardener.

13,487. Did he tell you where he got the money from ?—No I never asked a word.

13,488. Were you not rather surprised that this lamp lighter should give you 30*s.* ?—I was surprised.

13,489. Did you go to Ede ?—No.

13,490. Were you on the committee ?—No.

13,491. Have you seen Alexander Rose since this Inquiry ?—No.

13,492. Not at all ?—No, I do not come down to the town once a week.

13,493. Did you see James Ede on the day of polling ?—Yes.

13,494. Where ?—I saw him at the station when I came on at the evening.

13,495. Did he say anything to you about it ?—No, not a word.

13,496. Did you see Ede at the nomination ?—Yes.

13,497. Did you talk to him ?—No, I saw Ede down in the town.

13,498. Did he speak to you about the election ?—No.

13,499. You did not work excepting attending the nomination and polling ?—No, none at all.

12,500. For which you got 30*s.* ?—Yes.

13,501. That was very good pay, was it not ?—Yes.

13,502. Just tell me, what do you usually get as day labourer ?—3*s.* 6*d.* a day.

13,503. (The Chief Commissioner.) You know the "Railway" inn ?—Yes.

13,504. I dare say you recollect being at the "Railway" inn one evening when Job Apted was there ?—No.

13,505. Oh, yes ! try ?—No.

13,506. Do you recollect being at the "Railway" the evening when Batchelor was there ?—No.

13,507. I think you do ?—I do not ; I never was there when they were there.

13,508. You know Job Apted ?—I do, well.

13,509. Were you here when Batchelor gave his evidence ?—No.

13,510. Did you not have some talk with Job Apted about your voting ?—No.

13,511. Never ?—Never.

13,512. Are you quite sure about it ?—Yes, I am.

13,513. We will try a bit further; did you not make some arrangement with Job Apted about what you were to receive if you did your work and voted ?—No.

13,514. You are sure about it ?—Yes.

13,515. Do you know whether there is a Richard Fuller ? Is he a brother of yours ?—No, there is a Fuller; he lives at Redhill, Warwick-town.

The witness withdrew.

Adjourned to to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

NINTH DAY.

Thursday, 31st August 1866.

WILLIAM VOSPER sworn and examined.

13,516. (The Chief Commissioner.) You know a man of the name of David Boscawen ?—Yes.

13,517. You also know a man of the name of Andrews ?—Yes.

13,518. Do you know they are both voters ?—Yes.

13,519. Do you know that David Boscawen voted at the last election ?—Yes.

13,520. How do you know that he voted at the last election ?—Because I saw him poll, and polled with him.

13,521. Did you know him well ?—I brought him up on the polling day. I was at the town hall polling place, and Andrews came to me and asked if he could have a fly, as he had got David Boscawen at his, Andrews's, house.

13,522. Did you succeed in getting the fly ?—Yes ;

NINTH DAY.

W. Vosper.

31 Aug. 1866.

I said, "There are some flys here below, you can have "one of them."

13,523. I ought to have asked you what you are?—I am a tailor.

13,524. You do not belong to the house where the flys were?—No, the flys were not at the house, but in the street; Boscawen was at Andrews's.

13,525. Boscawen was at Andrews's house?—I went up in the fly to Andrews's house; he asked me to go with him, and I did.

13,526. What time in the day was this?—Between 9 and 10 o'clock; some time in the fore part of the day.

13,527. Did you go in the first place to Boscawen's house?—No.

13,528. To which house did you go?—I stayed at the fly while Andrews went into his own house for Boscawen.

13,529. And then Andrews went into his own house; I suppose he was not there long?—Only a few minutes.

13,530. Did he bring out Boscawen?—Yes.

13,531. Did you and he take Boscawen into the fly?—He went in of course, and I accompanied him.

13,532. Was Boscawen at all loth to go in?—Not at all.

13,533. You had known Boscawen before this?—I had a very slight knowledge of him; I merely knew him.

13,534. But being the election time, you had made inquiries about him?—No, I had never made any inquiries about him; I did not know him.

13,535. About his vote I mean?—No.

13,536. Did you hear how he was to vote before this?—No, I did not; I supposed he was going with some of the others he was in league with.

13,537. Who told you to expect that?—Only the rumour that was about.

13,538. So you and Andrews went to get him?—It appeared to me that Andrews had got him, and got his party.

13,539. Then you had not seen Boscawen that morning?—No.

13,540. I mean before?—No, not before Andrews brought him from his house.

13,541. When you saw Andrews in the morning, do you recollect what he told you about Boscawen?—No; all he said was he had got David Boscawen at his house, and he wanted a fly to bring him to the poll.

13,542. Do you know where Boscawen lives?—Only just by.

13,543. Close by?—It is on the opposite side.

13,544. Close by, as you turn to the right?—Yes.

13,545. You did not get from Andrews what time in the morning he had first seen Boscawen?—No.

13,546. Did you hear Andrews say he had seen Boscawen in bed that morning?—Not a word about it.

13,547. You said you are a voter?—Yes.

13,548. Who did you vote for?—For Mr. Gower.

13,549. What is your qualification?—A house and garden.

13,550. What do you pay for it?—20*l.* a year.

13,551. You voted for Gower yourself?—Yes.

13,552. Were you not aware the Monson party were doing what they could to get hold of the Gower people?—Yes.

13,553. Boscawen was one, was he not?—I do not know, except I heard he was in league with some of the party at Langridge's.

13,554. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You heard so?—I heard so.

13,555. And I dare say you heard about money passing to him?—I understood he received some, the same as some of the others of the Monson party.

13,556. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you hear also what money he received from Mr. Gower's party?—No, I never heard he received any.

13,557. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes, sir.

13,558. Did you do what you could for him?—Yes.

13,559. How long before the election were you on his committee?—Five weeks.

13,560. Can you tell me who put you on the committee?—I really do not know who put me on; but I suppose it was by Mr. Smith's authority.

13,561. What did he say to you?—He employed me in assisting in canvassing for Mr. Gower.

13,562. Where was it he canvassed you?—He canvassed me at a shop.

13,563. At your shop?—At the shop where I am employed.

13,564. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you work for yourself?—No.

13,565. (The Chief Commissioner.) And what did he say?—He asked me if I would assist in Mr. Gower's return.

13,566. And you said yes, you would be very willing; and did he ask if you would do some work for them?—He asked if I would assist in Mr. Gower's return as a pure canvasser, and I said I had no objection to assist any honest committee, and if I lost any time I should expect to be remunerated for it.

13,567. What did they say to that?—He said, "Certainly," and that every one who assisted in the canvass, and did work for their money, would be paid for their lost time.

13,568. Did you go to work?—From that time.

13,569. What did you do?—I assisted in the committee rooms and canvass.

13,570. Was any sum mentioned you were to receive?—Yes.

13,571. What was it?—I inquired of Mr. Smith what I was to receive, and he said, "Well, I suppose "two guineas a week."

13,572. Did he pay anything in advance?—No, sir.

13,573. Did you see Mr. Smith again after you had been some time at work; did you get any money?—Not till after the election.

13,574. I will come to that?—Before the election I saw him at the committee rooms.

13,575. You did not go to be paid on Saturdays?—No, I never saw any money, or asked for any; I took his word as a gentleman.

13,576. That was four or five weeks before the election?—Five; it began about the 5th or 6th of June.

13,577. According to the original agreement this would make 10 guineas?—That was it.

13,578. Did you canvass?—Yes, as much as I could in a legitimate way.

13,579. Do you mean by that you did not give any money to anybody?—No.

13,580. Did you offer any money?—No.

13,581. Were you successful in your canvass?—I was in some cases.

13,582. Who did you get?—I got a man of the name of Stevens.

13,583. In bringing him to vote?—Yes.

13,584. Is he a tailor?—No; he lives in Ladbrooke-cottages.

13,585. Is that near you?—Not very near.

13,586. Who else did you secure?—I cannot say I secured any other.

13,587. Did you try?—Yes; but I found it was not of much use.

13,588. Why?—Because there was too much money flowing about the Monson party.

13,589. Were you told the Monson party had promised any of those to whom you applied?—No.

13,590. Or was it from these rumours?—From these rumours.

13,591. Do you think you could recollect any one particular person who had been promised money by the Monson party; treating and bribery?—It seemed to me to be so general that I did not take so much notice of it as I otherwise might have done; it seemed to me to be such a general thing.

13,592. Perhaps you might be able to hit upon one in particular?—I really could not name any individual.

13,593. You went and did what you could in the way of canvassing?—Yes.

13,594. I suppose you attended committee meetings?—Yes.

13,595. And always Mr. Gower's committee meetings; or did you sometimes go and see what was doing at the Monson parties?—No, I never went into one of their meetings; I never went into one of their public houses.

13,596. Were refreshments to be had?—I attended the wrong meetings for that. I only attended at the Redhill, the town hall, underneath here, and the meeting at the British school.

13,597. You did not attend any meetings at public houses?—Not one.

13,598. Then you cannot give me much information about refreshments?—None at all.

13,599. About treating?—None at all.

13,600. I have no doubt you would if you could?—I never attend public houses.

13,601. When Mr. Smith made an arrangement with you was anything said about your vote?—Not a word was said about my vote, only that he required me as canvasser.

13,602. Did he expect you to attend the nomination day as well as polling day?—I expected that was part of my work. We had notice when the nomination day would be, and of course we told.

13,603. Was any amount of pay particularly referred to for the nomination day?—No.

13,604. After the election did you send in an account to Mr. Smith yourself on paper?—Yes.

13,605. In writing?—Yes.

13,606. Then I dare say you can tell us what it was? It would be to — Smith, Esq., for what?—For canvassing.

13,607. Did you put it down in one sum, five weeks for canvassing?—I think it was the 5th of June, and I charged him 10*s.* for the nomination day, and 10*s.* for the polling day.

13,608. In addition?—Yes, but I could not get that.

13,609. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Your charge was the ten guineas and two ten shillings?—Yes.

13,610. You were paid the ten guineas?—Yes.

13,611. (The Chief Commissioner.) Oh, you were paid the ten guineas?—Yes.

13,612. By Mr. Smith?—Yes.

13,613. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How soon after the election?—Early in August.

13,614. In one sum?—In two sums; he gave me a cheque for five guineas, and the remainder he paid in about a fortnight afterwards.

13,615. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I see your name is returned under the head of election expenses?—Yes.

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien inquired for how much.

Mr. Commissioner Smith stated there was one gross sum for payments made by and to canvassers for work done by members of the committee, for 49 roughs, also for bringing voters up to the poll on polling day, &c., &c., amounting to a total of 208*l.* 7*s.*

13,616. (The Chief Commissioner.) You had an arrangement with Mr. Smith, who paid you 10*s.* for the nomination day and 10*s.* for the polling day?—I think there was a day or two over the time; I think it was a little over the five weeks.

13,617. You did not tell us the exact time when it began?—I think it was the 5th of June.

13,618. Do you mean to say that was your reason for putting in the two 10*s.*?—I put them in for devoting all my time. I thought two guineas would not pay me.

13,619. The time you took up was after you were done your work as a tailor?—It was betweenwhiles. I do not mean that I gave up my time exclusively to canvassing, but I gave up more than my ordinary overtime to canvassing.

13,620. You were at work the whole of the time?—In patches.

13,621. Most people do work in patches?—I am not a journeyman tailor.

13,622. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a master?—No; I manage a business.

13,623. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And you took what time you could from your ordinary business?—No; I lost a good deal of ordinary business.

13,624. (The Chief Commissioner.) Of your master's?—It was not his trade.

13,625. When the manager is away the journeyman will play?—It does not matter to him, it is piece work.

13,626. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are paid so much a year?—I am paid a certain sum as manager, and I fill up my time by sewing. I may give two hours to my employer, and I may choose to work eight or ten hours, and I should get paid for it.

13,627. You would then be working like an ordinary workman?—Yes.

13,628. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What were you paid for the ordinary work?—1*l.* a week.

13,629. (The Chief Commissioner.) That went on?—Yes.

13,630. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are your average earnings a week?—From 30*s.* to 50*s.*

13,631. Had a canvassing book been given you?—No.

13,632. Did you not forward Mr. Smith, or had you no means of furnishing him with any sort of guide of what you had done?—No.

13,633. It was rather a loose way for him to do business; my friend here or myself might have sent him in a bill for 10 guineas in that way?—I had none, sir.

13,634. Then you did not furnish him with any, if you had none?—No, sir.

13,635. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you a list of the voters?—Yes; I had a list in the committee.

13,636. Who supplied you with it?—I think I had it in the committee room.

13,637. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you canvass among your own circle of friends?—Yes, among people I was well acquainted with.

13,638. You did not canvass beyond that?—No.

13,639. You did not go from house to house as a regular canvasser?—No.

13,640. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did any of your friends canvass you, for they seemed to have canvassed one another?—No.

13,641. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you no remember being canvassed by James Stevens?—No.

13,642. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you canvassed by Andrews?—No.

13,643. (The Chief Commissioner.) Perhaps you were canvassed by Boscawen?—No.

13,644. I should like to know this. Were you not canvassed?—I was not canvassed, only by Mr. Smith.

13,645. Were you not canvassed by people in the same station of life as yourself?—No, I was not canvassed.

13,646. Was this your first election?—Yes.

13,647. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you canvassed by Holdsworth?—I was not canvassed by him. I do not know him.

13,648. Were you not canvassed by Mr. Monson?—I know him, but I never was canvassed by any one of that party.

13,649. You say you never were canvassed by any one of that party?—No, I was not.

The witness then withdrew.

NINTH DAY.

31 Aug. 1866.

THOMAS GILLHAM sworn and examined.

T. Gillham.

13,650. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you a milkman?—No.

13,651. What are you?—A baker, an honest baker; that is what you do not hear of often.

13,652. What house do you rent? What is the value of your house?—I pay 24*l.* a year.

13,653. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

13,654. Have you voted more than once?—Yes.

13,655. Now we will inquire about the last election, 1865?—I did not vote for any one at all.

13,656. Were you canvassed?—Mr. Gower called upon me.

13,657. Did you promise him?—No.

13,658. Did anybody call besides Mr. Gower?—No.

13,659. Are you Thomas Gillham senior, or junior?—I think I am senior.

13,660. You do not know then? Have you a son, and did your son vote?—I do not know.

13,661. You must know?—No, I do not.

13,662. Does he live with you?—No, a mile and a half off.

13,663. Have you seen him since the election?—Oh, several times.

13,664. Do you mean to say your son has not told you for whom he voted?—No.

13,665. Where does your son live?—South Park, I think it is now called; at any rate it is over the park; it is on the freehold side, about a mile, I suppose, from this place.

13,666. Did you take any part whatever in this election of 1865?—Not a bit.

13,667. Why did you not?—Because I had other business to attend to which I considered was more important.

13,668. And would pay better?—If it did not pay me better than the former election, it would not pay me anything at all.

13,669. Then you did not get paid at the former election?—No.

13,670. Was that the reason why you did not vote at this?—No.

13,671. What was your reason for not voting?—I had a large rent to pay and a large family, and I considered my business of more importance than gadding about at the election.

13,672. How far was your house from the polling place?—A quarter of a mile from it, from that to half a mile.

13,673. Of course there was no occasion for you to go gadding about after voters, but you might have walked a quarter of a mile and polled?—I am not so fond of walking.

13,674. How far is your dwelling away from the polling place?—A quarter of a mile.

13,675. You go to church?—Yes, but I do not bake on Sundays.

13,676. Do you walk to church?—Yes.

13,677. It would not have been too far if you had come to vote to walk a quarter of a mile. Were you asked to vote?—Yes.

12,678. Who by?—Mr. Gower.

13,679. And by anybody else; by Mr. Durrant?—No.

13,680. And Apted?—No.

13,681. Did not any of his party come to you?—Not that I can remember; in fact, I am sure they did not.

13,682. You are quite certain they did not come and ask you to vote on the election of 1865?—I cannot remember that they did; not any one whatever.

13,683. Then they overlooked you. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

13,684. Who did you vote for in 1863?—Mr. Wilkinson.

13,685. Then, although they did pay you badly, what did you get for it?—Nothing at all.

13,686. Were you offered anything?—Not a 6*d.* or 1*s.*

13,687. Were you on the committee?—No.

13,688. How came you to vote then?—Mr. Wilkinson's brother came and asked me to vote.

13,689. Mr. Norman Wilkinson?—Yes; and I had heard that he was a good sort of gentleman, and therefore I voted for Mr. Wilkinson. I know something of the other Mr. Wilkinson.

13,690. You only know Norman?—Yes.

13,691. From living in the neighbourhood?—The other Mr. Wilkinson was not living in the neighbourhood, whom I was to vote for.

13,692. Mr. Norman Wilkinson was living in the neighbourhood?—Yes.

13,693. And he asked you to vote and do your best for his brother?—Yes.

13,694. Did you vote at the previous election?—I think I voted for Mr. Wilkinson twice; if he put up twice I voted for him twice.

13,695. Did you take any interest in the election or merely promise Mr. Norman?—I promised Mr. Norman and his brother both.

13,696. You took no further interest in it?—Not any.

13,697. I rather think the Thomas Gillham we want is your son?—Very likely.

13,698. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is your son here?—I have not seen him.

The Commissioner remarked he was sorry the mistake had been made.

(The Witness.) I want to ask you one question.

13,699. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you got any further information to give us?—No; I only want to ask you a question.

The Commissioner remarked that he did not sit there to answer questions.

The Witness said that he was called in the box to answer questions, and it would only be considered fair play amongst mates to answer each other.

The witness withdrew.

J. Cheald.

JOHN CHEALD affirmed and examined.

13,700. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you receive a summons to serve on Benjamin Brown?—Yes.

13,701. Of where?—Earlswood-common.

13,702. Is there any other direction than that?—No; Benjamin Brown, Earlswood-common.

13,703. No number or anything?—No.

13,704. Did you serve it?—I served it on his wife.

13,705. Where did you find his wife?—At his own house.

13,706. Did you leave it with his wife at his house?—I gave it her in her hand.

13,707. Did you tell her what it was?—Yes.

13,708. Can you tell me when that was, is it as much as two or three days ago?—Yes.

13,709. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What time?—In the evening.

13,710. (The Chief Commissioner.) There is a Benjamin Brown on the register of Earlswood-common, and there is a Benjamin Brown of Warwick-road?—The one I served was of Earlswood-common.

13,711. This was not the Warwick-road one?—No, it was Earlswood-common; my son went with me when I served it.

The Chief Commissioner ordered Benjamin Brown of Earlswood-common to be called.

(He did not appear.)

HENRY WILLIAM GOSS recalled and examined.

13,712. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were examined on Saturday?—Yes.

13,713. You were then sworn, and that is continuous till now. I believe you have some information about a person called Fullbrook; be kind enough to give it us. I am very much obliged to you, Mr. Goss, and if all the other gentlemen in the town would only be so kind, we should get through our work very much quicker, and very much more agreeably; now, if you please, tell us what you have to say?—I canvassed him a fortnight after Mr. Gower put up.

13,714. What is his Christian name?—Frederick Fullbrook is his name.

13,715. When you canvassed him what took place?—He promised Mr. Gower his vote; we then made a bargain. I was to fetch him on the polling day, as he was going to remove from that place where he was to another at Brighton. I went and fetched him according to promise, and took another man with me. He said the reason why he did not come was that he had received 5*l.* from the other party.

13,716. (The Chief Commissioner.) He did not come?—No.

13,717. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) On the polling morning you went to him?—Yes; a man of the name of Risbridger came with me; he can, perhaps, give you more information than I can.

13,718. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He went with you, but Fullbrook did not come?—He did not come.

13,719. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He had received 5*l.* you say?—He was to receive 5*l.* There were six of them at the bottom of Earlswood-common; there were five or six who were to receive that sum.

13,720. Did he give you the name of the others or any of them?—No, he did not. There was Nash, Benjamin Brown, and Steers; Steers who is since dead.

13,721. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What is Nash's Christian name?—I do not know; and there was Steers.

13,722. Yes, he is dead; but we may as well have his name. Go on?—And Brown.

13,723. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is that Benjamin Brown of Earlswood-common?—Yes.

13,724. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he say what they were to receive?—The same.

13,725. For whom did those men vote?—For Mr. Monson.

13,726. Did Fullbrook vote for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

13,727. All of them voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

13,728. Is there any other information which you have to give the Commissioners?—No, nothing but that.

13,729. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me this, if you please. Did you tell Fullbrook when you canvassed him you had put his name down on the committee?—Apted told Mr. Gower it was, and so I heard, and Mr. Gower went and saw him, and he promised Mr. Gower likewise.

13,730. Can you tell me whether his name was put down on the committee?—It was.

13,731. Did you make any agreement with Fullbrook?—No.

13,732. Did you tell him that besides giving his vote he would be wanted to do some work?—Not to work.

13,733. Did any one in your hearing tell him?—No, they did not then.

13,734. Do you know whether they did afterwards?—I do not.

13,735. Do you know whether he was employed at all?—I cannot say.

13,736. For Mr. Gower's party, I mean?—I do not know.

13,737. Did you see him taking bills about, or doing anything at all?—No.

13,738. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he tell you by whom this 5*l.* was to be paid to him?—No, he said he was to receive it that morning; I think he told Risbridger so after I got into the park.

13,739. That morning before polling?—Before polling I think.

The Witness observed that Risbridger's horse and cart had been hired.

13,740. Who hired it?—Mr. Penfold.

13,741. Is Risbridger a voter?—Yes.

13,742. He had Fullbrook's horse and cart?—No, it was Risbridger's.

13,743. Were you there when he hired it?—Yes, I went and told him that Penfold wanted it.

13,744. Did he tell you what he paid for it?—I think 30*s.* a day to fetch other voters.

13,745. (The Chief Commissioner.) By Mr. Penfold's orders?—Yes.

13,746. One horse, of course?—One horse.

13,747. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) 30*s.* a day?—Yes; there were two or three gates we had to go through.

13,748. You did not pay every time?—We did not pay for going for once and coming back.

The Witness having stated that nothing else had occurred, withdrew after having been thanked by the Commissioners.

JOHN HARSENT sworn and examined.

J. Harsent.

13,749. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You reside at Meade-vale and are a voter of the borough?—I did.

13,750. At the time of the election?—Yes.

13,751. What are you?—A tailor.

13,752. What rent do you pay for the house which you voted for?—12*l.* a year.

13,753. Do you occupy it now?—No.

13,754. You have lost your qualification?—I have removed.

13,755. What rented house do you live in now?—I am not an occupier now.

13,756. You are a lodger now?—Yes.

13,757. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee at the last election?—I believe so.

13,758. You know you were if you were?—Yes I was.

13,759. Who asked you to go on the committee?—Mr. Mazden, I believe.

13,760. How long before the election was it that you were put on the committee?—Almost the first of it.

13,761. About six weeks before the election?—Five or six weeks.

13,762. Did you work for him as a committee man?—Yes.

13,763. You canvassed?—Some I did.

13,764. Did you carry out any circulars?—No.

13,765. You merely canvassed?—Yes.

13,766. Did you attend the meetings at Mazden's house?—Only once or twice.

13,767. Did you attend other meetings at other public houses?—No.

13,768. Mr. Mazden's is a public house, is it not?—Yes.

13,769. Did you not attend committee meetings at other public houses?—No.

13,770. They were held in other public houses, were they not?—Yes, some of them.

13,771. You had been five or six weeks engaged in that way; what remuneration were you to receive?—7*l.*

13,772. That would be about 30*s.* a week?—Yes.

13,773. Was it calculated by the week or by a lump sum?—I was paid 5*l.* before I commenced.

13,774. By whom?—Mr. Mazden.

13,775. What were you to have altogether?—7*l.*

13,776. Was that sum mentioned?—Yes.

13,777. And I suppose you were to vote for Mr. Gower?—There was nothing said about my voting for Mr. Gower.

13,778. It would not be said, but it was understood between you that you were to vote for Mr. Gower?—I suppose that was what it was for, of course.

13,779. You knew it and he knew it?—I had promised Mr. Gower previously to that.

NINTH DAY.
J. Harsent.
31 Aug. 1866.

13,780. Mazden knew it and you knew what it was for. When did you get the other 2*l.*?—Not at all.

13,781. Was the 2*l.* to be for the nomination day and the polling day?—There was nothing mentioned about that. I asked for the 7*l.* at first, and he said he had not money enough to pay me the whole, but he paid me 5*l.*, and I have never received the other 2*l.*

13,782. Did you apply to him after the election?—Yes, I did.

13,783. What did you say to him?—I asked him when I was to get the balance of the 7*l.* I said, "You "ought to pay me the 2*l.*," or something to that effect. I told him I expected the money, and I applied to him two or three times.

13,784. What did he say?—He said he would pay me as soon as things were settled up.

13,785. That was the petition?—Yes.

13,786. When he spoke to you about remuneration I believe you asked for more; you asked for 10*l.* at first, did you not?—Yes.

13,787. And he said "No, I will give you 5*l.*?"—No.

13,788. What did he say?—7*l.*

13,789. And you closed the bargain then and there?—Yes.

13,790. I need not ask you, for you give your evidence very fairly, but in fact you did nothing?—Yes.

13,791. What did you do?—I sat up several nights watching.

13,792. The nights were short then, you did not lose any of your working time, you were still working as a tailor?—Yes; I did not work in the night.

13,793. Now about the watching; what were you watching?—I cannot tell you scarcely.

13,794. In fact, we know enough of watching. It was a good excuse; the nights were fine; did you work at it more than one night?—Yes, three.

13,795. Near Mazden's?—Yes, about the vicinity of Mazden's.

13,796. Mazden's house was open?—Not all the time, not after 12.

13,797. It was open up till 12, and of course you had refreshments there?—No, I had not any.

13,798. Were there many of you out watching?—Several; four or five.

13,799. Watching each other?—No, only to see if the opposite party came to different houses where we had got promises of votes.

13,800. You know they were rather interested, I suppose?—Some of them were.

13,801. Were you canvassed yourself by any of your friends besides Mazden?—No.

13,802. You were not?—No.

13,803. Was that the first time you voted?—No.

13,804. You voted in 1863?—Yes.

13,805. For whom?—Mr. Wilkinson.

13,806. Out of the same qualification, I presume?—No.

13,807. Was employment as good in 1863 as in 1865?—Yes.

13,808. What did you receive then; I will take it shortly?—I received 30*s.* a week.

13,809. You are giving candid answers, and I will take you plainly; for how many weeks was it?—Five weeks.

13,810. You received 7*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

13,811. You were paid all then?—Yes.

13,812. In a lump sum?—No, by the week; Mr. James paid me.

13,813. The work was the same?—No, I went canvassing to London.

13,814. You were paid the expenses?—No, I was not; I put in the expenses, but I never was paid.

13,815. How was it you were not paid your expenses; I should have thought that was a thing a man could demand beyond all other things?—I thought it was, but Mr. James, when I saw him, said he would send it down; he never did, and I went to him again and received no positive reply about it.

13,816. About what were your expenses?—7*l.*

13,817. Do you mean to say—when I say that of course I know that you are telling me the truth, but you say you did a little more work in 1863 than in 1865?—Yes, I did.

13,818. Was that the first time you voted?—Yes.

13,819. Now you will tell me, because you really are giving your evidence fairly: what were you and the four or five others watching the men for; were they on Mr. Gower's committee the men that you were watching with?—I suppose they were.

13,820. Whether they were or not they had promised to vote?—Yes.

13,821. You know they were open to bribery?—No, I did not.

13,822. I mean suspected; that kind of thing comes into our minds at times?—Yes.

13,823. Did you detect the enemy approaching during the night at all?—We saw some lurking round about the house; some trying to get in.

13,824. Some lurking about?—Yes.

13,825. (The Chief Commissioner.) Going back to the election of 1863, were you on that election canvassed by Mr. Gower?—Yes.

13,826. You promised for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

13,827. What did you say to Mr. Gower?—I told him I had promised my vote to Mr. Wilkinson.

13,828. Were you not canvassed by anybody else than Mr. Gower at the election?—I do not know that I was.

13,829. Did you receive any money?—No, not any not on Mr. Gower's side, not at that time.

13,830. Were you on the committee?—No.

13,831. Was any offer made you that if you would go on Mr. Gower's side you would be paid for the work you did?—No.

13,832. I will just ask you this one question. You attended in this hall and heard the speeches before the election in 1865?—Sometimes I did.

13,833. Were you present either here or below, I do not know which hall it was, when Mr. Gower made his speech about the coming election and the expenses?—Not in this room, I went up to one in the new town hall.

13,834. Did you hear Mr. Gower make a speech in the other town hall?—Yes, I think it was nomination day though.

13,835. No, before that, three weeks before?—No.

13,836. Did you hear Mr. Gower make a speech?—Not here, I did at Redhill.

13,837. Do you remember his making a speech at Redhill?—Yes.

13,838. Before the election?—Yes.

13,839. Do you remember his saying something about those persons who worked for him?—No.

13,840. You do not remember whether he said anything about those persons should be paid afterwards who worked for him?—No.

13,841. One other question; at this last election of 1865 were any promises made to you by Mr. Monson's party?—Yes.

13,842. That is what I wanted; who is it who made the promise?—Mr. Ireland; he has since died.

13,843. Who was with him?—Nobody was with him, not in my house; there was somebody with him I believe when he came round.

13,844. Who was that?—Langridge I believe.

13,845. Then one day Mr. Ireland and Mr. Langridge called on you?—No.

13,846. Well, Langridge remained outside. Was Ireland an active man for Mr. Monson?—I believe so.

13,847. How long was this before the election?—About a week or ten days.

13,848. Did they come in the first instance and ask you for your vote?—They asked me if I had decided which way I was going to vote, I told them "Yes, for "Mr. Gower"; he said, "You had better come over "to Mr. Monson's side, we can do better than you can "get on the side that you are on."

13,849. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You could get what?—More money he meant I suppose.

13,850. Did he say you could keep what you got on the other side as well?—No.

13,851. (The Chief Commissioner.) He had no means of knowing what was done for you?—No.

NINTH DAY.

J. Harsent.

31 Aug. 1866.

13,852. Did he make terms to you, did he name any sum ?—Yes, he said he could do me as much as 15*l.*

13,853. Was any money shown ?—No.

13,854. Did he tell you how the 15*l.* would be paid ?—No, he said if I made up my mind I was to go down to Mr. Nichols.

13,855. James Nichols ?—Yes.

13,856. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is that Nichols at the end of Bell-street ?—"The Grapes."

13,857. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you say ?—I told him I had promised my vote.

13,858. He knew that already ?—I told him I would not go.

13,859. You stood staunch ?—Yes.

13,860. Did he leave you then ? Was he satisfied, and did he go away ?—He never called on me again, I never saw any of them after.

13,861. Was that all that passed ?—Yes.

13,862. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I only want you to tell me on what terms you served Mr. Gower, were you made canvasser, or messenger, or what ?—I canvassed, and Mazden said that there would be different jobs he would want me to do, and I was to do what they wanted. If there were any colours to make it was agreed my wife should make them.

13,863. You made colours ?—Yes, for the election.

13,864. Colours to give to the voters ?—Yes.

13,865. Did you make up a large quantity ?—Yes.

13,866. Were they given away ?—Yes.

13,867. What did your wife get for that ?—We never received anything.

13,868. That was very hard ?—Yes.

13,869. Did she buy the ribbon, I mean you ?—Yes.

13,870. Did you pay for the ribbon ?—Yes.

13,871. How much ?—2*l.* 9*s.*

13,872. Did you get much for that ?—No.

13,873. Who told you to get the ribbon ?—Mazden and Penfold.

13,874. Where did you get the ribbon ?—At a shop in Mead-vale, I forget the man's name.

13,875. It was not Apted or any of those people ?—No. There was some I got at Mr. Westwood's house, and 9*s.* worth at Mr. Austen's, but I forget the man's name at Mead-vale.

13,876. Did you pay the 8*s.* for the ribbons that Job Apted had ?—No.

13,877. He paid for that and gave you the ribbon ?—Yes.

13,878. Did you get other ribbon supplied to you besides the 8*s.* worth ?—No, none whatever.

13,879. There was a very large quantity, was there not ?—Yes, a great deal.

13,880. Made up into a great many bows ?—Yes.

13,881. How many bows ?—Several dozens, but I cannot tell you how many, we were up all night ; they were given away on the following day as fast as we could give them.

13,882. Where did you take the bows to to give them away ?—They came to my house, and some were sent to Mazden's, and some to Mr. Penfold's.

13,883. You say you were a canvasser ?—Yes.

13,884. I ask you for this purpose, I do not see your name returned in the election expenses as a canvasser ?—No, I had not sent my bill in ; Mrs. Harsent had not sent in the bill for the colours at that time.

13,885. You were paid 5*l.* by Mr. Mazden ?—Yes.

13,886. Your name is not returned in the election expenses, but that of course is not your fault ?—No.

13,887. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why did you not make them pay ?—We have not been certain for some time till now whether we should receive it or not ; Mr. Mazden applied to Mr. Gower for it.

13,888. But if I or Mr. Smith were to ask you to get cloth for us you would make us pay for it, why did you not make Mazden pay for the ribbons ?—We have not done so, we have thought of doing so.

13,889. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you canvass amongst your own friends ?—Yes; at least I have not many friends, the only people I did were strangers with the exception of living in the neighbourhood.

13,890. How many do you think that you canvassed ?—Several.

13,891. You spoke to them as you met them in the street ?—Yes, at dinner time at any place where I met anybody I asked who they were going to vote for.

13,892. You never walked regularly round with a book to know who the persons you canvassed were ; you never called at the houses and put down their names in a book ?—No.

13,893. As you casually met some person in the street whom you knew you asked him whom he was going to vote for ?—Yes.

13,894. That was the way you canvassed ?—Yes.

13,895. Did you ask those persons whom you canvassed if they would come on the committee ?—Yes.

13,896. Did you tell them that if they came on the committee they would be paid ? — I told them that I supposed they would be paid the same as the rest were if they came on the committee.

13,897. Did you tell any of them what they would be likely to receive ?—No, I did not know ; I had never heard any stated sum.

13,898. Excepting that you had received 5*l.* ?—Yes, I had received 5*l.*

13,899. But what the others would get you really did not know ?—No.

13,900. You knew there was a general opinion that all those who came on the committee were to be paid ?—Yes.

13,901. It was a general impression, was it not, that they were to receive money who were on the committee ?—I believe it was a general impression.

13,902. You think it was ?—Yes.

SAMUEL HARRIDEN called, sworn, and examined.

S. Harriden

13,903. (The Chief Commissioner.) Where do you live ?—At South Park.

13,904. Did you vote at the last election ?—Yes.

13,905. For a house ?—Yes.

13,906. What rent did you pay ?—13*l.* a year.

13,907. What are you ?—A labouring man.

13,908. You voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

13,909. Who asked you to vote for him ?—Mr. Durrant.

13,910. Did you promise him at the time ?—Yes.

13,911. When he first came ?—Yes.

13,912. They had not any occasion to canvass you afterwards ?—No, sir; I told them they need not trouble about me, I should stick to my word.

13,913. Did Durrant tell you he would put you on the committee ?—No, sir.

13,914. Did you ask him to do so ?—I asked Mr. Buckland to put me on the committee, and he said he would.

13,915. That was afterwards ? — A day or two afterwards.

13,916. Had you and Mr. Durrant first of all any agreement about what you were to do in the first instance ?—No.

13,917. Did not Durrant tell you he wanted you to look out about the electors ?—Not then he did not.

13,918. At that time nothing was said ?—No.

13,919. Then you asked Buckland afterwards to put you on the committee, and did he put you on the committee ?—I believe so. My name was on; I never asked any more about it.

13,920. Did Buckland make any arrangement with you what you were to go on the committee for ?—I told him I would go to work if he wanted me, and he said I might.

13,921. Did you go to work ?—No, sir, not much.

13,922. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He is accustomed to hard work ?—Yes, sir, you are right.

NINTH DAY.

S. Harriden.

31 Aug. 1866.

13,923. (The Chief Commissioner.) And you were to be paid for the work you did ?—He never promised me anything.

13,924. Did not he make some arrangement with you ?—No.

13,925. Then it was after that that you saw Durrant; was it a second time ?—I see him every day; I live close where he does.

13,926. After you had this talk with Buckland about putting you on the committee, did you have some talk with Durrant ?—We talked about the election.

13,927. And about what you were to do ?—There was nothing to do much.

13,928. That is the very reason you would talk about it, because when you do much you don't talk; but did he talk about what you were to do ?—I do not recollect that he did.

13,929. Do not you recollect his telling you what you would get if you did work for them; you could not give up your time for nothing ?—He never told me what I should get.

13,930. What did he tell you about it ?—I do not know that he told me anything.

13,931. So far as you know, be so good as to tell me what arrangement did Durrant make with you ?—Durrant never made any arrangement with me particular; he said I should be paid if I worked.

13,932. Did he go on and say, "the same as the others," according to the usual rate, or something like that ?—Well, I think he did say something like that.

13,933. Tell me what else was said. Did you have the same sort of conversation with any body else ?—No.

13,934. Was anything more said about Durrant ?—No.

13,935. Do you recollect him telling you that while you were about your work he wished somebody to look after the other people ?—Well, that was at election time; we looked after them a little.

13,936. I do not know whether or not it was that Durrant said, "And, while you are at work, by the "way, I wish you would work those people on the "other side ?—I do not recollect that he said so.

13,937. After this arrangement you did not find the money come very easy, did you ?—I never asked for any.

13,938. But did it come without asking ?—Come ? yes, at last it did.

13,939. Did it come easy at first, before the election ?—No, sir.

13,940. Well, now, am I not right in this; that finding that the money did not come very easy, you determined to take some of it out in refreshment ?—No, sir.

13,941. Why you know you always require refreshment, only common times you have to pay for it ?—I never took none out.

13,942. Do you know the "Barley Mow" ?—Yes, I know it.

13,943. And did not you go there ?—Once or twice.

13,944. I believe you had refreshment there ?—I paid for what I had.

13,945. Did not you sometimes go and have it without paying for it ?—No.

13,946. There is a man named William Groom; were you at William Groom's house ?—I went in there the election night.

13,947. Before the election night ?—No, sir, I never went in, only once.

13,948. Did you have refreshments in there once at Groom's ?—There was some in there.

13,949. Did you partake ?—Yes, I had some then.

13,950. What day was that ?—That was the night before the election.

13,951. You did not pay for that, I think ?—No, I did not; some of them did, but I do not know who.

13,952. You told me you were at the "Barley Mow," but I think that you said that was on the poll day; did you ?—No, sir.

13,953. When was it you were there ?—One or two nights I went down there.

13,954. But you paid there ?—Yes.

12,955. Who keeps the "Barley Mow" ?—Nicholls, the name is.

13,956. That is not James Nichols, the man we have been talking about ?—No, sir.

13,957. You did not get any money before the election ?—No.

13,958. How much did you get afterwards ?—2*l.*

13,959. Who paid it you ?—Durrant.

13,960. Where did you see him ?—He paid me one night at home at my house.

13,961. Did you intimate to him that that was not quite what you were expecting ?—No, sir; I did not say a word about it; I took what he gave me.

13,962. Now tell me this; is this your first election ?—Yes.

13,963. You know nothing about 1863 ?—No.

13,964. You cannot give me any information about any other election besides this ?—No.

A. Heather.

AMBROSE HEATHER sworn and examined.

13,965. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—Carpenter and joiner.

13,966. You voted at the last election ?—Yes, for Mr. Gower.

13,967. What is your qualification ?—A house and garden, 4*s.* per week.

13,968. I suppose you occupy the same house still ?—Yes.

13,969. Was this the first time you voted ?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863.

13,970. Had you a vote before 1863 ?—No.

13,971. I suppose you were on Mr. Gower's committee ?—Yes.

13,972. Who put you on ?—Well, some six weeks before the election Mr. Gower canvassed me himself, and I promised him my vote the first time he canvassed me. Mr. Smith and Mr. Gower canvassed me. I do not know for certain whether it was the next day or a day after I met Mr. William Joyes, he asked me if I would like to go on the committee; I said I would. Then he asked me if I would like to work for them in his way; I said I would; I must have something to do if I went on to work. He asked me what I would like to have; I was not at all particular about that, I would leave that with him. He offered me 1*l.* a week for a month. This was something like six weeks before the election.

13,973. You were saying you were not particular ?—I was not particular to what sum of money they were going to give me. I said 1*l.* a week would satisfy me very well. I was to do anything I could to promote Mr. Gower's election, with the understanding that when the election day came there should be something to do.

13,974. You were left to your own option what you were to do up to the day of the election ?—Yes; I may say so.

13,975. I understood you to mean that, but that they would expect you on the day of the election to do all you could.—I was to be engaged the whole day bringing voters to the poll.

13,976. To vote yourself, of course ?—That was the understanding; I had promised Mr. Gower.

13,977. I suppose you were to be paid 1*l.* for that day ?—No, 1*l.* a week he offered me for four weeks; there was to be no extra money.

13,978. I thought most of them (I do not think it it was unreasonable) were to be paid differently on the election day, because they were really employed on that day ?—There was no understanding about that; money was not my object.

13,979. How much did you receive ?—He said 1*l.* a week for four weeks.

13,980. Did he hand you the 4*l.* ?—Mr. Joyes never paid me at all. I had my money from Smith. After the election I sent my bill in to Mr. Smith, and he sent me a cheque.

13,981. You sent in to Mr. Smith a written statement?—"To services rendered during the election." I think those were the words; I am not quite certain.

13,982. 4*l.* ?—4*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.*, because I had one night's work besides.

13,983. Out watching ?—Yes, nomination night.

13,984. You were paid 4*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes; in August Mr. Smith sent me a cheque for 4*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.*

13,985. I suppose really you were engaged on the polling day ?—I was, bringing voters to the poll. I had notice that I should be wanted for that purpose a day before the election.

13,986. And you were ?—The whole day.

13,987. Up to that you did nothing ?—Merely attending committee meetings.

13,988. Did you attend any meetings that were held at public houses ?—I did not attend any public-house meetings at all. The committee meetings I attended were at the British school, Mead-vale, and in this room here.

13,989. You did not attend any that were held elsewhere, but you knew they were held there ?—Well, I never visited any myself.

13,990. You knew they were open. Now, were you at all canvassed by the other side ?—Mr. Norman Wilkinson canvassed me.

13,991. I mean by the Monson party ?—No,

13,992. They did not come to you at all ?—They knew I was going to Mr. Gower, and I suppose they thought it was not worth while coming.

13,993. No one applied to you ?—No one.

13,994. Were you employed on behalf of Mr. Wilkinson at the last election ?—I promised Mr. Norman Wilkinson weeks before the election.

13,995. Were you employed ?—On the nomination night I had a job. I was in the committee room at the "Swan," and several voters were there. Mr. James engaged me then to be in the public hall the whole of the next day, to be behind the poll-clerks to identify the voters. I knew most of the voters that would poll there.

13,996. What were you to receive ?—Nothing was said as to any sum of money.

13,997. What did you receive?—Two days afterwards I received 2*l.* There was nothing stated about any money or anything of the kind; I was merely to be at the hall the next morning from 8 till 4.

13,998. Who paid you ?—Mr. Frederick Joyes paid me two days after that election.

13,999. You did not send in a bill for that ?—No, I was merely engaged in the committee room. I sent in no bill on that occasion.

14,000. You did not attend any meetings before the nomination day ?—Not except public meetings.

14,001. Had you been canvassed by the Gower party on that occasion ?—Not once, as far as I am aware of. I promised Mr. Norman Wilkinson when he asked me to vote for his brother. I gave him my promise there and then.

14,002. They knew you were a staunch man ?—I believe so; they never canvassed me.

WILLIAM HUMPHREY sworn and examined.

W. Humphrey.

14,003. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—A gardener.

14,004. Where do you live ?—Behind the park, Park-lane.

14,005. What rent do you pay ?—10*l.* 10*s.*

14,006. Did you vote for Mr. Gower at the last election ?—Yes.

14,007. Did you vote in 1863 ?—Yes.

14,008. Who for ?—Mr. Gower.

14,009. Did you vote in the previous election of 1859 ?—No.

14,010. That was your first vote, 1863 ?—Yes.

14,011. Who canvassed you in 1865 for Mr. Gower ?—Mr. Gower himself.

14,012. Did you promise him when he came to you ?—No, sir, I did not promise him when he came to me. I saw him at the "White Hart." I promised him the second time.

14,013. He asked you the first time and you did not promise; had you made up your mind then ?—No, not exactly so.

14,014. How soon did you make it up ?—A week, perhaps, or a fortnight.

14,015. Be so good as to tell me, what were you hesitating about ?—Well, sir, being the first time, of course I did not know much about voting.

14,016. Are you speaking of the election of 1863 or the last election, in 1865 ?—The last election.

14,017. You did not know much about the election, and you were waiting to see how matters turned out ?—I wanted to see how the other people were going on.

14,018. Had you any doubt about politics ?—No.

14,019. How was that ? don't you care about politics ?—No, sir, I do not know much about politics.

14,020. Then at that time you were not doubting on account of politics at all ?—No.

14,021. Now, will you be so good as to tell me what made you decide for Mr. Gower ?—He asked me a second time.

14,022. You waited a week, and during that week you made up your mind; what decided you ?—He asked me.

14,023. But you did not promise him; you had not made up your mind, and were waiting to see how the other people went. What decided you at last ?—I do not know.

14,024. But you went to Mr. Gower at the "White Hart" ?—I called on business, and saw Mr. Gower.

14,025. Had you made up your mind then ?—No.

14,026. Did you promise him when you first saw him then at the "White Hart" ?—He asked me whether I had made up my mind, and I told him I had not thought much about it. He said, "You may "as well make up your mind," and then I said, well, I would vote for him.

14,027. What did he say to you ?—He thanked me, that was all.

14,028. Did he ask you to be on his committee ?—I do not know that he did.

14,029. Did anybody ask you to be on his committee ?—I do not think any one did.

14,030. Did you go on the committee ?—Not as I am aware of.

14,031. Who did you have any conversation with besides Mr. Gower about voting for him ?—I do not recollect, sir; first one and then the other.

14,032. But somebody in particular, you know. You had a conversation with somebody about money. Who talked to you about your vote ? Just tell me who that was before I tell you. Who was it ?—I do not know about money.

14,033. Nor do I know much about it; but something was said about it ?—I asked how the money stood.

14,034. Who did you ask ?—Job Apted.

14,035. What did he tell you ?—He said, if I liked to go on the committee, I should have the same as the rest.

14,036. Did he say what the rest were having ?—No.

14,037. No sum of money was mentioned. Was any particular sum glanced at in any way ?—No.

14,038. Did you say to that, "Very well, I will go "to work" ?—No.

14,039. Did you have any conversation with anybody else ?—Well, I do not recollect any one in particular.

14,040. But somebody not particular, that you do recollect ?—No.

NINTH DAY.

W. Humphrey.

31 Aug. 1866.

14,041. Don't you recollect having some conversation with somebody else about money ?—No.

14,042. Do you know a man named Durrant ?—Yes.

14,043. You know him pretty well, as well as Job Apted ?—I have seen him as often.

14,044. Did you have any conversation with him about doing work for Mr. Gower ?—No, sir, none at all.

14,045. Did he tell you to the same effect that Job Apted did ?—He never said anything about it.

14,046. Now how long before the election was it, about, only about, that you had this talk with Apted ?—I cannot recollect.

14,047. But give us a notion. Was it three weeks ?—It might be more than that, it might be less than that; I cannot say.

14,048. I will take it it was perhaps about three weeks; I do not want it nearer than that. Did you as the election came nearer apply to Apted for money ?—No.

14,049. Who did you apply to for money ?—No one.

14,050. But you received some ?—No.

14,051. After the election was over did you apply to Apted then ?—No, sir.

14,052. Did you apply to Durrant ?—No.

14,053. Who did you apply to ?—No one.

14,054. What, it came of itself ?—What came, sir ?

14,055. The money ?—No.

14,056. Have not you received anything since ?—No.

14,057. Are you quite sure ?—Yes.

14,058. Perhaps I am wrong, I do not think I am somehow; tell me, has nothing been said about money since the election ?—No, sir.

14,059. Was nothing said about money before the election ?—Yes.

14,060. What was said about money ?—He said if I liked to act on the committee I could have the same as the rest, that was all.

14,061. But after that it was rather hard, was not it, that you did not have the same as the rest ?—No, sir.

14,062. What, then the rest got nothing ?—I do not know.

14,063. Do you mean to say you do not know that ?—No more than what I have heard here.

14,064. You never heard at the election that the others got anything ?—No.

14,065. Nor after the election ?—I had nothing to do with it, no more than voting.

14,066. But you were here before the election were not you ?—Yes, I was in and out of the town.

14,067. Apted told you that you were to receive the same as the rest ?—Yes, if I liked to go on the committee.

14,068. And you did like to go on the committee ?—No.

14,069. Did you tell him not to put you on the committee ?—Yes.

14,070. You said, "No, I won't go on the com- "mittee"?—I said I would rather not be on the committee.

14,071. Did you attend of an evening at the different places ?—No, sir; only once.

14,072. Where was that at ?—In the chapel on the freehold.

14,073. It was nothing particular going on there, perhaps ?—I never saw any one drinking anything.

14,074. Will you tell me this honestly: do you mean to say that after that conversation with Apted you did not receive from any person money or money's worth ?—No, sir.

14,075. Did Mr. Monson's party come to you before the election, and ask you to go with them ?—Before the election came off.

14,076. Who was it came to you ?—I think a man of the name of Grutchfield.

14,077. What did he come about ?—He asked me if I would come over their way.

14,078. What did you say ?—I says, "No, I would "rather not."

14,079. What inducement did Grutchfield hold out to you to come ?—There was a little inducement.

14,080. Tell me what it was ?—He said that I should be done by rather better, perhaps, than I should be on the other side.

14,081. Did he tell you what was going on the other side ?—No, sir.

14,082. Did you understand ?—No. sir.

14,083. No sum was mentioned ?—No.

14,084. What did you say to that ?—"I would rather not."

14,085. You declined altogether ?—Yes.

14,086. So then he went away ?—Yes.

14,087. Did they give you any more trouble from Mr. Monson's side ?—No.

14,088. You seem to me to speak very honestly at last, but very doubtfully at the beginning always; and that was the reason I was watching you close; you mean they did not give you any more trouble on Mr. Monson's side ?—No.

14,089. I must ask you one other question about that election. When you gave your vote for Mr. Gower, according to your promise, did you, or did you not, expect something for what you had done at and before the election ?—No.

14,090. I do not mean a definite particular sum of money, but did you expect to be remembered to any extent ?—No, sir.

14,091. You voted for Mr. Gower in 1863 ?—Yes.

14,092. You had been canvassed on that occasion for Mr. Wilkinson, had not you ?—I was certainly canvassed by Mr. Norman Wilkinson.

14,093. In the first instance you promised Mr. Wilkinson your vote, did not you ?—No.

14,094. Did not you give him to understand you would go with Mr. Wilkinson ?—No.

14,095. Who did you promise your vote to ?—Mr. Gower.

14,096. Did you promise him your vote before you saw Mr. Norman Wilkinson ?—No, sir; after.

14,097. Did you refuse Mr. Norman Wilkinson your vote, and say, "No, you shall not have it; Mr. "Gower is to have it"?—I did not satisfy him that I should not vote for him.

14,098. This last election you hesitated a bit at first ?—Yes.

14,099. How long did it take you that time, a week, as it did this time, to make up your mind ?—I cannot say.

14,100. Some days ?—It might be a week or two.

14,101. Did you go to Mr. Gower, or did Mr. Gower come to you, when you promised him your vote in 1863 ?—I went on business, and met Mr. Gower on the way.

14,102. And he canvassed you ?—Yes.

14,103. What did you say to him ?—I promised him.

14,104. Why did you promise him ?—I do not know.

14,105. You know you had not made up your mind when Mr. Wilkinson asked you first; it was rather strange, was not it ?—I do not know.

14,106. Had you made up your mind before you met Mr. Gower, or was it Mr. Gower's persuasions that talked you over ?—It was him that talked to me and asked me to support him.

14,107. You liked his manner ?—Yes.

14,108. Were there any politics in that election ?—I do not know that there was.

14,109. Did you see any one from Mr. Wilkinson except Mr. Norman Wilkinson, his brother ?—Mr. Frederick Joyes.

14,110. That was afterwards ?—No, sir, at the time.

14,111. What, he was with him ?—Yes.

14,112. Did not you see Frederick Joyes afterwards, again ?—Not on the electioneering system.

14,113. I mean about the election ?—No.

14,114. You saw him on some other business ; did not he talk to you about the election ?—No.

14,115. Did you go on Mr. Wilkinson's committee in 1863 ?—No.

14,116. Did you take any part for him ?—No.

14,117. You are sure you did not make up your mind for Mr. Gower till you met him about a week or fortnight afterwards ?—No.

14,118. Were you quite ready then to vote for Mr. Gower after you had passed your word ?—Yes.

14,119. What time in the day did you vote ?—Some time after the middle day.

14,120. About 3 o'clock ?—2 or 3 o'clock.

14,121. A little later than 2 I mean, about 3 ?—Yes.

14,122. That was only an hour before the poll closed ?—Somewhere about there.

14,123. How was that ?—I do not know ; I was at my employment up till mid-day.

14,124. That is a very good reason ; then you do know. At work you mean ?—Yes.

14,125. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For whom did you work ?—For Mrs. Batley.

14,126. (The Chief Commissioner.) Now tell me, as an honest man, had you any arrangement at this election of 1863 with any of Mr. Gower's people ?—No, sir.

14,127. You know what I mean ?—Yes.

14,128. Perhaps "arrangement" is not the right word for me to use, but it is not fair if you do not give me a candid answer, as I trust you. Had you any understanding in 1863 with any of Mr. Gower's people before you gave your vote ?—No.

14,129. You know what I mean ?—Yes.

14,130. None at all ?—None at all.

14,131. Had you any expectations ?—No.

14,132. Was anything said about "the same as "other people" ?—Yes ; I think Mr. Durrant spoke to me.

14,133. Did David Durrant say something about "the same as other people," or anything of that kind ?—He called me, and asked me which way I was going to vote. I told him I did not know. He says, "You may as well go along with us," and I said I did not know, I had not made up my mind.

14,134. What did he say upon that ?—Well, he says "It will be all right." I says, "What all right ?" He says, "You will get paid for your time and that." I says, "What time ?" He says, "What work you "like to do." So I says, "No, I would rather not "have any hand in it." I says, "I suppose you want "that few shillings that I owe you." "Oh no," he said, "I don't."

14,135. How much did you owe him ?—9*s*., two half-casks of beer. He says, "I will come and strike "that off." I says, "No, pay," I says, "and be paid." So that passed.

14,136. Did you make any arrangement according to Durrant's proposal ?—No.

14,137. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What did you mean by that phrase, "Pay and be paid" ?—That is if I went to work for Durrant or Mr. Gower I should expect to be paid, and what I owed Durrant I should expect to pay him.

14,138. I suppose you thought 9*s*. would not be enough to vote ?—I did not want his money.

14,139. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was any money passed between you and Durrant before the election ?—No.

14,140. Was this conversation with Durrant after you had seen Mr. Norman Wilkinson, and before you promised your vote to Mr. Gower, do you recollect ?—No, sir.

14,141. After the election was any money handed to you ?—No.

14,142. Not from any one ?—No.

14,143. Did you send in any notice that you expected something ?—No.

14,144. That election of 1863 was your first election ?—Yes.

14,145. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What puzzles me is this ; you voted for Mr. Gower in 1863, now when he came to you in 1865 why did not you promise him the first time ?—Because it was a long time before its coming off.

14,146. But if you had not voted for him before I could understand it. You had voted for him in 1863, so that you knew him ?—Well, 1865 was so long before the time it was coming off ; I told him I should see him again.

14,147. But you know you said you had not made up your mind, because you were waiting to see how the things went with other people ; that is, you were waiting to see what money was going ?—No.

14,148. I understood you to mean that ?—No, sir ; I meant to see how the majority of the people were going for the candidates.

14,149. That is what you meant, I am glad I gave you the opportunity of explaining it ; you knew money was going ?—No.

14,150. You must have known that money was going, because everybody knew money was going ?—I did not.

14,151. You knew from what Durrant said, you knew from what Apted said, money was going ?—That did not trouble me.

14,152. But did not you know money was being had by persons in your class of life for voting ?—I might hear of these rumours.

14,153. There is no "might" in it whatever, you did hear the rumours ?—Well, perhaps I did.

14,154. You know you heard the rumour that money was going ?—Yes.

14,155. Durrant offered to strike off some money you owed ?—Yes.

14,156. What took you to Mr. Gower the second time in the "White Hart ?"—My missis's business.

14,157. Now I do not like to inquire into the business of ladies, but what business did you go on ?—I believe it was to order a fly for my missis.

14,158. But you went to Mr. Gower ?—Yes, I met him in the "White Hart" as I was going there to order the fly for my missis.

14,159. What, the lady you are working for ?—Yes.

14,160. Was she a great friend of Mr. Gower ?—Not that I know of.

14,161. And then you spoke to him ?—No, sir ; he spoke to me.

14,162. And then you say you promised him to vote ?—Yes.

14,163. Apted, you say, did not give you any money or money's worth ; were you indebted at all to Apted ?—No.

14,164. You did not owe anybody any money ?—No, not at that time.

14,165. I mean in reference to the election ?—No.

14,166. Now we understood you to say that you had no consideration whatever of any kind, in any shape or form, either to forgive you a debt you owed, or give you money or goods or anything of that kind for that vote ?—No.

14,167. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did your mistress take any interest in the election ?—Not as I know of.

14,168. Never asked you which way you were going to vote ?—She asked me who I was going to vote for.

14,169. Who did you tell her you were going to vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

14,170. Had you promised before she spoke to you ?—Yes.

14,171. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why did you refuse to be on the committee ?—Because I did not wish to have anything to do with it.

14,172. You did not wish really to soil your fingers with what was going ; is that what I understand you to mean ?—I had no time.

14,173. What I mean is, did you wish to give an honest independent vote, and not to burthen your conscience by taking any money ? is that what you mean ?—Yes.

NINTH DAY.

J. Tullett.

31 Aug. 1866.

JAMES TULLETT sworn and examined.

14,174. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You reside in Wray Park-road ?—I did.

14,175. And are a gardener ?—Yes.

14,176. What rented house did you occupy when you were on the register for the election ?—4*s.* a week.

14,177. What do you occupy now ?—I do not pay any rent.

14,178. You did not vote at this election ?—Yes, I voted for Mr. Gower.

14,179. To whom did you promise ?—I promised Mr. Smith and Mr. Henry Austen.

14,180. What is he ?—A linendraper and hatter.

14,181. And furnishes people with various articles of attire, gentlemen's attire as well as ladies' ?—Anything, whatever you like.

14,182. Were you on the committee ?—No, sir.

14,183. Did you work ?—Not at all.

14,184. If you did not work were you to be paid at all ?—Not at all.

14,185. No arrangement made ?—No, I did not require it.

14,186. I believe your hat was a very shaky bad one ?—So I hear.

14,187. Who told you your hat was a bad one ?—William Best named it to me the other night.

14,188. Just before the election ?—I did not have no hat.

14,189. Did not you go to Austen's and get a new hat before the election ?—No, I did not, it is false.

14,190. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Mr. Austen denied it ?—I want to know who named about the hat.

14,191. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I am sure I cannot tell you ?—I was stopped on the highway last Tuesday night to know how my hat wore, because I had not heard anything about it; I believe I had a parcel in my hand; I was walking through the town, and Mr. Austen says to me; I met him here on Saturday and he says, "Tullett, what's the matter with "you? How bad you are looking!"

14,192. When did that conversation take place? do you mean the other night ?—No, sir.

14,193. I want you to correct it ?—I am speaking the other night of William Best of Warwick-town stopping me on the highway, saying, "How does your "hat wear, Tullett?"

14,194. I don't want to know anything at all about Tuesday night; it is only a singular fact. Did you get another hat on Tuesday ?—No, sir.

14,195. They were jesting with you ?—Yes. I want to know who spoke of it, because I should like to face any one who ever spoke about the hat. I do not think Mr. Austen ought to be disgraced with it any more than I ought.

14,196. Had you been canvassed by the Monson party at all in 1865 ?—Yes, I was. If you will allow me I will explain it for you. I should think about three weeks before the election, which was on a Friday, George Grutchfield, from the freehold, came to me in the garden at Thomson's, asking me if I would give my vote for Monson. I says, "No, I do not "think I shall give it to any one;" as I had not been very well for three weeks I did not feel any ways inclined for electioneering. Therefore that passed, and he could not get me to promise my vote. On the Sunday following the second gardener, what I have under me, wished me if I was out for a walk to call on him to look at his garden.

14,197. Who was that ?—Warren, of the freehold. I did so, and I believe where I passed to go on to his house is from 50 to 100 yards, and George Grutchfield calls to me, and he says, "Tullett!" I says, "Yes." "I want to speak to you." So I went. He says, "Have you made up your mind to vote for Mr. "Monson?"

14,198. Is that Warren you speak of William Robert Warren, of the freehold, Reigate-park ?—No, sir; Henry Warren. I believe he has no vote; his father-in-law has a vote, but not him.

14,199. What is his father-in-law's name ?—Smith, I think, sir.

14,200. For whom did he vote ?—I am not certain, but I think for Gower. He asked me if I had made up my mind to vote for Monson, and I says, "No, I "have not." "Oh," he says, "come on with us; "here is a couple of sovereigns for you." I, stupid-like, like many others, took this money, and after I had got away I was sorry for what I had done. When I got home I says, "On Monday I will return the "money back again," and instead of my doing so I was taken ill, and confined to my bed, and there I was ten days to a fortnight.

14,201. Are you married ?—Yes. During that time of course I had no opportunity of returning it. Then I should think four or five days or so before I was able to get out Mr. Gower called on me and Mr. Smith. He asked me if I had promised my vote. I says, "My vote is not free, sir, at present." "Well," he says, "will you give it to me?" I says, "I "shan't promise you, sir," and I says, "What are your principles, sir?" "Well," he says, "I do not "intend to encourage any public houses nor bribery." I says, "Thank you, sir."

14,202. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is that what you call principle ?—Possibly I might not give it the right word; that is my only meaning, and by that I said if I did vote I would not vote against him. He thanked me, says "Good morning," and walks away. I never saw Mr. Gower from that time till about a fortnight or so after the polling, when I met him, and he thanked me for my vote. That is all I ever received for it. Then I returned this money to Grutchfield just by Burgon's-corner, the first time I was able to get out, and he wanted to know what I meant by that.

14,203. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Before the election ?—Yes, I should think about seven or eight days. I says, "I don't intend to have anything to do "with bribery the least whatever," and he says, "Who are you going to vote for?" I says, "If I "vote I shall vote for Gower," and I come here and promised Mr. Smith, underneath here, that I would vote for Mr. Gower. I went in with Austen to Mr. Smith, and he thanked me for my vote, and that is all I ever received. That is all the canvassing ever I had. If you have any question to put to me I shall be most happy to answer it.

14,204. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then, with reference to that hat, it is all an idle fiction ?—I believe so.

14,205. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you receive any money afterwards from Mr. Smith ?—Not one halfpenny from any one.

14,206. Were you offered anything ?—Not at all; neither did I expect it.

14,207. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you return the same 2*l.* that you received ?—The same two sovereigns that I had given to me; I carried them in my waistcoat pocket till I could give it to him, as I did not wish to send it by any one, as it might cause unpleasantness.

14,208. You received them yourself, and you did not wish to send them by any one ?—I wished to return it on the quiet myself, and do what is honest and right, and I done so. We are all liable to be taken in just at the moment.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) If everybody had acted like you this Commission would not have been sitting.

JOHN JUPP called, sworn, and examined. J. Jupp.

14,209. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A gardener.

14,210. A master gardener?—No; I work for a gentleman of the name of Duncan now; at the election it was for Mrs. Reed.

14,211. What rent do you pay for your house?—I have a little place of my own. I am rated at 30*l.* a year.

14,212. For whom did you vote at the last election?—For Mr. Gower the last time.

14,213. Had you voted before?—Yes, for Mr. Wilkinson.

14,214. And before that again?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson before.

14,215. In 1859?—Yes.

14,216. Did you vote in 1858?—Yes, I voted for Lord Monson at that time.

14,217. Did you vote twice in 1858? There were two elections in that year?—I do not know.

14,218. Of course you were on Mr. Gower's committee?—No, I was not on a committee all my life.

14,219. Who canvassed you the last time?—Mr. Gower himself.

14,220. Did any other person canvass you on behalf of Mr. Gower?—Not after he canvassed.

14,221. Before?—Mr. Monson did.

14,222. I mean on behalf of Mr. Gower?—No.

14,223. Did you promise Mr. Monson?—No.

14,224. Did anybody call upon you except Mr. Gower on behalf of Mr. Gower?—No, not afterwards. I said I had given my word, and that I should stick to it.

14,225. You were not on his committee?—No.

14,226. And you did no work?—No.

14,227. And were promised nothing?—No, and I never had a halfpenny for either of the elections I voted for.

14,228. I have no reason to think otherwise?—I assure you it is correct.

14,229. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know George Jupp?—Yes.

14,230. He is a different man?—Not me; he is a great deal younger than I am.

14,231. You have been present at all the elections that have taken place here?—I have voted at four different elections, but I never took any interest in any of them, not to go about to any of the committees.

14,232. You voted in 1865, in 1863, and in 1859 for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

14,233. Then in the second election of 1858 you voted for Mr. Wilkinson against Mr. Monson?—Yes.

14,234. Was that the first election?—The first election I voted for Mr. Monson.

14,235. Was that Mr. Doulton's election?—No, I had no vote then.

14,236. The first time you voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

14,237. And the second time for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

14,238. The third time for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

14,239. And the last time for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

14,240. Did you notice the elections? Were you about?—I was not. I never attended any of the committees.

14,241. You took no part?—No.

14,242. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you notice, in walking about the town, how the election seemed to be carried on?—Not on the election day.

14,243. During the time of the election and the canvassing?—No. I was very seldom down in the town.

STEPHEN JORDAN sworn and examined. S. Jordan

14,244. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You reside at Mead-vale?—Yes.

14,245. And you are a voter?—Yes.

14,246. What rent do you pay?—It is freehold property.

14,247. What is the value of your freehold, yearly?—30*l.* a year.

14,248. For whom did you vote at the last election?—For Mr. Gower.

14,249. Who canvassed you? Did Mr. Smith?—Mr. Smith and Mr. Gower together.

14,250. Had you promised them when they first canvassed you?—I had not.

14,251. Who canvassed you afterwards?—No one; not on Mr. Gower's part.

14,252. Who canvassed you on Mr. Monson's part?—Mr. Monson himself.

14,253. And who else?—I believe Mr. Nichols; I am not certain; I met him in the street.

14,254. You had not made up your mind when Mr. Gower canvassed you?—No, I had not.

14,255. When Mr. Nichols saw you, did he wish you to go on Mr. Monson's committee?—No; he never asked me the question.

14,256. He merely asked you to vote for Mr. Monson; did you refuse him, or tell him that you had not made up your mind?—I did not promise him at all; I told him I would consider of it.

14,257. How long was that before the election?—This was not more than a week.

14,258. A week before the polling day?—Yes.

14,259. You had not made up your mind at that time?—I had not made up my mind.

14,260. Who afterwards called upon you on behalf of Mr. Gower?—I saw Mr. Gower himself about three days before the election, and I promised him my vote at that time.

14,261. Did you see Mr. Smith then?—He was alone at that time.

14,262. Mr. Gower was alone?—Yes. I think Mr. Joyes was with him, but he never spoke to me.

14,263. Did you afterwards see Mr. Smith, the election agent?—Yes; I do not know that he spoke to me anything respecting the election. I saw him often.

14,264. Between the time you have mentioned and the polling day you saw Mr. Smith?—Yes.

14,265. He was speaking to you about the election?—I told him I had promised Mr. Gower.

14,266. What was said about money?—At that time there was nothing said about money, except that I should be paid for my services; not about any quantity.

14,267. That you were to be paid for your services?—Yes.

14,268. You had not promised Mr. Gower till about three days before the election?—That is right.

14,269. What were you to be paid?—Nothing was mentioned about the amount at that time.

14,270. Some sum was afterwards mentioned; something about 12*l.*?—I was paid after the election.

14,271. Before you were paid something was mentioned about 12*l.*?—I think I received from 12*l.* to 15*l.* altogether, from first to last. I am not quite certain. I had it in different sums.

14,272. I believe something was mentioned about 12*l.* by Mr. Smith, or was it by you?—I do not recollect the sum that was mentioned.

14,273. 12*l.* was mentioned, was it not?—Perhaps it might, I know that was the amount.

14,274. When you saw Mr. Gower and promised him, did he not tell you to go to Mr. Smith?—He did.

14,275. Was it not at an interview with Mr. Smith that the 12*l.* or 13*l.* was talked about?—I believe it was.

14,276. Did you receive any of the money at that time?—I received 1*l.* before the election. I beg your pardon; are you speaking of 1863?

14,277. No, I am speaking of 1865 ?—Then I am making a wrong statement altogether.

14,278. Was this in 1863 ?—This was in 1863.

14,279. The whole of this matter about the 12*l.* or 13*l.* applies to 1863 ?—Yes.

14,280. You received between 12*l.* and 15*l.* for your vote in 1863 ?—Yes ; at that time.

14,281. And you received 1*l.* of it on the day when you had the interview with Mr. Smith ?—No, that was the last.

14,282. Keep to the 1863 election. Were you paid anything in 1863 before the election ?—It might be 3*l.* or 4*l.* perhaps.

14,283. By Mr. Smith ?—Yes ; I was canvassed.

14,284. Did Mr. Smith pay you all ?—Yes, I believe he did ; I believe he paid all I received.

14,285. You cannot say whether it was 12*l.* or 15*l.* ?—No ; I had it at different times ; I cannot be certain.

14,286. When he came to canvass you in 1865 of course you refused him ?—Yes.

14,287. When first he came to you nothing was said about money ?—Not at all.

14,288. Not when he first came ?—Not when he first came ; not at all.

14,289. You saw him afterwards ?—Yes ; he told me if I liked to go to work, and do what I could, I should be satisfied for my trouble.

14,290. That was in 1865 ?—Yes.

14,291. That is, you would get as much as you did in 1863 ?—No, he never mentioned that.

14,292. You understood that, did you not ?—No, I never understood that, that I should have the same as in 1863.

14,293. About the same ?—No, I never thought of such a thing.

14,294. Why ?—I did not do so much work.

14,295. Never mind the work. You were the same man ; you had the same vote and influence, and everything of that kind ?—I can tell you what I did.

14,296. He told you that you should be paid ?—That I should be satisfied for what I had done. He paid me 1*l.* before the election and 3*l.* afterwards, and that was every farthing.

14,297. How long before the election was that, two or three days ?—About three days.

14,298. Had you seen Mr. Gower before you saw Mr. Smith at this election ?—I think they were together.

14,299. I suppose they were not together when Mr. Smith paid you the 1*l.* ?—No.

14,300. How soon after that did he pay you the 1*l.* ?—I do not know.

14,301. The same day ?—No ; a few weeks after, I suppose ; it was after the election was over.

14,302. The 1*l.* ?—That was about three days before the election.

14,303. Was that the time when you saw Mr. Smith and Mr. Gower ?—No. I saw Mr. Smith at the "White Hart." He asked me if I was going to work, and I told him I had commenced that day. I had this 1*l.* to help to bear my expenses for my work.

14,304. What time of the day was it ?—About 11 or 12 o'clock.

14,305. Was it not later in the day ?—It was in the morning.

14,306. He gave you 1*l.* for the expenses you would be at that day ?—He did not say that day. That was to serve me up to the election.

14,307. You received 3*l.* afterwards ?—Yes.

14,308. How long after the election ?—I do not know ; two or three weeks afterwards, I think.

14,309. Did you apply to Mr. Smith for it ?—Yes.

14,310. You went up to him ?—I asked him for it.

14,311. How much ?—He did not offer me any amount.

14,312. You said, "Well, now, I voted for Mr. "Gower, and I think I am entitled to something" ?—Yes ; he promised me some remuneration, and I made a claim of 3*l.* ; that is how it was.

14,313. You received 4*l.* in 1865 ?—Yes.

14,314. What did you do ?—I was canvassing as well as I could, and assisting.

14,315. Canvassing ; no, no ?—Yes.

14,316. I am speaking of 1865 ?—And I am speaking of 1865.

14,317. Canvassing was all over at that time ?—I did not do much, certainly ; I was only three days about it.

14,318. And one of the three days was Sunday. Was it on Saturday that he spoke to you ?—I do not know what day it was ; it was not Sunday.

14,319. It must have been Saturday ?—It was two or three days before the election.

14,320. Was it Saturday or Monday ?—I think it was Saturday.

14,321. You got 1*l.* for that. You did not canvass anybody, did you ?—I spoke to several about it.

14,322. You did not take a book out and go round from house to house ?—I never did that, nor kept any memorandum whatever.

14,323. They did not send you out with circulars ?—No.

14,324. You did not attend any committee meetings ?—No, not this last time ; I did not attend any.

14,325. The election of 1863 seems to have been more profitable ; you were well paid then ?—I did a great deal of work then. I did not earn my money quite so easily.

14,326. You cannot tell whether it was 12*l.* or 15*l.* that you had ?—No.

14,327. That was at the rate of about 3*l.* a day, taking it at 15*l.* ?—That election was longer about ; it was several weeks.

14,328. Five weeks ?—It was more than that.

14,329. You did not carry out circulars ?—No.

14,330. And you had no canvassing book ?—No canvassing book. I used what little influence I could to induce persons to vote for Mr. Gower.

14,331. That is, you spoke to people and people spoke to you ?—Yes.

14,332. And you were not up at night watching ?—No, I like my bed too well for that.

14,333. I think you voted in 1859 ?—In 1863.

14,334. Did you vote in 1859 ?—Who was that for ?

14,335. Mr. Wilkinson or Mr. Monson ?—I voted for Mr. Monson.

14,336. I suppose you worked hard for him ?—I did for weeks.

14,337. How did the money go then ? Was the rate of pay pretty good ?—Very low at that time.

14,338. What was the rate of pay then ?—I do not know whether it was 2*l.*, or 2*l.* 10*s.* That is all I had for that job.

14,339. You took care not to vote for Monson again ?—Not at that price, you may depend upon it, for him or for any one else ; I will never vote for that ; I will have more, or else none at all.

14,340. Had you voted before that ?—I think I voted for Mr. Hackblock the first time.

14,341. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you vote at Mr. Doulton's election ?—I think that was at that time.

14,342. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was the time of Sir Henry Rawlinson ?—I did not vote for him.

14,343. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you vote for Mr. Doulton ?—No, I voted for Mr. Hackblock and twice for Mr. Gower.

14,344. I suppose you were not employed by Mr. Hackblock ?—No.

14,345. The first time you received money was on the part of Lord Monson ?—That is the first time.

14,346. That was about 50*s.* or 2*l.* ?—Yes.

14,347. That was in 1859 ?—Yes.

14,348. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you that money for Lord Monson ?—I believe Mr. Hart, the agent. There was an advertisement in the papers that any one who had demands for work done for the election was to call upon Mr. Hart. I applied to him, and he paid me.

14,349. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You had not worked very hard for that ?—No.

14,350. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was the usual advertisement as to election expenses and bills? —Yes.

14,351. Mr. Hart was the expense agent ?—Yes.

14,352. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Then it jumped up to 12*l.* or 15*l.* ; that was a great jump ?—Yes, it was a better market.

14,353. Then it fell down again to 4*l.* ?—It dropped down again to 2*l.* or 3*l.* ; a fluctuating business certainly.

14,354. (The Chief Commissioner.) I do not understand what part you took in Mr. Doulton's election, when he came down, and Sir Henry Rawlinson was returned ?—I was no party in Mr. Doulton's affair at all.

14,355. The first election in 1858 ; did you not vote then ?—I voted for Mr. Monson.

14,356. What did you do for him ? Was it upon the same sort of terms ?—Yes, they called it canvassing.

14,357. What did you receive that time ?—I received 50*s.* or 2*l.* ; I do not know which. That was for Mr. Monson.

14,358. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is your son a voter ?—Yes.

14,359. Is he here ?—I do not know.

14,360. What is his name ?—Thomas Jordan.

14,361. What does he vote for ?—Freehold property ; or rather I believe it is leasehold.

14,362. He voted for Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

14,363. Do you know what he received?—That I do not.

14,364. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He never told you ?—I have no idea.

14,365. (The Chief Commissioner.) You voted in 1858, I understand, for Mr. Monson, when you got 2*l.* or 2*l.* 10*s.* Do you know whether that was the election when Mr. Doulton came down ?—I think it must be.

14,366. In the same year, at the end of 1858, there was another election between the same Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

14,367. Did you vote that time ?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

14,368. On that occasion were you on his committee ?—No.

11,369. Did you not canvass for him ?—No, I did nothing at all more than give my vote.

14,370. Were not your services acknowledged at all ?—No.

14,371. Did you not receive anything ? — Not a farthing ; not from Mr. Wilkinson.

14,372. Not from any one ?—Not at that election.

14,373. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When Mr. Hackblock was a candidate, was that a very quiet election ?—Yes, very, I should call it; I never saw as much as a glass of beer myself during the time.

14,374. Did you know of all the windows of the Swan being broken ?—That was not Mr. Hackblock's; that was Sir Henry Rawlinson's.

14,375. Was that in 1858, when Mr. Doulton came down ?—No.

14,376. The "Swan" was Sir Henry Rawlinson's house, was it not ?—Yes.

14,377. The "Swan" windows were broken in 1858 ?—Yes.

14,378. What day was that, the day of the poll ?—Yes, the polling day I believe.

14,379. Were you present when that was done ?—I was standing in the street, and stood the other side of the way.

14,380. What sort of people were they who were breaking these windows ?—People standing in the street ; I do not know what they were ; working men generally, I suppose.

14,381. You suppose ? — I should consider they were.

14,382. Which party ?—I do not know, they were mixed up together in the square ; the place was almost full of people.

14,383. Were they Doulton's men that were breaking the windows ?—I should suppose not; I do not know.

14,384. They were not Rawlinson's ?—I know nothing at all about that. It did not concern me in any way. I cannot give any information about it.

14,385. (The Chief Commissioner.) You have a son called Thomas Jordan ?—Yes.

14,386. I think you said he was a freeholder ?—A leaseholder.

14,387. In the last election of 186[illegible] your son was rather active for Mr. Monson, was he not ?—Yes.

14,388. Does he live with you ?—No.

14,389. Before the election he came to you, did he not, and talked to you about it?—I believe he said something about would I go that way, or something of the sort ; but I had promised, or rather made up my mind previous to that. I did not give him any answer respecting that.

14,390. He came to you ?—He merely asked me.

14,391. He asked, would you go for Monson?—And I refused.

14,392. You had not made up your mind ?—I had not given my word, still I had made up my mind ; I meant to go for Gower.

14,393. Did you give your son to understand which way you were going when he talked to you about it? —Yes, I said I had made up my mind, that I had not promised, but still I should vote for Gower.

14,394. Did he say, "As you have not promised it "is all fair to talk to you about it"? Do you not recollect his saying something to you?—I do not remember what he did say.

14,395. Try and recollect. Did he not say, "As "you have not promised Gower it is all fair to can- "vass you," or something like that?—Yes, he might have said something like it.

14,396. Did he not say, "We want you to come over, "on our side"?—No, he did not.

14,397. He gave you some reason for coming over did he not?—None that I know of.

14,398. I thought he did?—No, no reason that I know of.

14,399. Did he know on what terms you were with the Gower people?—No.

14,400. Did he not say, "You will be on better "terms with us"? Do you not recollect that ?—I do not know.

14,401. Did he not say something like it, "You "will be on better terms with us"?—I do not recollect that he said anything about terms.

14,402. I do not mean that he said what the terms were, but did he not say, "You had better be with us, because they will do better for you than Gower"?— He might say something to that effect, but I gave no answer to it in any way.

14,403. I want to know what he said to you. Did he mention any person to whom he could go and ask more about it?—Not that I know of.

14,404. Was he on Monson's committee ?—Yes.

14,405. Do you not recollect that he said a little more than that ? Do you recollect about his saying that other people were doing very well, and you might do just as well as they ?—I do not recollect anything of the fact myself.

14,406. You only recollect what you told me before ? —Yes, what I told you is correct I believe.

14,407. Did you not say to him, "Well, I do not "know about that, I am thinking about going to Mr, "Gower"?—I dare say I told him that. My mind was there, and no doubt I said so.

14,408. You had not promised ?—No.

14,409. You had not told your son that you had promised?—No; I had not promised till about three days before the election.

14,410. You did not tell your son that you had promised?—No.

14,411. You appeared to your son to be still in doubt?—No ; I was not in doubt at that time.

NINTH DAY.

S. Jordan.

31 Aug. 1866.

14,412. You gave your son to believe that you were still uncertain?—Yes.

14,413. Did you not say to your son something like this: "Well, you know, I have not quite made up "my mind; how are they doing with you?"—No.

14,414. Did you not inquire how people were getting on with Monson?—I do not know that I said any such words.

14,415. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) To use your own phrase, you were inquiring the state of the market, were you not?

(The Chief Commissioner.) Did you not inquire the state of the market of your son?—Not of him; I knew nothing of his affairs.

14,416. Understand me. Did you not inquire the state of the Monson market of your son?—I might say something to that effect, but as to any intention ——

14,417. Never mind your intention. You think you did inquire the state of the Monson market of your son?—I might do so.

14,418. Did he tell you how the market was?—No, not to any amount.

14,419. Perhaps you will tell me what he did tell you?—He told me he thought there might be more money had that way; he did not say he was going to give it to me, or any one else.

14,420. He did not give you any?—No.

14,421. Did you give him to understand, when the conversation ended, that you were still uncertain; that there was a chance of your voting for Monson?—I told him I had so far made up my mind that I should go for Mr. Gower, therefore I should decline anything of the sort.

14,422. Then did he give you up as hopeless?—I suppose so, I believe so.

14,423. And no sum was mentioned?—No sum was mentioned by him.

14,424. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you engaged as a canvasser in 1865?—I made myself useful the last three days.

14,425. In canvassing?—Yes, for Mr. Gower.

14,426. Were you paid for canvassing?—Yes.

14,427. I do not see your name returned by the election expenses agent as a canvasser?—I was not on the committee; at least I do not know that I was.

J. Smith.

JAMES SMITH called, sworn, and examined.

14,428. (The Chief Commissioner.) What rent do you pay for your house?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week.

14,429. Where do you live?—5, Rees-cottages, Warwick-town.

14,430. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

14,431. At how many elections before that had you voted?—Not any.

14,432. Had you not been on the register?—No; not till that time.

14,433. What are you?—A baker.

14,434. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower himself.

14,435. Did you promise him when he first canvassed you?—Yes.

14,436. Straight off?—Yes.

14,437. And kept to it?—Yes.

14,438. Were you canvassed by Mr. Monson's party?—Not at all; I never saw one of them.

14,439. Did Mr. Gower put you on his committee?—I was put on his committee, but I do not know who did it; I never authorized them to do it.

14,440. When you saw your name down were you glad to see it, and did you adopt it?—I was not pleased; I saw it on, and let it remain; I did not object.

14,441. Did you work?—I assisted in going about.

14,442. Did you canvass?—No, I had very little to do with that.

14,443. What did you do?—I attended the committee, and such like.

14,444. Did you attend a committee here?—No.

14,445. Did you attend no meeting here where Mr. Gower attended?—No.

14,446. What duty did they give you to perform? What fell to your share?—I merely went along with the rest to forward the interests of Mr. Gower as far as possible.

14,447. If anybody was going about you assisted him?—Yes.

14,448. You were told to do this work by somebody, were you not?—Yes.

14,449. Who was it?—Mr. Rees told me to do what I could.

14,450. Is he your landlord?—Yes.

14,451. He was a Gower man, of course?—Yes.

14,452. You came to some understanding with somebody, did you not?—Not anybody else but Mr. Rees.

14,453. Did you not come to some understanding (perhaps it was with Mr. Rees) that what the others got for doing work you should have?—That is it.

14,454. Do you recollect whether it was as near as may be in those terms?—The agreement was that we were to have 30*s.* a week for three weeks.

14,455. That would only make up 4*l.* 10*s.* Did he not say, "Then there will be the polling day"?—Not a word.

14,456. Or the nomination day?—No, nothing of the kind.

14,457. Did he not mention that there would be something to make it up 5*l.*?—Not a word was said about 5*l.*; 30*s.* was what I was to receive.

14,458. That was three weeks before the election?—Yes.

14,459. Were you here at the nomination day?—Yes.

14,460. Were you paid anything before the election? Not anything.

14,461. Who did you send in your account to?—I never sent in an account.

14,462. Who did you go to about the arrangement after the election?—I never sent any account, 14,463. Who did you go to for your money?—I never went to anybody; I had 2*l.* brought to me from Mr. Mulley, milkman, High-street, Redhill.

14,464. It was brought to you from him?—He brought it to me himself.

14,465. Was he an agent?—I understood he was an agent.

14,466. You thought that the money came for the present at any rate out of his pocket?—Yes.

14,467. He did not tell you, "I have brought this "from some other person"?—No.

14,468. How soon was this brought to you?—About eight weeks after the election.

14,469. Where was the rest?—I had no more.

14,470. How was that?—I do not know.

14,471. You had got a bargain?—I did not receive any more.

14,472. I want you to tell me how that was; what did you understand was the reason. Did he not apologize?—He said, provided there was any more money coming forward I should have the remainder; that was all the agreement there was about it.

14,473. Were you canvassed by the Monson party?—Not at all.

14,474. Did you see nothing of the Monson party?—Nothing.

14,475. Were you in their houses of an evening?—No, I had nothing to do with them, nor they with me.

14,476. Whatever this work was, you were walking about and assisting people who were going about. I suppose in going about you went into the public houses occasionally?—No, I never went into any public house; I merely attended the committee at the town hall of an evening.

14,477. At this place?—At Warwick-town.

14,478. Tell me candidly whether you saw any refreshments going?—I never saw any.

THOMAS VIGAR called, sworn, and examined.

14,479. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

14,480. What house do you occupy?—Mr. Green's.

14,481. Mr. Henry Green's?—Yes.

14,482. What rent do you pay?—6*s.* a week.

14,483. What are you?—A milkman.

14,484. Did Mr. Green canvass you and ask you to vote for Gower?—He came to me and asked who I was going to vote for, and I said I should vote for Mr. Gower.

14,485. You told him at once?—Yes.

14,486. Did anybody from Monson's party come to you?—No.

14,487. Not at all?—I told him to put my name on the list, so that no one should bother me about it.

14,488. You did not want to be bothered about it?—No, I had business to do, and I wanted to attend to it.

14,489. Did Mr. Green tell you that if you had your name put down on the committee you should be paid for the attendances?—No.

14,490. Were you to have anything for attending the committee?—Nothing at all.

14,491. Were you to canvass?—No.

14,492. Or to work?—No.

14,493. You were to do no work?—No work.

14,494. Did you attend the committee?—I went down to the town hall twice.

14,495. This place?—No, at Redhill.

14,496. Did you hear that the others were going to receive something for attending committees?—No, I hardly ever said a word all the time I was there, and I did not know anything about how the business was going on.

14,497. Most people who get paid do not know?—I was not paid; I never agreed to have anything.

14,498. Nobody "agreed" to have anything; you expected something?—No, I did not expect anything.

14,499. Did you attend the nomination?—No.

14,500. Did you attend the poll?—Yes.

14,501. What time of the day did you vote?—I voted, I think, past 12 o'clock.

14,502. Did you go alone?—Yes, quite alone; I would not have anybody with me.

14,503. You would not have anybody with you?—If I could not go myself, I would not go at all.

14,504. How came you to say that?—I did not want to have anything said.

14,505. To whom did you say that you would go alone?—Mr. Simmonds. He wanted to go with me, and I said, "If you don't go back I won't go at all."

14,506. Was Mr. Simmonds a suspicious character?—I do not know anything about that.

14,507. Was he making himself very active for Mr. Gower?—I cannot tell you.

14,508. He came to you and wanted to take you to the poll?—I was going along by his house.

14,509. And he popped out upon you?—At the door.

14,510. Directly you passed the door he was down upon you, I suppose?—He wanted to go along with me, but I would not suffer any one to go with me.

14,511. Did he tell you whether he had been?—No.

14,512. Had he voted then?—I do not know.

14,513. You would go alone?—I would go alone.

14,514. Did you ever receive anything afterwards for your services?—No.

14,515. Has any money been offered to you for your services?—No.

14,516. You might have been honest and refused it?—No money was offered.

14,517. Nor anything else?—Nor anything else.

14,518. Were you at any of the refreshment houses of an evening?—No.

14,519. Not at all?—No.

14,520. Do you know a man of the name of Jager?—No.

14,521. Was that a nickname of somebody?—I am sure I don't know.

14,522. You were on the committee?—I do not know whether they put me on; I told them to put me on the books, so that no one should bother me about it.

DAVID GILLETT called, sworn, and examined.

D. Gillett.

14,523. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a voter?—Yes.

14,524. What rent do you pay?—7*s.* 6*d.* a week when I was living here.

14,525. You were here at the last election?—Yes.

14,526. You have lost your qualification now?—Yes.

14,527. How long had you been a voter of the borough?—I voted at the time Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Gower put up.

14,528. What are you?—A gardener.

14,529. When did you leave your house?—Twelve months ago.

14,530. Immediately after the election?—Yes.

14,531. How long had you been a voter?—I do not know how long.

14,532. About how many years?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Gower; that was the first time.

14,533. In 1863?—Yes.

14,534. I suppose you were on Mr. Gower's committee in 1865?—Yes.

14,535. Who paid you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Mr. Kempsell, James Ede, and Alexander Rose.

14,536. They came to you?—Yes.

14,537. Rose was the paymaster, I believe?—I do not know.

14,538. What were you to do on the committee? you were put to work, I suppose; you had to work on behalf of Mr. Gower?—No, I had nothing to do with working.

14,539. How long before the polling day were you put on the committee?—About three weeks I should think.

14,540. Were you not to canvass for Mr. Gower, and to attend meetings on his behalf?—I did attend the meetings.

14,541. You were to do it; it was understood?—Yes.

14,542. And to attend on the polling day and the nomination day?—Yes.

14,543. And to make yourself busy and active about the election?—Yes.

14,544. What were you to receive?—I was not promised anything.

14,545. I did not say "promised"; what were you to receive?—I was not to receive anything except for what I did; if I did anything I should receive something; that is what I mean.

14,546. Who paid you afterwards?—No one.

14,547. But you did something. You told me you attended meetings, and were active?—Yes.

14,548. To whom did you apply?—I did not apply at all for no money.

14,549. Did you apply to anybody for your loss of time?—I had no loss of time.

14,550. You attended on the nomination day?—Yes.

14,551. Do you not call that loss of time? Others do?—Yes, it was loss of time of course.

14,552. Did you apply to be paid for that?—Yes.

14,553. To whom?—To Mr. Smith.

14,554. What did you ask Mr. Smith for?—I did not ask him for anything.

NINTH DAY.

D. Gillett.

31 Aug. 1866.

14,555. You asked him for some money?—Yes.

14,556. What sum?—I mentioned no sum.

14,557. How long after the election was this?—Directly after the election.

14,558. A week or two?—Yes.

14,559. Did you say, "I have been very busy; I "voted for Mr. Gower; I attended at the nomina- "tion, and did all I could; we have returned him," and so on. "What can you give me"? I suppose that is what you said?—Yes.

14,560. What did he give you?—Not anything.

14,561. What did he say?—He said he did not wish to give me anything.

14,562. Why?—On account of Mr. Simpson.

14,563. Who is Mr. Simpson?—The gentleman that I work for.

14,564. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Which way did Mr. Simpson vote?—For Mr. Monson. I lost my situation through not voting for Mr. Monson.

14,565. Did your master tell you so?—Yes.

14,566. Who is Mr. Simpson?—He lives in Wray-park.

14,567. What is Mr. Simpson;—A gentleman.

14,568. What sort of a gentleman? I dare say, you consider him a gentleman for turning you off. Is he a gentleman in business?—Not now; he is retired; he was a dyer; he discovered the magenta dye.

14,569. What is his Christian name?—George.

14,570. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I am sure you will be particular, because this is a serious imputation upon your former master, and we must give him an opportunity of answering it. Tell me, what did he say when he canvassed you?—He did not canvass me himself.

14,571. Who did he get to canvass you?—He got Mr. Batchelor to canvass me.

14,572. For Mr. Monson?—Yes.

14,573. Was that after you were canvassed for Mr. Gower?—I was canvassed for Mr. Gower at the first onset.

14,574. It was after you had promised Mr. Gower your vote?—Yes, I had promised, and said, I would not vote for any one else but him. If I say the word I stick to it; I always did. I voted according to principle.

14,575. Mr. Batchelor called upon you, and asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Yes; he said it would very much please Mr. Simpson if I was to go over for Mr. Monson.

14,576. How long before the election was that?—About a week, and before that we were allowed to go which way we liked.

14,577. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How do you mean?—Mr. Simpson said he would allow his men under him to go which way they pleased.

14,578. Perhaps he thought then that he was riding the winning horse?—He found that he was losing, and he wished us to go on his side.

14,579. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Mr. Batchelor told you that Mr. Simpson would be anxious that you should vote for Monson?—Yes.

14,580. You told him you had promised?—I told him I had promised, and should not turn for no one.

14,581. How long had you been in Mr. Simpson's employ at that time?—Two and a half years.

14,582. How long did you remain in his employ after you voted?—I left him before I voted.

14,583. How long before you voted?—About three or four days.

14,584. How came you to leave?—He said if either of his men on his premises voted for Mr. Gower they should leave his service.

14,585. Did you hear him say that?—He did say so.

14,586. Did you hear him?—I heard him say it.

14,587. To whom did he say it besides you?—Mr. Prout was there.

14,588. Another man employed by him?—There was no one else there.

14,589. He said if any man in his service voted for Mr. Gower, he should leave his service?—Yes.

14,590. You had been two years and a half in his employ at that time?—Yes.

14,591. Did you leave on the Saturday before the polling day?—No, on the Monday.

14,592. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) On what day was it said, the Saturday or the Monday?—Mr. Batchelor came to me on the Saturday.

14,593. I mean what Mr. Simpson said; was that on the Saturday?—On Saturday he spoke to Mr. Batchelor, and Mr. Batchelor spoke to me. On Monday he said so to me.

14,594. Before that, on the Saturday, Batchelor had spoken to you?—Yes.

14,595. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I want you to be particular. Did you hear Mr. Simpson himself say that?—Yes.

14,596. Then you were turned away?—Yes.

14,597. From the employment you had been in two and a half years?—Yes.

14,598. How had you been hired, by the week?—Yes.

14,599. Had any fault been found with the way in which you had been doing your work up to that time?—Not any.

14,600. During the two and a half years?—Not any. He came out on Tuesday morning, and found I was gone, and he said he intended to tell me to vote which way I liked; that was the Tuesday after I left on the Monday night.

14,601. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it on the Monday that he said, "If any man in my service "votes for Mr. Gower, he shall not remain"?—Yes, on Monday.

14,602. When did you leave?—I left on Monday night.

14,603. When did you see him again, on the Tuesday?—Yes.

14,604. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When were your week's wages due?—On the Saturday.

14,605. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it on Tuesday that Mr. Simpson said, "I came, and I in- "tended to say to my men, that they might vote as "they pleased"?—That was when the candidates first came out together.

14,606. Attend. First of all, Batchelor canvassed you on Saturday?—Yes.

14,607. As for Mr. Monson, and as for Mr. Simpson?—Yes.

14,608. On Monday Mr. Simpson told you to vote for Monson, or you would go?—Yes.

14,609. Then on Monday evening you left?—Yes.

14,610. Did Mr. Simpson see you and speak to you afterwards?—Yes, I went up to him on Tuesday morning. He did not say this to me, but he came out on Tuesday morning before I went to see him, and—

14,611. What did he say to you on Tuesday morning?—I do not know what it was he said now.

14,612. Was it in reference to your voting?—Yes.

14,613. Did he complain of your leaving?—No.

14,614. Did you tell him you were going to vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

14,615. On the Tuesday?—Yes.

14,616. Did he ask you to vote for Mr. Monson?—No, not on Tuesday morning.

14,617. Did he ask you to come back to his service?—No.

14,618. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you do any work on the Monday?—Yes, I worked all day.

14,619. And you were paid on the Saturday?—Yes.

14,620. Were you paid for the Monday's work?—No, I never was.

14,621. It is clear that Mr. Simpson will say you left him. If you were turned away you would be entitled to a week's wages. Why did you not summon him for a week's wages? What did you get a week?—A guinea a week.

14,622. Why did you not make him pay a guinea? You know you were entitled to it if you were turned away?—Yes.

14,623. Why did you not make him pay the guinea?—I do not know.

14,624. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you take that as a dismissal, because you were going to vote for Gower?—Yes.

14,625. Mr. Simpson saying if anybody voted for Gower he should leave?—Yes.

14,626. You took it as a dismissal?—Yes, and I said I should do so.

14,627. At that time?—Yes, I said I should do so; and he said if any one voted for Gower they should leave.

14,628. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) To whom did you tell that on the Monday? You say you left, or were dismissed by Mr. Simpson; to whom did you go and tell that?—I do not know that I told anybody.

14,629. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did any of the other men vote for Gower?—No.

14,630. Who did they vote for?—Mr. Monson.

14,631. Were there many?—Only one. There were two of us who had a vote.

14,632. What is his name?—William Denyer.

14,633. Is he still in Mr. Simpson's service?—Yes.

14,634. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did speak to somebody, did you not, that night about the hardship of being turned away for your vote? To whom did you mention it?—I do not know any one in particular.

14,635. It is impossible to suppose that a man who was suffering for a conscientious vote would not mention that to somebody, and somebody that would sympathize?—It is a long time ago, and I have not troubled myself about it since.

14,636. Did you not go to some committee room that night and tell it?—I believe I was in this room then.

14,637. No doubt you told it here?—I did so. I did not tell it to one person in particular, but I spoke of it in this room.

14,638. Did you make a speech?—No.

14,639. You spoke of it in this room as being a victim; and then of course you worked harder for Mr. Gower on that account the next day?—I do not know that I did.

14,640. You did, I have no doubt?—I dare say I worked a little harder, because I was not doing anything anywhere else.

14,641. And you polled early?—Between 11 and 12 o'clock.

14,642. After you had been so treated by the Monson party, when you went to Mr. Smith and said that you had been engaged and had been promised to be paid, what did Mr. Smith say as to why he should not pay you?—I really do not know what it was.

14,643. It is impossible to suppose that he would not say something. You were a man who suffered, who had lost employment, and I suppose you were obliged to give up your house on that account?—Yes.

14,644. You were obliged to leave the place, I suppose?—Yes.

14,645. Now what did he say?—I did not go to Mr. Smith myself.

14,646. To whom did you go?—I did not go to Mr. Smith.

14,647, To whom did you go?—I applied to Mr. Job Apted.

14,648. Mr. Job Apted is a kindly, good-natured man, spending money of his own and other persons; you do not mean to say that Mr. Apted put you off without giving you anything?—I will tell you what they did do.

14,649. That is just what I want?—They gathered a little money amongst the voters themselves to give me.

14,650. How much did you get?—I do not know what it was.

14,651. About?—I think it was 3*l.*

14,652. It came through Mr. Apted's hands?—Yes, it was not out of the election.

14,653. We are not inquiring as to the source from which it came. When did you get the 3*l.*?—A few days before I went away from the neighbourhood to Clapham.

14,654. How soon after the election?—About a month. I cannot keep all these things in my head.

14,655. About a month or five weeks after the election you got 3*l.*; did you get more than 3*l.*?—No.

14,656. Did you get more than 3*l.*, or did you get words?—I did not get more than 3*l.*

14,657. Was it not 5*l.*?—No, I know it was not 5*l.*

14,658. You can tell me whether it was three or four?—No, I cannot.

14,659. Did you call at Apted's house for it?—Yes.

14,660. Did you get it the first time you called?—No, not the first time.

14,661. He told you when to call?—Yes.

14,662. Had you called more than once?—Yes.

14,663. Did you call a second time?—Yes, I got it the second time, and I left Reigate the next day.

14,664. He knew you were going?—Yes.

14,665. What did you mean by saying Smith said he could not give you any money because you were with Mr. Simpson; that was the first time Mr. Simpson's name was mentioned?—Yes.

14,666. When was it if you were not with Mr. Simpson then? was it before you left Mr. S. he said that?—No.

14,667. "I cannot give you any more money "because you were with Mr. Simpson"?—No, I was not with him then.

14,668. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Mr. Smith know you had left him?—Yes.

14,669. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was it not before you left Mr. Smith said that?—No.

14,670. It would be natural for him to say, "You "are in Mr. Simpson's employ, and the fact of your "wanting money will ooze out." Did you go to Mr. Smith himself?—No, Mr. Apted told me.

14,670*. What did he tell you?—He told me he could not give me anything on account of Mr. Simpson.

14,671. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Apted tell you?—Yes.

14,672. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Then he told you, I dare say, that some money would be made up for you at the same time?—He said they considered there ought to be a little gathering made for me as I was leaving the neighbourhood.

14,673. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was after the vote?—Yes.

14,674. (Mr. Commisioner O'Brien.) You thought you would get 5*l.*?—No.

14,675. You had heard others had received that sum?—No.

14,676. You knew Mr. Apted was the man giving the money away?—I knew he was Mr. Gower's agent.

14,677. You knew more than that; you knew there were a great many agents of Mr. Gower. Had you seen Mr. Apted at all to speak to him before you voted?—Yes.

14,678. For the purposes of the election, that is what we mean by speaking?—Yes.

14,679. And canvassed you?—I told you what took place about canvassing.

14,680. And told you what was doing, and what was going on?—Yes.

14,681. And that the people who worked for Mr. Gower would sure to be paid?—I do not know that he did.

14,682. That was what they were all told, you know that?—That we should be paid for all services rendered.

NINTH DAY.

D. Gillett.

31 Aug. 1866.

14,683. Did you not ask for 5*l.*, or say the loss of your situation was 5*l.* ?—No, I did not.

14,684. You did not mention any sum ?—No.

14,685. You considered 4*l.* was rather low ?—No, I did not care whether I had it or not.

14,686. You were not in such a desperate state of mind as to be concerned for it ?—No.

14,687. When did you give up your house ?—About six weeks before.

14,688. That was a weekly holding ?—Yes.

14,689. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The man Denyer; before you left Mr. Simpson's service did you know which side he was going to vote ?—Yes; he was going to vote for Mr. Gower before.

14,690. Are you sure of that ?—Yes; I know his mind was for Mr. Gower; but he was afraid he should lose his service if he did not go the other way.

14,691. Do you know he promised Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

14,692. And through the influence of Mr. Simpson he promised Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

The witness then withdrew.

J. Risbridger.

JOSEPH RISBRIDGER sworn and examined.

14,693. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—A labourer.

14,694. Are you qualified by a house ?—Yes.

14,695. You vote for a house ?—I do not understand what you mean.

14,696. Whom did you vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

14,697. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do your understand house qualification ? What is your qualification ?—A house.

14,698. (The Chief Commissioner.) What do you pay ?—7*s.* a week.

14,699. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower ?—Mr. Mazden.

14,700. Are you married ?—Yes.

14,701. How many children have you ?—A very small family of 14.

14,702. Do you occupy the house ?—Yes.

14,703. Do you let out any part of it ?—No.

14,704. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You pretty well fill it, I suppose ?—I think I ought with all that family.

14,705. (The Chief Commissioner.) You took an active part in the last election for Mr. Gower ?—I do not know that it was, particularly.

14,705*. When the polling day commenced you assisted in bringing persons up to the poll ?—I never brought any one.

14,706. Did you state you ever brought any one ?—I never said that I brought any one to the poll.

14,707. Have you been here to day ?—No, I have been hard at work all day.

14,708. Do you know Goss ?—Yes, perfectly well.

14,709. Did you not see him go to the poll ?—No.

14,710. I thought you went to the poll with him ?—No.

14,711. Do you know a man of the name of Fullbrook ?—I should know him by sight.

14,712. You saw him on the election day; did not you and Goss go with Fullbrook to the poll ?—No.

14,713. Then it is a mistake if that has been said ?—It is a mistake.

14,714. How did you go to the poll, with a trap ?—No, I walked up boldly.

14,715. How did Fullbrook go to the poll ?—I do not know.

14,716. Can you tell me how Goss went to the poll ?—No; I do not know that.

14,717. Do you recollect Goss going to look out for Fullbrook to bring him to the poll ?—Yes; I went with him.

14,718. Did you find Fullbrook ?—Yes.

14,719. When you found him, did you and Goss persuade him to go into a trap ?—I never spoke to him.

14,720. Did Goss in your presence promise him ?—I went out for my pony and cart.

14,721. You got ?—I never got anything.

14,722. And you were hired ?—I never was hired.

14,723. You went down to Fullbrook's ?—Yes.

14,724. Did you find Fullbrook ?—Not up.

14,725. Well, when he was up, did you and Goss get Fullbrook into your cart ?—He got in.

14,726. And then you drove him somewhere ?—We drove him to the sign of the "Prince."

14,727. (Mr. Commisioner Smith.) At Earlswood-common ?—Yes.

14,728. The "Prince of Wales ?"—I suppose that is the sign; but they always call it the "Prince." I left them there, and took my pony and cart and went home.

14,729. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you talk to Fullbrook as you were going along ?—We never talked, not at all.

14,730. You were rather in doubt about Fullbrook, as to who he would vote for ?—I did not know anything about him, he was a strange man to me.

14,731. Did not Goss say he was rather shaky ?—I did not hear that.

14,732. Or doubtful ?—I did not hear anything of the sort.

14,733. As you were going along in the cart do you recollect Fullbrook saying something about Mr. Monson's party ?—No, sir.

14,734. Did you not say he had been ready to come because he and some others had been promised 5*l.* each by the Monson party ?—I never said so.

14,735. Did you not hear it said ?—I never heard such a word mentioned.

14,736. Not by Fullbrook ?—No.

14,737. Did you not hear something like it ?—No, not a word.

14,738. What were you three talking about as you came along the road ? Were you all three silent ?—I had enough to do to pay attention to my pony and chaise.

14,739. Coachmen as they drive generally manage to talk pretty well; did you not say to Fullbrook he was difficult about coming up, because he and four others were to receive 4*l.* each from the other side ?—I never heard that mentioned.

14,740. Were not Nash and Benjamin Brown mentioned ?—I never heard the names mentioned.

14,741. Do you remember Steers being mentioned ?—No.

14,742. Who was your cart and horse hired by ?—By nobody.

14,743. Did you lend it, or what ?—I am here on my oath, and I take an oath of it.

14,744. Did you lend it ?—I went with it myself.

14,745. The pony, a trap, and yourself were hired on this polling day ?—We were not hired at all that day.

14,746. Do you know Penfold ?—Yes.

14,747. Did you receive any orders from him.—No.

14,748. Did you receive any orders from any one ?—Yes; Henry Goss came and asked me if I would drive him to Hawley.

14,749. Was that by Penfold's order ?—He never mentioned that; he asked me overnight if I would drive him to Hawley. I was out during the night, he said it would be 6 in the morning. I was there at the time. Goss came to me overnight, and asked me to drive him to Hawley.

14,750. Did he not mention Penfold's name ?—He said Penfold came to him and asked whether he thought I would do so.

14,751. Did you do it because Goss mentioned Penfold's name ?—Who, Goss ?

14,752. Come, you knew him ?—Yes.

14,753. And Penfold too ?—Yes.

14,754. Did Goss tell you that you were to have so-and-so, as my friend says, for your time ?—No, and I can face him on it.

14,755. Did you hear anything mentioned about 30*s.* Come, try and remember whether you did not hear anything said by Fullbrook about the Monson party having been to him ?—No.

14,756. I should think he was talking about the election all the way of the drive ?—I do not recollect that he was.

14,757. You voted later in the day ?—I voted between 12 and 1.

14,758. You had been on the committee ?—Yes, I had been on the committee.

14,759. Had you been doing work for them ?—Yes.

14,760. Carrying out bills ?—I had been on the election during the time. I had about a fortnight's work.

14,761. What did you value your services at for the fortnight ?—I do not know ; but I have 17*s.* a week ; that is my wages.

14,762. Who put you on the committee ?—They were choosing the committee the night I was at the British school room.

14,763. And you said you were ready ?—I never told anybody I was ready.

14,764. Who put your name down on the committee ?—I believe it was put down, but who by I cannot say. I do not know who was in the committee room.

14,765. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Very likely I can tell you ; Mazden ?—No, I think not.

14,766. Just consider, was not Mazden there ?—No, it is of no use my trying. I was in the room, and they asked me if I would come on the committee.

14,767. Was Mazden in the room ?—I do not think he was.

14,768. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you say you could not do it for nothing ?—I never spoke the word.

14,769. Did you say you could not give up your time without being paid for it; tell us what was said ?—Nothing was said in the committee room about it.

14,770. Did you have any conversation about it ?—Yes.

14,771. Who was that with ?—Mr. Joyes and Mr. Penfold.

14,772. Well, you see I was pretty nearly right ?—That was not in the British school room.

14,773. Tell me in your own way what passed between you and Joyes ?—I was to have 5*l.* for my expenses.

14,774. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You mentioned another name ?—Yes, Penfold.

14,775. Was Penfold there at the time ?—Well, I do not think he was.

14,776. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was the 5*l.* for whatever work you did ?—It was for the work I was to do by the assistance of my pony and cart.

14,777. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I thought you said the pony and cart were not hired ?—So it was not ; you asked me if my pony and cart were hired on that day.

14,778. (The Chief Commissioner.) You are so very correct ; but you are quite right, only I wish you would postpone it for a bit. When did you ask for your money ?—I do not know. I had it at different times.

14,779. How much did you get ?—I am sure I cannot tell you, I had it in little instalments.

14,780. Cannot you tell me when you got it ?—I cannot tell you exactly, for sometimes I would have a sovereign and sometimes 30*s.*

14,781. So you had it in little instalments until you got 5*l.* ?—Yes.

14,782. Were you offered it before or after the election ?—Not till after the election.

14,783. Who did you receive the money from ?—I received some from Mr. Penfold and some from Mr. Mazden.

14,784. I wanted to know whether the Monson party had anything to say to you before the election ?—No.

14,785. How long had you promised your vote to Mr. Gower before the election ?—It was some time before the election came off.

14,786. Mr. Gower, perhaps, called on you himself ? I think he did.

14,787. Did you promise him straight off ?—I do not think I did, it was a few days after.

14,788. You have had some talk with the Monson party ?—No.

14,789. Do you know Mr. Nichols ?—Yes, I know him.

14,790. Did you have any talk with him ?—No.

14,791. I mean about the election ?—No, I had no talk with him about it.

14,792. Do you know Holdsworth ?—Yes, I know him too.

14,793. Did you have any talk with him before the election ?—No.

14,794. Nor any of them ?—No.

14,795. You voted in 1863 ?—Who was that for ?

14,796. It was the election when Mr. Gower, the same gentleman, opposed Mr. Wilkinson ; don't you recollect ?—Yes; I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

14,797. Did you make the same sort of arrangement with Mr. Wilkinson's party as you did this time ?—No, I never had no arrangement at all.

14,798. Did you work on his committee ?—I was put down on his committee.

14,799. Did you do a little work for them ?—I might do a little perhaps.

14,800. Did you get anything for what you did ?—I do not remember that I did.

14,801. I wish you to attend to this; do you not remember sending in a claim after the election by somebody ?—No.

14,802. Do you not recollect getting something after the election ?—No, I never got anything out of that election.

14,803. Do you not recollect getting something before the election ?—No, I have no recollection of it.

14,804. You say distinctly you did not get anything after the election ?—No.

14,805. And you do not recollect whether you got anything at all at any time ; so if you did get anything it must have been before the election ?—Do you mean Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Gower ?

14,806. Yes.—I worked a fortnight for them, and had 3*l.*

14,807. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The pony and cart ?—No ; I had ne'er a pony and cart then.

14,808. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did not get 5*l.* then ?—No.

14,809. And you worked a fortnight ?—Yes.

14,810. Were you canvassed by Mr. Gower's committee ?—I cannot recollect; I must try and recollect. No, I do not think I was canvassed by Mr. Gower at all.

14,811. Were you canvassed by anybody for him ?—I am sure I was not.

14,812. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you the 3*l.* in '63 ?—I think Mr. Rose.

14,813. Alexander Rose ?—I think it was Ephraim Rose, he was chairman on the committee.

14,814. What work did you do that fortnight in 1863 ?—I carried bills about.

14,815. Were you out of work in other respects ?—I was not very well.

14,816. Then a man could not carry many bills about ?—Oh, yes, I could walk and carry bills about, but I could not do any hard work.

14,817. Did you carry many ?—Yes, to different places. I was engaged every day in sending circulars and bills.

14,818. What was your work in '65 ?—Carrying bills around and going to different places they might wish me to.

14,819. They were rather busy in sending circulars and bills ?—Yes, they were.

NINTH DAY.

J. Risbridger.

31 Aug. 1866.

14,820. You did not go to many places?—Yes.

14,821. In the evening?—And morning too.

14,822. Morning?—Well, in the day.

14,823. Not much in the day?—Sometimes.

14,824. Did you work by the job in your work, or were you in any one's particular employ at the election?—Do you mean for the election or for myself? I am employed by the parish.

14,825. In what way?—In what way? Why I look after the highway roads.

14,826. And mending them?—Yes; and I have been employed so for several years.

14,827. Do they not expect you to do that every day?—Yes; but I have proved to you at that time I was not able, so I gave it up.

14,828. Do you work at it now?—Yes, I am at it now.

14,829. What wages do you get for mending the roads?—I get 17*s.* a week.

The witness then withdrew.

W. Kempsell.

WILLIAM KEMPSELL sworn and examined.

14,830. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you live in Nutley-lane?—Yes.

14,831. You are a gardener, I believe?—Yes.

14,832. What rent do you pay?—I live in my own house.

14,833. What is it rated at?—8*l.*

14,834. What is its value?—I suppose I should get 16*l.* a year.

14,835. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

14,836. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

14,837. Was it a committee at this hall or at Nutley-lane?—No, here.

14,838. Who canvassed you for your vote?—Mr. Apted and Mr. Buckland tried for me.

14,839. Had the Monson party canvassed you before?—No, not then.

14,840. They did afterwards?—Yes.

14,841. Did you promise Mr. Apted and Mr. Buckland?—No, I told them I would not vote for Mr. Monson, and I did not know that I should for Mr. Gower; but I had not made up my mind to vote for either of them, because they would not vote for the ballot, and I like a gentleman to vote for the ballot.

14,842. I am very glad to see some gentleman in the witness box who understands something of political principles. I suppose you thought the ballot would be very likely to put down the corruption?—I should like to see the ballot, and no house to house canvassing. I think that would be a great thing, and that is what I should like to see.

14,843. Now, conscientiously you had not made up your mind for whom you should vote?—No, I did not think I should vote at all. Apted said, "If you "make up your mind for whom you are going to vote "let me know." About a week after I came down the street here, and saw Mr. Apted. I called him to me and asked him to put my name down on the committee.

14,844. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I thought Apted was a ballot man?—He used to be, but he is not so much now.

14,845. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Perhaps Mr. Apted thought it would spoil a little of the pleasures of the election?—I do not know what he thought.

14,846. When was it that you went upon the committee and gave your promise to vote for Mr. Gower?—Eight or nine weeks before the election.

14,847. Was that to Mr. Apted?—I told Apted to put my name on the committee.

14,848. When you told Apted you would go on the committee did Apted say anything about your working for him?—No, not a word.

14,849. Or you were to have, like the other men, something for working?—No, there was nothing mentioned about it in any way.

14,850. Did you ever see Frederick Joyes?—No, I never spoke to Frederick Joyes scarcely all the election.

14,851. Or Buckland?—No, he never said anything about my being remunerated. When he found that I was on the committee he said, "Now you have "made up your mind perhaps you will do all you can "in canvassing for us." I said, "I will; I will do "what I can."

14,852. Did he hold out any expectations?—No, none whatever.

14,853. I suppose you had heard in the neighbourhood that men who were on the committee would expect something?—I heard Mr. Gower say in the committee room here that every one who worked for him should be paid, and paid well. I heard him say so himself down below.

14,854. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How long before the election was that said, about three weeks?—Several weeks; I do not know how long.

14,855. Three or four weeks?—Quite that.

14,856. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did that have any effect on your mind in raising your expectations?—No.

14,857. You had work?—Yes, I had worked, and I expected to be paid for it from what he said. I never expected to be paid before I heard that.

14,858. Then Mr. Gower did raise those expectations in your mind?—You might say he did, of course; but I did not expect anything of the sort.

14,859. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I have written it down. Is this it, "I expected to be "paid for the work I did, and that expectation arose "from what I heard Mr. Gower say at this hall"?—Yes.

14,860. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How long before the election was that?—Several weeks.

14,861. Was there a large meeting when Mr. Gower said that?—Yes, the room was full below.

14,862. Of persons belonging to the committee?—Yes.

14,863. Those gentlemen whose names are advertised in the paper?—Yes.

14,864. After the election did you get anything?—Mr. Buckland paid me 2*l.*, in November, I think it was; he said he thought it would satisfy me for the time I had lost.

14,865. (The Chief Commissioner.) When did he pay you?—I think it was about November. I never asked for anything, nor he never mentioned anything before at all.

14,866. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he tell you he had got the money first?—He asked me if that would satisfy me for the time I lost in canvassing. I had a little business of my own to attend to after I had done my ordinary work. I ordinarily expected to do a good deal in the evening.

14,867. (The Chief Commissioner.) At your own business?—Yes.

14,868. What business?—Wood and coal. I attended to that after I came home. I have a regular place as gardener, and I leave my place at 6 o'clock and attend to that in the evening.

14,869. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You have permanent employment, are the owner of a freehold house, and have a business besides?—Yes.

14,870. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) In what way did you canvass, by meeting persons in the street?—No, I went in the evening to persons.

14,871. To people you knew?—I asked persons about Holmsdale at one time.

14,872. Were they persons you knew well?—Yes.

14,873. All gardeners?—Well, fellow gardeners; they generally hang pretty well together.

14,874. Till Parliament tells you you must not go from house to house you do not object?—No, but I wish they would not allow it.

14,875. How many of the gardeners did you canvass, twenty?—No.

14,876. Ten?—I cannot say, but I canvassed ever so many.

14,877. There are not so many gardeners about the neighbourhood?—Oh, yes, there are a great many.

14,878. Well, we have had pretty nearly all of them.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) They were all canvassing.

14,879. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did a gardener ever canvass you at all?—No.

14,880. It was not like Taffy going to Taffy's house?—No.

14,881. Did you attend the meetings?—I attended meetings here.

14,882. Nowhere else?—No.

14,883. Did you attend any of the public house meetings?—After I have gone out of here sometimes I have had a glass of beer.

14,884. Sometimes at Bonny's?—No.

14,885. Up the town?—Yes.

14,886. This was the temperance hall down here; there were no refreshments here?—No; but after you have been shut up here an hour or two you get rather dry.

14,887. Mr. Bonny's, at the "Crown," was one of Mr. Gower's houses, was it not?—No, I never went in during the election.

14,888. You have seen some of your fellow committeemen go in there?—Yes, I have seen them, but I have not gone in myself.

14,889. After the committee was over?—Yes, after the committee.

14,890. Mr. Bonny's was very close by?—I never went in.

14,891. You know some of your fellow committeemen went in?—I have seen some drop in.

14,892. Just drop in when their committee was over?—Yes.

14,893. It would be very dry work remaining in the committee room?—Yes.

14,894. Excepting when Mr. Gower made a nice speech; did you ever go to any of the other houses? Is not there a little house in Nutley-lane, Muddle's?—No, I have never gone in there, excepting I just went in in the night to get beer for supper.

14,895. The supper beer you call it?—Yes.

14,896. You did not go to any of the other meetings?—No.

14,897. You have not been at their convivial meetings?—Yes.

14,898. Do you know a man of the name of Groom?—No.

14,899. Did you vote in 1863?—I voted in all the elections.

14,900. How far back?—As far back as Hackblock.

14,901. Then perhaps you will give me a short relation of them?—I will tell you all I know.

14,902. Now let us go back quietly; who did you vote for in 1863?—Mr. Wilkinson; but I forget, there have been so many of them.

14,903. 1863 was Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson; who did you vote for then?—Mr. Wilkinson.

14,904. Was Mr. Wilkinson a ballot man?—Yes.

14,905. Then you had got your man?—He was just the man.

14,906. You had got the perfect candidate, but unfortunately did not succeed?—No he did not, but I tried hard for him.

14,907. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You worked for him?—Yes, for weeks. I did more for him than I did for any other.

14,908. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did a little more than going and seeing your fellow workmen then?—Yes.

14,909. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you get paid?—Yes.

14,910. What?—6*l.* 10*s.*

14,911. Who paid you?—Mr. James.

14,912. Mr. Wilkinson's agent?—Yes.

14,913. Was there any understanding before you voted that you were to be remunerated?—Yes.

14,914. How come you to be paid?—Mr. Langridge told me I should be paid after the election was over. I had to go to Mr. James pretty nearly every evening to report progress.

14,915. Did you have a book at that time?—Yes.

14,916. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you a real canvasser?—Yes.

14,917. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That is the first book we have got hold of?—You have not got hold of that, for I have not got it.

14,918. (Mr Commissioner O'Brien.) If you have not got it we have?—No, it has been torn several years.

14,919. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You went on canvassing?—Yes.

14,920. Langridge told you you would be paid?—Yes, he told us at the time.

14,921. Did he mention money?—No, not a word.

14,922. Were you paid before or after the election?—A few days after; Mr. Langridge sent up word to me to send up what was requisite; they had to bring in their accounts at the "Swan," and he would pay us.

14,923. How many? You say you were to send in your accounts, were there many in your neighbourhood?—Not in our neighbourhood; I know there were several, six or seven.

14,924. Neighbours of yours who lived about the town?—Yes.

14,925. When you went up to Mr. James was there a large gathering of gentlemen canvassers?—No, very few; there were five or six there below; we went up one at a time.

14,926. Only five or six paid at that time?—Yes.

14,927 Were they all gardeners?—No.

14,928. Did you know of money flying about pretty freely at the election?—I heard there was.

14,929. Whose side had the character of being most liberal; I do not mean in politics, but in pocket; we will drop politics for the time, and go to the pocket?—I thought there was not much difference in them.

14,930. Were a good many people employed in distributing circulars?—Yes there were, for both parties.

14,931. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What was the price of a vote at that election?—I do not know.

14,932. About what?—I never heard.

14,933. Not by reputation?—I never heard.

14,934. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The price in 1865 was something like 5*l.*; was it the same price in 1863? Was it higher, or lower, or much about the same?—I consider much about the same, but I never heard a word of it.

14,935. What was your impression? Was it that it was much about the same as the last time?—Yes.

14,936. And both sides alike?—Yes, just the same, I think.

14,937. There were a great many people employed, were there not, carrying circulars?—Yes.

14,938. Do you recollect the number of the constituents in the borough at that time?—No.

14,939. It was very small in 1863; it is larger now; it was something under 360; oh, no, I am mistaken, it was near 900?—800 or 900.

(The Chief Commissioner.) It was 737.

14,940. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you ever read one of those circulars that were sent round?—Only what was sent to me from the candidates.

NINTH DAY.
W. Kempsell.
31 Aug. 1866.

14,941. I mean from the committee, not from the condidates ; did you get circulars from the committee ?—Only circulars calling committee meetings.

14,942. Every day committee meetings were held, pretty nearly every day ?—There were some I know of that were more often. At the election of Mr. Wilkinson he had two or three committee meetings held in one evening at different places; there were bills stuck up to announce the meeting.

14,943. The bills were stuck up and circulars sent round ?—Yes.

14,944. That was a sort of public advertisement ?—Yes.

14,945. Did it strike you that the bills stuck up would have been sufficient without sending the circulars round ?—Everybody would not see them ; without their being sent round they would not see them in the neighbourhood.

14,946. Will you give me an answer to the question, because I see you are an intelligent fellow, did you not think that the great number of circulars that were sent out were not needed ; that they were worthless ?—I suppose they were worthless, for a great many would not look at them.

14,947. Was it not a sham ?—It was a convenient course, sending round these circulars.

14,948. I do not mean that it was a blank piece of paper put in an envelope, but was it not a real sham for the purpose of employing men more than was requisite ?—No, I think not.

14,949. Suppose there were 40 or 50 men employed for the purpose of sending circulars to these voters ?—I do not think there were so many as that.

14,950. How many should you think a requisite number to take out circulars ?—I do not know.

14,951. Three or four men could have done the whole of it ?—This is a large parish.

14,952. These men were paid as if they were going to give up their whole time ?—A great many did give up their whole time.

14,953. A great many did not ?—No, only in the evening.

14,954. And those who did it in the evening were paid just the same as those who did it the whole day?—I should think not, but I do not know.

14,955. But was it, now ?—I never heard of any one.

14,956. Now let us go back to 1859, the general election ; Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson were the candidates ; who did you vote for ?—Mr. Wilkinson.

14,957. Was anything going in the shape of money that time ?—I think not at that election.

14,958. Was not that the sham election, when Mr. Wilkinson only came up a few days before polling ?—Oh, I think he was put up against his wish and without his knowledge, in order just to oppose Mr. Monson. There was a gentleman of the name of McCullock came out at that election before Mr. Wilkinson.

14,959. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He was to have come down ?—He came down and canvassed.

14,960. Then he found the borough was too hot for him. Mr. McCullock was a good man ; was he not a ballot man ?—No, I think not.

14,961. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You stuck bills for him ?—I stuck bills for him, but it was all done in a moment; he came down in the evening, and I was out the next day sticking bills ; I had not seen him or heard his principles.

14,962. He was an ephemeral man ; he came down in the day and went away in the evening. You voted for Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

14,963. I suppose there was not very much money flying about on that occasion ?—No,

14,964. There was no contest. Just tell me, as a matter of curiosity, who was it proposed Mr. Wilkinson on that occasion ?—Job Apted.

14,965. And who seconded him ?—Frederick Joyes.

14,966. Oh, I see ; I suppose those two gentlemen rather like an opposition, do they not ?—I do not know.

14,967. If there is no opposition in the borough there is no money flying about ?—No.

14,968. It spoils the market not having an opposition, and Mr. Wilkinson was proposed against his wish ?—I believe he was.

14,969. Now, at the election before, in 1858, between Mr. Wilkinson and the Hon. Mr. Monson, did you get anything for your services for bill sticking ?—Yes, 5*s.* a day ; I was not paid at all by Mr. McCullock ; I lost my time.

14,970. You stuck bills for Mr. McCullock ; then you stuck bills for Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

14,971. Who paid you for Mr. Wilkinson ?—Apted ; 10*s.* I think it was.

14,972. Do you know of any persons being paid by Mr. Apted at the election of 1859 for Mr. Wilkinson ?—No.

14,973. Did you ever ask Mr. Apted from where the 10*s.* came ?—No.

14,974. Where he got it ?—No.

14,975. Did Mr. Wilkinson make his appearance at the nomination ?—No.

14,976. He did not ?—No.

14,977. Then really he was put up as a sham candidate ?—Yes.

14,978. Well, 160 gentlemen would vote for him ?—Yes.

14,979. Now then, in October, 1858, that was an election in consequence of Sir Henry Rawlinson taking office, and Mr. Wilkinson and the Hon. Mr. Monson were candidates ?—Yes.

14,980. And of course you voted for Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

14,981. Now did you get anything for your services on that election ?—I was out bill sticking then. I had no regular place, but I was jobbing about for three or four years, so I worked with anybody who liked to employ me. I was glad to get employment.

14,982. You stuck bills, did you ?—Yes.

14,983. What were you paid for it ?—5*s.* a day;

14,984, How much did you receive as wages when you were gardening ?—3*s.* 6*d.* a day.

14,985. Bill sticking was the best ?—Not much, for I had to find my own paste.

14,986. (Mr Commissioner O'Brien.) How many weeks were you out ?—Not many days.

14,987. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you at other work duringthe election? Were you canvassing on that occasion ?—I used to canvass sometimes, and take out circulars.

14,988. Mr. Wilkinson was returned ?—No, he has never been returned.

14,989. Oh, I beg your pardon, Mr. Wilkinson was never returned ?—No ; I think you mean the election when there were so many candidates.

14,990. Mr. Monson was returned in October ?—Yes.

14,991. What were you paid then in October 1858 ?—I think I had about 2*l.* altogether.

14,992. Had you worked sticking bills for that time ?—Yes, and in carrying out circulars.

14,993. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were a voter ?—Yes.

14,994. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that very hard work, carrying out circulars ?—Not very hard ; it was trying where you had to run out so far.

14,995. Were you engaged all day ?—Yes, when I was at work ; I was not paid for the days I did not work.

14,996. There were a great many circulars taken out ?—Sometimes a great many.

14,997. Were Apted and Joyes for Wilkinson on that occasion ?—Yes, I believe so ; Mr. Joyes was himself, and I believe Mr. Apted was.

14,998. Now let us come to the general election of 1858, the general election when Sir Henry Rawlinson was returned. Do you remember Mr. Doulton coming down ?—Yes, and Mr. Monson.

14,999. And your old friend Mr. Wilkinson ?—He was not my friend then, I had never voted for him.

15,000. That was the first time he came; you had the honour of being introduced to him on that occasion; I suppose you were a favourite on that occasion of Mr. Wilkinson's ?—No.

15,001. Then Sir Henry Rawlinson, he was a ballot gentleman ?—He had been a candidate before, in 1857, when he made a very favourable impression on the voters.

15,002. He came out against Mr. Hackblock in the place of Major Parrott ?—Yes.

15,003. Mr. Hackblock was returned ?—Yes.

15,004. And Sir Henry Rawlinson made a very favourable impression on the voters, did he not ?—Yes.

15,005. Then upon Mr. Hackblock's death he was returned; oh, that was not the general election of 1858; you voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson ?—Yes.

15,006. Give me first of all in your own way a little history of the election of 1858; it was a memorable election; you remember Mr. Doulton coming down ?—He offered me 10*s.* if I worked for him.

15,007. Himself ?—Yes, himself.

15,008. Mr. Doulton was the candidate ?—Yes.

15,009. He offered you himself 10*s.* to do work for him ?—Yes.

15,010. What work were you to do ?—To canvass for him.

15,011. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What I want to know is this, were you a voter then ?—Yes.

15,012. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you attend any meeting of Mr. Doulton's ?—No.

15,013. Did you hear of Mr. Doulton offering any money to any other electors ?—I heard talk that he did.

15,014. You heard general talk that Mr. Doulton was offering ?—Yes, and spending money about pretty freely.

15,015. Did you hear the name of Mr. Roupell spoken of ?—Yes, they said he supplied him with money.

15,016. Did he come down at all in the borough ?—Yes, he came and addressed the people in this hall.

15,017. Did you hear the speech ?—Yes.

15,018. Did he say anything about paying the people well if they worked well ?—I do not remember it.

15,019. He did not openly talk in that way. Do you know of his private doings ? Did you see him or did he canvass you ?—No, not Mr. Roupell; Mr. Doulton did. He asked me over the road there if I could work for him, he said he would give me 10*s.* a day; I told him no, I had promised Sir Henry Rawlinson, and I would stick to him.

15,020. Did he set you on his committee ?—No, I do not think he did.

15,021. Did Mr. Roupell go round and canvass with Mr. Doulton ? Did you see them go and canvass together ?—No, I never saw him about in the town.

15,022. Were you down here in the street when the "Swan" windows were broken ?—Yes.

15,023. Which party broke the windows ?—I should say Mr. Doulton's party.

15,024. Was Sir Henry Rawlinson here ?—Yes.

15,025. You voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson; did you work for him ?—Yes, at bill sticking for him.

15,026. What did you get ?—I do not know whether it was 2*l.* or 50*s.*; I was paid 5*s.* a day for the days I worked.

15,027. (The Chief Commissioner.) How much do you think you received ?—2*l.* or 50*s.*

15,028. Who paid you that ?—Apted.

15,029. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was he on Sir Henry Rawlinson's committee ?—Yes.

15,030. Were you put on Sir Henry Rawlinson's committee in the same way you were on this last election of 1865 by Mr. Apted, only by different men, to come on the committee and work ?—No, there was nothing said about working then; I was put on the committe, but I had nothing to do.

15,031. Did you expect to be paid for going on the committee ?—No.

15,032. You did not look at that as work ?—No, certainly not.

15,033. There is no certainty in this borough, because a great many thought going on the committee was work ?—I never was paid for going on the committee.

15,034. On that occasion do you consider that you worked fairly and honestly ?—I should.

15,035. For 5*s.* a day ?—Yes.

15,036. You supplied your own paste ?—Yes.

15,037. Now in 1857 Hackblock and Rawlinson were the candidates ?—I was unwell then, so that I did not take any part in it at all.

15,038. Was there much difference in the politics of Mr. Hackblock and Sir Henry Rawlinson ?—I think not.

15,039. Did you vote at the election ?—Yes, I voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson.

15,040. Did you attend on the declaration of the poll on that occasion ?—I do not know whether I did or not.

15,041. Were you paid for that election ?—No.

15,042. Did you do any work ?—No, I was unwell then; all my time was taken up.

15,043. I just want to ask you one question upon that, and only one; I want to know a particular fact about Sir Henry Rawlinson. Were you at the declaration of the poll ?—I forget whether I was or not.

15,044. When a vote of thanks was proposed to the mayor and so on ?—There was no mayor at that time.

15,045. To the returning officer ?—I do not know whether I was there or not.

15,046. I am simply told that Sir Henry Rawlinson made a very good speech at that time, I mean a proper speech, which had a very good effect on the minds of the voters, and that he came very favourably before them the next election ?—He came very favourably the next election.

15,047. I find Sir Henry stood in 1857 ?—Yes, I voted for him in opposition to Mr. Hackblock, because I thought he had behaved improperly to Major Parrott.

15,048. That is a personal matter ?—Yes, that was the reason I voted for Sir Henry at that election.

15,049. I am sure you are a very intelligent man; so far as I can see, though you lent yourself to this employment, you looked upon it with distrust and suspicion and discouragement, did you not ?—No; I had no work at that time.

15,050. I am not speaking of yourself at all. Did you not look at this system of electors being employed by the candidate with distrust and suspicion ?—No, I do not know that I did.

15,051. I thought I had heard you say that you did. Do you know any more ready road of corrupting a borough than by employing electors as messengers, and canvassers, and bill stickers ?—I do not know that I do.

15,052. Now I ask you as an honest intelligent man, did you not believe in your heart it was adopted for that purpose ?—I dare say that it was adopted for getting the votes.

15,053. For the purpose of influencing the electors, who got it by corrupt motives. Do you not think that it was so, as an honest man ?—I suppose it was.

15,054. If it were not there were a number of active men who might have been employed. We have seen the lame, and the almost blind, and the crippled employed who were voters; do you know of any man being employed who was not a voter ?—I have known it.

15,055. I should like you to name one. Take the last election; do you recollect one?—I do not know that I do.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Perhaps you mean the rooks and the rabbits?

15,056. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I do not mean the roughs. Who at this last election, either on Mr. Monson's side or on Mr. Gower's side, were employed as bill stickers, as canvassers, or as messengers that were not voters?—I cannot name any one.

15,057. Now, in justice to Mr. Gower I want to ask you a question. When he said that his committee should be paid, and paid well, did you understand him to mean for honestly working?—Yes.

15,058. Not a covert, not a sham, or anything of that kind?—No.

15,059. Up to that time you were in no expectation of getting any money; you said so?—I was not.

15,060. (The Chief Commissioner.) You took a part in five different elections, dating back to Mr. Doulton's election?—Yes.

15,061. Tell me in an honest, sensible manner, do you think that the proceedings were conducted better or worse at any one of those elections than they were at the others?—I think they were worse at Mr. Doulton's than they were at any other.

15,062. Now we have got the worst. Now I want to know, do you think that they were better at any one election than at the others?—No; I should say much about the same.

15,063. I mean as regards money, treatment, and employment of voters for those purposes which my friend has referred to, and that kind of thing; you understand me?—I think they were all much about the same.

15,064. You had good opportunities of judging, had you not?—I was about a great deal.

15,065. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Will you tell me the cheapest market to go into for election business, to hire a man who had got a vote to deliver circulars, or to hire a man who had not got a vote? Which man would you get cheapest; the non-electors, would you not?—About the same.

15,066. You would get the non-elector cheaper?—Not at election time; I do not think you would; they expect to be paid just the same.

15,067. There is the vote?—Well, I suppose that they would sooner employ a voter than a non-voter.

15,068. If they had a non-voter they would make him work?—Yes.

15,069. If he was a voter they would not care whether he worked not, so long as he voted?—So as he voted right, I suppose they would not care much.

The witness withdrew.

G. Luck.

GEORGE LUCK sworn and examined.

15,070. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I believe you are a voter for this borough?—Yes.

15,071. And a master baker?—Yes.

15,072. What rent do you pay?—22*l.*

15,073. Do you occupy the house entirely yourself?—Yes.

15,074. How long have you been a voter of this borough?—About 14 years.

15,075. You voted at the last election for Mr. Gower?—For Mr. Gower.

15,076. For whom did you vote at the election of 1863?—For Mr. Wilkinson; I voted for him twice.

15,077. In '63 and '59?—Yes.

15,078. And then for whom?—Sir Henry Rawlinson, and before that for Mr. Hackblock.

15,079. You never voted for either of the Monsons, did you?—No.

15,080. Who canvassed you at the last election?—Mr. Rose.

15,081. Alexander Rose?—Yes.

15,082. For Mr. Gower?—Yes.

15,083. You were on his committee?—Yes.

15,084. And worked upon his committee?—Yes, as much as I could.

15,085. They did not send you out with circulars; you did not carry circulars or anything of the kind? What were you to have?—4*l.*

15,086. In justice to you I inquired whether they sent you out with circulars; you did not carry circulars out?—No, I did not carry circulars.

15,087. They would not send a man like you out with circulars, I am sure. Who paid you the 4*l.*?—I have been paid 3*l.*; Mr. Rose paid me.

15,088. You were to have 4*l.*?—Yes.

15,089. 5*l.*, was it not?—No, 4*l.*

15,090. When did you agree with Mr. Rose that you were to have 4*l.*?—Just before the election.

15,091. A week before the election or so?—I suppose it was.

15,092. Was it at the time that you were put on the committee?—Yes.

15,093. Do you say that it was so much as a week before the election?—Yes, quite that.

15,094. The Monson party had been to you, I suppose?—Yes, Mr. Monson came three times.

15,095. Three times?—Twice or three times.

15,096. And you did not make up your mind at that time?—No, I did not.

15,097. Did they offer to put you on Mr. Monson's committee?—No.

15,098. Did you see any one on behalf of Mr. Monson except himself?—Mr. Hart came with him once.

15,099. He is a solicitor?—Yes.

15,100. Did not Mr. Hart offer to put you on the committee?—No.

15,101. They offered you something else, did they not?—No, they never offered me anything.

15,102. You knew that money was going on the Monson side?—I understood it was.

15,103. Did you understand at all what the amount was for each man on the Monson side?—No; I did not understand anything about it then.

15,104. Did you understand they were giving 5*l.*?—Yes; I understood they were giving 5*l.*

15,105. Did you understand that at the time Mr. Joyes arranged with you about the 4*l.*, or did you hear it afterwards. You told me very properly that you understood they were giving 5*l.* a voter. Did you understand that when Mr. Joyes spoke to you about voting for Mr. Gower?—No, he never spoke to me about any money.

15,106. When he spoke to you about voting for Mr. Gower, did he speak to you about putting you on the committee. I am satisfied that he would know his business better than to speak to a man like you about money?—Mr. Joyes did not speak to me.

15,107. Who did?—Mr. Rose.

15,108. Well, did Mr. Rose speak to you about money?—Yes; I told you that he offered me money.

15,109. He offered you 4*l.*?—Yes.

15,110. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Not Mr. Apted? No; Mr. Rose.

15,111. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you name any sum yourself; 5*l.* or 10*l.*?—No, I never mentioned anything about it.

15,112. Was 4*l.* the first offer he made to you?—Yes.

15,113. You said that was small, I suppose?—I said that was not so much as they were getting.

15,114. Exactly, precisely; you said when he offered you 4*l.*, "That is not so much as they are "getting on the other side," or the Gower side?—Yes.

15,115. At that time you had heard they were getting 5*l.* on the Gower side?—No; on the Monson side.

15,116. He would give no more?—No.

15,117. Then you closed with him?—Yes.

15,118. Did you attend any of the committee meetings at all before the election?—Now and then I attended one.

15,119. There were not many held during that week?—No.

15,120. How many could you say that you attended?—I suppose about two.

15,121. You had not far to come to hear the nomination, I believe?—I never went to the nomination. I was busy.

15,122. You received 3*l.*, how was it that you did not receive the 4*l.* you were to have?—I do not know.

15,123. What did he say?—He said he would give me the 3*l.*

15,124. About how long after the election; a week or two?—More than that.

15,125. How long?—Six months.

15,126. Did you go to him?—He came to me.

15,127. He said that you might have 3*l.* then, and when were you to have the other?—There was no promise.

15,128. When were you to have the other; you were to have had four?—He did not say when.

15,129. In '63 were you on the committee?—No; I only went to give my vote.

15,130. What had you for loss of time on that occasion?—Nothing; I only went to give my vote.

15,131. In '59, the time before, you voted for Mr. Wilkinson, did you not?—No.

15,132. Had you anything for that election?—No, nothing.

15,133. Do you say the same thing of all the previous times you voted; that you had nothing for your vote?—I did not have a sup of anything nor any money.

15,134. Except for the last?—Only for the last.

The witness withdrew.

CHARLES LUCOCK sworn and examined.

15,135. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A harness maker.

15,136. What rent do you pay?—6*l.* a year.

15,137. Is your house worth more than 6*l.* a year?—I suppose it is, it has been in the family so long; my wife's family.

15,138. Did you vote for Mr. Gower at this last election?—I did.

15,139. Who asked you to do so?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith.

15,140. Did you promise him, or did you say that you would think about it?—I said I would think about it, because I had not thought of it then. Mr. Gower called upon me when first he came round to canvass.

15,141. You said you would think about it?—Yes.

15,142. When did you make up your mind?—Frederick Joyes came to me afterwards.

15,143. And did he fix you?—Yes.

15,144. What arguments did he use which Mr. Gower had failed to use?—I was not a minute with Joyes.

15,145. But still something happened; Mr. Gower had not fixed you, but Mr. Joyes did?—He said, if I would vote he would pay me for working.

15,146. He said if you would "vote," or "work"?—If I would vote for him; and I was to attend committee meetings.

15,147. How much was he to pay you?—5*l.*

15,148. Do you know how long that was before the election?—I cannot say; it was three weeks or a month; it was somewhere there abouts.

15,149. After did he pay you the money?—I think it was in November he paid me 3*l.*

15,150. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you 3*l.*?—Frederick Joyes.

15,151. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you grumble about not having what he had promised?—It was no use grumbling.

15,152. Did you do it a little bit?—No; he said there would be some more money; but I never received any.

15,153. Did he pay in money?—One morning when I was going home to my meals he called me into the shop, and he paid me three sovereigns.

15,154. He did not give you a cheque?—No.

15,155. Not a cheque drawn by Mr. Smith?—He paid me three sovereigns.

15,156. You knew most of the Monson people?—Yes.

15,157. You knew one or two rather intimately?—I had a lot of friends; of acquaintances.

15,158. There were one or two that you were particularly friendly with?—There were several of the Monson party that I used to be very friendly with.

15,159. But there were one or two in particular; who were they?—Robert Houlton was one.

15,160. Go on; who was the other?—There were several, Mr. Holdsworth, and a lot of them I am acquainted with on the Monson side.

15,161. Well, I will take Mr. Holdsworth; you had some talk with him and spoke about the election?—Not with Mr. Holdsworth.

15,162. But with Houlton?—Yes.

15,163. Was he on Mr. Monson's committee?—Not that I am aware of.

15,164. Had you not some talk with some of Mr. Monson's backers?—Only Houlton.

15,165. Did Houlton tell you it would be quite as well if you voted for them?—Yes, Houlton did; he said if I voted for Mr. Monson it would be quite as good.

15,166. I dare say he went on to tell you how it would be quite as good?—Nothing particular.

15,167. But he gave you to understand it?—Yes; he said if I would vote for Mr. Monson he would give me 4*l.*

15,168. What did you say to that? Did you hesitate a bit?—I said I had partly promised the other side before.

15,169. I do not think that you had entirely?—Not entirely; that was all that passed.

15,170. Did you leave home then?—I left home then.

15,171. Did you tell Houlton at the time he told you this that you were partly engaged to Mr. Gower?—No, I did not.

15,172. Have you voted in any other election?—No.

15,173. Did you give Houlton to understand that he might succeed if he opened his mouth a little wider?—No, I did not say any such thing.

15,174. That was my phrase. Do not suppose that I put his words into your mouth. Did you give him to understand that he was not quite high enough?—No; they said they would give me a little more.

15,175. Did you give Houlton to understand that he was not quite up to your mark with the other side?—I do not recollect anything of that.

15,176. Do not suppose I want to tie you down to any particular words. Did you not give him to understand that if he opened his hand a little wider he would have more chance?—I do not think the word hand was mentioned.

NINTH DAY.
C. Lucock.
29 Aug. 1866.

15,177. You know what I mean. I do not care so much what you said when you said to Houlton something or other that gave him to understand he was not bidding quite high enough; I want to know if he said anything more?—I am not aware that he did.

15,178. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that the first time you voted?—The first time.

15,179. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did Houlton tell you where the money would come from?—No, he did not.

15,180. Did he not tell you what channel it would come through?—No; I do not remember his saying a word about it.

15,181. Did he not mention any other person from whom he could get the money? — No, I have no recollection whatever of it.

The witness withdrew.

The inquiry was then adjourned until 11 o'clock the following morning.

TENTH DAY.
B. Brown.
1 Sept. 1866.

TENTH DAY.

Saturday, 1st September 1866.

BENJAMIN BROWN sworn and examined.

15,182. (The Chief Commissioner.) You have been called several times, how is it you were not here?—I had my summons on Monday evening.

15,183. That is a long time ago. Why did you not come here?—I could not come before; I was ill.

15,184. Why did you not come when you were called upon on Monday evening and informed that you were to be here; we sent for you and you gave us a good deal of trouble, why was that?—I saw Mr. Elder yesterday evening.

(The Chief Commissioner.) We heard that you had said that you would not come unless by compulsion, unless we sent two policemen after you, that is very wrong; but we did send off to get an order from one of the judges in London, which you have seen, and after which you may have been sent to prison if we had chosen. We do not intend to enforce all the powers at our disposal, as you have now come here as a witness.

15,185. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say you were ill; were you confined at home?—Not exactly.

15,186. You were walking about in this town?—I was in this town on Tuesday.

15,187. In the daytime?—Early.

15,188. You were then summoned?—Yes.

15,189. And you were seen at Mr. Nichols'?—Yes.

15,190. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—I cannot say; I have a little place of my own.

15,191. You are a freeholder?—A copyholder.

15,192. What is the value of your copyhold by the year?—The rent of it?

15,193. Yes.—I have been offered 10*l.*

15,194. What are you, anything at all?—No, I am of no trade or particular business.

15,195. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you carry on any business?—No, not now.

15,196. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you mean you are independent?—Except labour; I do some labour.

15,197. That is what I want to know; are you a labourer?—Yes.

15,198. On the last election you voted for Mr. Gower, did you not?—Yes.

15,199. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Smith and Mr. Gower were together.

15,200. Did you promise them at that time?—I promised them this, I believe, that I would vote for the same man I did before.

15,201. What do you mean by that?—I promised for Mr. Gower before.

15,202. And you said you would vote in the same way as before?—Yes.

15,203. Do you mean by that that you promised Mr. Gower your vote, or did you say anything more?—No, told him I would come the same way.

15,204. What do you mean by that, that you would come the same way?—To give my vote.

15,205. Do you mean that you would come on the same terms?—Yes.

15,206. What had been the terms on which you voted before in 1863? Was that when Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson were candidates?—No, this last time was 1865.

15,207. But you said you would vote the same as before, did your refer to the election of 1863 between Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson as the time before?—I voted for Mr. Gower when Mr. Wilkinson opposed him.

15,208. What terms did you vote upon then?—To give my vote, that was all.

15,209. What did you get for it?—Nothing.

15,210. Who did you promise to vote in 1863?—I promised James Nichols.

15,211. For Mr. Wilkinson or Mr. Gower?—For Mr. Gower.

15,212. At the election of 1863 were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Not at all.

15,213. Were you on any committee?—No.

15,214. Did you not do any work at all?—No.

15,215. Did you make any arrangement with Mr. Nichols that you were to receive anything for your work?—No.

15,216. Or if you lost your time?—No.

15,217. Did you make any arrangement with Mr. Nichols at all?—Not any.

15,218. Did you apply to him for anything for your vote?—No.

15,219. Before you gave it?—No.

15,220. Or after?—No.

15,221. Did you receive any money from anybody?—No.

15,222. You are sure of that?—Quite sure.

15,223. How long have you been a voter?—As much as 16 years.

15,224. I suppose you voted then at all the elections?—I have for several years.

15,225. In 1859, it was the general election, when Mr. Wilkinson and the Hon. Mr. Monson contested it?—Yes.

15,226. Did you vote at that election?—Yes.

15,227. Who for?—Mr. Monson.

15,228. Are you able to recollect the election before that, which was in 1858, when there were two elections in the year. I want to know who you voted for on the last of these two elections. It was in October, and the Hon. Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson opposed each other. Can you tell me who you voted for then, was it for Mr. Monson?—Was it not for Sir Henry Rawlinson?

15,229. No, it was after that, Sir Henry Rawlinson's was the first election in the year; there were two elections in the year, and I am speaking of the second. Sir Henry Rawlinson retired, after that he went out of the country, and Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson fought the borough?—I voted for Mr. Monson.

15,230. Now the same Mr. Monson for whom you voted in October 1858, he had stood at that election with Sir Henry Rawlinson and Mr. Doulton at the beginning of the same year; who did you vote for then?—Sir Henry Rawlinson.

15,231. Can you tell me whether you had ever voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson; there was an election in 1857 between Mr. Hackblock and Sir Henry Rawlinson?—Yes, I voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson. There were only those two I think.

15,232. This last election of all you voted for Mr. Gower. I want to remind you you had already voted twice for the Monson family, therefore I suppose you were inclined in the first instance towards the Monson family in this election of 1865, when Mr. Monson stood against Gower?—No.

15,233. You voted for the family twice before; I should have thought you would have gone for them again?—Yes, but I voted for Mr. Gower.

15,234. I want you to tell me why, if you please?—I had heard a very good character of Mr. Gower.

15,235. I hope you had not heard a bad one of Mr. Monson?—No.

15,236. Then the reason would still hold good. I should think people would rather look to you to go up to the poll for Mr. Monson, you were a regular Monsonite, you had voted twice for the family, and this present one was a relation, had you any reason?—No.

15,237. No reason whatever?—No.

15,238. It sounds a little capricious, does it not? Perhaps you can account for it?—No.

15,239. You had been canvassed, I believe, by the Monson party in 1865?—I never promised them.

15,240. But you had been canvassed by them; somebody had been to you to ask you for your vote for Mr. Monson?—Yes, I was asked by several people.

15,241. Who was it who did ask you this last election?—I was asked at the "Prince Albert" for my vote.

15,242. Who was it asked you?—Mr. Langridge asked me.

15,243. Was that before you had promised your vote to Mr. Gower, do you recollect?—After, I think.

15,244. Did you tell Mr. Langridge that you had promised Mr. Gower?—No.

15,245. Why did you not, perhaps you can give me a reason?—I did not tell anyone.

15,246. Why not, I am rather curious to know why you should not, please to help me?—I had no reason in particular I did not want to have people bothering me.

15,247. My friend reminds me that telling him point blank that you had promised your vote to Mr. Gower would have stopped your being bothered any more?—I kept away from it.

15,248. We will judge of your reason; tell me what Mr. Langridge said to you?—There was nothing said more than about having a little money if we worked for it.

15,249. What was said, I shall have to ask question after question, and it keeps us so long. Tell me if you please?—There was to be 5*l.* for those who took an active part, but I did not take anything of the kind.

15,250. Mr. Langridge said that?—Yes.

15,251. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How many were there present when that was said; there were a good many there at the time, Mr. Nash and other people were there?—Yes, he and other people were there.

15,252. (The Chief Commissioner.) You have got a brother, Edward Brown have you not?—No.

15,253. Is he a brother-in-law?—No.

15,254. Is Stephen Brown your brother?—No.

15,255. Have you not got a brother?—No.

15,256. Nor half-brother or brother-in-law?—Yes, I have a half brother.

15,257. Is he Edward Brown?—No, William Brown.

15,528. Was he for the Monson party or for Gower?—I do not think he has got a vote.

15,259. But whose side does he back?—That I cannot tell.

15,260. I only want one word more about Mr. Langridge; my friend here asked you whether there were not a good many people, and you said there were some people there besides Nash. Was there one of the name of Steer, who is dead?—Yes, I believe he was there, and there might be another or two.

15,261. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Fullbrook was there, I think?—Yes, I think he was there.

15,262. And Risbridger, do you recollect him?—No.

15,263. (The Chief Commissioner.) When Mr. Langridge said this to you perhaps you thought it was an opportunity of either doing something yourself for your own advantage, or at any rate of hoaxing him. Did not that occur to you?—I did not take any interest.

15,264. Did not he say something to you in answer?—I said I would not have anything to do with it.

15,265. What I want to know is, did not Mr. Langridge refer you to somebody else, and say So-and-so you will be able to get the money from?—He said the money would be there.

15,266. Where?—At the "Prince Albert."

15,267. Who keeps the "Prince Albert"?—Emery.

15,268. Did you understand Mr. Emery was to have it for you?—I understood so.

15,269. Did he tell you when?—Not till after the polling day.

15,270. Perhaps you cannot recollect how long before the election this talk with Mr. Langridge was?—I should say about three weeks.

15,271. Was any other thing mentioned, that if you attended the polling day and nomination day it was to be anything more?—No.

15,272. Was any other offer made you afterwards by the Monson party?—I was in at the "Nag's Head."

15,273. Was that afterwards?—Afterwards.

15,274. Tell me, if you please, in your own way what passed there?—There were two or three men in there, voters, and I was in there.

15,275. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Before you voted, of course?—Yes, the same day.

15,276. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who keeps the "Nag's Head"?—A man named Bran.

15,277. What Christian name?—William.

15,278. (The Chief Comimssioner.) Well go on. (The witness.) Apted came in there with a man, I cannot tell you his name.

15,279. Was that James or Job?—James.

15,280. Now be so good as to tell me what passed. James Apted came in?—He came in and hooked a man away, and he pulled out some notes in his hand; he said he could do 5*l.* for a man.

15,281. You were a man more independent than some of them. Did anybody seem to be little affected

TENTH DAY.

B. Brown.

1 Sept. 1866.

by the sight of the notes?—I cannot say what they might feel.

15,282. I ask you whether they seemed to be affected, that is what I mean?—He took one man away from the house in his cart.

15,283. Do you know the man?—I know the man, but I cannot give you his name.

15,284. Would he belong to Mr. Gower's party?—No, Mr. Monson's.

15,285. But before that?—I think he did.

15,286. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He was a Gower's man before that time?—Yes.

15,287. (The Chief Commissioner.) I should wish you to recollect his name; it is not very material, but I should like to know?—It is a man who used to take at the gate; you mentioned his name this morning.

15,288. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Fullbrook?—Yes, Fullbrook.

15,289. (The Chief Commissioner.) What time of the polling day was this?—In the forenoon, about 11 o'clock.

15,290. Did he say anything to you in particular? did he address himself to you afterwards?—I did not see him the day after.

15,291. No; that day that he came in and said what you told us about notes, did he say anything to you in particular at all?—He told me he had 5l.

15,292. To you?—Yes, he told me so.

15,293. Apted did?—No, not Apted.

15,294. Who?—Fullbrook.

15,295. Oh, I understand; Fulbrook told you that he had the 5l.?—Yes.

15,296. I want to know whether Apted said anything to you in particular; did he hold anything out to you in particular, and say, "Is this in your line "at all"?—I said I would not be bought for 5l.

15,297. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You wanted more, I suppose?—I did not want any for my vote.

15,298. (The Chief Commissioner.) This was about the middle of the day of the polling day; what time did you poll?—In the afternoon, I think nearly 3 o'clock.

15,299. Now about this house that you were in when James Apted came in, was it Mr. Monson's house or Mr. Gower's house?—I should think it was Mr. Gower's house.

15,300. It seems to make it all the bolder for Mr. Apted to come into the enemy's camp like that?—Yes.

15,301. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What time did he come in, was it the middle of the day, about 1 o'clock?—Before 1; I think it was the fore part of the day.

15,302. (The Chief Commissioner.) How many voters do you think, at the time Apted came in, were together at the "Nag's Head;" you have mentioned three or four, tell me how many in your opinion were there?—I think there were five besides myself.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That would make the number six, which is precisely what has been stated by another witness.

(The Chief Commissioner.) You did not try to do anything particular for anybody, you did not try to work. You know the "Royal Oak," do you not?

15,303. At Warwick-town?—Yes.

15,304. That is Mazden's house?—No, that is in Mead-vale, the "Oak," I think.

15,305. I thought it was the "Royal Oak," but it is about Mazden's that I want to ask you. Is he a Gowerite or a Monsonite?—A Gowerite.

15,306. You used to attend Mr. Mazden's house; you were continually there?—I was there sometimes.

15,307. You were there to get refreshment, were you not?—Very little besides what I paid for.

15,308. I do not mean that you drank too much, but when you wanted refreshment about the election you used to go to Mazden's house principally?—I was not there only a very few times, but when I went in and called for anything I wanted I paid for it.

15,309. You have been there when you did not pay for it?—I have been with parties there, and paid for some, and drank with other parties.

15,310. Have you not gone in and had refreshment that you have not had to pay for?—I cannot remember any.

15,311. You know what I mean by election refreshment very well?—Yes.

15,312. During this election of 1865, in your opinion were refreshments very plentiful?—I think they were.

15,313. At most of the party houses?—Yes, at most places.

15,314. On both sides?—Yes, I believe they were.

15,315. Will you tell me at once what you received from the Gower party?—Nothing.

15,316. On what terms did you vote for Mr. Gower?—I never received a farthing from Mr. Gower.

15,317. But you were expecting it; tell me in your own way what you were expecting?—I voted for him because I thought he was a proper man.

15,318. You told me a conversation you had with Langridge, and you told me what Langridge said, that there was to be 5l. for those who took an active part, that was the expression?—Yes.

15,319. Now you have told me that, I want to have it more definitely; what were you to have for your vote?—I never took any money.

15,320. Did you apply to Langridge after?

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien remarked that Mr. Langridge was Mr. Monson's man.

15,321. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was the name of Mr. Langridge's house, the "Prince Albert?"—No, that is Emery's; I think it was the "South Eastern Hotel."

15,322. (The Chief Commissioner.) You told us what occurred between you and Langridge on behalf of Mr. Monson. Do tell me who you promised your vote to for Mr. Gower?—At the last election I promised my vote to Mr. Smith for Mr. Gower.

15,323. You were not quite certain about it in the first instance when you were first applied to, who did you see afterwards?—After?

15,324. Yes, after you saw Mr. Smith and Mr. Gower?—Mr. Church called at my house.

15,325. What did he say?—He wanted me to go on the list with him; he was for Mr. Gower.

15,326. What did you say to him?—I told I would not have anything to do, not to be on the list, nor to have any bother or trouble in canvassing.

15,327. Was that Mr. Church of Hollis-road?—Yes.

15,328. Mr. Church finding that you were not promised went on to canvass you?—He came to my place two or three times.

15,329. What did he say?—He said the best way was to vote for Mr. Gower; I had made up my mind and told him that I hoped he would not trouble me about it.

15,330. He did a little bit, he gave you some inducement?—He never gave me anything.

15,331. But I mean he held out inducements?—If I came and went with him on the list he said I should be paid for my work, but I did not do any.

15,332. What did he tell you you were likely to get for that?—Something like 10*s.* a day, I think that was about it, if I recollect rightly.

15,333. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How many days before the election?—Nearly a fortnight.

15,334. (The Chief Commissioner.) And was it then you told him that you would vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes, I told him that I would vote for the same man that I had before.

15,335. Did you before the election apply to Mr. Gower for money at all?—No.

15,336. Did Mr. Church refer you to anybody at the time he canvassed you, or tell you who it was that paid for Mr. Gower?—No.

15,337. He did not?—No.

15,338. Do you recollect whether he mentioned any name to you at all?—No.

15,339. To whom did you apply about being paid for your time or your services?—I did not apply to anyone.

15,340. Did anybody come to you about it?—Mr. Church came to my house and said I might go on the list, and if I did and took an active part I should be paid.

15,341. That was 10*s.* a day?—Yes.

15,342. When the polling day came, who went with you to the poll?—I walked.

15,343. I wonder at that; you might have ridden, might you not?—I preferred to walk; it was not far off.

15,344. From the "Nag's Head"?—Yes; I came from my home before I went to the "Nag's Head."

15,345. Who walked with you?—Joseph Knight.

15,346. Was he a voter?—Yes.

15,347. Was he a committee man?—No, I believe not.

15,348. What I want to know was which of Mr. Gower's committee men, which of his active men went with you to the poll?—Not either of them.

15,349. Was Knight an active man at the election?—No.

15,350. You walked arm-in-arm with Knight to the poll?—No.

15,351. Had not somebody got his arm in yours?—No.

15,352. Very near to the polling place I mean?—Not that I can recollect.

15,353. I wish you would try and recollect?—I cannot.

15,354. Did not a man take you by the arm, and you take his, and did not you go arm-in-arm together to the polling place?—No.

15,355. Do you wish me to understand from all your answers that you did not get money or money's worth, nor promise more than you have mentioned of money, from anybody on the part of or from Mr. Gower?—No, not anyone.

15,356. You recollect Church had told you about the 10*s.*?—Yes.

15,357. You recollect also you told the Monson people you were not going to be bought for 5*l.*?—Yes.

15,358. And that you were with the Monson party in the public house at that time?—Yes.

15,359. I wish you to tell me whether you have ever applied or been applied to by any of the Gower people, or by anybody, about money for your vote either before or after the election?—No; not to my knowledge.

15,360. That is not a thing a man would forget, happening only last year. Are you expecting now to get anything?—I am not expecting it.

15,361. Do you not think you ought to expect it?—Well, I am taken away from my business now.

15,362. Do you not think you deserve it as much as other people?—Yes, I do.

15,363. And do you not feel it as a bit of a grievance that you have got none of the money?—No.

15,364. Do you not feel any grievance?—I feel it a grievance in this, that the voters have been used as they have in the election system to be bought and sold.

15,365. You object to the system?—Yes, I do.

15,366. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were at the "Nag's Head" on the morning of the polling?—Yes, I was.

15,367. How long did you remain there?—I was there an hour, and then I went home; my home was close by.

15,368. You were there about an hour with the Gower party?—They were mostly the Monson party.

15,369. And then you went home?—I walked out on the common.

15,370. I suppose you did not intend to vote that day, as it was nearly 3 o'clock when you were out on the common?—Yes, I did.

15,371. This was near 3 o'clock?—Yes.

15,372. Well, but somebody came?—I went into the "Nag's Head" again.

15,373. Did you go with Mr. Knight?—Yes.

15,374. And then I suppose you had something to drink?—Yes; a glass of ale.

15,375. And then you and Knight came away?—Yes; he walked up the road with me afterwards.

15,376. You have no disclosures to make; nothing to tell and no disclosures to make that were disgraceful to yourself; you condemned the system of bribing you know?—Yes.

15,377. Then why did you not come here before?—I did not feel fit to come in the place.

15,378. Why?—I was not very well.

15,379. That was not the message you sent; you said you would not come. How is it you were so reluctant to come if you had nothing to disclose affecting yourself?—I did not say I would not come.

15,380. Yes, you did; there is no doubt about that; we have that on the best evidence.—I was not well, and I was not fit to be in the place the other day.

15,381. You voted in 1863 for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

15,382. Had you been on his committee at all that year?—No.

15,383. Had you been canvassed by Mr. Wilkinson in 1863?—No,

15,384. By Mr. Norman Wilkinson?—No.

15,385. Did he not canvass you?—No.

15,386. Did you see Mr. Norman Wilkinson in 1863?—Yes.

15,387. Did he not canvass you?—No.

15,388. Did he not ask you to vote for his brother?—Yes.

15,389. Well, that is what I mean; did he ask you to vote?—Yes, he asked me to vote.

15,390. What do you mean by canvassing?—I thought you meant a promise to do something, or something of that kind.

15,391. Did he not ask you more than once to vote for his brother?—Yes.

15,392. And you promised him?—No, never.

15,393. Did you not say you would not vote against Mr. Wilkinson?—No, I did not.

15,394. Had you been on Mr. Gower's committee at that election?—No.

15,395. And you received nothing?—Nothing at all.

15,396. Nothing whatever?—No, nothing whatever.

15,397. I mean at the election of '63?—No, nothing.

15,398. Did you receive anything by the week?—No.

15,399. I mean any money at all?—Not any money at all.

15,400. Did you earn any money on the election of '63?—No.

15,401. Did you receive any?—No.

15,402. Not a farthing?—Not a farthing; I never received any money for any vote.

TENTH DAY.

B. Brown.

1 Sept. 1866.

15,403. Nor for any labour?—No, not even for that; I did not have money at all.

15,404 (The Chief Commissioner.) For work done at the last election and time lost?—No.

15,505. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Not for lost time?—No.

15,406. You said to the best of your knowledge you had received nothing; I do not understand that?—I am sure I did not receive anything; I should have remembered it if I had.

15,407. Did any one receive money on your behalf? You are a married man, I presume?—Yes.

15,408. Did any one receive anything on your behalf?—No, I believe not; I was never told anything of the kind.

15,409. You never heard from your wife to that effect?—No; and I never got anything, 15,410. Did you ever hear from your wife?—No; not anything, I believe.

15,411. You have your doubts upon that?—No, sir, I have not.

15,412. Did they call at your house more than once?—They called several different times.

15,413. I believe Mr. Church is a very influential man?—I do not know that.

15,414. It puzzles me why you did not come to tell us all you knew. Of all men in the borough of Reigate I should have thought you would have been the very first man to have come here. Suspicion rested upon you, and you should have said, "How "glad I am to be afforded an opportunity of doing "away with the calumny and righting myself"?—I had no occasion to be afraid of anything.

15,415. That is the very reason you should have come, that you were not afraid of anything. I suppose it was the paper you saw last night that brought you down?—No; I was here last evening.

Mr. Commissioner Smith observed it was not until after the witness had heard of the proceedings taken against him.

15,416. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You heard that gentleman (pointing to Mr. De Rutzen, Secretary to the Commission) had gone up to London?—I heard persons in Reigate say a gentleman was going up.

(The Chief Commissioner.) He did go up, and has got the power.

15,417. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When you knew of those proceedings you came?—Mr. Apted called at my house, and said my name had been called.

15,418. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I heard you say very distinctly you had never received any money from Mr. Gower, and that I believe, but I ask you again, did you ever receive any money on his account?—No, not any; I never did.

15,419. What do you mean by saying you would vote for him on the same terms as before?—I meant I should not leave the man, I voted for him before; that was my meaning.

15,420. (The Chief Commissioner.) You say you were not fit to come here either yesterday or the day before?—Yes.

15,421. How came you to go to Mr. Nichols of the "Grapes"?—That was on Tuesday.

15,422. You went in there?—Yes, for a drop of brandy.

15,423. You saw Mr. Nichols?—Yes.

15,424. And had some conversation with him?—It was very few words.

15,425. About this inquiry?—He said, "If you "have not been there to-day you had better come to-"morrow."

15,426. In the "Grapes"?—In the "Grapes."

15,427. You were to come to the "Grapes"?—No, he did not say to the "Grapes;" he said, "You had "better go up to the town hall to-morrow if you "can."

15,428. Did he talk to you about your vote?—No.

15,429. Aye?—No.

15,430. Did you not tell Mr. Nichols what took place at Langridge's public house?—No.

15,431. Do you mean to say Mr. Nichols said nothing about your evidence further than you had better go up to the town hall?—No.

15,432. Did you tell him you had been summoned?—Yes, and he said "You had better attend to it if "you can."

15,433. Why did you not take his advice?—I was not very well.

15,434. You were well enough to go to the "Grapes"?—Yes.

15,435. How far do you live off?—Nearly three miles, two and a half.

15,436. Do you mean to say you came all that way to get a drop of brandy at Mr. Nichols?—No; I had some business to transact.

15,437. You were required to be here on the Tuesday, your summons was for the Tuesday?—I made a mistake, I thought it meant for the Monday; it was dated so.

15,438. Was it not because you received the summons on Monday you came into the town two and and a half miles away on Tuesday?—No, I did not come for that.

15,439. What time were you here on the Tuesday?—I cannot say what time.

15,440. Was it in the morning?—No, it was in the afternoon.

15,441. You were met in the town, and you were told your name was on the list?—Yes.

15,442. And you said you would not come?—I said I could not well that day.

15,543. We have got it in evidence here you said you would not come. I am only asking you these questions to see how far we are to believe you when you say you received no money; I am only testing you to see how far we can believe you. When you came into the town on Tuesday who had you any conversation with that day?—Tuesday?

15,444. Yes, and that is a very short time ago?—I do not know that I had conversation with anybody; I saw several faces.

15,445. Who did you have any talk with; I do not mean how do you do, and so on, but who did you have any talk with?—I cannot recollect any one.

15,446. Do not say you cannot recollect for that will not do?—I did not sit down, I was at the bar of the house.

15,447. What house?—The "Grapes."

15,448. Who did you have talk with at the "Grapes"?—I spoke to Mr. Nichols and a few more.

15,449. Who were they?—I did not have time to talk to any one.

15,450. You may tell me that if you like if it is the truth, but do you mean to say you cannot recollect any one you talked to about the election?—There was a man who talked about it a little, I think a man from Warwick-town, Cohen I think, but he seemed quite wild that I could not understand him.

15,451. Who did you have any conversation with who you did very well understand, just tell me?—Not any one.

15,452. We were sitting here on the Tuesday and you had a notice to appear, but did not appear, though you came into the town. Now I want to know, and your answer will inform me a good deal about you, I tell you that, who did you have any talk with (you perfectly well understand,) about the election?—I cannot recollect any one I did talk with about the election; they were all talking about it, one and all.

15,453. Do you recollect ever having any talk with somebody you knew very well was with the Gower party at the last election? Who did you talk to on Tuesday that belonged to the Gower party at the last election; tell me that, if you please. Did you see Job Apted in the town on Tuesday?—I saw him last night.

15,454. Did you see him on Tuesday?—I think I did.

TENTH DAY.

B. Brown.

1 Sept. 1866.

15,455. Did you have any talk with him on Tuesday?—No further talk than he told me my name had been called.

15,456. And you said "Very well." Did he then say anything to you about the election or the questions you would be asked?—No, and no one else.

15,457. Did he not tell you what sort of an inquiry this was, and whether he thought the Commissioners very disagreeable?—No.

15,458. Something like that; do tell me what was said, I have told you that your answer will influence my opinion very much with regard to you; I thought you would have some regard to my opinion, and perhaps I may be right?—Job Apted did say you were very agreeable; I can do no more than speak the truth.

15,459. Who else did you talk with besides Job Apted? come, tell me at once, for I do not wish to keep this up?—I do not recollect any one.

15,460. You saw Job Apted last night?—Yes.

15,461. What conversation did you have with him?—He said the best thing I could do was to go up the next morning.

15,462. Did he say you had better tell the truth?—He said, "Whatever has been transacted, say the "truth, that is the best thing you can do;" that was all that was said; he did not put any questions to me.

15,463. Did he remind you of what you could recollect or be able to say?—No.

15,464. Did he say "Mind, I never paid you any "money"?—No.

15,465. Nothing like that?—No.

15,466. Did he not say something like that?—No.

15,467. Did you not say to him "Nothing was "transacted"?—Oh, yes, I did say to him "Well I "never took any money of anybody myself."

15,468. And he said, "To be sure you never got "any"?—Yes, I told other people the same.

15,469. Did Mr. Apted say that was something to tell them?—He said, "You must be cleared if "you never did anything of the kind," and I said, "I never did." That was all, there were no questions asked.

15,470. Was any advice given to you?—No, nothing further than this; he said "Let it be which "way it is, you had better speak the truth."

The witness then withdrew.

Mr. E. Prout.

Mr. Ebenezer Prout called and sworn.

15,471. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were here yesterday, I believe?—During the early part of the sitting.

15,472. Are you an elector?—I am.

15,473. May I inquire for whom you voted?—For Mr. Monson.

15,474. You were not here, I believe, when Gillett was examined?—I was not, unfortunately.

15,475. Gillett told us that he received no promise before he voted for Mr. Gower; do you know anything to the contrary of that from him?—Yes; perhaps I had better state the circumstances under which that information came to me.

15,476. Do not tell us unless you had it from him?—I had it from him.

15,477. Tell us what he said?—Gillett told me directly that he had received nothing, but had been promised 1*l.* a week until the election.

15,478. (The Chief Commissioner.) From whom?—From Mr. Gower's party; I do not know what agent.

15,479. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How long before the election?—I think three or four weeks. I asked how much he expected to get altogether, and he said about 4*l.* or 5*l.*

15,480. He was then in Mr. Simpson's employ?—He was.

15,481. Gillett told us upon the Monday before the election Mr. Simpson told him that if he voted for Gower he would discharge him, and that he left Mr. Simpson's employment on that account?—I happened to be present, and was walking with Mr. Simpson in his grounds when that conversation took place to which he obviously refers. A person came into the grounds, a tradesman in the town, and called Mr. Simpson aside. When Mr. Simpson returned to me he said he had just received information that Gillett was going to vote for Mr. Gower in consequence of being bribed. He was highly excited, and very indignant indeed. He called Gillett up and charged him with having made this engagement. He fenced the question, and said, "I have received nothing, sir." Mr. Simpson at once said. "But you expect some-"thing;" and with some little difficulty he admitted that he did expect something. Mr. Simpson then said, I think I can almost repeat his words, they struck me at the time very strongly. "Now, Gillett, I would be "the last man in the world to interfere with your "right of voting for any person you might prefer; "but no man shall remain on my premises who will "take a bribe at an election, and you shall therefore "take your choice, either to quit my service or to "refuse this bribe."

15,482. What did Gillett say to that?—He made no reply, but as Mr. Simpson was rather excited, and as I had known Gillett a long time, I took him aside and talked quietly with him, remonstrating with him as to the folly and wickedness of taking a bribe and so sacrificing a place in which he had considerable advantages. He then after a little conversation told me that he would not receive it, but his great fear was that after Mr. Simpson had become acquainted with the fact that he intended to receive it he would not regard him in the same light in which he had done previously, with the same confidence. I said "If you will repudiate the whole thing I will make "it all straight." He left Mr. Simpson, as I understood afterwards, that night; Mr. Simpson was under the impression, because of course I told him what had passed between Gillett and myself, that he would continue in his work.

15,483. He did not come?—He did not come.

15,484. Gillett told us (and it corroborates what you state) that Mr. Simpson had previously said that the men might vote as they liked?—I did not hear Mr. Simpson say that.

15,485. Was there another man in Mr. Simpson's employ of the name of Denyer?—Yes, there was another man; but I know nothing of what passed between Mr. Simpson and Denyer.

15,486. You say that it was in consequence of Gillett's having engaged himself to vote for a bribe that Mr. Simpson said he should not remain?—Yes; and Mr. Simpson was willing to retain his services.

15,487. If he repudiated that?—Yes; Gillett left Mr. Simpson.

15488. (The Chief Commissioner.) He never applied for the week's wages?—No.

T. Chitty.

Thomas Chitty called, sworn, and examined.

15,489. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where do you live now?—At Chertsey.

15,490. Where did you live at the time of the election in 1865?—In the freehold, Reigate.

15,491. What rental did you pay?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week.

15,492. Who was your landlord?—Henry Heather.

15,493. What were you?—A gardener.

TENTH DAY.

T. Chitty.

1 Sept. 1866.

15,494. You occupied a greenhouse, did you not?—Yes.

15,495. Who was your landlord for that greenhouse?—George Nichols, landlord of the "Barleymow."

15,496. Who was it first canvassed you?—David Durrant.

15,497. Were you canvassed at all on the part of Mr. Monson?—No.

15,498. Not by anybody?—No.

15,499. Was your name advertised on the committee?—No.

15,500. Were you at any time canvassed by Wilkins and by Balchin?—No.

15,501. You say you hired a greenhouse of Mr. Nichols?—Yes.

15,502. What rent did you pay for that?—2*l.* a year.

15,503. You say that Durrant canvassed you, was that Durrant the brewer?—Yes.

15,504. When he canvassed you did he engage to give you a sum of money?—Yes.

15,505. How much? 5*l.* was it not?—Yes.

15,506. When was he to pay the 5*l.*?—It was not mentioned.

15,507. When did you expect to be paid?—I expected to be paid when I voted.

15,508. Then it was for your vote?—Well, it was for my trouble, walking with a few of my neighbours, and speaking to them about the election.

15,508*a*. A few of your neighbouring gardeners?—Yes.

15,509. Besides this promise of 5*l.* for this labour, you did in fact receive some money to distribute from Durrant, did you not?—Well, no; I do not know that I received any money to distribute.

15,510. Did you spend money?—Yes, I spent a few shillings.

15,511. Did you expend to the extent of 15*l.*?—No.

15,512. Were you not instructed by Durrant to offer money to the voters?—Yes.

15,513. Tell me what he said when you understood him to instruct you to give money to the voters?—Not to give money.

15,514. To offer money?—He wished me to see two parties particularly.

15,515. What are their names?—Balchin and Wilkins.

15,516. Alfred Balchin?—Yes.

15,517. And Thomas Wilkins?—Yes.

15,518. What were you to offer those men?—I was to offer Balchin; I was to do the best I could, and to get him to do what work I thought he was called upon, and 3*l.* from Durrant.

15,519. Did Durrant restrict you to 3*l.*?—Not exactly; I was to get Balchin to do the best he could for 3*l.* or 3*l.* 10*s.*

15,520. As low as you could?—As low as I possibly could for his work, for he was termed as a labouring man; he could not afford to go more than a trifle a week because it was some time before the election came on.

15,521. What work was this man Balchin to do?—I cannot say exactly. I never made any arrangement what he was to do at all; he was to apply to Durrant what to do. I did not make any arrangement what he was to do.

15,522. Did Durrant tell you what work he was to go upon?—No.

15,523. Or what Wilkins was to go upon?—No.

15,524. Who were these two men, gardeners?—One was a plasterer's labourer, and the other an agricultural labourer.

15,525. Which is the plasterer?—Balchin; and Wilkins the agricultural labourer.

15,526. Working in the field?—Yes.

15,527. What was he to have?—4*l.* for his work. He was at work weekly. He worked weekly for Durrant, working about or taking out circulars.

15,528. In fact you arranged for him to have 4*l.*?—Yes.

15,529. Durrant gave you no instructions what sum you were to offer?—No; but of course Durrant knew that.

15,530. Durrant told you to secure the vote at all events?—Yes.

15,531. That is what you meant?—Yes.

15,532. Were those the only two voters that you canvassed?—I never interfered with anyone else. There was a party or two that spoke to me about it, but I merely said, "Have your name put down;" but I never interfered with anyone else.

15,533. That was not quite the part of the work which you undertook, you took another department?—No other department.

15,534. Did you not take this department, to take charge of the voters at the evening meetings?—Well, I do not know that exactly, that I took any charge of the voters at all.

15,535. Perhaps you do not exactly understand me. I am using your own language. You did attend the evening meetings?—At times, when I felt inclined.

15,536. What did you do at the evening meetings, stand at the door and see that nobody but voters came in?—No.

15,537. What did you do?—Sometimes I sat down, and sometimes amused myself with walking about.

15,538. What was your object in walking about; to see that only voters were there?—I cannot say.

15,539. To see that none of Monson's party came in?—Only to walk about and see my neighbours and have a chat with them, nothing else; to pass the evening away, perhaps.

15,540. Have you not said before that your duty was simply to take charge of the voters in the evening, and treat them to beer or what they wanted? Was not that your object in walking about the room, to see that the men had refreshments, that they were treated properly with beer and what they wanted?—There were several in that case.

15,541. Several doing that like yourself?—Yes.

15,542. Perhaps you will describe to me what you did do. When you walked about the room did you go to a friend and say, "Have you got just what you "want"?—At times I said so, and perhaps another man would come across to me and do the same thing.

15,543. You were all helping each other then?—Yes.

15,544. If you saw a friend in want of refreshment did you go and get it for him or order it for him?—Yes.

15,545. Then you were all waiters, and waiting for what you could get?—Not exactly, because I oftentimes paid for my own.

15,546. Not very often?—Nine times out of ten.

15,547. You said, "Not exactly"?—I know I was out of pocket over it.

15,548. We will come to that. You were "out of "pocket" something like 15*l.*, were you not?—No, I was not.

15,549. Have you not told some gentleman that you had spent nearly 15*l.*?—No.

15,550. I am using your own phrase. Did you not say that you had spent about 15*l.* to entice persons to vote for Mr. Gower?—Me?

15,551. Yes, you?—Oh, no.

15,552. Your name is Thomas Chitty?—Yes.

15,553. Then I mean you. Have you not told a gentleman before that you had spent 15*l.* to entice persons to vote for Mr. Gower?—That is wrong. I never had the money to do it.

15,554. Never mind whether you had the money. First, I ask you, have you not said so?—I never recollect such a thing.

15,555. Oh yes?—Certainly not.

15,556. Try and recollect. Did you not say so on the first of January last?—I do not know.

15,557. You may as well tell us?—I know there were a great many enticements.

15,558. To spend money?—I have certainly persuaded several gardeners, and that, to vote for Mr. Gower.

15,559. Let me go further. Perhaps this will remind you. Did you not say on the first of January 1866, "I was engaged by David Durrant, brewer, of "the freehold, Reigate, to spend money to entice "voters to poll for Gower; I spent about 15*l.* in this "way." Now, did you not receive money from David Durrant to spend, so as to entice voters to vote for Mr. Gower?—I humbly beg your pardon; there is a great mistake; my amount was 15*s.* Mr. Gilbert made a mistake; it was not pounds, it was shillings. That is the extent that I did go to.

15,560. It was not pounds?—It was not pounds.

15,561. Since the first of January have you had any conversation with Mr. Durrant about your evidence?—Not at all; I have not seen him, at least, I have seen him pass, but I have been away four or five months; I have not seen him these four or five months.

15,562. Then it was 15*s.*, not 15*l.*?—Yes.

15,563. Did you have the 15*s.* from Durrant?—No.

15,564. Where did you get it?—My own private earnings; it was a promise of being paid.

15,565. Then it is a mistake that you had received money from Durrant?—Some, but not that.

15,566. How much?—1*l.* in gold; 1*l.* 6*s.* I believe.

15,567. When?—I did not say when.

15,568. Before the polling?—Yes.

15,569. How long before?—Perhaps a week or ten days.

15,570. How came he to give you that sum, 1*l.* 6*s.*?—I was short of money, and wanted it.

15,571. Did you tell Durrant that you laid out the money from your own private pocket?—Yes.

15,572. For refreshments for the voters?—Yes.

15,573. When you were canvassing them?—Yes, I was ordered to do so.

15,574. Who told you to do so, Mr. Durrant?—I was ordered by several to do such things as that when I saw a brother gardener, or anything of that description. I was not to go to run all over the parish, because I kept my daily work. I used to come into the town at dinner time, and if I saw any one I was to have a pint of ale with them, and it was to be put down as canvassing labour.

15,575. The beer was?—Yes.

15,576. The beer was to be put down as canvassing labour?—Yes.

15,577. That was the working beer then?—Yes.

15,578. Of course all you men had supper beer; that was the working beer, the election beer?—I cannot say.

15,579. You would call that election beer, would you not?—We might term it so.

15,580. Did you go to Mr. Henry Thompson of Sidlow?—I did.

15,581. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you receive more than 1*l.* 6*s.*?

(The Chief Commissioner.) Did you receive any of the 5*l.*?—I think all the money I received was the 1*l.* 6*s.*

15,582. That was before voting?—Yes.

15,583. Did you not apply to Durrant afterwards for the 5*l.*?—Yes, several times.

15,584. What did Durrant say when you applied to him?—That he had not got any money.

15,585. Did you ever get the money from Durrant?—No.

15,586. Did you ever apply to anybody else for it?—Yes.

15,587. Who?—Mr. Apted and Mr. Buckland.

15,588. How came you to apply to them?—Because Durrant told me to apply to them. He had not the power, but I was to ask them.

15,589. Did you get anything from them?—No.

15,590. From Apted?—No.

15,591. From Buckland?—No.

15,592. How much altogether did you get?—I think it was about 1*l.* 6*s.*

15,593. That was before the polling?—Yes.

15,594. Were you referred to Mr. Smith?—No, I was not. Buckland said to me, "You had better see "Mr. Smith," but I never saw him. I went to him one day, but he was not at home.

15,595. Did they make any promise of payment?—As soon as they had got the money they would pay.

15,596. When did you leave this place and go to your present abode?—I cannot say exactly; it was just before the trial in London, before the petition.

15,597. How soon after the first of January? How soon after seeing Mr. Gilbert did you leave?—I think about March. I was fetched from Chertsey to London at the time the petition was on, and I was there about three weeks.

15,598. When you applied to Durrant for the money he never denied the arrangement?—Oh, dear no.

15,599. Did Apted or Buckland ever say to you that you were not entitled to have the 5*l.*?—No, they did not.

15,600. But that you should have it when they got the money?—When things were settled I was to have the money.

15,601. The petition was then pending against the return of Mr. Gower?—It was not, of course, at that time, it was just after the election.

15,602. It was spoken of?—Yes.

15,603. I suppose it was spoken of at once after the election?—Yes, it was.

15,604. And a third candidate was put up?—Yes.

15,605. Did you go to Mr. Henry Thompson of Sidlow?—Yes.

15,606. By the direction of Durrant?—I did.

15,607. What directions did you receive from Mr. Durrant?—That he mistook him or overlooked him in the book altogether; that he was not aware that he had a vote until, I suppose, passing through the list he saw his name.

15,608. What is Mr. Henry Thompson?—I fancy he is a sort of groom and gardener, something of that description.

15,609. Tell me what Durrant told you?—He told me just to walk down and see him, and to tell him that he was very sorry that he had missed him in the list, that he had overlooked him, that he would be very pleased if he would favour Mr. Gower with his vote, and that he would call and see him in a day or two.

15,610. Was anything said about a cask of beer?—Yes.

15,611. What was that?—The man laughed at me.

15,612. What did Durrant say?—Durrant said something about a cask of beer. The simple thing was this, that Thompson wanted a cask of beer, and he turned round directly and ordered a cask of beer of me.

15,613. You asked him for his vote and he ordered a cask of beer?—Yes; he asked me to tell Durrant to send him in a cask of beer the next morning, which, I believe, Thompson had been in the habit before the election of having a little cask of beer into his own private house.

15,613*a*. Before the election?—Yes, and he asked me to ask Durrant to send him a cask of beer the next day.

15,614. Did he say "as before"?—And then he would most likely see Durrant himself.

15,615. He wanted to find out whether the beer was good before he promised Durrant?—There was an empty cask of Durrant's in the house when I went to apply to him. He had been in the habit of having his beer from Durrant before I went to him; the cask was empty, and he asked me to order one. Durrant was to bring it himself, and he would see him.

TENTH DAY.
T. Chitty.
1 Sept. 1866.

15,616. Do you know whether Durrant went?—I cannot answer that question.

15,617. Do you know whether the beer went?—Yes.

15,618. Who took the beer, do you know?—I believe Wilkins took the beer; I do not know, I am not quite sure.

15,619. Wilkins, who was employed on the part of the election?—Yes.

15,620. And Warren?—I think he was with Wilkins at the same time.

15,621. Were Warren and Wilkins two of Durrant's men?—They were at work for him, carrying out little bills; he was busy then, I suppose.

15,622. Was that Thomas Wilkins?—Yes.

15,623. The agricultural labourer?—Yes.

15,624. Was he working on a farm of Mr. Durrant's?—Durrant has got a little meadow land.

15,625. How was this labourer in the employ of Durrant?—Running out with a little beer, trimming hedges, cleaning ditches, digging his garden, and so forth.

15,626. Was Wilkins in Durrant's employ when you were sent to him canvassing?—No.

15,627. Where was he?—I forget. I cannot say whether he was working at that time; he worked a week at one time, and perhaps a fortnight at another.

15,628. He was not at work for Durrant when you were sent?—He was not.

15,629. How soon after you were sent did you see him at work for Durrant?—Two or three weeks at may be. It is so long ago, I do not think of such things at present. It may be several weeks, a fortnight or three weeks before the polling perhaps.

15,630. Durrant wanted to get him on the right side of the hedge?—He was digging in the garden for Durrant.

15,631. Cutting hedges?—Yes, different things, working about there.

15,632. Do you know anything more about that beer, of your own knowledge?—No, no more than that the beer was ordered by me, and I believe it was sent; I never saw Thompson afterwards.

15,633. You know the "Barley Mow"?—Yes.

15,634. Did Durrant give you any directions about going to the "Barley Mow"?—Yes.

15,635. What did he tell you?—To walk down there in the evening, just merely to meet one with the other to have a civil conversation about the election. There were other small electors there, there were not many of us, and we met on that occasion those that chose to go; we were not compelled, we were merely asked to meet.

15,636. Then you were to have just what beer you wanted?—We certainly had a little occasionally.

15,637. Was that one of the houses that Durrant supplied with beer?—Yes, it was.

15,638. I suppose he told you that you might go down there and drink pretty freely?—He did not say anything about such a thing as that. We had a drop of beer, and sometimes we paid for it. I do not know whether it was paid for or not. It did not interfere with us.

15,639. The "Barley Mow" was open to give refreshment to Mr. Gower's party?—Yes.

15,640. Do you mean to say that you went down there and did not take advantage of that?—I cannot say what other people did. I can only answer for myself.

15,641. The more beer drunk there the better for Durrant?—I cannot answer for others.

15,642. Durrant would get paid by somebody?—Most likely. I oftentimes paid for my own beer.

15,643. Did you receive it from Durrant, or did you act upon your own authority? When a stranger came into the room I suppose he was asked to withdraw?—It was the case if any stranger came in; if there was a drop of beer on the counter, which it is a country rule in a little country place of that description.

15,644. He was asked to withdraw?—Just merely asked to take a glass of half-and-half or what not.

15,645. Was not Durrant frequently there himself?—Sometimes.

15,646. Frequently?—Yes, and he was there before the election; he has only that one little house there.

15,647. Durrant was a person who took a very active part, did he not, in the election of Mr. Gower?—Yes.

15,648. A very active committee man?—Yes.

15,649. Did you ever hear Mr. Durrant give directions to the landlord of the "Barley Mow" about the scores that would be run up, that he would see them paid?—No, I cannot say that.

15,650. You have heard him say this, have you not, "Let the men in the room have as much beer as they "like"?—In reason.

15,651. As much as they liked in reason?—Yes.

15,652. He did not object to treating, but he objected to their getting drunk?—Yes; he was not a man to see any drunkenness about the place.

15,653. He liked to see his friends enjoy themselves?—Yes.

15,654. So he told the landlord to give the men plenty of beer in reason?—I do not know that.

15,655. Did you hear him say, "Well, I will pay"?—Not exactly to pay.

15,656. Not in those words?—Not exactly those words; I cannot answer for exactly those words.

15,657. The landlord was not to ask the men to pay?—Well, no. The beer oftentimes was paid for as it came in; still, there were times, I own, when the beer was not paid for. I do not know who paid for it; I cannot answer for that.

15,658. Were you at the "Barley Mow" on the morning of the polling?—Yes.

15,659. What time were you there?—At 5 o'clock, I think.

15,660. As early as that?—That it was, because I was at work in Wray-park at a quarter past 6.

15,661. Was the breakfast put out as early as 5 o'clock?—Yes, we had breakfast there.

15,662. How many had breakfast at 5 o'clock?—I cannot answer. I had a crust of bread and butter, and I was off, because I had to be in Wray-park.

15,663. When you were there you saw some 20 persons?—Perhaps 12 or 15.

15,664. All voters?—Principally voters.

15,665. Were you there afterwards during the morning?—No.

15,666. Or the afternoon?—No, I did not go down till quite evening. I went in the evening.

15,667. That was a very jolly evening?—I do not know. I had a pint of ale and paid for it.

15,668. I suppose the others did not pay?—I cannot answer for others. There were several voters there, a great many voters there that evening, and as to what they did I do not know. I was rather quiet myself; I went and had a pint of ale, and I was off home.

15,669. Do you recollect being at the "Angel" and seeing David Durrant there?—Yes.

15,670. Do you recollect his giving some directions about going to the "Barley Mow"?—Yes; I think we were to have a meeting between ourselves there.

15,671. Was the "Angel" one of Mr. Durrant's houses?—Well, we met at the "Angel" once or twice.

15,672. Do you know whether the "Angel" was one of the houses that Durrant supplied with beer?—No, he did not supply the house with beer.

15,673. But you recollect seeing him there?—Yes.

15,674. Did you hear him give directions to several of the voters to go to the "Barley Mow"?—I did.

15,675. He told them they might go?—Yes.

15,676. And that what they wanted he would pay for?—Well, such was the case, but I cannot exactly say about paying for all; he often used to treat a man with three pennyworth or six pennyworth.

15,677. I am asking what Durrant said at the "Angel;" "what you want I will pay"?—Yes.

15,678. "You go up to the 'Barley Mow'"?—Yes.

15,679. Do you know William Groom ?—Of the freehold ?

15,680. I think it is ?—Yes.

15,681. Is that in Nutley-lane ?—No.

15,682. On the freehold ?—Yes.

15,683. These two men, Warren and Wilkins, were looked upon as rather shaky, were they not ?—They were rather.

15,684. Durrant wanted to get this man Wilkins on the right side of the hedge, and he got him into his garden ; but he was rather shaky, notwithstanding ?—I do not know.

15,685. You do not understand the term. Did you not think he was a rather doubtful voter ?—I think there was a little doubt about him.

15,686. And I suppose Warren was not much to be relied on ?—Well, perhaps not.

15,687. You recollect the circumstance of Warren and Wilkins, the night before the election, being at Groom's, do you not ?—Yes.

15,688. Were you there during that evening ?—Yes, I was there at times.

15,689. During the evening before the election ?—Yes.

15,690. Groom's was a private house ?—Yes.

15,691. But it was a house that was used for refreshment to a certain extent, was it not, for Mr. Gower ?—I do not know about "to a certain extent."

15,692. There was a little private treating go on ?—It was a private affair, it was not used as a public affair.

15,693. There were some little private parties there now and then ?—There were two or three of us met there on occasions.

15,694. On the night before the election there were several there ?—Yes, the neighbours.

15,695. Was Thomas Goddard there ?—I think I remember seeing him once, but he was not there long I think ; I cannot remember.

15,696. How long did you stop at Groom's ?—I was not there long. I was indoors only a very little while anywhere, like many more canvassers or electioneering people, who were indoors and out of doors all night.

15,697. Your principal duty on that night was to look after the "shaky" voters ?—Well, I was like a good many more, indoors and out of doors. We wanted to keep our own men together ; nothing else.

15,698. Did you invite any of your friends to come and visit at Groom's ?—I believe we were all invited together.

15,699. Did you take anybody there ? You did not go there and waste your time, I know ?—No, I believe Balchin went in with me, and I think he is the only person I ever troubled myself about.

15,700. Was Balchin a little shaky ?—No, I did not think so.

15,701. A little doubtful ?—I do not think he was in any way shaky.

15,702. Was that Alfred Balchin ?—No.

15,703. He had been got hold of by the other party ?—I know that.

15,704. You knew it ?—Yes.

15,705. Did you not think him a little shaky ?—Not at all, not shaky towards Mr. Gower, not then ; I did not think he was in any way shaky.

15,706. Did you think he had received something from the other side ?—Yes, I did.

15,707. That made you rather doubt his honesty ?—No, I did not doubt his honesty.

15,708. You doubted his vote, though ?—I rather did.

15,709. Was not that the reason why you took him to Groom's ?—No, I did not press the man to go.

15,710. Did you walk with him there ?—The man wished to be with me ; he was a next-door neighbour, and he said, "I wish to be with you." I said, "I "shall be indoors and out of doors, not an hour in "one place."

15,711. That is the reason why you took him to Groom's ?—I asked him to walk up to the corner with me ; I cannot say who asked him to go in ; some one asked him to go on. Whether he had a glass of beer or whether he had not I cannot say.

15,712. There were some of you out as scouts to bring in these doubtful voters to Groom's ?—Yes.

15,713. Was not Groom's the head-quarters for the doubtfuls ?—I do not understand "head-quarters."

15,714. A sort of little lock-up ?—We never had prison in that part.

15,715. You know what I mean, an electioneering lock-up ?—They never locked me up.

15,716. Of course you were staunch ; but Balchin, and Goddard, and Wilkins ?—I do not know, I did not see it ; I did hear that there was a little something.

15,717. You heard there was a little something what ?—That they wished to keep them together, because they got a little drop drunk in the fore part of the evening. They got a little irritable, rather irritated, and they wanted to keep them quiet and comfortable ; they wished them to lie down quiet for an hour, and then have a cup of tea. I believe the men had a cup of tea, and I think they went home, and had a cup of tea in the morning.

15,718. Did they have any tea at Groom's ?—I never saw any tea.

15,719. Or beer ?—I had a glass of beer.

15,720. Did that beer make you sleepy ?—Not at all ; I was not asleep all that night.

15,721. A man named Goddard told us the other day that he suddenly fell asleep on a stool ; can you account for that ?—It was in his own house.

15,722. No, he never went home all night ; his wife sat up all night for him ?—I cannot account for it. I believe the man laid down ; I think he had a glass in the town before he came in the freehold.

15,723. He was sober enough when he went into Groom's house ?—I cannot answer for anything of that. I had some of the same beer that they had ; I had a glass or two, and I was not stupefied.

15,724. What time in the evening did you take your beer there ?—I do not know ; I was not there at the time. It was 10 or 11 o'clock when I went there myself ; I did not stop there.

15,725. Who did you take in between 10 and 11 o'clock ?—I do not wish to enter into everything of that description.

15,726. But I do wish you to enter into things of that description. Who did you take in ?—Just a few of the neighbours, merely the voters.

15,727. I do not care about your taking in strangers. Who was the voter you took in between 10 and 11, or between 11 and 12 ? — There was Groom and Durrant, and me and two or three more, but who they were I cannot exactly answer for.

15,728. Groom, and Durrant, and you, and two or three more, were taking voters into Groom's ?—No, I cannot answer for who they were.

15,729. They were there and two or three more ?—I cannot answer. Sometimes there were not above three or four there, sometimes four or five.

15,730. But Goddard, Wilkins, and Warren, after they once got in there, did not come out again, did they ?—Well, they did not come out until the morning, I believe.

15,731. Do you know how many more did not come out until the morning ?—I do not think there were any more to speak of ; I think every one else was right ; I do not think any one else took quite as much drink as these three did.

15,732. These were well plied with beer, were they ?—No ; I believe these men had drunk before they came in the freehold.

15,733. They had a good deal in the freehold ?—I did not see all.

15,734. Now I will put a home question to you, which you will answer upon your oath. Was it not the fact, that something was put into Goddard's beer ?—It is past my art to answer that question.

15,735. Was not the beer drugged ?—I cannot answer the question.

TENTH DAY.

T. Chitty.

1 Sept. 1866.

15,736. Yes you can?—How can I?

15,737. Yes you can?—Did I see the thing go?

15,738. You can answer by saying yes or no?—Then I should say "No;" as far as I know I cannot say yes.

15,739. Was it not talked of in the room?—Decidedly I did not hear it. I cannot answer such a question as that, because I do not know about drugging. That man was about all the day following, and he was as well as ever he was in his life. I think if the man had been drugged in any way he would have shown it the next day. The man certainly had been drinking freely; I believe he had had a drop of spirits, and being an agricultural man, not accustomed to taking spirits, it sent him off to sleep. I do not believe there was the least drugging.

15,740. Was Balchin drunk?—Yes; I believe a pint would make that man tipsy any day.

15,741. Was he drunk when he went in?—I believe he had got three parts towards it.

15,742. And he had more when he got there?—He did have a glass more.

15,743. Did you see him have it?—Yes.

15,744. If you knew that Balchin would be made drunk with half a pint of beer, and you saw that he was tipsy when he came in, why did you give him beer?—I did not give it him. How can I have a control over every man?

15,745. Did you advise him?—I did not say anything to him. I should have enough to do if I was to advise everybody when they got half tight. It is impossible to control such men.

15,746. You did not try to stop him?—It is no use. I had enough to look after my own business.

15,747. You wanted to see those men and secure them for the next morning?—I was very happy to see them there at the time, of course.

15,748. You were very glad to see that they were taken care of, and that they would not be able to go home?—Not a bit of it, because we were all in doubts whether they would rally soon enough in the morning, and we knew what a critical way they were in with the other party.

15,749. We know very well that at these elections, when the men are made drunk at night, there is the parish pump in the morning?—There was nothing of that kind done there.

15,750. They are soon quieted if they are taken to the parish pump?—There was nothing of that sort done. If the men were drunk, there was no such thing as that transacted. They had been about on the nomination day; they were labourers, working about during the week; they are men that cannot take it, and if they do take it for a day or two they get upset. They were spent out that night, and certainly they did fall asleep.

15,751. You were about that night looking after the doubtful voters, and you did bring some of them to Groom's?—They were merely asked to have a glass of ale, or a glass of beer; where it came from I do not know.

15,752. Did you ever speak to Mr. Durrant about these men being at Groom's?—No, not exactly, because it did not concern me.

15,753. Did you tell Durrant they had been there?—Where?

15,754. At Groom's?—Of course Durrant knew it.

15,755. You say of course Durrant knew it; without your telling him?—Yes.

15,756. Do you remember how he did know it?—I can not answer that; the man was personally there himself in the fore part of the evening.

15,757. Durrant was?—Yes.

15,758. Did you hear him giving any directions to the men?—No.

15,759. How can you say that he knew that Warren and Wilkins were there; they did not come and tell him?—They were there early in the morning themselves, but not in Groom's house, in Durrant's house. The parties would not allow him to lie down long; they went and worried him out of it. They said they were going to be up all night, and so should he. They worried him out of it.

15,760. Durrant got up, and came and helped you?—Yes.

15,761. All night?—No, we lost him; he was up to breakfast.

15,762. How late was Durrant at Groom's house?—The latest I saw I suppose must have been 20 minutes or half-past 10—the latest I saw him.

15,763. Not later than that?—No; I do not know that I saw him later than that.

15,764. Then he was aware of what was going on at Groom's?—I suppose he must have been.

15,765. Durrant and Mr. Gower were a good deal about together, were they not, canvassing?—I never saw them but once.

15,766. Now, then, I want to ask you about this greenhouse; George Nichols was the landlord?—He was.

15,767. Before the election were you in debt to Nichols for rent?—Well, I believe there was one quarter. I believe it was 30*s.*; I told you 2*l.* just now, but I believe it was 30*s.* a year rental.

15,768. But were you not indebted to him for two quarters' rent of greenhouse and ground, 1*l.* 3*s.* 9*d.*?—Yes.

15,769. Perhaps you can explain to me how it was paid?—I do not know.

15,770. You do not know?—No.

15,771. Has Nichols ever asked you for it?—He sent me a receipted bill.

15,772. Nichols, of the "Barley Mow"?—Yes.

15,773. That is the bill, isn't it (showing a paper to the witness)?—Yes.

15,774. When did you get that, after voting?—Yes.

15,775. How long after?—I cannot say.

15,776. It was sent to you on the 15th of August, was it not?—Of course it was.

15,777. The day it bears date?—Yes.

15,778. There is a bill for "beer, 6*s.* 0½*d.*; beer, "9*s.* 2*d.*, 1864, December 25th to June 24th, 1865; "for two quarters' rent of greenhouse and ground, "1*l.* 3*s.* 9*d.*" Did you ever pay any portion of that bill yourself?—No.

15,779. And Nichols sent you a receipt?—Yes.

15,780. On the 15th August?—Yes.

15,781. Nichols was a Gower man?—He had no vote.

15,782. But he was a tenant of——?—Of Durrant.

15,783. Had you been applied to by George Nichols for the rent before the election?—Only once.

15,784. How long before the election?—Let me see.

15,785. Not very long before the election, was it?—He merely spoke about it once.

15,786. Was it before you had promised your vote for Gower?—Oh, dear, I never promised it to any one else but Gower.

15,787. Answer the question. Did Nichols ask you for the rent of the greenhouse before you had promised your vote for Gower?—I think not. He merely civilly asked about the quarter being up. I said "Well, I will meet you to-morrow. "Oh," he said, "any when will do."

15,788. You told him it was not convenient for you to pay it?—I did.

15,789. Did you speak to Durrant about it?—I told him that he had asked me about it, and I had not the money to pay for it.

15,790. What did Durrant say?—He said he would see Nichols about it.

15,791. Didn't he also say, "Don't mind that; I will settle that"?—Yes.

15,792. And did he also say, "I will tell Nichols "that it is not for the election, but I owe you the "money"?—Yes.

15,793. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Durrant said that ?—Yes.

15,794. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you owe Durrant any money then ?—No.

15,795. Then did he go on farther and say this: "You and I, Jemmy, well know that it is as a set-off "for voting for Mr. Gower" ?—That was a private affair.

15,796. But he said it ?—Yes.

15,797. Of course he did. And you said, "Very "well;" and then a little time after that you received that receipt from Nichols ?—I did.

15,798. Now, that is about the history of that ?—It is.

15,799. Now, don't you believe that Mr. Durrant paid this little bill for you ?—I am quite sure of that.

15,800. I think you told me before that you received the money from Durrant to pay Balchin ?—Yes.

15,801. And you paid him the money ?—I did.

15,802. Balchin and Wilkins ?—I never paid Wilkins.

15,803. You got the money from Durrant ?—Yes.

15,804. On purpose to pay him ?—Yes.

15,805. Were you in the previous election ?—The election before you mean ?

15,806. Yes. Had you a vote then ?—No. I was here. I have been here for five or six years; but my name was not on the books.

15,807. Had you taken any part in any previous elections ?—No.

15,808. Had you acted in the previous election of 1863; did you take any part in that ?—That was when Leveson Gower put up against Mr. Wilkinson ?

15,809. Yes.—Well, I did take a little trouble towards Mr. Arthur Wilkinson, but a mere trifle.

15,810. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were not a voter ?—I was not a voter, and I never took any trouble.

15,811. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you canvass at all ?—No, I never took any trouble about it.

15,812. You led me to suppose that you did take a little ?—I never interfered with anybody's business at that time.

15,813. Didn't you ask anybody to vote ?—No; I did not take any interference towards it at all; not in Mr. Wilkinson's and Mr. Gower's election.

15,814. Did you know Durrant then ?—I did.

15,815. Did Durrant employ you at all in the election of 1863 ?—I was on the opposition. I was for Wilkinson, and he was for Gower. That was a direct opposition.

15,816. How came you then to take so much interest in the election if you were not a voter ?—Which ?

15,817. In 1863 ?—I had been here seven years, and I had not been put on the books, by neglect.

15,818. Did not some of the Wilkinson party ask you to go and get votes for them ?—Well, they did so.

15,819. Did any of those persons who asked you to get votes give you any authority to make offers to the people ?—No, of course I was not a voter, and they never gave me any authority of that description. They simply said, "Just speak to a few." Nothing else.

15,820. Was there much treating going on during that election of 1863—Wilkinson's and Gower's ?—But very little.

15,821. There was some ?—A trifle on both sides.

15,822. Much the same as in 1865 ?—Plenty towards Mr. Gower's, I think; more than there was on Mr. Wilkinson's, of the two.

15,823. Gower had the preference ?—Yes, and of course the man won.

15,824. Of course he won ?—Yes.

15,825. Do you attribute his winning to the liberality of his refreshments ?—Not at all.

15,826. Why do you say, "Of course he won" ?—That is the generality of Reigate, to a great extent.

15,827. The man who pays best, and treats best, rides the winning horse ?—Yes.

15,828. You were speaking of the general tone and feeling of the borough ?—Yes, it is.

15,829. Do you come to that conclusion from your general conversation amongst your neighbours ?—What ?

15,830. That the man that pays best wins at Reigate ?—No.

15,831. Or is it from your own personal observation ?—It is from my own personal observation. Of course I spoke words which I ought not to have exactly spoke, but at the same time there are many classes of the labouring people here that can be led away so simple. That is where I take it from. Like myself, I was led simple.

15,832. Do you mean to say that the labouring classes are so simple, or that it is a very simple way of leading them ?—It is a little of both. The labouring class are simple, and likewise the people that lead them are simple.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I have seen none here. I have seen very shrewd, intelligent, keen-minded people.

15,833. You were promised 5*l.*, we understand ?—Yes.

15,834. And you received 1*l.* 6*s.* ?—As near as I can guess.

15,835. And then you received 1*l.* 13*s.* 5½*d.* That made 2*l.* 19*s.* 5½*d.* Did you apply for the remainder ?—I have.

15,836. That would be about 2*l.* more ?—Yes.

15,837. To whom did you apply ?—For the balance? David Durrant.

15,838. And he did not give you any ?—No.

15,839. I suppose you are ashamed of yourself now for being taken in ?—I consider it as such.

15,840. I want to know whether you are ashamed of yourself for being taken in in that way, because I tell you that the people took in others, and when they promised them they did not fulfil their promises. They laughed at them ?—That has been the case.

15,841. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That is your signature, is it not (showing witness a document) ?—Yes.

15,842. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1863 you had been here seven years, but from neglect you had not got your name down on the list ?—Yes.

15,843. Then you had seen all the elections that had taken place back as far as Mr. Hackblock's ?—No, I came first after Mr. Hackblock's.

15,844. You have seen all the elections since Hackblock's ?—Yes.

14,845. Rawlinson's ?—Yes, that was the first since I came to the borough.

15,846. Although you did not canvass people, did you watch what went on ?—Well, I never took particular notice of what went on, because I never thought it would come to this.

15,847. We have your opinion of the late elections. I want to know from what you noticed previously, whether more or less, was there any difference in any of the elections one from the other, as far as you can tell; or do you think you had not means of judging ? If you think you did not take part enough to be a judge, say so ?—I think not. I did not take part enough to be a judge, as much as I did at the last one; I cannot answer for the other elections, because I did not have an interest in them.

15,848. You know you were a Gowerite, and they knew you were pretty active. In 1865 the Monson party got hold of you once, didn't they ?—No.

15,849. I thought they did ?—No, simply chaffing me.

15,850. I do not mean they got your vote, but they got you into a house ?—Got me into a house ?

15,851. Yes. The house I mean is the "Grapes" ?

TENTH DAY.

T. Chitty.

1 Sept. 1866.

—There was no intention to do anything to me. They only got chaffing me.

15,852. But did they get you in there?—I frequently used to walk in as I went home from my work and get a glass of ale, at six in the evening.

15,853. Do you recollect any particular occasion when they got you into the "Bunch of Grapes"?—I remember being in there once or twice.

15,854. You did not get out on very easy terms? You had some drink?—Yes; I know what you are on.

15,855. You know what I am on; very well. In short they made you?—There was no intimidation, barring chaff.

15,856. When was that? How long before the election?—Why, I used to have a chaff with them very frequently.

15,857. This time that I am talking about you went in there and there was rather a hard bout of it?—I should think that was nearly a month before the election.

15,858. Well, they did not win you over, but did they make an attempt at your virtue?—No.

15,859. Didn't they propose some terms to you?—No, not at all. They had nothing to do with me.

15,860. I do not mean to say they won you over, but didn't they offer you some terms, some inducement?—No. They asked me if I would join their committee. They merely asked me, "Now let me "put your name down on our committee;" but as for any offer, I had not any.

15,861. Who asked you to be put down on the committee?—I fancy it was Francis.

15,862. What did you say to that?—I say, "No, I "have made up my mind. I have done with it."

15,863. You had done with making up your mind; but you know then you set to work and you passed a pleasant evening there. Now I want to know what the terms were that they said. If you were to join their committee, why were you to do it?—They never made me any offer why I should do so. The fact was Mr. Nichols has told me since, "We knew it was no "use to put any intimidation before you, because we "knew you were such a determined mind."

15,864. Not intimidation. There is something else besides intimidation. Why should Nichols say that? Intimidation is frightening, but just the other thing I mean—just the opposite?—I had nothing to do with bribery at all.

15,865. Not bribery, that is a very awkward thing, but terms. I abstain from going into bribery. Didn't they say, "If you are going on the committee "we are very good with our people"?—They said, "You might as well have your name down on our "committee." There were no other terms made to me.

15,866. Did they make any promise?—They said, "We are going on very nicely."

15,867. And, "You may as well have our pay as "Gower's pay"?—I do not recollect anything of that.

Mr. E. Prout.

MR. EBENEZER PROUT recalled.

15,868. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you observe the state of the public houses during the canvass?—Well, I can scarcely say that I did.

15,869. Did you notice anything?—Just passing through the streets, it was very evident that many of the houses were open.

15,870. Open for treating?—Yes.

15,871. Do you know anything at all that you think would be worthy to bring under the notice of the Commissioners?—I should be very happy if I knew anything; I am not aware of anything. I was on Mr. Monson's committee, and the strong impression which I and many other members of the committee had was that Mr. Monson's party, at any rate, was conducting the election in the purest way, and I should have repudiated anything otherwise.

15,872. There are others concerned, there are lower agents?—Yes.

15,873. You do not know anything yourself?—I do not.

15,874. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You being on the committee, Mr. Prout, and believing as a member of the committee, that Mr. Monson's election was being carried on on the purest principles, the evidence which you have heard on this Inquiry must have rather startled you?—Yes, and disgusted me too.

Short adjournment.

J. Mewett.

JAMES MEWETT called, sworn, and examined.

15,875. (The Chief Commissioner.) Where do you reside?—At Cranley.

15,876. What are you?—I am a wheelwright.

15,877. Did you live at Cranley during the last election?—I did.

15,878. What rent did you pay?—My rent was 4*s.* 6*d.* a week.

15,879. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

15,880. For whom?—For Mr. Gower.

15,881. Did any one ask you to vote?—Charles Farley asked me to vote.

15,882. What is he?—He is a carpenter.

15,883. When did he ask you?—It was on the Monday before the election.

15,884. What did he say?—He said he came from Mr. Penfold.

15,885. Had any one else been to you?—Ephraim Rose came to me on the Saturday before. He was on the other side.

15,886. How long have you been at Cranley?—I left Redhill two years ago last July.

15,887. What did Ephraim Rose say to you?—He asked me to vote for Gower, but I did not promise him.

15,888. Did he give you anything?—He gave me two sovereigns.

15,889. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He asked you to vote, but you did not promise him, but he gave you two sovereigns?—No, certainly I did not promise him; he said I was to come up on the polling day.

15,890. (The Chief Commissioner.) He paid you then?—He paid me two sovereigns then.

15,891. When was he to pay any more?—Polling day.

15,892. How many more was he to give you?—Three.

15,893. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I suppose he was to pay you 3*l.* when you polled?—Yes.

15,894. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did he then go away?—Yes; he came home then. At least, we had an hour together.

15,895. Were you to do anything at all. Were you to do anything besides go to the poll on the polling day?—No, nothing more.

15,896. Now, had you come home before the election on purpose for it, or did you always come home on a Saturday to be there on Sunday?—Oh, I was living here. I had a wife and family. We lived here altogether.

15,897. On the Monday Farley came to you for Mr. Gower?—Yes; at least for Mr. Richardson and his party.

15,898. What took place?—He asked me if I would vote for Mr. Gower. I said I did not know anything at all about voting, because I never had any hand in electioneering at all before.

15,899. Farley came to you. You will tell us I dare say exactly what passed. Farley came on the Monday before the election from Mr. Gower's party ?—Yes. He asked me whether I had a mind to vote for Mr. Gower ; I said I did not understand at all about voting, I never had any interest at all in it. He said, "There is 3*l.* for you to pay expenses if you "like to go and vote."

15,900. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He handed you the 3*l.* ?—No.

15,901. He said, "Here is 3*l.*" ?—Yes ; he offered it to me, but I would not have it.

15,902. Did you take the 3*l.* ?—No.

15,903. (The Chief Commissioner.) Just tell us quite honestly what took place ?—I came up the night before.

15,904. Is that all that took place with Farley ?—Yes.

15,905. Did you tell him why you would not take it ?—I said I did not know who I should vote for.

15,906. Well, there would have been 3*l.* in case you did go and vote for Gower, but you did not take it ?—No ; I came up the night before. I went to Mead-vale, and slept there that night.

15,907. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said that was not enough, or something of that kind ?—Not as I am aware of.

15,908. (The Chief Commissioner.) Didn't you say, "I hear things are going better than that" ?—No ; how could I hear when I had not been in the election ?

15,909. I mean something like that. Didn't you say, "I shall wait and see if money is going better "than that" ?—I did not.

15,910. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You had 2*l.*, and you were promised 3*l.* ?—Yes, 3*l.* more.

15,911. Well that is better. Didn't you say, "That won't do ?—From Mr. Monson's.

15,912. You did not say when Farley came, "That "is not exactly the thing, that won't do ?—I said, Rose gave me 3*l.* and promised two more. I said Farley offered me 3*l.*

15,913. Didn't you say to Farley, "Oh, no, that "won't do" ?—Not as I am aware of, I did not, not to my recollection.

15,914. Didn't you say so to yourself ?—No, I thought that was a nice little bit of money for a day's work.

15,915. Which was ; the 3*l.* that Farley held out ?—Yes.

15,916. Well, it was not so much as the 5*l.* ?—No, I know that.

15,917. Then you came to Mead-vale on the —— ?—Night before the polling.

15,918. The night before the nomination. Monday night ?—I do not know whether it was Monday night or Tuesday night. I got up in the morning and came over here a quarter or twenty minutes past 8. I went in and voted for Mr. Gower.

15,919. Yes, something else took place besides that ?—No, there was not.

15,920. Did you see a man of the name of Henry Palmer ?—Never saw him at all.

15,921. You know him ?—Is he a cripple man ?

15,922. No, that is not the man I mean ?—No.

15,923. What happened on Tuesday before you went to vote for Mr. Gower ?—That was all that took place.

15,924. No ; now do tell me. You know you came up from Mead-vale, you got up at a quarter past 8 in the morning ; and how did you find things were going on ?—I lodged at a private house.

15,925. How did you find things were going when you came up and made inquiry ?—I never made any inquiry at all.

15,926. In whose house did you lodge ?—Mr. Penfold's.

15,927. What did it cost you to come here that day ?—I had seven miles' walk.

15,928. Well, and by railway ?—I forget what the fare was.

15,929. Was it 2*s.* ?—I forget.

15,930. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you get a return ticket ?—No. It was not over 2*s.*

15,931. You lodged at Penfold's, and walked seven miles. Won't you tell us any more ?—I do not know any more.

15,932. What determined you to vote for Gower at last ?—Why, the persuasion of Charles Farley. He persuaded me to do so.

15,933. But in the first instance you did not take his money, and so he did not overcome you. He did not persuade you then, or else you would have taken his money. Did he tell you you were to have the money then or afterwards ?—Afterwards.

15,934. I thought he held it out to you and you refused it ?—At Cranley he did.

15,935. Then he came and offered you the money ?—He never offered me it till after I had been to the poll.

15,936. Oh, you came to Mead-vale. Did you see Farley again ?—Yes, he met me at the station the night before that.

15,937. Then did he promise it ?—Promise the money ?

15,938. Yes ; you cannot get out of that, because you have told me if you came up to the poll you should have 3*l.* ?—Yes.

15,939. Did he say that at the station ?—No.

15,940. Where ?—At Cranley.

15,941. It has nothing to do with Cranley. He met you at the station ?—Yes.

15,942. What passed between you and Farley at the station ?—Nothing particular ; we went home together.

15,943. What happened afterwards ?—Nothing at all. After I got to Thomas Penfold's I never saw him again.

15,944. Did he offer it to you then ?—No.

15,945. When were you to have the 3*l.* ?—After I polled.

15,946. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He told you that at Cranley ?—I could have had it at Cranley.

15,947. But did he tell you at Cranley you could have it after the poll ?—No, I could have had it then at Cranley.

15,948. Did you make an appointment with him when he met you at the station ?—I told him I would go in the evening if I could, and if I did I should be up to the station.

15,949. (The Chief Commissioner.) That is another thing you did not tell me ?—I could not promise him. I told him I would come.

15,950. How much more were you to have ?—Than the 3*l.* ?

15,951. Yes ?—No more.

15,952. Was that to cover expenses and travelling too ?—Yes. He never offered me no more, not a farthing.

15,953. Did he promise you any more ?—He promised me another pound if he could get it.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You had got 3*l.* from the Monson party, you know.

15,954. (The Chief Commissioner.) That would only have made 4*l.* ?—That is all. That is every farthing I had.

15,955. Did you tell Penfold at any time that you had got 2*l.* from the other side ?—I told Farley of it.

15,956. Well, then did he say that that 2*l.* added to his 3*l.* would make it all right, 5*l.* ?—No, I do not believe he ever said such a thing.

15,957. Well, now then, I want to know how much you did in fact get from Farley and Penfold altogether ?—4*l.*

15,958. Who paid it to you ?—Farley.

15,959. That was after the election ?—Yes.

12,960. Did you get any more money from the Monson party before you polled ?—No.

15,961. You did not get any more from them, only the 2*l.* ?—No.

15,962. Is this the first election you voted at ?—Yes.

TENTH DAY.

J. Mewett.

1 Sept. 1866.

15,963. You do not know anything about 1863 ?—No.

15,964. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When had you left Redhill ?—Two years ago last July.

15,965. And given up your house and all ?—Yes.

15,966. Then you got 6*l.* for a vote that was worthless, because you did not occupy ?

15,967. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did they ever object to your vote ?—No.

15,968. But you were on the register ?—Yes.

A. Latham.

ALFRED LATHAM called, sworn, and examined.

15,969. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A bricklayer.

15,970. Living in the borough ?—Yes.

15,971. What rent do you pay ?—12*l.*

15,972. That gives you the qualification ?—Yes.

15,973. How long have you been on the list of voters ?—From 1862.

15,974. You voted for Mr. Gower at the last election I believe ?—I did.

15,975. Did you vote for him in 1863 ?—I did not. I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

15,976. You know Mr. Mitchell ?—I do.

15,977. I believe Mr. Apted canvassed you ?—No, he did not.

15,978. Did he not ?—No.

15,979. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower ?—Mr. Gower himself.

15,980. But Mr. Apted spoke to you about putting you upon the committee ?—I went to him and promised to vote.

15,981. You did not promise Mr. Apted to vote, you promised Mr. Gower to vote ?—I did not.

15,982. You told him you would consider of it ?—I did, and that most likely I should vote for him ; I was not quite sure.

15,983. Did the Monson party come to you at all ?—Mr. Monson and Mr. Richardson came.

15,984. But did any one else come ?—No.

15,985. Then, no others coming, you went to Mr. Apted ?—I went to Mr. Apted first, before they canvassed me at all.

15,986. And he said he would put you on the committee, didn't he ?—I asked him if he could give me employment.

15,987. Mitchell went with you, I believe ?—No, he did not.

15,988. You and Mitchell had agreed to go the same way ?—In the early part of the canvass, before I had seen or spoken to any one.

15,989. That is exactly what I want to know. You and Mitchell met together, and you said, "Now, "as you vote I will vote" ?—Certainly, something that way.

15,990. And of course agreed that you were to have something ?—No, we did not.

15,991. Attend ?—I tell you we did not.

15,992. When two men meet together in that way, they do not come to terms in that way, "As you vote "I will vote," unless there is some reason for it ; why should Mr. Mitchell vote as you voted ?—Mr. Mitchell and I voted for Wilkinson on the former occasion, and we said if either one of us voted for Gower, the other would vote for Gower.

15,993. And if one voted for Monson the other would vote for Monson ?—Yes.

15,994. Then you went to Mr. Apted ?—Yes.

15,995. Ank you asked Mr. Apted for employment ?—I gave him my promise. I said I would vote for Gower.

15,996. And you asked for employment ?—Yes.

15,997. In fact, he was to give you employment, was he not, and to pay you 5*l.* for your work ?—No.

15,998. What was he to pay you ?—I was to be paid. I was to be satisfied for what I had done.

15,999. You were to be satisfied for what you did, and that was to be 5*l.* ?—There was no 5*l.*, nor any sum mentioned.

16,000. Was Mitchell also to be satisfied ?—Mitchell and him made some arrangements by themselves in this room ; I was not there with them.

16,001. Mitchell made an arrangement ?—Yes.

16,002. Did Mitchell tell you he was to have 5*l.* ?—He did not.

16,003. What did he say to you ?—He was to be paid in the same way as I was for what we had done.

16,004. How could he say that, because you were not to be paid in any way. If I understand you, there were no terms ?—No, but I was to be paid for what I had done.

16,005. How many weeks before the election was it ?—I think it was six or seven weeks.

16,006. You were to work then ?—I was.

16,007. Then you went to work I suppose ?—The first thing I did was to go and get him to come down here.

16,008. You brought him to Apted ?—Yes.

16,009. But you had seen Apted ?—Yes.

16,010. Was Mitchell found employment ?—Mitchell was not, he was at work at the time at one place.

16,011. Then you brought Mitchell to Apted, and then Mitchell told you he had arranged with Apted as you had ?—Yes.

16,012. And then you were to vote together ?—Yes.

16,013. How much did you get ?—After it was over I got 3*l.*

16,014. Did Mr Gower himself give you any money ?—Yes, afterwards.

16,015. You got the 3*l.* from Mr. Apted ?—From Mr. Smith.

16,016. And then you went to Mr. Gower ?—I did.

16,017. How many days after the election, after the polling, was it that Mr. Smith brought you the 3*l.* ?—Oh, some weeks.

16,018. How long after that did you go to Mr. Gower ?—I should think about a month afterwards.

16,019. How much did he give you ?—He gave me a sovereign.

16,020. Well, but didn't he give you a letter also to go to Mr. Smith ?—No, he did not.

16,021. I thought he gave you a letter to Smith ?—You thought wrong then, he didn't.

16,022. You had received the 3*l.* from Mr. Smith before ?—I had.

16,023. I suppose you applied to Mr. Apted for money ?—I saw Mr. Apted as I was going into Reigate; he told me to take my bill to Mr. Smith.

16,024. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When was it Mr. Gower gave you the sovereign ?—I think it was about seven weeks afterwards, but allow me to explain why he gave me the sovereign.

16,025. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You told him you had been at work for him, I suppose ?—Yes.

16,026. And I believe he told you a great many had come to him for money, or he would give you more, didn't he ?—No, he did not, he said there had been several to him for money.

16,027. That is what I mean ; otherwise he would have been able to give more liberally towards you ?—No, he did not say so.

16,028. I may be mistaken, I understood that at that time he also gave you a letter to Mr. Smith ?—Then you understood wrong, for he didn't.

16,029. He said several had been to him for money ; was not that in answer to your application for more ?—No.

16,030. Why should he tell you that if you had not been woking for him ?—He told me that he had nothing to do with work that was done for him ; it was left to Mr. Smith, but he would give me a sovereign out of charity.

16,031. He told you several people had been to him for money ?—Yes.

16,032. But did he not say that when you required something more ?—No, he told me that before he gave me it. He said that he had nothing whatever to do with paying.

16,033. Didn't you tell him that you were not paid sufficient by Mr. Smith ?—I did.

16,034. You didn't go to him for charity ?—Certainly not.

16,035. You expected 5*l.* ?—That was the amount of my bill when I took it in.

16,036. 5*l.* was not mentioned ; you told me, I believe very properly, that it was not mentioned, but you had expected 5*l.* ?—I had no reason to expect that any more than any other sum.

16,037. But your bill was 5*l.* ?—My bill was 5*l.*

16,038. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you send a bill in ?—I took it in myself.

16,039. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What was in the bill ?—I think I have got a copy.

16,040. No, I do not want a copy, I want your recollection ?—Well, "Leveson Gower to A. Latham. " For services during the election, employed by Job " Heath Apted, 5*l.*"

16,041. That is comprehensive ; did you show that to Mr. Apted ? Mr. Apted was your immediate employer, did you show that bill to Mr. Apted before you sent it in to Mr. Smith ?—No.

16,042. You didn't get him to sign it ?—No, I did not.

16,043. Mitchell sent in a similar bill ?—Afterwards he did,

16,044. In the same words ?—I did not see it.

16,045. You are a scholar, are you not ?—I can read and write.

16,046. Did not you make Mitchell's bill for him ?—No, I did not.

16,047. After that you went to Mr. Smith ?—Yes.

16,048. Did Mr. Smith say that he would not give you 5*l.* ?—He said he had not seen Apted then, but he would let me have 3*l.* on account.

16,049. Why didn't you say, "Well, I will see Mr. " Apted, and I will get his signature to it." ?—I offered to go and fetch Mr. Apted then if he liked. I saw him at his door when I passed.

16,050. What did Smith say to you ?—" No necessity " for that, you will have the remainder at another " time."

16,051. That was adopting the 5*l.* ?—Yes.

16,052. When did you go to him again ?—I think about a month afterwards.

16,053. What did he say then ?—Well, he said, " You have had ever so much, you will get no more."

10,054. Then you see the services had been rendered, the time was past then ?—Yes.

16,055. Eaten bread is soon forgotten ; what then ?—"Come and see Apted and Buckland," he says.

16,056. And did you ?—No, I did not.

16,057. Didn't you ?—I did afterwards; but in addition I said, "I shall not go to them, I shall go to " Mr. Gower."

16,058. You decided to go to the head man at once ?—Exactly so.

16,059. Then you went to Mr. Gower ?—Yes, just so ; then I went to Mr. Gower the same day.

16,060. Then you told Mr. Gower, I suppose, "I " have sent in a bill to Mr. Smith for 5*l.* that I was " to have been paid for employment according to " arrangement made by Mr. Apted, and I have got " only 3*l.* ; will you be kind enough to settle it." ?—No, I did not say so. I went to Mr. Smith, and he told me to go to the devil.

16,061. I thought you went to Job Apted ?—At least, he didn't say exactly the devil, but he told me to go to the old one.

16,062. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He said, "Go " to the devil," but you thought "Job Apted" would do as well ?—No, he said the old one.

16,063. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were sent to the old one, but you have declined to go there yet ?—Yes.

16,064. Mr. Gower told you a great many more had been for money ?—He said there had been several there for money.

16,065. And then he gave you a pound ?—Not till after that.

16,066. Oh, did he not give the pound then ?—Not at that same time, he said that he had nothing whatever to do with paying any of the election expenses, that was entirely in the hands of Mr. Smith. He said, "I " told him that I would have nothing whatever to do " with paying any one, and so I have told others " that have come here." I told him then that I should not have applied to him, but Mr. Smith gave me an abrupt answer, and I had a son in the Brighton hospital, and I did not know but what he was dead, and I wanted to go down to Brighton to see him, and then he gave me that sovereign, but he told me distinctly that I was not to consider that sovereign as part of the bill I took in to Mr. Smith.

16,067. But you told him you had come for money ?—Yes.

16,068. Generally if people are owed money they apply for it again and again ; did you apply again for the 2*l.* ?—No, I have not applied since.

16,069. How much did Mitchell get, do you know ?—I do not know that he got anything.

16,070. Worse off than you ?—Rather.

16,071. How were you paid ?—Paid by that amount.

16,072. Was it a check ?—Yes.

16,073. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The 3*l.* was ?—Yes.

16,074. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who canvassed you on the part of the Monson party ?—Monson and Richardson.

16,075. Nobody else ?—No others.

16,076. Of course they did not offer you anything ?—No.

16,077. I do not insinuate they did. You voted in 1863 ?—Yes.

16,078. Whom for ?—Wilkinson.

16,079. Were you on the committee ?—We had a nice little committee among ourselves in Hollies-row.

16,080. Did Mitchell vote for Monson ?—Yes.

16,081. You agreed with the others to vote one way ?—He and I did.

16,082. How many of you were on the little committee ?—That was what I call a nice little committee. I think 13 out of the 15 voters were on the committee, and promised their votes.

16,083. You canvassed each other, and met in that way and agreed to vote ?—Yes.

16,084. And you all voted for Wilkinson ?—Yes, we did.

16,085. Now, what did you get for your labour on the committee ?—For Wilkinson ?

16,086. Yes.—On the Thursday before the election——

16,087. What did you get ?—All I had was 30*s.* ; nothing for being on the committee.

16,088. The others of the 13 had 30*s.*, or something ?—I do not know, except Churchill.

16,089. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was he at the head of the committee ?—Yes.

16,090. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He was the chairman ; he used to address you and tell you how good it was to vote on principle ?—Yes.

16,091. Was Mitchell paid ?—I do not know; he was not on the committee at all.

16,092. I know he was not in the secret; but you and Mitchell had agreed to vote the same way ?—Yes.

16,093. When people go into partnerships that way it ought to be fair ?—I don't know whether he received a shilling or not.

16,094. Did you not tell him what you had got ?—No.

16,095. That is hardly candid to a partner ?—I did not.

16,096. Did Mitchell ever tell you what he had ?—He did not.

16,097. Do tell me why you and Mitchell should

TENTH DAY.

A. Latham.

1 Sept. 1866.

agree together to vote the same way; how is it?—Well, I can tell you.

16,098. Was it after Wilkinson's election he was paid?—Mr. Norman Wilkinson came down to thank me for voting for his brother. He said, "Latham, "they have beaten us this time, but we will have "another fire at them, and if my brother does not come "forward again, I will." "Oh! very well," I said "I will vote for you;" and Mitchell, who was there, said, "And I will vote too." When Mr. Gower came round I did not know but what Mr. Norman Wilkinson was coming forward, but I found out that he would not. I came the next day and found that he was not coming forward, and I promised to vote for Gower.

16,099. Why did you and Mitchell vote together?—We had no other reason than what I have said.

16,100. Why did you agree to vote together for Gower?—We agreed to vote for Wilkinson.

16,101. Was it not well understood between you that what one got the other got?—No, it was not.

16,102. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Or what you both got you were to share?—Never; we never mentioned a word about money nor money's worth, nor any consideration whatever.

16,103. We know money never is mentioned; but the moment you were employed by Apted you brought Mitchell; why did you do that if you did not wish to place him in the same position as you were?—I told Apted that Mitchell was going to vote the same way, and he said, "Bring him to me."

16,104. For what?—That was all that was said.

16,105. You thought he was to be employed?—No, I did not.

16,106. Mr. Apted agreed to employ you; don't you know Mitchell was to be employed also?—I do not.

16,107. Don't you know that he was employed?—No; he told me one little thing that he had done.

16,108. What is that?—This man, Mitchell, was at work at the grammar school, as gardener, and he told me that his master, that is the Rev. Gooch, had told him that he would vote for Mr. Gower if he dared; if he could do so without offending Mr. Harrison.

16,109. That who would vote?—Mr. Gooch.

16,110. Do not tell us that.—That is what he told me.

16,111. We do not receive imputations upon gentlemen.—That is what he told me that he had said.

16,112. Gooch would not tell Mitchell, the gardener what he would do. Is that all you have got to tell?—Yes.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You might have kept it to yourself.

16,113. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I do not believe one word of it.—Well, it is true.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Well, let Mitchell come and say so.

C. Milner.

CHARLES MILNER called, sworn, and examined.

16,114. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A tailor.

16,115. What rent did you pay at the last election?—10*l.* a year.

16,116. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

16,117. Who canvassed you?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith; and Mr. Dunn, I believe, came to my house.

16,118. You did not promise them?—I did not.

16,119. In consequence of your not promising them somebody else called upon you for them, or some of their agents?—No, I do not think they did.

16,120. Did not Buckland call on you?—No.

16,121. Frederick Joyes?—No.

16,122. Did William Joyes call on you?—William Joyes calls at my house every day almost.

16,123. Did he call about getting your vote at the election?—No, he did not.

16,124. Be so good as to tell me to whom you promised your vote for Gower?—I did not promise it to any one.

16,125. Not before the election?—No.

16,126. Before the election did you refuse to promise it?—I did not refuse. I told Mr. Gower when he came that I had not made up my mind whether I should vote or not.

16,127. When did you make up your mind?—Not till the morning of the election.

16,128. Before that morning do you remember William Joyes coming to you and talking about the election?—Yes; we had some conversation about it.

16,129. How long before the election was that?—Perhaps a month.

16,130. Did he see you at home on this occasion?—Yes.

16,131. I believe you have got a garden, havn't you?—Yes.

16,132. Do you recollect at that time there were some cabbages growing in it?—Yes, there were.

16,133. Mr (Commissioner O'Brien.) Joyes saw those cabbages, didn't he?—Well, I dare say he did.

16,134. Well, a little more than that, you know he did. Do you recollect Joyes talking to you about the cabbages?—Well, I do not think he did. He did not talk about the cabbages.

16,135. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Perhaps he spoke in the singular number, about the cabbage?—No, he did not.

16,136. (The Chief Commissioner.) Will you be so good as to tell me the story?—Well, there is no story to tell about it.

16,137. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Well, tell the truth?—Yes.

16,138. (The Chief Commissioner.) Go on?—Well, there was an understanding with me that I was to have 5*l.* There was nothing said about cabbages at all. That is false.

16,139. I suppose then he went away; I do not want to go into more conversations?—Yes, he went away.

16,140. Do you remember after that being called on by some one from the Monson people?—Yes, Mr. Monson called on me himself.

16,141. Did he canvass you?—Yes.

16,142. What did you tell him? Did you promise him your vote?—I told him I had not made up my mind whether I should vote at all.

16,143. At that time had you promised Joyes?—No, I had not.

16,144. Only what you told us had taken place?—That is all.

16,145. Did anybody else call upon you, or was anybody with him at the time he spoke to you about your vote?—No; there was some gentleman with him, but I do not know who it was.

16,146. Was anything particular said at the time?—No, there was not.

16,147. Do you recollect a man calling upon you afterwards, Henry Francis, whom we know?—Yes.

16,148. Now, Francis came to you and something passed between you and him, I wish you would be kind enough to tell me in your own way?—He asked me whether I would go on to work for Monson's party, if I would I should be paid for it.

16,149. He mentioned a sum, didn't he?—He said, "If you like to go and work for me you shall have "two, or three, or five pounds, or whatever you "like."

16,150. Did he show you any money at that time?—No, he did not.

16,151. What did you say to him? Did you say, "Well, I will think about it"?—No, I did not.

16,152. What did you say?—I said I would not have anything to do with it; I did not intend to take any part in the election at all, or do any work.

16,153. He did not put down any money?—No, he did not.

16,154. You say you had not promised him. Do you recollect Corderoy calling on you?—No, Corderoy never came to me.

16,155. Didn't he?—He never came to me.

16,156. But you saw him in the "Grapes"?—No, I didn't. I met him in the street.

16,157. Will you be so good as to tell me what passed between you and Corderoy?—Well, he asked me how I was, and so on, and he asked me whether 10*l.* would be any use to me.

16,158. He was a Monson man?—Yes, he was a Monson man.

16,159. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How long before the election?—Well, this was about a week, I think.

16,160. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you say?—I said, no, I did not think it would.

16,161. Go on, if you please. What did he say more?—Well, I do not know that he said any more.

16,162. Well, perhaps not, but that was rather an abrupt conclusion. Did he not say, "Because if 10*l.* "would fix you you can have it," or something like that?—He might say that.

16,163. Did you say anything?—No, we had not any more conversation.

16,164. Was there any other sum mentioned? Didn't he get up to 10*l.* from some other sum?—No.

16,165. Was not 7*l.* mentioned?—No, not by Corderoy.

16,166. Who was 7*l.* mentioned by? I think, if you will try and recollect, that when they were talking with you 7*l.* was the sum mentioned?—No, it was not. Whose party are you speaking of now?

16,167. That is exactly what I want you to tell me?—I will give it to you as near as I can, and as truthfully as I can.

16,168. Wasn't there a sum of 7*l.* mentioned?—Yes, there was. That was mentioned between me and William Joyes.

16,169. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When he offered you 5*l.* you said you would want 7*l.*?—Yes.

16,170. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was Joyes elastic enough to stretch up to that?—Well, he said he did not know.

16,171. That was rather out of the common, more than 5*l.* Go on?—That is all I have to say about it.

16,172. Then there was no talk with you and any one in the "Grapes Inn," was there, particular?—No, there was not.

16,173. You know what I mean?—Yes.

16,174. Have you told me all that was important about this election of 1865?—I think I have.

16,175. I have neglected to find out how much money you really did get. They were bidding pretty high?—I did not get anything at all.

16,176. You were above the mark, which you see is always dangerous. Whom did you apply to?—I did not apply to any one.

16,177. You know you had got promises from two people. Didn't you remonstrate with Corderoy or with Francis?—No, I did not speak to Corderoy at all about it.

16,178. Didn't you apply, I want to know?—No, I did not.

16,179. But you know that when a man is promised as much money as that, or is led to expect that he shall have it, he generally makes some little effort. Didn't you say to somebody or another, "I have been "promised for my vote, but I have not been paid?—Well, I might have said something to Mr. William Joyes.

16,180. You won't allow me to put down "I "applied to Mr. William Joyes"?—No, I did not apply to him. I spoke to him at my own house. He calls in there nearly every day.

16,181. What did William Joyes say to you?—He said if he could get it he would.

16,182. Then did he come and tell you whether he had got it?—Yes, he told me that he had not got it.

16,183. What did you say to that?—Not anything.

16,184. Whom else did you speak to about it?—Not to any one.

16,185. What made you think that William Joyes did not get it for you?—I do not know.

16,186. Well, but are you sure he did not?—Did not what?

16,187. Did not get the money for you?—I cannot tell anything about that.

16,188. Well, what is your opinion about it?—I have not formed any opinion about that.

16,189. You have not?—No.

16,190. Did he tell you whom he would get it from?—Well, he would get it from Mr. Smith if he did get it.

16,191. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He said so?—Yes.

16,192. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did not you go to Mr. Smith afterwards and ask him, "Why "havn't you paid William Joyes something for me. "I voted for you"?—No, I did not.

16,193. Didn't you go to Mr. Smith about it?—No.

16,194. Did you send somebody to Mr. Smith?—No, I did not.

16,195. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Or write?—No, nor write. I took no further notice of it.

16,196. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You found you were done?—Well, I found that I did not get any money.

16,197. (The Chief Commissioner.) You know you told us you recollect a conversation between you and Corderoy in the street?—Yes.

16,198. When you spoke about 10*l.* Now, tell me, did not Corderoy offer you in the "Grapes" 7*l.* in in the first instance?—No, he did not. I never spoke to Corderoy at all in the "Grapes."

16,199. Didn't he offer you 7*l.* in the "Grapes," and didn't you want 10?—No, he never offered me anything in the "Grapes."

16,200. Did he offer you anything at any other time besides the time you have spoken of?—No, he did not, for I never spoke to him during the election except at that time.

16,201. You voted in 1863 for whom?—I did not vote in 1863.

16,202. Had you no vote in 1863?—No.

16,203. Was this your first election?—Yes.

THOMAS LAMPORT called, sworn, and examined.

16,204. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are a journeyman smith, are you not?—Yes.

16,205. Did you at the election reside in the park?—Yes.

16,206. What did you pay for your house?—5*s.* a week.

16,207. I believe you voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

16,208. Who canvassed you for your vote?—I can can hardly say that any one did.

16,209. You were a member of the committee?—Yes, I was on the committee.

16,210. How came you on the committee?—A person of the name of Chitty, that was examined this morning, put me on.

16,211. What did he say to you?—We were in

TENTH DAY.

T. Lamport.

1 Sept. 1866.

the "Barley Mow" one evening, several of us together, at the time the election was on; and he had a bit of paper putting down names, and he asked me if I had any objection to being put down, and at first I objected. After a little while I consented. At the same time I thought it was only a little bit of a committee to be formed amongst ourselves. That is what I thought. I did not think it was going to be put on the big papers; but still I had no objection to that.

16,212. Did Chitty tell you that if you came on the committee you would be paid for your work?—No.

16,213. Did you expect to be paid?—I did not.

16,214. Not to receive anything?—No.

16,215. Not then?—Not then; not at all.

16,216. You did afterwards?—I never did expect to receive anything.

16,217. You never have received anything?—Yes, I have.

16,218. Is there a person of the name of Boyes?—Not that I am aware of.

16,219. Or Joyes?—Not in the field.

16,220. Have you been canvassed by Frederick Joyes?—No.

16,221. Or Job Apted?—No.

16,222. You have spoken to him about the election?—Job Apted? We may have talked together.

16,223. Or Buckland?—Not at all.

16,224. Do you ever see David Durrant?—Every day nearly.

16,225. Have you worked at all as journeyman smith at his brewery?—No.

16,226. Never worked for him?—No.

16,227. Has Durrant canvassed you?—No. He spoke to me, but he did not canvass me; I volunteered. I certainly told him that I should vote for Mr. Gower.

16,228. Has Durrant told you that you would be paid for your labour?—No.

16,229. What were you paid?—1l.

16,230. Who paid you that?—Durrant.

16,231. What for?—For loss of time, I suppose. When he brought it to me he said, "I have got some "money for you." I said, "What is that for?" He said "About the election." I said, "Is it for my vote, "or loss of time"? "Loss of time," he said. "Because," I said, "if it is for my vote I object to it." I told him I had given my vote freely; if it was for my vote I would not take it.

16,232. Did he press it on you for your loss of time?—Yes.

16,233. And it was on account of the election?—Yes.

16,234. What time did you lose?—Two days; the omination day and the polling day.

16,235. You got 10*s.* a day for two days?—Yes.

16,236. Were you at the nomination?—I was.

16,237. (Mr. Commissioner OBrien.) How long did that last? It did not last long?—No; but I did not go to work.

16,238. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where did you go to after the nomination?—Home.

16,239. Did you go into any beer house?—Yes, one, to the "Barley Mow."

16,240. On the same day?—Yes.

16,241. It was a very jolly day there?—Not particular.

16,242. You were at the "Barley Mow" several times?—Yes; I am very often there. I live close by.

16,243. But I mean before the election?—Yes.

16,244. You attended the committee meetings?—Yes. At least I don't call them commttee meetings, because there was nothing done, but an evening's diversion.

16,245. Nothing done except enjoying yourselves?—No.

16,246. Did you pay for what you had?—Sometimes.

16,247. Not always?—No.

16,248. Do you know who paid for the beer that you had when you did not pay?—No.

16,249. You never inquired?—No.

16,250. Was Chitty there a good deal?—Yes, he was.

16,251. Mr. Durrant was there sometimes?—I never remember seeing him there.

16,252. Did Chitty take an active part in the management of the house?—Yes.

16,253. And the supply of the beer?—He had nothing to do with that, I think.

16,254. Did you see him bustling about?—Yes.

16,255. What was he bustling about?—Well, he was making himself very busy.

16,256. Seeing that all his friends, all the gentlemen there, had got their proper supply?—Yes.

16,257. He was very attentive in that?—He was.

16,258. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did not expect to be paid?—I never expected anything.

16,259. You did not expect to be paid for your labour?—No.

16,260. Then you did not give yourself a holiday on the nomination day, expecting to be paid for it?—No.

16,261. Nor on the polling day?—No.

16,262. Then the pound was a complete surprise to you?—It was.

16,263. But in order to satisfy your conscience you said, "Well, let it not be for my vote, but let it be for "labour"?—Just so.

16,264. It was really for your vote?—Yes, of course it was. At least, I found out that afterwards.

16,265. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You knew that Durrant meant it so?—Yes.

16,266. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You really do not know how much others got for their vote?—No.

16,267. You only got a pound yourself, but others may have got a great deal more?—Yes.

Adjourned to Monday, September 3rd, at 11 o'clock.

ELEVENTH DAY.

ELEVENTH DAY.

J. Stephens.

3 Sept. 1866.

JAMES STEPHENS sworn and examined.

16,268. (The Chief Commissioner.) You live at Ladbrook-road, do you not?—Yes, at No. 9.

16,269. What are you?—A gardener.

16,270. What rent do you pay for your house?—5s. a week.

16,271. Tell me as to the election in 1865; did you vote for Mr. Gower?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

16,272. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Gower?—Vosper.

16,273. That was a short time before the election, was it not ?—Yes, the following morning.

16,274. I believe the Monson party had been to you before that ?—I worked for Mr. Monson as a messenger.

16,275. For how long ?—About a month before the election, I believe.

16,276. And who engaged you to work for Mr. Monson ?—Mr. Nichols.

16,277. Did you go to him, or he to you ; can you recollect how that was ?—I recollect asking Mr. Nichols if my name was on the register for the last election.

16,278. Do you remember whether he came to you about it, or did you call on him ?—I did not call on him at all, I saw him in the street.

16,279. You asked him whether your name was on the register, and he told you it was ?—Yes ; that it was.

16,280. And he engaged you to work for Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

16,281. And on what terms ?—As a messenger.

16,282. Yes ; but on what terms ?—Nothing at all.

16,283. Where did Mr. Nichols live ?—It was James Nichols, who keeps the "Grapes."

16,284. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) We have got two Nichols's, was it of the "Barley Mow" ?—I am speaking of Mr. Nichols of the "Grapes."

16,285. (The Chief Commissioner.) On what terms did he engage you ?—He employed me as a messenger.

16,286. Did he say, "Will you be a messenger," and you said "Yes" ?—That is right.

16,287. There was something more passed than that ; there must have been ?—He never agreed upon anything ; there was no promise of money.

16,288. If a man asks you to go to work in his garden, you do not say "Yes" without agreeing on the terms ?—I very often go on a job without knowing what it is I have to receive.

16,289. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.). But you expect to be paid ?—Yes ; I expect to be paid according to what the wage is.

16,290. And you expected to be paid as messenger? —Yes.

16,291. What did you expect to be paid ?—30*s.* a week.

16,292. (The Chief Commissioner.) Why do you not speak out at once. Did you say yes to that, that you would go and work at 30*s.* a week ?—Yes.

16,293. Did Mr. Nichols pay for every week ?—Mr. Nichols gave me 1*l.*

16,294. When ?—I cannot tell you exactly.

16,295. I do not know what you say ?—He gave me 1*l.* for the work I did with him.

16,296. I wish you would not try and fence so ; I see exactly what is passing through your mind ?—There is nothing passing through my mind at all.

16,297. If there was any joke in it that would be a different thing, but why do not you answer plainly ?—There is no joke in it.

16,298. Now my question is this—when did he pay you the 1*l.* ?—I do not know exactly.

16,299. I do not ask you exactly. He engaged you about four weeks before the election. When did he pay you the first pound ?—About a week after.

16,300. Now we have got it. It has taken five minutes to get such a rubbishing answer as that. Why do you laugh, it is not a laughing matter ?—I am not laughing.

16,301. You are smiling and thinking yourself sharp. You are sworn to speak the truth, and the whole truth ; why do you not answer at once and plainly ? You are going on that way, and thinking yourself very sharp, but you make a very great mistake? —I am not thinking myself sharp.

16,302. Don't answer in that way. I want to know, did he not pay you anything more ?—Not to my recollection.

16,303. Who did pay you ?—Joseph Kenward.

16,304. I have no doubt you mean to give a very honest statement, but you do not bring it out easy enough ; it takes so much time. How much did Mr. Kenward pay you ?—Nearly 2*l.* 10*s.*

16,305. May I take it as 2*l.* 10*s.* ?—It cannot be far off.

16,306. When did he pay you the 2*l.* 10*s.* ?—I went for Mr. Nichols, and he gave me 1*l.* ; that was a fortnight's pay, and I did not reckon much on that.

16,307. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he tell you it was a fortnight's pay ?—That was all I received from Mr. Nichols.

16,308. (The Chief Commissioner.) When did Mr. Kenward pay you ?—I went to Mr. Kenward and asked him who was going to pay me for my labour, and he said he was not aware he had anything to do with me, but that if I liked he would pay me ; and I believe I received about 18*s.*

16,309. You got 2*l.* 10*s.* ?—I beg your pardon, I will tell you the rest. He paid me 18*s.*, that was about a fortnight before the election, the last day that I received anything from Mr. Kenward ; it was about 30*s.*

16,310. Altogether he paid you about 2*l.* 10*s.* ?—Thereabouts.

16,311. That will do. Did Mr. Kenward or Mr. Nichols pay you anything at all after that ?—Not at all.

16,312. Was the last pay you received on behalf of Mr. Monson, so far as you recollect, about a fortnight before the election ?—I never saw anything else.

16,313. I suppose you were not quite satisfied, considering the work you had done ?—I was not.

16,314. Did you tell them you were not satisfied ? —I did not.

16,315. I suppose before they gave you the money you gave them to understand you would vote for Mr. Monson ?—I told them they could put my name on the committee if they liked.

16,316. Then you say on the polling day that you made up your mind to vote for Gower ?—I did.

16,317. Who was it came to you and talked to you about it ?—Vosper.

16,318. Now just tell me what passed between you and Vosper ?—Nothing at all, any further than that he came and asked me for my vote, and I told him I was going to vote for Mr. Gower.

16,319. What did he say about it ?—He never said anything about any affairs whatever.

16,320. Do you know Mr. Lambert ? There are two Mr. Lamberts ; Mr. Lambert the elder, and Mr. Lambert the younger ?—I know them.

16,321. You know Mr. Lambert the younger ?—Yes.

16,322. Do you remember Mr. Lambert the younger and Frederick Joyes coming to call on you ?—No.

16,323. Do you remember seeing them ?—I never spoke to them at the time of the election.

16,324. Do you remember seeing them ?—No.

16,325. Did not Mr. Lambert come and see you ?—No.

16,326. What is Mr. Lambert ?—A baker.

16,327. At that time did you owe Mr. Lambert a bill ?—I might do so.

16,328. Never mind about you might do so. Did you owe him a bill, a baker's bill ?—I always pay my way.

16,329. Answer my question ?—Well, I did.

16,330. You owed Mr. Lambert a bill, was something said about the bill you owed him ?—Not that I am aware of.

16,331. How much did you owe him ?—I cannot say.

16,332. About ?—I cannot say.

16,333. Did you owe him 1*l.* ?—I cannot say.

16,334. Will you swear you cannot say whether you owed him 1*l.* ? Mind what you are about ?—I do not know what I owed him.

ELEVENTH DAY.

J. Stephens.

3 Sept. 1866.

16,335. Will you swear that you cannot say whether you owed him 1*l.* ?—I cannot say.

16,336. Cannot say what ?—I cannot say what I owed him.

16,337. I do not ask you anything of the sort. I ask you whether you could not tell me if you owed him 1*l.* ?—I dare say I did.

16,338. Did you owe him 2*l.* ?—Perhaps I might owe him 2*l.*

16,339. Will you swear you did not owe him 3*l.* ?—I do not know.

16,340. Will you swear it ?—I do not think I did.

16,341. You say you do not think you owed him so much as 3*l.* ; well then, I suppose you owed him something between 2*l.* and 3*l.* Did Mr. Lambert agree that he would say nothing about the bill ?—I never spoke to him all the election.

16,342. Did Mr. Joyes tell you that ?—I never spoke to Mr. Joyes all through the election.

16,343. Did you have any conversation with anybody about your bill to Mr. Lambert ?—No, none at all.

16,344. Did not Lambert call on you ?—Not at all.

16,345. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Or see you ?—No.

16,346. Or speak to you ?—He never spoke to me about it.

16,347. (The Chief Commissioner.) Have you ever paid the bill ?—I have paid it. I owe him a little now, and I am not ashamed of it.

16,348. Do not tell me about your shame ; there is no shame in owing a bill, at least I hope not, I want to know, have you ever paid the bill ?—I have paid it, except a trifle, out of my own pocket, and no one else.

16,349. Have you paid the bill ? Cannot you answer the question like a man ?—What bill ?

16,350. It is a miserable sight. You are a voter ; you have got a franchise to exercise for your country, and this is the way you answer my questions. People will doubt your intelligence if you go on like that. Try and see whether you cannot give me a sensible answer, like what your friends would call a sensible answer ?—Whatever I have owed him I have paid him.

16,351. I am speaking about what you owed him in 1865 ?—I cannot say exactly what there might be owing.

16,352. Did you pay him ?—Yes, I pay him every week.

16,353. You owed him between 2*l.* and 3*l.* according to your own statements, did you pay that to him ?—Yes.

16,354. Where is your receipt ?—I have a book I put it down ; what I do not pay one week I pay another.

16,355. You cannot pay for a week a little more than 2*l.* or 3*l.* ?—I work it off gradually. I pay him if I am in work a little more than I owe him.

16,356. Please to produce your book ?—I do not believe I have it.

16,357. Really this is a miserable thing ; I do not believe you, but you may always prove me wrong by producing your book. I must have an answer to the question. Remember I shall call somebody else ; but have you paid for the bill that was due at the election of 1865 ?—By degrees.

16,358. You have ?—Yes.

16,359. That you swear ?—Yes. Not all at once, but by degrees I have paid it.

16,360. Do you know a man named William Wesley ?—Yes.

16,361. Had you any conversation before the election with him ?—No.

16,362. Not a word ?—Not a word before the election.

16,363. Did you have a conversation with him after the election ?—Yes.

16,364. Are you married ?—Yes, I am.

16,365. Did you tell Wesley that you were married and had a large family ?—No, he knew that, I suppose.

16,366. Did you tell him that you would like to vote for Mr. Monson, but you had a large family to look after ?—That did not make any difference to me. I did not tell him any such thing.

16,367. Did you tell him you had a small family to look after ?—I told Wesley I voted for Mr. Gower. I did not ask for anything, neither did I receive anything, nor did I want anything.

16,368. I want to know whether you told him this also, that you would like to vote for Mr. Monson, but that you were afraid, for you had a family to look after, or words to that effect ?—No such thing.

16,369. If I call Wesley, and he says that it is so, would it be false ?—It must be.

16,370. Never mind about must be ; a great many things must be, you know ; but I want to know the fact, is it false if Wesley says so ?—Yes.

16,371. Is it false that anything of the kind took place ?—Yes.

16,372. I am not going to delay the public time by asking you many more questions, but I must ask you this question, and bearing in mind, according to your own statements, you received as much as 3*l.* 10*s.* from the Monson party ; bearing that in mind, and that you were a Monsonite up to a fortnight of the election at all events, and very likely after, do you mean to tell me that you went over and voted for Mr. Gower without having any expectation of receiving anything for it ?—I did.

16,373. I will take your answer. It is a very lamentable sort of thing, and I am sorry to say it, but you are the worst witness that I have had.—He did not pay me for my wage.

16,374. What ?—What I received from Mr. Monson did not pay me.

16,375. Do you mean to say you voted out of spite ?—I wanted to be paid for my labour.

16,376. Do you mean to say you voted out of spite ?—I voted on my own system.

16,377. Did you vote on the previous election of 1863 ?—No ; this was the first time I had anything to do with the elections.

16,378. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Perhaps you will explain your system of voting ; you voted upon a system ?—Yes.

16,379. What was your system ?—I voted for Mr. Gower. I did not think that I was acted rightly by by the other side.

16,380. If Mr. Monson's party had paid you well, you would have voted for them ?—(The witness hesitated.)

(The Chief Commissioner.) Now answer my friend's question ; it is a very plain question.

16,381. Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I want to get at your system of voting. Would you have voted for Mr. Monson if he had paid you for your labour ?—I dare say I should.

16,382. You would ?—I dare say I should have.

16,383. (Mr. Commissoner O'Brien.) I observed one answer to a question put to you, and it was this : you said you were asked whether you would promise to vote, and I took down your answer. You said, "I told him to put my name on the committee." Did you promise your vote ?—Yes.

16,384. And did you mean to keep your promise at that time ?—If they had behaved right to me.

16,385. If they had paid you 30*s.* for four weeks ; that is, if you had received 6*l.*, you would have voted for Mr. Monson ?—I was not all the while on my regular work, not on my regular time.

16,386. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You expect us to believe that ?—I was laid up at the time, and had a bad foot.

16,387. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How did Vosper canvass you? Was that the only time that you saw him?—I never spoke to him before.

16,388. He was a perfect stranger to you?—He is not a stranger to me.

16,389. You never spoke to him before?—He never asked me before.

16,390. Where did he meet you?—I was at home.

16,391. How did he know that you were not going to vote for Mr. Monson?—He came and asked me who I was going to vote for, and I told him I was going to vote for Mr. Gower.

16,392. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you see Vosper yesterday?—No.

16,393. Or any belonging to the Gower party?—No.

16,394. Will you swear that?—Yes, and that I saw no one belonging to any one.

16,395. Where were you yesterday?—At home.

16,396. And no one was with you?—No.

16,397. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did Vosper bring you to the poll?—Yes.

16,398. He did?—Yes.

16,399. Did you ride, or drive, or what?—I rode.

16,400. Then he brought a trap for you; a trap was ready for you?—Yes.

16,401. He brought a trap with him when he came for you?—Yes.

16,402. What time of the day was it?—Between 9 and 10.

16,403. Was any one with him?—I never saw anyone but Vosper.

16,404. Did he drive himself?—There was the coachman.

16,405. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you got your bad foot then?—Yes, I had it all through the election, and it is not well now.

16,406. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Vosper, by some lucky accident, came to you with the coachman and asked if you were ready to go. Then did you tell Vosper that you had a complaint against the Monson party, and what a shabby lot they were?—I told him they did not act exactly right.

16,407. You had told somebody before?—I do not know that I had.

16,408. Vosper could not have foreseen that you would become a victim to the stinginess of the Monson party if you had not told somebody. One question or two more. When was it that Mr. Kenward paid you the 2*l.* 10*s.*? You were paid by the other man a fortnight before the election, but when was it that Kenward paid you the 2*l.* 10*s.*; how long before the polling day, a few days?—It was a fortnight before the election that Kenward paid me anything.

16,409. You know Vosper was not a very influential man; we had him here before us, and you would not cross the door to oblige Vosper; he was no particular friend of yours, was he?—Not a bit of it.

16,410. Now, to whom did you tell that you were dissatisfied with the stingy treatment you had received on the part of Mr. Monson?—I told Vosper so.

16,411. Just remember what Vosper stated. Vosper stated that he had secured you. Did he secure you?—He came and polled me.

16,412. That is not securing you. He gave us to understand that he had secured you?—He never offered me any money.

16,413. Then what did he give you?—Nothing at all.

16,414. What did he promise?—Nothing at all.

16,415. What did he say to you about voting for Mr. Gower. You were a man ready to vote according to what you were paid. There is no doubt about it. You were open to a bribe. What did Vosper say to you? You did not care about Vosper, and it was an impudent thing to say to a respectable man like you, come and vote for Mr. Gower. Would you have gone to poll if Vosper had not called?—Yes, I voted for Mr. Gower.

16,416. Vosper gave us to understand that he canvassed and secured you. Did he secure you?—No, only by my going to the poll. I went to poll myself.

16,417. How did he secure you?—In no way at all, only by coming and asking me to vote, when I told him without any hesitation at all for whom I was going to vote.

16,418. Your spite was excited and your passion was up against the Monson party, and you were very indignant, were you not?—I did not consider that they had acted rightly.

16,419. Did you apply to them for more money?—No.

16,420. Why did you not apply?—I did not think it worth while.

16,421. Why did you not apply for more money? If you really were to have got 6*l.* why did you not make application for the balance of the money you were to get?—They did not act rightly to me.

16,422. Why did you not apply for it if they did not act rightly?—So I might, I expect.

16,423. So do I. When did you last apply for the money; you might as well tell us?—I received 30*s.* the last payment.

16,424. But when did you last apply; how soon before the polling day did you apply for the money to the Monson party?—I never applied for any.

16,425. You said you might have applied. Now, how soon before the polling day did you apply; the polling day was on a Wednesday. Wereyou at the nomination?—I was.

16,426. Did you see any of the Monson party that night?—No.

16,427. How soon before the nomination day did you apply for any money to the Monson party?—I did not apply at all for any money; they paid me what I suppose they thought was right. I never had any agreement for any money. They paid me just what they liked.

16,428. Did they discharge you from your employment?—I discharged them.

16,429. Did they discharge you?—No.

16,430. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are giving your evidence very much like a discharged servant?—I tell you so far as I know.

16,431. You say you were at the nomination?—I was.

16,432. Did you put up your hand?—I did no such thing.

16,433. Did you hold up your hand for either candidate?—No, I believed I was outside at the time.

16,434. What day did you receive the 2*l.* 10*s.*?—The last paid by Mr. Monson's party.

16,435. What was the last?—I cannot exactly tell you.

16,436. Was it on a Sunday?—I cannot tell you.

16,437. Was it a week before?—It was the last payment before the election that I received 1*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. James Kenward.

16,438. Then you received 18*s.* before?—18*s.* before, and I received 1*l.* from Mr. Nichols.

16,439. Making 2*l.* 8*s.*?—1*l.* and 10*s.*, and 18*s.*; I do not know whether that is 2*l.* 8*s.*

The Chief Commissioner remarked that now he said it was 2*l.* 8*s.*

16,440. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You do not know what day you were paid?—I was not paid any more.

16,441. You do not know the day you were paid the last?—It was the last pay time.

16,442. You did not tell me what day it was?—I cannot tell you whether it was a Friday or a Saturday, or what it was.

16,443. Was it on a Friday or a Saturday?—I cannot tell you.

ELEVENTH DAY.

J. Stephens.

3 Sept. 1866.

16,444. (The Chief Commissioner.) If you find your receipts, the baker's book, we shall be happy to see them, but do not bring them here unless you like?—I have got them all.

16,445. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Bring them if you like?—I will bring what I can find; I am not ashamed of bringing them.

16,446. (The Chief Commissioner.) You can bring your books here if you like; it is at your own option to do exactly as you like?—I will do that and clear myself.

E. Potter.

EDWARD POTTER sworn and examined.

16,447. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were a voter at the last election of 1855?—Yes, at the last election.

16,448. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

16,449. What sum do you pay for your house?—5*s.* a week.

16,450. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A labouring man.

16,451. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you been a voter at the previous elections? Did you vote in 1863?—No, this was the first election that I voted at.

16,452. You say you are a labouring man; do you work for anybody in particular, or job about?—I have worked for Mr. George Pym for the last eight years.

16,453. Were you canvassed by any gentleman on the part of Mr. Monson, or by Mr. Monson?—Not at first starting.

16,454. What, did not Mr. Monson canvass you?—No, not at the first time.

16,455. Did he at any time?—Yes, he did; that is the truth.

16,456. Was anybody with Mr. Monson when he canvassed you?—Yes. I had been up to Mr. Gower's meeting at the market house at Warwick-town. When I was passing by Topliss's house, Mr. Miller called out, and Topliss came, and he said, "Potter, "you are wanted." I said, "Who wants me?" He said, "A man wants you upstairs," and I went upstairs to see what it was. When I got upstairs Mr. Richardson stood at the door, and he walked up and shook hands with me. He asked me what I would have to drink, whether I would have a drop of stout or a drop of ale. I said, "No, sir, my inside is rather "out of order, and I will have a glass of brandy and "water." He asked me to sit down, and he gave me a glass of brandy and water. I sat down, and drank two glasses of brandy and water.

16,457. And it did you good?—It did so.

16,458. It got you into a beautiful humour; it got you in a good humour just as you are now?—Yes.

16,459. Was anybody in the room with Mr. Richardson?—A great many.

16,460. Was Mr. Monson there?—Yes he was, he was sitting there singing at the time.

16,461. What time was it?—Nearly 10 o'clock.

16,462. Do you mean to say that Mr. Monson was himself singing?—He was.

16,463. What was he singing?—I cannot tell you.

16,464. What was the song?—I cannot tell you the song.

16,465. Well, you do not remember the song?—I do not.

16,466. Were you introduced to Mr. Monson when the song was over?—Yes.

16,467. Mr. Monson shook hands with you, did he?—Yes, he did. I asked him what he would give, when he said, "What do you want"? I had got my wife very badly at home. He said, "What is the "matter with your wife"? and I said, "I do not "know, but she has been bad a great while." He said, "Can she take anything to drink"? I said, "Yes, a little rum and water, but it does not lie in "my power to give her what she wants." He then took and ordered her half-a-pint of rum, and gave it to me for her.

16,468. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was for Mrs. Potter?—Yes.

16,469. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you say half-a-pint of rum?—I say half-a-pint.

16,470. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose Mrs. Potter was very much obliged to him?—She was.

16,471. And I hope it did her a great deal of good?—It did.

16,472. And I suppose you felt grateful for it?—I did.

16,473. And then I suppose he asked for your vote?—Mr. Monson said, "I hope you will stick "true."

16,474. Did you not say, when he was shaking you by the hand, "God bless you, and I will always stick "to you"?—No, I said, "I will stick true," as I did.

16,475. As you did?—Not to him.

16,476. Not to Mr. Monson?—No.

16,477. Did you not say you would stick true? Did you not say to him you would stick true?—I said, "Yes, I will stick true," and so I did; I stuck to Mr. Gower from the first to the last.

16,478. You got the brandy and water and the rum out of Mr. Monson, and voted for Mr. Gower?—I did.

16,479. You considered that was rather a clever ruse, did you not?—Well, if you were going to ask me to take any brandy and water I should do it.

Mr. Commissioner Smith observed he was not going to ask him.

The Witness. That is what I am afraid of.

16,480. If you were going to stick true I suppose you had been canvassed on the part of Mr. Gower?—No.

16,481. Had nobody canvassed you?—No.

16,482. Who did you promise you would vote for Mr. Gower?—Young Apted.

16,483. What is his Christian name?—I cannot say what his Christian name is.

16,484. Is he the son of Job Apted?—Yes.

16,485. I am told by a gentleman here it is Oliver Cromwell, the son of Job. Oliver Cromwell was a great name you know?—Yes.

16,486. Did Featherstone or Green canvass you?—No.

16,487. Were you in Green's company?—Not as I know of; I would not say whether I was, for I do not know.

16,488. When Oliver Cromwell canvassed you, how did he canvass you, was it as a true Briton?—First, I may say I was talking about the election, and I said. "I live in Warwick-town, I pay rates, and while "others can get to vote I cannot, and I wish to know "the reason of it." And I said, "If you will get me "my vote, whoever you wish me to vote for I will "vote for."

16,489. Then you voted for Oliver Cromwell's party because he got your name put on the register?—Yes, and I told him I would stick to him, and I did.

16,490. Did he come to you and ask you to fulfil your promise?—Yes, he did; he came and asked if I would stick to my promise, and I said I would.

16,491. Was that before you had had the interview with Mr. Monson?—Yes.

16,492. Before the brandy and water and the song?—Yes.

16,493. Did he ask you to do work for his party?

—No, all he asked was whether I knew where John Elliott was, and I told him he was somewhere in London. He asked me if I would find him ; I said I had got friends in London who would know where he lived. He asked me if I would try to find him, and I said I would ; and before the election day came off he came to me about it again, and said he would give me a sovereign if I would go and find him.

16,494. Did you go and find him ?—Yes, I did.

16,495. How long did it take you to do it ?—A night and a day.

16,496. You went up in the evening and brought him down next morning ?—Yes, I went up in the evening, and went down next morning.

16,497. You knew where to find him ?—I did not, any more than you do, till I got to my friends in London.

16,498. Well, they knew ?—Well, we had to look about.

16,499. Well, but you found him pretty sharply ?—In three hours ; I found him in the evening.

16,500. Did you stay with your friends that evening ?—Yes.

16,501. What train did you come down by ?—The first parliamentary train, at 6 o'clock.

16,502. What train did you go up with, the last parliamentary ?—I think it was about half-past 7.

16,503. Third class up ?—Yes.

16,504. And third class back ?—Yes.

16,505. Return ticket ?—No, they do not give return tickets third class, I think.

16,506. Well, you happened to hit upon him in the evening and brought him down in the morning ?—Yes.

16,507. Well, you were pretty well paid for that ?—I do not know.

16,508. And you saw your friends ?—I would rather have been at home.

16,509. Well, but you got the sovereign which you would not have earned ?—That was not much.

16,510. Did you not tell him some of your friends would find the voter ?—No, oh no, no, no.

16,511. You were not quite satisfied with the sovereign ?—Yes, I was.

16,512. Who paid it you ?—Mr. Green.

16,513. When Mr. Green paid you the sovereign, did you not ask him whether you could not have a little more ?—No.

16,514. Did he promise you a little more when circumstances were better ?—No, he did not ; and I never had a halfpenny promised.

16,515. Did you do anything more for the party than going to fetch Elliott ?—No.

16,516. You carried out circulars ?—No.

16,517. Did you not do that ?—No.

16,518. Or take a message or two ?—No, no, no, I did not.

16,519. Were you constantly on your own work ?—Yes, every day.

16,520. Did you attend any of the houses of refreshment in the evening ?—No.

16,521. Were you not poorly ?—No ; all I ever had was when we met at the town hall, Redhill, neighbours and friends, when we might have a glass or a pint of ale, and they paid and I paid out of my own pocket.

16,522. They paid and you paid ?—Yes.

16,523. Have you not applied to Featherstone for money ?—No.

16,524. You know him, I suppose ?—Yes.

16,525. Have you not applied to him ?—No.

16,526. Are you quite certain ?—Quite certain of it.

16,527. (The Chief Commissioner.) You work for Mr. Pym ?—Yes.

16,528. He is the proprietor of the sand works near here ?—Yes.

16,529. And I rather think young Apted is the manager, or clerk of the works, there ?—Yes.

16,530. And so you are under him ?—Mr. Pym is my master.

16,531. Yes, but he is clerk of the works ?—Yes.

16,532. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where did you hear Mr. Monson singing ; was it at Topliss's ?—Yes, at Topliss's.

16,533. I believe you know Mr. Ireland ?—Yes, I know him.

16,534. And I believe Mr. Ireland took you to Mr. Nichols ?—He did so.

16,535. You drove with him in a cart ?—Quite right.

16,536. They all treated you very well, did they not ?—Very well.

16,537. They treated you as a gentleman ?—I thought it was so at the time.

16,538. And they were good enough to give you a sovereign ?—Yes, Mr. Nichols gave me a sovereign.

16,539. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Nichols of the "Grapes" ?—Yes.

16,540. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I thought they would not put you off with a song ; did he say for what ?—No, he did not ; he said "stick true."

16,541. When you had had your brandy and water you were asked to "stick true," and when Mrs. Potter had received her rum you were asked to "stick true," and when you had the sovereign you were asked to "stick true" ?—Yes.

16,542. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Over the left, I suppose, is what you meant ?—I don't know.

16,543. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I believe some stranger was good enough to deposit some money in your house ?—Yes.

16,544. But that only occurred during the election time ?—Yes.

16,545. How much was it was left at your house ?—A bright sovereign in a letter.

16,546. Was it directed to Mrs. Potter or to you ?—Mrs. Potter.

16,547. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Not Edward Potter, Esq. ?—No.

16,548. (Mr. Commissioner OBrien.) You did not know from whom that sovereign came ?—It said in the letter from Mr. Monson and Mr. Nichols.

16,549. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you kept that letter ?—No, I did not expect to hear of it any more.

16,550. You kept the sovereign ?—Yes, I kept the sovereign.

16,551. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Can you read ?—No, I wish I could.

16,552. It was your wife that read it ?—Yes.

16,553. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was there anything more in the letter ?—They wished me to attend at the meeting the same night.

16,554. Did you go ?—No, I did not go that night, I was tired.

16,555. About how long was it before the election ?—It was betwen 9 and 10 days before the election.

16,556. That was only two sovereigns ?—Yes.

16,557. Was there not anything else in it ? I dare say Mrs. Potter had the letter open ?—Oh, yes, before I got home.

16,558. She had it open ?—It was broken open before I got home.

16,559. Was there not something else in it ?—That was all she showed me.

16,560. Something about being well paid if you voted for Mr. Monson ?—No, no ; there was not.

16,561. Yes, there was, I am afraid ?—No.

16,562. Did not Mrs. Potter canvass you ?—If there was anything else, I did not hear of it.

16,563. There was a meeting, which you did not attend ?—I did not attend.

16,564. And then the supplies stopped, no more sovereigns came ?—No more soveigns came.

16,565. Had you spoken to any one (we are obliged to ask this) or had anybody spoken to you about the evidence you were to give before this Inquiry ; it was known you would give evidence ?—It was spoken of here last Monday.

16,566. You are obliged to answer, and I am sure

ELEVENTH DAY.

E. Potter.

3 Sept. 1866.

you will; did you see any one in reference to the Inquiry?—No.

16,567. Did any one speak to you about the Inquiry?—Mr Nichols spoke to me last Monday.

16,568. Which Mr. Nichols?—Mr. Nichols at the "Grapes," he asked me to have a pint of beer; I said, "No, thank you;" however I bought a pint of beer. He said to me, "Ned, don't know nothing."

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Now, Potter, you seem to be a very respectable man, and you know the meaning of that was this, commit perjury; that was the meaning of it; because if you knew and refused to tell what you knew when examined on oath before us you would be guilty of perjury, and would be liable to be punished for perjury, and Mr. Nichols also would be liable to be punished as a suborner, that is, to burden your conscience with the sin of perjury and possibly subject you to three years penal servitude.

(The Witness.) I hope I shall not have that, sir.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I see what Mr. Nichols has said has had no effect upon you, Potter, but he is liable to some punishment, and he had better, therefore, be cautious, or any other person, what they do.

16,569. Did Mr. Nichols say anything more to you?—No, nothing more.

The witness withdrew.

T. Jordan.

THOMAS JORDAN called, sworn, and examined.

16,570. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A builder.

16,571. On your own account?—Yes.

16,572. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

16,573. Is Stephen Jordan your uncle?—He is my father.

16,574. He voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

16,575. And you voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

16,576. And were very active for Mr. Monson, I believe?—Yes, I did all I could.

16,577. You canvassed for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

16,578. Your father told us that you canvassed him for Mr. Monson, and wanted him to vote?—No, I never asked him to go for Mr. Monson; I knew he was the other way; his principles laid the other way.

16,579. You canvassed a good many for Mr. Monson, did you not?—Yes.

16,580. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

16,581. What rent do you pay for the house which qualifies you?—None, the house belongs to me.

16,582. What is the value of it yearly?—25*l.* a year.

16,583. How long had you been canvassing for Mr. Monson?—About two months.

16,584. What did they pay their canvassers, how much a week?—30*s.*

16,585. There were eight weeks; how much did you receive? that would be about 12*l.* I suppose?—No, I received 15*l.* for my employment during the election; the whole of it.

16,586. Entirely?—Yes.

16,587. How were you paid?—I was paid after the election, about six weeks, I suppose, the full amount. I took a bill to Mr. Hart for 20*l.* for expenses, and I accepted 15*l.*

16,588. Mr. Hart has the bill, I suppose?—I left the bill with him.

16,589. How was the bill made out; in what form? "To Thomas Jordan, for services rendered "for Mr. Monson, 20*l.*" was that it?—That was near about it.

16,590. You did not give so many days' work, or anything of that kind?—No.

16,591. 20*l.* was a round sum?—Yes.

16,592. I believe you attended a good many committee meetings at public houses?—Yes.

16,593. And paid a good many scores?—Four or five, I suppose.

16,594. I mean, you paid for all that was had in the evening?—All that I ordered, at all events.

16,595. You ordered for voters?—Yes, for voters alone.

16,596. Can you give me the amount that you paid for scores at one public house one evening? a couple of pounds?—I cannot exactly say; I should say 2*l.* or 3*l.*

16,597. Each evening?—It would average that.

16,598. I mean each evening you ordered; I do not mean every evening, because, of course, you would give them time to recover?—Yes.

16,599. It might be as much as 5*l.* some evenings?—Not my ordering.

16,600. Not as much?—No.

16,601. Over 3*l.*?—From two to three pounds, as near as I can recollect.

16,602. About how many scores of that kind did you pay? Some ten or twelve?—About five.

16,603. Five or six?—Five.

16,604. I suppose you sent a separate account of these scores to somebody?—No, I paid it out of my own pocket. I had money to pay the scores in my possession.

16,605. From whom did you get that money?—From Mr. James Nichols.

16,606. Mr. James Nichols of the "Grapes"?—Yes.

16,607. Did you ever order any at Wallis' house?—No.

16,608. You never presided at Wallis'?—I have been there; but Mr. Wallis and Mr. Nichols made their own arrangement.

16,609. Do you not know that as much as 200 gallons of beer was consumed one evening?—Not to my recollection.

16,610. You did not know about the arrangements?—No.

16,611. You got a supply of money from Nichols to pay the scores?—Yes.

16,612. You did not get it as you wanted it; you had a supply?—I had it as I wanted it. I had to pay the men weekly, or cause them to be paid. I got my monies by tens, or fifteens, or twenties, as I wanted it.

16,613. Have you rendered no account?—I made no account. I can tell you what I had.

16,614. You must have put down some memorandum?—No, I never kept any memorandum.

16,615. If I received money in that way, I should jot the amounts down?—I never booked any of the amounts; but I can give you a list of all the men that have been paid.

16,616. I want to know how much you received; how many twenties did you receive from Nichols?—I cannot tell you. I can give you the total amount.

16,617. Did you receive any larger sum than 20*l.* at one time?—25*l.*, not more.

16,618. How long before the election did you receive the first 25*l.*?—About a week, I suppose.

16,619. How long before the polling day did you receive any money?—One day.

16,620. You received money long before that?—I am speaking of the last.

16,621. But I am speaking of the first. When did you receive the first money?—Three weeks before the election; for payment.

16,622. Three weeks before the polling day?—Yes.

16,623. You began to receive money from Nichols?—Yes, to pay.

16,624. Had you received any money on your own account before that? I want to know when you received the first monies from Nichols?—About 10*l.* before that. That was the first.

16,625. How long before the polling day was that?—That was about five weeks, I suppose.

16,626. What was the next sum you received?—I really cannot tell whether it was 20*l.* or 15*l.* I cannot give you the sums in rotation.

16,627. I would rather that you would. How much did you receive in tens?—I cannot possibly tell how much I received in tens, or fifteens, or twenties.

16,628. How much did you receive altogether?—115*l.* for paying away.

16,629. How much did you receive for yourself?—15*l.*

16,630. How much of it did you spend in the beer shops or public houses?—I paid 100*l.* for labour.

16,631. Never mind the labour. How much did you pay for beer or refreshments?—I only had 15*l.* to play with for beer the whole election.

16,632. What is that paper you have there?—It is a list of the names.

16,633. You have no list of the monies you received?—No; I never kept any account, any more than what I kept in my head.

16,634. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When was that paper written?—A week ago.

16,635. What did you make it from?—From what I could recollect; the men that I paid.

16,636. Were you alone when you did it?—Yes; at my own house.

16,637. Did you see Mr. Nichols about that list?—I had seen Mr. Nichols, and he told me that I had better take a straightforward course, and speak the truth.

16,638. He did not tell you not to know anything about it?—No, not the least whatever.

16,639. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I see the number of names is 20, and you expended 100*l.* for labour. That would be just 5*l.* a head?—It does not come just like that.

16,640. There are 20 names?—But the money was not paid just like that.

16,641. You paid some more, and some less?—Yes.

16,642. But 5*l.* was the average?—Yes, 5*l.*; except three.

16,643. Who were the three?—There were two men who were paid two half-weeks' wages, 30*s.* each, and one man I gave 10*l.* for his room.

16,644. On what occasion?—It was for a committee room.

16,645. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who was the committee room man?—Tyrrell, at Hollis-row.

16,646. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who were the three men who did not receive 5*l.*?—Whitmore received 15*s.* a week for two weeks, and voted the other side.

16,647. Who else?—Westbrook the same.

16,648. The same what?—15*s.* a week.

16,649. And he voted the other side?—Yes. They were to receive half the 30*s.* a week.

16,650. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I suppose they were to receive the remainder after the election?—Yes.

16,651. You said you were a builder. Do you carry on any other business besides building?—Yes; I keep an ale house.

16,652. (The Chief Commissioner.) You will not mind my keeping this list of names?—No; I did not pay all those men. I had a partner with me for the Mead-vale district.

16,653. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who was your partner?—Richard Pitt. He paid for the Mead-vale district, and I gave him 43*l.*

16,654. Of course you got no receipts from any of these men?—No.

16,655. You keep a beer house or a public house; what is it?—A beer house.

16,656. What is it called?—The "Garibaldi."

16,657. What was the highest sum you paid any of the men. I do not mean for the committee room, but for the labour?—5*l.* 15*s.* a week for three weeks, and 10*s.* for the nomination and polling day.

16,658. That would not make 5*l.* You must mean 30*s.* a week?—Yes, 30*s.* a week.

16,659. You said 15*s.*?—They were paid 15*s.*, and the remainder after the polling.

16,660. That was in order to secure their voting?—Yes, that made 30*s.*; the remainder was paid after the polling.

16,661. That was to secure their vote?—Yes.

16,662. There is no use denying it; it was so?—Yes.

16,663. Did you make a bargain singly with them, or did you meet them in bodies, or how?—They canvassed one another. They were all put on as working men.

16,664. They were all paid for it?—Yes; canvassing each other, attending meetings, and making themselves useful.

16,665. And they had beer besides?—We gave them a drop of beer.

16,666. Was yours an open house during the election time?—What for?

16,667. An open house on the part of Mr. Monson. Was it an open house where the voters used to come?—I had a committee room two or three nights.

16,668. What were you paid for that?—That was included in the 15*l.*

16,669. What was the beer score? 9*l.*, or 10*l.*?—No; about two or three pounds.

16,670. More than that?—That is as near as I can tell.

16,671. Did you send in a bill for it?—No; it was paid out of the 15*l.* I had to play with.

16,672. How much did "Garibaldi" get out of the 15*l.*?—About 3*l.* or 4*l.* altogether.

16,673. He did not fare the worst?—No, nor the best, I am sorry to say. About 3*l.* or 4*l.*, that is as near as I can tell you.

16,674. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Three or four pounds a night?—No; the whole of it.

16,675. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you see any two or three of the men together, and did any of them say, "If you will satisfy these men, I will vote "with them." Did you see two or three together?—I have seen two together.

16,676. Who were they?—John Vigar and William Bilcliffe.

16,677. You agreed with them together?—Yes; and I paid John Vigar for both. I paid him 15*l.* altogether; he received for three.

16,678. You say he received 15*l.*?—Yes.

16,679. For himself, Bilcliffe, and another?—Yes; Abraham White.

16,680. Have you any memorandum, not of what you paid away, but of how much you received?—Altogether?

16,681. You have no memorandum of it?—No; only as I can recollect.

16,682. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you a voter in 1863?—Yes, I believe so. I voted in the wrong name that year, James Jordan instead of Thomas. I do not know whether it stood or not.

16,683. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

16,684. How was it that you did not vote for the same person in 1865 as in 1863?—I had very little interest for Mr. Gower. He never came to me at all. I was only spoken to by Mr. Monson.

16,685. Were you on the committee in 1863?—Yes.

16,686. Did you do much for it?—No, very little.

16,687. Did you canvass?—No; I attended a few of the committee meetings.

16,688. What else?—That is pretty nigh all I believe.

16,689. You were on the committee?—Yes.

16,690. Were you paid for your work then?—Nothing was mentioned what I was to be paid.

16,691. Who did you agree with about it, or who did you talk to?—I never talked to anybody about payment I believe. I spoke to Mr. Nichols and a friend of mine (Spence); they were the only two.

16,692. James Nichols?—Yes.

16,693. Which side was he on then?—Mr. Gower's.

16,694. In what way were you paid?—According to the rest?—No, I received a sum after the election was over.

16,695. How much?—4*l.*

ELEVENTH DAY.

T. Jordan.

3 Sept. 1866.

16,696. Were you employed to pay people in that election ?—No.

16,697. Were you satisfied with that 4*l.* ?—Yes.

16,698. From whom did you receive it ?—The bill was sent in to Mr. Smith, and it was given to Mr. Spence to give to me.

16,699. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What bill did you send in ?—A bill for services rendered, 4*l.*

16,700. (The Chief Commissioner.) How did you make the bill out ?—It was made out with Mr. Spence's, both in one bill. He made the bill out for the two.

16,701. What services had you rendered ?—Attending committee meetings, taking messages, and things of that sort.

16,702. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How many meetings had you attended ?—I cannot say ; about six or seven.

16,703. In the evening ?—Yes.

16,704. After work ?—Yes.

16,705. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know whether on that occasion Spence received the same as you ?—I do not know what he received, or what his agreements were.

16,706. Do you know whether you were paid in a cheque or money ?—I believe it was in gold.

16,707. Did Spence receive the money and hand it over to you, or did you receive it, and hand it over to him ?—He received the money, and left it at my house.

16,708. You do not know how much he received ?—No.

16,709. On that occasion were you canvassed by Mr. Wilkinson's party ?—Yes, Mr. Wilkinson came to my house.

16,710. Did anybody else come after you ?—No.

16,711. Did you request them to put your name down on their committee ?—No.

16,712. Were you put down on their committee ?—I cannot recollect. I did not promise Mr. Wilkinson my vote.

16,713. Did you ask to be put down on their committee ? Did you authorize them ?—No.

16,714. Cannot you tell whether you were put down on Mr. Wilkinson's committee or not ?—I believe not, as near as I can recollect ; I believe I was not.

16,715. Did they say that if you did what you could for them your services would be paid for ?—No.

16,716. Was nothing of the kind said ?—Nothing of the kind.

16,717. Did you apply to anybody on Mr. Wilkinson's side ?—No.

16,718. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I understood you to say to the Chief Commissioner that you had done no work for Mr. Gower in 1863 ?—No work but attending the committees.

16,719. Your answer was, "no work," and after you said you received 4*l.* you said that you had attended these committee meetings ?—I did not call that work.

16,720. What was the name of the person who made out the joint account ?—Mr. Spence.

16,721. What was Spence ?—A tailor.

16,722. What was he in the election ?—He was employed as a canvasser, I believe.

16,723. But you were not ?—No.

15,724. Was his claim the same as yours ?—I do not know.

16,725. I thought you sent in the account jointly ?—He put my claim in his bill. I do not know what his claims were.

16,726. Did Spence suggest to you that you were entitled to be paid ?—Yes, for attending the meetings.

16,727. Then, if it had not been for Spence, you would not have thought of sending in a bill ?—I expected to send a bill in the same as the others.

16,728. Did Spence tell you that all the others were going to send in bills ?—Not all of them. I did not call it doing anything when I attended the meetings.

16,729. And that is the reason why you charged 4*l.* ?—Yes.

16,730. Because you call it doing nothing ?—I did not call it doing nothing ; at least, I should not.

16,731. I suppose in the committee you were helping the others to do nothing, and you were all paid for doing nothing ?—No, I do not take it in that way.

16,732. Did you ever see Spence there ?—Yes.

16,733. Did Spence take an active part ?—He took a part in canvassing.

16,734. Was he a sub-agent ?—I believe he was.

16,735. Is he a voter now ?—No.

16,736. Where is he ?—In Brighton, I believe.

16,737. What is his name ?—William Spence.

16,738. What is his business ?—A journeyman tailor.

16,739. Do you know his address in Brighton ?—I do not know it at the present time.

16,740. You can find it I suppose ?—I dare say I can.

16,741. Have you had any letters from him lately ?—No.

16,742. Or heard of him ?—No.

16,743. Who was he working with the last time you heard ?—He was working at a wholesale shop in Brighton.

16,744. What name ?—I do not know.

16,745. Do you know the whereabouts of the wholesale shop ?—No, I know very little about Brighton myself.

16,746. You might have heard ?—I have not ; I do not know.

16,747. Do you know of any other committee men like yourself sending in accounts ?—No, I do not.

16,748. And receiving money ?—No.

16,749. When you sent in this account did Nichols at all object to the amount ?—It was not sent into Mr. Nichols ; it was sent to Mr. Smith.

16,750. In 1863 ?—Yes.

16,751. Did he object to the account ?—No, I did not hear anything further about it than that the money was left at my house.

16,752. Was there no general talk in the committee before the voting, that those who attended the committees were to be paid for their work ?—I did not hear it in the committee room.

16,753. Did you hear it out of the committee room before the voting ?—I understood that there would be a little trifle, of course.

16,754. And that trifle would be for supposed work ?—Yes, attending meetings.

16,755. In fact, although Spence spoke to you after the election, and made out the account, before you voted you did expect to be paid for your attending the meetings ?—Well, yes ; of course it was only a trifle, but not in the way of an active agent.

16,576. No sum was mentioned ?—No.

16,757. But you did expect to be paid ?—Yes, paid a trifle.

16,758. And 4*l.* you looked upon as a trifle ?—Yes.

16,759. Did you expect to be paid for attending the nomination ?—Yes, I was there three days ; I attended at the nomination, the polling, and the day after.

16,760. What was going on the day after ?—No, the day before I mean.

16,761. That is the nomination ?—Yes, two days.

16,762. Two days nomination ?—No, two days altogether.

16,763. Did you expect to be paid for the declaration of the poll the next day ?—No.

16,764. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Have you told us everything you know material to the Inquiry regarding the election of 1865 ?—Yes, everything I can recollect.

16,765. Just try and recollect if there is anything else ?—There is not any more that I can recollect.

16,766. Did you receive your instructions from Nichols in the first instance ?—Yes.

16,767. Did you see any one higher in the scale than Nichols ?—No, not that I know of.

16,768. Did you see Mr. Hart at all?—I saw Mr. Hart at the committee rooms.

16,769. To speak to him; did you receive any instructions from Mr. Hart?—No, not that I am aware of; I might have spoken, but I do not recollect.

16,770. Of course Mr. Nichols knew what you were doing?—Of course.

16,771. Who else of Mr. Monson's committee knew what you were doing?—Apted knew what I was doing.

16,772. James Apted?—Yes.

16,773. Who else of the committee?—Mr. Holdsworth.

16,774. Who else of the committee; I should like to go a step higher, if possible?—I cannot mention any others. Mr. Monson knew that I was working, of course.

16,775. They knew that you were paying these men?—Yes.

16,776. You do not mean to say that Mr. Monson knew that?—Not that I know of.

WILLIAM MEDHURST called, sworn, and examined. W. Medhurst

16,777. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I believe you voted at the last election?—Yes, for Mr. Gower.

16,778. What qualification had you?—I paid 6*s.* a week for my house.

16,779. What are you?—A seller of milk.

16,780. You go round with the milk yourself?—Yes.

16,781. Is it a wide district?—In the town.

16,782. Were you canvassed by both sides?—No.

16,783. Only one?—Only one.

16,784. Was that the side on which you voted?—The side on which I voted.

16,785. How long before the election were you canvassed?—Mr. Gower came to me himself. As I was going home to dinner I met him and Mr. Smith; it might be five or ten minutes past 1; I dare say he would have called if he had not met me in the street. I was at the top of Nutley-lane. Mr. Smith turned round and said, "Here's Medhurst." He says, "How "do you do?" and shook hands, and asked me for my vote. I said, "I will give it to you," and we passed on.

16,786. Did you promise your vote at once?—I promised it there and then.

16,787. To Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith?—To Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith.

16,788. That was some five weeks before the election?—Five or six weeks; a long time.

16,789. So long that they did not leave you quite alone?—I was never troubled any more by them nor yet by the other parties.

16,790. You are William Medhurst, milkman, of Nutley-lane?—Yes.

16,791. Did Frederick Joyes come to you afterwards?—Yes.

16,792. You had forgotten that?—No, I had not.

16,793. You said you were not troubled by them?—Not with the other party.

16,794. Frederick Joyes came?—Yes.

16,795. You did not call that trouble?—No.

16,796. What took place between you and Joyes?—He came to my place as I was going after my milk, and he said, "Will you promise me your vote?" I said, "I have promised Mr. Gower, and I shall not "vote against him." He says, "That's all right." That is the very words. He said, "I shall give you "4*l.* for your vote." "Very well," I says, "all "right." I never troubled him no more from that time to this.

16,797. Did you get your 4*l.*?—Yes.

16,798. When?—Not till very lately; very lately indeed. I should not have troubled about it if it had not come.

16,799. When did he give it to you?—He did not give it me at all.

16,800. Did he send it?—No, he did not send it.

16,801. Who gave it to you?—I was going down the street with my milk one afternoon, about 4 o'clock, when he says, "Medhurst, I have got a little money "now." I said, "I should like to have a little." He says, "If you will go into my place this afternoon you "can have a little." I did not go then; I was about my business, going round with my milk. During the evening I went, and the money was laid on the counter.

16,802. You took it up?—I took it up and put it in my pocket; four sovereigns.

16,803. Was Joyes there?—He was not there.

16,804. How did you know it was there?—Mrs. Joyes put it there, and said it was for me.

16,805. The mistress of the house?—The mistress of the house; she was in the shop.

16,806. Are you sure that the words Joyes said were, "I shall give you 4*l.* for your vote"?—Yes, quite sure; he was not in the house 10 minutes. It was about 2 o'clock; I was going after my milk.

16,807. Were you to do any work?—I attended no meetings; I was at the nomination.

16,808. Joyes was very anxious to secure your vote, of course?—He never troubled me after that; I did not see him anxious at all.

16,809. When he came in did he produce three "fivers"?—No, nor yet one fiver, nor half a fiver.

16,810. Did he not?—I will take my oath of that.

16,811. Did he not say, "Medhurst, I have three "fivers for you"?—No.

16,812. Whether he produced them or not?—No, I should be sorry to say an untruth about it; all I know I will tell you with the greatest pleasure and truth. I had no connexions with the election whatever during the election.

16,813. Except getting the 4*l.*?—I got the 4*l.*, but I should never have troubled about that.

16,814. I believe there are two Joyes?—Yes, two or three I think.

16,815. Did you see any of the other Joyes?—No, they never broached the subject of the election to me.

16,816. Did one of the Joyes say anything about three "fivers," and did you say, "Confound it! I am "always making a mistake about these elections; I "have just got 10*l.* from the other side"?—I never said such a thing; I would not stand here and tell such an untruth as that.

16,817. Were you rather hard up for for a horse and cart just then?—I wanted a horse and cart, and I saved the money out of my own hard earnings; I thought that would come out.

16,818. You knew something was going to be asked about that?—Yes, because I have been chaffed about it up and down the street. As soon as I had got the horse and cart they called out, "There goes "Gower!"

16,819. How long after the election?—It may be a month.

16,820. It did look suspicious having a new horse and cart just after the election?—It did look very suspicious.

16,821. Then you were rather hard up for a horse and cart?—I was not hard up for money if I was hard up for the horse and cart. I had money in my pocket to buy it then; I have not now.

16,822. Did you ever speak to any one about the horse and cart about the time of the election?—Yes, I said I must have one.

16,823. Who did you say that to?—Hundreds of people.

16,824. There is nothing like making it public at the time of the election?—I never had a farthing towards it out of the election.

16,825. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was the horse called Gower?—Yes, the first day it went down the street.

16,826. What did you pay for it?—7*l.* 10*s.* for the

ELEVENTH DAY.

W. Medhurst.

3 Sept. 1866.

cart and 5*l.* for the pony, and I bought a nice harness for 16*s.* of Mr. Alexander behind the park; he favoured me very much, and I was much obliged to him for it.

16,827. Then you paid 12*l.* 10*s.* altogether?—Yes, and I saved that out of my own hard earnings.

16,828. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you not also say this just about the time of the election, which made it the more suspicious, that you not only wanted this horse and cart, but that whoever got you the horse and cart should have your vote?—No.

16,829. You swear that?—I will swear that through thick and thin, and no mistake, because I had the money in my pocket; it was what I had saved. I was a teetotaler, and I used to put 6*d.* and 1*s.* a week in the same purse that I have now, and my wife never knew a word about it.

16,830. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And you surprised her when the cart came in?—I pulled out the 7*l.* 10*s.* and gave it to her to pay for it, and had a pound or two left.

16,831. Are you a teetotaler still?—Yes, I haven't drunk these two years.

16,832. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then you never had a "tenner" on either side?—No, nor yet a fiver; I should not have troubled myself about the 4*l.* if I had not had it given me.

16,833. You see it makes it suspicious when a man wants a horse and cart just about the time of an election, and gets one immediately afterwards?—It is very hard if a man cannot have a horse and cart after an election.

16,834. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How did "Gower" turn out?—Oh, very well; like myself, rather slow.

16,835. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How long before the election did you want the horse and cart?—Mr. Weller gave up his farm at midsummer, that was some time during the election, and I was obliged to get my milk at Bickley, a long way off.

16,836. Then you wanted the horse and cart?—Yes, I could not do without. Sooner than throw up my milk-walk I thought I would buy a horse and cart. That is the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

16,837. Was not the 4*l.* a sort of subscription towards this Gower horse?—No.

16,838. Only for the vote?—Only for the vote, that is true. I have been chaffed hundreds and thousands of times about that poor old pony and cart. It happened to be just at the time of the election.

16,839. I am not surprised at your being chaffed?—You may take it which way you like.

16,840. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you voted in 1863?—Yes.

16,841. For whom?—For Mr. Gower.

16,842. What did you get then?—Only 2*l.*

16,843. Who paid you the 2*l.* then?—Mr. Job Apted.

16,844. Did you vote in 1859?—Yes.

16,845. For whom?—I think for Mr. Wilkinson.

16,846. What did you get then?—I got 1*l.* I think.

16,847. Who from?—Mr. Job Apted.

16,848. Had you voted in 1858, when Sir Henry Rawlinson was a candidate?—I voted for him.

16,849. What did you get for that?—I got nothing for that.

16,850. Is that all the money you have received during the elections?—That is every farthing I received.

16,851. 1*l.*, 2*l.*, and 4*l.*?—Yes, 7*l.* altogether.

16,852. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who did you vote for in 1859, Mr. Monson or Mr. Wilkinson?—Mr. Wilkinson.

16,853. I believe it was known that you were wanting this horse and cart. Do you recollect Mr. Holdsworth?—Yes.

16,854. He came to you?—He never came to me at all. I was in his house serving him with milk on the polling morning.

16,855. He did not go to you?—No. He had his milk as usual; and he said to me, "Medhurst, would "15*l.* be of any use to get your pony and cart?" but I never saw any money.

16,856. Then I made a mistake; it was Holdsworth, not Joyes, who said that?—You made a mistake there.

16,857. You should have corrected me. Did you consider that he was serious or joking?—I never saw any money.

16,858. Did you know by his manner?—I do not believe he would have given the 15*l.*

16,859. Did he promise it?—No; he said, "Would "it be of any use?" I said, "I am going for Gower," and he said, "go." I voted for Mr. Gower early in the morning, about half-past 9 o'clock.

16,860. It was to try you?—No man on the face of the earth would make me break my promise.

16,861. It was to try your virtue?—It was to try my virtue, if I had got any.

16,862. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You had sold yourself (to use plain language) for 4*l.*?—I had promised my vote.

16,863. You had sold yourself for 4*l.*?—I do not think there was much selling or buying.

16,864. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it to Holdsworth that you said, when he offered this 15*l.* "Why, hang it! I am always making a mistake in "these elections; Joyes has just offered me 10*l.*"?—No.

16,865. Not to anybody?—Not a word.

16,866. I do not mean Holdsworth or Joyes?—I never went to none of the meetings; I never went a stone's throw away from my home, I did not want no connexion with none of them.

16,867. That is not what I am asking. When you were offered 15*l.* by Holdsworth, was it fifteen sovereigns or three fivers?—He did not say three fivers, he said 15*l.*

16,868. Then did you not say, "I am always making "mistakes"?—No, I do not make mistakes like that. I ain't quite so silly as that.

16,869. Why did you not take the 15*l.*?—Because I did not want it, and I had promised one party.

16,870. You had sold yourself for 4*l.*?—Yes; if it had been a thousand pounds I would not have taken it.

16,871. (The Chief Commissioner.) Have you any other information to give us about the last election or any previous election?—No. I would give it with the greatest pleasure if I had any; I would give it in a straightforward manner, but I have none whatever.

W. Miles.

William Miles called, sworn, and examined.

16,872. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a voter?—Yes.

16,873. What house do you rent?—A house of 20*l.* a year.

16,874. What are you?—A fishmonger and poulterer.

16,875. In Reigate?—Redhill.

16,876. You are not a freeholder? You rent your house?—Yes.

16,877. You voted for Mr. Gower at the last election I think?—Yes.

16,878. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

16,879. Who put you on his committee?—Mr. Green.

16,880. How long before the election?—About seven weeks.

16,881. What were you to have for working on the committee?—There was no agreement made.

16,882. No particular sum mentioned, but what was understood?—There never was any understanding.

16,883. 30*s.* a week, or how much?—There was nothing of the kind mentioned.

16,884. But you expected to be paid, I presume?—I expected to have a little something.

16,885. Did Mr. Green pay you anything?—Yes.

16,886. How much?—2*l.*

16,887. When?—After the election.

16,888. Was that all you received altogether?—That was all.

16,889. Did you apply to him?—No.

16,890. How came he to pay you if you did not apply to him?—I do not know I am sure.

16,891. Where did he see you? Did he come to your house?—Yes.

16,892. As he was going his round?—I suppose so.

16,893. You were in, and he handed you 2*l.*?—Yes.

16,894. You do not know, of course, how many houses he visited? How long was it after the election; A week or two?—A month, I think.

16,895. Were you at home when he came?—Yes.

16,896. And your wife was there, I suppose?—She was at home.

16,897. He asked for you and handed you the 2*l.*?—Yes.

16,898. What did he say?—He said there was 2*l.* for the voting.

16,899. Did you say, "This is rather small, Mr. "Green"?—No.

16,900. You looked at it, didn't you, and said, "This "is very few; I should like a little more"?—I did not say so.

16,901. You looked at it?—I looked at it.

16,902. You looked dissatisfied, did you not, and said, "I would rather have a little more"?—I did not say so.

16,903. Did you say, "When is the rest coming?"—I expected we should have a settlement some time after.

16,904. You said so to Mr. Green, "When is the "rest coming?" or something of that kind; "When is "the settlement day coming?"—Mr. Green did not know.

16,905. He said so?—He said it would be.

16,906. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You asked him, I suppose, when the settlement day was coming?—Of course I did.

16,907. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was your wife present?—No.

16,908. He said the day would come some time or another?—Some time or another.

16,909. It has not come, I am afraid?—No.

16,910. Was that all you received?—Yes.

16,911. Was this the first time you voted?—No.

16,912. When before that?—The election before.

16,913. In 1863?—Yes.

16,914. For whom did you vote then?—Mr. Gower.

16,915. Was the money better then; was there a little more going?—Yes, a little more.

16,916. How much did you have then?—About 7*l.* 10*s.* I believe it was.

16,917. Who paid you the 7*l.* 10*s.*?—Mr. Green.

16,918. When he paid you 2*l.*, in 1865, did you refer to 1863, and say, "There is a great difference"?—There was a great difference, but I did not make any remark.

16,919. You told him things were better in 1863, did you not?—No, I said nothing of the kind.

16,920. Did he pay you after the election in 1863?—Yes.

16,921. Were most of the men paid better, as far as you know, in 1863 than in 1865?—I do not know.

16,922. As far as you know?—As far as I know, they were.

16,923. You were canvassed on behalf of Monson, I suppose, at the last election?—No.

16,924. They did not come to you?—No.

16,925. They knew you were staunch?—They knew I was for Mr. Gower.

16,926. Had you promised Mr. Green?—Yes.

16,927. Were you not canvassed? Did not Mr. Hanbury canvass you on behalf of Mr. Monson?—No, Mr. Hanbury and Mr. Monson came about a week before Christmas.

16,928. That is a long time. I am speaking of 1865; that was a long time before the election?—I know it was.

16,929. Did they canvass you then? They told you, I suppose, that Government was shaky, and that there would be a new election, and that they wanted you to help them?—No, they walked in and said there would be another election in the spring.

16,930. And they wanted your vote?—They did not ask me for my vote.

16,931. For your assistance, or something of that kind?—They only just mentioned the question.

16,932. That is what any gentleman who goes to a voter does; that is his proper duty. "I hope you "will be with us," or something of that kind?—I do not know that anything of that kind was said.

16,933. What did they say?—I am sure I do not know what was said.

16,934. (The Chief Commissioner.) One word about the election of 1863. You told my friend that you voted for Mr. Gower. You had been canvassed in that election for Mr. Wilkinson, had you not?—Mr. Wilkinson's party came in the shop.

16,935. Who was that?—Mr. Wilkinson came in the shop. I do not know who was with him. I did not promise either.

16,936. Do you recollect who asked you first?—Yes.

16,937. Which?—Mr. Wilkinson.

16,938. After that you promised Mr. Gower your vote, did you not?—Yes.

16,939. Do you not recollect somebody coming in from Mr. Wilkinson and asking you why you had joined the Gower party? Do you recollect that? You know you had been on the committee in 1863?—Yes.

16,940. Do you not remember their coming and asking you why you had your name put down on Mr. Gower's committee? I think you recollect that?—I am sure I do not know who it was.

16,941. You remember somebody coming in?—I remember some one coming in.

16,942. Did you keep a cart and pony at that time?—Yes.

16,943. Do you now?—Yes.

16,944. Do you not recollect a conversation about a cart and pony? Do you recollect when somebody asked you why your name was put down on the Gower committee that you said Mr. Wilkinson's party had not made you any offer at all, or something to that effect?—I might have said something like that.

16,945. And didn't you say that Smith and Nichols had offered you 50*s.* a week for the horse and cart?—No.

16,946. 30*s.* a week, wasn't it?—No.

16,947. How much was it?—Nothing at all.

16,948. But didn't you tell them something like this: "Mr. Wilkinson's party have offered me nothing, "but Mr. Gower's party have offered me so much a "week for my horse and cart"?—No.

16,949. Pray try and recollect if that did not pass?—I did not say so.

16,950. Well, something of that nature?—Nothing.

16,951. Didn't you say that you had had an offer for the use of your horse and cart?—No.

16,952. Didn't you say that you had been offered something by Mr. Gower's party for your work?—I was offered by Mr. Gower's party to go on their committee.

16,953. And didn't you also say that you had been offered something for work?—No.

16,954. But if you went on their committee I suppose you were to do some service?—Yes, I was to attend their meetings.

ELEVENTH DAY.

W. Miles.

3 Sept. 1866.

16,955. What were you to get for it?—7*s.* 6*d.* a day.

16,956. Did you get any of these seven and sixpences,—7*s.* 6*d.* a day,—which was the sum you mentioned to Wilkinson's party as having been offered by Gower?—Not till after the election.

16,957. Those were the sums that went to make up the 7*l.* 10*s.*?—That was in the 7*l.* 10*s.*

16,958. Did they bid higher then? Did Wilkinson's party bid higher than that 7*s.* 6*d.*?—Not that I know of.

16,959. I mean, to you. Try and recollect, please?—They never offered me anything.

16,960. What did they say when you told them, "I "am paid 7*s.* 6*d.*," or, "I am to have 7*s.* 6*d.* a day "from the other side"? I suppose they did not walk out, did they?—No; they asked me what was the reason I voted for the other party.

16,961. And you said, "I have undertaken to be with them for 7*s.* 6*d.* a day," or something like that. What did they say to that?—I never told them what was the reason.

16,962. When Wilkinson's party came to you you told them, "I am to have 7*s.* 6*d.* a day from Mr. "Gower"?—No, I did not tell them so.

16,963. You have said so. I have taken your words down. Your words were, "I have told them I "was to be paid 7*s.* 6*d.* a day"?—I never told Wilkinson so.

16,964. I never said you did, but you told Wilkinson's party. Do not fence with me?—I might have told Wilkinson's party, but not that I know of.

16,965. Did Wilkinson's party bid higher?—No.

16,966. Didn't they make a rise upon that sum?—No.

16,967. Did they make you any offer?—No.

16,968. Did they say, "You had better be on our "side"?—Not as I know of.

16,969. Did they make you any offer at all, either in money or say, "We will arrange with you afterwards,"—Wilkinson's party?—I do not know as they did.

16,970. I think you would recollect it if they did?—Well, I think I should.

16,971. We have got them calling on you, and we have already proved that they found out what arrangement you made with Gower. Now, they would not ask these questions, they would not care to know, unless with a view to see whether they could not make another bargain themselves with you?—I do not know as they ever offered me anything.

16,972. You mean no sum of money?—No.

16,973. Did they say, "You shall be paid"?—No.

16,974. What did they say?—They asked me the reason I was voting the other side.

16,975. Yes, and you told them?—No, I did not tell them.

16,976. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Perhaps that was not your reason for voting on the other side, although you were going to receive 7*s.* 6*d.* a day?—I never promised my vote to Wilkinson on the first onset.

16,977. You promised to Gower?—Yes. Wilkinson's party came to me first in this election, before the last.

16,978. (The Chief Commissioner.) Yes, the election of 1863. I wish you would give me a little assistance about this. We have got them in your house, and we have got them having a conversation with you?—Yes, they did, several times.

16,979. Well, how did it end?—I am sure I do not know, because Mr. Norman Wilkinson came about three times.

16,980. Before or not, did you at any time promise that you would vote for Wilkinson?—No.

16,981. Not promise any one?—No.

16,982. Do you know any gentleman named Frederick—something?—Not as I know of.

16,983. Now, look here, you know Mr. Frederick Campion?—Yes.

16,984. Do you remember in that election of 1863 seeing Mr. Frederick Campion? Do not say "No," if with a little reflection you can call it to mind.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He lives near Wiggey?—Yes, I know where it is very well.

16,985–6. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you remember seeing him? He was on Mr. Wilkinson's side?—Yes, I believe he was.

16,987. No doubt, in 1863; and do not you remember his calling on you?—Yes, he called in the shop.

16,988. What did he say? Was that the conversation when you told him about the 7*s.* 6*d.*?—No, I never named it to him.

16,989. Did he ask you why you voted for Mr. Gower? I shall only have to send for Mr. Campion, and perhaps I can get it from him, only I don't want to contradict you by another witness. I only want to get the plain statement from you, and it will sound much better if it comes from you than if it comes to me from some one else; beeause it will show, otherwise, that we could not get it from you, and you are sworn to tell the whole truth?—I have told it as far as I can.

16,990. What did he say when he came into your house?—I do not recollect.

16,991. Do you recollect what you said to him?—No.

16,992. He canvassed you for your vote?—No, he did not canvass me at all.

16,993. I beg your pardon. He asked you for your vote?—He might have asked me which way I was going to vote.

16,994. Didn't he say, "You have put your name "on Gower's committee"?—Yes, I believe he did.

16,995. And you said, what? Will you help me a bit more?—What did Campion say?

16,996. No. He asked you how it was that you had had your name put down on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes, he did.

16,997. Well, you made some answer to that?—Because, I said, I was better satisfied with Mr. Gower than I was with Mr. Wilkinson.

16,998. And did you tell him why; because of course he would want to know why?—Well, I do not know why.

16,999. I do not say that you do; but did you tell him why?—He might have asked me and said, "Well, "you are better paid, perhaps," or something of the kind.

17,000. What did you say to that?—I said, "Yes."

17,001. How did you know you were better paid?—Because I was on with Mr. Gower.

17,002. But how did you know you would be better paid by Gower than you would be by Wilkinson?—Well, I did not know; I did not know what he was going to give me.

17,003. But you said to Mr. Campion, "Because I "am better paid." You know "better" is the better of two things?—Yes, I know it is.

17,004. Well, what was Mr. Wilkinson's to be?—I do not know.

17,005. You must have known it, or otherwise you could not say you were better paid?—There was nothing offered to me.

17,006. Did they say, "You shall be paid for your "services," without stating any sum?—They said I should be paid for my services.

17,007. Who told you that?—I do not know who it was.

17,008. Did Mr. Campion pay you?—No.

17,009. Tell me who did tell you you should be paid?—I do not know who it was.

17,010. I am only going to ask you this once. Will you give me any more information about that election of 1863? I shall be obliged to ask some one else, and you won't like to hear yourself contradicted. You won't like to hear anybody say, "I went to William "Miles in 1863, and I told him so-and-so and so-and-"so; and he told me he was getting 7*s.* 6*d.* a day; "and although I offered him so much he would not "take it."—I did not tell anybody.

17,011. Can you tell me any more?—No.

17,012. Have you been in any other election?—No.

17,013. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that arrangement for 7*s.* 6*d.* a day made with Mr. Green when he first canvassed you?—Mr. Green did not canvass me.

17,014. In 1863?—No.

17,015. Green paid you?—Yes, Green paid me.

17,016. Whom did you make the arrangement with that you were to have 7*s.* 6*d.* a day in 1863?—Mr. Parker and Mr. Featherstone.

17,017. What Parker?—He lived in the Station-road.

17,018. Do you know his Christian name?—No.

17,019–20. Parker of the Station-road canvassed you in 1863.

17,021. Did they both canvass you together?—No, Parker took me down to the meeting.

17,022. Yes; but I want to know was it with Parker or with Featherstone that you had the arrangement that you were to be paid 7*s.* 6*d.* a day?—With Parker.

17,023. Was that when he first canvassed you?—Yes. He told me that was what he was having of, and I should have the same as he.

17,024. Did you hear from Featherstone what he was having in 1863?—No.

17,025. Do you know whether or not he was to have the same?—No; I do not know.

17,026. What did you really do in 1863?—Attended meetings.

17,027. What meetings? Were they committee meetings or meetings at the beer houses?—Committee meetings.

17,028. All committee meetings?—Yes.

17,029. Those only occupied you a small portion of the evening, I suppose?—In the evening.

17,030. Overtime?—Yes.

17,031. Were you to have extra for the polling and nomination day?—Not that I know of.

17,032. But those days were to be counted in, I suppose?—Yes.

17,033–4. You know that the Chief Commissioner asked you whether you had got anything further to say. Now you have told me something further. Now let me give you another chance. Is there anything further you can give information upon in respect to 1863 or 1865?—I do not know of anything else; I have told you as far as I know.

17,035. Is there anything of 1865 you have got to tell us?—Nothing.

17,036. Do you know of any others besides yourself receiving monies in the same way, as for work?—No.

ELEVENTH DAY.

W. Miles.

3 Sept. 1866.

Short adjournment.

PHILIP MILES called, sworn, and examined.

P. Miles

17,307. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A bricklayer.

17,038. What rent do you pay?—4*s.* 6*d.* a week.

17,039. That was what you paid at the last election?—Yes.

17,040. Whom did you vote for at the last election?—1865?

17,041. 1865?—Mr. Gower.

17,042. You voted for Mr. Gower. I believe you were on his committee, were you not?—Yes.

17,043. And who put you on his committee?—Alexander Rose.

17,044. Did you see Joyes, or Apted, or Buckland about it?—No.

17,045. Rose put you on the committee; and what were you to do?—Well, I was to attend the committee meetings, and deliver circulars if I were required.

17,046. And I believe, as it turned out, they had plenty of people, and they did not require you?—No.

17,047. So that you did nothing?—I attended the committee.

17,048. But I mean did nothing in the way of services?—Not delivering circulars.

17,049. You know committees were in the evening?—Yes.

17,050. What was the arrangement with you? what were you to have for doing it?—Well, I never made any arrangement at all.

17,051. Not a regular sum, perhaps; but just tell me on what terms it was to be, if you please?—Well, he told if I would go on Mr. Gower's committee he would pay me for my time.

17,052. Did he tell you what?—No, there was nothing mentioned, not a farthing.

17,053. When did you apply to him?—When did I apply?

17,054. Apply to him for something for time and services?—Oh! some considerable time after the election.

17,055. That is what I want to know, if you can tell me?—I think it must have been a month or five week after the election, as near as I can tell you.

17,056. Did you give him a bill?—No.

17,057. To whom did you apply,—to Rose?—Yes.

17,058. What did you apply to him for; be so good as to tell us straight off?—I asked him if there would be anything allowed for my services. He said yes, he thought there would by-and-by.

17,059. For how much did you apply to him? You know no sum was mentioned in the first instance, but you gave him your services, and then how much were you expecting for them afterwards?—Well, he told me that he would put me on the committee. He asked me if I would vote for Mr. Gower. I told him that was my intention, and he said, he would pay me for my time. It was after the election when I applied to him. He said, "Perhaps it "might be 2*l.* and perhaps more." I believe they are the words that passed between us.

17,060. That was after the election?—After the election.

17,061. "He told me it would be 2*l.* and perhaps more"?—Yes.

17,062. What I want to know is, did you in the first instance apply to him for a certain sum; did you apply to him for the 5*l.*?—No, there was never any 5*l.* mentioned.

17,063. Did you apply to him for a certain sum?—No.

17,064. You know how long you had been on the committee, and you were able to value your own services I suppose; did you apply to him for a certain sum?—No.

17,065. Did you name any sum to him?—No, not in the least.

17,066. What did you receive?—I received 2*l.* from Rose.

17,067. When did he pay you the 2*l.*?—At two different times. I think it was the third and fourth week in November, but I won't be certain.

17,068. What else?—And 5*s.* 6*d.* from Robert Legg for being out at night.

ELEVENTH DAY.

P. Miles.

3 Sept. 1866.

17,069. How came Legg, of all people, to pay you that?—Well, he had the list of names of those that were out at nights. Charles Briggs came to me, and he called several of us to be out, and he called me for one, and I did go out. I was out for two or three nights. Robert Legg paid me for it.

17,070. Was that for the election?—After the election. I never received a farthing before the election.

17,071. Were you canvassed by anybody on the Monson side?—Mr. Monson himself.

17,072. Anybody else?—John Corderoy with him.

16,073. Did you refuse him your vote?—I did. I refused him there and then.

17,074. At that time had you had a conversation with Rose?—Previous to that.

17,075. I say previous to Mr. Monson asking you had you had a conversation with Rose?—Oh, yes, several weeks.

17,076. Did you tell the Monson party, Mr. Monson or his friends, that you had had the conversation, and that you were engaged to Mr. Gower?—I told him I had promised my vote to Mr. Gower, and I would not break my word for any man.

17,077. Did you tell him you were engaged?—No.

17,078. Did anybody make any offer to you if you would come on Monson's side?—No.

17,079. Will you tell me whom you had voted for in 1863?—Mr. Wilkinson.

17,080. Mr. Gower stood then?—Yes, he did.

17,081. You say that then you voted for Wilkinson; did Mr. Gower canvass you?—No.

17,082. Not at all?—Not at all, and I will tell you the reason. I was at work from home carrying on a shop for my master. I only came home on the Saturday night, and away again on the Sunday night, and I did not see Gower's party at all.

17,083. But you saw Wilkinson's party I suppose?—Yes, I saw Frederick Joyes.

17,084. Whom was he for in 1863?—Mr. Wilkinson.

17,085. What did he say to you?—He asked me if I would vote for Mr. Wilkinson. I told him I would.

17,086. Was that all?—I told him I was away from home at work, and he said if I would come up and vote for him he would pay my expenses and time.

17,087. How far off were you at work?—Well, I should think about 14 or 15 miles.

17,088. You did come up to vote?—Yes.

17,089. How much was paid you?—2*l.*

17,090. How do you calculate that 2*l.*; for what?—I do not calculate anything. I never had any agreement with him.

17,091. Do you consider that 2*l.* was paid for your vote?—Yes.

17,092. You may have misunderstood my question. I will put it again. Did you consider the 2*l.* paid for your vote, or was the 2*l.* paid to cover your expenses?—Time and expenses.

17,093. Time and expenses are very much the same thing, but you could not charge as much as 2*l.* for one day?—That is quite right; but I never made any bargain whatever, and Joyes never paid me. I came up and gave my vote. When I came home the next Saturday evening the money was left at my house.

17,094. He paid you by leaving it at your house?—Yes.

17,095. Do you know anything about that election beyond what you have told me?—No, I do not.

17,096. Do you know anything about this election of 1865 beyond what you have told me?—No, I do not.

17,097. Did you see much treating going on?

17,098. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Drinking?—Well, I was at a public meeting or two.

17,099. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you consider refreshment was going on pretty freely. If you do not, say so; but I am asking you as an honest man, do you consider whether treating was pretty free on both sides?—I cannot say on both sides.

17,100. Oh! you did not go into the other side?—No.

17,101. As far as your side went, did you see plenty of refreshment going on?—Not out of the way; I had some I did not pay for, and some that I paid for myself.

17,102. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you see Job Apted in the election?—Well, I saw him several times.

17,103. Did he ever ask you about your vote?—No.

17,104. Never canvassed you?—No.

17,105. Never promised you anything?—No.

17,106. Or Thomas Buckland?—No; no conversation with Buckland whatever.

17,107. Did you spend any money out of your own pocket?—Yes, a little.

17,108. On account of the election?—No, I spnet what I usually spent a week.

17,109. But I mean on account of the election?—No.

17,110. You had no charge against Mr. Gower's party for monies that you had spent out of your own pocket?—No, not in the least.

17,111. You had 5*s.* for night work?—5*s.* 6*d.*

17,112. Did you only receive one 5*s.* 6*d.*?—One 5*s.* 6*d.*

17,113. What night was that?—The Saturday night after the election I believe.

17,114. After the election?—After the election.

17,115. What did you want to be paid after the election for?—I was out, I think it was the Tuesday night before the polling.

17,116. You received it after the election?—Yes.

17,117. But I ask you what night you were out?—On the Tuesday night before the election.

17,118. The election was on the Wednesday?—Yes.

17,119. Were you with a party of men?—Yes; at least I was with Charles Briggs.

17,120. What district were you in?—In the town a great part.

17,121. About Nutley-lane?—Yes.

17,122. Were you anywhere near Groom's; do you know Groom's house?—Groom's? no.

17,123. Not near there?—No.

17,124. Did you go into that district?—No, not at all.

17,125. Did you keep to one spot?—We kept the town; Nutley-lane and Wray-park.

17,126. Did you see anybody taking voters away?—No.

17,127. Or attempting?—No.

17,128. (The Chief Commissioner.) They saw you were there, I suppose?—Well, I cannot say about that.

17,129. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose you were better than the police; you were always on the spot when you ought to be?—Well, I cannot say anything about that.

17,130. It is difficult to find a policeman when there is a row. He is always away. You prevented any disturbance?—I never saw any disturbance.

17,131. If you want occupation in the police service I should think you would make a very good policeman?—I do not want it, thank you, sir.

GEORGE PULLEN called, sworn, and examined.

17,132. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A carpenter.

17,133. What rent do you pay for your house?—16*l.* 18*s.* a year.

17,134. How long have you been a voter?—Nearly six years.

17,135. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Gower.

17,136. I am afraid you were not treated well then?—Yes, I was.

17,137. You were well treated. Very well, I am very glad of that; what did you receive then?—Well, I received 2*l.* five months after the election.

17,138. You don't call that being well treated; you were promised a great deal more than that?—No, I was never promised anything.

17,139. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then you treated the 2*l.* as a god-send?—Well, I expected something.

17,140. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You expected something more than the 2*l.*?—Well, I did expect something.

17,141. You expected 9*l.* or 10*l.*?—No; I didn't expect so much as that.

17,142. How much did you expect?—4*l.* or 5*l.*

17,143. For yourself?—For my services.

17,144. But you were money out of pocket?—Yes, a little.

17,145. And didn't they pay you for that?—Yes.

17,146. Who paid you the money out of pocket? I believe Mr. Apted paid you 1*l.*?—Yes.

17,147. That is in addition to the 2*l.*?—Yes; I got 2*l.* before the election come off for my expenses.

17,148. From whom did you get the second pound?—I believe Mr. Apted and Mr. Buckland were both together. I got 1*l.* on each of two occasions.

17,149. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you the 2*l.*?—I believe Mr. Buckland and Mr. Apted were both together at both times.

17,150. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you called into their office?—I was paid in the town hall here; there was only 2*l.* altogether.

17,151. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You received 4*l.* altogether?—I received 4*l.* altogether.

17,152. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who paid you the first 2*l.*?—Mr. Apted and Mr. Buckland were together.

17,153. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was before the election?—Before the election; for my expenses.

17,154. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did they tell you to pay money, and that they would pay it back again?—Yes; I was engaged as a canvasser.

17,155. Well, but canvassers do not pay money; canvassers go round with a book, and put on a smiling face, and speak to the ladies and kiss the babies, and so on. That is what canvassers do. You had not a book of that kind?—No.

17,156. You do not get money out of pocket by canvassing?—But you do by spending.

17,157. They told you if you got a voter not to be sparing with beer?—No.

17,158. Didn't they tell you to pay for it?—I was to pay for a glass of ale now and then.

17,159. But didn't they tell you to do it?—Well, yes, they did tell me.

17,160. Job Apted told you, "Well, you are a nice "kindly man, and if you meet with a voter just take "him in and talk over a pint of beer with him"?—No.

17,161. Did you spend the 2*l.* in treating men with beer?—Yes, and more to the end of it.

17,162. These were all voters; you didn't treat anybody but a voter?—No.

17,163. Didn't they treat you back?—No, not often.

17,164. But you took care not to tell them at that time, "this is election beer"; you didn't tell them that?—No, I didn't.

17,165. You expected more than 2*l.* for your services?—Well, I expected more than 2*l.*

17,166. Honestly you expected 5*l.* or 6*l.*?—No, I thought 4*l.* would pay me very well for my time and trouble.

17,167. What time did you spend beyond treating people to beer?—I cannot answer for that; I know I used to be about two or three hours in the evening, after my day's work.

17,168. That was treating people to beer?—No, not particularly.

17,169. What other time?—Well, I used to go about to my neighbours and see how many voters I could influence.

17,170. Didn't any of the neighbours come to you to ask you to vote?—No, I never was canvassed.

17,171. Not at all?—No, neither by Monson nor Gower.

17,172. Except by Apted?—I never was canvassed by anybody.

17,173. How did they know you were to vote for Gower?—Apted and Buckland came to my house.

17,174. How did Mr. Apted know?—I have known Apted ever since I have been in Reigate.

17,175. Then you are a sure card? Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

17,176. For Gower?—For Wilkinson.

17,177. Was Apted for Gower at that time or Wilkinson?—Gower, I think, I am not quite certain.

17,178. What did you receive?—I received 30*s.*

17,179. From whom?—Mr. James, I think.

17,180. What was that for?—For my loss of time, polling day and nomination day. I was check clerk.

17,181. Check clerk at what?—On the polling day.

17,182. What else did you do?—Well, I never did anything else.

17,183. Who appointed you check clerk?—One of the agents from London, I think; I do not know the man.

17,184. I don't think you were check clerk, because check clerk is an important office.

17,185. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Poll clerk?—Not poll clerk, check clerk I believe.

17,186. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You didn't keep any books?—I had to put down the names that voted for Wilkinson.

17,187. Were you engaged by day there?—I was.

17,188. You got a 1*l.* for that?—I got a 1*l.* for that, and 10*s.* for the other.

17,189. 10*s.* for the nomination day?—Yes.

17,190. Had you voted at all before?—No; no other election.

17,191. How many check clerks were there on each side?—One or two, I think; two I believe.

17,192. Not half a dozen?—No, there were not.

17,193. Who made you a check clerk; who applied for the office for you?—I believe Mr. Frederick Killick applied for it for me.

17,194. On the morning of the polling?—Yes.

17,195. You told him you would like——?—I wanted a little job.

17,196. But you were not out of work then?—No, I had got plenty to do.

17,197. When did you go to Apted for the 2*l.*?—I never went to him at all; he paid it to me when I was going along the street here.

17,198. He saw you?—Yes. He was in his shop.

17,199. He called you in?—Yes.

17,200. You asked him if there would be anything more to come?—He said, "Not till February."

17,201. You knew what that meant?—Yes.

17,202. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did February ever come?—No.

17,203. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You made no noise or stir about it?—No.

17,204. You knew it would not do to make any

ELEVENTH DAY.

G. Pullen.

3 Sept. 1866.

noise or stir about it?—Well, if I did, I never should get it, I thought.

17,205. Don't you think you paid much more than the 2*l.* out of your own pocket?—Yes, all that I should think.

17,206. Did you pay away 4*l.*, do you think?—No, I did not.

17,207. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you at Groom's the night before the election?—No, I think not.

17,208. Might you have been?—No, I don't know that I was.

17,209. Do you know him?—I know the man.

17,210. He keeps a public house?—Yes, I believe so; I do not know whether it is a beer shop, or what it is; I don't know that ever I was in it.

D. Pitt.

DAVID PITT called, sworn, and examined.

17,211. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What rented house do you occupy?—12*l.* at the last election; rated at 12*l.*

17,212. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is it your own house?—Not now. It was at the last election, but I have sold it since then.

17,213. The rental would be about 15*l.* a year, I suppose?—About 7*s.* a week. The other one adjoining it I let at 5*s.* 6*d.* a week. That would not be so large a one.

17,214. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is it your own house?—It was at that time. I pay 9*s.* 6*d.* now.

17,215. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A carman.

17,216. Whom did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

17,217. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith.

17,218. That was in the early part of the election?—I do not know the day of the month, but it was the day after the Derby day, twelve months ago.

17,219. That was quite in the early part of the canvass?—I believe it was.

17,220. Did you promise your vote then?—Yes; at least, I was lying on the sofa at home; I was asleep; my wife waked me up, and said there were two gentlemen wanted to see me at the door, and I went. Mr. Gower said, "Well, Pitt, how are you"? I said, "Not very topping: I had plenty to drink last "night."

17,221. You had had plenty to drink the night before?—Yes.

17,222. What time of the day was this?—As near as I can say, about 1 o'clock.

17,223. By 1 o'clock in the day you had not quite recovered from your last night's drink?—I do not know whether I was drunk, I drove a pair of horses home.

17,224. Or rather the horses brought you home. At 1 o'clock in the day you were rather poorly, and these two gentlemen called upon you?—Yes.

17,225. Were you sufficiently collected to recollect what took place?—Yes.

17,226. What took place?—Mr. Gower asked me if I would vote for them again, as I had voted for them before.

17,227. You had voted in 1863?—Yes. I said I had not thought anything about the election yet. Mr. Smith said, "We like to make what show we can on "the committee; shall I put your name down?" I said, "Yes."

17,228. Were you to have anything for being on the committee?—Not that I know of.

17,229. Did not he say, "If you come on the com-"mittee you will get something for loss of time"?—No.

17,230. Did you vote for Gower?—Yes.

17,231. You stuck to Gower from first to last?—Yes.

17,232. Did any of the others speak to you about it? Did Frederick Joyes?—Yes, Frederick Joyes spoke to me on one occasion.

17,233. Where was it?—At the "Black Horse," Reigate-heath.

17,234. What took place between you and Joyes?—Very little; I was carrier from Reigate to London at that time.

17,235. Does that throw any light on the subject, your being a carrier?—I will tell you what passed.

17,236. Do, if you please?—I used to come here about 9 o'clock, and my horses stood at the "Black Horse;" and when I came here, whether I went to the bar for a candle or a pint of beer I do not know.

17,237. Where was it you saw Frederick Joyes?—At the bar. He called in on Wednesday, and asked me which way I was going to vote. "My vote is all "right," I said. "Well," he said, "you might just "as well have 5*l.* as not."

17,238. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you told him which way you were going to vote, or that you were going to vote all right?—No; I never told any one; I told him my vote was all right.

17,239. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He had asked you first of all to vote for Gower?—He never said anything about Gower.

17,240. You knew Frederick Joyes was for Mr. Gower?—I did.

17,241. That took place at the "Black Horse"?—Yes.

17,242. Did you think you might as well have the 5*l.*?—No.

17,243. What did you say about having the 5*l.*?—I said I wanted to hear nothing at all about it.

17,244. Did he say anything about your doing any work for this 5*l.*?—No.

17,245. Simply for your voting?—He never mentioned my vote; he asked me which way I was going.

17,246. But you had not told him you were going for Gower?—No; I never told any one, except I might say about three weeks after Mr. Smith and Gower called on me. I was going by Mr. Apted's a day or two afterwards, and he said, "Well, Pitt, which "way are you going this time?"

17,247. Who said that?—Apted.

17,248. Was that after seeing Frederick Joyes?—No, that was before.

17,249. What did you say to Apted?—Apted said, "Which way are you going this time?" I said, "I "shall go the same way as last." He said, "That is "all right."

17,250. Did he say you might as well have something?—No; never mentioned it.

17,251. Did you make application for this money afterwards?—No.

17,252. Have you ever had it?—No. What money? I was never promised.

17,253. No, but Frederick Joyes said you might just as well have 5*l.* Did you ever have that?—No.

17,254. Not that 5*l.*?—No, nor never expected it.

17,255. Do you know Johnson?—Yes.

17,256. Have you said to Johnson that you have been promised this money, and you wished that they would tip up?—No.

17,257. Will you swear you did not?—Yes, I will.

17,258. You know the Johnson I mean, William Johnson?—Yes, I know him well. He is an upholsterer, I believe.

17,259. You say you did not expect to be paid anything?—No.

17,260. You voted in 1863?—Yes.

17,261. Were you paid anything in 1863?—Yes.

17,262. What did you get in 1863?—I believe, as near as I can say, about 4*l.*

17,263. When did you get the 4*l.*?—It was some time after the election.

17,264. Who paid you?—Job Apted.

17,265. What was that for?—For neglecting my time.

17,266. Neglecting your time?—And for my men; I had got 16 or 17 men with me.

17,267. Did you take any men with you?—I took all the men I had.

17,268. Were they all voters?—Not one of them that I know.

17,269. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How many men had you got?—16 or 17.

17,270. In 1863?—In 1863; and I paid them 5*s.* a day.

17,271. They were called roughs?—Called roughs.

17,272. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are they with you now?—No.

17,273. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) They were only for the occasion? They were day labourers, were they?—They were working for me by the day.

17,274. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you pay them their wages by the day?—Yes.

17,275. What were these roughs to do?—If there was any obstruction they were to put themselves in.

17,276. They were to go in and fight?—Yes, if they were wanted.

17,277. Were not you called the captain of the roughs?—I believe I was at that time.

17,278. Did you go with these roughs to Nutley Hall?—Yes.

17,279. Was that before or after they did their work?—That was before and after, I believe.

17,280. Two occasions?—Two or three.

17,281. Then you took them first, before they were going upon the work, and gave them a good treat at Nutley Hall; plenty of beer?—I think my orders were to give them a pint each time I took them there. Whether it was a pint or a pot I do not know.

17,282. Whom did you get the orders from?—Job Apted.

17,283. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How many days were these men employed?—Two days.

17,284. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The nomination day and the polling day?—Yes.

17,285. You would call yourself in respectable language, I suppose, a peace officer?—Well, I am at a loss.

17,286. Superintendent of the peace officers?—No, I was to look after the roughs; see that they did not get tight.

17,287. How often did you take them to Nutley Hall then?—I cannot say.

17,288. Because they were to have a pint of beer every time they went?—Three or four times in the course of the day.

17,289. And they had their dinner?—Yes, at Nutley Hall.

17,290. You had somewhere about 18 gallons of beer?—I should think more.

17,291. How many gallons did you have?—I could not say.

17,292. A good six-and-thirty?—I should think we had altogether.

17,293. And probably more?—Yes.

17,294. Did you pay the bill?—No.

17,295. Who did?—I do not know.

17,296. They would not let you have the beer without putting it down to somebody?—I believe Bailey was the landlord at that time.

17,297. Don't you know Job Apted told Bailey to let you have what you wanted?—I believe he did.

17,298. Did you bring the roughs up this time?—No.

17,299. Didn't you have something to do with them?—Nothing at all.

17,300. But you worked well in 1863?—Yes, and I had nothing in 1865.

17,301. In 1863 did your roughs get into any row?—No, not that I am aware of. There was a lot of chaps got round the town hall door, and we shoved them away. There were no blows struck.

17,302. Was that on the day of the polling?—I do not know. I won't be sure whether it was on the day of the polling or nomination.

17,303. There would not be so much reason for pushing them away on the nomination day as on the polling?—I cannot swear to that.

17,304. What time of the day was it? It was not very far from 4 o'clock, was it?—I should not think it was.

17,305. Just as the voters were going up to the poll at the last moment?—I could not say; some time in the afternoon.

17,306. Were not your men at the door for the purpose of preventing voters going up to the poll?—No; my men pushed the others away.

17,307. For your own party?—For our own party to go in.

17,308. Were there not more of the other party who wanted to go in?—I think they prevented ours from going in.

17,309. Were there not roughs engaged on the Monson side?—Yes. In 1863 on the Wilkinson side.

17,310. Who were the roughs?—There were two or three came from Dorking.

17,311. Who came from Dorking, because brother officers always know one another. Who was the general in command on the other side?—I cannot say.

17,312. They did have roughs on the other side?—Yes.

17,313. Do you think your men were pushing away these roughs or the voters?—Well, the roughs, and probably there might be voters as well.

17,314. You voted for Gower on both occasions?—Yes.

17,315. Were you on Gower's committee in 1863?—I don't know. I was in 1865.

17,316. Now I dare say there is something else that you can tell us about these elections. You are an accurate man, let me hear your little history of this before I ask any other questions. I want to know your honest history of this election; what you saw about in the public houses?—Oh, I saw plenty of lush going on.

17,317. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was there plenty of treating?—Yes.

17,318. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that pretty well all over the town?—Yes, I think it was.

17,319. On which side was the treating going on?—Well, at Wilkinson's election I should not think there was much difference.

17,320. Were the houses pretty freely open?—Yes.

17,321. And at this election?—This election I do not know anything about hardly; my time was taken up; I never attended any meeting at this election.

17,322. There was not much difference between 1865 and 1863?—I do not think there was.

17,323. Had you ever attended any election before 1863?—No.

17,324. Do you know Frederick Joyes?—I know him pretty well.

17,325. When did you see him last?—This morning.

17,326. Did he call you into his shop?—No.

17,327. Did he speak to you?—I spoke to him; I said, "My turn is on to-day."

17,328. Did he remind you of two or three facts which you might disclose?—No.

17,329. Did you see him yesterday?—No.

17,330. Saturday?—Well, I could not say whether I did or not; most likely I did.

17,331. Have you not seen him pretty well every day during the last week?—No.

17,332. And talked pretty freely about this inquiry?—No.

17,333. Kept it a perfect secret?—I don't think we have passed 10 words about it; about this inquiry.

17,334. Well, I should like to know just those 10 words, because the whole secret may be said in 10 words.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He says not 10 words.

17,335. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then I should like to know the nine words?—I said, "I understand "that Joyes has been saying that you will say that "you had offered me 5*l.* at the 'Black Horse.'" Joyes said, "No, I did not." I said, "I can tell you "what you did say, and that was, you said I might "as well have 5*l.*" That was all that passed between us.

ELEVENTH DAY.

17,336. What did Joyes say to that; did he deny that he had offered you 5*l.*?—No, he did not deny it.

17,337. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You told him, "I can tell you what you did say"?—Yes, and he said that was it.

17,338. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Well, Johnson was pretty nearly right; he was not very far off?—No.

17,339. A pretty good shot?—But Joyes, I believe, went into the publican's and told it himself before the meeting.

17,340. There happened to be a meeting there?—A meeting of friends.

17,341. A meeting of Mr. Gower's friends.—Yes.

17,342. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He told them that he had offered 5*l.*?—At least, that was reported.

17,343. Is that all Joyes said to you?—Yes.

17,344. Well, now, have you not complained that Joyes has not come to any settlement with you about this 5*l.*?—No, not at all.

17,345. You feel a little aggrieved?—No, I do not; I never took any part in it.

17,346. You would take it if you could get it?—If a man was to come and say, "Here is 5*l.* for you," I should take it.

17,347. For voting?—No, I never did anything.

17,348. Well, suppose Frederick Joyes was to come to you and say, "I told you at the 'Black Horse' you "might as well have 5*l.*, and here it is"?—Well, then I should have taken it.

17,349. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I was particularly struck by an expression of yours which was very graphic. You said, "I don't want to hear any-"thing about it"?—So I did.

17,350. You would rather it was understood than talked about; that was what you meant?—Yes.

17,351. I believe Joyes is not your great friend; you have a greater friend connected with the election than Joyes?—I do not know that I have.

17,352. Yes, you do?—No, I do not.

17,353. Your friend Job Apted?—No.

17,354. Why, you were Job's right-hand man in 1863?—I was about with him a good deal.

17,355. Well, he employed you; you were master of the 17 men?—He employed me.

17,356. Did you receive any money at all from Mr. Apted in the last election?—This last election?

17,357. Yes?—No; and he never offered me any, and never promised me any.

17,358. I did not say "offered"?—I have not, and from no other man.

17,359. What do you mean by "no other man"?—I have not received from Apted or any man.

17,360. You understood that 5*l.* was going?—I had not been about.

17,361. You understood that that was the figure that was going?—I only understood what he said.

17,362. When he said, "You may as well have 5*l.* "as not," you knew what he meant?—I said, "My "vote is all right, and I want to hear nothing "about it."

17,363. What I want to know is, didn't you understand by that that 5*l.* was going among the voters?—No, I did not.

17,364. Did you think the 5*l.* was to be given specially to you?—I do not think I spoke to half a dozen voters before the election.

17,365. But I am asking you about that understanding that you might as well have 5*l.* as not; didn't you understand him to mean by that that 5*l.* was going?—No, I did not.

17,366. What did you understand?—I understood no farther than that. I wanted to hear nothing from him. I had promised my vote, and I did not want to be bothered.

17,367. What did you understand him to mean?—I did not understand that he had any meaning.

17,368. Why should you go to Joyes and tell him what he did say?—This, I dare say, was a week ago.

17,369. Don't you think he could recollect it as well as you?—I do not know.

17,370. I will tell you what I think when I hear of a witness going like that to another, and saying, "This is what I said, and I think that is what you "said." I look upon that as saying, "I will say that "you told me that, and you stick to it"?—There was nothing of that sort.

17,371. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did I understand you to say you never received any money after this election?—No, I have not.

17,372. You said that if Joyes had put the 5*l.* into your hand you think you should have taken it?—Yes.

17,373. Do you know at this time Joyes took you apart from the others, at the "Black Horse," round a corner, or something like that, and had this conversation with you?—Well, about as far from the door as it is from the corner of the room.

17,374. But he took you apart and had this conversation with you?—The conversation was very small, just what I have stated.

17,375. At that time Joyes knew you very well?—Yes.

17,376. And he knew you to be a man rather better off than your neighbours, a man rather well to do in the world?—No, I do not know that I am better off than any of my neighbours. There are many better off.

17,377. But better off than many we have had here. You paid a higher rent, and employed 17 men at the previous election. So I take it you were a man of better standing than most of your neighbours?—No, there are many living in their own houses there.

17,378. Joyes knew your standing?—Yes.

17,379. Well, if you would not make any agreement, wasn't it a very odd thing that Joyes should go back into the house and tell somebody that he met there directly afterwards, "Well, I was astonished "about David Pitt; I thought he would not be like "the others"?—What he said I do not know anything about.

17,380. Wouldn't you think it a very odd thing that he should go back into the house and say to a man he met there just afterwards, "Well, I have "spoken to David Pitt, and I must confess I was "astonished to find he was just like the others"?—I do not know what he thought. I did not give him to understand anything.

17,381. But, if he did say that, it sounds odd if you wanted to hear nothing about 5*l.*?—I had my houses to look to. I did not want to bother about him.

17,382. It was an odd thing he should go back after he had been round the corner with you, and say, "I have been talking to Pitt, and I was asto-"nished to find that he was just like the others;" and he had been offering you 5*l.*?—No.

17,383. I do not mean offering you 5*l.* down, but talking to you about 5*l.* Don't you think it was an odd thing he should remark that as soon as he went back?—Well, I cannot say anything about it; I never went into the house.

17,384. And he went on to say more: "I thought "Pitt was a man above that sort of thing." A man said to him, "How was that?" He said, "Well, I "thought Pitt was above that sort of thing." Now, it was a very odd thing he should say that. I have been told that he did say that as soon as he got into the house?—Well, I do not know what he said.

17,385. We have heard that he did say something. Now, bearing that in mind, and taking from me that that is what Joyes did say when he went back into the house about you, do you still maintain that you would not have anything to say to him about the 5*l.*? —I do.

17,386. Who took you to the poll?—No one. I walked up.

17,387. Perhaps your roughs took you?—No.

17,388. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who went with you and saw that you did poll?—I cannot say. I walked into the hall myself.

17,389. But who said, "Now, then, come along "Pitt"?—No one.

17,390. Do not tie me to words, but something like that. Who went with you?—I cannot remember that any one said that or anything like it. I walked up from my own house to the poll, and walked in.

17,391. Did anybody remind you that it was time to go?—No.

17,392. What time of the day did you go?—I think, as near as I can say, between 9 and 10.

17,393. You did not want to hear about the 5*l.*, but if the 5*l.* had been offered to you you would not have turned a deaf ear to that?—Yes, I should undoubtedly.

HENRY PARSONS called, sworn, and examined.

H. Parsons.

17,394. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A carpenter.

17,395. And what rent do you pay for your house?—It was freehold.

17,396. Then it is your own?—Yes.

17,397. What is the value of it a year?—I am rated at 13*l.* a year.

17,398. It would be about 17*l.* a year?—Somewhere thereabouts.

17,399. I believe you voted for Mr. Gower at the last election?—I did.

17,400. And you were on his committee?—Yes.

17,401. A leading man on his committee. Did you vote for him in 1863?—No.

17,402. You voted for Wilkinson then?—Yes.

17,403. Who put you on his committee in 1865?—I believe Mr. Apted and Mr. Buckland came down to my workshop and asked me to be on his committee.

17,404. And told you, of course, you would be paid for it?—He did no such thing.

17,405. I beg your pardon then, I am very sorry that I suggested anything of that kind to you; they did not tell you you would be paid for it, and I suppose you were not paid for it?—No.

17,406. Did you receive any money at all?—I received 30*s.* for work done for the election.

17,407. Do not be so indignant; I am sorry if I hurt your feelings. You received 30*s.*; from whom?—Mr. Penfold.

17,408. When?—I do not remember the time.

17,409. After the election?—After the election; it may have been three months, or it may have been more.

17,410. It was not for anything you did between the election and the time you were paid?—It was for work done before the election.

17,411. What was the work you did?—I made the committee boards. I made the boards to put the committee list upon.

17,412. Two boards?—They were nearly 12 feet long each; they were longer than those they used.

17,413. They didn't use your boards?—I am told one was outside the hall door.

17,414. They didn't use your boards?—They fetched them away; I believe they used one of them, if not the other.

17,415. Did they order many?—They ordered two.

17,416. To whom did you send your bill?—I didn't make out a bill.

17,417. If I were to come and I was to give you an order for any boards you would make out a bill for me?—Perhaps in time I should.

17,418. Why didn't you make out a bill for it?—I should have done if they had not paid me.

17,419. What else did you receive?—I did some more work. 30*s.* besides that.

17,420. What money?—30*s.*

17,421. Not more?—No; I received one 30*s.* after the election.

17,422. Yes, and what did you receive before?—Nothing whatever.

17,423. Nor during the election?—No.

17,424. Didn't you have any loss of time?—Yes.

17,425. And you were to be paid for the loss of time?—No, I was not paid, and I never expected to to be paid.

17,426. Did you not receive anything from Mr. Apted?—Nothing at all.

47,427. Only one 30*s.* for the boards?—Yes.

17,428. What other work did you do?—I found candles for all the meetings held at Mead-vale in the school-room there, and they had all the candles out of my shop.

17,429. You keep a shop?—Yes.

17,430. They purchased candles; you do not know what kind?—I do not attend to the shop myself; I do not know whether my wife kept account.

17,431. You have bulked it all in 30*s.*?—I never made any charge.

17,432. Who paid you?—Mr. Penfold.

17,433. What were you to do?—He came to where I was at work, and said, "I have got some money for "you; it is 30*s.*; are you satisfied"? I said, "I am "quite satisfied." Had he waited I should have made out a bill most certainly; had he not paid it I should have made out a bill and sent it to some one.

17,434. Now, in the election of 1863 you voted for Wilkinson?—Yes.

17,435. Were you on his committee?—I do not think I was.

17436. Did you supply anything for that election? Nothing whatever.

17,437. And you were paid nothing?—No, I was not.

17,438. Just recollect?—Oh, I am sure I was not.

17,439. Just recollect?—I am sure I was not paid.

17,440. I mean after the election, and for loss of time?—I lost time, but I never did expect anything for it; I expected nothing for it.

17,441. Most men do expect?—I did not.

17,442. Do you know Mr. Mazden?—I do.

17,443. Did he canvass you?—Yes.

17,444. You knew, I suppose, that most of the committee men were paid, or to be paid?—This last time?

17,445. Yes?—I only know very little about it.

17,446. Do you know most of them were to be paid?—No.

17,447. You know now they were to be paid?—I have heard it since I have been here, but I did not know anything about it before.

17,448. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) They did not let you into the secret, then?—No, I attended two or three meetings, but I never heard any secrets; they were public meetings where I was; anybody might go to them.

17,449. If you said you had no bill, and kept no account, and expected 30*s.*, and were satisfied with that, was it more or less than that you think you earned for making these boards and supplying these candles?—I think it would come to somewhere about this money; it was a room as large as this, and it was lighted.

17,450. Did they have several meetings?—I don't know how many meetings they had.

17,451. It is not the usual way of carrying on your business, is it, to supply a quantity of candles and things without making an account of them?—I do not interfere with the shop; my wife looks after that. I came home from work wet through, and I looked out and saw a meeting over the way.

17,452. Your wife attended to the shop? has not she told you the number of candles that were used?—No.

ELEVENTH DAY.

H. Parsons.

3 Sept. 1866.

17,453. Did you give the 30*s.* to her?—Yes, I gave some of it.

17,454. Didn't she say, "Well, now, this is not so "much as the quantity of candles they had"?—It was not for candles; I made boards besides.

17,455. Did she say it was not enough?—No, she said no such thing.

17,456. Was she satisfied?—Yes.

17,457. Did she ever tell you that she had not entered the supply of candles in a book?—I never asked particulars about it. The money came unexpected; I was not expecting it at the time.

17,458. You expected something, because if you had not got the 30*s.* you would have sent in an account some time or other?—I certainly should.

17,459. To whom?—I do not know whether to Mr. Smith or whom; I should have inquired about that.

17,460. Should you have sent your account in as a lump sum?—I didn't do it.

17,461. How should you have made out the particulars of the items, because they might have disputed your account?—I have not made out any election bills, or I know I should have put down the boards, and lighting the school-room with candles, and so on.

17,462. Perhaps you would have put down boards and candles 5*l.*?—I don't think I should have done anything of the sort.

17,463. Should you have hit upon 30*s.*?—Very likely I might.

17,464. You might have hit upon 5*l.*?—I am sure I should not have done so.

17,465. I suppose you would not have hit upon 5*l.*, because of what there was upon your books to have shown it was not 5*l.*?—I didn't do so.

17,466. But what was there on your book to show that it would come up to 30*s.*?—I made two boards very nearly 12 feet long each.

17,467. What was the value of the board?—I didn't make out a bill; I will do so now if you like, as you mention it.

17,468. What was the value of the bill you made out?—Very likely 15*s.*

14,469. Did they burn 15*s.* worth of candles?—They had several pounds of candles.

17,470. Were they kitchen dips?—No, mould.

17,471. 7*d.* a pound?—I do not know the price.

17,472. It was in July?—But the meetings did not commence till it was getting on for dark, and they had a fresh lot of candles at every meeting; they did not burn them twice.

17,473. Did you supply half a dozen meetings?—Not public.

17,474. Or private either?—They had meetings every night burning candles.

17,475. You didn't put candles all round the room?—No.

17,476. There were four candles I suppose on the table?—I was not there except opening and closing; they had new candles out of my shop.

17,477. You look upon the attendance at that meeting as part of the 30*s.*?—Yes; I should not have gone there if they had not wanted to open the school-room that night, but I got wet through.

17,478. You are inclined to put that down as part of the 30*s.*?—I opened the school-room, and lighted it and closed it; I consider I ought to be paid for that, but not for going to the meeting.

17,479. You consider that you ought to be paid for attendance at the meeting?—No, I do not consider I ought to have been paid for that at all, but they had candles and candlesticks from me; I consider the candlesticks and candles quite enough value for the money.

17,480. How did Penfold know that your account would come to 30*s.*?—He knew what was done.

17,481. Did he pay you or your wife?—He paid me myself.

J. Phillips.

JOHN PHILLIPS sworn and examined.

17,482. (The Chief Commissioner.) You live in the Holmesdale-road?—Yes.

17,483. What are you, a coach-builder?—A coachman.

17,484. Do you pay rent for a house?—I do.

17,485. How much?—6*s.*

17,486. Were you a coachman at the election in 1865?—Yes.

17,487. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

17,488. What did you do besides vote for him, for you are a coachman?—I was on his committees.

17,489. What else did you do; just tell me what you did; I want it shortly?—I attended the meetings.

17,490. Speak out, if you please. All right, what else?—And anything they wanted me to do.

17,491. What did you do; I have no doubt you were ready to do anything you were wanted, but what did you do? Perhaps you do not remember anything else besides attending the meetings?—No.

17,492. They did not want your services as a coachman?—No.

17,493. Did they employ you as a coachman to bring up any of the voters on the polling day?—No, I went with them with the carriage.

14,494. You were not employed as a coachman?—No.

14,495. You did not keep horses of your own?—No.

17,496. Who employed you to work on the committee?—Mr. Rose.

17,497. Do you know his Christian name?—No, I do not.

17,498. Was it Alexander?—I believe it was.

14,499. What did he say to you; what were the terms on which he employed you; did he mention it to you or did he keep it quiet?—He said, "I hear you "are going to vote for Mr. Gower; you may as well "go on the committee;" that was all that passed.

17,500. Why did he say it was as well that you should go on the committee?—I do not know why he said it.

17,501. Why should it be better? Was it better for you or Mr. Gower?—I do not know.

17,502. What do you think; or perhaps it was better for both. Generally when a man talks to you you pretty well understand his meaning, or else you do not, and if you do not you ask him to explain?—I thought the meaning of it was, that he thought it would be safer if I went on the committee, and that I should not then go away from them.

17,503. What would make it safer?—I do not know, only being on the committee.

17,504. You were promised some money, I believe?—I was not promised any money. I heard Mr. Gower say in the hall that everything that was done for him should be paid for; he wished all to be satisfied.

17,505. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you on his committee then?—Yes.

17,506. (The Chief Commissioner.) At that time?—Yes.

17,507. What did you think of that speech?—I do dot know.

17,508. What effect did it have upon you, did it raise any expectations at all?—I do not know that it did. I never was in any election before.

17,509. Hearing that speech, and knowing you were on Mr. Gower's committee, did not you say to yourself, then there will be something for me?—I thought so.

17,510. From hearing that?—Yes.

17,511. And what did you think would be coming to you?—I did not know.

17,512. No, nothing was mentioned; but how much did you expect would be coming to you?—I did not know that anything was to be coming to me; but I heard what he said.

17,513. But some other persons made you a kind of promise, did they not, and mentioned a sum ?—No.

17,514. Do you know Job Apted ?—Yes.

17,515. Did you have any conversation with him ?—I may have talked to him.

17,516. Tell us the substance of the conversation very shortly ; what did he say to you ?—I do not know. I often see him and talk to him.

17,517. Before the election do you remember his saying something about your services and loss of time ?—I asked him what Mr. Gower meant by what he said, and he said we should be satisfied for what we had done. That was all that passed.

17,518. Did you tell him at that time or any time what you considered you had done ?—No.

17,519. Did he tell you what he considered was the value of what you had done ?—No.

17,520. Do you know Batchelor ?—Yes.

17,521. He has been here before you ?—Yes.

17,522. Did you not tell Batchelor something very different to what you have told us ?—No.

17,523. Are you sure of that ?—Yes.

17,524. Was not a sum of 2*l.* mentioned ?—No.

17,525. Was not anything said about what you were to be paid for the polling day or nomination day ?—No.

17,526. Let me ask you this, had you been canvassed by Mr. Monson's party ?—No.

17,527. Not at all ?—No.

17,528. How was that ?—I do not know,

17,529. They must have known you ?—They knew me.

17,530. How do you know they knew you ?—They called at my house once or twice, but I was not at home, and they left word that they would call again.

17,531. Are you married ?—Yes.

17,532. Who did your wife tell you had called ?—She did not know ; she said two men had called, but she did not know their names.

17,533. Did you see any of Mr. Monson's party ?—Yes, I saw them.

17,534. I mean did you see them to speak to ?—I do not know that I saw them to speak to.

17,535. Did you see Ephraim Rose or Mr. Monson or any of those gentlemen who have been talked about so much lately ? Who did you see to have any conversation with about the election ?—I never saw any of them to have any conversation about the election.

17,536. It is very odd ; but was any talk about the election entered into, about what was going on on the Monson side ?—No.

17,537. When you say you are a coachman, you are a coachman for other people ; you have not got a horse or carriage of your own ?—No.

17,538. Did they tell you as to whether it was dry work driving, or anything like that ?—No.

17,539. Are you sure ?—Yes.

17,540. After the election what money did you really get ?—30*s.*

17,541. How was it that you did not get more ?—I do not know, I was very well satisfied with it.

17,542. Who did you get it from ?—Mr. Rose.

17,543. Did you go to Mr. Rose's house ?—Yes

17,544. Did you see a good many other people there at that time ?—I never saw any one only the one who was with me.

17,545. Who was the man who was with you ?—Mr. Ede.

17,546. What was his Christian name ?—James Ede.

17,547. Did he got 30*s.* at this time too ?—No.

17,548. What did he get ?—He never got anything.

17,549. How do you know that ?—He did not have it in my presence.

17,550. Did he do the same sort of work that you did ?—I believe so ; I saw him at the meetings every evening.

17,551. Do you mean to say that Mr. Rose did not tell you that your pay would probably amount to 5*l.* ?—No.

17,552. It seems very odd, but Ede says that he told him so ?—Ede might have been a canvasser ; I believe he was.

17,553. Were not you ?—No.

17,554. But you were on the committee you know ?—Yes.

17,555, Are you sure you got nothing but the 30*s.* ?—That was all.

17,556. Were you expecting any more ?—No.

17,557. Was this your first election ?—Yes.

17,558. Did you never see Mr. Buckland about it ?—No.

17,559. Nor he you ?—No.

WILLIAM POOLEY sworn and examined.

W. Pooley.

17,560. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a voter for this borough ?—Yes.

17,561. What are you ?—A gardener.

17,562. What rent do you pay ?—I paid 19*l.* 10*s.* a year at that time.

17,563. Have you parted with your house ?—Yes, and pay 16*l.* now.

17,564. You voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

17,565. Were you on his committee ?—Yes.

17,566. How long before the election were you on his committee ?—The first week I went on his committee.

17,567. Then you were working a considerable time for him ?—All the time.

17,568. Did you work hard ?—Not particularly.

17,569. Pretty well ?—I worked with the committee from the first.

17,570. What were you to receive ; was anything said ?—They said I should have from 3*l.* to 5*l.* for the election.

17,571. Who said that ?—Peter Pelham.

17,572. Did he tell you that in company with others ; were others there when he told you that ?—No, we were quite alone.

17,573. That was before you went on the committee ?—Yes.

17,574. Then of course your name was put on the committee ?—No ; he said he would speak to Mr. Durrant ; and that he would put my name on the list.

17,575. It would require interest to put your name on the committee, and he would speak to Mr. Durrant and he would put your name on the committee ?—Yes.

17,576. And you voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

17,577. Was that the first time you had a vote ?—Yes, the first time I could use it.

17,578. You had not voted before ?—No.

17,579. You were promised from 3*l.* to 5*l.*, what did they give you ?—1*l.* 5*s.*

17,580. (The Chief Commissioner.) Not more than that ?—Not more.

17,581. Before or after ?—Before or after.

17,582. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I hope they did not make two divisions of it ?—They did ; 5*s.* before, at least not before, but on the Saturday, I was paid 5*s.*

17,583. Before the polling day ?—No, after.

17,584. They paid you, a respectable man, 5*s.* after six weeks' labour ?—That was all.

17,585. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you the 5*s.* ?—Mr. Legg, for one night's watching.

17,586. Were you one of the night watchers ?—Yes, for one night.

17,587. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was for night work ?—Yes.

17,588. You did not agree as a member of the committee to do any night work ?—At one of the meetings I was chosen.

17,589. (The Chief Commissioner.) You made a mistake, I think it was 5*s.* 6*d.* that you were paid ; we have heard of 5*s.* 6*d.* ?—No, I think it was 5*s.*

ELEVENTH DAY.

W. Pooley.

3 Sept. 1866.

17,590. (Mr. Comissioner O'Brien.) You were up all night for that ?—Not all night, but a part of the night.

17,591. When did they pay you the 1*l.* ?—The latter end of August or the beginning of September.

17,592. Who paid you ?—Mr. Buckland.

17,593. Did you apply for the money ?—I asked Mr. Durrant whether there was likely to be a settlement before long, and he said he thought there would be a settlement before long, but I had better come and see Mr. Buckland.

17,594. You thought at that time you would have the 5*l.* ?—I expected I should have it; but I did not know whether I should have it before or after the election.

17,595. But you expected to have 5*l.* ?—Yes, I did.

17,596. Did you not tell him "Why, Mr. Buckland "this will not do; I expect to have 5*l.*" ?—I did not say anything of the sort.

17,597. What did you say to him ?—I did not say anything. He said to me, that is all that I can do for you at present, but that there would be some more before long; he hoped there would be more money.

17,598. Have you applied since ?—No, not to any one.

17,599. How was that ?—I heard that others did not get any more, and I thought it would be no use for me to apply. I thought that if there was any money they would pay me the same as the rest when the paying day came.

17,600. Did you consider you were cheated out of the balance ?—I do not know about being cheated; I expected the money when the day came.

17,601. You were disappointed in your expectation ?—Yes, I was disappointed, I expected to have it.

17,602. Of course it was understood you were to vote for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

17,603. (The Chief Commissioner.) Perhaps you expect to get something still ?—I do not know. Of course if a settling day comes, I shall share with the others.

17,604. Are you expecting that you stand a chance of it still ?—I cannot tell, of course, about that.

17,605. Tell me, if you please, whether you are expecting anything ?—I do not know what I expect; it is no use to expect.

17,606. Understand me, have you marked it off as a bad debt altogether ?—I do not expect any more.

17,607. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Not even after this inquiry ?—Not on this election.

17,608. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is there any information you can give us in your own way about the last election ?—No, nothing at all. I attended most of the meetings, in fact I believe all the meetings in this hall, but only these meetings.

17,609. There is nothing you can tell us ?—There was one meeting at the railway, one that I attended, that was all.

17,610. What about that; can you tell us anything about that ?—No; only that I was there, and a few more voters was there at the same time.

17,611. This last time was any offer made by Mr. Monson's party ?—Yes.

17,612. Who made the offer ?—I was offered money by two parties; but one party was quite a stranger to me, he came up in the garden.

17,613. You now know his name ?—No, I do not.

17,614. He walked into the garden to you; how long was that before the election ?—About eight or nine days as near as I can tell.

17,615. Go on ?—He said he wanted a little talk along with me, and I told him he was a stranger to me and I did not know him. He said he was employed by Mr. Monson, and he was going round canvassing for Mr. Monson. I said I had promised my vote for Mr. Gower, and I would not go from my word, for my word is my bond. He said, "Cannot we "go into the house and have a little talk." I said, "Yes," and I went into my tool shed with him out of the garden.

17,616. Into the tool shed ?—Yes. He had come round for Mr. Monson, and I had given my word for Mr. Gower. I said I would not forfeit my word; for my word was my bond. He took five sovereigns out of his pocket and laid them on the bench, and asked whether I would come up. I said, "No." He asked me whether it was not enough. I said I would not take anything. I told him no, that my word was my bond. He wanted me to go down to the "Grapes" that night. I said I would not come. He said if I altered my mind I could have 5*l.* at the "Grapes" at any time; and I told him I would not take it. He said I could go there any time and have the 5*l.* if I altered my mind.

17,617. You did not know the man ?—No, I did not. I saw him twice afterwards; I saw him on the nomination day in the hall, and I saw him at the railway station.

17,618. Have you seen him here since we have been here ?—No.

17,619. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where did you see him in the hall ?—In the middle of the hall. He had a crowd around. He happened to turn round, and I saw his face; I should know him again if I saw him.

17,620. What sort of a person was he ?—A fair complexion and of middle stature.

17,621. Was he on the hustings ?—No.

17,622. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who was the other person who offered you anything on behalf of the Monson party ?—Mr. Chiswick.

17,623. Where did he come to you ?—In my garden; he was a fellow-servant.

17,624. Where are you gardener ?—At Mr. Young's.

17,625. Chiswick, he ought to be a gardener. Tell us in your own way, and shortly, for I do not wish to ask you any more questions, what did the other party say ? Was this about the same time ?—In the early part of the election; quite early.

17,626. He came into the garden; go on ?—He said I could have 2*l.* if I would vote for Mr. Monson.

17,627. Is Chiswick a voter ?—Yes, I believe he is.

17,628. What passed ?—I did not make any answer to that. He said I had better come over and vote for Mr. Monson. Of course I did not make any answer to that at all.

17,629. Do you know whether he was a committee man ?—I do not know at all.

17,630. Did he say where the money would come from ?—No; and he said I could have 2*l.*

17,631. Did he put it down on the grass ?—No.

17,632. Nor on the bench ?—No.

17,633. He did not show the 2*l.* ?—No, he did not; he said I could have it, but he did not say where it would come from or anything of the kind.

17,634. Then you did not take any notice of that ?—I did not take any notice.

17,635. Was the 2*l.* very small, did you think; go on ?—I said I had given my word for Mr. Gower, and my word is my bond.

17,636. Was that your reason ?—If there had been 100*l.* put down I would not have taken it after I had once given my word.

17,637. You saw a stranger. I want to know whether you knew him in the "Grapes;" I want to know whether he was out of the enemy's camp really, or one of your own friends trying you ?—I did not see him in the "Grapes."

17,638. I want to know, after you saw him in the garden, where you saw him afterwards ?—I saw him in the middle of the hall and at the railway station.

17,639. What I want to know is, whether he really belonged to the Monson party or when he came to you he merely appeared to be on the Monson side ?—On nomination day he was on the Monson side.

17,640. Where did you see him on the nomination day ?—In the middle of the hall.

17,641. Who was he in company with ?—He was in the crowd.

ELEVENTH DAY.

W. Pooley.

3 Sept. 1866.

17,642. He was not on the hustings?—No, he happened to turn round, or else I should not have seen him. I was on one side and he was on the Monson side; the hall was parted.

17,643. Did you see him take a part in what was going on, or was he he merely looking on?—Merely looking on the same as the others.

17,644. Did you see him send anybody up to the poll?—No, I did not see him on the polling day.

17,645. From all you know of him is it your impression that he was a real Monsonite, or that he was sent round by some of the Gower party to see whether you were shaky or not?—No, there was no reason to think I was shaky.

17,646. Then you really believe he was on Mr. Monson's side?—I do.

17,647. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you a vote in 1863?—No, I was in the post office, the sub-post office.

WILLIAM PORT sworn and examined.

W. Port.

17,648. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A gardener.

17,649. Where do you live?—I live in Park-lane now, but I lived on the freehold then, the south part.

17,650. At the time of the election?—Yes.

17,651. What is the rent of your house?—11*l.* 14*s.* a year.

17,652. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

17,653. Who for?—Mr. Gower.

17,654. When did you first give your promise to vote for Mr. Gower?—I cannot say exactly when, but about a month before the time; just after the Epsom races.

17,655. You date it from the Epsom races?—It was just after.

17,656. You take an interest in the matter you date it from?—Yes.

17,657. Who canvassed you first?—No one ever canvassed me first. I saw Mr. Gower one day, and he said, "I suppose it is all right;" I said, "Yes, "I will come the same way as I did before."

17,658. Just after the Derby?—Just about a week.

17,659. Perhaps you can tell me when it was?—On a Wednesday, I believe.

17,660. That is the Derby day; but I suppose it was somewhere at the end of May, and the election was in July; it would be about six weeks before the election?—Yes.

17,661. Did you work on the committee?—Yes.

17,662. Did Mr. Gower ask you to be put on the committee?—He asked me whether I would have any objection to have my name put on the committee.

17,663. Some one else asked you to go on the committee?—Yes.

17,664. Who did?—Mr. Durrant.

17,665. I suppose you are going to tell me all about it, that is right, had you any conversation with him?—Very little. He said "I suppose you will go the "same side again." I said, "Yes." He said, "If "you do, and go on the committee, do what you can "and there will be a trifle for you."

17,666. What was that trifle?—He did not tell me then; but after the election I found it was 4*l.*; but I only got 2*l.*

17,667. In cash?—No, not in cash.

17,668. Did Mr. Durrant tell you it would be 4*l.* after the election?—Yes.

17,669. How did you have that 2*l.*?—I am living where I cannot get my supper beer, so I am in the habit of having a cask of beer at the time.

17,670. Who sends you the beer?—I ordered it from Mr. Durrant. I had been in the habit of dealing with him before, and I have always been in the habit of paying for it as I had it.

17,671. He supplied you with beer?—Yes. I suppose he forgot to make out my account till I asked him for it; then he put it down and told me how much it was, and that it was the offset, and that we were square.

17,672. You had the 2*l.* worth of beer?—Yes.

17,673. And Mr. Durrant said you were square?—Yes.

17,674. Was that for the election expenses?—Yes.

17,675. Did you attend the "Barley Mow"?—Once.

17,676. It was more than that?—I think not.

17,677. When was it you went there?—I cannot tell exactly.

17,678. Before the election?—Yes.

17,679. (The Chief Commissioner.) You are to tell us all about it?—Oh, yes; I will tell you the truth as far as I know.

17,680. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Give me a little description of what took place in the "Barley Mow"?—There was plenty of beer.

17,681. You had your share?—Yes, I had mine.

17,682. You paid for it, of course?—No, I did not; because I was not asked to pay for it.

17,683. Was that the evening Durrant was there?—I am not sure.

17,684. He was there?—I cannot say.

17,685. Did he ask you to go?—No, not me.

17,686. Who was there?—I cannot say; I never took any notice about the election more than having a bit of nonsense.

17,687. What you call nonsense is attending the meetings?—There was no harm in attending the meetings and having a bit of nonsense.

17,688. When you attended the meetings that was the nonsense part of the election?—Yes.

17,689. Some of you called it work, you called it nonsense?—It must be nonsense.

17,690. A great nonsense to call it work, I suppose?—I should think so.

17,691. You voted in 1863?—Yes.

17,692. And for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

17,693. Was Mr. Durrant on the committee?—Yes.

17,694. Were you on his committee on that occasion?—Yes.

17,695. And did you do a little of the nonsense part of the election?—Yes.

17,696. Were you paid for the nonsense?—Yes; I received 5*s.*

17,697. Not more?—That was all.

17,698. What did you do for the 5*s.*?—I was about all one night, on the nomination night.

17,699. Out watching?—Yes.

17,700. Who paid you that?—Mr. Durrant.

17,701. Did you get any casks of beer that time?—No; I was near a public house where I could get my supper beer.

17,702. Was that a free house?—No.

17,703. Did you attend any of these nonsense meetings in 1863?—Yes; more than I did this last time.

17,704. Were they pretty free with the beer in 1863?—Well, I do not know; perhaps middling, sometimes.

17,705. There was a good deal going on?—I cannot answer for much; I was not out late, only till between 9 and 10 o'clock. They were pretty fair with their supply, the only one I went to.

17,706. Which election would you say was the greatest one for drinking?—I do not know.

17,707. 1863 or 1865?—I cannot say; I cannot judge.

17,708. Were they much alike?—Well, I cannot say.

17,709. Was it only 5*s.* you got?—That was all.

17,710. For the one night?—That is all.

17,711. Were you canvassed by the Monson party in 1865?—Mr. Monson came and asked me if I had promised my vote, and I told him I had. "Very "well," he said, "That is all I wanted to know."

17,712. He did not call upon you any more ?—No.

17,713. Were you ever at the "Grapes" ?—Yes.

17,714. Just before the election ?—Yes, very likely I was.

17,715. Most likely ?—Yes.

17,716. Had you any talk in the back parlour at the "Grapes" ?—No.

17,717. With Mr. Nichols ?—No.

17,718. Do you know Rodney ?—Yes.

17,719. Were you in his parlour ?—I do not suppose I was at the election time.

17,720. Just before ?—No.

17,721. After Derby day ?—No.

17,722. Were you in the house ?—No.

17,723. Were you with Mr. Nichols in Derby week ?—No.

17,724. It is rather a sporting house ?—I am no sportsman myself.

17,725. Excepting for races ?—I have not been to see a race for a long time.

17,726. Now can you tell us about the election time at Rodney's house ?—I can tell you nothing at all.

17,727. It is a very lively house over elections ?—I do not know.

17,728. He never offered you anything ?—No, nothing at all.

17,729. Never tempted you ?—No, never.

17,730. Not by hints ?—No ; I was never tempted by any one.

17,731. Not in Mr. Holdsworth's back parlour ?—I have never been in Mr. Holdsworth's back parlour.

17,732. Did he ever give you any money without his saying what it was for ?—No.

17,733. We know he did put half a sovereign in a man's hand ?—He has not put half a sovereign in my hand ; if he had I should have stuck to it.

17,734. And still voted for Mr. Gower ?—Certainly; I would not turn my colors.

17,735. When you were out watching where were you watching ?—On the freehold.

17,736. Were you out watching there last election, 1865 ?—No.

17,737. Were you at Groom's ?—No.

17,738. Never there ?—I have been there, but not on election occasions.

17,739. Were you there the night before the election? —No.

17,740. In 1863 you were canvassed by the Wilkinson party ?—Frederick Joyes and Mr. Wilkinson I met in the town, and they asked me for my vote ; I said I had promised Mr. Gower.

17,741. Was any temptation held out ?—No.

17,742. Not during the election ?—No attempt whatever.

17,743. Not a single thing ?—Not a single thing.

17,744. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1863 you received 5s. ?—Yes.

17,745. You then kept a public house ?—No.

17,746. I thought you said you last kept a public house, and got your supper beer ?—No.

J. Puplett.

JAMES PUPLETT sworn and examined.

17,747. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Are you a voter ?—Yes.

17,748. What are you ?—A labourer.

17,749. Do you mean that you work in the fields ? —No, I am a bricklayer's labourer.

17,750. What rent do you pay for your house ?—13*l.* a year ; 5s. a week, I suppose that is 13*l.* a year.

17,751. Yes, you are quite right ; do you pay by the week ? Is that usual ?—Yes.

17,752. It is not a yearly hiring ?—I pay by the week ; I might pay by the month, only I told them I would pay by the week.

17,753. For whom did you vote at the last election ? —Mr. Gower.

17,754. Was that the first time you voted ?—Yes.

17,755. You were on his committee ?—Yes.

17,756. Who put you on the committee ?—Mr. Gower asked me.

17,757. Who put you on ?—Mr. Chitty asked me if I was going to vote for the side of Mr. Gower.

17,758. You know the Chitty who put you on the committee ?—Yes.

17,759. What was his Christian name ?—Tom Chitty.

17,760. How long before the polling day was that? —Seven weeks or six weeks.

17,761. You were to be paid for it ?—He said I should be paid the same as the rest.

17,762. I suppose you asked him what you were to have ?—No.

17,763. Well, something of the kind ; how much did you expect you would have ?—I cannot say as to that.

17,764. He told you the same as the rest ; you asked him how much ?—He said I should be paid the same as the rest.

17,765. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who said that? —Thomas Chitty.

17,766. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You knew about how much ?—I never made any arrangement at all,

17,767. But you were to be paid like the others. When first did you receive any money ?—Two months after the election.

17,768. Did you not receive anything during the election ?—Not a farthing.

17,769. That was a bad thing, when you were so hard at work for them ?—I was on the committee, just the same as the rest.

17,770. How much did you receive after ?—2*l.*

17,771. From whom ?—I asked Chitty about two months after the election whether there was anything for me ; he said, "You had better ask Mr. Durrant "about that." I asked Mr. Durrant, and about seven or eight days after he brought me 2*l.*

17,772. Mr. Durrant the brewer ?—Yes.

17,773. You did not take it out in beer ?—No, I did not take it out in beer.

17,774. He brought you the 2*l.* ?—Yes.

17,775. To your own house ?—Yes.

17,776. What did you say to him ?—I went to him, and he brought me the 2*l.* ; he said, "There is 2*l.* for "you." That was all he said ; he never mentioned anything more.

17,777. You expected more after ?—I was to be paid like the rest of them ; a good many of them expected more than 2*l.*

17,778. You did ?—I did.

17,779. You expected 5*l.* ?—I did not know about 5*l.*

17,780. Yes, you did, indeed ?—I should have liked to have had it ; only I do not know about expecting it.

17,781. You would not think it is too high ?—I should not think it is.

17,782. You heard that 5*l.* were going ?—I did not know anything about it.

17,783. What I want to know is this, did it never occur to you that you might have been awarded 5*l.*, though you only got 2*l.* ? Did you find out how much Chitty had ?—No.

17,784. Did you not find out how much your neighbours had ?—No, I never did ; I never heard what they had.

17,785. It was kept rather secret ?—It seems like it.

17,786. You told me you were for Mr. Gower ;

did Mr. Monson's party at all come near you ?—They did.

17,787. I thought you were an independent voter ?—Yes, they did the Monday night before the election; I was very ill.

17,788. We are all sorry for that; you were ill, and they came to you ?—Yes, at a little past 12 o'clock.

17,789. And disturbed you in your rest ?—Yes, they did; I was obliged to come down; they kept rattling and knocking at the door, and my wife bothered me to come down.

17,790. Who knocked you up ?—Holdsworth.

17,791. Who ?—Mr. Holdsworth; Rodney.

17,792. What did he come to you for ?—Mr. Gray came in first. I was a long time, but at last I slipt on my trowsers and came downstairs. Mr. Gray came in; he said, "Puplett, you had better go our side." I thought it was Mr. Gower's he had been on, and I said, "Oh, I will not turn, I will stick to Mr. Gower, "as I told him I would." Then in came Mr. Holdsworth and sat down on my boy's bed. My boy slept in the bed-room. It made them stare to see me so bad, so he said, "On which side are you going on" ? I said, "Mr. Gower's; I promised it to him, and I will "stick to him." Well, he hummed and ha'ad there a little; finally, when he was going out of the door, he said, "Will you take 7*l.*?"

17,793. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who said that? —Mr. Holdsworth. I never saw the money in his hand.

17,794. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That might have been too much for you ?—I wish I had taken it.

17,795. You had not seen it ?—No, but those were the words he used to me, "Would I have 7*l.*"? I wish I had taken it, it would have done me a great deal of good. I said, "No, I will not; I will stick to Mr. "Gower, because I promised him I would." I was going to vote on the Wednesday, and this was the Monday. I had a stoppage when I was so bad; I began to get a little better on the Tuesday; the polling was on the Wednesday; I began to get better, and I voted for Mr. Gower on the Wednesday.

17,796. You regretted afterwards having voted for Mr. Gower ?—I promised him; I did not like to say I would not. I did not take the 7*l.*

17,797. You regretted not having taken the 7*l.*? How long did Mr. Holdsworth remain with you ?—It might have been ten minutes or a quarter of an hour, but I was glad when he was gone.

17,798. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was Mr. Gray there all the time ?—Yes.

17,799. It was between 12 and 1 o'clock ?—I should think so; I do not know exactly.

17,800. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did not tell your wife ?—Yes; she slept there.

17,801. She heard it ?—Yes, and so did my son; he lied down in the same room; he heard it all.

17,802. Your wife heard it too ?—Yes.

17,803. Did she not advise you to take the 7*l.* or a larger sum ?—I did not take it.

17,804. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What is your wife's Christian name ?—Sarah.

17,805. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did she not tell you that you ought to take it ?—No.

17,806. You were then under the expectation of getting as much from the other side ?—I do not know; I had promised it.

17,807. You did not think that they would leave you in the lurch with 2*l.*?—I do not know about that; I did not think much about the money at that time, so bad as I was.

17,808. (The Chief Commissioner.) After that you got the 2*l.* from Mr. Durrant ?—Yes, about two months after the election.

17,809. After you had been offered the 7*l.* did not you go to some of Mr. Gower's people and tell them they were not bidding very high, as here you had been offered 7*l.* ?—No; I told the chaps next day.

17,810. Who did you tell ?—I think I told Mr. Durrant of it.

17,811. That is what I meant; you think you told Mr, Durrant next morning ?—Yes, I told him; there were several of them I told.

17,812. When you told Mr. Durrant what did he say ?—He did not say anything that I know of. I believe they called up two or three of them about the freehold that night.

17,813. Where were the watchers ?—That was Monday night; I do not think they were there till Tuesday.

17,814. They were not out till Tuesday night ?—No.

17,815. I think they were, because we have heard of two nights' watching already; perhaps it is right, they were paid two nights for only one night's watching. What did you say ?—I said I wished they had gone somewhere else instead of annoying me.

17,816. Did you not rather expect that Mr. Durrant would come up when he found that they were holding out 7*l.* ?—2*l.* was all I got.

17,817. Did you not expect he would ?—I expected more than the 2*l.*

17,818. Was not that one reason why you mentioned it to Mr. Durrant ?—Well, I thought that very likely it would be better for me.

17,819. When you told that to him, did not Mr. Durrant say, "Never mind, we will make it all right" ? —No, he said nothing to me about that.

17,820. But nothing like that ?—No.

17,821. But did he not say you would not have to regret it ?—No.

17,822. Something like that ?—No.

17,823. But you voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes, and I told him I would the first time that Mr. Gower came to me.

17,824. There was 7*l.* on one side, and Mr. Durrant not even making you a promise ?—Not half-a-sovereign nor a halfpenny more than the 2*l.*

17,825. Did not he intimate that you would not be a loser by sticking to your promise ?—No.

17,826. Did anybody ?—Not anybody, I was so bad.

17,827. Well, perhaps it did not strike you. Did you tell my friend that you voted in the election before ?—No, this was the first vote I ever did have.

17,828. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was the Mr. Gray you have spoken of a Mr. Henry Gray of Nutley-lane, or was it a Mr. William Gray of Holmesdale-road ?—No, he is on the freehold.

17,829. Is it the Mr. Henry Gray who was formerly of Nutley-lane ?—Yes.

17,830. Where is he now ?—On the freehold.

17,831. Do you know whereabouts ?—In Holmsdale. Everybody knows him.

17,832. Do you live near Nutley-lane ?—No, on the freehold.

17,833. Had you known Mr. Gray before ?—Oh, yes.

JOHN MARTIN sworn and examined.

J. Martin.

17,834. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ? —A gardener.

17,835. What rent do you pay ?—10*l.* a year.

17,836. Who did you vote for at the last election ? —Mr. Gower.

17,837. Who was it that asked you to vote for him ? —Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith.

17,838. Did you say at once that you would ?—Yes.

17,839. Did they ask you to go on the committee, or something like that ?—No, they did not.

17,840. Then they went away, you having promised your vote ?—Yes.

17,841. Who called upon you after ?—Mr. Durrant.

17,842. Did he come to you ?—Yes.

17,843. And he asked you to be on the committee ? —Yes, he asked me if I should like my name to be on the committee.

ELEVENTH DAY.

J. Martin.

3 Sept. 1866.

17,844. Did he come round and visit you; or did you meet him accidentally, or call upon him?—I met him just outside my gate.

17,845. You said he might put your name on the committee?—Yes.

17,846. Why did you say so?—I did not know what it was for.

17,847. What did he tell you would be the consequence?—He never told me anything.

17,848. What did you suppose would be the consequence?—I did not know it would be anything more than my name going on.

17,849. I wish you would tell me?—There was no money mentioned, nor anything mentioned about it.

17,850. He came and called?—Yes.

17,851. You met him at the gate, and he said, "Now you have promised Mr. Gower, will you go on "the committee;" go on in your own way, and it will save me and you so much trouble. He said, "Will "you go on the committee"?—Yes.

17,852. You said, "Well, yes, I think I am "agreeable"?—No.

17,853. Well, help me a bit, there's a good fellow?—I do not know how to.

17,854. Tell me what passed between you and Mr. Durrant?—That was all that did pass.

17,855. When did you see him again?—I saw him many times after.

17,856. Tell me what passed when you had any conversation with him again?—I saw him once again, when he said, "Do you expect anything for the elec- "tion?" I said, "No, not that I know of." "Well," he said, "I will pay you for your day;" and that was all that was said.

17,857. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) For what?—For the election day.

17,858. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did he mean by paying you for the day?—For coming to the poll on the election day.

17,859. I hope you did not agree to that; those were very bad terms. Do tell me what it was to be?—He never told me what, I never did know, and I never asked him any more about it.

17,860. You did vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

17,861. And how much did you receive?—Not a halfpenny, and I never asked any one for anything.

17,862. How much did you receive?—No money at all; not one halfpenny.

17,863. Neither before or after the election?—Neither before or after the election. I never received one farthing.

17,864. Have you a wife and family?—No family.

17,865. But a wife?—Yes.

17,866. You had a wife at that time. You have not been married since?—No, I have been married this 30 years.

17,867. I am very glad to see you smiling at the recollection. Tell me, did you have any talk with a man called Campion?—No, not a word did I say to Campion about the election.

17,868. I suppose you talked to other people about the election as everybody did?—Yes, but not much.

17,869. Did you not hear from other people what they were expecting to be paid?—I did not hear, and I never troubled myself much about it. I knew nothing.

17,870. Did you not come in the town one evening to the committee meetings?—No, I never attended any committee meetings; not in the town at all.

16,871. What committee did you attend?—I went twice or three times down to the "Barley Mow" when they had a meeting there.

17,872. There was a committee there; did you see Mr. Durrant there?—I think I did. I saw Job Apted there once.

17,873. Perhaps he will do. Was anything said by Job Apted to you?—No, not to me. I never made any stop.

17,874. Was nothing said at the "Barley Mow" by Mr. Durrant?—No, not to me.

17,875. Nor by Mr. Durrant?—Nor by Mr. Durrant.

17,876. Do you recollect owing a bill at that time to any one?—I never do owe a bill, not above a week.

17,877. That is very right?—I never did owe money.

17,878. If you did not receive money, was there not money's worth given to you?—No, not from any one.

17,879. Who is the landlord to whom you pay rent?—Richard Knight, at Sainton farm.

17,880. Which side was he on?—Mr. Gower's, I believe; but I did not know it till after the election.

17,881. How often did you pay your rent?—Once a quarter.

17,882. I dare say you were not behindhand in your rent?—No, I was not.

17,883. You were not at that time?—No.

17,884. Did you pay your rent every quarter just the same?—Every quarter just the same, winter and summer, when he came for it.

17,885. Now, do tell me, did you get any value at all for your vote?—I never got one halfpenny.

17,886. Why did you give it to Mr. Gower?—I gave it to him before, and I did not want them to trouble me. I never received anything.

17,887. Now in the election of 1863 you voted?—Yes; I voted for Mr. Gower, and I promised him then.

17,888. In the first instance?—Yes.

17,889. Were you on the committee then?—That I do not know.

17,890. You do not recollect?—I do not know whether I was or was not.

17,891. Did you receive anything at all in 1863 for your services?—Yes.

17,892. How much?—Mr. Durrant paid me a sovereign for nomination and polling days.

17,893. Was that a sovereign each day?—No, only one sovereign.

17,894. Were you offered anything by the other side if you would vote for Mr. Wilkinson?—No.

17,895. Were you offered anything this time by anybody at all if you would vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

17,896. Did not they tempt you in the least?—No, they never conversed with me at all.

17,897. I consider the work you did at the two elections about the same in amount either time?—No; I was fully employed in my own business.

17,898. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said that Mr. Durrant told you he would pay you for one day?—But he never did pay me, and I never asked him for it. I never asked him from that time to this.

17,899. Was that for nomination day or polling day?—Polling day, I presume; but I never asked him what it was.

17,900. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you think that he kept his word. What was your own opinion about it?—I never troubled myself about it.

17,901. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You expected to be paid the same way as in '63, 10*s.* for polling day?—If he paid me at all; but he never mentioned anything to me.

17,902. Mr. Durrant was the man who paid you in '63?—Yes.

17,903. For nomination day and polling day?—Yes.

17,904. If he paid you only for polling day you would expect 10*s.*, as in '63?—Yes, I did expect to be paid; but as he never paid me, I never asked him for it, and I never mentioned it to any one.

The witness then withdrew.

JAMES OXTOBY sworn and examined.

17,905. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you a voter for this borough at the election of '65 ?—Yes.

17,906. For what rented house ?—I cannot say ; my wages and rent all go together for my labour.

17,907. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What is the value of it ?—I cannot tell.

17,908. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you on the register as William Oxtoby ?—Yes.

17,909. Then that is a mistake ?—They have got William instead of James.

17,910. And you are a gardner ?—Yes.

17,911. And occupy a cottage ?—Yes.

17,912. And your rent goes as part of your wages ?—Yes.

17,913. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What would it be rated at ?—I should think it was rated at about 10*l.* a year ; but I cannot say, for I do not pay the rent, my employer does.

17,914. What is his name ?—John Linnell.

17,915. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Which way did your master vote ?—I cannot say ; I do not know which way he voted.

17,916. Did he ask you about your vote ?—No, sir.

17,917. He did not canvass you at all ?—No.

17,918. You voted for Mr. Gower ?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

17,919. Were you on his committee ?—No.

17,920. Who was it asked you to vote for Mr. Gower ?—I was canvassed by Mr. Gower, I suppose. I was not at home at the time, and I saw a person afterwards.

17,921. Who was he ?—Henry Sendall.

17,922. And Henry Sendall asked for whom you voted ?—He asked me which way I was going, and I told him I should vote for Mr. Gower.

17,923. Did you ever see Murrell about your vote ?—No.

17,924. Did he ever speak to you ?—No.

17,925. Did Green ever speak to you about your vote ?—No ; nobody ever spoke to me about it but Sendall up to the time Mr. Gower had been asking, and then I saw Joyes.

17,926. First of all let us deal with Sendall ; did he ask you to come on the committee ?—No.

17,927. Did he ask you to work ?—He asked me if I wanted any work, and I said I did not mind.

17,928. Did he say you should be paid for your work ?—He said there would be something to come, and that I should be paid with the rest.

17,929. Did he mention what the others would be likely to have ?—No.

17,930. Did you agree to work ?—Yes ; I agreed to work, what I could do. I did not specify anything I would attend to, but I said I would do what I could, but would not bind myself any further than that I promised to vote for him.

17,931. Did he tell you what sort of work you were to do ?—No ; the work I understood I was to do was this, I was to try and get any one I could to go the same way as myself.

17,932. Among your fellow workmen ?—Amongst the people that I knew.

17,933. You were to do what you could in canvassing among your own friends ?—Not friends in particular.

17,934. Your fellow gardeners ?—Yes.

17,935. Did you canvass ?—Yes, I canvassed one man.

17,936. Who is he ?—John Bell.

17,937. That was pretty well all that you did canvass ?—Well, that was the only one I secured.

17,938. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you get his vote ? — He promised Mr. Gower, I suppose, through my speaking to him, and that is all I know about him.

17,939. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And after this you saw Mr. Joyes ?—Yes.

17,940. Frederick ?—Yes. I saw Mr. Joyes at the meeting where Mr. Gower was, at the town hall, Redhill ; the first meeting he had.

17,941. What took place between you and Frederick Joyes ?—He said, "I suppose you are going our way," and I said, "I suppose Sendall told you I have pro-" mised you." And after I had seen him he said, " You will be paid the same as the others for what " work you do."

17,942. Did he tell you at all what the others were going to be paid ?—No, there was no stated sum mentioned to me.

17,943. How long before the election was that ?—I could not say, but it was the first day Mr. Gower had attended the town hall.

17,944. Some time before the election, I suppose ?—Some four or five weeks, but I cannot say exactly when it was.

17,945. Did you attend any public meetings after that one ?—I think I attended one at the town hall here.

17,946. Was Mr. Gower at that meeting ?—I think he was.

17,947. That was a committee meeting ?—I cannot say.

17,948. Do you recollect whether Mr. Gower made a speech that night. Did you hear Mr. Gower say those who worked for him should be paid, and paid well ?—I heard that at Redhill.

17,949. What, at the meeting at the town hall ?—I may have confused myself between the two, but I have heard it either at one place or the other, but those who worked for him should be paid, and paid well. I saw Mr. Gower that very night ; I promised him at the town hall, Redhill.

17,950. Did he say to you anything about work ?—No.

17,951. You heard him say this either at the old town hall here or at Redhill, but you are not certain which ?—No, sir.

17,952. How long was this before the nomination and polling ?—I cannot call it to mind exactly now.

17,953. Did you vote in 1863 ?—Yes.

17,954. Who for ?—Mr. Wilkinson.

17,955. Were you paid anything for the election of '65 ?—I was paid 2*l.*

17,956. Who paid you ?—Frederick Joyes.

17,957. How long after the election was that ?—I could not say exactly, but some considerable time afterwards.

17,958. Some months after ?—Well, it might be a month.

17,959. Where were you paid ?—I was paid at his own house.

17,960. Who paid you ?—He paid me himself.

17,961. Did he say anything to you about the money when he paid you ?—I do not know whether he did or not now.

17,962. Did he tell you what it was for ?—He said it was for work done, and he put a written agreement before me. I looked it over to see what it contained, and it was "For work done for Mr. Gower at the last " election ;" and I put a penny stamp upon it.

17,963. You gave that paper to Mr. Joyes ?—Yes. I signed it, and he gave me 2*l.*

17,964. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It was his writing ?—It was his writing, excepting the signature.

17,965. Did he tell you any more money might be coming ?—No ; he said nothing more to me, nor I to him, for I had no agreement for any particular sum ; I was to be paid for my work, and I suppose he considered that was as much as I was worth.

17,966. You did very little, you only got one vote ?—I told him I should not be able to do much.

17,967. You consider you were very well paid for getting this one vote ?—I was satisfied.

17,968. For securing Bell to vote ?—Yes.

ELEVENTH DAY.

J. Oxtoby.

3 Sept. 1866.

17,969. But that was all you did, securing him and voting yourself?—Yes, excepting one or two meetings, which I might not have gone to unless I had liked.

17,970. And you were not asked to go?—No, not once; I went of my own accord.

17,971. You told me that in 1863 you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

17,972. How came you to vote for Mr. Wilkinson?—Because I liked the man's principles; I thought he was a very good man, and I thought I could not do better than vote for him; the other was an untried man.

17,973. Were you on Mr. Wilkinson's committee?—No.

17,974. Who asked you to vote for him?—No one asked me.

17,975. Where you paid anything?—No, not a halfpenny.

17,976. Did you ever receive anything for this election of 1863? Were you canvassed by any one of the Monson party in '65?—I was canvassed by Mr. Richardson.

17,977. What took place between you and Mr. Richardson?—Previous to his coming and before that Mr. Monson came to my house, but I never was at home in the daytime, and I supposed from that he had been there. Mr. Richardson came three or four times and found me out at last, and I very soon gave him a decided answer.

17,978. Was anything said to you on the part of Mr. Monson as to voting on that side?—I cannot say there was not, but I should be sorry anything I should say should bring anybody into trouble; but at the same time if I am compelled to speak the truth I must.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith to the witness.) You certainly are on this inquiry.

(The witness.) I will do it, but it is with reluctance on my part, in case it should injure any one.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) We will take that as an apology for him.

(The witness.) It was Joseph Singleton.

17,979. Tell us what took place between you and him as to your voting; that is in 1865?—Yes.

17,980. Well, tell us what passed?—We met down at Redhill. I suppose it is called the Brighton-road; it is in the village, the main street, or whatever you may please to call it, a good way from the market hall; he then asked me if I should like to vote for Mr. Monson.

17,981. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know when this was?—I could not say exactly.

17,982. Well, never mind, go on, will you?—He told me, "You may as well have a fiver as well as "anybody else." However, I did not have the fiver.

17,983. Why not?—Because I could not get it for one thing.

17,984. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How do you mean you could not get it?—Because I did not think he could get it for me; he promised more than he could perform or did perform.

17,985. Something else must have occurred between you and Singleton as to this matter?—Yes, he asked me if I would come to the garden to him, as he was busy. I went down to him, but he said he was afraid it was of no use.

17,986. Was he a master gardener or a working gardener?—A working gardener.

17,987. Do you know whether he was on Mr. Monson's committee?—I do not know; but I must tell you I never intended to go that way.

17,988. Did he ask you to come down to the "Grapes" and see Mr. Nicholls?—No, he never mentioned any person's name to me but himself.

17,989. Did he tell you where the fiver would come from?—No.

17,990. Did he tell you whether he was going to have a fiver?—No, he did not.

17,991. (The Chief Commissioner.) Singleton, I suppose, was for the Monson party?—I did not know whether he was going that way.

17,992. Did you not ask him whether he was?—No.

17,993. He said, "You might as well have a fiver "as any one else"?—I did not give him an answer.

17,994. Did you vote at any previous election?—Only at '63 and '65.

17,995–6. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say you heard Mr. Gower say, either here or at Redhill, those who worked for him should be well paid. Had that any influence on your mind?—No, I had made up my mind previously.

17,997. Had it any effect upon your mind whether you might expect to be paid?—No.

17,998. Did it not raise any expectation?—When I make a promise to vote for a man I do not repent it.

17,999. I think you stated that at a meeting you heard Mr. Gower say those who worked for him should be well paid; well, did that raise any expectation in your mind that you would get anything after the election was over?—It certainly sounded well, but I did not know what I was to have, and there was no agreement.

18,000. Did that speech cause any expectation in your mind that you might have something for yourself after the election was over?—Yes; it was all tending to the same thing; it was confirming what the others had said to me.

18,001. (Mr. Commissioner OBrien.) You expected 5*l.*, or about 5*l.*?—What for?

18,002. Well, I don't know what for, but from Mr. Joyes you expected it?—Well, I certainly cannot say as much.

18,003. About 5*l.*?—No, I did not expect it; I was satisfied with what I got.

18,004. But how much did you expect?—I think very likely I thought I ought to have had a little more, according as others were paid.

18,005. Singleton is the man they call "Bob Rodney"?—Joseph Singleton is his name.

18,006. Is he not called "Bob Rodney"?—He may be the same.

18,007. Well, he offered you 5*l.*; did you tell any of the Gower people you were offered 5*l.*?—No, I did not; I had no conversation with any of them.

18,008. To whom did you tell Singleton had offered you 5*l.*?—I do not know that I told it to anybody.

18,009. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you not tell it to your wife?—It is very probable that I did.

18,010. Who was the person by when you told her?—Nobody was by.

18,011. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You must have told somebody else?—I do not know that I did.

18,012. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did not expect it not to be known if you told her?—Well, that is more than I can say.

18,013. If you told it to anybody you do not remember who it was?—No.

18,014. Did you tell it to any of Mr. Gower's agents?—No.

The witness then withdrew.

H. Palmer.

HENRY PALMER sworn and examined.

18,015. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A shoemaker.

18,016. What rent do you pay?—9*s.* a week now.

18,017. What did you pay at the time of the election?—4*s.* 6*d.* is what I paid.

18,018. You voted at the last election for Mr. Gower?—I did.

18,019. Was that the first time you ever voted?—Yes.

18,020. And you were one of his committee?—Yes.

18,021. Who put your name upon his committee?—Mr. Joyes.

18,022. Frederick Joyes?—Yes.

18,023. How long before the poll day were you on the committee?—Oh, from the first commencement.

18,024. Then you did a great deal of work?—I did.

18,025. And I suppose you were equally well paid?—I never complained.

18,026. Were you paid before the election?—Yes.

18,027. How much?—I had some money because I had been about.

18,028. I do not ask for the reason, but how much did you receive?—3l. before the election.

18,029. And how long before the election?—I cannot say, but I should think about a fortnight.

18,030. Did you receive it in one sum or separate?—I received that at once.

18,031. When polling day was coming did you receive a little more?—No, not till after.

18,032. How soon after the polling day?—It might be three weeks or a month.

18,033. And how much did you receive then?—10*s.*

18,034. Is that all you received?—That is all I received from Mr. Gower.

18,035. Have you received any other money?—From whom?

18,036. From somebody else?—Well, I am going to tell you what I have received. I received one 5s., 5s. 6d. it might be, for a night's watch from Robert Legg.

18,037. Is that all?—That is all, I believe.

18,038. Just recollect, did you not receive a little more?—Not that I am aware of.

18,039. (The Chief Commissioner.) Try?—I am not aware of any more.

18,040. You took an active part in the election?—I did.

18,041. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) 10*s.* was very poor pay?—I believe you have got the extent of what I had.

18,042. 3l. you had from Joyes, and there was the 10*s.*?—He said I deserved more.

18,043. But we do not all get our deserts?—I know that.

18,044. Did he not say you might get some more by-and-by?—He never said that; there never was no agreement.

18,045. Did he not say there would be more money coming?—I do not know what passed as to that.

18,046. But there was something?—I do not recollect; a man cannot say more when he does not recollect.

18,047. You did not go away with the 10*s.*?—Yes, I did.

18,048. Not without expecting more?—I went away very comfortable.

18,049. Did you think you were well paid?—I was money out of pocket by it, I dare say.

18,050. Did you spend any money in the election?—I spent it in going about to different places, and it was money out of my pocket in doing so.

18,051. Did you receive any money for your expenses while you were out on this tremendous work of the election?—I received 5s.

18,052. In addition to the 5s. 6d.?—Yes.

18,053. From whom did you receive the 5s.? you see your memory is not so good?—From Mr. Joyes.

18,054. When?—Before the election.

18,055. You received more than one 5s. for your expenses?—For railway expenses.

18,056. You received more than one 5s.?—No, I think not.

18,057. Yes, just recollect?—I say I did not.

18,058. You told me before you received 5s. for railway expenses?—I did not quite understand you.

18,059. What was the 5s. for?—For election expenses.

18,060. Where did you go to then?—To Croydon.

18,061. (The Chief Commissioner.) For a voter there?—Yes, you are right.

18,062. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What was his name?—Shrubsall.

18,063. Did you see him?—I did.

18,064. Is that all the money you have received?—That is all the money I have received.

18,065. You had not mentioned that before?—The first time I forgot this 5s. for the railway expenses.

18,066. (The Chief Commissioner.) Well, Shrubsall, did you canvass him?—Yes, I canvassed him in the ordinary way for Mr. Gower.

18,067. Do you know what he got for his vote; did you hear?—Not to my knowledge.

18,068. I am not asking you what your knowledge is, I never used the word?—I did not hear that I am aware of; if I had heard, I would tell you; I have not heard to the best of my knowledge.

18,069. Do you mean to say you did not hear?—I answer you according to my knowledge.

18,070. Never mind your knowledge; did you not hear what Shrubsall got for his vote?—Not that I am aware of.

18,071. What became of Shrubsall after the election?—I do not know.

18,072. Where did he work?—The time of the election he was working at Croydon.

18,073. Where has he been at work since?—I do not know.

18,074. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He was a friend of yours?—Yes, while he was working at Reigate.

18,075. (The Chief Commissioner.) I suppose you do not easily lose sight of your friends?—I expect he is at Croydon.

18,076. Have you seen him?—No.

18,077. Is he a gardener?—No, he is a shoemaker.

18,078. A shoemaker?—A journeyman shoemaker, and worked here at Reigate at his trade at one time. I canvassed him at Croydon.

18,079. Do you think he is there now?—I do not know; I have never had a word from him since the election.

18,080. Or about him?—No, not as to his whereabouts.

18,081. If you wanted to find him where should you go?—I should naturally go to Croydon.

18,082. What is his Christian name?—Thomas.

18,083. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say you canvassed him in the usual way?—Yes.

18,084. How did you canvass him?—I went to ask him to vote for Mr. Gower, for I considered him the best man for the town.

18,085. Was that the only way in which you canvassed him?—Yes.

18,086. Did you receive no instructions from Joyes?—No.

18,087. I suppose that is not the usual way of canvassing at Reigate?—I do not know; I had nothing to do with Reigate before.

18,088. Did Joyes ask you to give him something for his vote?—No.

18,089. When have you seen Joyes last?—I have seen him generally every day.

18,090. Have you seen him this morning?—No.

18,091. Have you seen him last week?—I saw him in here, I believe.

18,092. Did he beckon you out of the room?—No.

18,093. Or speak to you?—No, not in the room.

18,094. He has spoken to you last week?—He might.

18,095. Has he not spoken to you about the evidence you were to give?—No, I can give my evidence without him.

18,096. That is no reason why he should not speak to you, he might think you might not?—Possibly he might.

18,097. He might wish to inform you what to say beforehand, what to do?—He has not told me to do anything.

18,098. Has he not said anything to you about this man Shrubsall?—Not that I am aware of.

18,099. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did he not tell you to use your own discretion?—No.

ELEVENTH DAY.

H. Palmer.

3 Sept. 1866.

18,100. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he not tell you to use your own discretion when you went to canvass Shrubsall?—He asked me to go and canvass Shrubsall.

18,101. Did you receive the 3*l.* after or before you canvassed Shrubsall?—After.

18,102. Was it after you were put on the committee?—I think so.

18,103. You knew that committee men were going to be paid?—Yes; at least I believe so.

18,104. Did you ask Shrubsall whether he would have his name put on the committee?—No, I merely went to canvass him.

18,105. Did you ask him whether he would do any work, and assist Mr. Gower?—To assist Mr. Gower only with his vote.

18,106. Did you only canvass him?—No.

18,107. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you tell him he would be brought to the poll?—I told him to come to Reigate, and see for himself.

18,108. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Not what he could get; not to see what he could get?—No, not what he could get. When I went to Croydon to canvass him I found the opposite party had been there and forestalled me, and had made him an offer, but I did not know the amount; he said they had made him an offer.

18,109. Did he come very easy to your hand?—No.

18,110. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you remember telling him to come here and make his own market?—Yes.

18,111. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He did not exactly promise you?—He said he would not be against the way I was going myself.

18,112. Did you tell him you were going to have 3*l.*?—No.

18,113. Or to have anything?—Not that I am aware of.

18,114. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) To whom did you tell him to go when he came to Reigate?—I told him to see Mr. Frederick Joyes.

18,115. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you not tell him that Frederick Joyes had put your name on the committee to do some work?—No, I knew his principles; I knew he was a Liberal.

18,116. But both the candidates were Liberals?—One was tried, and the other not.

18,117. Did you not think at the time that your friend Mr. Shrubsall was rather difficult, and was not that the reason you sent him to Frederick Joyes?—He asked me how the thing was going, and expenses.

18,118. What did you tell him about expenses?—I told him he must come and see for himself about his expenses.

18,119. Did you tell him what he might expect if he came to Reigate to see for himself?—Not to my knowledge.

18,120. You were trying to persuade him to come here?—Yes.

18,121. Did you tell him he would be paid his expenses?—I could not tell him that, for I was not authorized.

18,122. Did you not tell him it was very likely he would be paid his expenses?—Yes.

18,123. Did you tell him Joyes might give him something?—Yes, for his expenses; I told him I believed he would pay his expenses.

18,124. And get something for voting?—I did not say any such thing.

18,125. Did you tell him at the same time that others were going to get something?—Not a word.

18,126. Did he come over?—He did.

18,127. Did you see him?—I did.

18,128. Did he go to Mr. Frederick Joyes?—I do not know; he came to my house, and we both went together.

18,129. On the day of polling?—Yes.

18,130. What time in the day did you poll?—Soon after 8.

18,131. Did you see Frederick Joyes that morning?—Not till after I had polled.

18,132. Did you see Frederick Joyes with Shrubsall?—I did not.

18,133. Do you know whether Shrubsall went to him that morning?—I do not know.

18,134. Did you ever see Shrubsall afterwards?—I saw him, but he was a little intoxicated, a little on.

18,135. What time of the day?—In the evening, I was all over the place till 5 o'clock.

18,136. Did Shrubsall tell you he had received anything?—No, he did not tell me anything of the sort.

18,137. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did Joyes give you 10*s.* when he sent you to Croydon; he knew they had been at Shrubsall?—No, he did not know that.

The witness then withdrew.

Adjourned till 11 o'clock the next morning.

TWELFTH DAY.

Mr. T. Hart.

4 Sept. 1866.

TWELFTH DAY.

Tuesday, 4th September 1866.

Mr. Thomas Hart sworn and examined.

18,138. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you engaged on Mr. Monson's behalf at the last election for 1865?—I was.

18,139. And you acted as such throughout the election?—Yes.

18,140. Head agent?—Head agent, agent for the election expenses.

18,141. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Under the Corruption Act?—Yes, the Corrupt Practices Act.

18,142. (The Chief Commissioner.) Will you be kind enough to produce all documents you have relating to the election of every kind; you have received a notice to that effect?—Yes, I should state I have the bills here, I found it inconvenient to send the bills as they were to be paid. I found on looking at the Act of Parliament it only required a statement, which I sent, and these are the bills corresponding with that statement. There is every payment that I made and all the bills receipted.

18,143. Every document you made during the election?—Yes.

18,144. I understand you to say these are all the payments you made during the election?—They are. I have here a box with all the papers relating to the previous elections at your service.

18,145. Do none of the papers in that box relate to 1865?—Yes.

18,146. Are there any documents in that box except election papers?—No, I think not.

18,147. Perhaps you will have no objection to let me have them?—Here is my canvassing book.

18,148. I dare say you will have no objection to let me have that box in my room?—I should desire to do so.

18,149. If you will lock it up now you may be quite sure no improper use will be made of it?—I am sure of that; there are all the previous election papers.

18,150. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How far do they go back?—The election in which I was engaged in 1859; this was a general election.

18,151. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that your first election?—Yes, that was.

18,152. At which you ever acted as agent?—Oh, I acted for the Somers family on the election of Lord Eastnor; but this is since the Reform Bill.

18,153. Reigate was only a borough at the Reform Bill?—Reigate was a borough returning two members before the Reform Bill; but they put us in No. 9, and now we have only one. At the election I have referred to there was Mr. Hackblock, Major Parrott, now Colonel Parrott, and Sir Henry Rawlinson. I was agent for Sir Henry Rawlinson.

18,154. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Mr. Hackblock was returned?—Yes, Mr. Hackblock was returned.

18,155. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) There was Hackblock, Major Parrott, and Sir Henry Rawlinson?—Colonel Parrott now.

18,156. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And Hackblock returned?—Yes.

18,157. Are the papers relating to that election in the box?—Yes, all the papers.

18,158. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) For whom did you then act?—I acted then for Sir Henry Rawlinson.

18,159. The Corrupt Practices Bill was, I think, in 1854?—It was previous to 1857 I know.

18,160. That in fact was the first election after the Corrupt Practices Act when agents were appointed?—Yes.

18,161. And in 1858 Mr. Hackblock died?—There were two elections in 1858, Sir Henry Rawlinson, Mr. Monson, Mr. Doulton, Mr. Wilkins, and others, I then being agent for Mr. Monson; there were one or two others I think, but those you do not mind. I have a book which is called "Acland's Imperial Poll Book," which goes back to 1832. Sir Henry Rawlinson was then returned.

18,162. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were his agent?—No, he was not returned. When I was his agent in 1857 Hackblock was returned.

18,163. You were the agent for Mr. Monson?—I was agent for Mr. Monson in 1858, when Sir Henry Rawlinson was returned.

18,164. Who was Rawlinson's agent then?—George Carter Morrison.

18,165. Is he in Reigate?—Yes. Then in July 1858 Sir Henry Rawlinson resigned, and the candidates then were Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson.

18,166. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That election took place in October—I think it did, and Mr. Monson was then returned.

18,167. Who were you agent for then?—Mr. Monson. In 1859 came the general election when Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson were candidates; I was then engaged for Mr. Monson.

18,168. There were other candidates then?—Yes.

18,169. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were they mere shadowy candidates, they did not go to the poll?—It did not last long.

18,170. I believe Mr. Monson was returned?—Mr. Monson was returned.

18,171. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You have acted since for Mr. Monson?—Yes; in 1862 Mr. Monson became a peer, and the candidates on that occasion were Mr. Stuart Wortley, Mr. Leveson Gower, and Mr. Wilkinson. I then acted for Mr. Wortley, but he did not go to the poll.

18,172. After that did you act for any of the candidates?—No; I was requested to act with Mr. Smith, who acted for the Gower party, but I declined.

18,173. Did Mr. Smith act for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

18,174. Perhaps you can tell me who acted for Mr. Wilkinson?—I think it was Mr. James.

18,175. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was in 1862?—Yes.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) 1863 we have called it all through.

18,176. In 1865 there was the general election, Mr. Gower and Mr. Monson being candidates?—I acted for Mr. Monson.

18,177. Then you were agent for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

18,178. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are these documents copies or originals?—Originals, and receipts to them all.

18,179. Are these all the papers you have received connected with this last election of 1865?—Decidedly. I do not know whether I might presume to have recorded one circumstance, as I am on oath; it is this,—that I knew nothing whatever of Mr. Richardson coming forward.

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien observed they were going to call him again, and he would have every opportunity of making any statement he thought proper.

(The Witness.) It seemed so very extraordinary to my friends.

18,180. (The Chief Commissioner.) You have been summoned?—Yes.

18,181. It may be said you have discharged yourself by coming here. I do not apprehend that is so, but if that is your feeling it will be necessary to send you a fresh summons?—Certainly it will be unnecessary.

18,182. I am going certainly to call you again, so you will let the summons stand?—Certainly; I should not absent myself from Reigate without your permission.

18,183. We will assist you in that; you will consider the summons as standing?—Yes, I should not quit Reigate without informing you.

18,184. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) If you want to go away shooting, for instance?—A friend will go for me.

18,185. The Chief Commissioner.) I wished to have it from yourself that your summons was subsisting?—Decidedly.

The witness then withdrew.

Mr. Charles Joseph Smith sworn and examined. Mr. C. J. Smith.

18,186. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you act as election agent at the election which took place in 1865?—I did.

18,187. Did you act for Mr. Gower?—I acted for Mr. Gower.

18,188. Will you be good enough to produce the documents and vouchers you have in reference to the election of 1865; are they all contained in that bundle?—Yes, and in 1863. I made my return to the election auditor, when he returned the originals back with the receipts, and here they are.

18,189. The election auditor is the mere conduit-pipe of the accounts to the public?—Oh, yes, he returned them back to me.

18,190. The office of auditor is a mere fiction. Are these all the documents?—No; I have a bag of receipts for the election of 1863.

18,191. And, in the same manner as Mr. Hart did, you will probably leave them with us?—Yes.

18,192. (The Chief Commissioner.) Will you be so good as to put them on that box (pointing to a box near the bench)?—Yes.

18,193. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you acted as agent for expenses on the previous election?—In 1863 I did, and in 1859 I acted with Mr. Hart. I did not do the expenses in 1858; I acted with Mr. Hart: and I had nothing to do with the expenses when it was Monson and Wilkinson. In 1858 I was the agent, with Mr. Morrison, for Sir Henry Rawlinson, and I filed the expenses in that case.

18,194. You have got the box?—I have the papers.

18,195. It may be necessary to inquire into that; and therefore you will be kind enough to let us have those papers during the course of to-day or to-morrow?—Yes. In 1857 I was agent for Mr. Hackblock.

18,196. The first election of Sir Henry Rawlinson?—Yes.

18,197. Had you voted in the previous election?—In 1857 I was election agent for Mr. Hackblock.

18,198. Have you the papers in reference to that election?—I think I have.

18,199. Did you have the canvassing books returned to you, or were there any canvassing books?—There would be a certain number of papers, but no canvassing books. The usual practice is to hand to them a list of the voters.

18,200. Whom they will have to canvass?—Yes.

18,201. Were there any such books on either of these elections?—No; we gave lists at last on bits or pieces of paper; they would be canvassing lists.

18,202. Are those papers in existence?—No.

18,203. They are not in existence?—No.

18,204. Perhaps you will be good enough to let us have those accounts of Mr. Hackblock's?—If I have got them.

18,205. At your earliest convenience, the earlier you can do it the better for us?—You shall have them to-day. In 1852——

Mr. Commissioner Smith (to the witness.) We do not want to go so far back as that. We have merely asked you here this morning on this formal matter.

18,206. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1863 you acted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

18,207. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I think, Mr. Smith, that is all we require of you this morning, but at a future stage of the proceedings we shall require your assistance again, to give us further information?—Yes.

The witness then withdrew.

E. Burlton.

EDWARD BURLTON sworn and examined.

18,208. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are an elector of the borough, I believe?—Yes.

18,209. What are you by calling?—A railway clerk.

18,210. And you live at the station I suppose?—No, a short distance from the station.

18,211. What rent do you pay?—18*l.* a year.

18,212. And for whom did you vote at the last election?—For Mr. Monson.

18,213. Were you a voter at the election of 1863?—Yes.

18,214. For whom did you vote at that election?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

18,215. Was that the first time you voted, or had you previously voted for Mr. Wilkinson at the election before that?—In 1859.

18,216. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was the first?—Yes, that was the first.

18,217. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) There were, I believe, a good many voters connected with the railway?—Yes, several of them had votes.

18,218. And I believe a good many of them voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes, the majority.

18,219. Was there any arrangement between them, as far as you know, before the election, as to whom they would vote for?—Not to my knowledge. I have only heard reports, but I cannot say of my own knowledge.

18,220. You have heard that there was an arrangement that several of them should vote together for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

18,221. And upon certain terms?—Yes.

18,222. That is the party which were to receive a certain amount of money between them?—A certain amount per week.

18,223. Do you know at all what was the arrangement made; was any writing drawn up in reference to it?—I know nothing of the arrangement beyond having heard it. I could not attend any of the meetings, as I was busily engaged at the station.

18,224. They were to vote for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

18,225. Do you know whether there was any offer made to any of those men on the part of Mr. Gower?—Not that I am aware of.

18,226. Do you know Hayward?—Yes.

18,227. Is he one of the railway voters?—Yes.

18,228. Do you not know that he attended a committee meeting of Mr. Gower's a little before the election?—No, I do not.

18,229. Did you know that he was attending?—No, I knew very little of persons attending the committee; I was so busily employed at the station. It was only now and then I could get away for ten minutes. I seldom heard anything about it.

18,230. Did not you hear that amongst these men a certain number of railway voters would vote for Mr. Gower if they were paid 4*l.* 10*s.* and 1*l.* 10*s.* after?—No, I never heard it from any one.

18,231. You never heard it from any one?—I never heard it from any one.

18,232. Did you hear they were in treaty with the Gower party?—No, I fully believed, according to the report I heard, that the majority of them would vote for Mr. Monson.

18,233. But I mean before, as the election was approaching?—No, I never heard anything on the subject, about any of them voting for Mr. Gower.

18,234. You did not hear of any agreement being drawn up in writing?—Nothing of the sort.

18,235. You were a clerk?—Yes.

18,236. They never came to you to draw up anything?—No.

18,237. You never drew up anything in writing?—No.

18,238. Of course you would recollect it?—I should.

18,239. Nothing was put down in writing?—No.

18,240. No figure of any kind?—No, I had nothing to do with any writing of any description.

18,241. What did you hear were the terms on which they were to vote for Mr. Monson?—I heard that those men who allowed themselves to go on the committee would receive 30*s.* a week up to the time of the election.

18,242. And what were they to be paid for the nomination day?—Nothing, not to my knowledge.

18,243. Or the polling day?—Nothing was stated to my knowledge; they were merely to receive 30*s.* a week up to the time of the election. It would be about four weeks, but it was expected it would go to six weeks.

18,244. They allowed their names to go on the committee?—Yes.

18,245. Was your name on the committee?—I was asked about three weeks before the election to allow my name to go on the committee.

18,246. Was it on?—Oh, I believe it was.

18,247. What did you receive?—The same as the others; 30*s.* a week.

18,248. How much did you receive altogether?—4*l.* 10*s.*

18,249. You told me that you were so busy that you took no part in the election. Did you not take any part?—I merely had my name on the committee.

18,250. Did you attend any meeting?—Merely one meeting, just previous to the nomination, after the business of the railway was over, as I was going home one night I went into the committee room and stopped about one hour.

18,251. You were not at the nomination?—No.

18,252. Were you paid at all for the polling day?—Nothing.

18,253. You only received 4*l.* 10*s.*?—Only 4*l.* 10*s.*

18,254. About how many other men went to the poll for Mr. Monson; how many of the railway men?—I do not know who polled for him.

18,255. About how many?—I should think, so far as I can judge, about 8 or 10; but I really do not remember how many did.

18,256. Who were within the arrangement?—Yes.

18,257. It was known amongst the men?—There would be about 8 or 10 that I saw in the room.

18,258. Under the same arrangement; 30*s.* a week?—Yes, so I understood.

18,259. (The Chief Commissioner.) Those were persons connected with the railway?—Yes.

18,260. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) With whom was the understanding or arrangement made on the part of Mr. Monson?—A person of the name of Shepherd.

18,261. Was he the paymaster?—I do not know whether he paid the others, but I received mine from him.

18,262. He it was who put you on the committee?—Yes, it was. He asked me whether I would have my name put on when he met me on the platform.

18,263. I suppose he told you at the time that the names of the others would be on?—He said the names of the others would most likely be on too, but he did not mention any terms or names.

18,264. Did not any of the Gower people come to you?—No, they never have. They never came to me, whatever they might mention it to others; but they never troubled me.

18,265. They never came to you?—No.

18,266. Nor the others?—Not to my knowledge.

18,267. Did you receive the 4*l.* 10*s.* before the election?—Yes, on the Saturday previous.

18,268. And you never had attended any committee meeting at that time. You only attended the committee the day before the election?—Not the day before, but a few days before, just for about an hour.

18,269. In 1863 you voted for whom?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

18,270. Were you on his committee?—I think my name was down, but I was never asked to be on the committee.

18,271. You were down?—I believe so.

18,272. Did many of the railway people support Mr. Wilkinson at that time?—Yes, I think they did.

18,273. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were a railway man then?—Yes, and have been for the last 12 years.

18,274. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It was natural that they should go together?—It was only by report that I heard they were together.

18,275. What were the terms?—I know nothing of that.

18,276. The same as the last one?—I do not know; but I never received 1*s.* previous to this last election from any one.

18,277. About how many voters altogether are there belonging to the railway?—I really cannot say.

18,278. Twenty or thirty?—I should think it would be between that on all hands.

18,279. I suppose I may take it from you that they were all paid on the one side or the other?—I know nothing whatever about that.

18,280. But what is your opinion?—By reputation I should think they were paid the same as myself; that is my individual opinion; but I have no knowledge whatever of it.

18,281. That is from what you know?—Yes, from common report.

18,282. Such of you who went and voted for Mr. Monson, did you go in a body? But I suppose you had to separate yourselves during the day, for the railway people could not be there at the same time?—I do not know about the others. I went down by myself.

18,283. (The Chief Commissioner.) What made you vote for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863?—I had done so previously at the first election, and I voted for Mr. Wilkinson at the other elections. Mr. Norman Wilkinson called for my vote on the first occasion. He was a gentleman from whom I had received great kindness, though I never received a single shilling from him or any of his family, and I gave him my vote.

18,284. Mr. Norman Wilkinson called?—Yes, and I gave my vote, because I considered Mr. William Arthur Wilkinson the most fit person to represent the borough; it was quite disinterested.

18,285. In 1863, when you voted for Mr. Wilkinson, did not the other railway people vote as you did?—I am sure I cannot say.

18,286. I do not mean all; but was it considered that the railway officials went together?—The railway people were thought to be sold in favour of Mr. Wilkinson.

18,287. I do not want to tie you to it; but in 1863, so far as you can recollect, did the railway people go for Mr. Wilkinson?—I think they did.

18,288. I rely on your telling me candidly. In 1863 was the report that they were acting under any arrangement?—I always heard at every election that the railway people were sold to Mr. Wilkinson; would go for Mr. Wilkinson.

18,289. Sold to Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes; that he would make sure of the railway people.

18,290. In your belief was that the case?—Certainly not from my own knowledge.

18,291. Now, I take your word for it that it was not so as regards yourself; but I want you to tell me, in your opinion was there in 1863 such an arrangement made?—I do not believe there was.

18,292. You believe they voted without any money consideration?—Yes, I did, so far as my own opinion goes.

18,293. The bulk of them?—Yes.

18,294. You really do believe in 1863 that the bulk of the railway men voted disinterestedly?—Yes, disinterestedly for Mr. Wilkinson.

18,295. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I understand you to say that you yourself wrote nothing and saw nothing written?—On the part of Mr. Gower's party.

18,296. Did you on the part of Mr. Monson?—I wrote a few lines, I put down a dozen names.

18,297. I asked you that particularly?—I think you mentioned Mr. Gower's name instead of Mr. Monson's.

18,298. I asked you on both sides whether you did any writing at all of any names of persons?—I put down about a dozen names.

18,299. Of railway men?—Yes, of railway men.

18,300. To Mr. Shepherd?—No, Mr. Shepherd was there himself; I gave it him.

18,301. Any monies attached to the names?—Any amounts?

18,302. Yes?—Well, the men on that occasion were dissatisfied at knowing the election was coming off so soon. It was expected it would extend over two or three weeks more.

18,303. Then it would only come to about 4*l.* 10*s.*?—That was all; they were dissatisfied, they wanted more.

18,304. Did you put down more?—I put down the names of those present, and handed them to Mr. Shepherd for him to see whether more could be had.

18,305. Putting down 4*l.* 10*s.* to each name?—No; it was well known what they had, that they had 30*s.* a week. No amount was put to the names, and

TWELFTH DAY.

E. Burlton.

4 Sept. 1866.

Mr. Shepherd afterwards reported that nothing more could be had, nothing but the 4*l.* 10*s.* would be allowed.

18,306. (The Chief Commissioner.) I understand you to say that in 1865 you put down some names on the part of the railway men for Mr. Shepherd?—Yes, they were present at the meeting.

18,307. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It was a meeting of the committee of the dissatisfied men, to see whether or not more could be got for them?—That was it.

18,308. Are you aware whether the paper was handed up to the head committee?—I do not know.

18,309. It was written to show them?—Yes, it was written for that purpose; I do not know whether it was seen.

18,310. It was to be sent higher than Mr. Shepherd?—Yes.

18,311. To know whether they could get more?—To know whether they could be allowed any more; the people were dissatisfied with the time.

18,312. Was more allowed?—It was not, and the men were disappointed.

18,313. Did you get back the paper?—No, I did not; I did not see it again.

18,314. You left it with Mr. Shepherd?—Yes.

18,315. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you recollect any names in the list?—I remember four or five.

G. Cheyney.

GEORGE CHEYNEY sworn and examined.

18,316. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were a voter at the last election, and voted for Mr. Monson, did you not?—Yes.

18,317. And what rent did you pay at that time to entitle you to your vote?—I believe I was entitled to a vote out of my own house.

18,318. A freehold?—Yes, a freehold.

18,319. What was the value of the freehold?—It is rated at 28*l.*

18,320. What are you?—A railway clerk.

18,321. And you were that at the election?—Yes.

18,322. Can you tell me what time of the polling day you voted?—I believe, as far as I can remember, it would be about 1 o'clock.

13,323. And you got a holiday for the day?—No, I was at work.

18,324. Did you go by yourself to the poll?—By myself.

18,325. Did any one come and give you notice that it was time, or something of that sort?—I was never spoken to, that I can remember, on that day about it.

18,326. When had you first made up your mind to vote for Mr. Monson?—I should think very soon after Mr. Monson came forward; he came to me and asked me for my vote, which I promised him.

18,327. Was any one with him when he came; did Mr. Shepherd introduce you to him?—No.

18,328. Did any one?—No, I believe not. He called at the station as I was in the office, and he saw me there, I believe by myself.

18,329. You know Mr. Shepherd?—Yes.

18,330. How is he connected with the railway?—He was at that time plumber, but he has left now some time.

18,331. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you know where he is?—No, I do not; I have not seen him for this last three weeks.

18,332. Did you know that he took an active part in the election?—Yes.

18,333. Did he say anything about your vote?—Yes, he asked me for whom I was going to vote.

18,334. Was that at the beginning?—About three or four weeks before the election.

18,335. Yes, he called and asked you for whom you were going to vote. Did he urge you at all, or had you made up your mind?—I had made up my mind, and I told him Mr. Monson.

18,336. Then was he satisfied?—He said, "If you "give your vote for Mr. Monson, I suppose you have "no objection to your name being put down on the "committee, and you should be paid." He asked me first of all if I would take an active part in it. I said no, I would not, I had taken an active part in several of the elections before, and had never received anything; in fact, I was money out of pocket for all of them, and I would have nothing to do with it. He said I should be paid, and I said, "If I am paid it is a "different thing."

18,337. Do you mean that literally, that, having taken an active part in previous elections, you had not been paid a shilling?—I said that I had paid money out of my own pocket which I had never had returned to me.

18,338. No portion of it?—No portion of it.

18,339. Mr. Shepherd having mentioned that, you cried, "Done!"?—Yes.

18,340. And you went on the committee?—Yes.

18,341. Did you attend any committee meeting at all?—I do not remember that I did.

18,342. You had a good deal to do, you were pretty well employed at your own business?—Yes.

18,343. You allowed your name to be placed on the committee; what money did you receive before the election took place?—4*l.* 10*s.*

18,344. From whom?—Mr. Shepherd.

18,345. Can you tell me whether that was before the polling day?—Yes, before the polling day.

18,346. Where was Mr. Shepherd when he paid you the money; was he near the railway?—At the railway.

18,347. Did he tell you at that time, if he had not before that, that if you attended at the nomination and polling days there would be something for that?—I have no recollection of his telling me so.

18,348. I do not say what, but I will if you like?—I have no recollection of his telling me anything.

18,349. Do you not recollect that he said there would be 1*l.* more if you attended the nomination day and 1*l.* if you attended the polling day; 1*l.* for each day?—He never told me that.

18,350. He never told you that?—No.

18,351. Did he not lead you to expect you might get it?—I never heard such a thing either from him or any one else.

18,352. We will see. You know a good many of the railway men?—Yes.

18,353. We heard there were from 20 to 30; I dare say you can tell us how many of the railway voters there were?—I should think about 20.

18,354. About 20; do you not agree with Mr. Burlton?

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien remarked that he thought the witness had said 30.

(The Witness stated there were about 30.)

18,355. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you not know the number of them?—There were about 20 or 30.

18,356. Did you not know before the election came on that some of the men were not quite satisfied with the terms on which they had gone to work?—Yes, they were dissatisfied.

18,357. Did you not know that they wanted to have, in addition to the 4*l.* 10*s.*, to be allowed something for the nomination day and something for the polling day?—I do not remember.

18,358. Do you not remember when you heard that these men were dissatisfied, and perhaps they told you themselves, that they sent a kind of deputation to Mr. Shepherd?—It might have been so, but it has slipped my memory.

18,359. It is a thing you would remember?—No, I took no notice of it after, I thought the job was done with.

18,360. Do you remember seeing a paper with any names?—I do not recollect.

18,361. Did you hear of such a thing being done, and a list made out?—I heard just now, when you were inquiring of Mr. Burlton, that there was such a thing.

18,362. Was your name put down on any committee at all?—Not that I know of.

18,363. You heard of a class of men being dissatisfied with the terms, probably you will recollect whether you joined in the same feeling which they had?—I do not recollect that I did; I do not think my name was down.

18,364. You knew what was going on; did you not anticipate your name would be put down?—No, I cannot say that I did.

18,365. If you recollect, it was owing to the men finding out they had been called on the committee too soon, and the sum that was paid was not enough for the long time they had to work. That was the reason I think, and it seems plausible enough. Do you not recollect empowering somebody or other to put your name down on the list?—I really do not remember it, but I might have done.

18,366. You remember a list being talked about?—Yes.

18,367. We have heard that it was not successful, and that Shepherd said——?—That it was all that we should receive.

18,368. That very phrase of yours leads me to suppose that you were taking part in that dissatisfaction, and therefore perhaps you will answer now that probably your name did appear?—As I said before, it might.

18,369. I do not wish to press you at all too far, but will you not go a little further than you did before, and say that probably you did authorize your name to be put down?—I might have said so, but I have no recollection of it.

18,370. Mr. Shepherd was the man, I suppose, who afterwards paid you?—Yes.

18,371. When did he pay you?—I do not recollect the exact time.

18,372. It was before the election?—Yes.

18,373. In what way did he pay you, by money or cheque?—Money.

18,374. Not by cheque?—No.

18,375. At the railway?—Yes, about the station. I think it was just at the station yard.

18,376. Were the men brought together and then walked in one by one?—He paid me as he met me; there was no one present but ourselves.

18,377. If you were one of the dissatisfied, he must have known it; did he lead you to expect anything more?—We expected that we might perhaps get another 30*s.* for the week after the Saturday.

18,378. Did he lead you to think that there was was any future hope for you?—Not after the election.

18,379. He did at the time lead you to think on the Saturday that another 30*s.* might come?—Yes.

18,380. Did you see Mr. Shepherd the next Saturday about it?—No, I met him.

18,381. Did you ask him about the 30*s.*?—I think very probably I did, but I do not recollect the exact time.

18,382. You did not get it?—No, I did not.

18,383. Did you see any one in attendance with Mr. Shepherd?—No, I met him in the yard.

18,384. Was any one with Mr. Shepherd when he had the conversation with you and told you on what terms you should work?—No.

18,385. You voted before, in 1863?—Yes.

18,386. Had you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

18,387. What made you make up your mind to vote for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863?—I saw Mr. Norman Wilkinson and Mr. William Arthur Wilkinson; I believed Mr. Wilkinson to be the most fit representative for the borough. Mr. Norman Wilkinson came with his brother and asked me for my vote, and I promised it him.

18,388. Did you receive anything whatever for your vote?—No.

18,389. Either at that time, or after?—No.

18,390. Not any money?—No.

18,391. Nor money's worth?—No.

18,392. You mean that literally?—I mean literally I received nothing from him, I was money out of pocket, and I lost my time.

18,393. Do you recollect whether you were canvassed by Mr. Norman Wilkinson and Mr. Wilkinson some time before the election in '63?—Some little time before.

18,394. A fortnight or three weeks?—Longer than that.

18,395. Then your vote was promised to him a good time before the election?—Six weeks.

18,396. Was not any application made to you on behalf of Mr. Gower's party?—Mr. Gower never once called on me.

18,397. I do not say by Mr. Gower, but by some one on his behalf?—No, I believe it was generally understood with me that I was going to vote for Mr. Wilkinson. There were several spoke to me about it, and I said I had promised Mr. Wilkinson and I would vote for him.

18,398. Tell me how your brother railway officials voted in 1863?—Principally for Mr. Wilkinson.

18,399. Was there any rumour at that time that they had got anything for their votes—mind you are to tell me honestly?—I never heard of any money being received during the election from Mr. Wilkinson.

18,400. What do you mean by "any money;" be quite candid about it, if you please?—I never heard of any one receiving anything, either money or money's worth, from Mr. Wilkinson on behalf of his brother.

18,401. Or from his agents?—Or from his agents.

18,402. You mean they voted as purely as you did?—I believe they did.

18,403. Do you believe that that may be said of the voting of the railway officials?—I believe so.

18,404. In '63?—Yes, in '63.

18,405. Because I am going to take your word. You believe the body of the railway officials voted on the same terms as you did?—Yes.

18,406. And that is honestly?—Yes.

18,407. You have been in elections before that?—Yes.

18,408. You voted in the general election of 1859, when Mr. Wilkinson and the Hon. Mr. Monson were the candidates?—Yes.

18,409. Who did you vote for then?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

18,410. Tell me, did you receive anything at that election?—Nothing at all.

18,411. Did you vote under the expectation or with the promise of anything?—No.

18,412. It was an honest vote?—It was an honest vote.

18,413. On that occasion did the railway officials in a body vote for Mr. Wilkinson; that was in 1859?—Yes, I believe the generality of them voted for Mr. Wilkinson then.

18,414. I believe Mr. Wilkinson's brother had a good deal of influence, had he not?—Yes.

18,415. Among the voters?—I never heard much of him before the election came on; he was never introduced to me.

18,416. Had you voted at an earlier election than that, at the second election in 1858, when Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson had a contest?—Yes.

18,417. Who did you vote for then?—Mr. Wilkinson.

18,418. I am going to ask you the same question

TWELFTH DAY.

G. Cheyney.

4 Sept. 1866.

about that; did you get anything for your vote then?—No; none for the time that I was about.

18,419. I meant all your answers to include that, that you did not receive anything for loss of time or anything else?—I received nothing.

18,420. If there was any occasion on which you received anything for loss of time you must tell me?—I never received anything for loss of time from any one.

18,421. Did you vote upon the occasion of the first election in 1858; that was what we call the Doulton election?—Yes.

18,422. Who for?—For Colonel Rawlinson.

18,423. You see Mr. Wilkinson was up then; perhaps you will not mind answering, if I ask you why you voted for Mr. Rawlinson. There was Mr. Doulton, Mr. Rawlinson, and Mr. Monson stood besides. Mr. Rawlinson was returned?—I thought that Mr. Wilkinson had been badly used, and that if there was any chance it would be better to vote against Mr. Doulton; so I voted for Colonel Rawlinson against Mr. Doulton. I thought Mr. Wilkinson had no chance of getting in.

18,424. Was there any consideration that you received for doing that?—Nothing whatever.

18,425. I use the word consideration as the most fit word I can think of. You recollect what we call the Doulton election, I dare say?—I do not recollect much of it.

18,426. I suppose on the Doulton side they did not leave you quite quiet at the railway yard?—Mr. Doulton never canvassed me, not once.

18,427. Money was going very freely at that election, we hear?—It was.

18,428. Did you see much money going about?—No.

18,429. Were you offered any?—Not by any one.

18,430. Who came down and canvassed the railway men?—I do not know whether Mr. Doulton came, or whether he did not. I believe he did see some of them, but I have no recollection of seeing Mr. Doulton.

18,431. Did any of the railway men on that occasion vote for Mr. Doulton?—I do not recollect that they did.

18,432. Well, try and recollect?—I had only just come to the station, and I knew very little of them.

18,433. That was your first election?—Yes.

18,434. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you live in the town of Reigate before you went to work for the railway?—No, I came from Dover.

18,435. You must have been some time at the railway, because you had got your qualification?—I was in the company's service at Dover, and I came from Dover to work here at Redhill. I have been in the railway service 12 or 13 years.

18,436. If you did not attend any of the committee meetings, did you attend any of the refreshment houses in 1865?—I think I was twice at Mr. Langridge's.

18,437. I suppose you did not pay for what you had?—I do not recollect. Yes, I did in part, and I think there was part for which I did not pay.

The witness then withdrew.

G. Carter.

GEORGE CARTER called, sworn, and examined.

18,438. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A coke-man at the Redhill station; I give out the coke for the engine.

18,439. Are you a voter?—Yes.

18,440. For this borough?—Yes.

18,441. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

18,442. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Monson.

18,443. What rented house do you occupy?—5s. 6d. a week at that time; now it is 6s.

18,444. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Shepherd.

18,445. When Shepherd asked you to vote, did he ask you to go on the committee?—Yes.

18,446. Were you to get anything for going on the committee?—Yes, we were to get paid for our services.

18,447. What were you to get?—30s. a week for three weeks was what we had.

18,448. When was that paid?—At three different times; once on Saturday night, once I had it on Sunday, and once on Monday.

18,449. Each time from Shepherd?—Yes.

18,450. Were you paid at the station?—No, whenever I met him.

18,451. Did you attend the committee?—Yes, sometimes.

18,452. How many committees did you attend?—Three or four perhaps. I work one week at nights and one week in the day at my calling; so I went when I could.

18,453. That is your work as coke-man?—Yes.

18,454. When you were off your work you went on your committee?—Yes.

18,455. You only went three or four times during the three weeks?—It might be four times.

18,456. Which committee did you attend?—Mr. Langridge's.

18,457. At the beer house?—Yes.

18,458. Was there refreshment there?—Yes.

18,459. I suppose you partook of it?—Yes; I paid for some sometimes.

18,460. And you did not pay for some sometimes?—No.

18,461. I suppose it was oftener that you did not pay?—I do not know; I did not take a great deal.

18,462. What was your work at the committee?—I stood ready for anything they wanted me to do.

18,463. Did they ask you to do anything?—They asked me if I knew any one that was likely to vote for Mr. Monson.

18,464. Did you know anybody likely?—Sometimes I used to tell them I thought I could get one, you know.

18,465. Did you ever go after one?—No, I have never been particularly after them; I only told them I thought that was the best side to come.

18,466. How many of these men did you go after and tell them that was the best side to come?—I do not know that I did any one in particular; I used to talk about it when I was with them.

18,467. If they fell in your way?—Yes.

18,468. That was the extent of your work I suppose?—Yes; I never done a great deal more than that.

18,469. Then you were pretty well paid?—Well, I was satisfied with what I got.

18,470. Did you ever put your name to a requisition for a little more pay?—I have no recollection of it.

18,471. Did you ever authorize your name to be put on a piece of paper?—If I did I forget it.

18,472. Could you have done it and forgotten it?—I have no recollection of it.

18,473. Do you recollect going to Mr. Nichols at any time about pay?—No, I never went to Mr. Nichols.

18,474. Do you know of any of your fellow railway men having gone to Mr. Nichols?—I believe John Shepherd used to go there.

18,475. Did you ever speak to John Shepherd about putting your name down, wanting a little more pay?—I have not any recollection about it; I might have done so.

18,476. You were not quite satisfied with that 4*l.* 10*s.*; did you ever expect to get another 30*s.*?—We expected to get something for the nomination and polling day.

18,477. What did you expect to get for the nomination and polling?—We expected 1*l.* each day.

18,478. All of you?—Yes.

18,479. Did you expect to get, in some way or other, another 30*s.*; something on the following Saturday night?—We expected to get 2*l.*, or the week's pay.

18,480. Either 2*l.* or 30*s.*?—Yes.

18,481. Did you ever hear from Shepherd that the railway men, as a body, wanted to get a sum of 8*l.* each?—No, I never heard of that.

18,482. You heard the sum of 8*l.* mentioned, did you not?—No, I did not hear anything about 8*l.* at all.

18,483. But you heard about the 1*l.* for the polling day, and 1*l.* for the nomination?—That is what we expected to get.

18,484. Did you ever hear from Shepherd that he had asked Nichols about that?—He said he had applied for more, but could not get it.

18,485. How long before the election was that?—I think about a month before the election came off.

18,486. When Shepherd told you that he had applied to Nichols for more money for you men?—I think about a week or 10 days, something like that.

18,487. Before the election?—Yes; I am not sure what day it was.

18,488. I suppose you railway people met together a good deal, and talked over these things?—Yes.

18,489. Was it not a matter of common talk amongst you that there was something like 8*l.*?—I never heard the sound of 8*l.*

18,490. You heard the sound of 1*l.* 10*s.* for the Saturday night, and 1*l.* for each of the two days?—Yes.

18,491. Did you ever apply for more money?—I never applied; I believe Shepherd did.

18,492. Did he tell you so?—He said there was no chance of getting more, that is all.

18,493. (Mr. Commissioner Q'Brien.) That was after the election I am afraid?—Yes.

18,494. ((Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Shepherd tell you where he had got the money from that he paid you?—No, I never saw anything about it.

18,495. Did he ever tell you where he got the money from?—He never told me.

18,496. You did not go to Nichols yourself with the other men?—No.

18,497. Or with Shepherd?—No.

18,498. Were you ever at the "Grapes"?—Yes, many times.

18,499. When you have been at the "Grapes" have you ever spoken to Nichols about the election matters?—I have been in the house since he has kept it.

18,500. I mean during the time of the election?—I was not in the "Grapes" at all during the election.

18,501. Never?—No.

18,502. Were you ever at Holdsworth's?—At the "Bell"?

18,503. You do not know Holdsworth's?—No.

18,504. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were paid that 4*l.* at three different times?—Yes.

18,505. Can you recollect what day the last was paid?—The first was on Saturday, the next on Sunday, and the next on Monday; so that the last must have been on Monday.

18,506. Was it 30*s.* each payment?—Yes, a sovereign and a half.

18,507. Do you mean that it was on the following days?—No, a week apart.

18,508. He did not come down three days running?—No.

18,509. These were the terms you were going upon for Mr. Monson; what were Mr. Gower's terms?—I do not know what they were.

18,510. Did you hear what Mr. Gower's terms were?—I did not hear what anything was particularly.

18,511. Never mind about particularly—generally. I do not want to know whether any particular friend of yours was offered a particular sum; but, tell me, what were the terms that were said to be offered?—I did not hear anything said.

18,512. You said just now that you did not hear particularly?—No; I have heard several sums mentioned.

18,513. That is what I want to know?—Such as 3*l.*, 5*l.*, and so on.

18,514. Do you mean a week, or for the whole thing?—5*l.*

18,515. That would be rather better terms than yours?—I never had it offered to me.

18,516. Where did you go to inquire what Mr. Gower's terms were?—Nowhere particularly.

18,517. About the platform?—Yes.

18,518. Was it there you heard it?—It might be there; I forget the place where I heard it particularly.

18,519. Did anybody come to you from Mr. Gower?—No.

18,520. Did you vote at the previous election of 1863?—Yes.

18,521. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

18,522. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee at that time?—Yes.

18,523. What did you get for work?—I got 5*l.* for my services.

18,524. Were your services in 1863 as valuable as they were in 1865?—I do not think there was any difference.

18,525. You do not consider that 5*l.* as for your vote, I suppose?—No, it was for being on the committee.

18,526. Did you have anything offered by the Wilkinson party in 1863?—No.

18,527. Did you get your 5*l.*?—Yes.

18,528. Who paid it?—I was paid 3*l.* through Mr. Smith. Mr. Buckland paid me 3*l.*; he gave me a cheque.

18,529. Was that one of Mr. Buckland's cheques?—It was through Mr. Smith, I believe.

18,530. Was it one of Mr. Smith's cheques?—Yes.

18,531. Who paid the other 2*l.*?—Buckland paid me the other 2*l.* afterwards.

18,532. Was that by cheque?—No, that was in money.

18,533. Did you get that before or after the election?—After the election, all of it.

18,534. How long after the election?—It might be six weeks or two months; something of that kind; I did not put down the date.

18,535. Where did you give your services for the 5*l.*?—Sometimes in one place, and sometimes in another.

18,536. You were not merely at one house?—No.

18,537. How many committee meetings did you attend in 1863, do you think? four or five?—Yes, quite that; half a dozen, I should think.

18,538. Were you well acquainted with the voters?—No, not all.

18,539. Some of them?—Yes.

18,540. Many?—Perhaps it might be one-third of the voters.

18,541. Did you canvass any of them?—Not particularly; I used to send them to the committee.

18,542. If you met them?—Yes, if I thought they were likely.

18,543. If they came in your way?—I sometimes walked a few miles for them.

18,544. Not many?—I did not exert myself much.

18,545. Were you to have anything on that occasion for the polling and the nomination day, when you voted for Mr. Gower?—No.

18,546. Did you attend the nomination?—Yes.

18,547. And, of course, the polling?—Yes, of course.

TWELFTH DAY.

G. Carter.

4 Sept. 1866.

18,548. Were you at that time in the railway company's service?—Yes.

18,549. Just the same as you are now?—Yes, just the same.

18,550. Had you voted at any previous election?—Yes, for Mr. Rawlinson.

18,551. When was that?—It was when he got in.

18,552. That was in 1858?—Yes, perhaps it might be.

18,553. Did you vote in 1859?—Yes, I voted for Mr. Wilkinson in 1859.

18,554. Did you get anything for your services on that occasion?—No.

18,555. Did you work?—I got from Mr. Wilkinson 25*s.* for sticking bills; that is all I ever had of him.

18,556. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who paid you that?—Mr. Frederick Joyes.

18,557. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you find your own paste?—I believe it was mixed up for me before I started.

18,558. How many days were you sticking bills?—Five days, I believe it was.

18,559. You were out five days?—Yes.

18,560. All day?—Yes.

18,561. How did you manage with your railway?—I was not on the railway at that time.

18,562. What were you in 1859?—I was a coal-heaver; I used to work occasionally at piece-work, and I had many odd hours to myself then.

18,563. Had you a regular master in 1859?—Yes, I used to work at the coal wharf at that time; but many days I had not much to do.

18,564. Were you paid by the job?—By the piece; so much a ton.

18,565. In your off-times you stuck bills for Mr. Joyes?—Yes.

18,566. You voted for Rawlinson in 1858?—Yes, when he got into the House.

18,567. Did you get anything for your services on that occasion?—Not a halfpenny.

18,568. Did you render any services?—No, I did not do anything for him particularly; nothing at all more than to go and vote.

18,569. But you did not do much in particular for any of the others?—No.

18,570. Did you get anything at all when you voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson?—I did not get anything.

18,571. Who was it that opposed Sir Henry Rawlinson on that occasion? Mr. Wilkinson, was it not?—Yes.

18,572. Had you anything offered you on the part of Mr. Wilkinson in 1858?—No, there was a ballot then, and one was balloted out; the others went to the poll. I believe Ralph Walters was balloted out.

18,573. Was that the election when Mr. Doulton came in?—Yes.

18,574. Doulton was balloted in, was he not?—Doulton and Rawlinson stood, I believe.

18,575. Mr. Wilkinson was balloted out, was he not?—Yes, I balloted him, and then I went for Rawlinson.

18,576. When that ballot took place did any one come to you and talk about the balloting?—No, no one; only I heard they were going to ballot, and I went and balloted, and then went to my work again.

18,577. No one spoke to you about the ballot?—No; only they told me how to do it when I got there.

18,578. What did you hear in the town? there was a great deal of interest for getting Mr. Doulton in?—I heard talk of throwing money about, but I never saw any of it.

18,579. On account of the ballot?—No, the election altogether.

18,580. Was there not money given on account of the ballot, on the part of Mr. Doulton?—I never saw any.

18,581. Did you see Mr. Roupell at that election?—No; I should not have known him if I had.

18,582. Mr. Roupell did not come to you?—No.

18,583. You got no pay offered for voting for Sir Henry Rawlinson or for balloting?—No, not at all. I never got a halfpenny.

18,584. Did you vote at the election before that, the general election in 1857?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson then.

18,585. No; that was Mr. Hackblock and Sir Henry Rawlinson?—Then I am wrong; I did not.

18,586. You did not vote then?—No.

18,587. Were you an elector then?—Yes, I believe I was.

18,588. You were an elector in 1852?—Yes.

18,589. When Mr. Cocks and Major Parrott were the candidates?—Yes, I was.

18,590. Did you vote at that election?—Yes; that was for Parrott.

18,591. Do you recollect what you were then?—I was a coalheaver at that time.

18,592. Did you give your services at that election on the committees?—Yes, I did.

18,593. Did you receive anything for your vote at that election?—No, nothing.

18,594. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You voted for Mr. Gower in 1863?—Yes.

18,595. I suppose a good many of the railway people supported Mr. Gower in 1863?—No, there was not a good many, not above three or four, I think, belonging to the station.

18,596. You were among the three or four who supported him in 1863?—Yes.

18,597. How was it you escaped from him in 1865? Did they not come to you? They gave you 5*l.*; that was decent pay?—I met Mr. Gower, and he asked me if I saw any reason why he should not come out again, and I said "No;" that is all we said.

18,598. They did not come to you again?—No.

18,599. You found they were slack in coming?—They did not come any more.

18,600. Then you joined the other men?—Yes.

18,601. A great number of men together?—18 or 20.

18,602. You joined them, and you all agreed to vote for Monson?—Yes.

18,603. (The Chief Commissioner.) What is the name of the station-master?—Nash.

18,604. Where does he live?—Close to the station.

18,605. Does he look after the men out of doors as well as the clerks inside?—He is over the porters; Mr. Wetherburn is my master.

18,606. Does he live there?—Yes, close to the station.

J. Compton.

JAMES COMPTON called, sworn, and examined.

18,607. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a voter?—Yes.

18,608. What are you?—A platelayer.

18,609. Connected with the railway?—Yes.

18,610. What rent do you pay for the house for which you vote?—It is worth about 15*l.* or 16*l.* a year.

18,611. You voted for Mr. Monson at the last election?—Yes.

18,612. Do you recollect when an arrangement was made with Mr. Shepherd about your all voting for Mr. Monson?—No, I do not recollect any arrangement made.

18,613. Any understanding come to?—I never had no understanding with Shepherd about voting for Mr. Monson; I promised Mr. Monson my vote, and I gave it; I promised him myself.

18,614. But you saw Mr. Shepherd on the subject?—No, not on that subject.

18,615. He spoke to you on the subject?—He spoke to me about being on the committee.

18,616. That is the subject of the election?—Yes.

18,617. You know that a number of the railway people were on the committee, did you not?—Yes, I knew there were some.

18,618. Just as you were?—Yes.

18,619. How long before the polling day was it that he spoke to you as to being on the committee?—About three weeks; between three weeks and a month.

18,620. At that time you thought the election would not come off so soon?—I had no idea when it was coming off.

18,621. What were you to have weekly?—After he arranged with me being on the committee I was to have 30*s.* a week.

18,622. I suppose you then promised to vote for Mr. Monson?—I promised Mr. Monson before that.

18,623. But you told Mr. Shepherd that you would vote for him, of course?—Yes.

18,624. How much did you get?—4*l.* 10*s.*

18,625. Did you get it in a bulk sum?—No, weekly.

18,626. He came round weekly, did he?—He came to my house.

18,627. Can you tell me the last time he paid you? Was it the Saturday before the polling?—I suppose it was, as far as I can recollect.

18,628. Then you expected, did you not, to be paid for the next week?—No, I did not.

18,629. Why not? There was no reason why you should not?—I never expected anything about it, because the polling day was coming off.

18,630. That was the time when you would do the most work; why should that week be left out?—I do not know anything about that. If the polling day had not come off for another week I might have expected it the next week.

18,631. The last 30*s.* you were paid on the Saturday before the polling day?—Yes.

18,632. The polling day was on the Wednesday: why should you not have the 30*s.* for the next week?—I was satisfied with what I had got.

18,633. But you expected the 30*s.*?—No, I did not.

18,634. You had heard that Shepherd had applied for more money for you?—No, I never heard it.

18,635. Was not your name down on the list?—I do not know that it was.

18,636. Just recollect: was not your name one of those on the list? If you were paid 4*l.* 10*s.*, why should you not have 1*l.* 10*s.* more?—I know nothing more about the 1*l.* 10*s.*

18,637. Why should you not be paid for the week in which the polling day was?—I am sure I do not know why.

18,638. Do you not know that a number of men applied to Shepherd about it?—I do not know that they did.

18,639. Did you not hear that they did?—No.

18,640. Did you not hear that there was no more money for them after the election?—I never heard him say so.

18,641. Did you not hear many of your fellow workmen say that Shepherd had said that there was no more to be had?—I do not recollect that.

18,642. Indeed you can?—I cannot.

18,643. Did you not inquire about it?—No, I never inquired about it.

18,644. Were you in the habit of seeing Shepherd almost every day after the election?—I used to see him perhaps every other day; every day, for what I know.

18,645. After the election?—Yes, I have seen him after the election.

18,646. Do you mean to tell me that after the election you did not speak to Shepherd about it?—No, not a word.

18,647. Nor he to you?—Nor he to me.

18,648. Was this the first time you had voted?—No.

18,649. When did you vote before?—I think I voted for Mr. Hackblock first.

18,650. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

18,651. For whom?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

18,652. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

18,653. You worked for him, did you not?—No.

18,654. What did you receive?—Nothing at all.

18,655. Not for Wilkinson?—No.

18,656. Mr. Norman Wilkinson, I understand, was very well known to the railway porters?—Very well known.

18,657. And very much respected by them?—Yes.

18,658. I believe he was a director of the railway at the time?—He might have been.

18,659. You voted in 1859, did you?—Yes.

18,660. For whom?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson three times.

18,661. Then you voted for Mr. Hackblock in 1857?—Yes.

18,662. Were you employed on his committee at all?—No.

18,663. And you got nothing?—No.

18,664. Did you attend any of the committee meetings at all at the last election in 1865?—Yes, I attended Mr. Langridge's committee rooms.

18,665. Can you tell me the first committee meeting you attended?—I cannot tell exactly; something like three weeks before the election.

18,666. Where was it?—At Mr. Langridge's.

18,667. What night was it, do you recollect?—I cannot recollect.

18,668. That was about 10 days, was it not, before the polling day?—I attended a great many times.

18,669. That was about 10 days before the polling day, was it not?—I cannot say whether it was 10 days or not. I attended the committee meeting.

18,670. Did you attend the next meeting after Mr. Shepherd spoke to you?—I attended them all. I do not know whether after he spoke to me or before.

18,671. Why should you attend before he spoke to you?—Because I understood there was going to be one there.

18,672. And you understood you were to be on it?—Yes.

18,673. Then you attended committee meetings before Mr. Shepherd spoke to you?—Yes.

18,674. And it was 10 days before the election that Mr. Shepherd spoke to you?—Yes, I cannot tell.

18,675. About 10 days or a fortnight?—It must have been more than that.

18,676. You had been attending the committee, and he told you, did he not, that you would be paid for what you had attended?—He told me I should receive 30*s.* a week for my duties.

18,677. He told you you would have 30*s.* for what you had attended?—I cannot say whether he said for what I had attended. He paid me as I went on, weekly.

18,678. You were paid for what you had attended?—Yes.

18,679. Besides attending the committee, what else did you do?—I went to sit on the committee.

18,680. You did not sit on the committee; you sat on a chair in the committee room, and drank beer, is that it?—Yes, I beg your pardon.

18,681. You sat in the room, did you not?—I was in the room.

18,682. You sat there and had some refreshment?—Yes, I had some refreshment, and paid for what I called for.

18,683. You did not always pay; you were a committee man?—I might have drunk with a friend.

18,684. Of course you did not always pay?—I did not pay for all.

18,685. You did not pay for all you drank?—I might not have paid for all I drank; I might have drunk with a friend once or twice.

18,686. How many meetings did you attend in that way, sitting down, and having some beer?—Three or four; it may be five. I forget.

18,687. Three or four in one week?—No, during the time.

18,688. How long did it last; the committee meet-

TWELFTH DAY.

J. Compton.

ing at which you took your beer?—Two or three hours.

18,689. What else was done besides smoking, and drinking, and talking?—It required a great deal of study; very hard work for me.

18,690. What study was there? — To consider whether I was going to send a proper man to the House to represent the borough of Reigate.

18,691. I thought you had all made up your minds to that?—I made up my mind after I had promised.

18,692. That was long before you were a committee man; I am asking what you did as a committee man? —The principal thing I did was to give Mr. Monson my vote.

18,693. It was the only thing?—It was all I could do.

18,694. That is all you did?—Besides persuading others that had not promised anybody their vote. I persuaded them to vote for Monson.

18,695. Why, you know Shepherd persuaded them; who did you persuade?—Any of my fellow workpeople.

18,696. Can you tell me any whom you persuaded? —I cannot recollect which men personally; all that I knew anything about that I thought were inclined to go that way.

18,697. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you not expect to receive something for the nomination and polling day?—No, I did not.

E. Hayward.

EDWARD HAYWARD called, sworn, and examined.

18,698. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you employed by the railway?—Yes.

18,699. And were at the election?—Yes.

18,700. Do you live in a house and vote for it?—I live in a house.

18,701. Is that the house you vote for?—Yes.

18,702. What is the rent you pay for it?—5*s.* a week; it was 4*s.* 6*d.* at the time of the election.

18,703. What are you on the railway?—Carriage examiner.

18,704. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

18,705. Who asked you to vote for him?—He asked me himself.

18,706. Did you promise him at that time when he asked you himself?—I did not.

18,707. You said you would think about it, or something like that?—Yes.

18,708. Who asked you afterwards, and persuaded you to give your vote to him?—Mr. Shepherd.

18,709. Why did you promise Mr. Shepherd?—I understood that we were to have 30*s.* a week if we voted for Mr. Monson, to go on his committee.

18,710. Can you tell me about the time when you and Shepherd came to that understanding?—It was something like three or four weeks before the election.

18,711. You got 4*l.* 10*s.*, did you not?—Yes.

18,712. Were you paid that 4*l.* 10*s.* in a lump?—No, weekly.

18,713. By Shepherd?—Yes.

18,714. If it was four weeks you were not very well paid?—I cannot say exactly the time.

18,715. I should like to know, if you can tell me?—I cannot say exactly.

18,716. Did Shepherd tell you where the money came from?—No.

18,717. Do you know where he got the money from?—No, I do not.

18,718. You heard somebody else's name mentioned, did you not, by Shepherd?—No, not that I am aware of.

18,719. Do you recollect that occurring that we have been talking about, when the men were not quite satisfied with the pay?—Yes.

18,720. There was a kind of deputation; who was that deputation to go to?—That was to go to Mr. Nichols.

18,721. Who mentioned that Mr. Nichols was the right person to go to?—I am sure I cannot say.

18,722. You would not know anybody behind Shepherd's back, unless he or somebody else told you?—He never told me that he drew money from Mr. Nichols.

18,723. How did you find out that Nichols was the man to go to?—I do not know, it was talked about; he was Mr. Monson's agent, and was the proper man to go to.

18,724. Before you had the deputation you remonstrated with Shepherd, did you not?—Yes.

18,725. Did Shepherd say, "It is no good, I have "no authority to give you more than that," or something like that?—Yes.

18,726. Did he say, "You had better go to some one "else"?—He said he could not give more than that, and he would see Mr. Nichols.

18,727. Then he did mention somebody's name?—Yes.

18,728. Was your name down on the list, on what we have called the deputation?—I believe it was.

18,729. Did you write it yourself?—No.

18,730. Who did you desire to write it for you? Did you get Burlton to write it for you?—I think Burlton wrote them all.

18,731. Did you see him write them?—No, I think not. I was in the room the same evening, but not, I think, at the time they were written.

18,732. Did you hear at the time this dissatisfaction was growing up what Mr. Gower's terms were?—I had heard that they were giving 30*s.* a week.

18,733. The same as you?—Yes.

18,734. Did you not hear of anything better than that?—No.

18,735. Then you were dissatisfied with not beating them; you were not satisfied with the same terms?—We were satisfied so far as Shepherd was concerned, that we should receive 30*s.* a week or 1*l.* for the nomination and polling.

18,736. When did Shepherd tell you that?—A week before the election came off.

18,737. You were not paid 30*s.*, I suppose, for the last week?—No.

18,738. Were you paid for the nomination and polling day?—No.

18,739. You were disappointed about that?—Yes.

18,740. Who did you go to for that money?—I asked him about the 30*s.* for the last week.

18,741. Who else?—Mr. Nichols himself.

18,742. In his house?—Yes.

18,743. What did Mr. Nichols say to you?—That that was all that we should get.

18,744. What you had already been paid?—Yes.

18,745. Was it after the election you went to Nichols; that you went to his own house, and applied to him?—Yes.

18,746. You told me you had received 30*s.* weekly? Yes.

18,747. Did anybody apply to you for your vote on behalf of Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower called himself.

18,748. What did you say?—I did not see him.

18,749. Somebody else called for him afterwards? —I did not see any one; several called, but I was not at home.

18,750. Are you married?—Yes.

14,751. Did they leave a message with your wife? —Yes, and left a card.

18,752. Did you not see anybody at all on behalf of Mr. Gower?—No.

18,753. I do not mean at your own house, but anywhere?—Yes.

18,754. Who was it?—Mr. Apted.

18,755. Job Apted?—Yes.

18,756. When was it you saw Job Apted?—Three weeks, I should think, before the election.

18,757. Was that after you had come to an understanding with Shepherd or before?—That was after.

18,758. Did Apted come to you at your house ?—I do not know.

18,759. You saw him ?—Yes.

18,760. What passed between you ? Did you know him before, and did he know you ?—Yes.

18,761. He came and asked you how you were ?—No ; I came here to see him.

18,762. You went to his house ?—I went into the committee room.

18,763. Had you been waiting while the committee was doing business ?—No.

18,764. You came in and saw Apted ?—Yes.

18,765. Tell me what took place as well as you can recollect ?—I asked him to let me go on Mr. Gower's committee, as I understood they were receiving 30*s.* a week.

18,766. What did Apted say to that ?—He said he would see Mr. Gower, and asked how many there were.

18,767. How many did you tell him ?—I cannot say exactly, I should think 15 or 16.

18,768. How many were there in fact ?—I cannot say exactly.

18,769. What else was said ?—He would see Mr. Gower and see what could be done ; he said Mr. Gower was in London. I said I wished to know, because we were going on the other committee. He sent word over.

18,770. When ?—The same evening. He sent word over that Mr. Gower would not have anything to do with it, as there were so many of us, and he was afraid of a petition.

18,771. Who brought the message ?—I do not know.

18,772. Was it a young man ?—I do not know his name ; I did not see him. I was in bed when the man brought the message.

18,773. Did Apted mention any other name to you besides Mr. Gower's ?—Not that I am aware of.

18,774. Mr. Gower at that time was in London ?—Yes.

18,775. Then he could not not very well apply to him that evening ?—No.

18,776. He sent you an answer ?—Yes.

18,777. Did he tell you to whom he had been instead of Mr. Gower ?—No.

18,778. When you came and visited him here, when he said Mr. Gower was in London, did he not mention another name ?—I have no recollection of anybody else.

18,779. It is clear he did speak to somebody else about it ?—Yes ; I do not know what he did ; that was the answer.

18,780. Did he say he would send for anybody ?—No.

18,781. Did he send for anybody that you know ?—Not that I am aware of.

18,782. Who else was with him at the time in the committee room ?—Mr. Joyes.

18,783. Anybody else ?—A man of the name of Reeves.

18,784. Who was in the chair ?—We three were all that was in the room.

18,785. Did you go alone to Apted ?—I saw Mr. Apted in the room.

18,786. Did you come up from the railway alone ?—Yes.

18,787. You came, I suppose, as a kind of deputation from the other men ?—Yes.

18,788. Was there a meeting the night before, when they agreed that you should go up ?—Not where I should go.

18,789. There was an agreement come to that you should go up and see one of the agents ?—Yes.

18,790. Where was the meeting ?—We had no meeting on that, not at any of the public houses ; we only talked it over on the station amongst ourselves.

18,791. Did all these 15 or 16 men know what you were going to do ?—I believe they did.

18,792. They thought you would be a good man to work the business for them, and so they naturally asked you to go ; was that it ?—I do not know.

18,793. Did they say, "We will have this thing "done, and Hayward shall be the man to go" ?—That was so.

18,794. Was it in the evening that you came here ?—In the morning.

18,795. Did you know Apted before ?—Yes.

18,796. Did you know Joyes before ?—Yes.

18,797. And Reeves before ?—Yes.

18,798. Where was Reeves living then ?—At Redhill.

18,799. He came with you, did he ?—No.

18,800. Where is he now ; near the railway ?—Yes.

18,801. What is he ?—A switchman.

18,802. Was Reeves a voter himself ?—No.

18,803. He was one of your party, was he not ?—I do not know that he was. I met him here in the town.

18,804. He had nothing to do with your deputation ?—Not that I am aware of.

18,805. You met him here ; you would hardly expect to find him here. This was not his quarters ?—I do not know ; he was often about when he was on night duty.

18,806. Were you surprised to find him with Apted and Joyes ?—No, I did not find him ; we both went in together.

18,807. Did you have any further message or communication from Apted at all ?—No.

18,808. That was the last ?—That was the last.

18,809. It seems that there was no business to be done with Mr. Gower's people ?—No.

18,810. So you all went straight to Mr Monson ?—Yes.

18,811. Did you tell Apted when you saw him here what your terms were with Mr. Monson's party ?—I cannot say that I did.

18,812. He knew that Mr. Monson was after you. Did you tell him what the terms were ?—No.

18,813. You are sure you did not ?—Yes.

18,814. Did he not ask you ?—No.

18,815. One would have expected that you would say, "We have been offered so-and-so"?—No, he did not ask the question.

18,816. But you told him that you were in with the Monson party ?—No.

18,817. I mean that you had been talked to by the Monson party ?—I did not tell him so.

18,818. But it was told him by somebody at that time ?—No, I am sure I did not hear anyone tell him so.

18,819. Was that your first election ?—No.

18,820. Did you vote in 1863 ?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson the two last elections.

18,821. Had you voted for any one else before that ?—No.

18,822. What did you get for voting at those two elections ?—I had 4*l.* 10*s.* at the last, not from Mr. Wilkinson.

18,823. What did you get in 1863 from Mr. Wilkinson ?—Not anything.

18,824. What did you get from Mr. Wilkinson the election before that ?—Nothing.

18,825. Nothing whatever ?—Not a farthing.

18,826. Nor any consideration at all ?—Not anything at all.

18,827. To go back to 1865 ; after you had had this interview with Apted, did you go to somebody else ?—No.

18,828. Did you not see Nichols about it ?—No.

18,829. Not that evening ?—No, not that day at all.

18,830. Did you see anybody else ?—I met Mr. Shepherd at the corner ; he asked me how we had got on, and I said that we had no decided answer.

18,831. He knew what you were going about ?—Yes.

18,832. Had Shepherd been present, do you recollect, when you and the other railway men agreed

TWELFTH DAY.

E. Hayward.

that you should go up?—Shepherd knew I was coming over.

18,833. How did he know?—I told him myself.

18,834. When was that that you told him?—I cannot exactly say. About Tuesday or Wednesday, about three weeks before the election; I cannot go nearer than that.

88,835. When had Shepherd known that you were going up; the night before you went?—Yes.

18,836. He was present and heard it arranged that you should be a deputation to the Gower people?—No, I do not know that I was employed by any one.

18,837. I suppose they said, "You are a tidy man, "and we shall be obliged if you will go up." Was Shepherd present when it was agreed that you should go up and see Gower's agents the next morning?—No; I went to Shepherd myself.

18,838. During the day?—The day before I came over here.

18,839. What did you say to him?—I told him I was going to see Mr. Gower's party to see if I could get on there, as I understood they had a committee on, and that they were receiving 30*s.* a week, and that if we could get on their committee on the same terms that they were put on it would make it better for us.

18,840. So that you could work on both?—No.

18,841. The terms offered by Mr. Gower were rather better than Mr. Monson's terms?—It would have been if we had been put on when Mr. Gower's list came out.

18,842. Because you were to be paid backwards?—To be paid two weeks back.

18,843. What did Shepherd say to that?—He said he was quite agreeable.

18,844. Did he say he would come with you?—No.

18,845. What did he say more than that?—He said he did not see why one should go and have it all; he thought there must be some under-hand work belonging to it.

18,846. Belonging to what?—To my going over to Mr. Gower's party. He was frightened that I should get more money than he would. I told him I should not satisfy him where I was going before I had ascertained what I could do. Shepherd wanted to know, because then he might have come over and seen for himself.

18,847. Was Shepherd ready to go on Gower's committee, did you understand?—Yes, he was ready to go on Mr. Gower's committee.

18,848. You mean if he could get the back pay?—Yes.

18,849. What is Shepherd?—A plumber.

18,850. When you said you would not tell him who you should go to, was he annoyed at that?—Well, he did feel rather annoyed, but we had no conversation about it.

18,851. Can you give us any more information about the proceedings at the election?—No, not anything.

18,852. Did you see anything more particular take place?—No.

18,853. Were you active about it yourself?—No; I was on night duty most of the time.

18,854. Did the railway men frequently meet of an evening, and discuss how they would do?—No, I think not. There were several meetings I believe, but I only attended two or three of them.

18,855. Were those two or three meetings of an evening when the work was over?—Yes.

18,856. Where were they held,—at Langridge's?—Yes.

18,857. Was it agreed what they had better do?—Yes.

18,858. Was it understood from beginning to end that if possible they should hang together?—Yes.

18,859. They did not all hang together?—No, I think not.

18,860. For example, Joseph Smith; he was one of you?—I do not know Joseph Smith.

18,861. Was Boscawen a railway man?—Yes.

18,862. How did he go?—For Mr. Gower.

18,863. Was he looked upon as a deserter, a black sheep?—I do not know that he was at that time.

18,864. Were there many more; were there between 20 and 30 railway porters?—Yes, I think so.

18,865. You know Boscawen?—Yes.

18,866. He voted afterwards for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

18,867. He was one who had come into the same arrangement that you had made with Shepherd?—Yes.

18,868. Did he know of your coming down here to see somebody, when you saw Apted?—I cannot say whether he did.

18,869. You cannot say whether he was present when it was agreed that you should go?—I think he was not.

18,870. He had promised Shepherd in the first instance?—Yes.

18,871. Do you think that he had come over by himself the same evening, and seen Apted or some of the people here?—I do not know.

18,872. It would seem as if he had seen somebody, because he afterwards did go over?—I cannot say anything about that. All I heard him say was that he had seen Mr. Gower; that Mr. Gower had been at the station and seen him but he did not say that he had promised his vote, or that he had promised it to Mr. Monson.

18,873. I want to know how Boscawen came at last to vote for Mr. Gower?—I cannot say.

18,874. Did you consider that he was a kind of deserter?—No.

18,875. Can you tell me about how many of the railway men did vote for Mr. Gower?—I cannot say.

18,876. Do you know whether there were four or five?—I cannot say who did vote for Mr. Gower.

18,877. I mean your men?—I do not know any more than Boscawen.

18,878. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You knew that Boscawen had received money on behalf of Mr. Gower?—Yes.

18,879. And you could guess why he voted for Mr. Gower?—I can guess, but I do not know what he had, and I do not know who went to see him to get him away.

18,880. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you not a pretty strong notion at the time that he had something?—We might think that he had got something from the other party.

18,881. Did not that make the others a little discontented?—No, not that I am aware of.

18,882. Did they not say, "Hallo! Boscawen, how "is this?" As Shepherd was a little jealous of your going to see Apted, were not some of you a little discontented or jealous about Boscawen having any flirtation with Mr. Gower?—I do not know.

18,883. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You said, "If "we had been paid as Gower's men were, we should "have had our back pay"?—We heard so. It would have been a week back.

18,884. When you heard that, was it before or after you had received the money from Shepherd?—Before.

18,885. Did you go to Apted before or after you had received money from Shepherd?—We went to Apted before.

18,886. And was it as soon as you had heard that Gower's men were going to receive their back pay?—No, the list had been out nearly a fortnight.

18,887. That is Gower's committee; but what I mean to say is, that as soon as you heard that Gower's men were going to receive back pay, then you went to Apted?—Yes.

18,888. And was it in consequence of that that you then consulted together?—Yes.

18,889. Thinking you would get more from Gower's party?—Yes, we thought that Mr. Gower would be the most fitting man.

18,890. Was that the general feeling amongst you men, that Mr. Gower was the most fitting man ?—I believe it was.

18,891. If you could have arranged with Apted, and got 5l., you would have voted for Gower ?—Yes.

18,892. But not getting it, you preferred the 4l. 10*s.* and voting against your conscience ?—Yes.

18,893. That was the general feeling amongst you 16 or 17 men ?—I believe it was.

GEORGE ROOM called, sworn, and examined.

18,894. (The Chief Commissioner.) You live at what is called the Station-road, don't you ?—Yes.

18,895. I believe you are a builder ?—Yes.

18,896. You are a master builder ?—Yes.

18,897. What rent do you pay for your house ?—24*l.* a year.

18,898. Is it all occupied by yourself, or do you let out lodgings ?—I did let two rooms for a portion of time.

18,899. Do you now ?—No, I have shifted.

18,900. Then when you say you are paying 24*l.* for rent, do you mean that you were doing it ?—Yes.

18,901. You have changed your vote ?—I claim a vote now for that house; I have only shifted recently.

18,902. You used to let off two rooms ?—Yes, sometimes, and sometimes not.

18,903. You are a married man with a family ?—Yes.

18,904. Who was your landlord ?—Mr. Lees was the agent.

18,905. You voted, I think, in the last election for Gower, did not you ?—Yes.

18,906. Who persuaded you to vote for him ?—No one.

18,907. I mean, who canvassed you for your vote ?—Mr. Green. He asked me one day who I was going for, and I said "Mr. Gower."

18,908. Did he come to your house ?—No, I saw him in the Station-road.

18,909. Did you tell him who you were going for ?—Yes, I told him I was going to vote for Mr. Gower.

18,910. Had you made up your mind before ?—Yes, as soon as ever he came out.

18,911. Which came out first,—he or Monson ?—I do not know.

18,912. You asked Mr. Green to put you down on Mr. Gower's committee ?—No, not then; not at that time.

18,913. Then you told him you were going to vote for Gower. Did you see him again ?—Yes.

18,914. How long before the election ?—About three weeks, I think it was.

18,915. You asked him to put you down on Gower's committee ?—I do not know as I asked him. We were talking about it, and he said, "Will you go on ?" and I said, "Yes."

18,916. And did he say he would put you down ?—Yes.

18,917. Are you aware whether you did go down, or not ?—I was down, for anything I know to the contrary.

18,918. You suppose you were ?—Yes.

18,919. You attended the committee meetings didn't you ?—Yes, I think I attended nearly the whole of them.

18,920. Where were the committee meetings held that you attended ?—At the town hall.

18,921. I think on one or more than one occasion you took the chair ?—No.

18,922. You attended other meetings besides ?—I attended one at Bundell's.

18,923. You did attend meetings at some of the refreshment houses, didn't you ?—We were down there at Bundle's that night. That was not on account of the refreshments.

18,924. Don't misunderstand me. I do not mean that you went there for the sake of refreshments; but in one or two meetings which were held in the public houses, as we will call them, you took the chair ?—No.

18,925. Not at any ?—No, not at either.

18,926. Not at all ?—No.

18,927. And you were not even vice-chairman ?—No, nothing of the sort.

18,928. What decided you in making up your mind to vote for Gower ?—Why, I thought he was the best man, and I had voted for him before.

18,929. Were you applied to by the other side ?—No.

18,930. What, did not they pay you the compliment of asking you for your vote ?—No.

18,931. Did not any of them come to you and say they hoped you would go with them ?—No.

18,932. None of Mr. Monson's friends ?—No.

18,933. Surely you spoke to somebody about Mr. Monson ?—No, not at all.

18,934. Were you employed by Mr. Gower's party to pay the money away to the persons who assisted ?—No.

18,935. What was your work then ?—Attending at the committee rooms, and getting any votes I could.

18,936. Did you succeed in getting any votes ?—There were five or six came to the committee room.

18,937. You took them ?—Yes, they went to the agent's.

18,938. Do you know whether you succeeded in getting votes eventually from them ?—I do not know.

18,939. Some of them ?—I believe some.

18,940. Then you did something ?—Yes, I did something.

18,941. And who was the agent that you looked to ? Mr. Henry Green ?—Yes.

18,942. He was like your head man ?—Yes.

18,943. Did you pay any money out of your own pocket when you saw these men, in the way of giving them a pint of beer or half a pint of beer ?—Not on that account, but I have spent money out of my own pocket.

18,944. That would be the way in which you would do it. You would think, "If I do-so-and so, I "shall be able to get his vote ?—No, not giving beer.

18,945. But as an excuse to get him to sit down and talk ?—No, I never had one of them to sit down.

18,946. You always canvassed in the street ?—Yes.

18,947. You don't consider that you were a sum of money out of pocket ?—No.

18,948. And you did not send in any claim for money out of pocket. I am not speaking of any other claim for loss of time ?—No, not for money out of pocket.

18,949. You sent in no claim for money out of pocket ?—No.

18,950. You confined your claims to compensation for loss of time ?—Yes.

18,951. And to whom did you send in your claim ? to Mr. Green ?—I did not send any claim in.

18,952. Whatever you did, whatever you sought, was it of Mr. Green you sought it ?—Yes.

18,953. Was that after the election ?—Some before and some after.

18,954. Did Mr. Green pay you anything ?—Yes.

18,955. How much ?—30*s.* one week before the election, and 30*s.* the next week.

18,956. And then I suppose the week after that the polling came ?—Yes.

18,957. And what did he pay you for that week ?—I had 2*l.* for that week owing to the election.

18,958. That made 5*l.* then in all ?—Yes.

TWELFTH DAY.

G. Room.

4 Sept. 1866.

18,959. Did you know how much Mr. Green was going to pay you before you asked him?—I understood 5*s.* a day.

18,960. And did Mr. Green agree to do that?—Yes, 5*s.* a day, as near as I can tell.

18,961. Did Mr. Green tell you he was authorized to give you that?—No, he never said nothing about that.

18,962. Did he pay you all that before the election?—He paid me 3*l.* before the election and 2*l.* after the election.

18,963. How long after?—About a fortnight or three weeks.

18,964. Was this your first election?—No.

18,965. In 1863 did you vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

18,966. And were you on his committee in the same sort of way?—Yes.

18,967. Did you do for him in 1863 what you did in 1865?—Something similar.

18,968. Which was the better election in point of remuneration for time lost and services rendered?—I did not see any difference.

18,969. You received the same?—More that time; but I was on more weeks.

18,970. How much more did you receive in 1863?—I believe it was either four or five weeks; I won't say which. I was on at 30*s.* a week; 5*s.* a day.

18,971. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And was there 2*l.* for the election week?—There was not then.

18,972. (The Chief Commissioner.) How much altogether did you receive, say, in the five weeks?—If it was five weeks it was 7*l.* 10*s.*

18,973. Then in 1863 you received altogether 7*l.* 10*s.*? Were you canvassed by Mr. Wilkinson's party at that election?—They called round the same day I had promised Mr. Gower, and I told them then that I had promised Mr. Gower, and should not alter my mind.

18,974. Was there anything more, or were they satisfied with it?—They were satisfied with that.

18,975. Nobody made any offer from them?—No.

18,976. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you the 7*l.* 10*s.*?—Mr. Nichols; Mr. James Nichols.

18,977. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) In one sum or weekly?—Weekly.

18,978. Had you been in any other election?—No, that was the first.

18,979. You said you took four or five men to the committee room. You took them to be put on the committee, I suppose?—Yes.

18,980. Who were they?—One was named Cook.

18,981. What Cook?—Thomas Cook.

18,982. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who was the other?—Fuller.

18,983. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Go on?—Those two I took there; I cannot remember the others.

18,984. That is what you did for your money?—Yes.

18,985. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were all the four put on the committee?—I suppose so.

18,986. You took them to be put on the committee?—Yes.

18,987. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And to be paid?—No, I did not.

18,988. You knew perfectly well that if they were put on the committee they would be paid?—I knew I was.

18,989. Now attend. You took them for that purpose?—No, except they liked to choose to get a job.

18,990. Did you take them to Mr. Green or to the committee room?—To the committee room; and I believe Mr. Green came and saw them.

18,991. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who were the others besides Cook and Fuller?—I do not know.

18,992. Then there were only two, I am afraid?—Marsh, I believe, was another.

18,993. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You told them you were on the committee, and said, "I am working"?—No, I did not mention that at all.

18,994. You did not mention that you were working?—No.

18,995. Was it John Marsh?—Yes.

18,996. Did you tell them you were working hard?—No, I did not tell them I was working hard.

18,997. Were there any more?—John Davey.

18,998. Of what place?—Ladbrooke.

18,999. What is Davey?—A carpenter.

19,000. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are they personal friends of yours?—No.

19,001. Do you employ them?—No.

19,002. Did you think they could afford to lose their time?—I do not know whether they could or not.

19,003. Could Davey, a journeyman carpenter, afford to lose his time?—I do not know whether he could or not.

19,004. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Could you afford to lose your time?—No.

19,005. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did it require much influence to be on the committee?—A little.

19,006. When you met a man in the street at the time of the election, was not this the general accost, "Well, are you put on the committee"?—Not that I know of.

19,007. You know what I mean, was it not the common accost when you met a man in the street and passed the time of day with him, "Well, have "you been put on one of the committees"?—No.

19,008. And if the man said "No," was it not then a common piece of advice, "Go to so-and-so, "and he will, perhaps, get you on Gower's or "Monson's committee"?—I should not know that unless I asked the man which way he thought of going. If he thought of going to vote for Gower, then I should ask him if he would go on the committee; if he would give his word that he would vote for Gower.

19,009. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it not by common repute understood that all the committee men would be paid?—I never understood it so.

E. Russell.

EDWARD RUSSELL called, sworn, and examined.

19,010. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

19,011. For whom?—For Mr. Gower.

19,012. I will just ask you two or three formal questions. Were you on the committee?—No.

19,013. What are you?—A gardener.

19,014. What were you at the time of the election?—I was a gardener then.

19,015. What rent are you paying for your house?—6*s.* 6*d.* a week.

19,016. I can see you look brimful of something to tell me. I am going to put one general question to you. Will you be kind enough to tell me what you know about the election of 1865?—Well, I had 6*l.*

19,017. Now see what a capital starting point that is. Who gave it to you?—Thomas Williams.

19,018. Who is Thomas Williams?—He lives at the pottery.

19,019. Is he a gardener?—He is at the pottery.

19,020. Is he a master or a working man?—I believe part of it belongs to his father. I believe he has the coal and coke.

19,021. When was it he gave you the 6*l.* ?—A day or two after the election.

19,022. Perhaps you will be kind enough to inform us why it was he gave you the 6*l.*?—For the cannon I lent that was left in Reigate Park.

19,023. What cannon was it ?—A mortar, perhaps, you call it.

19,024. Was this old cannon a family relic of yours ?—It might be oldish.

19,025. What was it lent for?—When the Prince of Wales was married they brought it up to the top of the park and let it, and I told them that whoever would buy the cannon I would vote for him.

19,026. What was the cannon worth ?—I had a bid of 4*l.* for it once.

19,027. And you refused it?—Yes.

19,028. How long did the cannon remain up in the park ?—It is there now, I believe.

19,029. When did you see it last ?—Within a few days. It wants a horse to get it away.

19,030. Whose cannon is it now?—That I cannot tell.

19,031. You never went after it, I suppose?—No.

19,032. It was not worth fetching back, was it?—I could not get it back.

19,033. Would not it have cost you more to get it back than the cannon was worth ?—No.

19,034. It was one of the old-fashioned mortars, I suppose ? How long had you had it?—Five years.

19,035. Who took it up in the park? Some of your neighbours ?—Mr. Charter, I think, fetched it.

19,036. How was it that Williams made this bargain with you about this cannon? Did he tell you he wanted a cannon?—Did he tell me he wanted a cannon?

19,037. Did Williams tell you ?—That was for his option, whether he liked to buy it.

19,038. Was it before or after the election that he talked of giving 6*l.* for it?—Oh, before.

19,039. And then the vote was to go with the cannon?—Of course.

19,040. How long before the election did you sell the cannon?—Not long.

19,041. A fortnight?—Thereabouts.

19,042. Had you promised anybody to vote before you sold the cannon ?—No, not at all.

19,043. Had both parties been to you?—Yes.

19,044. Had you told them both you had a cannon to sell ?—Yes.

19,045. Who did you tell on the Monson side that you had got a cannon to sell?—I did tell them, two or three of them came to me, they said, "What for "the cannon?"

19,046. Then it was commonly known that you had a cannon to sell ?—Oh, it was no secret at all.

19,047. Like the gentleman yesterday who wanted a horse and cart and made no secret of it, you made no secret of your cannon ?—Not a bit.

19,048. What did the Monson party do?—They did 6*l.*

19,049. Why did not you take it?—I did not much like the party. I thought they would not pay me.

19,050. Now you can tell me who it was that offered you 6*l.* on the part of Mr. Monson?—Francis.

19,051. Henry Francis?—Yes.

19,052. And you would not trust Henry Francis?—No.

19,053. Was he the only person who came to you on the part of Mr. Monson?—Grutchfield came to me.

19,054. Was that before or after Francis had been to you ?—Before that.

19,055. Was Grutchfield the first man that came to you on the Monson side?—Yes.

19,056. What did you ask?—He offered 4*l.*

19,057. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was the man you said made you an offer of 4*l.*, a bid of 4*l.*?—No, that was some years back.

19,058. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) But then the cannon was better many years back?—Not a bit.

19,059. She was so old she could not get worse?—I do not know. I do not think it was worse.

19,060. Mr. Grutchfield offered you only 4*l.*, and you thought that too little ?—Of course.

19,061. Did you ask him for more money?—I told him I should not sell it.

19,062. Not at that price ?—No.

19,063. Of course he knew that your vote was to go with the cannon. Did you ask any price to Grutchfield ?—No, not at all.

19,064. You did not fix your market ?—No.

19,065. You wanted to get as big a sum as you could ?—Of course.

19,066. Were those the only two who came to you to bid for your vote on the part of Mr. Monson?—Before the election ?

19,067. Yes ?—Oh, no, Williams came.

19,068. We will come to Williams presently. I speaking now of those who came on the part of Mr. Monson. Do you recollect anybody else coming to you. According to your account Francis and Grutchfield failed ?—Nichols and Monson came.

19,069. When did they come ?—Somewhere about that time; a little before.

19,070. Did either of them say anything to you about the cannon ?—No, not then.

19,071. Did Nichols afterwards ?—Yes, he would not give any more.

19,072. Did he offer 4*l.* ?—4*l.* or 3*l.* 10*s.*

19,073. You do not mean to say that he dropped down to 3*l.* 10*s.*, knowing that you would not take 4*l.* ?—It was 3*l.* 10*s.* or 4*l.* ; I won't be certain.

19,074. He offered you something ?—Either 3*l.* or 4*l.*

19,075. Were those the only persons who came to you on the part of Mr. Monson to canvass you?—Mr. Holdsworth called.

19,076. You had known Mr. Holdsworth, I suppose, very well ?—Oh, yes.

19,077. Where was it Holdsworth saw you?—I did not see him at all ; he came to my missis.

19,078. Came to your wife?—Yes.

19,079. What did Holdsworth bid?—10*l.*

19,080. Why did not you take the 10*l.* ?—Because I had already promised to take 6*l.*

19,081. Then you had promised before ?—Yes.

19,082. And you kept honestly to your bargain of 6*l.* ?—Yes; if he had offered 40*l.* I should have kept to my bargain.

19,083. Now we will come to Williams. It was about a fortnight before the election that you sold it to him. I need not go further into the matter, but there was a clear understanding that your vote should go with the cannon? That was distinctly understood between you ?—Yes.

19,084. Were you to do any work ?—No, there was nothing mentioned about work.

19,085. Then you voted, and Williams stuck to his bargain, and gave you the 6*l.* ?—Yes.

19,086. Did you vote in the election of 1863 ?—No.

19,087. Had you a vote then ?—No, I never voted before.

19,088. Were you on the register of 1863 ?—No.

19,089. Was there any stranger who came to bid for this cannon; some stranger that you did not know ?—No.

19,090. Did you attend the meetings at all ?—I went down to the "Angel" once.

19,091. Was there anything particular happening there ?—No, nothing but hollaing there.

19,092. Was there refreshment there ? You had some, I suppose ?—Yes.

19,093. Did you pay for it ?—No.

19,094. If I may ask the question, what did you have ?—What did I have ? I had a little beer and ginger beer.

TWELFTH DAY.

E. Russell.

4 Sept. 1866.

19,095. No spirits?—Well, I think I had a glass of brandy and water.

19,096. You did not pay for any?—No, I did not.

19,097. There were a good many there enjoying themselves in the same way?—I do not know whether they called it enjoying themselves; I didn't enjoy it much.

19,098. Did you see any of them pay?—No, I did not.

19,099. Now you have been very good-natured in telling me all this; is there anything more that you know about the election of 1865?—No, I do not think there is.

19,100. Any of these little incidents, money passing?—No, that I do not. I never troubled myself at all about it.

19,101. You sold your cannon, got your 6*l.*, and then you voted, and were happy?—Yes.

19,102. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where is the cannon? I should like to see it?—Up in the park; it lies down in the bushes; somebody tipped it over.

19,103. It is yours, I suppose, now?—I do not know who it belongs to.

19,104. Where did you get the cannon from?—I took it.

19,105. Come, come, where did you get it? You took it from the enemy?—I do not know. I do not think that is a fair question.

19,106. When they were buying this cannon, did they look into its mouth, as they might look into the mouth of a horse?—Perhaps they might.

19,107. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It was in the bushes when you sold it, pitched over?—Yes, I believe it was.

(The Chief Commissioner.) Well, we won't press the question about where you got it in the first place, because you are so good-natured.

19,108. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I dare say you would not mind selling it again? Do you look upon it as a real bargain?—Yes.

19,109. Whose cannon do you believe it to be now?—Well, it ought to be Mr. Gower's.

19,110. Did Williams tell you where he got the 6*l.* from?—No, he did not.

19,111. You had a slight notion as to where that 6*l.* came from?—He never told me.

19,112. Where do you believe it came from?—I believe it came from Mr. Durrant.

19,113. What is the reason of your belief? Who told you?—Mr. Durrant said he gave it to Williams.

19,114. Did you hear Mr. Durrant say so?—Yes.

19,115. Then if the cannon is anybody's it is Durrant's?—I do not know who gave him the money.

19,116. You do not know who gave Durrant the money?—No.

19,117. You ought to have told me about Durrant when I asked you if there was anything more?—I did not think about it.

19,118. Is that all you have got to tell us? Are there no other little secrets?—No secrets.

19,119. That was a secret, you know?—No, I do not know anything more about it.

G. Stapleton.

GEORGE STAPLETON called, sworn, and examined.

19,120. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you, Stapleton?—A coalheaver.

19,121. Where do you work?—At Reigate Station.

19,122. Oh, you are one of the men engaged at the railway, are you?—No.

19,123. I beg your pardon. You are not engaged at the railway?—I work at the railway but am not engaged by the railway company.

19,124. For whom do you work?—For Mr. Dann.

19,125. What rent do you pay for the house you live in?—10*l.* a year.

19,126. Is this your first time of voting?—No.

19,127. When did you vote before?—At Mr. Wilkinson's election.

19,128. In 1863?—Yes.

19,129. And you voted for Mr. Gower in 1865?—Yes.

19,130. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—No.

19,131. How was that?—I did not promise to vote.

19,132. When were you applied to?—I am sure I cannot say; some time before the election.

19,133. How long before the election?—I cannot say.

19,134. Who applied to you?—Mr. Gower asked me first.

19,135. Who afterwards?—Mr. Joyes.

19,136. And who else?—No one else.

19,137. When Mr. Gower asked you I suppose you told him, "Well, I will consider about it"?—I told him I should not promise him at present.

19,138. Did the Monson party canvass you?—Yes.

19,139. They called upon you?—Yes.

19,140. Who called upon you?—One or two of them; Corderoy and Mr. Richardson.

19,141. And I suppose you said the same thing, "Well, I won't promise"?—I did say so.

19,142. "I won't promise; I will consider about "it"?—I said, "I won't promise."

19,143. You had not made up your mind at that time, I suppose?—Yes; I had made up my mind not to promise.

19,144. You had not made up your mind for whom you would vote?—Yes, I had; I knowed whom I was going to vote for.

19,145. But you had made up your mind not to promise?—I had made up my mind not to tell them.

19,146. You intended to keep it a secret?—Yes, I did keep it to myself.

19,147. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you married?—Yes.

19,148. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Your wife knew?—I had no family.

19,149. Your wife knew?—No; she asked me in the morning as I was going out, and I told her I should not say.

19,150. And you kept it a profound secret?—Yes, I did.

19,151. Might I ask you why you kept it a secret?—Well, I do not know that I had a particular reason altogether.

19,152. You must have had a reason, because you have acted differently from any other man at Reigate that we have heard of at present?—It seems like child's play to come and ask you some weeks before to make a promise. Promises are often broken.

19,153. I could understand a man not having made up his mind; but a man having made it up, it seems strange to keep it a secret. Why should you have kept it a profound secret?—Well, I don't know as I was obliged to tell anybody who I was going to vote for.

19,154. But what object had you, because it is so very different from other men, what object had you in keeping it a secret?—No object in particular.

19,155. Did you hear that money was going?—Well, I did not hear before I was offered, so I cannot say I did.

19,156. Who offered you money?—Not Gower's party.

19,157. I did not ask you that. Who offered you the money?—Monson's people offered me money.

19,158. Who offered it to you?—Corderoy.

19,159. What had he the impudence to offer you?—10*l.*

19,160. Tell me, how did he come to you, and what did he say when he offered you the 10*l.*?—I really forget. He wanted me to go their way, and I told him I should not promise.

19,161. You know, he came to you; what did he say? "Will 10*l.* stand in your way?" or what did he say?—He offered me 10*l.*; that is all that passed.

19,162–3. No; he said, "You can have 10*l.*," or something of that kind?

(The Chief Commissioner.) Tell us how it was done?—There is nothing more; I do not know of anything more. He came up and asked if I was going their way, and I said I should not promise. That is all that passed.
